DEBUT WARNING!
OR DIE!

Information

Table of Contents URL: https://novelbin.com/b/debut-or-die#tab-chapters-title

A student who was preparing the Civil Service examination for 4th year, suddenly he found himself in an unfamiliar body 3 years ago.

As well as a status window displaying a threat in front of his eyes!

[Outbreak!]

[Status Abnormality: ‘Debut or Death’ Occurs!] A diary about the transformation of the main character, who was suddenly challenged to be an idol even though he has never been in the industry before due to sudden threat of death.

※

Speciality: He used to take and sell idol’s data.

Chapter 150

[The identity of Groom in May in <My Singer> just came out]

: Testar Park Moondae

Appearing in the same outfit as the hologram

(screenshot)

– Crazy

– I was watching and doubted my eyes

– Oh my God ㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋ

– It's really Park Moondae, you bastards ㅠㅠ

'As expected, it's coming up in real time.'

I briefly checked out the growing comments, but I eventually gave up my escape and looked back to the TV.

The identity of <Groom in May> was being aired on TV in the dorm's living room in front of me.

[Testar's Park Moondae??]

[A surprise appearance of the national stock idol…]

[The audience and the judge are shocked]

I turned on my smartphone because it was hard to see those captions and editing with my eyes open.

If I was alone, I would take a look, but the problem was… I was watching with the group.

“I-It’s fine, Moondae, it’s cool…!”

“Impressive directing!”

“Hey, Moondae~ You were determined. You even prepared an outfit. Nice~”

Keun Sejin poked me in the shoulder. Meanwhile, captions appeared again under Park Moondae’s words on TV.

[Please introduce yourself!]

[Yes, hello. I’m Park Moondae, the main vocalist of the group Testar.]

[A rosy smile in May… Melting woman’s heart]

“Rosy…!”

“Wow, the captions are really…….”

The guys around me couldn’t stand it anymore and began to hold back their laughter with their heads down.

When Testar’s exaggeratedly edited activities were briefly shown on the screen, I didn’t even think about raising my head because I was a bit embarrassed.

‘Is there any meaning in monitoring this?’

I’d guessed it since the moment everyone said they would watch it together, even though I wanted to go in and watch it by myself.

Fortunately, the broadcast soon moved on to the announcement of the winner.

[<The Singer I Made>, the best singer character…]

[It's Park Moondae's 'Groom in May'!]

Confetti splashed on the screen.

"WOOOOW!"

"He sang like that so, of course, he's the winner!"

Bae Sejin shouted excitedly.

"…?"

What is he doing?

When Bae Sejin met my eyes, he cleared his throat and turned his head away.

It reminded me of last week when he said 'I enjoyed your Winter Night performance' with a stiff face.

'I guess that kind of dramatic singing style is your taste.'

I thought I was watching some kind of race.

Just in time, the MC was making a fuss on the screen.

[Ah~ Moondae-ssi! Please tell us how you feel!]

lightnovelworld.com for a better user experience

[Hmm… While moving 'Groom in May', I had so much fun. That alone was a meaningful experience… I am so happy that there are people who like it. …Thank you very much.]

It was true.

I started this by clearing my head, but the results were better than I thought… It was amazing.

‘I was lucky.’

I couldn’t expect such luck all the time, but it was still a fresh experience.

“Moondae hyung, you have a very similar physique to the hologram of <Groom in May>, did you plan this public performance from the beginning?”

“Wasn’t it uncomfortable to have flowers on your face?”

… I managed to answer meekly.

“…Yeah, I planned it, and of course it was uncomfortable.”

“I knew it!”

“It’s not good to be uncomfortable!”

It was a little burdensome, but I had to accept this much. They had put up with my bad condition for the past month without me knowing.

“Seeing this, I want to hurry up and promote a new album~”

“R-Right.”

With the chatter of the guys who were motivated because of the monitoring, my footage on the screen was almost over.

[Unfortunately… Our ‘Chicken with Ribbon’ is only a runner-up!]

‘It’s the guy from the Gold 1’s group.’

While the runner-up, the chicken, was being interviewed, Ryu Chungwoo asked.

“Then are you going to come out in the next episode, Moondae?”

“Yes. I will come out starting from the semi-final the week after that.”

“Good. Congratulations. Hmm… Then, wait a minute.”

Ryu Chungwoo got up from his seat with a smile. Then the youngest two sprang to their feet.

“…?”

It looked unnatural to anyone watching.

‘...Oh, no way.’

The three disappeared into the kitchen and reappeared in an instant.

Cha Eugene had a cake in his hand.

[<Cong> Testar’s 1st anniversary <rats>]

[Great job! Awesome!]

“…!”

As expected.

…In fact, today was June 18th. It was the first anniversary of Testar’s debut.

”Although there’s still less than an hour left.’

It was already 11:20 p.m.

I forgot about the anniversary content momentarily because it was already filmed and uploaded at midnight due to editing time.

“We have a video that will be released at midnight, but… I thought it would be nice if we could do it together.”

Ryu Chungwoo laughed and shook the two maknae's heads.

"I prepared it with these guys."

"I like cake!"

"The phrases written at the top were decided after we discussed them together."

The phrases really did look like the kind of phrases that would come out from those three.

But it wasn't the phrases that mattered.

'...Did you wait until my monitoring was over?'

It was a little… admirable.

lightnovelworld.com for a better user experience

When I started getting strange feelings, Keun Sejin intervened.

"Wait, wait! Let's take a picture first~ Moondae!"

"…"

Why are you holding out your phone as if it is natural?

"Hey, it's because Moondae is good at taking pictures~ Huh? No way, are you not confident in taking selfies? Are you?"

"Give it to me."

"Oh~"

I'd let this slide.

I snatched the phone out of Keun Sejin's hand and turned the camera into selfie mode.

Stretching my hand all the way, I adjusted it so that all seven of us and the cake could fit on the screen.

“I’m taking the pictures.”

“Yes~”

Click, click, click. Naturally, I took several pictures every few seconds.

And after a while.

“Then, let’s eat the cake!”

“…Is it okay to eat this? The coloring on the top…”

“It’s delicious!”

“Cha Eugene! You should let the hyungs eat first!”

“…”

As if he had given up, Bae Sejin threw a piece of the cake into his mouth.

I shrugged.

‘...It tastes good.’

For a design cake, it was really good.

30 minutes before June 18th ended. The first anniversary passed by with us chewing on the cake.

“We’ve worked hard for a year. Let’s continue to do our best.”

“Oh, of course~ Let’s do our best until we get the Grand Prize~”

“We’re not doing an activity, so eat a lot.”

“Y-Yes…!”

This simplicity was not bad.

* * *

When Park Moondae and the members were peacefully eating the cake together.

Park Moondae's fans were roaring with victory.

– Ah, Groom in May is Park Moondae!! (clatter)

– I feel like I just get hit by a waterfall of cider under the shower. Thank you, my idol.

– I thought I was going to die from frustration. Finally, I'm introducing my husband. My groom is Park Moondae

┗Ah, get in line, it's still long before your turn

┗ㅋ ㅋ ㅋ ㅋ ㅋ ㅋ ㅋ ㅋ ㅋ ㅋ ㅋ

As much as the period of silence and self-restraint were frustrating, posts poured into social media and communities like crazy.

[Comparison of 'Groom in May' and Park Moondae]

[The identity of the Groom in May that everyone in the know knew.jpg]

[My Singer's final performance that gives goosebumps]

The fans, who rushed in as if settling old grudges in less than an hour, began to suffer from Park Moondae's new content.

– Park Moondae, you madman, how could you come up with that idea… You don't know how to hit the brakes, my punk!! That's why I love you!!

– He wrote in the Groom's profile that his flower head turns into his bride's ideal type when he meets his bride, what are you going to do with this information if one really shows up?

ㄴIsn’t this a marriage proposal? I have to register the marriage

-I don’t know which one is the flower and which one is the face ㅜㅜ Isn’t Park Moondae and Bouquet synonymous?

– Moon Puppy in May? This is it (country puppy with flowers)

– It’s really satisfying… If you don’t feel satisfied after listening to Park Moondae’s song, you’re not Korean

And although not as wild as the fans, even the general fans of <The Singer I Made> were deeply impressed with ‘Groom in May’.

This was because his performances from the preliminaries to the finals were all great, and even the impact and structure of the identity disclosure were perfect.

– It’s been a while since a cast member took this seriously as a singer. I’ve seen too many punks doing stuff like being the baseball mascots – For a guy who sings like that to be an idol, it’s such a waste. He should just sing dance songs

ㄴAigoo, old man. Everyone starts as an idol these days. When the time comes, they’ll go solo ㅇㅇ

– He didn’t have an original song for the final stage. He was scared of making one

– Except for the weak preliminary round, there’s no doubt that he’s the perfect winner

ㄴSince the preliminaries were used to build characters, it’s a great strategic choice. I wonder who directed it? If he did it himself ㄹㅇ he’s like a break-out idol

ㄴFirst of all, that vocal cord is his, that alone is admirable enough ㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋ

ㄴIndeed ㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋ

Just like the favorable viewers, even though they might have different tastes in the character, general viewers also admitted one thing,

‘He’s really good at singing.’

The overwhelming victory in the prime-time public TV entertainment show, which had a viewership rating of around 10%, also had a light impact on public perception.

It appeared from some comments in the video revealing the identity of the ‘Groom in May’ that was uploaded on WeTube.

[Romantic and thrilling performance, <The Groom in May>! The surprising identity is? <The Singer I Made> 202X0618]

– The final stage really gave me goosebumps! I got a breakout. You’re the best!

– He is truly the country’s happiness… What a great singer with an amazing voice! how can you sing so well.^^

– Park Moondae! I’ll wait for your next performance~ㅠㅠ

– His face is also very bright and handsome. He must have a pretty voice because he has such a pretty face.

Middle-aged people recognized Park Moondae.

Because <Idol Inc.> was so popular, they had seen Park Moondae’s face, but there weren’t many people who had listened to his singing with such intensity.

In addition, there were also the reactions of the people who really liked the character of ‘Groom in May’ itself.

– Proposal–Breakup–Courship–Obsession. The stages so far are epic and perfect

– Since last week, all kinds of delusions won’t leave my head. It feels like I’ve made five billion movies with Groom in May as the main character

– You don’t come and love rots away (Groom in May fanart)

– It’s been a long time since we’ve had a non-human character… I didn’t know I have a concept-obsessed comrade among idols

ㄴㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋA sudden rise in intimacy!

ㄴThe fact that he did the same thing as the hologramㅋㅋㅋ I am convinced it’s true

– I keep thinking about how he took off his bouquet head. I’m going crazy

ㄴYou too? Sameㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋ To be honest, I really liked Groom in May. I thought my fantasy would be blown away if a human head come out, but it surprisingly turned out good

ㄴAs expected, the face is the answer

– I hope Moondae-ssi can share more TMI about Groom in May

Even if the character was created by Park Moondae and his voice and motion were taken from Park Moondae, the character and Park Moondae couldn’t be completely the same.

Nevertheless, the enthusiasm spread quickly. Because they had so much in common.

– I’m already looking forward to the performance next weekㅠㅠ

At the time when his identity was just revealed as he performed a fantastic stage on a program watched by many people.

When all kinds of praise and attention were directed to Park Moondae.

Of course, it didn’t end there.

[Park Moondae can go solo ㅎㅎ]

It was a planned aggro.

lightnovelworld.com for a better user experience

For your information, it would be smashed soon.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 151

I scrolled down.

‘It’s already here.’

The aggro, which I had guessed since the first week’s filming was aired, began to rampage on the Internet.

‘They usually start by feeling around the atmosphere first.’

Disguising their words as compliments.

‘Found it.’

I clicked on the text.

[What do you think about Park Moondae coming out solo?]

: He’s the first-place winner in idol Inc, so he has a big fandom, and he has a good concept for the main vocal, so I think Park Moondae would do great solo ㅋㅋㅋ

This kind of ground bait was usually quickly dispelled by fans, but, but now things had turned a little differently.

Because it was a situation where the favorability for Park Moondae reached its peak through variety shows, and because general viewers who were unfamiliar with the idol fan base openly responded favorably.

– I think it will be fine

– Does he want to go solo later?? I’m looking forward to it ㅋㅋ

– I want to listen to a lot of songs, that concept? Using that concept is cool tooㅠㅠ

– Honestly, I don't think he will fail

It looked good, but it was noticeably better than usual, so it was a problem.

'It must have looked nice as firewood.'

Then, they would post something like this afterward.

[A member of Testar shows off his desire to go solo]

: It's Park Moondae

Absence from schedules for a month right before coming out alone on a variety show + no reactions for various group schedules

(Notice of absence from W Live)

(Summer package video GIF)

He's working hard when he's filming by himselfㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋ

(Interview video)

There were a lot of fans who felt weird because it was going on for a whole month, but when the singer came out this time, everything explodedㅋㅋ

There's a theory that he's out of shape because he's been working hard to do solo work

And the fans can't hide it either

(screenshot)

Pretending to be a fan of the group and pretending to be not interested in going solo, please stop doing those things because it's obvious (praying hand emoticon)

In that kind of post, the reaction screenshot of the well-knitted ‘Park Moondae solo’ post would be uploaded together.

And the main issue would be the attitude controversy.

‘...I still feel uncomfortable.’

I knew that the content of when I was in a bad condition could become prey someday. This article was written well as if following a standard procedure.

But in fact, they weren’t aiming the general public opinion here.

‘It doesn’t matter if I go solo or not.’

It would be better if they made fun of me because of my bad grades when I really came out as a soloist, but now that I had their attention, I would get a lot of support.

It would be like this.

-??? Can’t Park Moondae work solo?ㅋㅋ He’s talented too, he’s a real star ㅋㅋㅋㅋ

– I heard that a lot of fans said that they’re loyal, but to a kid who said he was sick, this heat is too ugly…

– Park Moondae is doing so well so why can’t he? If health issues are the problem, there are many cases where it only lasted a few months

– I would’ve rather go solo rather than stay in a group that has such bad akgaes[1]Akgae (악개) is a K-pop fandom term for a fan who likes only one member of a music group and hates the other members. ㅅㅂㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋ

– Testar is tired of every post that comes up. Please don’t display it and keep the fight among yourself.

After the fight, the comments become longer and might be classified as popular posts, but public opinion didn’t change.

So the target here was… a discord within Testar fandom.

It was to stiffen the atmosphere of the fandom that liked the group itself, and to create an atmosphere that made it possible for members' malicious anti-fans to keep each other in check and disturb each other.

So another argument was brought up here.

The date on which the second filming of Park Moondae in <The Singer I Made> was aired, it was the same day as Testar's first anniversary.

-It's our 1st anniversary, but only posts about Park Moondae come up, it's really too much

– I'm not interested in whether you're the groom or the bride in May. Just don't harm the group's content, Gommeo – Park Moondae, you bully, why is it that every time you did something, the kids were always on edge the whole time? Especially Ryu Chungwoo? You don't want to see him anymore because he's the leader?

– Couldn't you have set up the schedule and avoided it? I didn't know you would do this without thinking ㅋㅋㅋㅋ

If I had known that <The Singer I Made> would have such a good response, I would have done so.

'...I was aiming to get a moderate amount of fun for the fans.'

Who would have known it would become a more popular topic than the first anniversary of the group? I knew both of those events would take place at the same time.

Anyway, after a little more time passed by, the controversy would flow more comprehensively.

It was to encourage skepticism about the group's activities themselves.

– Moondae, do you want to go solo?ㅋㅋㅋㅋ Where did your initial commitment go? It's an artist disease, it's a good thing I recognize it, please wake up – Recently, Seon Ahyeon also shot a solo commercial and everyone's personal schedules increased, but it was Park Moondae who set the mood

– Let's go separately for things like this, make a separate SNS, really… I'm tired of hearing news from guys I don't care about

If the 1st anniversary was so important, there was no way each member would post a message asking to go separately from the day of the 1st anniversary.

'So the ones who posted this were people who are not fans of the group in the first place.'

Of course, Testar had shaken off the fact that they were a group from a survival show that received individual votes.

This meant that our identity as a group had been solidified through the album's worldview and various contents.

However, we still had a lot of solo stans, and if they shook things off this way, there would be a lot of people who joined.

…That being said, it was a fact known to everyone who was interested.

Therefore, of course, it was a basic attitude of a member of society to prepare countermeasures.

I changed my smartphone screen to a phone call.

"Yes, hello. …Yes. Thank you. It's nothing, but I have something to ask."

After a brief conversation with the company, I talked to the person sitting next to me.

"Raebin."

“Yes?”

Kim Raebin, who was busy listening to his own song, looked back in surprise.

“They said the interview will be released in the evening.”

It was as scheduled.

“Ah!”

At that moment, Kim Raebin’s face brightened. Um, he still looked like a gangster, though.

“It was a very meaningful interview, so I can’t wait!”

“Yeah.”

I leaned my back against the backrest.

This kind of thing wasn’t enough to make me anxious.

* * *

In the evening when all kinds of aggro were running wild inside the fandom while on the outside, Park Moondae’s reputation was still on the rise due to ‘Groom in May’.

An interview came up on WeTube.

It was an interview content run by a WeTube channel under MBS that produced <The Singer I Made>.

[I brought the marriage certificate…☆ We have gathered the producers of Groom in May! <<Titi’s Sweet Interview>> EP.47 by MBS2]

In the thumbnail, there were Park Moondae and… Kim Raebin.

‘Kim Raebin?’

‘Tied-selling…?’

Those who clicked, a little surprised by the sudden appearance of another member, soon learn the whole story.

First of all, there was a heartwarming and obvious talk that Kim Raebin had given advice to Park Moondae’s arrangement in each round.

The main point came out next.

[Titi: Wow! So the final song was composed by Raebin-ssi??]

[Raebin: Yes. Of course, I didn’t handle the entire production process alone, but it is true that I tried to take the initiative in overseeing the work. So I was able to give it to Moondae hyung as a birthday gift because the copyright stake is the largest…]

[It doesn’t end there…!]

Unable to bear it, they hurriedly fast-forwarded. It was fans’ way of acknowledging it.

And a large caption came up.

[Raebin-ssi… gives more TMI than expected]

[Summary: The song was composed under Raebin-ssi’s guidance and was a birthday present for Moondae-ssi]

At any rate, the content was perfectly conveyed.

The song that ‘Groom of May’ sang in the final was composed by a Testar member.

In other words, it was an unreleased self-composed song.

Then why was this song unreleased?

[Moondae: Actually, we're making a comeback soon… This song is from that album.]

[Titi: Oooh!!]

Right.

The song, 'Flower at the End of the Month', was one of the songs on Testar's next album.

[Moondae: Each member's solo songs are included in this album, and they're really cool, so to introduce them quickly… I sang it.]

[Titi: Wow! Then, when the album comes out, we will be able to listen to a slightly different recorded version of the song on the music site?]

[Moondae: That's correct.]

[Titi is with an experienced promotor]

In other words, he sang the song while also promoting the group album.

[Moondae: Honestly, all the other members' vocals are really good. I sang it first because I had the chance… Isn't that right?]

[Raebin: Objectively, Moondae hyung has the best singing ability, so if you just compare simple songs, he has the upper hand..]

[Moondae: (hurriedly) Yes. Please look forward to the other songs in the upcoming album.]

[ㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋ]

The captions burst into laughter at Park Moondae's struggle.

[Titi: Ah~You two are so funny! I laughed out loud!]

[Raebin: Thank you! (brightly)]

[Moondae: Thank you. (Tibetan fox)]

The interview was conducted in a light and humorous way without anyone being rude, and a personal conversation was also properly drawn out.

[Titi: Ah, before you appeared on <My Singer>, you were very sick…?]

[Moondae: Yes… I felt sorry for the members who had to take care of me because I failed to manage my condition for about a month after leaving the country. That's why appearing in <My Singer> was meaningful to me. It's been a while since I've been able to contribute something to the group…]

[Raebin: Hyung…]

[TT: What's this? What's with this moving atmosphere! Are you okay now, Moondae-ssi?]

[Moondae: I can't be healthier than this]

[Strong Moon Puppy]

In fact, Park Moondae didn't even aim for this part to happen.

It was just a question he added to reassure people who might have been worried for a month, but it became an additional jackpot.

Anyway, casually brushing off the topic, the cast and the interviewer continued to exchange questions and answers and ended the short 12-minute interview video.

[Moondae: I will come out with all of Testar.]

[Raebin: I'm already looking forward to it. I think it'll be very harmonious.]

[Titi: Yes~~! Then, while waiting for the interview with Keun Sejin-ssi, who is said to be my soul twin, the interview is over! Take your marriage certificate, Groom!]

[Moondae: Nice.]

The interview ended with Park Moondae smiling and holding the marriage registration form.

And at the same time, articles popped up here and there.

It was half prepared, half reacted to the interview.

[Countdown to Testar's comeback… Park Moondae's song 'Groom of May' is an album preview]

[Testar's summer comeback. The concept is horror?]

[The comeback of popular group Testar, 'The schedule is already out']

Naturally, fans' attention quickly turned to the news of the comeback.

– Ahhh Testar's comeback!!

– Heol, Moondae's song is from the new album

– Moondae has a plan for everything.

– Crazy, it was a song made by Raebin?? No wonder my heart was beating. I recognized the owner

– Are all the albums like that? Hold your breath until crazy Testar makes the comeback

As the finishing touch, Testar uploaded photos of their first-anniversary party to their account.

Our Loviewer♡ Thank you for being with spending 365 days with Testar!

Please continue to love us♡ We'll continue as Testar♡ Our relationship is forever ☆

(The cake in the picture is sponsored by the leader hyung and the maknaes. It was delicious.)

(photo)

It was to show off, ‘It’s not a part of our schedule, but we’re close enough to prepare a cake for the 1st anniversary by ourselves and eat it together’.

– What should I do with our kids’ hearts ㅠㅠ

– A group full of compassion and bonds. Long live my stars. (edited photo)

– I’m crying at the thought of Park Moondae promoting the album as soon as he got better. Being a Loviewer is the best

Since the teaser of the interview was posted on SNS quite early, it wasn’t reasonable to bite and hang around, saying, ‘He used that as an excuse to stop the controversy’.

– Hurry up and open preorders, T1!!

The controversy, which was originally a typhoon in a teacup, was quickly subdued by people who were excited by the news of the comeback.

As predicted by Park Moondae, the popularity of ‘The Groom in May’ didn’t dissipate and was instead smoothly connected to Testar’s comeback.

And Park Moondae, the person involved in all of this, was in the middle of a new schedule.

* * *

“Long time no see, hubae-nim.”

“…!”

- 1. Akgae (악개) is a K-pop fandom term for a fan who likes only one member of a music group and hates the other members.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 152

As soon as I entered the commercial set, I saw an unwelcome ace.

“How have you been? You seem to have a lot on your mind.”

It was VTIC Cheongryeo.

‘It’s driving me crazy.’

Why is that here again?

For your information, I hadn’t heard about this from the company. I was in a hurry to get into a good commercial, so I only saw the script that was delivered to me.

If I am going to deal with someone I know, shouldn’t they tell me, at least?

“I want to quit.’

I really didn’t feel like working.

But if I made it obvious, it would be a rumor generator. Let’s just nod.

“Yes. Thanks to your advice, it worked out well.”

“Oh, really? That’s great.”

Cheongryeo smiled and held out his hand.

“Please take good care of me today.”

“I look forward to your kind cooperation.”

I didn’t do anything childish like putting in strength, so the handshake was over in an instant.

“Then I’ll see you in a little while.”

“Yes, sunbae-nim.”

I didn’t want to see him.

I changed my costume and prepared for the shoot, feeling strange when I thought of the script.

The outfit was a training suit that followed the recent trend. However, it had the company logo on it.

‘I already know why I’m wearing these clothes.’

First of all, the filming location was a grass field, and there was a lot of exercise during filming.

It was like this.

“Then, here we go!”

At the director’s words, a group of four-legged animals rushed to me and Cheongryeo, who were standing in the grass.

It was a group of three-month-old retrievers and country puppies.

“Woof!”

As I was patting their necks following the screen, one of them even jumped up to my nose and headbutted me.

‘They’re excited.’

Three or four of them jumped in one after another. Hey, don’t lick me.

I picked up the bulky lump with both hands.

…It looked cute.

“Pfft!”

Now it coughed on my face.

I almost fell while trying to clean up myself.

In a situation where I was covered in saliva, I tried not to look stiff while having four of five dogs in my head.

“Cut! Oh, that was good~”

“…Thank you.”

The staff ran to fix my messed-up face. We both had a hard time.

“Make the dogs feel more secure! As if you’re grabbing onto them~ Please smile sweetly!”

Right. ‘feel secure’ was important.

What I was filming was an insurance company .

To be precise, it was an for a corporate brand promoting the support of abandoned dogs and training of guide dogs at a large insurance company.

‘Usually, they use people who are well-known to the public for this kind of thing.’

However, an actor who originally got hired for my position was caught in a sexual harassment scandal and they used me instead.

My newly created popularity among middle-aged people due to < The Singer I Made> might have had an influence to some extent.

“Good boy.”

…I didn’t think my external relationship with him didn’t have any impact at all… I didn’t like the aftertaste.

Even though the filming was stopped, Cheongryeo was suppressing the herd of dogs with his hands like some kind of spirit.

The sight of him rubbing their bellies easily stood out. There was no special photogenic effect.

‘I want to take a picture of it.’

But I didn’t bring my smartphone because I thought I didn’t need it. I didn’t want to look at him.

At that moment, Cheongryeo opened his mouth.

“Do you like dogs?”

“…I don’t dislike them.”

Coincidentally, the staff was gone. We didn’t have microphones because they only selected the scene and inserted the voice into the narration.

That meant it was the perfect time for this bastard to talk nonsense.

But my prediction was wrong.

“Isn’t that right? They’re really good kids. Good boy.”

“…”

“They’re also easy to deal with. Compliment them when they do good things and scold them when they do bad things.”

Cheongryeo just petted the dogs while talking about them.

Information reflexively flashed through my head.

-That hyung donated half of his settlement to the stray dog center.

No way, it was real?

No, it didn't matter.

"I guess you really like dogs, sunbae-nim."

I was going to buy time until the shooting resumed by responding appropriately.

But he tilted his head.

For normal people, usually… that gesture meant they were puzzled.

"Do I like them? I don't know. It's easier to not raise one anyway."

Up to this point, I thought he meant it was troublesome to take care of a dog.

"In the past, I used to have a dog every time I started over, but after a while…There's a rumor going around that I neglected my dog. "

"…!"

"I would have suspected me too. I checked, and apparently, I mentioned a different breed every time I spoke. Hmm, when they proved it wasn't true, there were talks of schizophrenia… Hahaha, it was a total disaster at that time!"

Cheongryeo laughed out loud. I felt a chill run down my spine.

"…You didn't have the same puppy?"

"Yes? Haha, it's kind of hard to keep raising the same dog every time."

"…"

Cheongryeo stopped laughing.

“I tried, but I didn’t particularly like it. It bothered me that I couldn’t bring it with me I screwed up.”

I was at a loss for words.

This bastard… The fact that I could understand why he turned insane was a problem.

I answered as calmly as possible.

“…You don’t have to start all over again, so I think you can try raising another one.”

In other words, just gives up.

“You’re full of confidence. Perhaps… Is this the last mission? Is it because you calculate it like I told you?”

“…”

It was best to not react.

But this bastard interpreted my silence as an affirmation.

“Congratulations, but do you believe it?”

“…!”

“Haha, I’m kidding. In my experience, that would be correct. I don’t lie about stuff like this.”

The thought of smashing the Grand Prize trophy to his face was comforting.

“…Hmm, then really… Is it going to be over?”

The expression on his face disappeared in an instant, and he removed his hand from the dog’s belly.

‘...Wait.’

Surely, he wouldn't talk nonsense like 'Try it once before it's over', or 'there's no chance once it's over, the timing is now'.

Let's start with the bait.

"If VTIC sunbae-nims maintain the status quo, there will be no groups that can compete with you. Isn't the current situation the best?"

"Well… It's all right."

Cheongryeo was indifferent.

And I picked up the back of the dog.

"It's not like I completely hate it… Hmm, well… That's true. I have to get used to it."

"…!"

It was a euphemistic declaration of surrender.

*'This sh*t is over.'*

I felt like the span of my life was getting shorter. I wondered if cold sweat was running down my forehead.

However, Cheongryeo's words didn't end there.

"But hubae-nim, I think it's better to not let your guard down too much."

Please, I don't want to hear any more nonsense.

I slowly petted the dog unwittingly. The dense furry was comforting.

And fortunately, Cheongryeo's next words were not nonsense.

It was the voice of cold logic.

“In this profession, ‘popularity’ is a limited resource. In other words, if the other team earns good resources, yours is spilling. It’s always been like that. Especially if it is limited to Korea.”

“…”

No way, is it a comparison of VTIC and Testar?

However, an unexpected name popped up instead.

“The group from Traveler that debuted this year seems to be doing well. Pay attention to that.”

Traveler, Gold 1’s agency.

In other words, he was advising me to keep Gold 1’s group, a decent rookie, in check.

‘...Do I have to?’

They weren’t at the level that required me to keep them in check yet, and if I did this wrong, I might just end up giving them a narrative.

Besides, they debuted at a time period Cheongryeo didn’t know. That meant Cheongryeo didn’t confirm these guys’ future.

But there was no need to aggravate this bastard, so I just nodded.

“I’ll keep that in mind.”

“Don’t just talk, hmm.… The song is really nice. But the composer doesn’t belong to the company.”

Cheongryeo laughed.

“I wish I could buy the composer.”

“…!”

“It’s easy and convenient. If the song is bad, I just have to end it with them.”

“I’ll pretend I didn’t hear it.”

“You’re like a knife. All right. But don’t forget it.”

‘Why is this bastard so talkative?’

He blurted it all out as if he was receiving animal therapy with a bunch of puppies.

“Preparation for the next scene is almost done~ 3-minute standby!”

Fortunately, the sound of the filming resuming soon rang out everywhere. People were running around busily.

‘This is the end.’

The next cut was the last time I filmed with this bastard. I held back my sigh.

And right before filming resumed, I heard a small voice.

It sounded a little hesitant.

“…The problem you told me, did you solve it?”

“…”

I opened my mouth slowly.

“So so.”

“Is that so? Well… If you change your mind or have any concerns, contact me.”

“…All right.”

Well, he was less creepy than before.

“Woof! Woof!”

The shooting went off without a hitch. Cheongryeo finished filming first due to schedule problems and left.

And I returned to the dorm after accepting a few pairs of identical tracksuits that looked like just dog furry as gifts.

Perhaps everyone was away due to additional choreography practice, only one person who finished early was in the dorm.

It was Cha Eugene.

“I am home.”

“Gift?”

“Yeah. Take it.”

“Wow!”

I suffered from a strange sense of déjà vu when I saw Cha Eugene happily accepting the gift.

‘...Isn’t he more puppy-like than I am?’

Although I actively adopted it, it was a world of mysterious nicknames.

* * *

A few days later, the choreography of the title track was fully mastered.

“Hoo! The dance video is complete!”

“Ah, great~”

After finishing the shooting of the choreography video a bit early, we had some time left. Everyone lay down on the floor and took a break.

“Cha Eugene, you’re wearing that again?”

“It’s comfortable!”

“I-In the choreography video… W-Would it be okay for the logo to come out…?”

“Ah, I asked and they said it was okay. Don’t worry.”

“Wow, hyung-nim, you’re quick~”

Cha Eugene always wore the training suit that I had received for filming the as a gift.

‘I guess he’s going to shoot a commercial next time.’

I smiled and turned on my smartphone.

Pre-orders for the album had started, and the cover design was also released, so I thought I should monitor the reaction.

“M-Moondae. W-Would you like an ice pack?”

“Yeah. Thank you.”

Although the air conditioner was turned on, it was hot because the group moved too much. I turned over the screen while using the ice pack Seon Ahyeon handed over as a neck pillow.

‘It looks fine.’

Both the album covers, which were produced by dividing the concept into black and white of the ink painting concept and color of the traditional painting concept, were both well-received.

– I really like the traditional concept ㅠㅠ

– It’s the victory of those who patiently wait for hanbok

– I’m going crazy, looking forward to photo cards

At first, the company said crazy things like, ‘How about 8 albums with 7 solo members, 7 colors plus 7 songs?’ and it was hard to stop them.

‘I’m glad that we talked about putting in stickers randomly out of 8 types to decorate the album inside.’

If the eight types had passed as it was, the director would have given the approval without asking or arguing.

‘Come to think of it, the director is going to fly away soon.’

From new albums to entertainment stage productions, there were a lot of things to talk about with people at the company lately, so I heard a lot of rumors that the director would leave soon.

‘I’ll have to proceed quickly while the payment bot is still here.’

The future was uncertain, so I had to pull it off quickly while I could.

I inadvertently changed the monitoring search terms, checking the plan to resolve the status abnormality.

“D-Do you want some water?”

“Yeah… Thank you.”

Son Ahyeon gave another stuff. I took the water with some hesitation.

I am grateful, but somehow… You’re reminding me of a bread shuttle, I am sorry.

‘Should I monitor him?‘

I tried to search for Seon Ahyeon’s name on SNS without much thought.

Then the popular search word was done automatically.

[Seon Ahyeon dating]

“…?”

“Moondaemoondae, what…?!”

Keun Sejin, who had interrupted, froze as he looked at the screen.

And I was a little stunned, too.

‘Seon Ahyeon?’

Unexpectedly, it was a dating rumor.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 153

In this group, if you had to pick the guy with the least potential for dating rumors to break out, he would be within one of the two, and yet this guy had ‘dating’ added to his automatic search term.

“Take a look.”

Having come to his sense, Keun Sejin immediately urged me. I clicked on the search term ‘Seon Ahyeon dating’.

This was the first post that came up.

– Seon Ahyeon, that stuttering loser, made him act like a proper human and now he’s looking at female idols. How long has it been since the first anniversary?ㅋㅋ Awesome. Get a grip

This raw accusation was seen collectively just like when <Idol Inc.> was overheated.

It wasn’t a fan’s joke ‘Seon Ahyeon is dating with me’ that went trending, but were rumors of a real relationship that had come out of nowhere.

“Are there any organized articles?”

“Wait a minute.”

I immediately accessed the bulletin board of a portal site where celebrity gossip was posted.

Sure enough, I saw a familiar name in second place.

[Seon Ahyeon, are you dating Twinty’s Dami?]

“Twinty?”

A famous girl idol group whose activities didn’t even overlap popped up.

‘I’ve never seen them outside of year-end programs and awards ceremonies.’

It was awkward to imagine that Seon Ahyeon had asked for her number separately.

‘You must have the guts to do that.’

With a shudder, I clicked on the title.

The photos that Seon Ahyeon posted on Testar’s account and the photos that Dami posted on her Inheart are all overlapping.

(comparison image)

They were posted on the same date and the comments were similar. The sunglasses, bracelets, and watches they wore recently all overlap.

(comparison image)

In an interview this year, Seon Ahyeon suddenly said that older people are his ideal type, and Dami says that younger ones are her ideal type.

And Seon Ahyeon has been holding his phone in his own content

(short GIF)

If you keep smiling and playing something for a long time, anyone can see that you’re dating someone, right?

The images were classified in detail and the text was well-pasted, so it sounded plausible, but of course, it had a lot of gaps.

It was all planned out.

‘The sunglasses and watches are probably gifts from fans.’

On the night of Seon Ahyeon’s birthday, the opening was four hours long so Bae Sejin lost his temper and asked him to get some sleep.

‘Regarding the phone. Seon Ahyeon sends long text messages, that’s why he holds it for a long time.’

The same was true of interviews. He was just trying to fit the situation.

However… A few things that made the situation uncomfortable came out in the comments.

– Seon Ahyeon, all the landscape photos you uploaded are from places that were not in Testar’s schedule ㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋ Why did you go there alone?

– Heol, the executive of the cosmetics company that shot Seon Ahyeon’s exclusive commercial is Dami’s uncle… It’s weird

– I don’t know about anything else, but it’s too obvious in SNS that they’re sending and receiving signals to each other ㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋ

Whether it was the comments or the articles, the number of refutations was very high, about half of the number of likes, but the fact that the number of likes was enormous itself was a problem.

It meant that this rumor was plausible.

“…”

“…”

Keun Sejin and I looked at the comments for a while without words.

Keun Sejin spoke first.

“Should we tell him?”

“Not to the person himself. It’d be better to tell the company.”

“Hmm, as expected, right? Let’s not show Ahyeon.”

It was better not to make him think useless things ahead of the comeback, and let’s just ask if he was close to this girl just in case.

But this implicit agreement was broken the very next moment.

“W-What…?”

“…!”

When I turned around, Seon Ahyeon was holding a handful of chocolate bars.

I didn’t know he was walking around to offer some other stuff.

“…It’s nothing.”

“D-Did I do something wrong…?”

“Ah no~ How could that be? We were just joking around~”

“B-But you’re telling the company.”

“…”

“…”

In the end, Seon Ahyeon heard about the current dating rumors, which had been mildly purged.

“Ahyeon, are you dating someone?”

“H-H-Huh?!”

As we were briefing openly in the choreography practice room, the rest of the guys naturally joined in the conversation shortly after.

"…There are really a lot of people who have nothing to do. Are you really in a relationship?"

Bae Sejin asked bluntly. Seon Ahyeon freaked out.

"N-No…!"

"Then do you know this woman?"

"I-I don't know…?"

"Then, may I ask where you took all these pictures?"

"That…."

Seon Ahyeon blushed a little.

"O-On the way to counseling, sometimes when I feel like it… I-I take pictures of the roadside, too."

"Oh… that's nice."

"You did a good job."

A few awkward compliments poured in.

Right. He enjoyed his spare time, so of course it was a good thing, but the problem was that the situation got twisted without mercy.

And there were photos of why this happened.

'...I guess they're consulting at the same place.'

Given the circumstance, It was most likely that the female idol who was rumored to be dating Seon Ahyeon also received consultation there.

'The photos were taken on the way back from the consultation, so the comments must have been similar.'

It was a bit of a sensitive personal matter to talk about, though.

‘On top of that, it has come to this because of the exclusive .’

In fact, ‘the niece of the director of the advertised company’ was a distant connection, but it looked plausible when you connected and wrote it down as one.

In fact, there were quite a few cases where dating started with that kind of connection, so it looked even more plausible.

“I-Is it going to be a big deal…? I-I’m sorry for the misunderstanding… Should I make an apology or an explanation…”

“It won’t spread. Don’t post it.”

“No, it’s not even real, so why do you have to apologize, Ahyeon~”

In any case, dating rumors that only had circumstances without any evidence would be dispelled after being picked up by SNS and communities.

There was a high probability that instead of making excuses, we would be just scratching on old wounds.

‘Because it looks concerning.’

In addition, on the day it was revealed that they went to the same place for counseling, the controversy would explode as much as the excuse worked.

Pretending not to know was the answer.

‘But the problem is that there will be people who really believe it.’

The situation was plausible, so it wasn’t good for the fandom to have an atmosphere of ‘Ahyeon seems to be in a relationship, but let’s just move on’.

Because some people had Reward psychology = When a person takes a certain action, they want to be rewarded accordingly. They may want a beneficial reward that helps them get out of a difficult environment, but if they don't receive it, it can turn into a negative behavior of revenge. I don't know what it's actually called in English so this term might be wrong.).

'I let go of relationships for you, but you can't do this for me?', or something like that.

And Seon Ahyeon was the type who was vulnerable to guilt and cared too much. If such an opinion came out to the surface, he would get dragged around.

He still did.

"S-Still… I-I think some of them might be worried."

"Ahyeon, if you respond to these rumors, they will be more worried."

"I-Is that so?"

Ryu Chungwoo was right.

It would be best if Seon Ahyeon could just brush it off and move on, saying 'It's nonsense~' without giving a comment.

'…The problem is, the method is uncertain.'

If the other members immediately uploaded a photo taken with Seon Ahyeon at the location, they were basically shouting, 'I am conscious of the dating rumors'.

Some people would definitely refute this, saying that the company ordered it.

'I'd rather attack the source.'

But no matter how dirty the source was, it didn't work well for dating gossip like this. This was not an ethical issue.

‘Hmm. Taking a picture now… I think it’s best to manipulate the timing of the photo and then mix things up.’

Sometimes, when I took good pictures of my daily life, I tied them all up and upload them on SNS, and there would be people who found them even if they passed by casually while getting them mixed up.

Of course, the question was whether I would get caught or not.

I thought about the method carefully. Because I wanted to clean it up neatly before making the comeback.

“I-I’m sorry. Because of me….”

“Why is this because of you? Don’t worry about it, you just get caught up.”

“Moondae is right Ahyeon. Don’t worry too much about it.”

I shrugged at Ryu Chungwoo’s words.

“I’ll manipulate the photos if I have to.”

“…T-That….”

“Oh~ That’s right. You won’t get caught!”

Don’t encourage me. I was just saying this to reassure Seon Ahyeon.

But before I could resort to extreme methods, the solution came from somewhere else.

Keun Sejin, who was flipping through his smartphone, made a fuss.

“Hey, something came up in the comments.”

“What is it?”

I checked the latest comments on Keun Sejin’s phone screen.

– ㅋㅋㅋYou idiots, look at Dami's Inheart. Ugh, you people are pretending to be tricked (screenshot) Dami got a PDF of all the sexual harassment articles. Yes, let the haters receive financial treatment

The attached capture was a photo of Dami playing around with a man at the location of the photo used for dating rumors.

– Eating out with family 🙂My handsome little brother

With this comment.

'We got it easy.'

It was practically over.

It didn't matter whether she was conscious of the dating rumor or not. It was a private life with her family, so it would be difficult to say that it was a response from the company

Besides, when I checked the original photo… The metadata also matched the date.

I nodded.

"It will subside soon."

Then, the tension on the members' faces melted away.

"Ha, there you go."

"Thank you, Dami sunbae-nim."

"T-Thank you…!"

Seon Ahyeon, don't even think about delivering your gratitude directly.

"Thank you. F-For worrying with me…"

"Don't mention it!"

“I am glad, Ahyeon.”

I waved my hand at Seon Ahyeon’s gratitude and once again checked the photo of the two people on Keun Sejin’s smartphone screen.

‘...Hmm, I’ve seen this face somewhere.’

Just in time, Keun Sejin pretended to notice.

“Oh, hey, that person. Chicken with Ribbon?”

“Oh.”

Oh, he was right.

Dami’s younger brother in the photo was the one I played against in the finals of <The Singer I Made>.

His name was… I didn’t remember. Honestly, I didn’t think his singing skills were that impressive.

‘He was lucky to make it to the finals.’

However, I remembered Cheongryeo’s advice.

– That group seems to be doing well. Pay attention to that.

“…Hmm.”

From the song to this trivial hot topic… It seemed they were lucky.

I came to a reasonable conclusion.

‘Let’s keep in touch with the composer.’

Hiring them all of sudden would be too much.

As I was organizing my thoughts, I suddenly heard Cha Eugene’s voice.

“But why can’t you date?”

“Huh??”

Everyone stiffened.

“You… You want to date?!”

“Yes! Hyung, you don’t want to?”

“N-No… uh.”

Bae Sejin stammered.

Indeed, it would be strange if you didn’t want to.

Perhaps what Cha Eugene said was in a similar context.

‘It’s not that you like someone in particular, it’s that you want to date when you have the chance.’

Of course, as much as he had training experience at the agency, he knew the reality.

“No, I know! But I don’t know why…”

“Um…”

It was a very difficult subject to explain.

In fact, rather than the problem of dating itself, if you showed off a love relationship in a profession where ”I am not dating’ was the norm, it could be interpreted as ‘I want to date more than doing idol activities’.

“T-The fans don’t like it!”

“…!”

What is this guy doing.

Seon Ahyeon shouted again with a red face.

“T-There are fans who think of you as their boyfriend…!”

“Why?”

“U-Uh…”

Keun Sejin interjected with a smile.

“Because you’re handsome~!”

“Aha!”

Cha Eugene nodded with a face that said everything had become clear.

“Okay, I won’t date!”

“…”

That… I wondered if he really could jump to that conclusion.

‘Whatever.’

It worked, so it was enough.

That day, Cha Eugene posted on SNS, ‘Am I your boyfriend?’.

He was blocking his love path on his own.

And a week later.

The music video teaser for this Testar album had been released.

However, it was 8 minutes long.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 154

Fans were naturally looking forward to this Testar's album but at the same time, some of them were concerned.

This was because of the announcement of each member's solo song.

– What do you mean, solo song? What are you going to do about the lining upㅠㅠ

– The aggro ㅌㅅㅌ I'm already stressed out when I think about how they're going to rearrange the rankings

– You were trying to make us multi-fan, but why are you running off the line?

Of course, the music score of the solo songs didn't directly indicate the members' popularity.

Because they were released as one album anyway, and they were exposed together under the group's name, so in the end, the ranking differed in the popularity of the songs.

However, due to the nature of the survival show's group, it was inevitable that they would be expecting live broadcasting of 'Music score by Testar members'.

Right when such slight concerns were growing amidst the high expectations, Testar's teaser was announced.

It was a video preview using WeTube's first public release function.

It meant the video would be released a day later.

[Testar(TeSTAR) ‘present’ Official Teaser]

A thumbnail ‘dark forest, an arrow stuck in a tree’ that didn’t reveal any hints appeared together.

It didn’t spark any interest, so people were unenthusiastic.

– I think it’s using the style of historical drama

– Is this on purpose

– An arrow?ㅋㅋ

However, the situation changed when people checked the video information.

The length of the video was 8 minutes and 12 seconds.

– You said it was a teaser! A teaser!

– There is a group that has an 8-minute preview??

– Guys, what the hell’s going on? I’m so curious

-Isn’t there something wrong? What kind of teaser is 8 minutes long;

KPOP music video teasers were usually short, less than one minute. Eight minutes was unusually long.

Of course, there was nothing fatal about it being so long. After all, the roles of the teasers were now to satisfy fans’ expectations rather than a promotional purpose.

Still, some of the fans who cared about their results were disappointed.

Since it was a teaser, there would be fewer people watching unless they were already fans, but it was obvious that the number of views would decrease if it was eight minutes long.

As the appearance on an American program went booming and they expected an influx in overseas K-pop fandom, there was also something they wanted to quickly check for certain indicators.

– Even if the number of views on teasers doesn't matter to them… It would be better if it was shortㅠㅠ

– I think it would have been better to split it up and release it in several videos, but whatever

– Please, T1, it's not a boring story music video, is it? Please tell me it's not

– I think it's going to be a miss this time, but I hope it's not, I hope you spent your money wisely

Of course, because nothing should happen right before the comeback, fans pushed the atmosphere with positive words in public communities and SNS.

– 8 minutes is good. You'll be able to see the kids' faces for a long time from the teaserㅠㅠㅠ

– Can I see our Bae Hamster's acting??? I'm so excited

– How am I supposed to wait 24 hours

– I've been waiting for the first release, I think I'm going to go crazy if it ends in 30 seconds. I can't believe they gave us 8 minutes. As expected of Testar Daehyeja Group

(TL: Hyeja = products that are very good in quantity and quality compared to the price, and have very good cost-effectiveness that is more than reasonable. Dae = great)

Fans anxiously waited for the release of the teaser, hoping that this anticipation wouldn't cool down as soon as the teaser came out.

And the day it was released.

In the live chat of the teaser video, people who were waiting for the first release were pleasantly shocked.

-????

– What's this

As the fans had guessed, the teaser had a very authentic historical drama style.

However, the roles the members played were not people.

The video began with a huge palace, went inside as if being sucked in, turned around the corner, opened one of the paper doors, and entered.

It was a library full of books.

Among them, the screen followed an old, worn-out book lying open on the floor.

Inside, an arm rising out from the sea was drawn roughly in ink.

At that moment, the video screen changed to a real beach.

Flutter.

The screen went into the sea in an instant and reflected a figure lying on a huge rock under the water.

The figure was Seon Ahyeon with blonde hair in a loose white robe.

Sunlight broke through the blue waters and shimmered on the white surfaces of the rocks. It was a beautiful but strange scenery.

At the bottom, a white caption appeared in an old-fashioned font.

[Breath]

It was the name of a song on the released track list.

And along with a delicate sound of gayageum[1]The gayageum or kayagum is a traditional Korean plucked zither with 12 strings, though some more recent variants have 18, 21 or 25 strings. It is probably the best known traditional Korean musical instrument. Sumber: Wiki. , Seon Ahyeon's solo song came out.

At that moment, Seon Ahyeon got up and slowly began to dance in the water.

It was just a beautiful movement, not a set choreography in the song.

His hair and his dopo[2]Dopo (Kor. 도포, Chin. 道袍, lit. "Taoist robe") is a variety of po, or overcoat in hanbok (한복), which was first worn in the middle of the Joseon since the 16th century. The dopo was mostly worn by male Confucian scholars called seonbi (선비) during the Joseon period. Sumber: Wiki. drew a graceful line in the water.

– Ahㅠㅠㅠ

– So handsome

– Crazy, underwater shooting

People were amazed. And they thought.

'Seon Ahyeonn's solo song is the intro!'

However, as soon as the beautiful underwater performance was over, the camera made eye contact with Seon Ahyeon in the foam and soared from the sea again.

And it approached a strange circular pattern drawn with mother-of-pearl on the sandy beach.

When the evening sun was setting in the dark, a figure who had been crouching in the pattern stretched out and stood up.

It was Cha Eugene covering his mouth with one hand.

On his cheek, collarbone, and back of his hands, old Hangeul letters in strange handwriting shone like a pattern in five-colored mother-of-pearl.

Tidying, Tingting, Tingting!

A new song with a strong beat began with the sound of a kkwaenggwari[3]The kkwaenggwari is a small flat gong used primarily in the folk music of Korea. It is made of brass and is played with a hard stick. It produces a distinctively high-pitched, metallic tone that breaks into a cymbal-like crashing timbre when struck forcefully. Sumber: Wiki. .

[Rythim]

It was Cha Eugene's solo song.

– Huh?

– It's great

– Heol, no way

– Crazy Cha Eugeneㅠㅠㅠ

Reactions to Cha Eugene's performance and strong speculation about the current situation were mixing in dizzyingly, flooding the live chat window.

And their guesses were right.

In this way, all the members' solo songs were introduced continuously.

After Cha Eugene, Bae Sejin, who had his eyes blindfolded, sat on an old tree and sang a ballad melody. There was a subtle chirping sound.

The field of vision of the video entered a cave in the forest and illuminated Kim Raebin, who used lantern lights like neon.

Kim Raebin's solo song was Future Base with saenghwang[4]The saenghwang is a Korean wind instrument. It is a free reed mouth organ derived from the Chinese sheng, though its tuning is different. It is constructed from 17 bamboo pipes, each with a metal free reed, mounted vertically in a windchest. Sumber: Wiki. as the main instrument.

Afterward, the camera came out of the cave and headed to an old thatched hut in a forest.

Between the strange-colored fabrics winding around the rotten paper gate of the thatched house.

Park Moondae was sitting on the veranda.

And the already familiar sound of sogeum[5]The sogeum is a small bamboo transverse flute used in traditional Korean music. Unlike the larger daegeum, it does not have a buzzing membrane. It is used in court, aristocratic, and folk music, as well as in contemporary classical music, popular music, and film scores. Sumber: Wiki. in ‘Flower’s Eve’ rang out.

– Wedding clothes!! Crazy, thank youㅠㅠ

– As expected, I need to see Moondae’s face

Finally, the video returned to the spectacular palace in contrast to the thatched house.

In the middle, Lee Sejin performed a stunt-like dance to the sound of the drum while wearing a huge waist ornament similar to a tail.

It was an enjoyable upbeat song.

Of course, the fans were happy.

– Hey, all the songs are good

– ㅠㅠㅠㅠㅠㅠ

– Hair+makeup is good

– The visual beauty, oh my goodness

– I want to get the album soonㅠㅠ

– Please, full video

– The most fruitful 8 minutes of my life

However, after Lee Sejin's dance, the screen turned off as he smiled and turned around, disappearing into the palace.

– ???

– Where's Chungwoo

– Aren't you going to show the title track?ㅋㅋ

– This is really the teaser, right?

Fans, who were perplexed because one of the members didn't come out and the title track wasn't even shown, breathed a sigh of relief when the screen was turned back on.

– Is it a traffic error

– Oh, it's a relief

– This is the first release so it's a big dealㅠㅠ

However, the screen reflected Seon Ahyeon under the sea again. With the sound of gayageum used in the solo song.

– Eh

– Again?

– It's a repeated error

It wasn't an error.

Seon Ahyeon on the screen stared at the camera for a while and then disappeared, and then, the cut of Cha Eugene on the sandy beach staring at the camera also changed.

Next was Bae Sejin.

However, even when the person changed, the sound of the traditional musical instrument in the background didn't disappear and continued to pile up.

– Huh?

The members added Korean traditional instruments one by one to their solo song's beat melody.

As the Korean instruments entered harmoniously one by one, a new beat melody began to appear.

Finally, when the screen shone on Lee Sejin, the song began to take shape with the sound of drums now heard.

The moment modern instruments filled it.

Suddenly the song stopped.

And on the screen that went back… A hand appeared.

[…]

A large, sturdy hand picked up a book that had fallen to the floor. It was a book with a strange ink painting that appeared in the first scene.

The camera caught the back of the book.

[Ghost Record]

"Are you going to appear?"

The camera climbed up the hand and caught the owner of the arm.

It was Ryu Chungwoo in a cheollik[6]Cheollik is a jacket that used to be worn as daily wear for men or official wear for military officials. .

(TL notes:)

– So handsome

– Aargh Chungwoo

No matter what people shouted in the chat window, Ryu Chungwoo in the video whisked off the book with a complicated expression.

And with clear eyes, he answered someone who was off the screen.

“I should.”

The melody exploded, catching Ryu Chungwoo’s back as he turned around and left the library.

Then, walking out of the fence, Ryu Chungwoo took out the bow from his back and aimed it at the forest.

It was a black lacquered archery target

[Now, he appears

Warning again warning

approaching with one’s life

Slow and thrilling]

The arrow flew with a bang and pierced deep into the giant bamboo.

[Me.]

The video ended with an arrow stuck in a tree.

It was the thumbnail.

– Crazycrazy

– Ah

– Is that the title song??

– Uaaaa

– The other members are spirits, and Chungwoo is going to catch them??

– I love you, Testarㅠㅠ

– It’s crazy that all the solo songs are connected!

The solo songs of the members were connected to form the title song. And through the video, the story of the music video was insinuated.

In a sense, it faithfully carried the meaning of the teaser.

And it was a clear composition that clearly showed their consideration for the organic perfection of the album.

This point was more evident in the information that was added in the ‘See more’ column of the teaser video.

It included a list of songwriting, composition, arrangement, and copyright holders of all the songs on the album.

– Each song has the kids’ name

– They all made it togetherㅠㅠ

Although the order was backward, the names of various members could be seen in each song. The same was true for songs that weren’t their solo songs.

And with the fact that all these were connected and shown in the teaser video, their intention was clearly conveyed ‘Album songs are the work of a group’.

This meant that even if there might be a line-up in the future due to the number of views of the fancams, the music in the album presented a logic to defend against the comparison of each member’s performance.

– The kids are really serious about the group

– Let’s go together until you have a dinner show. We will watch Testar's dinner show[7]When people said ‘Let’s watch xxx’s dinner show’, they imply that they want the group to last long because only old artists show up in dinner shows. ㅠㅠ

– Yes, the number of views of the music video is important. It’s a teaser. As long as it’s for us. Thank you, guys. 8 minutes were enough

Most of the Testar’s multi-fans and the casual solo fans seemed satisfied.

However, Ryu Chungwoo’s fans reacted strangely.

At the end of the teaser, Ryu Chungwoo looked like the center of the title track, but it was because he didn’t introduce his solo song.

– No way, does Chungwoo’s song has its own video?

– It’s annoying that I have to pray because he didn’t even get basics but this neglect is beyond my imagination ㅋㅋㅋ

– If I made a protest, they would say ‘he got the center, why do you have to complain about the teaser’ ㅈㅇㅈFools, are you crazy ㅋㅋㅋI am disillusioned

– I hate it more when the atmosphere is set to prevent people from protesting

There was a subtle fight between ‘You’re overreacting, the lid of the comeback hasn’t even opened yet’ and ‘His song didn’t come out on the teaser at all, so of course, I feel like sh*t’.

Fortunately, before it could be screenshotted and displayed everywhere as a ‘controversial topic in Testar’s fandom’, a post came up on Testar’s SNS.

Hello, Loviewer. Did you enjoy the teaser?

I’m a little nervous because I’ve heard the encouragement that I play a big role in this activity, but I hope you look forward to the album.

Ah, This is Ryu Chungwoo (smiling emoticon)

It was an article with a nuance that said, ‘You don’t have to worry about Ryu Chungwoo’s footage’.

* * *

“Is this enough?”

“Yes.”

“Well, I think it’s a little cheeky.”

“No, don’t worry.”

“Haha, I see. …Thank you.”

“…Don’t mention it.”

Ryu Chungwoo turned off his smartphone with a smile.

He didn’t seem to dwell much on the reaction. Because it was a reaction that would subside once the content was released anyway.

Still, I recommended it because I thought it would be better to reassure them at this time.

‘This is enough.’

After confirming that Ryu Chungwoo’s fans agreed to ‘let’s wait and see’, I turned back to the articles I saw earlier.

‘This will take longer.’

It was an article about the group that had Gold 1 in it.

[Big rookie Golden Age, countdown to comeback]

[Golden Age from <Idol Inc.>, will they meet Testar?]

[Blue music industry in August… From Testar to Golden Age]

In short, these articles indicated that the group’s comeback coincided with Testar’s activity.

Of course, when I saw it, a format came to mind.

‘When we debuted.’

Testar’s debut, which was accompanied by the immovable top-tier Vtic.

These simultaneous activities reminded me of that format.

‘Sigh.’

I clicked my tongue. I was certain now.

These punks’ agency did a good job.

- 1. The gayageum or kayagum is a traditional Korean plucked zither with 12 strings, though some more recent variants have 18, 21 or 25 strings. It is probably the best known traditional Korean musical instrument. Sumber: Wiki.
- 2. Dopo (Kor. 도포, Chin. 道袍, lit. “Taoist robe”) is a variety of po, or overcoat in hanbok (한복), which was first worn in the middle of the Joseon since the 16th century. The dopo was mostly worn by male Confucian scholars called seonbi (선비) during the Joseon period. Sumber: Wiki.
- 3. The kkwaenggwari is a small flat gong used primarily in the folk music of Korea. It is made of brass and is played with a hard stick. It produces a distinctively high-pitched, metallic tone that breaks into a cymbal-like crashing timbre when struck forcefully. Sumber: Wiki.

- 4. The saenghwang is a Korean wind instrument. It is a free reed mouth organ derived from the Chinese sheng, though its tuning is different. It is constructed from 17 bamboo pipes, each with a metal free reed, mounted vertically in a windchest. Sumber: Wiki.
- 5. The sogeum is a small bamboo transverse flute used in traditional Korean music. Unlike the larger daegeum, it does not have a buzzing membrane. It is used in court, aristocratic, and folk music, as well as in contemporary classical music, popular music, and film scores. Sumber: Wiki.
- 6. Cheollik is a jacket that used to be worn as daily wear for men or official wear for military officials.
- 7. When people said ‘Let’s watch xxx’s dinner show’, they imply that they want the group to last long because only old artists show up in dinner shows.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 155

It was obvious what Gold 1's agency was thinking.

'If you can't get 1st place, you can't make an impact.'

No matter how good the song was, it was hard for that group to get first place.

Even if they made a good impression with their debut song, they were only popular among those who were interested in idols.

A boy idol group who didn't come from three major companies. Low public recognition.

This meant that there were a lot of people who didn't even try to listen to these guys' songs.

'So it's understandable why they make this frame.'

It was beneficial for these guys to get involved with Testar.

Emphasizing that we were from the same Idol Inc, they would try to capture the format of Testar's rival challenger with media play that was similar to the composition of Vtic-Testar's concurrent activities.

It was a move worth trying even if it meant getting glares from Testar's fans and being kept in check.

With a lot of people trying to provoke Testar, they would get support as well.

Of course, it would end in ridicule if they weren't good enough.

‘...I guess they’re confident in their song.’

From the time of Choi Wongil until now, the agency’s skills had been excellent.

It would have been nice if my agency had been a bit more uptight, but judging from my experience so far, let’s just be grateful for the current situation, where we had a payment bot sat down without options.

Bzz.

Then, a pop-up appeared on my smartphone screen vibrating.

…Speak of the devil, it was Gold 1’s message.

[Guys, our activities overlap!]

[Hmm, see you at the music show, sunbae-nims.]

“…”

…He was a good guy.

Even if he vaguely noticed what was going on, he probably didn’t think that this would cause any damage to Testar.

He must be grateful and embarrassed.

‘In any case, I can’t ignore him.’

Right now, Testar’s social position was far too superior compared to Gold 1’s.

The moment one of the Testar members showed discomfort to Gold 1, that agency would likely attach an image of ‘treating people differently according to their level’.

‘Well, let’s just pass this activity.’

At any rate, after this season, they would catch another suitable group and go on with the image of winning. After raising it up to this point, they had to show the taste of victory to make the narrative pretty.

Besides, honestly… I was confident in this Testar's album.

'We did a good job.'

'A good job' wasn't just about perfection, we had worked enough on the charm of idols.

For now, the response to the teaser that was released right away was very good as I had predicted.

'I think it's going to be our career-high.'

I had a strong hunch.

I roughly replied to Gold 1's message that was posted in the group chat as I predicted the results of this activity.

And a few days later.

I heard the good news in the waiting room even before we started the pre-recording of our first music show.

"850,000 copies?"

"Yeah! You guys hit the jackpot!"

On the 4th day, we already passed the Initial Chodong of the previous album.

If we calculated the future sales based on this… The probability of the initial Chodong exceeding 1 million was extremely high.

'It's the first tier.'

Now, we really had reached a level high enough to be considered the top four or five of the boy idol groups in Korea.

It seemed only the member who thought that far was Keun Sejin, but the rest of the guys were happy enough.

“Oh, my God…”

“I dare to guess, overseas sales have increased! Since this concept is very traditional, it appeals to existing K-pop audiences…”

“The album is great! That’s why!”

They got a little excited and went into a collective monologue, but they soon got fired up.

“Let’s do a great job on our comeback stage and show them why our album is so popular.”

“Oooh!”

“Well said~”

“I-I want to show a cool image…!”

They were full of enthusiasm. It was a good atmosphere to show right before the stage recording.

“Ah! Testar will show it to you today!”

“Let’s go!”

‘This slogan is almost official at this point.’

As the frequency increased, I stopped being embarrassed and slowly shouted the slogan, going up to the recording stage.

Waaaa!

I heard familiar shouts.

Feeling like it had been a while, the pre-recording for the music show began.

* * *

‘This album is extraordinary.’

Park Moondae’s homma tried to calm herself down.

But it was hard. The indexes were so good…!

‘What’s with the overseas supply?!’

It was a scream of delight.

And the indexes weren’t just about album sales.

Because Testar became quite a hot topic in overseas K-pop communities due to the American talk show, Park Moondae’s homma gained SNS followers faster than usual.

Then, after this comeback, the number of shares attached to Park Moondae’s photos almost doubled.

English subtitles were attached by users to various Testar’s contents on WeTube, and the number of views on numorous videos made in English by fans had increased sharply.

And most of all…

‘The views on the music video have skyrocketed…’

It exceeded 10 million views in 26 hours.

It was not yet at the level of a top boy idol group of the same weight class in Korea, but it was still encouraging.

Even considering that it had gone viral, the speed of the increase in views was still significant. At the same time, the number of views on the teaser was also increasing.

‘I thought so.’

Recalling the music video for the title track of this album, ‘present’, the homma’s heart was filled with excitement.

‘It’s really the best.’

It was a pity that the center of the music video was Ryu Chungwoo, not Park Moondae, but the music video itself came out so well.

‘I guess Ryu Chungwoo is going to rise up a bit this time?’

There was no need to compare rankings between individuals anymore, but like a habit, the homma prepared to cheer them on while thinking like that.

‘They’re coming soon!’

The lightsticks could be seen here and there with long straps printed with album cover patterns tied in various shapes.

It was a mini daenggi[1]A daenggi is a traditional Korean ribbon used to tie up and decorate braided hair. Sumber: Wiki. used to decorate the lightstick that was included as a bonus for booking the album.

Since the lightstick purely looked like a magic wand, it seemed to be an accessory that they came up with to give a sense of unity with the song while cheering. It was very pretty.

‘It’s cute and nice!’

However, the thought of being sufficiently satisfied disappeared from the homma’s mind the moment Testar stepped up to the stage.

Testar was wearing a suit-style outfit that brought in suitable elements of hanbok from the clothes and pattern.

And the cloth ornaments that were tied to their wrists, necks, and earrings.

It was the same daenggi that the fans hung on the lightsticks.

“Argh!”

‘Who’s the coordinator?’

She was really grateful.

Fortunately, perhaps because they had time to spare or weren’t ready to shoot yet, instead of rushing right into the stage, a casual greeting came out.

[Everyone, did you like the music vide….]

“Yeaaaah!””

“Yes!”

“Absolutely great!!”

[Haha, yes!]

[Shall we talk about our favorite parts briefly one by one? Now, starting with our Chungwoo hyung-nim~!]

Coming up to the stage, Testar dragged it out by talking in moderation. A year had passed, they had become much better compared to the beginning of their debut

‘So cute…’

The homma muttered warmly, but couldn’t take her eyes off Park Moondae.

As already shown in the music video, Park Moondae’s hairstyle had changed.

Thanks to having prepared herself beforehand, she could hold back from screaming too much.

‘It’s been so long since he had black hair…’

The homma was intoxicated by the vague memory of the first <Idol Inc.> production presentation.

Park Moondae had black hair that was quite longer than usual. It wasn’t long hair, but the fact that the bangs were long enough to slip off to the sides gave off a subtle classic beauty.

‘Excellent…!’

The homma swallowed all kinds of silly comments in her mouth and waved the lightstick to Park Moondae, who was waving his hand.

[Everyone, after a lot of hard work, black-haired Moondae is here~]

[Please give us honest feedback.]

“It’s great!”

“I love it!!”

The homma couldn’t stand it anymore and screamed hard. Similar noises came from here and there.

Moondae, who had asked with a Tibetan fox’s indifferent face, smiled a little at the response.

[Thank you.]

‘You’re the best!’

The homma cried like crazy, saying that she came to their show because of this feeling.

But today’s highlights hadn’t even started yet.

The stage.

[Are we going in?]

[Yes.]

Exchanging signals with the staff, Testa quickly settled down after bowing their heads.

The members gathered in a semicircle and crouched with their arms hanging down.

[…]

On a stage set composed of pine trees and black and red cloth, the performance began.

Tangdang, Tangtangtang, Tadadang-

The accompaniment, which started with the sound of kkwaenggwari and modified traditional instruments, started to play out in a very modern structure.

It was trap hip-hop.

Then, the choreography unfolded as they spread their legs on the floor.

It was a choreography that looked like a moving four-footed beast.

When a triangular formation was created through that strange movement, Cha Eugene jumped out after the prelude.

– Even if you struggle, you can't avoid it

You come today, you go

Let's stick one more on the record

Now come, come, go

It was a song that maximized the rhythmic and groovy taste of an iconic K-pop idol's dance song.

However, the unique sound of Korean musical instruments added a very strange taste.

– Approaching silently

Predator, Sharp Claw

scratching this night

The pursuer, as I'm sure

The clear vocal melodies that went in between were nice to listen to. Purposefully contrasting with the sharp rapping, the song was enriched.

Above all, no matter what part they did, there was no time to rest in the choreography.

'Shouldn't they revise that…?'

The homma reflexively thought while watching the part where everyone lay down on the floor in Seon Ahyeon's part and rose up with a rebound.

But she soon forgot. Because it was a waste to even think of anything else.

– Swallow the world

I'll melt it hot

the sound of clicking one's tongue ringing

Ryu Chungwoo stood at the center of the formation that returned in the shape of an arrow.

With the chorus, the beat slowed down. And the daunting static choreography suppressed the atmosphere.

– Now, he appears

Warning again warning

approaching with one's life

slow and thrilling

– Me

Along with the drop, the accompaniment exploded.

– The day has finally come

A parade

Let's end it here today

(never get away from me ye)

Park Moondae's high notes and Kim Raebin's low-pitched rap overlapped.

– Even if you lower your head, you can't escape

Look carefully

Thrill follows

Lee Sejin came forward from the side and swayed his head.

.

A dance break unfolded.

– Present

Thanks to the generous push of the tuneful beat melody, the song was still catchy even during dance breaks where only one word was occasionally spoken.

However, a more spectacular dance break caught her attention.

Moving the formation like a giant beast changing its posture, the choreography gave a strange feeling to the sound of sogeum and gayageum.

‘It’s crazy.’

Since they only saw the choreography in the music video, it was the first time the fans saw the stage from beginning to end like this.

The impact was very powerful.

Even in the second half, they entered with great vocals.

– Strongly

Louder

My approaching steps

As soon as Park Moondae shouted the ultra-high note of the bridge, the last dance break immediately followed.

– Present

‘Did you even breathe, Moondae?’

Not expecting him to perform live to this extent, the homma was speechless with emotions and worries.

She was worried whether he could continue to do this live in the future.

‘I can see why this is pre-recorded!’

Thinking that she realized the reason why they recorded the title track instead of the B-side, the homma looked at the stage with her mouth open.

However, they didn’t make any mistakes until the end.

As soon as the explosive dance break was over, the choreography was organized as if being rewinded, and a formation was created.

Unlike the introduction that looked like a four-footed beast, the ending looked like a rounded squad.

The stage ended with Ryu Chungwoo in the center nodding slightly to the sound of taepyeongso[2]The taepyeongso is a Korean double reed wind instrument in the shawm or oboe family, probably descended from the Persian sorna and closely related to the Chinese suona. Sumber: Wiki. .

‘So good!’

“Uaaaaaa!!”

It was the first time since Testar’s debut that a performance song was used openly as a title track. The fans cheered with excitement.

[Huft… Thank you!]

There was no disruption in the recording that was done one more, so they said, ‘It’s such a shame’.

In particular, Ryu Chungwoo, who had such good physical strength, looked more stable, probably because he was in charge of the introduction and ending of the chorus.

‘I can see why they gave the center to him.’

Since Moondae’s portion was also good, the homma was able to nod her head without any bad feelings.

[Go home safely!]

[I hope you have enough breakfast!]

After three shoots, Testar finished the recording and left.

Perhaps because of the delay in the beginning, they had no time to give the ending remarks as they left quickly for the next team, but it was still enough.

Because the stage was so good!

‘Ah, it was great!’

Thinking that it would be good to continue like this, the homma put the yakgwa[3]Yakgwa = Korean honey cookies. she received as a snack into her mouth and left.

It was so good!

She hoped everything would be easy for Moondae on the road ahead!!

* * *

I had a hunch.

‘It’s not going to be easy.’

When I heard the chorus of Gold 1’s group’s title track that he sent, saying ‘Please let me know how you feel’.

Their song was so much better than I thought.

- 1. A daenggi is a traditional Korean ribbon used to tie up and decorate braided hair. Sumber: Wiki.
- 2. The taepyeongso is a Korean double reed wind instrument in the shawm or oboe family, probably descended from the Persian sorna and closely related to the Chinese suona. Sumber: Wiki.
- 3. Yakgwa = Korean honey cookies.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 156

After having the characteristic ‘Snatching ear’ that amplified the ability to recognize good songs, I rarely failed in selecting songs.

In that sense, the chorus of this song sent by Gold 1 as their title track this time… It was really good.

I wasn’t talking about perfection or art. It was a song that stayed in your head even if you just listened to it once.

It was extremely attractive.

‘Damn it.’

Of course, there was still no possibility that Testar would be pushed back in grades.

But, the problem was, some people would start talking nonsense.

‘I’m not in a situation where I can tolerate that right now.’

First of all… This was the current atmosphere of Testar’s latest album, ‘Chakhogapsa[1]Chackhogapsa = Military who were selected and deployed to catch tigers in the Dynasty Joseon. ‘.

First of all, the critic’s rating on the most famous music review site in Korea was 4 stars.

It was the first four-star among idol rookies released this year.

Aesthetics of balance.

They must be different in order to achieve harmony. From Moombahton's <Rythm> to synth-pop's <Breath>, various dishes were woven with Korean musical instruments and sublimated into a formal dinner with a focus on the title track <Present>.

Amidst the recent trend of singles and mini albums, the boldness of attempting to release consecutive regular albums in less than half a year has a well-organized basis.

……

The criticism that was added in the second half was 'the build quality was excessive and the structure of the title track is typical'.

The praises by critics were more than I had expected. Of course, it helped the group's status.

In addition, there were clear responses from overseas.

With clear results shown in music video views, album sales, global music sites, etc, we received love calls from aboard.

Right now, we were scheduled to perform on a semi-major English-speaking talk show and a Japanese morning broadcast.

Even though the song wasn't easy to listen to because its purpose was to make an extreme performance, the domestic music score was good.

'We are in 4th place right now.'

According to the company, the influx of official fandom subscribers was accelerating faster than the last album, and they must be benefiting from that.

So, to sum up all these indicators, this activity was a great opportunity to fly to the top-tier stability zone by capturing both commerciality and artistic value.

In short, we were about to open the door to the beginning of a crazy heyday.

But here, the Gold 1's group, Golden Age, collectively bit Testar and hung onto us, and they even came out with a filthy good song.

'Naturally, noises like 'Golden Age's song is better, but Testar won thanks to the fans' will come out.'

In short, the fans' and the public's perceptions would be drained.

I could already see the risk that Testar's image reputation as a 'Popular group that is doing well in all areas' would be reduced to 'A male idol group with a big fandom'.

We were about to enter the top-tier category, so I refused to get caught here.

'We have to go on a large-scale tour.'

In order to avoid sudden death due to status abnormality, Testar shouldn't lose their momentum until the next comeback.

'I have to make the public continues to appreciate Testar's new album.'

After thinking about it, I quickly came to a conclusion.

'Gukkpong[2]Guk-ppong is a derogatory Korean word that is used to pejoratively describe a South Korean nationalist. I thought of translating it to 'Overproud Nationalists' but eventually decided against it. is the only answer.'

We should make Testar proud of its common denominator with the domestic public.

Just to the extent that it was so artificial and excessive that they didn't feel repulsed.

I sighed briefly and replied to Gold 1's message late. This was after several people had already replied.

[It's a nice pleasant song. Congratulations, hyung.]

I sent it neatly without any unnecessities so that the company wouldn't use it in a strange way.

Gold 1 was just grateful.

[Ha Iljoon (hyung): ㅠㅠThank you guys!]

[Ha Iljoon (hyung): I hope the reactions are good… I have to work hard]

Gold 1 was a bit nervous, so after a few words of conversation, he ended it with a joke.

[Ha Iljoon (hyung): If we meet at a music show next week, can you sign my CD…? My dongsaeng is trying to kill me]

But a few hours later, the group chat rang again.

[Ha Iljoon (Hyung): Guys, I'm not proud of this, but can I say in an interview this week that you guys complimented the song?]

[Ha Iljoon (hyung): I'm scared because the questions sound like they want us to pick a fight]

[Ha Iljoon (hyung): Ah, how different are we from Testar? They keep saying that, so I'm nervous… Help me.]

Sigh.

'This isn't good.'

He might be sincere, but I didn't know how that company would use it.

It would be perfect for media play with words like 'This is Golden Age's new song that even Testar, their competitor, recognized'.

I quickly typed a message before the others could reply.

[Will it be okay? I'm worried they might say that you leaked the title track to another group through Idol Inc's connection.]

Right after that, a personal message came in.

[Keun Sejin: ㅎㅎGood]

As expected, he didn't reply on purpose.

And without having to set the mood with Keun Sejin, Gold 1's scared reply came back right away.

[Ha Iljoon (hyung): Heol, that's possible. Thank you, Moondae, this company went crazy and almost sold me out]

'The company's advice was correct.'

Those bastards weren't normal, either.

In the first place, it seemed Gold 1 didn't even think of keeping Testar in check because our level difference was too great, but it was clear that he trusted the company.

'I'm jealous.'

This neighborhood couldn't compare.

I held back my sigh and called the company.

'I have to ask for the exact date.'

Just… Checking everything one by one was not the company's way.

* * *

The week after Park Moondae checked Golden Age's title track.

A reaction video was uploaded on a large WeTube channel.

It was a channel famous for producing interesting reactions by directing unique situations, so a lot of celebrities had made appearances recently.

However, it was also the first time that people from this field appeared.

[Korean traditional musicians watching the latest KPOP (feat. Testar) NAYA]

It was the appearance of people who performed traditional Korean music.

The video was taken by filming each cast member one by one and was edited by connecting the cuts.

[Hello, I'm Baek Joobin, a Korean traditional musician.]

[Last year, I had a gayageum recital at the National Traditional Music Center.]

[My most recent performance was… Cheoyongmu[3]Cheoyongmu is a representative Korean mask dance based on the legend of Cheoyong, a son of the Dragon King of the Eastern Sea. It is also the oldest surviving Korean court dance created during the Unified Silla period. Sumber: Wiki ?]

The video briefly introduced the artists' activity along with their data and then began with a simple Q and A session.

[NAYA: Do you listen to KPOP?]

[I know the famous ones.]

[No.]

[Yes, I like it].]

There were various reactions, but this was the evaluation emphasized in the video.

[It's very different from the music I usually do.]

The channel's production crew then opened their laptops and made the traditional musicians watch a music video.

To be exact, it was a teaser.

[NAYA: I will introduce you to a KPOP music video that is currently on the real-time popular video rankings.]

[Hmm… Can I just watch it?]

[One, ten, hundred, thousand… The unit is 10 million. Wow.]

[3, 2, 1, press it.]

Click.

Soon, the video was broadcasted together on a small window screen.

It was the teaser of Testar's new song.

[Oh, this?]

And the traditional musicians… started laughing when Seon Ahyeon's solo song came out.

[So, that's why you showed it to me!]

[It's gayageum.]

Of course, except for the main instrument, the elements were extremely close to KPOP, but the Korean traditional musicians still enjoyed it quite a bit.

[Very clever and well written.]

[They mixed it with the moves as well. There were arm movements used in taepyeongmu[4]Taepyeongmu is a Korean dance with the function of wishing great peace for the country. .]

[Wow, he's really handsome! Someone like that should have come to our side(?).]

However, when Cha Eugene's solo song immediately followed, the reaction became slightly stronger.

[It wasn't the end??]

[Oh, this person is also very cool! The kkwaenggwari suits him!]

[…Wait, the length of this video… Wait a minute.]

[NAYA: Please keep watching. (laugh)]

Traditional musicians enjoyed the first verse of each Testar member's solo song.

Its visual beauty was overflowing with capital.

[Oh…]

The reaction that started out of politeness became stronger as they became more and more immersed in the video.

In particular, when the Korean traditional music instruments of each solo song piled up and made the title track, the most intense reaction erupted.

[Wow!!]

[Oh, this is all part of it!]

[How did they come up with this idea??]

[These instruments are originally used in different fields, so there is probably no case where they are all used together… Oh, it's very refreshing.]

[NAYA: Those are the opinions that they came up with while making the song themselves.]

[That's amazing!]

And the moment Ryu Chungwoo appeared, they eventually became immersed in the story.

[Are they spirits? In the book earlier, spirits…]

[Hmm~ I got it. Look. First of all, this one is a gumiho[5]A kumiho or gumiho is a creature that appears in the folktales on East Asia and legends of Korea. It is similar to the Chinese huli jing and the Japanese kitsune. It can freely transform into a beautiful woman often set out to seduce men, and eat their liver or heart. Sumber: Wiki. .]

[Really? Ah, then perhaps, is that Cheoyong[6]I think Cheoyong is the guy that inspired Cheoyongmu mentioned above. in the front? I think it's really him.]

Then the channel's producer declared a bombshell.

[NAYA: Why don't you ask them yourself?]

[Yes??]

Then, Testar members appeared from off the screen.

[Park Moondae: Hello. I'm Testar's Park Moondae.]

[Cha Eugene: Hello! I'm Cha Eugene. From Testar!]

[Oh my God!]

Testar's members appeared one or two in each in each video cut and sat across from the traditional musicians.

With the shocked Korean traditional musicians, a fun and heartwarming appearance was produced.

[Oh, I really enjoyed watching the video!]

[Really… It was genius. Awesome.]

[You're more handsome in person.]

[Excuse me, do you perhaps… Have trouble with your eyes…]

[Bae Sejin: ???Ah, no…I was, uh, a child actor…]

[Ahhh! What should I do? I'm sorry! I was blinded because your acting looked so real!]

The raw reactions of familiarity and laughter that came out of each other's embarrassment played out for a long time.

And at the end, it leaned slightly towards a slightly touching and serious talk.

[In fact, as we continue to do this, we get the feeling that we are getting farther away from the public. Thank you for showing such a wonderful fusion.]

[Park Moondae: Thanks to you, we were able to use it knowing that Korean musical instruments make such wonderful sounds. Thank you.]

[Let's cheer up each other!]

[Cha Eugene: Great! Let's hug!]

And the situation was finished with a slight gag so that the lingering aftermath didn't feel too heavy.

[Cha Eugene: But I'm actually an American! I love it!]

[????]

The Korean traditional musicians' expressions turned confused.

[T-That's great… I like foreigners too (?)]

That's how the video ended.

And, of course, as soon as the video was uploaded, it quickly gained millions of views and became a popular video in Korea.

And it wasn't just this video.

Testar performed in full-fledged hanbok on a WeTube channel specializing in choreography videos, and they appeared playing Korean traditional instruments in public entertainment previews.

It emphasized the appealing elements of this album at a level that suited the content appropriately and didn't feel excessive.

After diligently laying the groundwork for the nuance that 'Testar is introducing Korean traditional music'.

The agency started posting articles about Testar's overseas schedule on the main portal.

It was a bomb that was dropped right when Gold 1's group just started their activities.

The work was successful.

And doing this far, they couldn't sit in a scary position like 'a symbolic group representing Korea'.

Because VTIC was there.

However, not everything went as predicted.

* * *

In Testar's first overseas scheduled shooting of this activity.

The backstage, which would have been busy with various inspections, turned into a mess with urgency and anxiety.

"Kim Raebin!"

“Are you okay??”

“I-I don’t know…”

Kim Raebin, whose face turned pale, reached out to his right foot and hurriedly pulled back. It was obvious that the pain was severe.

“Raebin, don’t touch your feet.”

“Do you have a kit?”

“Let me see!”

Staff hurriedly took off his shoes and carefully checked his condition.

His bloody instep was visibly swollen.

‘Damn it.’

I almost bit my tongue.

- 1. Chackhogapsa = Military who were selected and deployed to catch tigers in the Dynasty Joseon.
- 2. Guk-ppong is a derogatory Korean word that is used to pejoratively describe a South Korean nationalist. I thought of translating it to ‘Overproud Nationalists’ but eventually decided against it.
- 3. Cheoyongmu is a representative Korean mask dance based on the legend of Cheoyong, a son of the Dragon King of the Eastern Sea. It is also the oldest surviving Korean court dance created during the Unified Silla period. Sumber: Wiki
- 4. Taepyeongmu is a Korean dance with the function of wishing great peace for the country.
- 5. A kumiho or gumiho is a creature that appears in the folktales on East Asia and legends of Korea. It is similar to the Chinese huli jing and the Japanese kitsune. It can freely transform into a beautiful woman often set out to seduce men, and eat their liver or heart. Sumber: Wiki.

- 6. I think Cheoyong is the guy that inspired Cheoyongmu mentioned above.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 157

It was in the second recording after the stage rehearsal that Kim Raebin got injured.

While performing a difficult group movement on Seon Ahyeon's part, he was lying on the edge and stretched out to get up, but got hit by the structure of the room.

This happened because the stage was narrower than expected.

'...It was smaller than what they notified us.'

The stage set they prepared for the English-speaking talk show was too small for a lot of people to dance together, so we had to reduce the choreography movement accordingly.

'It's not that Kim Raebin's movement stuck out .'

In other words, this guy's feet were broken thanks to these bastards' misinformation.

'Fuck.'

No, let's not assume that it was broken yet.

The bruise was bleeding, but the wound might be smaller than I thought.

"Raebin-ssi, can you move your feet?? Don't move, just feel it!"

"…I can, but it hurts, it hurts…"

"I'll stop the bleeding first!"

After receiving first aid, Kim Rabin was put in an ambulance and went to the hospital. And the rest of the members were able to simply organize the situation and then move to the hospital.

It wasn't a situation where we could continue recording the stage anyway, because the first recording was semi-forced.

And immediately, the conclusion was briefed.

"Two weeks?"

"That's the minimum. Of course, he shouldn't dance, but only when he's still wearing a protector."

"…"

The company staff who came out of Kim Raebin's hospital room explained through an interpreter.

The diagnosis was ligament damage. And cracked bones and torn skin.

'…We avoid the worst.'

If he got a fracture, he would have been unable to stand on stage every few months.

Of course, this situation was still not good.

"Doing something as intense as the current choreography, I think we should wait for a month before talking about it again."

Because it was confirmed that Kim Raebin wouldn't be able to dance throughout this activity, he could only do it in between.

For a song that put the most emphasis on performance, it was the perfect bad news

'What's wrong with this damn America?'

It wasn’t funny that we had to take turns going to the hospital since the last time.

I kept my mouth shut, and Ryu Chungwoo carefully asked the person from the company.

“There’s isn’t any aftereffects?”

“Yes. he didn’t get hurt that bad.”

“…Huft.”

I could see Ryu Chungwoo sighing in relief. The other guys barely looked relieved. Even Cha Eugene was almost crying.

“W-Would it be okay to go inside and see Raebin now…?”

“Yes, yes. The doctor is out now.”

I followed him to the hospital, but it was funny to move right away without seeing his face.

We opened the door to the hospital room and entered.

“…Raebin?”

Kim Raebin was sitting on the hospital bed with a slightly dazed face. His injured foot was fixed and lifted up.

As soon as Kim Raebin turned his face this way, Keun Sejin quickly opened his mouth.

“Raebin, is your foot okay?”

“Yes, but the stage…”

“It’s fine, you don’t have to worry. We just talked about it, and they said you can perform if you endure it for two weeks. It’s not a big deal~”

However, despite what Keun Sejin said, Kim Raebin seemed to have noticed the solemnity of the situation.

This guy had no sense of interpersonal relationships, but that didn't mean he didn't know what was going on.

But I didn't know he would be like this.

Kim Raebin cried and started to shed large drops of tears.

"I'm sorry… If you miss out two weeks…"

"Hey, what are you talking about? Two weeks will pass by soon! We already had our comeback performance. What are you worried about?"

"Sejin is right, Raebin. It's not even your fault in the first place. Just focus on recovering your body, okay?"

"…Yes."

Sniff. Kim Raebin sniffed and tried to hold back his tears. I held back my sigh and pulled out the tissue from the table and handed it over.

I didn't feel good.

"Don't think about anything else and take a rest!"

"Take a rest, you idiot!"

Kim Raebin decided to stay at the hospital for about two days so that he could receive care, rather than staying at the hotel alone during his U.S. schedule.

The members shouted loudly and closed the door to Kim Raebin's hospital room and came out.

Then the topic returned to reality.

"We should split Raebin's part, right?"

“We should.”

Ryu Chungwoo crossed his arms and smiled bitterly.

“I’ll have to learn the movement first.”

“I can’t sleep because of the jet lag anyway, so I’ll try it~”

“…”

Bae Sejin’s face seemed to turn white, but he didn’t say anything.

He must have felt sorry for complaining about the increased choreography for the guy that injured his foot. Compared to the time in <Idol Inc.>, it was a great development.

‘We’re all tired.’

Kim Raebin was mentally tired, and the rest looked physically tired.

To be honest, I want to tell the media, whether it was local or Korean, that this accident happened because of the talk show’s insincere communication.

It was disgusting.

‘But I can’t do that carelessly.’

This was the first time we appeared on an English-speaking talk show without being a part of a game collaboration. Avoiding bad rumors was the correct choice.

Still, I couldn’t help but get angry.

What kind of nonsense is this?

‘Should I spread it a little more?’

The problem was, I couldn’t figure out how much effort I should put into the boycott of foreign talk shows to make it work.

I sighed and cleared my thoughts.

‘Let’s just practice.’

I came all the way to a foreign country and fell into practice hell again.

* * *

When Testar was reorganizing their performance due to the injury issue.

In Korea, a new song by Ha Iljoon’s group, which was also called Golden Age and Park Moondae’s Gold 1, was secretly going viral among idol fans.

– My heart skipped a beat when I heard the chorus

– It shouldn’t be treated like a hidden masterpiece later on. Let’s go ㅋㅋㅋ

– Can’t get it out of my head. Countdown to the song being banned for college entrance exams (Place: In my head)

Interestingly, these so-called KPOP listener netizens wanted to support Golden Age’s new song.

This was because Golden Age had yet to be established, and Choi Wongil and Gold 1 had the image of having suffered a lot.

Moreover, since their song was good, it was fun to raise the score as if it was some kind of realization of justice.

Of course, most of them were just talks based on interest, but Golden Age’s agency didn’t miss this timing and coordinated WeTube promotions and various SNS virals.

And this work to increase public exposure was carried out sensibly without making it look awkward, and they eventually succeeded.

[Golden Age Hi Goody Challenge]

On a platform that uploads short videos, a simple dance using the song took the flow.

Thanks to this, Golden Age's music rapidly reversed the music charts.

– Crazy right now, 26th place

– That's awesome

– Thrive more ㅊㅋㅊㅋ~

– After going viral everywhere, you succeeded in climbing up the charts. Congratulations

┗They're amazing

┗You're like that fan

In addition, Testar's fandom, which would normally have kept this public opinion in check, was a bit of a mess.

– Raebin's foot, what should I do? F*ck, the company that pushes forward without revising the choreography, please die

– It happened before the overseas performanceㅠㅠ I was so sad and worried, I spent the whole morning in a daze

– I'm worried that Raebin is still blaming himself. Don't worry about us. Just take care of your feet to get better ㅠㅠ

#Raebin_getwellsoon

– Isn't it funny that he didn't get hurt, but his eyes alone hurt? Maybe he was distracted by dating? It's a reasonable doubt – Isn't it enough for Cha Eugene to do Kim Raebin's part alone? I don't know why they even gave it out to Lee Sejin, who's not even a rapper…

Because of the news of Kim Raebin's injury.

Testar's fans were busy worrying about injuries, regretting that they couldn't see the full lineup for a while, and paying attention to some aggro swirling.

In fact, from their point of view, keeping Golden Age in check was not even necessary.

Golden Age was one step behind in the music charts because it failed to reach the top of the music charts due to its inherent limitations as a rookie male idol.

In addition, Testar's new album, which featured a national undertone, was receiving great acclaim.

Testar's fans were just annoyed that there were sometimes people who tried to provoke them with 'Isn't Golden Age's song better?'

No matter how you looked at it, the difference in class was obvious to anyone.

However, this situation meant a lot to someone who had been inactive for two weeks and only looked at their smartphones in hospital rooms and hotels.

* * *

"Congratulations on being able to release the cast~"

"Raebin, you've had a hard time."

"No, I'm sorry for the inconvenience."

Kim Raebin, wearing a foot guard lighter than before, spoke bravely and bowed his head. He managed to get permission from the doctor to return to the non-dancing stage.

"Ah, it's not an inconvenience~ I'm relieved to see you're back!"

"T-That's right!"

“Thank you.”

The members comforted Kim Raebin in moderation and dispersed to their hotel rooms. Because they had to sleep quickly and wake up early to revise the stage that included Kim Raebin’s movement.

I nodded my head.

“You’re in this room.”

“Yes!”

It was randomly divided while Kim Raebin went to the doctor.

‘We don’t stay for long anyway.’

We didn’t have a long schedule in Japan. I held the door until Kim Raebin came in, then I went inside to wash up.

“First, take a shower.”

“Yes!”

He’d been resting the past few days, so he’d become more disciplined. I shook my head and came out of the shower.

Then, I made eye contact with Kim Raebin, who was very nervous.

“…?”

He was on the verge of making some kind of bombshell remarks.

‘Could it be that the injury has gotten worse?’

I also kept quiet as I didn’t want to hear that his break from the choreography would be longer, and Kim Raebin finally opened his mouth with difficulty.

“That, hyung.”

“What is it?”

“From what hyung heard… Is this new song by Golden Age more popular than the song I have worked on?”

“…??”

What kind of nonsense is this all of a sudden?

I looked at him dumbfounded, then Kim Raebin closed his eyes and recited his words.

“I am currently in a situation where my contribution to the performance is extremely insufficient, but if my involvement in the music is a negative factor, I will refrain from composing and arranging from now on…”

“Wait, wait. What are you talking about?”

I cut him off because it was going in an absurd direction.

‘What kind of nonsense are you talking about when you’ve released such a good album?’

Of course, self-producing members were a double-edged sword. Because if you did well, it was synergistic, but if you didn’t, it became the subject of internal conflict.

It was easy to create a frame like ‘The reason why the music score this time is bad is because of the producing member’s stubbornness and incompetence’.

‘But Kim Raebin has never failed.’

Golden Age hadn’t come out as a candidate for first place, and Kim Raebin’s form hadn’t fallen either, so this was really out of the blue.

I asked as calmly as I could.

“Why did you suddenly think like that?”

“That… While monitoring the reaction to the music, I accidentally watched a video of Golden Age members’ new song due to the influence of the algorithm, but there were a lot of top comments…”

“Give it to me. Let me see.”

“Yes?”

I got the video address from Kim Raebin and checked it.

[Golden Age_Hi Goody_comments]

‘...It’s a comment reaction video.’

It was content that collected and showed the best comments related to the stage video.

In the first place, if public opinion on the song was favorable, only positive and funny comments were found and shown

.

Of course, it was full of praise for Golden Age’s song.

And in the process, wouldn’t there be a lot of comparisons with the current strongest team?

– I turned on music shows to watch Testar, but when I came back to my sense, I was already watching Hi Goody

– I don’t listen to loud and obnoxious male idol songs, but I listen to Hi Goody, the best song of the year

If you looked at the comments on this video, not the comments shown on the video, a more primary level of comparison came out.

Looking at this video, ‘Honestly, Golden Age’s song was catchier’ seemed to be a popular opinion.

“Hmm.”

I took my eyes off the smartphone screen. Kim Raebin murmured.

“…For that reason, I would like to ask for an objective and cold evaluation.”

Right.

‘Is it because you blame yourself?’

Kim Raebin was not the kind of person who could lose confidence in his ability.

Perhaps because he hurt his foot and couldn’t stand on stage, the pressure to do a great job on the other side seemed to have intensified.

That’s why he kept looking for the gossip that compared the songs of similar groups with the title track he made, and eventually, he would have that kind of thought.

“…”

I sat on the bed across from Kim Raebin.

And I chose my words.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 158

First of all, since Kim Raebin brought up the topic of top comments, let's talk about numbers as indicators.

"Let's look at it objectively, as you said. 'Present' is ranked higher in the music chart than that song. Isn't this an objective and cold public evaluation?"

But Kim Raebin was not deceived.

"I think it's a matter of sample differences that arise from differences in popularity. We need to evaluate after listening to both actual songs without personal feelings…!"

"…"

That's why he wanted to hear my opinion. I answered slowly, holding back my sigh.

"Okay… I get it. To me, 'Parade' is a better song."

"I-Is that so?"

"But it is true that their song is more popular over there."

"…!"

"It's a nice catchy song."

Kim Raebin clenched his hands on his knees. I went on to explain.

“But that’s because the purpose is different. In the first place, we made a song that prioritizes performance.”

“But…”

“It means you don’t have to uselessly compare it. No song is always perfect in every way. It’s hard to compare it objectively. Timing and taste… There’s also a matter of luck.”

“…Yes.”

Kim Raebin still looked timid, but he nodded as if he understood what I meant.

I smirked.

“Are you feeling shameful?”

“Yes? … Yes.”

Kim Raebin hesitated and added.

“I… I am often criticized for not being good at speaking and for not being the type that suits a community life.”

Aigoo.

“So, if my contributions are lacking in terms of production, I thought it would be right to develop other competencies that can help the group.”

“Hmm.”

Kim Raebin probably needed the certainty that he was contributing to the album even if he couldn’t perform right now.

‘Then this is the best way.’

I remembered the plan I had been preparing.

But before I told him about it, let's correct this first.

"First of all… I don't think you're particularly bad at living in a community."

"Oh, I've often heard that I can't read the atmosphere…"

Yeah. You must have heard that a lot in your life.

However, he wasn't stubborn or bad-tempered in interpersonal relationships, so there was no problem working with him.

"Is that so? Has any of the members ever been angry with you while promoting Testar?"

"…No."

"See? It's not a problem, so don't worry about it."

"I-I see!"

Kim Raebin's expression got a little brighter.

"And the production issue… Hmm. Wait a minute."

I turned on my smartphone and called up information on Golden Age's new song listed on the music site.

I looked for the copyright-holder article.

"You see the composers and the arrangers here."

"Yes."

I explained what I had confirmed beforehand.

"The composer is an outside freelancer… The arranger is not on a team with this composer. They belong to the Golden Age's company."

“Um, yes.”

“Do you understand what that means?”

“Contemporary composition is a production of a multi-tasking and comprehensive nature, so placing responsibility on oneself is excessive self-consciousness…?”

An extraordinary answer came out.

“…No, I’m saying that you can make a direct comparison if you want.”

I tapped the composer on the screen.

“Actually, I got some songs from this composer.”

“…!! W-When and how did you proceed??”

“A while ago. Well.”

Cheongryeo’s words bothered me, so at the beginning of the activity, I already contacted them and received a few songs.

They were activity song candidates for a repackage album that would follow shortly after this album’s activities.

“Golden Age did well with this song, so I’m sure they’ll get another song from the same composer. And the arrangement will be done by the company again.”

“…Don’t tell me.”

“Yeah.”

Now he got it.

“If you arrange a song from the same composer, you can make the direct comparison you want.”

"…!"

"Who wrote the music of this popular composer… I wonder if their arrangement made it better."

I made this conclusion after listening to all of this composer's candidate songs.

'They're good at picking out the melody, but the structure is weak.'

To put it bluntly, it reduced the level of perfection. It seemed the rearrangement influenced the song a lot.

With his mouth open, Kim Raebin seemed to be imagining what would happen for a moment, but he suddenly came to his senses and said.

"But if you do it wrong, it can become a direct confrontation, which can make it disadvantageous to each other…"

Wow. You think that far?

I laughed. It was admirable.

As Kim Raebin said, if it went wrong, Testar could suffer losses with the frame itself.

No, looking at that agency, they could go further and try to sway public opinion by saying that Testar stole the Golden Age's composer.

But in reality, it would be difficult for them to do that.

"It's fine. There won't be any confrontation."

"Yes?"

"We're not the only ones who arrange songs from that composer."

I turned off the smartphone screen.

“Because VTIC unit and Youngrin sunbae-nim will also use that composer for the next album.”

“…!”

Right.

If I did this alone, I’d get indigestion. I had to attract people to join me.

‘I’m glad I got Youngrin’s number during the doppelganger variety show.’

…I was a little uncomfortable with Cheongryeo’s side, but it was better to burn it all at once to prevent any nonsense.

Anyway, they both said okay without hesitation.

– Ah, that would be fun. Good idea^^

– Thank you for introducing a good composer. It will give momentum to my work on the new album.

Top tiers with different affiliations, years, and images got along well with each other, so it would be difficult to unilaterally tie that composer to the Golden Age.

It would just increase the composer’s value.

As Cheongryeo advised, the Gold 1 company didn’t buy the composer, which meant we could buy their song. Isn’t this a very conscientious act?

‘So, why are you grabbing someone by the collar without consideration?’

It was their own consequence.

I smiled and crossed my arms.

“Within this year, there will be four songs by the same composer arranged separately. It will be a real battle.”

“…”

Kim Raebin swallowed.

“Do you still want to try?”

“Yes…!”

Good. It seemed his motivation had returned now that the game was set up. Kim Raebin’s eyes were shining with enthusiasm.

“Of course, that doesn’t necessarily mean that the composer’s song will be used as the activity’s song. Since it’s one of the candidate songs, let’s discuss it with the members and choose a popular one.”

“All right!”

I nodded.

“Yes, then go to bed.”

“Yes?”

Kim Raebin was taken aback by the sudden wrap-up. I spoke quietly.

“Even now, I only get four and a half hours of sleep.”

“Gasp, I am sorry! I’ve caused a lot of damage to hyung’s bedtime…”

“It’s fine so let’s just sleep”

I stopped Kim Raebin and immediately turned off the light.

I had to wake up early tomorrow morning and practice the performance I would show in Japan with Kim Raebin, who was uncomfortable with his feet.

‘Should I bring him a tiger doll?’

I fell asleep, hoping that anyone could come up with a good idea, whether they were the footwear companies or the members.

It was three days before the recording of the Japanese broadcasting stage.

* * *

It was a weekday morning in August, when all students were on vacation.

A high school student, who played WeTube on his computer while feeling the wind of the air conditioner, found a music video that was still at the top of the popular videos.

[Testar(TeSTAR) ‘present’ Official MV]

“…”

In fact, the high school student had already watched the music video.

It was entirely because of the teaser.

Park Moondae, the Groom in May from <The Singer I Made>, had left a huge impression on the high school student, so his older sister gently persuaded him, saying that his final song would come out here.

– Hey, hey, look at this – What’s wrong with you? Go away

– When are you going to give me 100,000 won~ I’ll call the bet off, so hurry and watch. Here’s the song Park Moondae sang in My Singer.

-…

– It f*cking went viral and got a lot of views. You should watch it too

So the high school student eventually watched the teaser and was intrigued by its enormous scale.

That was how his sister successfully introduced them to him.

But the high school student was in denial.

'... I only watched it because I am curious about the arrangement.'

The high school student tried to think that he was just curious about the other version of the final song sung by 'Groom in May'.

"To be honest, objectively, it's a high-quality video. It's like a trailer for a huge drama on Netplus, so it's bound to be fun."

Even by the high school student's standards, the music video was more fun than the teaser.

Because the music video was much shorter and more exciting.

'The sense of speed was amazing.'

The high school student was a little conflicted, but he clicked on the music video and played it.

'There's nothing harm in seeing it once.'

Fortunately, the video started right away without any ads.

[Chakghopsa, Chung, comes out and follows orders.]

The music video was about Ryu Chungwoo, who was ordered by the king to catch the 'most harmful spirit' and he went around Joseon looking for the spirit with his <Ghost Record>.

Acting as a spirit, each member interacted with Ryu Chungwoo and gave clues to the 'most harmful spirit' or got eradicated.

– The day I finally found you

A parade

Let's end it here

In particular, it felt great when intense choreography scenes and dynamic story scenes intersected each time they entered the chorus.

With the choreography scenes inserted in between as if to heighten the atmosphere, Ryu Chungwoo finally met Kim Raebin in the cave.

Kim Raebin attempted to identify the 'most harmful spirit' by using the lanterns floating all over his cave.

At this time, his part in the song intersected together, and it gave a very strange feeling that Kim Raebin of the story was performing the part while looking directly at the camera.

Lanterns in the cave shone with all sorts of neon lights.

As if to give a warning.

– Now, he appears

Warning again warning

Approaching with one's life

Slow and thrilling

Amidst the flickering lanterns that created a strange light, the camera swiveled around and focused on Ryu Chungwoo.

– Me

The song stopped.

And there was a very brief cut scene of screaming and running.

[Argh!]

[Ugh…]

It was a four-footed beast.

The beast, whose shape was difficult to see due to the scene passing by in an instant, turned into a child when the sun rose.

Above it, the current figure of Ryu Chungwoo in the cave was crossed.

Ryu Chungwoo realized that it was the ‘most harmful spirit’.

Again, the tune exploded.

– Even if you lower my head, you can’t escape

Look carefully

I’m thrilled

For several tens of seconds, including the final dance break, the choreography cut that reached its climax was driven without a story.

And it wasn’t until the climax of the song was over that the story cut appeared again.

[…]

Dark night. Ryu Chungwoo, who was staring at the camera, turned his back and disappeared into the forest.

With the sound of the taepyeongso, the song ended.

[present]

And the ending credits rolled.

Along with unfamiliar background music.

– Lying down late at night

Think about it. Maybe

From the beginning, I

I don't think so

It was a song about parting. At first glance, it sounded like a love song, but after knowing the story, it became very meaningful.

It was Ryu Chungwoo's solo song, 'Truth'.

There were a lot of fans and WeTubers who find and analyze all kinds of content in the music video and the teaser from beginning to end, but the high school student didn't know that and was not interested in it.

He just admired the video and thought it was amazing.

'It even has a stinger.'

In fact, another scene came out after the end credits.

It was about the true identity of the king who strictly ordered Ryu Chungwoo in the first music video scene.

[How can you fall for that~]

It was Lee Sejin with fox ears on his head.

The stinger ended with Lee Sejin, who had been laughing wholeheartedly, crushing his huge tail decoration and lying down on the throne.

Not knowing that the fans had shuddered at the shock and cuteness of this ending, the high school student just licked his lips.

'Isn't this made by Netplus?'

While trying to think that it would have been better if real actors did it instead of the idols, the high school student couldn't find any awkwardness in the video, let alone any flaws.

'...It's good.'

The boy eventually admitted once again and slipped out of the music video screen.

No, he tried to get out, but he couldn't move it back, probably because it was lagging.

'Ah, seriously.'

The high school student got sick of it and continuously tried to press the back button, and he accidentally checked the Internet page that his sister had opened because of the address that was quickly skipped back.

It was the trace of his sister's Internet, which usually didn't have any remains left because she browsed incognito.

"What's this??"

On the blue SNS page… There was a gif of Park Moondae looking back in a classroom.

Magical Boy MV Behind Cut (1) Park Moondae

(revised GIF)

#ParkMoondae #BlondeMundae #GoldenMundae #MagicalBoy

Wearing white summer clothes in front of the bright red, yellow, and purple sky, Park Moondae's black hair turned blonde when he looked back.

This gif was really well done.

"…."

For your information, the account introduction on the profile was 'a blood union that only loves Gold Moon Puppy'.

'This and that look the same.'

The high school boy grumbled, but he concluded that black hair was easier to look at than fierce blonde hair.

*'Is this from a music video, too? F*ck, I feel corrupted.'*

The high school student searched for 'Testar' on WeTube, expecting to throw sarcastic comments.

However, something caught his attention before the 'Magical Boy' music video.

It was a video that was uploaded yesterday.

[Testar visiting Japan broadcast cut]

'Huh?'

The thumbnail was a Japanese comedian with his mouth wide open.

'Ah, I can't stand this.'

He'd watch it for the gukkpong. The high school student snickered and clicked on the video.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 159

The Japanese broadcast starring Testar was a morning broadcast with the time showing 7:41 at the top.

‘Ah, there are ranks in K-pop, but they show up in morning talk shows?’

The high school student was a little dissatisfied, but he kept watching the video, thinking that he should finish watching it now that he’d already played the video.

There were Korean subtitles that the fans had attached.

[A super special KPOP group is here!]

[Korea’s national idol, Testar]

And Testar’s history and achievements, intertwined with music videos and award ceremony scenes, quickly got on the broadcast.

[Their album sales this time reached 1.1 million!]

[What could be the secret to the charm of 7 people and 7 colors formed through a survival audition?]

[We asked Hallyu fans at Shin-Okubo!]

And interviews with KPOP fans on the streets around Korean Town briefly passed by.

[As expected, I feel like they have the most momentum lately?]

[My favorite is Moondae. A cute puppy who’s good at singing!]

[Everyone has a different favorite.]

[It's touching to see them working so hard and they are so cute.]

'Oh… They're popular in Japan, too?'

The high school student straightened his sullen face.

The video finally foreshadowed Testar's appearance, along with a sparkling effect.

[Korea's super-class idol group]

[Entering the studio right now!]

Du-du-du-dum!

With some stark effect, Testar entered against the backdrop of four or two clapping panels on the pastel-tone set.

They were dressed in navy blue suits that appropriately matched their traditional accessories.

'Look at the length of their legs.'

While the high school student felt vicarious satisfaction, Testar smiled and greeted politely without showing any signs of nervousness.

[Hello, Take your STAR, we're Testar!]

[Wow!]

[Welcome. Please introduce yourself!]

[Yes!]

At the MC's request, the self-introduction continued by mixing very simple Japanese or using English.

They knew that they didn’t have much time, so they added a little bit of their own characteristics.

[Hello. I am Testar’s leader, Ryu Chungwoo. I was in the archery national team before.]

[Gasp!]

[Really?]

[Yes, I was a gold medalist.]

Then he smiled and passed the microphone to the next person without hesitation.

A stronger reaction was shown on purpose.

[So cool! Dangerous!]

[That must be his charming point!]

The person who produced the subtitles even carried out the sound of panels whispering in the background in small color subtitles.

Whenever a member was caught smiling, ‘cool’ and ‘cute’ burst out.

[I’m Bae Sejin. I used to be a child actor…]

[He’s definitely a tsundere!]

[…!]

Lee Sejin interrupted Bae Sejin, who hesitated a little when he was about to finish.

[Tsundere??]

[Ahaha!]

Drawing laughter with Bae Sejin's dumbfounded expression, Lee Sejin continued his introduction with a smile.

[My name is Lee Sejin, and I have the same name as the tsundere hyung-nim here, so I got the nickname Keun Sejin.]

[Keun?]

['Keun' means big in Korean~ Yes. I'm in charge of dancing in the team!]

Thanks to the education he had received as a trainee, he spoke Japanese fluently.

[…Hello, I'm… Seon Ahyeon. I majored in dance. …I look forward to… your kind cooperation.]

[I am Park Moondae. You can think of my image between a singing puppy and a Tibetan fox however you want.]

[HELLO GUYS, I'm Eugene. Please remember me! Thanks!]

Like this, the turn came to Kim Raebin, who was standing at the end.

However, this time, a question came from the panel. It caught their attention that the ornament on Kim Raebin's foot, which he had been wearing cleverly as an ornament, was a protector.

[Aren't you uncomfortable with that leg?]

[Yes, but there's no problem with showing the performance.]

When the interpreter translated Kim Raebin's smart answer, the panels nodded and admired him, saying, 'Being confident is good'.

*'The dance was so f*cking hard. What are you going to do?'*

The high school student watched, feeling somewhat skeptical.

[Testar's stage will follow soon~]

Originally, there should be an here, but because it was a cut scene, the stage followed immediately in the video.

On the platform of the clean set, the stage began with Japanese subtitles as the lights rotated.

– So that you can't escape even if you struggle

You come today, you go

Let's stick one more to the record

Now come, come, go

'They're in perfect sync.'

The choreography was smooth because they had practiced their movements without Kim Raebin.

In addition, thanks to Cha Eugene, who was full of spirits for having the whole group for the first time in a long time, the opening boasted a great level of immersion.

Even the extremely static camera showed the details of the dynamic performance.

The high school student unwittingly kept his mouth shut and concentrated on the stage.

– He appears

'But he's not appearing?'

However, the man who had a leg injury didn't appear on the stage until the first verse. The high school student was a bit puzzled, but he quickly erased the thought from his head.

'I think Groom is doubling throughout the chorus. Kuh, why are my ears listening so well?'

Because he was busy watching the stage.

In fact, it was the first time he properly watched the stage of ‘present’, so he just watched the intro of verses 1 and 2 absent-mindedly.

And right before entering the last pre-chorus.

The high school student managed to notice Kim Raebin walking slowly from behind.

‘What are you trying to do?’

Just as he thought that the form might cool down, the choreography formation moved cleverly and suddenly fell out like a low tide and lifted Kim Raebin.

“…!”

Kim Raebin started his part while riding on the backs and arms of the other members, as if riding on a palanquin, with bright eyes.

– No, someone who came in the middle of the night

The broken and torn doorknob

bang bang bang

The rolling and splashing sound

And at the same time, the formation changed.

– He appears

Warning again warning

Approaching with one’s life

Sow and thrilling

Riding the arms and upper bodies connected to the floor, Kim Raebin slid forward slightly as if landing, supporting himself with his arms.

And he stood in the front center and stared at the camera.

– Me

“Wow!”

Regardless of the high school student’s admiration, Kim Raebin never stopped rapping.

Like that, he continued until the next part came.

‘Huh?’

Only then did the high school student realize.

Testar appropriately removed similar parts from the first half and second half and rearranged them, then they gave all of the second half to Kim Raebin.

‘Wow, his energy is terrifying.’

Because the song had a large proportion of rap, Kim Raebin’s momentum was terrifying.

Kim Raebin, who walked forward, didn’t have a separate choreography, but it looked like a performance thanks to the members around him moving as if they were his hands and feet.

And as if taking over the momentum, Park Moondae’s vocals rose sharply at the climax of the second half.

‘This is it!!’

The last dance break.

After Kim Raebin, who had fallen behind, made a spectacular move that made him invisible, Testar deliberately pulled the formation back.

So after they joined Kim Raebin. The ending cut came.

[Present]

“It’s great.”

The high school student unwittingly hit the desk. On the screen, the faces of the panelists were getting a close-up after the stage was over.

Their eyes were widening.

‘Hey, the thumbnail’s from here.’

The high school student chuckled.

Testar in the video got up and straightened their clothes. And they immediately smiled and greeted the camera.

[Thank you!]

[This is Testar’s parade~]

The video ended there.

And the high school student was convinced.

‘Honesty, they tore it up.’

He could understand why it had so many views. Just by looking at it, his pride in the country excessively swelled up.

When he read the comments because it was fun, he was also excited by fans and Koreans who were also having fun.

-Taste a little bit of Testar, but not too much. We don’t have enough spaceㅠㅠ

– It must have felt eye-opening, we know the feeling

-It's a waste for Testar to go to Japan. The agency should think carefully and focus more on the U.S

– Our kpop idols~ I'm so proud of you!^^

– Huh, Testar is not at the level to show up at morning shows. It's good to earn foreign currency, but let's take care of our pride

┗In Japan, the status of such morning programs is much higher than in Korea, and they have good viewership ratings too~ Testar is truly amazing ㅋ

┗Oh, I see ㄱㅅㄱㅅ

"Oh…"

It turned out to be a popular program. The high school student shrugged his shoulders.

'Is there anything else fun?'

As he watched the related videos with excitement, he saw a lot of reviews of Japanese reactions to Testar.

[Japanese broadcasters who can't keep their mouths shut at Testar's traditional Korean performance!]

[The Japanese broadcast is going crazy at Testar's performance]

'The gukppong channels are excited.'

High school students usually didn't watch things like this because it was embarrassing, but he clicked on one, thinking he could let this one slide because he was bored.

By the way, at the same time, Park Moondae was also monitoring.

* * *

– I spilled my milk because I was so amazed by Testar's performance

– Who's this kid? Who the hell is he? No matter how you look at him, he's an angel (Seon Ahyeon's photo taken directly from the TV screen)

– He majored in ballet? I thought he was somehow elegant. He has a pretty face and an angel's gesture(* ´ ω `)

– Another Korean idol appeared on the morning show. But the level of dance is amazing.

– Someone, please tell me the name of the member with the leg injury! Scary face, cool voice, and sweet personality? What kind of cartoon character is this ww

– I am worried about Sejin, I can't stand that his character is the opposite of him…

– It's an oriental song, so powerful(⌒‿⌒✿)

– Anyone can tell that he's a cute Neko-chan, but why is his nickname Tibetan fox? I can't understand Korea WWW (Park Moondae's photo)

'Did I select only the good responses?'

I felt like it might have been a little distorted. I shoved the room service into my mouth and skipped through the video at high speed.

It was annoying because the content that could have been posted as an article came out as a video, which doubled the time looking.

'Still, I'm busy learning English, but learning Japanese is too much.'

It must have been entirely thanks to my characteristic that I could learn how to properly greet and talk in two weeks.

I shrugged my shoulders and roughly organized the content I collected from fans' SNS and WeTube channels.

'Seon Ahyeon got good responses.'

Kim Raebin got a lot of responses because being the center in the second half was impressive, and the rest of the members were fine as well.

'... There are more mentions of me than I thought.'

I didn't know how they got into it, but it seemed the feeling of being a 4D character made it work.

'Whatever.'

Anyway, the conclusion was that the overall response was very good.

Of course, the fact that the reactions were big enough to be a result meant that we didn't only get good responses.

[Japan's Internet rightist is mad at Testar's popularity]

This video content could be seen as an example.

– Who's Testar?W Never heard of them. They're like Zainichi Koreans[1]Zainichi Korean = Koreans who live in Japan. anyway

– Another anti-Japanese group? If you want Japanese money so much, get your bearings right

– These guys got plastic surgeries

– It's a Korean-style concept. How far does the Korean government's national policy go?

– It's just a grandiose trick, but the song is noisy enough to be trashWWWWWWWWW

Below that, there was a comment from the video uploader that mocked and disproved this statement.

'Typical.'

It seemed the K-Pop group, which was slightly well-known in Japan, had taken care of all of this nonsense. I guessed the response was good.

I shrugged and finished monitoring.

And sure enough, a few days later, I heard the news from the company.

"Official broadcast in Japan?"

"Oh! I heard that the broadcasting station bought it because the reactions were good!"

Right away <Re-listed Idol Inc.> was officially aired in Japan.

'...Will it be okay?'

The content was so stimulating that it could work in Japan, but I wasn't sure if a survival program that had already reached a conclusion would be popular.

"Hey~ I remember those times!"

"T-That's right."

"It was difficult, but it was so rewarding."

Several members talked about their feelings regarding the topic of Idol Inc's broadcasting which was mentioned for the first time in a long time.

Since they debuted after winning in that show, some of them talked as if they were recalling a difficult exam.

Of course, there were some who didn't.

“…It should have been abolished.”

It was Bae Sejin.

Anyway, the news about <Idol Inc> didn’t end there.

“Oh, come to think of it, you guys know that <Idol Inc.> is going to have a new season, right?”

“Heol, really?”

“It will, eventually.”

“I see~”

The manager took his chance.

“That’s why~ They said they’ll do it if you show up there.”

I knew it would be like this.

- 1. Zainichi Korean = Koreans who live in Japan.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 160

It was a national rule for the winner of the previous season to appear on the audition program.

In particular, Testar was the living witness of <Idol Inc>'s success so if I were the staff of the production team, I would have definitely asked them to appear.

And since the current agency was also affiliated with T1, of course, it was impossible to refuse.

"Guys, think about it. Wouldn't it be cool? It's the appearance of the champion!"

"Oh~"

Keun Sejin laughed at the manager's words. He wanted to tell him not to talk nonsense, but it seemed he was holding back.

"Have you already talked about us appearing?"

"Hmm, I guess. They think you'll keep your loyalty since we're from the same company."

Saying something like loyalty.

'Half of the guys here have been smashed with their bad policy more than once.'

Perhaps everyone thought the same, I noticed some of them looked a little incredulous or laughing bitterly.

However, Cha Eugene raised his hand while making a face of thinking deeply about something.

“Hyung-nim! Is it girl this time?”

“Huh? Ah, the participant?”

“Yes!”

“Right, it’s girls!”

“Oh.”

Cha Eugene said with a serious face.

“There are fans who think of me as their boyfriend. I don’t like it!”

“Cough!”

Seon Ahyeon choked.

“Hey, then, you just have to be careful~ You’re not going to date them!”

“When you meet a good person, it’s natural to date! I don’t know how I would feel!”

“You just have to say something nice on the set! You won’t have any chance to go that far, Eugene!”

He was right.

‘They’re not going to make us particularly intertwined on the screen.’

T1 also wouldn’t want to rip out Testar’s stomach that laid golden eggs. This wouldn’t unnecessarily hurt Testar’s brand image.

However, there would be room for participants to be misunderstood due to the editing.

‘Participants who neglect practice because they are distracted by the appearance of a popular idol…’

It was a very familiar format. It even made me feel nostalgic.

It was just tiring to get involved in such things. And it wasn’t the only risk factor.

‘I think those bastards are going to mess around.’

Since season 3 we did was so successful, in season 4, various forces would work hard to control and dominate it.

If you looked at the time period, it wouldn’t be strange if it started last year, but it wasn’t surprising that it got delayed by a year.

‘There is a 10% chance of controversy.’

I didn’t want to get involved in that mess.

‘I’ll take care of myself as much as I can.’

I wondered if it was fine to focus on appearance rather than looking cool, so I should give a briefing later.

I sighed inside, and then Kim Raebin, who was sitting next to me, raised his hand.

“Then, let’s give the song that fits girls’ key that I wrote this time as a mission song…”

“Don’t.”

“No, Raebin.”

“…? Alright.”

Before the manager could answer, Kim Raebin lowered his hand again in response to the pouring refusal.

It was good that he wasn't stubborn.

'Use your passion to produce somewhere else.'

We would go with the flow of not getting involved as much as possible.

'When will we shoot?"

"Uh, next week? It doesn't take long, you'll only do it briefly in between."

"Oh~"

I leaned back on the backrest listening to the conversation between the manager and Keun Sejin.

"Oh, it's Thursday. There's a variety show scheduled for Moondae!"

Oh, I knew what he meant.

* * *

"<The Singer I Made>, the best singer character…"

"It's Park Moondae's 'Groom in May'!"

Poof!

There was a burst of confetti and cheers.

I could already see captions like 'Three consecutive victories!' above the panelists clapping their hands.

"Congratulations!"

It was the 'Groom in May' stage that I hadn't done in a while because it got canceled for 4 weeks due to a special program.

And it was also my last victory.

Because in this program, in order to maintain originality, the number of times a character could show up was limited to three.

‘It’s over.’

The timing was perfect.

For the second time, I sang a rhythmical tango, and this time, I sang a faint night song to reminisce memories.

‘Of course, I arranged the climax longer.’

Thanks to that, I was able to win three times before getting off, so it was nice.

I exchanged my last impressions with the panelists in moderation.

Now, let’s say thank you to the viewers and the members…

“Moondae-ssi, do you have any thoughts about showing up as a new character?”

“Right! I’m so sad to let you go~”

They said that but I knew I would just be digging my own grave.

“If there’s a chance, I hope I can see you again later. I had a lot of fun when I played as Groom in May.”

This was the truth.

‘Thanks to them, I recovered quickly.’

Having a schedule that I had to prepare alone helped me sometimes when I was uncomfortable meeting Ryu Chungwoo.

It was nice not having the time to think about anything else since I got busier.

‘...Having counseling in between was helpful.’

It was embarrassing to admit this, but confiding in an expert, even if it was only scratching the surface, certainly worked.

Thanks to that, I had no other thoughts right now. The number of consultations was also reduced.

‘I think I can settle the status window without any difficulties.’

While I was organizing the current situation in my mind, the MC continued diligently.

I should focus on the shoot, too.

“The Groom in May, who won the Hall of Fame with three consecutive wins, will be produced as character merchandises with the support of the Korean Culture and Arts Council.”

For reference, this was a kind of public service project, but the profits were not returned to the broadcasting station and were all donated.

“Please pay a lot of attention to this product to help malnourished children, dear viewers!”

But the donation wouldn’t be under my name, it would be under this program.

‘Those guys rob me.’

They robbed the tax benefits, too.

Of course, thanks to this, popularity was the only thing I gained. If there were any problems with merchandising, it’s would be the broadcasting station’s fault.

“Thank you for your time.”

“We love it, too~”

“See you again!”

A staff member came out of nowhere and put a doll in my arms. It was a ‘May Groom’ doll with flowers on its face.

‘Oh, my God.’

They even made use of this segment for promotion.

I smiled and waved the doll once, nodded to the judges and the audience, and came down the stage.

I could hear the MC shouting the ending remarks from above.

“Thank you for your hard work~”

“Thank you for your hard work, Moondae-ssi!”

“Thank you, thank you.”

This sense of accomplishment was pretty nice. I fiddled with the stuffed doll in my hand.

‘…Should I put it in my bedroom?’

The roommates would change soon, so I would have to arrange some other place to celebrate when I changed my room later.

‘Then, this is fine.’

The entertainment show that I started alone was now over.

It was time to go and finish filming Testar’s birthplace entertainment show.

“Moondae, welcome~”

“How was it?”

I was questioned as soon as I got into the car.

I waved the doll.

“I won.”

“Oh~”

Applauses rang out. It wasn’t even their business, but their response was good. With this momentum, I thought I could play an active role as a reaction bot on <Idol Inc>’s set.

“I-Is this the prize?”

“Yeah.”

“Wow…”

“It’s better than I thought. I think it’d be nice if we make something like this and put it in the album~”

After undergoing a business analysis, the flower head doll settled in front of the window behind the seat.

And the car moved straight ahead and stopped in front of a familiar huge building on the outskirts.

“Wow… It hasn’t changed a bit.”

“It’s been a long time.”

I bet my flower head doll that ‘I didn’t want to see you again’ was omitted in that sentence.

Even Ryu Chungwoo murmured a little bitterly.

“Hmm… Yes. Let’s do well.”

“Yes.”

Revisiting the script that we had already learned, Testar entered the filming set of <Re-listed! Idol Inc. 2>

And I came to confirm the situation that they had notified.

“Heol! Guys!”

“Oh~ Hello!”

Ins the filming set, there was Gold 1’s group… Golden Age.

Of course, that group wasn’t the only one here. Over there, Gold 2 was glancing this way.

“Oh, Heeseung, it’s been a long time. You said you’re a model, you seem to be doing well?”

“Hehe, of course! Sejin hyung-nim, how have you been?”

The production team gathered all the participants who had been active to some extent after appearing in season 3.

‘Isn’t this number too much?’

It seemed they were planning to launch <Idol Inc.> after raising its popularity to the fullest, but I thought it would be counterproductive because the audience was quite divided due to the gender difference.

‘Well, it’s none of my business.’

It would be better if season 4 failed.

If it worked as well as season 3, even if the gender was different, the survival group’s favorite rank would change, so things would leak.

It would be best if the show failed because it wasn’t fun, rather than because of a fairness controversy issue.

‘Hmm, I don’t know how it will be.’

Let’s finish the shoot safely.

“Ah, Testar is here~ Welcome! Thank you.”

Testar shook hands with the extremely friendly PD and greeted the writers. Among them was writer Ryu Seorin.

“Hello.”

The writer who gave me a business card at a karaoke room and the person who caused controversy over her family relationship with Ryu Chungwoo.

And if showed up in my original body, most likely, my relative…

‘That’s enough.’

Anyway, writer Ryu Seorin got over the situation without pretending to know anyone in particular. It was quite a wise decision.

The PD gave a short briefing before shooting.

“Everyone, you’re all familiar with the direction, right?”

“Yes!”

“Please be cool~ Cool!”

According to his brief, the direction of our appearance was like this.

After playing the ‘Idol Inc Season 3 Achievement Video’ to the participants, the people in the video suddenly appeared in front of them, said a word of support, asked questions, and left… they explained like that.

‘My hands and feet are shriveling up.’

I could do it just fine. However, it was embarrassing to see clearly what kind of effect the person who planned this was aiming for.

“D-Do you want some chocolate?”

"…Yeah. Give me one."

"Give me one, too!"

I should charge myself with sugar.

After munching on the chocolate Seon Ahyeon gave me, it wasn't long before the time to shoot came.

"You'll enter in 5 seconds~"

Season 3 participants, who were waiting at the device in front of the ranking announcement set, appeared in front of season 4 contestants on a lift together.

I could already hear a scream.

"Uaaah!"

"It's real? Is this real?"

I couldn't believe this direction either, but it was real.

'No way, you're not going to edit me more excessively because I won first place, right?'

I was already worried about the monitoring.

* * *

"Whoa."

"Ah, it was more nerve-wracking than I thought."

The camera followed me even after the shooting was over, probably for the behind-the-scenes story.

I smiled roughly, waved my hand, and threw another cheering remark.

“Fighting!”

“I hope season 4 will be the best.”

Just because I said I wanted it to be the best didn’t mean it would really become the best, so I could say whatever I wanted.

But… Because the filming was so embarrassing, my hands were sweaty. Should I go wash up?

“Ah, I’m going to the bathroom for a minute.”

Instead of the manager who was away somewhere, Keun Sejin looked up while looking at his smartphone.

“You’re not going to ask for the participants’ number, are you, Moondae? I trust you~”

“Yeah.”

Perhaps because I had seen another season 3 contestant flirting with me to get my number, I didn’t even feel like asking if he had gone crazy.

‘I guess she’s confident she won’t get caught.’

I shrugged my shoulders and walked down the hall.

As I walked further away from the noisy set, I suddenly heard a sound following me from behind.

‘No way?’

When I turned my head, a different person than I expected was standing there.

It was Choi Wongil.

Did he have a reason to follow me?

“Hyung.”

“…?”

Choi Wongil spoke with a conflicted face.

“What is it?”

“…I don’t know how to tell you this. Be careful.”

“What should I be careful about?”

“Us, the agency.”

“…”

You’re bringing this up yourself?

For now, to prevent the same disaster as last time, I made sure that there was no one around.

“There’s no one. I’ve checked.”

Sigh.

‘I guess you’ve learned a little on your own.’

I smiled and completely turned to Choi Wongil.

“Yeah. What about your agency?”

“…Do you know our main vocalist? Not me, that hyung.”

“Oh, him.”

It seemed he was talking about the Golden Age guy who played the Chicken with Ribbon when I was the ‘Groom in May’ in <My Singer>.

“Yeah. I know him. What about him?”

Choi Wongil mumbled.

“I think he’s comparing himself… with hyung.”

“With me? Comparing about what?”

Why would he do such a reckless thing when he got a K.0 in My Singer? With the person who won first place in the survival show, at that.

Choi Wongil lowered his head.

“That, about your educational background…”

“…!”

“He’s a Korean university student.”

Oh, my God.

‘There’s that.’

Right. This ‘Park Moondae’ didn’t even graduate from high school.

After living as a college graduate, I became an idol right away, so I almost forgot the educational background of ‘Park Moondae’.

Sometimes it came out as aggravating noises, but even that didn’t come out often these days.

‘That means it’s a weak material.’

I wasn’t the only idol who dropped out of school in the first place.

It only stood out when the family history was stolen during <Idol Inc.>.

It also played a role in thickening the background of the character of ‘Park Moondae’, so it wasn’t particularly a weakness.

This meant, if they did this wrong, even if it was Golden Age, they could get the backlash that accused them of persecuting people.

It was kind of weird to say this, but I wasn't unpopular.

'You must have already guessed that they're skilled in things like this.'

I purposely inspected Choi Wongil.

"Isn't that too much? I want to know if you're certain."

"…I don't know. They're not telling me, but I heard it from the company somehow… They asked that hyung to act like a young master. They also told him to use Park Moondae hyung as a material…"

"…"

So, instead of sticking to me one-on-one, he was being pushed into the image of a golden spoon with the impression of 'an elite with exceptionally good academic background and family'.

And I guessed they were thinking of using me as one of the numerous counter-examples.

'They do all kinds of things.'

Of course, I didn't know if they would really use me, but this attempt was certainly worth a try for an agency that was skilled at media play.

"I-I'm sorry I don't know. It's just… I've caused you a lot of trouble… I wanted to apologize, so I told you. I'm sorry."

"…Okay."

I held back my sigh.

"First of all… Thank you."

"……!"

Choi Wongil seemed surprised, but he nodded with a more relaxed face.

“Thank you. I, uh, I’m going….”

“Yeah. Go home safely.”

I saw Choi Wongil running and disappearing, then I clicked my tongue inwardly.

‘It’s so vague.’

This wasn’t something I could do anything about even if I knew. I had no intention of doing anything useless like taking the CSAT again and going to college.

‘For now, it’s important that I have known it in advance.’

And I didn’t think there would be a big problem even in case of an emergency. I’d just get a little annoyed.

I shrugged and continued walking down the hallway.

‘I don’t have time to go to the bathroom.’

After walking quite a bit, I got closer to the entryway. So I thought of turning that way and leaving the set.

And I saw an unexpected encounter at the entryway on the other side.

“… I hope you will think about it! That sunbae is a really nice person.”

“…”

A staff and Bae Sejin were finishing a conversation.

‘PD?’

To be exact, the stiff-faced Bae Sejin had received something from one of the producers of <Idol Inc.>.

The PD soon left, and I approached Bae Sejin.

“Hyung.”

“…Huh, oh.”

Bae Sejin seemed a little dazed.

“Is something wrong?”

“That….”

Bae Sejin looked a little conflicted, but soon swallowed and said.

“He asked me if I have any thoughts on doing a drama.”

“…!”

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 161

Let's be frank and think about it.

'It's understandable that they would want Bae Sejin playing in a drama.'

He was originally a child actor and he appeared in <Idol Inc.> to continue his acting career.

Besides, no matter how you looked at it, his actor-related skills were better than his idol-related skills.

'He must be shaken, too.'

I insinuatingly asked Bae Sejin who had a slightly darker complexion.

"I guess the drama he suggested was okay."

"…It's a drama by a writer I worked with when I was a child actor in the past. In that drama… I heard there is one small role."

Bae Sejin murmured with a slightly gloomy face.

"Just now, that PD said that he is an acquaintance of the drama PD… He said the drama is fine, and T1 supports it…"

"Hmm."

At this point, the company must have received an offer, but they cut it down because of our activities.

'Are they trying not to give it any room because Testar is about to go on a tour?'

Unless there was a downward trend, the tour would definitely make more money.

"…Well, it's fine. Any acquaintance would say it's okay anyway."

Bae Sejin said as if forcibly shaking it off, then he headed to a nearby trash can to throw away the business card.

"Wait a minute."

"What?"

"How about talking to the company? It has been a year since our activities, so I thought it would be okay if you only talk about light works."

Bae Sejin's eyes widened.

Honestly, from my point of view, it was best for Bae Sejin to only do group activities for three years without thinking about anything else.

But people's minds varied.

'If you keep pressuring him, he might run away without completing the contract period.'

I could see that he wanted to do it, but he was afraid that it would cause a problem with the team's activities, so he held back.

There was a limit to what people could endure with reason and sociality, no matter how much fun you had, you'd go crazy if you continued being bad at it while the thing you were good at was right in front of you.

'Wouldn't it be better to release a drama now?'

Listening to him, it seemed to be a small supporting role, so I thought it would be okay.

Even if he got cursed at, he could pass it off by saying, 'It's T1 production, so even Testar members are mobilized for its publicity~'

At least like this, he could loosen up a little and it would be easier to start acting in earnest after a few years.

There would be less repulsion.

I also secretly attached the basis of this reasoning so that Bae Sejin could rationalize it properly.

“You have a few solo entertainment shows, and you’re filming pictorials and commercials.”

“…”

However, Bae Sejin crumpled the business card with a firm face and put it in the trash can.

“…!”

“That’s enough. I’ll just get distracted.”

And he murmured as if he were determined.

“I’m just barely keeping up… I can’t afford to worry about anything else right now.”

I could feel the pressure in his voice.

“…Activities come first.”

“Hyung…”

“…??”

That wasn’t me.

When I turned my head to the voice that suddenly stepped in, Kim Raebin was looking at Bae Sejin with a face full of worries.

Looking at the drink in his hand, it seemed he was looking for Bae Sejin and me with the stuff in his hands that we couldn't get because we weren't there.

'You're still wearing a foot protector, just what are you…'

It was ridiculous, but the person concerned was cheerful.

"Seeing hyung so engrossed in Testar's activities, I want to recover quickly from my injury and contribute to the team."

"W-What's with you? Where did you come from?"

"Ah, eat this!"

Bae Sejin flushed and freaked out.

'Damn it.'

There was no room or atmosphere for further persuasion.

'If he looks regretful, I'll have to bring it up later.'

I shrugged, accepted the drink, and followed Kim Raebin toward the group.

Bae Sejin was drinking his tea with a grumpy look, but he didn't seem too upset.

Up until this point.

"… So, I met Bae Sejin hyung and Moondae hyung and gave them the drinks."

"You've worked hard~"

"But let's be careful about your walk from now on, Raebin. I'll take care of it until you recover."

"I am getting used to it!"

In the car going back to the dorm.

Kim Raebin told the story of finding and bringing the two of us in response to the members' questions, 'Where have you been?'

Then in the back seat, Cha Eugene tapped Kim Raebin on the side and asked.

"What was the hyungs doing?"

"Ah, Bae Sejin hyung seems to be making a promise about Testar's future activities…"

"N-No!"

Sitting in the front seat, Bae Sejin hurriedly denied it as his face turned red.

Kim Raebin tilted his head with a slight look of bewilderment as if he couldn't understand the strong reaction.

"But you've refused some kind of activity and pledged your commitment to Testar…"

"No! It's not that… Hey, tell them…"

"…."

You should do it yourself. Why are you calling me?

I opened my mouth reluctantly.

"Hyung was offered a role in a drama, but he refused. He wants to focus on the activities."

"R-Really?"

I could see Bae Sejin groaning and covering his hands in front of me.

"You've worked hard, Sejin."

“Try it next time! I like the challenge!”

“I-I’ll do my best for the activities, too…!”

The little emotion and encouragement warmed the inside of the car. Bae Sejin couldn’t raise his face, as if he had complicated and subtle thoughts.

‘Aigoo.’

I clicked my tongue and opened the water bottle. Next to me, Keun Sejin looked at his smartphone and spoke.

“You must have been disappointed. That’s amazing”

“…”

Bae Sejin in the front seat flinched and remained silent for a while.

Then he threw an answer as if the words came out unwittingly.

“That’s not what you think.”

“…!”

It was a rather sharp answer.

When Keun Sejin heard the answer, an incredulous smile appeared quickly on his face and then disappeared.

“Yes? Hey, why would you think like that? I just said something nice.”

“…I know you’re being sarcastic, but stop doing such things. I told you, I refused the offer.”

“When did I twist hyung’s words?… No. Right. I’m sorry. I won’t speak to you from now on. Is that all right with you then?”

“If you’re going to speak like that every time, I’d rather you say it to me directly.”

The atmosphere in the car suddenly froze.

*'What the f*ck is this?'*

Without even giving me time to think about anything, Keun Sejin took off his headphone next to me.

Keun Sejin was now laughing without hiding it anymore.

"What are you talking about? I already speak nicely to you."

"Stop making people feel weird. Do you think I don't know?"

"Why would I make you feel weird? No, I don't know why you're saying this."

"Guys, wait a minute."

Bae Sejin quickly turned his head. His eyes were blazing.

"You're still doing it. You think I'm pathetic, don't you? I know what you're thinking, I only have pride and it doesn't help with anything."

"…!"

"Look."

"It's so ridiculous, I am at loss for words."

"And you pretend to be close to me only when it benefits you in front of the camera."

Gradually, Keun Sejin was getting angry, looking really furious.

"Then should we fight in front of the camera? Hyung, it's not a kid's game, every time people…"

Bae Sejin hit himself on the armrest.

“I am serious about this! You’re the one who is acting like a kid.”

“What?”

The atmosphere became so violent that it was entirely because we were in the car that it didn’t spread into a fistfight.

Then, Keun Sejin pulled his upper body forward as if it was really going to happen.

“Who are you talking to right now…”

“Hey, stop.”

‘Is he crazy?’

I quickly pressed his chest with one hand. The others who were taken aback by the sudden quarrel also came to their senses and began to tear them apart.

“Yeah, guys, let’s stop! Hyung is going to have a heart attack while driving!”

“C-Calm down…”

“Why don’t we go back to the dorm first and have a talk?”

“We’re in a moving car right now. We might get into an accident!”

“…”

The two glared at each other, then quietly sat back in their seats.

Of course, the atmosphere was still brutal.

In the car that was as quiet as a dead rat, I endured the silence.

‘I’m going crazy.’

The cracks that had been noticeable since our debut suddenly exploded in a not-so-great fuse.

‘Is there a limit to just tolerating each other?’

My head hurt just thinking whether there was a way to solve this.

‘...First of all, let’s mediate the conversation once we arrive at the dorm.’

It was troublesome, but there was no other way. I decided to close my eyes and wait until we arrived at the dorm.

However, rather than talking, those two quickly locked themselves in their own rooms as soon as they entered the dorm.

To be exact, the moment Bae Sejin went straight to his room, Lee Sejin snorted and also went to his room.

Rather than avoiding each other… both of them just looked really pissed off.

*‘F*ck.’*

There was no solution.

“…”

The rest of the Testar sitting in the living room just stared at the TV screen in silence.

There was even an that I didn’t want to see.

[A warm touch like a warm heart]

[Meet the prospective guide dogs at Oseon’s Guide Dog Professional School!]

It was the commercial I had shot with Cheongryeo. Yellow dogs jumping out of the outdoor grass and hanging on to my head in the bright filter were coming out as repeated scenes. My face looked pretty stupid.

“Oh, Moondae hyung.”

“Dogs are great…”

Cha Eugene’s voice, saying that dogs were great, sounded less energetic than usual.

No, not just Cha Eugene, everyone seemed to be a bit flustered and dazed.

‘This team managed to get along harmoniously.’

Since our debut, we never fought so openly.

It was understandable why they were so taken aback.

Unlike the bitter atmosphere of reality, the screen showed Cheongryeo and a lively flock of dogs.

[We grew up with your love]

[Thank you! Everyone!]

[National Insurance – Oseong Life Insurance]

It was a mess over there. It was a mess over here, too.

“Sigh.”

I couldn’t help but sigh. Ruffling the back of my head, I organized the situation in my mind.

Let’s think.

‘First of all… It was bad timing.’

Bae Sejin must have been in a state of confusion because of his difficult decision to refuse the drama.

He was a sensitive guy. He must have noticed Keun Sejin's subtle way of speaking and piled it up under the stress, but this time he must have found it unbearably annoying.

'Keun Sejin is obsessed with career achievements.'

He didn't have a status abnormality like me, but he was the type who paid keen attention to his grades.

As a result, he didn't like the stiff Bae Sejin, who had low-level abilities and poor social skills.

So, there was a high probability that he thought the person he had to 'put up with' was a jerk.

'And above all… Those two just don't fit.'

They had variously nothing in common except hard work. It was clear that there was no good feeling between them and that they couldn't understand each other's actions.

I pressed my temples.

To be honest, I just wanted to let them take care of it on their own while the camera was running…

'But I'll have to try something.'

…Back when that happened with Ryu Chungwoo, they were so considerate of me.

Getting fed up, I got up from the sofa and headed for the kitchen.

"Moondae."

"Hyung."

Ryu Chungwoo quietly caught up to me and smiled bitterly.

“To Sejin, I mean, I’ll go to Lee Sejin… Do you want to go to Bae Sejin? You two should talk.”

“Hmm.”

It seemed he spread us out by considering the fact that I was currently roommates with Bae Sejin.

I pondered for a moment, but I shook my head.

“I think it would be better for me to go to Lee Sejin.”

“Really?”

Really. Looking back, there was something bothering me because I was the only one who knew about it.

Ryu Chungwoo nodded in good spirits.

“Yeah. It might be better to be of the same age.”

“Yes.”

“Then… let’s suffer.”

Ryu Chungwoo tapped me on the shoulder and left the kitchen. I turned my head and opened the refrigerator.

‘Alcohol is going to have the opposite effect.’

Let’s get some cold water.

I went to Lee Sejin’s door with two bottles of mineral water in one hand.

Knock, knock.

“It’s me.”

“…”

After a while, the door opened with a small sigh.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 162

Keun Sejin, who opened the door, was smiling, but naturally, he didn't look happy.

"Um… Can I come in?"

"Yeah."

I entered the room, closed the door roughly, and lightly tossed the bottle of cold water I was holding.

"What's this? Are you telling me to drink cold water and get a hold of myself?"

"Simultaneously, yes."

"Haha."

This guy didn't find it funny at all, he was just pretending to laugh.

Keun Sejin sat on the floor. And after opening the bottle and emptying nearly half of it, he slowly opened his mouth.

"First of all… Now that this has happened, I'll apologize and solve it myself."

His voice was low without any rising tone.

"Don't worry, once he calms down a bit, I'll apologize and wrap it up. I'm not going to harm the group with this."

"…"

However, his next words were filled with emotion.

“I feel bad for you and the other members. Everyone must have been surprised by the fight in the car.”

I crossed my arms.

“…You’ll apologize to Bae Sejin, but you don’t feel bad for him?”

“Isn’t that obvious?”

Keun Sejin laughed. Then he rubbed his eyes with one hand.

“Really… I don’t understand. Don’t you think I’ve kept my duty to him as a team member?”

Keun Sejin folded his fingers and continued.

“I’ve watched half of hyung’s choreography one-on-one. It’s only once or twice that I said something when the camera turned, or I just kept my mouth shut.”

It was true.

Apart from his dislike toward Bae Sejin, he helped him as a team member in our activities.

It wasn’t for Bae Sejin’s sake, though.

“But pretending to be close… Ha.”

Keun Sejin crumpled the water bottle, then loosened his grip again as if to calm himself down.

“Is there such a thing in front of the camera? This is work. Is he telling me not to talk to him when the camera is rolling because he’s uncomfortable with me? And he’s serious about his work, but makes it sound like I’m joking around…”

We were getting off-topic.

Let's cut him off before it got any worse.

"Yeah. I see what you mean."

"…"

Keun Sejin drank the water without saying a word.

I chose my words slowly.

"You've contributed a lot to the team. Like you said, there are many times when hyung has one-sidedly received your help, whether he realized it or not."

"…"

"That's why he must have felt even more pressured."

I continued calmly.

"Because hyung has no choice but to keep getting help."

Aside from Bae Sejin's determination and hard work, it was inevitable that his ability as an idol was lower than the other members.

He didn't wish for this in the first place.

So, he must have held back even more because he thought it was his karma, thinking that 'I'm causing damage to the team'.

"That's probably why it exploded while he was trying to hold it in. There was a misunderstanding. I don't think he was purposefully trying to make you a bad guy in front of other kids."

Because of his personality, there was a high possibility that Bae Sejin intentionally lowered himself in front of other people, so let me tell you this as well.

"…."

Sure enough, it was a bit sincere.

Keun Sejin asked calmly.

"…Be honest with me. Did I sound sarcastic to you?"

"In the car?"

"Yeah."

I rubbed my chin.

"No."

I continued before Keun Sejin could answer.

"But it didn't seem sincere. You didn't mean it, and it felt like you only said it because of the atmosphere."

In fact, looking at the situation alone, Keun Sejin's words were similar to what the other members had said earlier.

The problem was, it was something that had been accumulating over time.

*'Actually, at the beginning of the debut, you were such a jerk*ss so it felt like you were only treating him with a smile because you're on the same team.'*

From Bae Sejin's point of view, the impression from that time was so strong, so it wouldn't be weird for him to feel like Keun Sejin's insincere tone continued to sound sarcastic.

"I know you did it because you thought not ignoring him would be better for the team atmosphere. But for some people, it can be more unbearable."

"…"

“Of course, it would have been better to discuss it separately with him in a better atmosphere first… But it wouldn’t have worked with your personality.”

“I don’t understand.”

I sipped my water and smiled.

“Your personality just doesn’t fit together with hyung’s.”

“…Sigh.”

Keun Sejin pressed his forehead with one hand.

“Take this opportunity to have a conversation.”

It would be better if they could understand each other’s principles of behavior with their heads, then they could tolerate it along the line of ‘that guy doesn’t mean to screw with me either’.

But the answer didn’t return until quite some time.

“…I’m a little sick of it.”

It wasn’t a very positive answer.

“Of what?”

“Has he ever tried to get along with me even once?”

“…!”

Keun Sejin said calmly.

“Don’t you remember? Ever since Idol Inc, if you say things he doesn’t like, he gets serious.”

…From the first team match, numerous cases passed by. I put up with the silence.

"…That's true. Although there were circumstances."

"Moondae, who is the merciless one here? There's no one who doesn't try."

Keun Sejin smiled.

"But don't tell me that I should have treated him better just because that hyung is hardworking, has circumstances, and is a naturally sensitive person."

It sounded like he had given up expectations for Bae Sejin.

"You saw it too, that hyung is still like that. He hated it when we got caught up on a variety show. Isn't that rude again? Even if I don't like it, I treat him kindly, so now I'm being sarcastic?"

Keun Sejin seemed a little tired somehow.

"Yes, well, I understand what you mean anyway. I told you, I'll apologize. Let's get some sleep… We can talk about it tomorrow."

"…"

This was driving me crazy.

I held back my sigh, then I just let it out.

"Hey, don't do it if it makes you uncomfortable."

"…!!"

"Just because you two fight, it doesn't mean that the album will be doomed right away… You don't have to apologize if you don't want to. It'd be better to curse and fight when you have the chance."

Keun Sejin shook his head.

"No."

“What?”

“There’s a schedule starting tomorrow afternoon. It won’t be noticeable if I loosen it up before then.”

“…”

Wow, he was such a great guy.

‘He doesn’t care, work comes first.’

That’s why it was hard for him to have good feelings for Bae Sejin, who could barely take in one serving.

‘And, there’s his background as well.’

I remembered one of the reasons why I had to visit this guy.

Let’s break it down to this guy first.

“We have 7 members. Even if the two of us don’t talk, one or two times can be passed off as a coincidence. Even if I had a trashy attitude for about a month, it didn’t turn into a big problem.”

And let’s get to the point. Saying this… felt a bit awkward, but there was no other way.

“What I am talking about was kind of a personal experience. After talking to Chungwoo hyung… I feel better.”

“…! It’s different from that.”

“No, there are some similarities.”

I drank my water.

“It’s not that I was uncomfortable with him, I was just uncomfortable with the incident associated with him.”

"…"

"I think it's the same for you."

"What?"

"Among the many reasons why you keep giving Bae Sejin hyung poor evaluations, isn't it also because he's associated with an incident that made you uncomfortable just like how it is for me? 'The last member who was an actor'."

"…!"

Right. The past that Keun Sejin had confessed when we were preparing for the concert unit stage in the past bothered me.

Why did he get kicked out of the debut team?

– Just before the launch, a new kid whose parents were both actors joined all of sudden. He's well-known, so he has to be put on the team… The higher-ups said that we would make it with seven people. What was I supposed to do? One person got cut off

Looking at Bae Sejin, the last member who lacked skills and had the keyword actor, he must have still had the trauma, even if unconsciously.

"…"

Keun Sejin closed his mouth, looking as if he had been hit on the back of his head.

Actually, if I did this wrong, he might want to fight me too, but he wasn't an idiot so he knew what I meant.

"…Maybe."

Yeah. He got it.

I nodded.

“So I want you to talk and find out what kind of person Bae Sejin hyung is. I’m not asking you to understand or apologize right away, I’m asking you to judge the other person calmly.”

“…”

Keun Sejin smiled slowly and bitterly.

And after sighing, he shrugged his shoulders.

“…Yes, I get it. I’ll give it a try.”

It was an answer that had different nuance from the previous ‘Let’s talk’.

The nuance that he would try to have a serious conversation, not apologize half-heartedly to get over the situation.

‘It’s done.’

With this, I achieved my intended purpose.

I closed the lid of the water bottle and got up from the floor.

“Well thought out.”

“Oh, thank you for your hard work, Mr. Moondae.”

“Stop it.”

“Haha!”

Keun Sejin looked slightly lost in thought, even though he was smiling.

Perhaps he was checking to see if there was really such an irrational aspect in his repulsion.

‘He’ll sort it out on his own.’

Whether it was a sink or swim, I couldn't do it anymore because I was tired. I kneaded the back of my neck, opened the door, and went out.

"I'm going to bed."

"Sure. Ah, right."

"What?"

I thought it might be a question related to Bae Sejin, but unexpected words came out.

"You didn't have a trashy attitude back then, Moondae. You just worked hard even though you were sick. Chungwoo hyung was worried too."

"…!"

"Thank you for caring. Good night."

Keun Sejin smiled faintly and waved his hand, closing the door.

Click.

"…"

I didn't expect to hear this.

It felt a little weird.

"Hmm."

I stood in front of the closed door, then came to my senses and walked into the living room.

If Bae Sejin was still talking with Ryu Chungwoo in the room, it would be a little awkward to go in there.

In the living room, the three I had seen earlier were gathered side by side, watching TV and whispering.

“When are we going into our room? I’m sleepy.”

“L-Let’s wait a little longer…”

“Be patient, idiot. You can sleep in the living room.”

“I hate the floor, I like the bed.”

“Is that more important than the hyungs’ feelings?”

“Both are important!”

Cha Eugene and Kim Raebin were about to grab each other’s collar and fight. Seon Ahyeon was breaking out in a cold sweat.

“G-Guys. Don’t fight…!”

I clicked my tongue and spoke.

“…You guys, go inside.”

“Hyung!”

“Moondae hyung!”

“T-They made up…?”

“No.”

After accepting the promise to ‘not ask anything’, I sent Cha Eugene back to his room where Keun Sejin was, and I sent Kim Raebin to his room and requested to not wait for Ryu Chungwoo.

And I said to Seon Ahyeon.

“Let’s just sleep in the living room.”

“Y-Yes!”

It was the first time I slept outside of bed since my debut. Again, I wished things would stay fine.

However, when I took out the blanket from the closet in the other room, Ryu Chungwoo came out of our room.

“Hyung.”

“Ah, guys. …You brought out your blankets?”

“I-I was afraid it was going to be a long talk…”

“Oh, it’s all right. Get inside and sleep. I’m done talking to Sejin.”

“Did it go well?”

“Hmm…”

Ryu Chungwoo had a complicated look.

“…Sejin seems to have had a hard time. I don’t blame anyone, but… We need to arrange a place for the two of them to solve it. What about Lee Sejin?”

“He said he’d talk when he comes back to his sense.”

“Good. Then, let’s look at the situation tomorrow and talk again.”

“Yes, thank you for your hard work.”

“It wasn’t hard at all. You did a great job.”

It seemed Ryu Chungwoo had done a great job listening to Bae Sejin. After roughly saying goodnight and going back to the room with Seon Ahyeon, Bae Sejin was definitely in a stable state.

“…I’m sorry. I made the atmosphere uncomfortable.”

“N-No…! H-Hyung, are you okay…?”

“I am fine. I am just a little… Anyway, I’m sorry. I’ll be careful.”

Bae Sejin said that with a pale and swelled-up face, and then he lay on the bed and became quiet without moving a single inch.

Even without looking at him, I could feel the stress swirling inside.

‘He must have been very troubled.’

It was obvious even if I didn’t hear it.

Starting from “Did I go too far?” to ‘No, but that bastard’, all kinds of thoughts went up and down.

“…”

When Seon Ahyeon went to bed quietly like a dead rat, I sighed, turned off the room lights, and lay down on my bed.

‘I couldn’t do a monitoring.’

Originally, I was planning to do it in the car, but as you already know, it was impossible in that situation.

‘Should I do it now?’

After turning on my smartphone, I slowly looked at public opinion starting with news articles.

But it wasn’t long before I could hear a small voice.

“…Aren’t you sleeping?”

It was Bae Sejin. Maybe he was conscious of the sleeping Seon Ahyeon, his voice was very small.

“Not yet.”

“…”

Bae Sejin was silent for a while.

And after a while, I heard a very hesitant hoarse voice.

“Hey… Did I make a mistake?”

I could feel his anxiety.

“No. It’ll be all right.”

It was just… The two guys who didn’t get along well had been putting up with each other for the sake of the group in their own way for a long time.

If I had to argue, Bae Sejin was the weaker one, so it must have been more difficult for him.

“…Hmm.”

Sniff.

I could hear a very small sniffle as if covered by a blanket. It seemed he didn’t want to get caught.

I turned off my smartphone and quietly closed my eyes without making a fuss, pretending not to know.

‘You’ll come to a conclusion after you have a conversation.’

Until then, I would have to separate those two.

The next day, I had no idea that the two would be in the same group at W Live.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 163

Did I mention that even if there was a fight between us and we didn't solve it right away, it would be okay for one or two schedules?

Let me correct it. It was bullshit.

*'How can those two get stuck together on the first try? F*ck.'*

I took that risk because I was afraid that if I covered it up and glossed over it, and then it exploded even louder about half a year later, the atmosphere would really get out of control.

I didn't know the risk would explode in the first round.

'I wish this is a dream.'

I built a defense to prevent this split-up, but it was so ridiculous that it exploded there.

First of all… The W app content started like this.

"Hello, Loviewers! It's been a while since all 7 of us did a W app together like this, right? I gave you notice, did you see it?"

"We're now… Ta-da! It's an indoor climbing center. We're going to show you a new side of us playing today."

"Shall we divide it into groups of two people? Yes. Thank you for the cheers."

"Ah, Chungwoo hyung wants to be the MC for equity issues!"

The MC was originally Keun Sejin.

Actually, it wasn't an Olympics, we were just playing amongst ourselves, what did equity have to do with it?

'Rather, it would have been more fun if Ryu Chungwoo massacred the people.'

However, if Keun Sejin was the MC, he had to keep talking to Bae Sejin, so we randomly selected and assigned the MC.

And I'd already secretly told the company. I asked them to pull their tricks so that those two didn't end up on the same team.

But, perhaps some kind of error had occurred during the information delivery process, and as a result of picking the chopsticks, Keun Sejin and Bae Sejin picked the same color side by side.

"…Wow! Two Sejins are on the blue team together."

Let's start clapping right now before the viewers noticed anything strange.

Clap clap clap clap!

Fortunately, everyone clapped earnestly. It should look fine.

"Oh, let's do our best, hyung."

"…Yeah."

Still, they could easily talk because they were in front of the camera.

I felt deeply irritated with the company.

'Those bastards can't even do this right.'

This kind of mistake was common everywhere, but now that the timing was in sync, I really wanted to replace them.

And I would address the last problem. This was a live broadcast, not a recording that could use the magic of editing.

"…"

In short, it was a total mess.

I could already tell that a new anonymous account would appear after this broadcast.

'It shouldn't happen.'

I could hear the two of them losing their minds from all the way here.

As I was breaking out in a cold sweat, I heard a powerful voice from next to me.

"Hey! Let's win! Go Red Team~ Go Red Team!"

"Yeah."

That's it. The rest of us had no choice but to make a fuss regarding their reaction and bury the sense of incongruity.

I purposely encouraged Cha Eugene, who was on the same team.

"Which team do you think we should defeat?"

Cha Eugene moved as I expected.

"Umm… Team Kim Raebin!"

"That remark is just fake bravado! Ahyeon hyung and I are former roommates, so we definitely have effective management skills…"

Done. Everyone just needed to laugh and react.

I drove the atmosphere by using Cha Eugene in a similar way.

The response of the real-time chat window of the W app that I glanced at, was also as I intended.

– Moondae, why are you so excited ㅋ ㅋ ㅋ ㅋ ㅋ

– No, Moondae

– The maknaes are like Maltese dogs

– It’s already no fun

– Cute ㅠ ㅠ

Hmm, looking at the stable and empty hate comments, it seemed they didn’t feel the heavy atmosphere yet.

‘I’ll just have to gloss over it when those two are playing.’

Fortunately, there were three teams, so they were chosen as the team to advance to the final by default.

Of course, I lost on purpose.

“Then, the result of rock-paper-scissors minus one… The team that goes up is blue!”

“Oh~”

“I think we lost because we played fewer games.”

“Hey~ Thank you, Raebin. Thanks to you, I didn’t feel too happy about it.”

Keun Sejin gently glossed over the situation of the two of them not giving a high five, making it sound like it was because of Kim Raebin’s words.

– ㅋ ㅋ ㅋ ㅋ ㅋ ㅋ ㅋ ㅋ Out

– Raebin is smart

– Ugh, it’s suddenly so awkward

– Baese’s expression ㅋ ㅋ ㅋ ㅋ ㅋ ㅋ ㅋ ㅋ

‘Now there’s only one climax left.’

All they had to do was stare at each other while climbing together in the final or pull out their shoulders by touching each other.

I was a little nervous as I started climbing against Kim Raebin-Seon Ahyeon’s team with Cha Eugene.

‘I can’t get eliminated.’

I didn’t think I would be able to cope with unexpected situations in interpersonal relationships if that side won.

The problem was that the opponent was better at climbing than I thought.

Especially Seon Ahyeon.

“F-Fighting…! Watch out, for your feet…”

“Thank you!”

He climbed up quickly and even pulled Kim Raebin up.

I wanted to compliment him on his strength and sense of balance, but it didn’t help.

‘Actually, if I have the guts to lose, that team wouldn’t have to lose in the first place…’

I held back from clicking my tongue and climbed silently.

And fortunately, I did win.

“Red team won!”

“Wow!”

Because Cha Eugene, who went up at a tremendous speed, kept both of the opposing team members in check.

After I landed on the floor, I gladly gave him a high-five.

And I said with sincerity.

“Good job.”

“Hehe.”

Cha Eugene smiled and waved to Kim Raebin.

“Winning is great!”

“Cha Eugene interfered with other people’s climbs while Ahyeon hyung and I helped each other, so I think you can’t compare us with you!”

“Hmm, Whatever~”

Cha Eugene didn’t seem to listen at all. In the live chat window, people were crying, saying that the raving Kim Raebin was cute.

– The best rabbitㅠㅠㅠㅠㅠ

– Cha Kitty figured out variety shows

– Kim Rabbit is cute

– ㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋ

And the moment of fate came.

“Then Testar’s climbing competition, the final, begins now. Everyone, get ready… Uh-huh, Eugene, step back.”

“Yes.”

Cha Eugene, who was coming forward a little too fast, probably excited by the game, stepped back into the road when Ryu Chungwoo sternly held him back.

And he shrugged.

“That’s all right, we’ll win late!”

“…!”

“Oh~ Eugene is so confident, wouldn’t it be too embarrassing if you lose to the hyungs like this?”

Keun Sejin threw words with hidden meanings, but Cha Eugene smiled wryly.

“You can’t beat me!”

“…!”

It was crazy aggro.

‘What’s wrong with this bastard?’

The reaction from the staff and live chat seemed okay, probably because they thought that baseless confidence was meant to be funny, but, from my point of view, this guy was serious.

‘Have you gone blind after winning once?’

You shouldn’t provoke these guys right now…

“Oh~ What are you going to do if I win, Eugene? Are you going to cry?”

“I won’t!”

Keun Sejin grinned.

“Really? Then I’ll have to confirm it~”

I could tell he was serious.

Even Bae Sejin, who was tense and stiff, was silently checking his gloves in the back.

His resolute eyes had returned.

'Both these bastards hate being looked down upon.'

At that moment, something flashed in my mind.

Wait, somehow, this… Did it help?

I opened my mouth right away. While purposefully pretending to be serious.

"Right. I don't think I'll lose."

"That's right!"

"Wow, Park Moondae, even you!"

With Keun Sejin booing, Bae Sejin also looked this way this time.

He had a look of betrayal.

'Why are you giving me that look?'

Anyway, It was a success. If they got overly immersed in the game, they would feel less out of place.

"Okay~ let's get a head start. The four of you, stand side by side again."

The four members waited in front of the stadium with a more enthusiastic attitude than before.

"Ready… Go!"

And I started climbing with a dash.

‘They’re working really hard.’

I purposefully climbed up at a moderate pace to see the situation, but I got a little fed up with three people moving their limbs and looking all the way up.

‘It’s better to be more careful.’

Especially for those who lacked muscle mass.

As soon as I thought like that, Bae Sejin tripped.

“…!”

But he immediately got back up into position and started climbing.

“Are you okay?”

“…I am fine.”

Bae Sejin’s voice sounded certain as he answered Cha Eugene’s question.

Keun Sejin, who had been bickering with Cha Eugene, hesitated for a moment, but he soon responded calmly.

“Then I’ll go up first~”

He must have wondered whether he should have said something about being worried too.

Surprisingly, Bae Sejin answered.

“…Okay. Wait a minute.”

“Oh~”

By the way, the exclamation at the back was from Cha Eugene.

Cha Eugene arrived at the target point right after that.

“Cha Eugene, success!”

“YEEES-!”

Cha Eugene immediately moved quickly and made a few gestures that had little to no effect, as if to distract Bae Sejin, and then he soon approached the direction where I was.

Then he stretched out his arms as if to support me, then he whispered only with the shape of his mouth.

In English.

[We have to lose!]

“…!”

We have to lose.

It was an insightful remark that I never thought I would hear from Cha Eugene.

‘Is this a dream?’

Of course, this was reality.

I almost looked at Cha Eugene with suspicious eyes for a moment, but soon I slipped naturally without further thought.

To be honest, saying that I would look after them was ridiculous, because my arms were about to lose strength after playing two games in a row.

“Ugh.”

“Moondae hyung, are you okay?”

“Yeah, I’m fine.”

While Cha Eugene pretended to ask how I was doing and my climb got delayed, Bae Sejin climbed far up.

And he touched the target pole.

“Done…!!”

Looking back, Bae Sejin’s face must be flushed red.

“Okay, Team Blue won!”

“Ooh!”

The other members forgot the tension and applauded Bae Sejin, who was holding the pole triumphantly.

‘I’m done, too.’

I let out a sigh of relief as I landed on the ground.

For now, I had succeeded in losing naturally.

After that, Cha Eugene came down as if he was performing some kind of trick, and the two winners also landed on the ground.

“No, you said you’d win, Eugene~”

“I win! Moondae hyung lost to Sejin hyung.”

“Hey.”

I purposely hit Cha Eugene on the back.

The staff who were watching the shooting from behind hurriedly held back their laughter.

“Ouch! There’s a hole in my back!”

Leaving Cha Eugene who was making a fuss, I talked to Bae Sejin.

“Hyung, you did a good job.”

“Well, somehow… Yes.”

He looked proud despite his words.

At this moment, Keun Sejin met my eyes while exchanging jokes with Cha Eugene who was making a fuss.

“…”

I secretly pointed with my chin to Keun Sejin.

Keun Sejin slowly opened his mouth.

“… I know, right! You did a good job, hyung.”

“… !!”

Bae Sejin seemed almost surprised when he looked over his shoulders, but fortunately, he quickly regained his composure.

“…Yeah. thank you. You, too… You did a good job.”

“Haha.”

Those two gave a very polite high-five.

Even if they only said it because they were in front of the camera, their anger clearly had softened a bit.

‘Both of you must have had a lot on your mind last night.’

Happily watching from the side, Cha Eugene whispered in English.

[Sport performance and victory. It always works.]

“…Are you talking from experience?”

[I was a pretty good football player! Of course, it was when I was in middle school.]

Even if I had the characteristic that help me speak English, I couldn't understand half of what this guy saying because it wasn't the standard form. How many times could 'like' appear in one sentence?

…Of course, I couldn't scold him for his good judgment.

'As expected, it's not that you're ignorant, you just don't care about anything else.'

I patted Cha Eugene on the back.

"Good job."

"Of course!"

As we were holding our fists together as if to celebrate second place, I realized that I had safely passed this shoot.

And it seemed that the preparations to make a conversation between the two people who had fought in a somewhat timid atmosphere were finished earlier than expected.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 164

It was 11:00 p.m. after we finished all the schedules of the day, including W Live, and returned to the dorm.

After vacating a room for the two people who fought, the rest of us gathered in the living room again.

By the way, the vacated room was a 3-person room.

Because the space was wider.

Seon Ahyeon muttered, having left the sponge he had been holding when he rushed out.

“I-I hope they can solve it…”

“Yeah.”

In fact, I thought we should put Ryu Chungwoo in that place, but I discarded the idea because I was afraid that they might get conscious of the third party and end it in a superficial way.

‘It would be better for them to have a big fight than that.’

Now that they had the time to think and were ready to talk, they could hear what each other was thinking even if they fought.

‘Then, after some time, they can keep the line.’

Because intense emotions disappeared and memories remained.

And both of them were the thoughtful types, so it wouldn’t take long.

“Turn on the Netplus!”

“Yeah. Watch whatever you want.”

Cha Eugene casually played an American sitcom with Ryu Chungwoo’s permission.

In the living room which was now buzzing with English, I looked down at my smartphone.

On the screen, there was a record of the call history with the company.

[Operation Team Assistant Manager Oh Suhyung]

To put it bluntly, it was a trace of my protest.

The call was about how the two people who fought became a team on the W app despite my request.

‘This didn’t happen just once or twice, if I don’t get angry, I am just a pushover.’

Since it was a neighborhood that had no work-life balance, it was okay to make a lot of mistakes.

But shouldn’t you be aware of something that can be so fatal?

‘This is how they deal with the discord bomb?’

When I heard the excuse, apparently ‘Don’t pick out the ones with the mark’ was mistranslated as ‘Pick them’ and it ended up like that. Well, I could understand that.

The problem was the nuance.

– But actually, during the shoot, there was no big problem between the two of them… It’s good to be careful and it was a mistake on our part, but I think it’s okay not to react too sensitively…

In short, he was saying ‘It wasn’t a big deal in the first place, didn’t you guys overreact?’.

‘These bastards are too laid-back.’

It seemed a lot of things had happened on the outside, and since they only focused on that, they had come to trust Testar’s calmness on the inside.

I wasn’t too happy about it because I thought their response would be slow if someone really did something unexpected.

‘This needs some trimming.’

I took a good look at the picture, shrugged, and lowered my smartphone.

‘For now… Wait until those guys solve it.’

In front of the sofa, Cha Eugene was excitedly talking about his favorite sitcom character.

Kim Raebin stopped him seriously.

“It might be a spoiler for those who haven’t seen this drama yet, so be careful…”

“It’s not a spoiler!”

“It is!”

I couldn’t even hear the sound of the drama properly because of these guys’ voices. If the two guys in the room screamed and fought, I wouldn’t be able to hear it.

Right when I thought like that, the door burst open and someone jumped out.

It was Bae Sejin who looked like he was about to explode.

“Park Moondae!”

‘I think this is the first time I heard him call my name.’

No way, did the two of you come to the conclusion of attacking me together?

Of course, not.

“Y-You… Come on, let’s go inside.”

“What?”

“Come here.”

I don’t get what you mean.

Anyway, I didn’t want to aggravate him, so I got up.

Then, Bae Sejin rushed into the room.

“Oh! Hyungs, fight….”

“Come on, watch TV, Eugene.”

Bae Sejin closed the door and came in. In an instant, the loud noise of the drama suddenly decreased.

Keun Sejin, who was sitting in the quiet room, had a calm face.

It seemed they wouldn’t grab each other by the collars and made a commotion.

‘You guys seem to be doing well, but why did you call me?’

As I bitterly sat down on the floor, Keun Sejin opened his mouth as if he had been waiting.

“First of all… I talked to hyung and sorted things out a bit.”

“Yes.”

“Listen.”

Keun Sejin calmly talked about the current situation. It was a perfectly refined attitude that gave Bae Sejin a chance to intervene in the middle.

‘So business-like.’

First of all, it seemed that both of them focused on their future attitude.

“For now, we’ll try to go as far as possible without hurting each other.”

Keun Sejin apologized for acting as if he was ignoring Bae Sejin because he didn’t have good feelings for him, and Bae Sejin also apologized for suddenly attacking him because of his complicated feelings.

“We decided to be a bit more careful with each other from now on.”

That was good.

“But there are some parts of each other that we don’t quite understand.”

They said that they found something they couldn’t understand while talking to each other.

Bae Sejin nodded.

“…Listen and look at it objectively. How about it?”

The question of whether it was necessary to invite me as the jury when the leader Ryu Chungwoo was there came up to my throat, but I suppressed it.

‘If it weren’t for the status abnormality, really.’

These guys should be grateful for my time-limit condition.

“What do you mean?”

Bae Sejin swallowed and opened his mouth.

“Am I… still uncooperative?”

“…!”

Bae Sejin clenched both his hands with a pale face.

“I… I know I am not good at it, I know that’s not good enough. But… I am doing my best. Really.”

“…Hyung, everyone knows you’re working hard.”

Keun Sejin sighed as if he was getting sick of it.

“Therefore… It’s not that hyung isn’t trying. But other than hyung’s hard work, hyung doesn’t care about the rest…”

Bae Sejin’s voice dropped.

“…I don’t care, you said?”

Keun Sejin sighed.

“It’s better to get angry than to listen to me, right? That’s why I just…”

“Wait a minute.”

I knew what was going on. I cut off Keun Sejin before he could pour out more.

“You have to explain more. What’s the rest that you said hyung doesn’t care about?”

“You already know.”

Keun Sejin continued his explanation in a slightly calmer tone.

“You don’t care at all about showing the group, only yourself.”

“What do you…”

“I know you’re not really interested in making us look like a group where all the members are close and getting along. But even if you’re not very interested in the group’s existence, I hope you can do that when the camera is rolling.”

Keun Sejin said in an exhausted tone.

“We’re an idol group. That’s important too.”

“…!”

Bae Sejin was stiff. And for a moment, he looked down at the floor with his mouth shut.

His answer came out slowly.

“All right.”

“…!”

“…I didn’t know about that… I am sorry. I’ll take care of it in the future.”

This time, it was Keun Sejin who was speechless.

‘it’s going a little differently than you think, isn’t it?’

Perhaps it was only natural.

Bae Sejin must have been unfamiliar with idol groups in the first place, and he even came out on an individual survival match.

Therefore, he wouldn’t have had time to notice or care about the group chemistry or anything else.

‘It must have been difficult to practice on stage.’

In fact, if Keun Sejin thought about it without prejudice, he wouldn’t have misunderstood him in the first place.

However, his thoughts were fixed unconsciously due to the trauma of being eliminated from the debut group because of the ‘actor’.

‘He’s going to be an actor anyway, I guess he’s just trying to hold on for now.’

And to Keun Sejin’s surprise, Bae Sejin’s words didn’t end there.

“I also think this is a good team. I want to do my best, and I don’t want to be a nuisance. Also, with this team… I am happy doing activities.”

“…”

Bae Sejin hesitated until he brought up the next words, but he continued to talk in a strained voice.

“And… I’m sorry for saying that you pretended to be close only when the camera was rolling. You were just working hard.”

“…!”

Keun Sejin’s face turned complicated.

The answer came one beat late, after he thought about it thoroughly.

“No. I made a thoughtless guess. I’m sorry.”

“…!”

This time, it was Bae Sejin who looked surprised, but he answered after clearing his throat.

“A-Ahem. I-It’s okay!”

Looking at him, he seemed slightly upset and was conflicted about whether or not to get angry, but he held back. He’d grown a lot, too.

Keun Sejin smiled faintly and replied.

“And I, well, I was trying to make a profit! It’s nice to have someone with the same name~”

It sounded similar to his usual shameless tone.

However, it felt much more honest than the usual soulless conversation he had with Bae Se-jin.

Bae Sejin murmured, avoiding his gaze.

“Well… Well, yes.”

If he had denied it there, it would have led to a more relaxed and reconciled conversation, but Bae Sejin’s limit seemed to have ended here.

Sure enough, Keun Sejin was already smiling bitterly. He didn’t understand why Bae Sejin crushed his gesture to reconcile.

‘It’s fine. Up to this point, it’s a five-star development.’

Anyway, this one example clearly proved that there was no malicious intention in each other’s actions.

In the future, whenever they got angry with the other, they would be able to pass it off as ‘That’s just how he is’ without being stressed out by excessive assumptions.

‘They’ve just returned to the starting point.’

I let out a sigh of relief inside.

‘I really have done as much as I could.’

I craved beer. I should go find it.

“Then let’s just conclude that Bae Sejin hyung will cooperate… I’m going out.”

Bae Sejin was startled.

“Huh? W-Wait.”

“Hey, let’s go out together~ Ah, hyung, do you have anything else to say?”

“…No.”

“I thought so.”

Keun Sejin smiled and nodded.

Neither of them seemed to want to talk to each other anymore.

“Hmm, alright.”

If I let them have a deeper conversation, who knew what else what explode, so it was better to keep it like this.

I went out of the door with the two of them.

Then, avoiding the voices of relief and welcome pouring in from the living room, I headed to the refrigerator.

‘I think there are about two cans left.’

I didn’t have any problem with my weight right now, so it would be okay to drink at least one in the middle of the night.

Click.

“…”

The beers weren’t there.

“The beer’s here…”

“Here!”

“Oh, sorry, Cha Eugene doesn’t know it’s the last can….”

An empty and dented can was shaking in Cha Eugene's hand as he lay down in the living room.

"…."

You bastard…

"M-Moondae. I-I have some liquor, drink it…."

"Thank you."

"Y-Yeah!"

No matter how much I thought about it, the only person who helped with my mental health was Seon Ahyeon.

I wrapped up the day with Seon Ahyeon's liquor in the room I returned to.

"C-Cheers!"

The last incident of the day was when the roommate Bae Sejin willingly participated in the liquor tasting, perhaps intoxicated by the feeling of being relieved from extreme stress, and fell asleep as if he were dead.

And the next day.

"I… I got a proposal for little Sejin."

The manager brought up the cause of the conflict in the car on the way to the salon.

"The writer of the drama knows little Sejin… Guys?"

"…"

Call Bae Sejin and talk to him, bastard.

The manager was nervous because of the stiff atmosphere in the car, but Bae Sejin, who was in the back seat, shook his head without much agitation, his eyes were wide open from a hangover.

“No, I am not going to do it.”

“I-Is that so? But it’s nothing big…”

Before the manager could get more flustered, Ryu Chungwoo asked Bae Sejin.

“…Sejin, it might overlap with our inactive period, so wouldn’t it be better to take a look at it?”

“…!”

Bae Sejin shrugged his shoulders, perhaps ashamed by his slight agitation.

“No… I will take it.”

“Chungwoo said something nice! You guys are fine with that, right?”

The first manager, who was not in the car on the day the two people had a big fight, turned to the designated ‘cheeky good guy’ in the front seat and prod for his reaction.

It was Keun Sejin.

“…Hmm.”

Looking at the manager without showing anything, Keun Sejin opened his mouth.

“Wouldn’t it be okay as long as it doesn’t interfere with our activities? Hyung will be able to figure that out on his own~”

“…!”

It was a plain and euphemistic declaration of neutrality.

This time, Bae Sejin also looked at Keun Sejin's seat with a slightly surprised face, perhaps he could also pick up the meaning 'Take care of yourself'.

He swallowed and told the manager.

"…Sure. I'll see the synopsis."

"Oh~ Great!"

However, the manager slipped an explanation with a slightly perplexed face.

"But I don't think you need to read the synopsis…"

"Yes?"

"Yeah, it's like a cameo."

"…!!"

"You know the kid shaman that little Sejin used to act in a movie? It's like making a surprise appearance… Sejin? Are you listening?"

"…"

Yeah. All those dogfights were caused by a misunderstanding…

Keun Sejin and Bae Sejin were absent-minded and in a daze throughout the day's management.

And anyway, a few days later, Bae Sejin finished the filming of 'Kid shaman who grew up as a madman' within a day, showing up as surprise appearances in episodes 1 and 2.

"Wow…."

"Huh…"

As a result of watching it on that very day, the synchro rate with the shaman was almost demon-like, and it was very powerful.

Except for the fact that the demon seemed really pissed off…

“Hyung, your acting skills are amazing.”

“It’s cool!”

“…T-This much is nothing.”

Well, in the end, Bae Sejin also liked it.

However, the trailer that came out after the drama was even more shocking.

[Re-listed! Idol Inc. 2]

[Friday at 10 pm]

The airing of <Idol Inc.> season 4 was really just around the corner.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 165

“Oh~ Idol Inc.”

“It started this week.”

When the for the new season of Idol Inc came up, some of the guys watching the drama admired it with no sincerity.

They probably weren’t really looking forward to it. They were filmed in it, so I guessed they were just pretending to acknowledge it.

However, by the time the 30-second ad was over, that composure had turned into incredulity and shame.

[KPOP National Idol created by <Idol Inc.>]

[Global phenomenon going beyond Korea to the world]

[Testar(TeSTAR)]

[Meet the following stock idols!]

“Oh, my God.”

More than half of the publicity was focused on ‘how great Testar is and how will they appear in season 4’.

‘...They picked the easy way out.’

At the time season 3 aired, it was incredibly popular, and the debut group even did better beyond its momentum, so there was nothing like this in the early aggro.

‘Putting the ad at the end of this drama must have been intentional.’

They put up an for Season 4 right after Bae Sejin, a former participant of Idol Inc Season 3, made a surprise appearance at the drama.

It meant that they had aimed for this picture from the beginning. There was a reason why the company didn’t skip the proposal and passed it over to Bae Sejin.

‘So, what they picked as the initial audience’s traction… are Testar’s fans.’

“…Hmm.”

Even if the fan bases wouldn’t overlap, the fact that the fandom could leak was not a good thing.

T1 probably thought it wouldn’t matter if they induced the transfers because the kids who would debut in season 4 would belong to them anyway.

‘At any rate, it’s going to attract a real consumer base after creating such a buzz in the beginning.’

However, if Season 4 didn’t go as well as they expected… They might also try to use Testar’s opportunity again.

‘It’s not good.’

From my point of view, Season 4 was a ticking time bomb.

I already saw that sh*t happening during the Rookie Award due to the controversy over Ryu Chungwoo and being the writer’s relative, but if a fairness controversy issue happened in Season 4, it wouldn’t be weird if we got entangled in it.

Already, Testar had been overcoming the fatigue that came from all the noises since their debut by pushing with the album quality and image. It was no longer a problem.

‘We have to end it with this appearance.’

…And, if possible, I wished we had less airtime.

I already knew. It was a hopeless wish.

‘Those bastards, they even took individual cuts…’

They’d probably use us as much as they could until their own popularity was on track.

Sure enough, Keun Sejin, who was rummaging through his smartphone, smiled.

“Oh~ We also appear in other trailers.”

Just by listening to it, I could tell that the greeting voices of Testar and the screaming participants of this season were nicely put together and well-edited.

[I am Seon Ahyeon…]

[Kyaaa!!]

“I-I’m a little embarrassed…”

“Ahyeon hyung came out very handsome. Don’t worry, I think you’ll look fine!”

“That, u-uh…”

It seemed Kim Raebin’s words embarrassed him the most. I could understand.

On this day, I checked the reaction to Bae Sejin’s appearance in the drama and briefly checked the reaction to the new season of Idol Inc before I wrapped up my day.

So far, it became a hot topic without much conflict, but somehow I couldn’t shake off the thought that it was like the calm before the storm.

And a few days later, Idol Inc's new season began to air.

* * *

"Hello, Loviewer~"

"Hello!"

With a lively greeting, Keun Sejin pressed a button on his smartphone.

[W LIVE has ended.]

Coincidentally, we had a bit of time, and the period came around, so we did a W live.

The topic… I'd be honest. I ran out of repertoires, so I just did some cooking.

Still, I believe it would be fine since it was meat. The guys in charge of eating liked it.

"Can I eat this?"

"Yeah. Eat."

The last half of the beer can chicken, which was the menu of the day, went into Cha Eugene's mouth.

'You eat well.'

This guy had the best appetite among the members who joined the W live (due to empty schedules).

Me, Keun Sejin, Cha Eugene, and… Bae Sejin.

"You've worked hard, hyung."

"I didn't do anything, so what are you…"

Bae Sejin murmured, avoiding my gaze.

“No. Hyung helped the most in cooking.”

“…Really?”

“Yes.”

“Well, ahem, well then.”

It was safe to say that Bae Sejin was the only one helping, as Keun Sejin focused on making people laugh and Cha Eugene focused on eating.

In addition, to borrow Keun Sejin’s words, Bae Sejin was quite ‘cooperative’ today.

He had reacted a lot and tried to actively participate in friendly conversations that were not related to the progress.

And Bae Sejin’s efforts would come back with greater results than he thought.

Because his timing was good.

‘Bae Sejin did a really good job in the drama.’

It was a well-known fact that Bae Sejin used to be a child actor, but his image overall was that he was inferior to the other members due to his footage in Idol Inc.

So, in this drama appearance, his ‘acting’ skill was recognized again and his stock price recovered considerably.

It was like this.

– Bae Sejin, you scared me I thought he was really possessed

– The 10-million actor at age 11 doesn’t go anywhere ㅋㅋㅋ

– When we saw it together, my mother was so happy that the kid has grown up like this.

– I wanted to see you longer. Please work in a drama~ㅠㅠ

He played a very sensible cameo role, so even if his appearance was short, it left a deep impression and his acting skills were great.

‘Good for you.’

So, if I had to pick an issue, it was Bae Sejin’s solo fans and anti-fans who might have thought, ‘Wouldn’t it be better for you to act?’.

However, since it was an eventful one-shot appearance, their noises didn’t rise to the chopping board, so this was enough for now.

‘It’d be nice if you could continue to show your good side in your own content.’

This atmosphere of him enjoying the group activities was enough.

‘From a moral point of view, I think it would be just right for him to start acting in earnest in two or three years.’

Well, actually, I didn’t know what the situation would be like starting from the end of next year.

If this was the end of my status abnormality, by that time, I wouldn’t have had to focus on such far-fetched achievements.

‘Of course, I have to focus on the present.’

So I tried to proceed with the monitoring of Idol Inc’s new season, which wasn’t even set in stone right now.

I thought Testar’s appearance in the first episode was just for fishing around, so I waited until it was piled up to the second episode.

“Moondaemoondae, what are you doing~?”

“I’m going to watch Idol Inc.”

“Oh~ That’s a good idea.”

I used the TV in the empty living room and moved to WeTube. The guys who had filmed the W live together slowly settled down around me.

‘They must have been curious inside.’

I was able to check the broadcast clip right away from the main page.

[<Re-listed! Idol Inc. 2> Stock Testar ★ Appearance Episode 1 and 2 Testar Clip]

These things usually took some time to be released, but it must have become a hot topic right away.

“Oh~ The thumbnail is Moondae!”

I was the official first-place winner.

Anyway, I clicked right away.

[What does <Idol Inc.> mean to me?]

On the screen, there was a solo shot of Testar members with serious faces against a dark background.

[I was so nervous!]

[To me, Idol Inc is…]

[…A new opportunity?]

[The turning point of my life]

It seemed they were trying to set the mood by saying ‘Our Idol Inc. is such an amazing program’ with these cuts.

“Ugh~ It’s no joke.”

“Cheesy!”

“…Sigh.”

The video continued straight ahead, leaving behind the people who were distracted by the taste of Idol Inc’s show business after a long time.

Testar, who was embarrassed when looking back at their season 3 appearance cuts, appeared with warm BGM.

“Hey, Moondae can’t raise his head. Are you embarrassed because of the chicken feet? Are you embarrassed because you ate the chicken feet so deliciously?”

“Shut up.”

And the scene was connected with this season’s participants who were watching Testar’s appearances on Idol Inc and their activities.

[Really, I want to make a stage like that.]

[I think it motivates me to challenge myself.]

“…Those were good times.”

“Cheer up, guys~“

“I hope it goes well.”

Members who watched this scene with sympathizing eyes sighed in the next scene.

[Season 3 participants appear on the set!]

[Kkaaaaaah ↗!!]

[※ This is not the sound of crows ※]

Since each member of Testar was captured well, they replayed it about three times to shed light on the scene of our appearance.

The finishing touches were the interviews with the participants.

[He was my one pick. I'm going crazy…!]

[I… I was just screaming from my throat!]

[I couldn't control myself. Hehehe!]

[Moon Puppy in person! Really! I thought my heart was going to explode!]

I bet on my beer can chicken that the poor last contestant was going to be torn apart on the Internet for calling her direct senior by nickname instead of honorific.

"Hmm, it's more embarrassing than I thought."

"Why?? I like it!"

While the members' opinions were divided, the fierce welcome on the screen calmed down a bit as the members of Testar took turns delivering words of well-wishing remarks and support.

First, Cha Eugene.

[WOW!Everyone, cheer up! Don't be nervous, enjoy the moment, and work hard!]

There must be a few people who pretended to be upset, saying that he could say such a thing only because he'd never been cursed out, but it was okay because that complaint would have come out no matter what Cha Eugene said.

Next was Bae Sejin.

[…I hope you can get what you want from here.]

Hmm, they could instigate him, saying that he could only say such obvious things because his skills were not good enough, but that attack could backfire and fail.

Next… Keun Sejin.

[<Idol Inc.> is a big audition. Therefore, I think it's a place where you can't help but think that things didn't go the way you thought like you expected.]

He was laying the groundwork for 'you might fail'.

[But you can't deny that it's an opportunity, so I hope you do everything you can so that you don't have any regrets. I'll be rooting for you!.]

The focus was on the challenge itself rather than achievement.

Hmm, there was no problem here. The program also slightly raised its status without being offensive.

'This guy is still quick-witted.'

Anyway, it had been all right so far. There was no weird editing, and it seemed there were a lot more people who liked it.

But my turn hadn't come out yet. I was the last one.

"Moondae hyung!"

"Oh~ The last one!"

It wasn't until the playback bar almost reached the end of the video that Park Moondae on the screen picked up the microphone.

[While appearing here…]

And suddenly, soundless flashbacks started to appear.

"…?"

[There were times when I felt my limit. Whether it's my ability or my situation.]

The scenes of Park Moondae dancing to Popcorn, practicing without sleeping during the midterm evaluation, and stretching after practicing the choreography passed by one after another.

And… There was also a cut of him sitting on a bed alone with a complicated expression.

"…"

It was unaired footage. It was probably the scene when I realized the past of 'Park Moondae'.

[But sometimes you can go beyond those limits.]

The scene of Park Moondae on the stage smiling briefly while shouting slogans among the participants from the same team was briefly captured.

[I hope you will be able to look at yourself with a wider perspective when this filming is over.]

When the screen returned, Park Moondae, who had become Testar, bowed his head.

[Thank you for listening.]

After that cut, the tearful participants of this season were captured. Of course, it was accompanied by the emotionally arranged BGM of this season's theme song.

"…"

"…That."

Bae Sejin carefully opened his mouth.

"I don't think you said it like that."

Right. It was pure fabrication.

I was asked ‘You won first place, so please make it a little longer!’ and I finished the cheering with an easy-going tone amidst the goodwill of the participants.

Oh no… It meant there was no nuance that connected Park Moondae’s past activities like a panorama.

Of course, there were no tears from the participants.

The kids were just having fun.

But it wasn’t surprising.

“It’s really just like Idol Inc.”

“That… yes.”

With this conversation, everyone in this room was convinced of the situation.

However, it seemed that ‘everyone’ on the Internet was not.

“Moondae, there are some articles?”

“…Really?”

[<Idol Inc.>’s new season is on the way. From Dark Horse to Winner… Will Park Moondae’s reversal gets reproduced?]

[The public’s number 1, Park Moondae’s wise advice. <Re-listed! Idol Inc. 2>]

[<Re-listed! Idol Inc. 2> Park Moondae, who was a bad stock, passing on the secret of his rapid rise?]

‘You bastards.’

It was the taste of Idol Inc’s aggro after a long time.

Author's Thoughts

I am back^^.

English alphabet will be in bold instead of blue color from now on. I wish I had thought of that earlier. Sorry for the inconsistent format.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 166

“Give me your phone.”

I took over Keun Sejin’s smartphone and skimmed through an article.

Park Moondae was the best aggro knight who won the title of a poor-performing stock.

<Re-listed! Idol Inc. 2> Park Moondae, who won last season as an ordinary person with no expertise and experience, encouraged participants to experience the same thing, saying, “Sometimes you can go beyond the limit.”

……

A program staff said, “The beauty of watching <Idol Inc.> is that you don’t know who will win the program, everything is left to the viewer’s choice,” adding, “Thank you, Testar, for willingly appearing here.”

……

“Hmm.”

I roughly got it.

‘It’s really an article released by Idol Inc.”

It was written down as if they were delivering Park Moondae’s story, but in fact, the focus was not on me.

‘They want to emphasize the dramatic fun of Idol Inc.’

They wanted to emphasize the unpredictability and fun of the program, such as its bio stocks, like when a person who participated without a proper background could suddenly win.

But I didn't think it was a very good idea.

'They went overboard.'

My first rank was gold, and I received platinum in the rating evaluation.

I was just a classic audition-style participant who steadily ran the royal road through popular groups and won the championship after my family affair was solved at the last minute.

This meant I wasn't a participant who showed a differentiated style of <Idol Inc.>.

'It's so uselessly stimulating.'

They just had to remind people of the fun of the audition, but the production crew seemed to have taken strange pride in this opening audition program.

'Looks like those guys are a little out of shape, too.'

Maybe having even-numbered seasons ruined was a jinx.

'As expected, Testar should step out.'

As long as I was an affiliated celebrity, I would suffer big losses if I antagonized T1, so if an offer came in, whether it was to appear again or to collaborate, I needed to create a justified reason so that I could comfortably decline.

First, let's check the aftermath of this article.

"It looked great."

"Yeah~ It wasn't a bad feeling, right?"

“Yeah, it was fine.”

Let’s start with the fans’ reaction.

I returned Keun Sejin’s smartphone and started browsing with my smartphone.

“…”

And I was embarrassed.

– Idol Inc bastards, you made me hear my kid’s worries, blood, sweat, and tears only through oral narratives, and only showed them 3 seconds in the new season ㅋㅋㅋ

– I’d say, the story is really about Moondae’s affection and passion for this work… I felt so emotional that I cried. I suddenly became the story girl on Subway line 4

– It hurt my heart that he didn’t show off his personality to not worry the fans. I’m so glad I bought Moondae’s stock. I’m so glad that he debuted

– Park Moondae, you’re so f*cking great ㅠㅠㅠㅠㅠ The only way to escape for you is death

Wow, this… I was kind of embarrassed.

Even the people who had withered through survival shows after Idol Inc was over were pouring out new articles.

There must have been a part that touched their heart somewhere.

I thought half of the people were annoyed because they didn’t like Idol Inc, and half of the people were just happy to see my face, but there were more people gathering than I had expected.

‘This a good thing, isn’t it…?’

Something was a bit off, but it wasn’t bad.

I decided to accept this situation.

‘Then next… is the public reaction?’

There was absolutely nothing on this one. Comments on entertainment articles were also blocked, and the focus of the articles was on promoting <Idol Inc.>, so they focused on that.

Most of the responses to me, not the program, were just ‘He said something nice’.

I could gather negative reactions, but I wondered if it would mean anything.

It was like this

– Hn, it just sounded like an obvious statement, what’s wrong with T-net

– They praise him too much ㅋ

– He’s an ordinary middle school graduate, it would have been hard for him to debut if it weren’t for Idol Inc

– The difficult, big feeling seems to be the type he likes at the audition

Having written this much, these words couldn’t even be considered hate comments because they didn’t curse me out.

Those were just thoughtless remarks, so I didn’t have to worry about it.

‘This is enough.’

It was a little annoying that they used me and consumed my image for no reason, but since the fans liked it, I could play along in moderation. Let’s quickly grab a stop loss.

I shrugged my shoulders.

However, as I was about to turn off my smartphone screen, I inadvertently checked the latest comment on the SNS post I was reading.

It was a post that shared an article titled ‘Park Moondae, delivering wise advice in Idol Inc season 4’.

– If you have a proper conversation with Park Moondae, he’ll just sound empty and ignorant… If you just say whatever sh*t and pretend to be cool, the company will manipulate it to the media

‘Oh?’

It had a very subtle implication.

It wasn’t just a hate comment that I didn’t like, I even saw keywords that tried to artificially turn the flow.

‘Ignorant?’

Isn’t it an expression that naturally follows Park Moondae?

Besides, this wasn’t the flow that would harm me the most.

‘It would be more effective to combine it with Idol Inc’s issue of fairness and T1’s media play.’

So, how should I say this, I strangely felt like it had a different sense of purpose.

‘Wait a minute.’

I checked the account.

They participated in events and shared humorous articles. And their timeline was filled with obvious words such as ‘When are we going to have lunch?’ and ‘I want to get off work’.

‘Hm.’

I tried to browse several times by combining keywords such as ‘Park Moondae’, ‘ignorant’, and ‘middle school graduate’, and confirmed the existence of similar accounts.

Accounts with good profiles and IDs and sharing words that didn't show personality or specific topics.

'They're good at this.'

Next, I searched for a completely different keyword on SNS.

[Golden Age Korea University]

Then, excellent results poured in.

The most shared article was 'idols who have the vibes of young masters from rich families'.

'Not this one.'

I found a minor article that had fewer shares and checked the sharer's accounts.

[A collection of celebrities from Korean University]

…The uncharacteristic account profiles I saw earlier were caught in between.

'Found you.'

I smirked. I was certain now.

'Looks like Golden Age is starting to work on it.'

This was what Choi Wongil had told me.

– They asked that hyung to act like a young master. They also told him to use Park Moondae hyung as a material…

As expected, the company didn't directly compare me to the Golden Age member who was a Korean University student.

'Instead, they're grouped together.'

Popular Idols with weak academic backgrounds like me stealthily went viral.

In addition, correspondingly, the Golden Age member was tied to a list of talented celebrities with good educational backgrounds and they worked to imprint that image. Because this image was definitely in demand.

It was a move to raise the stake, suppress the backlash as much as possible, and effectively raise their level and image.

‘They’re good.’

Well, it didn’t really bother or annoy me. Most entertainment agencies did this.

But… I was sick of it.

‘Even though I’m too busy to care about other things.’

There were a lot of guys to deal with from the current situation to the new season of Idol Inc.

And I thought it would be more troublesome to deal with them if they took it one step further.

So I should just end it now with this agency.

‘Let’s see.’

When I was about to recall the list in my head, someone suddenly spoke to me.

“…What are you looking at?”

It was Bae Sejin.

“Oh, monitoring.”

“Is that so? Then… Is something wrong?”

“Yes, well…”

Bae Sejin noticed my conflict and soon spoke quietly.

“…If you have any concerns, tell me. Since I’ve been working for a long time…”

Maybe because he had been cooperating in front of the camera, he gained confidence, and he was even trying to be an older figure that he hadn’t planned to.

‘Thanks for your effort, but….’

Right now, it wasn’t a situation where Bae Sejin’s help was particularly needed.

But still, it’d be better to explain. The schedule was also an issue.

I said in the easiest way I could think of.

“I want to go to a broadcast, but I want to schedule it as soon as possible.”

“A broadcast? What kind of broadcast is it, all of sudden?”

I smirked.

“Some people on the internet are saying I am ignorant. I’m thinking of going out and using my head a little.”

“W-What? What a bunch of freaks!”

Bae Sejin fumed as if he empathized with me, and then he went back and forth busily to his seat several times.

Then after a while, as if suddenly recalling something, he stopped abruptly.

“…Right! I know a writer!”

“Yes?”

“A writer from the education department!”

Bae Sejin’s eyes were burning.

“The writer of the drama I filmed this time was with me on variety shows. Wait!”

Then he brought out his smartphone and furiously tried to text and make a call.

By the way, it was 8:30 pm now.

“…”

What the hell.

“Yes, yes… Writer-nim. Oh, no. That role… It’s not that. That, um, I’m sorry, but perhaps…”

Bae Sejin, hiding his uncomfortable expression, ended the call with some effort, then looked back at me with clenched fists.

“Done…! They said they’d tell me about a broadcast that can air as soon as possible!”

“….”

I said calmly.

“Thank you.”

“Well, this much is…!”

“But what program is it?”

“…?!”

Bae Sejin’s face turned white and turned red again, perhaps realizing that he had put a request into a specific program without asking for my intention.

“Oh, it’s an educational show, but it’s similar to an entertainment show… Um.”

“Yes.”

“…It’s called <The Calls of the Past>.”

Aha.

“That’s great.”

“…Right?!”

Right, it was really great.

<The Calls of the Past> was a program I’d seen from time to time.

It was content that made the cast move to a place that reproduced a place from a certain point in the past and solve a case.

And it saved its educational characteristic by solving logic and history quizzes in the middle.

Crucially, unless it was a special feature, the places in the past that the cast went to… were places that transpired within Korean history.

‘I’m a fool if I can’t take this.’

Being a test examinee who had prepared for PSAT and Korean history among those who devoted their lives to liberal arts and physical education? It would be a piece of cake.

“I’ll talk to the company and adjust the schedule. Thanks, hyung.”

“Y-Yeah!”

I made a late-night toast for Bae Sejin as a compliment and return gift.

“Hyung! I want to eat too!”

“Get permission from Sejin hyung.”

Everything went smoothly.

* * *

Then, on the day the filming of <The Calls of the Past>.

I met an unexpected person.

“Hello, sunbae-nim!”

That guy who bowed his head down… He was Golden Age’s main vocalist from Korean University.

Therefore, he was the guy who played the Chicken with Ribbon.

‘Oh.’

I smiled and nodded.

“Yes. It’s nice to see you again. I look forward to your kind cooperation.”

“No, I really look forward to your kind cooperation!”

The man who bowed his head and greeted me said while sweeping his chest down.

“I suddenly had a schedule, so I came here very nervous, but I am glad and honored to have you, sunbae-nim!”

Look at this?

“You got caught up here all of a sudden. I also decided to appear not too long ago.”

“I see! It’s really almost on the same day… Oh, I’m sorry. I’m talking too much…”

“No, it’s nice talking to you. Let’s do well in this shoot, too.”

“Yes, thank you!”

The Golden Age main vocalist soon left to greet the rest of the cast.

And, as if they missed each other, Seon Ahyeon, who had gone to the convenience store for a while, returned.

“I-I’m here…!”

“Okay~ Ahyeon, let’s fix your hair later!”

The education department asked for one more member to appear, so he came along as support.

While arranging the snacks he brought, Seon Ahyeon asked with a smile.

“M-Moondae. Are you looking forward to the shoot? Y-You look happy…”

“Yeah, because it’s fun.”

It was really fun.

As soon as I hurriedly grabbed a variety show where I had to use my head, that guy followed suit and grabbed the same variety show?

There was only one conclusion.

‘There’s a rat in the company.’

I was already excited thinking of how I was going to use this.

Of course, I needed to finish this shoot nicely first. I opened a chocolate that Seon Ahyeon gave me.

‘Let’s see if it will work against Korean University.’

After a while, the shooting proceeded immediately without delay.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 167

The broadcast starring Park Moondae and Seon Ahyeon, <The Calls of the Past>, was filmed by five or six cast members.

And for stable progress, of course, there was a fixed cast who played a kind of MC role.

‘Ah, this is perfect.’

Confirming the faces of the guests, this was the thought of the great senior MC of the entertainment industry.

‘A popular idol and an idol who graduated from a prestigious university? I can’t miss this topic, I have to secretly compare them.’

Having worked on more than 20 episodes, he already had a clear idea of how the editing would turn out.

Of course, if he recklessly compared them, he would receive huge criticism from the fans of that popular idol, ‘Testar’.

This was an educational program, so it wouldn’t be too obvious.

He would save the scenes of Testar members’ activities somehow, or if it didn’t work out, he’d edit them in a cute way.

‘Hey~ it must be hard if you’re a middle school graduate pairing with a Korean University student.’

The MC snickered inwardly, saying that the production team would have a hard time editing it in a warm-hearted way.

Then, the sign came.

“Ah, it’s coming!”

He shouted to the camera and quickly waited in the corner of the set.

“When are we getting off?”

“Where am I?”

The six cast members, who covered their faces with hoods, waddled along the guide.

The MC raised his thumb to the camera and shouted with emotion.

“What’s up with the clothes?”

“Wow!”

“That surprised me!”

“Come on, take off that monstrous thing!”

“Huh….”

The cast dragged their hoods down in confusion.

And they were surprised.

“Oh, where are we?”

“It’s like hanok[1]A hanok, also known as the joseonjip in North Korea and China, is a traditional Korean house. Sumber: Wiki. …?”

“It’s like the Joseon Dynasty.”

The cast members whispered to people they were familiar with or wanted to look close to.

And the MC paid attention to today's subject of interest, Park Moondae, who calmly listened to Seon Ahyeon's whisper.

'He's calm~'

It was a calm face, with black hair and a handsome look. The MC inadvertently had a prejudiced thought, thinking that he didn't have the impression of someone from low educational background

'Idols these days have good figures.'

He nodded inwardly at the sight of the blonde Seon Ahyeon, and quickly said his lines before the confused cast could add words for gags on themselves.

"There will be a big event today, so be sure to dress up and attend your seats in time! Then I'll leave it to you."

The MC, who spoke roughly in mixed modern language, slipped out of the window paper door with his hands behind his back.

"No, where are you going??"

"Hyung-nim! Hyung-nim!"

"Wow, there are no steps in this program."

The door closed tight, leaving the panicked cast behind.

"Oh, we get a big fish today, too!"

MG skillfully threw a comment and moved to the monitoring room with a grin.

It was the MC's duty to react and add commentary here while watching the guests' awkward behavior or performance.

'Let's see~ For about 20 minutes, they'll talk nonsense because they can't figure out the airtime.'

MC sat down in front of the monitor, predicting the trend so far.

And he saw an exception.

[Think about what the administrator who looks like the MC said. I think there are three steps to the goal: find out what kind of event it is, get dressed, and attend it in time.]

[That's right, that's right.]

[As expected, since he's from a survival program, Moondae is very calm.]

[Then we have to leave this room first… This looks like an escape room. There is a lock next to this door.]

[Huh? I see!]

Park Moondae quickly moved on.

"Wow~ He's fast! He's fast!"

The MC was perplexed even as he hit his palm and dutifully uttered exclamations.

'What is he?'

He explored the room, not giving people time to talk nonsense. It was a quick decision.

What was even more surprising was the next scene.

[Now, I'll read it to you. Listen, guys.]

A long-time comedian took out a Korean paper from a small box next to the door and recited the first quiz.

[Hmm, 'We decide on the distribution of the six students in this class, and they are Eul, Gap, Byeong, Mu, Ki, and Jung. The terms are as follows.' … What is this?]

Below that, there were several lines of conditional sentences that didn't match each other, starting with the sentence 'If Eul and Gap are assigned to Jiphyeonjeon[2]The Hall of Worthies, or Jiphyeonjeon, was a royal research institute set up by Sejong the Great of the Korean Joseon Dynasty in March 1420. Sumber: Wiki. together, Byeong is also assigned to Jiphyeonjeon'.

It was a fairly complex question using real logic.

It was a bombardment of historical and cultural entertainment.

"Hahaha! Ah~ everyone's faces!"

And right when the MC was just starting to enjoy the reaction of the cast who were freaking out.

['Gap' and 'Gi' are working at Jiphyeonjeon.]

[…??]

[I-Is that so?]

[Yes. And if you rearrange them in order… It's a military weapon[3]Military weapon = gab-eulbyeongjungmuki/갑을병정무기 .]

Park Moondae pressed the first and sixth buttons simultaneously on a six-stage wooden lock.

It unlocked.

[Ohhhh??]

[What's this, what's this?!]

"No way??"

The answer took less than three seconds. The MC looked at the monitor with his mouth wide open.

He almost asked the production team sitting in front of him, ‘Is he from a prestigious university?’.

“Can you solve it as soon as you hear it like that?”

Production teams shook their heads and formed X here and there. The MC burst out laughing. And he cried out inwardly.

‘I thought he was a middle school graduate!’

Even the guy who graduated from Korean University was clapping his hands on the monitor. That speed meant he wouldn’t make an appearance.

And this situation repeated several times.

[Let’s see if there’s anything else in this room before we leave]

[That’s a very good idea~]

[T-This…!]

Seon Ahyeon, who searched the room at once and found a hidden box and a quiz, handed over the reading role to the prestigious university student.

[Then I’ll read it! ‘The way to catch flying animals is to shoot arrows, and the way to catch wild animals is to throw spears. Sea animals are like land animals…’]

It was a logical problem that required wit with a little bit of nonsense added, but as soon as he heard the question, Park Moondae opened his mouth.

[Hmm, three flying animals, one wild animal, two sea animals, one flying animal.… I wonder. And if you think of the animals as four gods… Wouldn’t it be possible to replace each with the directions of east, west, north, and south?]

[Four gods? Are you talking about Azure Dragon[4]The Azure Dragon, also known as Qinglong in Chinese, is one of the Dragon Gods who represent the mount or chthonic forces of the Five Regions’ Highest Deities. He is also one of the Four Symbols of the Chinese constellations, which are the astral representations of the Wufang Shangdi. Sumber: Wiki. ?]

[Oh! I get it! The flying animal is a trick! Like this?]

[Yes, like that.]

The lock device, which could be pulled up and down on both sides, was unlocked in an instant by the excited cast members.

[Wow!]

[Hey, you're so smart! This crazy kid!]

[Thank you.]

"Huh? It shouldn't be like this, though?"

Park Moondae in the monitor bowed his head at the compliments and the pats of the cast. And the production crew murmured at the MC's words.

"They're supposed to solve it only after going around it once…"

It meant he had solved it with his own sense and logic without hints from the geography and location.

At the PD's words, the MC purposefully got angry.

"Yeah~ If you cast such a smart guy, you should have raised the difficulty level and showed the bitter taste of culture!"

The camera captured the scene of the PD sinking. The intention to be funny worked well enough, but the MC was impressed inwardly.

'Wow~ As expected, natural brains are more important in things like this!'

It was half right and half wrong.

In fact, Park Moondae in the monitor was a little nervous.

‘Well, I copied LEET and PSAT.’

Even when he watched the previous episode to prepare himself, he thought that it felt familiar somehow, but they were really the same questions with only words and steps added.

‘Once you solve it, it somehow stays in your head.’

So he just finished it a lot faster.

And even if it wasn’t the case, honestly, it was still favorable to Park Moondae.

‘If you know the logical symbols, you can organize them in one line.’

This was embarrassing for Park Moondae, who had taken a logic course for his senior class in preparation for the PSAT in the last semester and received good grades.

‘It’s like comparing them to a guy who took a leave of absence after finishing his freshman year.’

Park Moondae looked at the Korean university student with a slightly pitying gaze, but he soon realized that he wasn’t in a situation to help others.

‘Anyway, it’s going smoothly.’

The people around Park Moondae, who were quite satisfied, were busy checking the contents of the box.

[What’s inside??]

The contents wrapped in silk… It seemed to be a book that had just been made.

And both the cover and the inside were full of Chinese characters.

[Oh, hm…?]

[I don’t know. What kind of Chinese characters is this?]

[I don’t know either.]

[Perhaps, just in case… Should I take it?]

[Yes, yes, then Ahyeon will take care of it… Shall we go out now?]

[Yes!]

Then, Park Moondae talked to Ahyeon.

[Can I take a look at that for a second?]

[Yes!]

Park Moondae quickly looked through the inside of the book handed to him, then smiled.

[…?]

[Ah, thank you.]

[Come on, guys. Let’s open the door together!]

[Yes!]

Seon Ahyeon took the book back into his arms, and the cast quickly opened the door after counting down on the door.

[3, 2, 1, open!]

[…!?]

[…!!]

And they stiffened.

Outside the door… it was a busy hallway with courtiers passing by.

[Oh my god, this must be a palace.]

[They're all outfits that I saw in historical dramas…!]

It was time to move on.

"Oh~ it's going to be fun~"

As the MC said that while watching the monitor, the full-fledged skit continued.

[A group of bizarrely dressed people…!]

[Argh!]

The members who came out of the room were reprimanded by the courtiers and started hiding in the huge, closed palace.

[Wow, I'm going crazy.]

[Shh! Let's go quietly.]

[O-Over here, the door is open…!]

[Good job, Ahyeon!]

Finding an unlocked door, they found clothes in the room's closet.

[Oh~ it's gwanbok[5]Gwanbok = traditional clothes worn by officials ?]

[That's cool.]

It wasn't gwanbok.

[Isn't that the cheonggeumdanryeong[6]Cheonggeumdanryeong = The formal attire worn by scholars in the Joseon Dynasty. worn in Sungkyunkwan[7]Sungkyunkwan was the foremost educational institution in Korea during the late Goryeo and Joseon Dynasties. ? It looks like they just passed the national examination in Sungkyunkwan.]

[This program really stakes its life on the backstory.]

[Yes?]

[Ah, it's nothing~]

Through a skit with the courtiers, the cast realized that what they were wearing was a kind of school uniform worn by Sungkyunkwan scholars

And through an official who claimed to be their Sungkyunkwan teacher, they learned that the event they were going to attend was the king's event

[Hurry up and attend to it!]

[How?]

[King! We have to go see the king!]

[Wow, I see!]

[One thing, before that… Don't you have something to do? Ahem.]

[What…?]

They brought small food to Sungkyunkwan as a kind of ritual to give to their teacher instead of giving him tuition, but they managed to get a real official uniform and moved to the next step.

"Park Moondae is good at cooking, too."

The MC, who was drinking PPL drinks while looking at the monitor, spoke in a completely resigned tone.

The production crew sighed.

This time, the performance of the cast was very fast. Simply looking at the problem-solving scene, the amount of footage was a little worrying.

Of course, it was entirely Park Moondae's fault, but it wasn't the more shocking part.

As the problem was solved quickly, they faithfully performed the roleplay to fill the time.

[What was your favorite game in Sungkyunkwan?]

[What could it be?]

[M-Moondae?]

It was quite cute to see Seon Ahyeon hurriedly respond while being taken aback by Park Moondae's evasion.

'That guy takes care of his dongsaeng's gag footage.'

The MC, who misunderstood Seon Ahyeon as the dongsaeng, felt a bit touched and fed up at the figure of Park Moondae conceding the skit to Seon Ahyeon and Golden Age's main vocalist and subtly urging them.

'There's a reason why he won first place in the audition~'

Just looking at him, he was like a ghost spirit.

[Hmm… What do you think?]

[Uh, um, hold on. Let me calculate!]

In some quizzes, he even stepped back and gave a chance to the prestigious university student, but it didn't give as much impact as Park Moondae's quick accuracy.

'Hey, how is that going to be edited~'

The MC, who had secretly clicked his tongue, realized right after.

'The situation has completely turned around…?'

Originally, the production team expected a quiz show from the prestigious university student and planned to give Testar heartwarming and cute footage, but it became the complete opposite.

In addition, the prestigious university students were from a group that wasn't really well-known, so the production team didn't have to take care of them anymore.

Even Seon Ahyeon, the other member of Testar, looked much more like a real scholar because he had such a good mask and an elegant response.

'Hey, that's scary. I'm scared.'

The MC stuck out his tongue.

Park Moondae definitely took care of his junior, the prestigious college student, but it became a picture that the prestigious university student couldn't accept.

In the meantime, the story of the cast on the monitor advanced rapidly and reached the final gateway.

But the gate was already open.

[There's something you need to deliver quickly…H-Huh, you brought it…?!]

[Yes…?]

The thing that the person who introduced himself as a bureaucrat of Jiphyeonjeon wanted to find was the book they had immediately found in the first room.

[Awesome!]

[Moondae! Thank you!]

[Everyone solved it together… Um, thank you.]

Park Moondae once again endured the patting hands of the cast.

[Isn’t this the fastest record?]

[The shoot will end when the sun rises!! Hurray!]

The cast moved their steps excitedly and finally arrived before the end.

And the hidden quiz appeared.

[For what business are you visiting the palace?]

[We have to know that too…?]

[Ugh…! Guys, retreat!]

When the cast members were planning a tactical retreat with their pupils shaking.

[That, I thought about it.]

Park Moondae whispered to the cast.

“It’s you again!”

When the MC shouted joyfully, everyone in the monitoring room waited for Park Moondae’s words with excitement.

[The king right now… I think it’s King Sejong the Great[8]Sejong of Joseon, personal name Yi Do, widely known as Sejong the Great, was the fourth ruler of the Joseon dynasty of Korea. Initially titled Grand Prince Chungnyeong, he was born as the third son of King Taejong and Queen Wongyeong. Sumber: Wiki. .]

[….!]

[W-Why??]

[This book.]

Park Moondae picked up the book that he had been asked to deliver and turned over the contents inside. Numerous Chinese characters unfolded.

[Isn't this just like Korean?]

And Park Moondae's hand stopped in one place and pointed to the top.

The first letter of the chapter that he inadvertently skipped over…It was shaped exactly like ㄱ.

[Huh?]

[Hold on!]

The cast checked the book in detail.

The shape was different from the modern one, so it looked a little unfamiliar, but when they looked closely, they could see things that looked like Korean vowels and consonants all over the top.

[Heol, wait. So, this is Hunminjeongeum[9]Hunminjeongeum is a document describing an entirely new and native script for the Korean language. The script was initially named after the publication but later came to be known as hangul. Sumber: Wiki. ?? That's why it's King Sejong the Great?]

Park Moondae nodded ambiguously and expressed.

[Hmm. But Hunminjeongeum is said to have been made by the king himself. It would be strange for the scholars of Jiphyeonjeon to deliver it to the king. So, what's left is…]

[What's left is?]

[I think this is <Hunminjeongeum Haeryebon[10]Hunminjeongeum Haerye, or simply Haerye, is a commentary on the Hunminjeongeum, the original promulgation of hangul. The Hunminjeongeum Haeryebon is the printed edition—bon means "book" or "edition". Sumber: Wiki. >.]

It was a book that explained the principle of creation and usage of Hunminjeongeum.

You might have inadvertently thought that it was written in Korean, but in fact, it was written in Chinese.

This book was about introducing ‘Hangul’ to those who used Chinese characters.

Park Moondae smiled faintly.

[I learned that it was made by scholars of Jiphyunjeon. So, I think we can enter and give it to him after telling King Sejong that this book is <Hunminjeongeum Haeryebon>.]

It was indeed the answer.

“Wow!”

The MC was amazed. The production team in front of him was letting out similar sounds.

And the cast in the monitor was also excited.

[Hey, Moondae-ssi, you even know that?]

[Wow! I think that’s correct??]

[The circumstance is perfect! Somehow, I got that feeling when I entered Jiphyeonjeon!]

However, Park Moondae’s words didn’t end there.

[And I think there are two people who will fill that role.]

[Huh?]

[Before… Do you remember the question of military weapons where ‘Gap’ and ‘Gi’ were assigned to Jiphyeonjeon?]

[Yeah, I remember!]

Park Moondae nodded.

[I think that's us.]

[…!]

[The number of names is the same, and the number of people who passed the exam is the same.]

Unexpectedly, the back story intertwined.

[So I think the two people who work at Jiphyunjeon should deliver this Haeryebon, but in order of age…]

Park Moondae raised his hand politely.

[It's this hyung-nim… and this dongseng.]

[…!!]

Park Moondae smiled faintly, pointing to the oldest cast member and the youngest cast member, namely, the prestigious university student.

In the monitoring room, there was only admiration.

"That's amazing, seriously."

[You're a genius.]

[You flatter me. Actually, I think might be guessing too much.]

[No, it's correct. This is the correct answer. My gut tells me that.]

As the cast said, it was correct.

'Isn't that a picture you're not supposed to figure out until you get a lot of hints and break them down? Whatever, let's just move on.'

“Do you know all about Korean history? Huft.”

The MC got fed up with Park Moondae, who avoided the final tough questions and answers, but he quickly picked up his clothes and put them on anyway.

It was about time.

“Come on, let’s go down~”

He went to the palace with the staff who was dressed like courtiers in a parade.

Just in time, the cast had also made up their mind and passed through the frontward of the palace.

“‘Gap’ and ‘Gi’ of Jiphyeonjeon have come to present <Hunminjeongeum Haeryebon> to Your Highness.”

“…Welcome.”

“Yes!”

The cast cheered and went inside with quick steps.

Then they saw him.

The MC sitting on the throne.

“You’re here?”

“Ugh!”

The MC triumphantly confused the spirit of the cast who appeared with the <Hunminjeongeum Haeryebon>.

“Hyung-nim! No, King Sejong the Great!”

And after the embarrassed eldest member of the cast called him King Sejong, the scene ended with a gag and captions that said, '※ King Sejong is called by his temple name that was set after his death' and 'Extreme Spoiler'[11]I wasn't familiar with it so I had to do some research. The eldest member called him King Sejong the Great but it was a name that was set after King Sejong's death (Names like this are commonly called temple name/myoho). In this skit, King Sejon is still alive, hence the 'Extreme Spoiler' is referring to the name he'd get after his death. .

"Great!"

Park Moondae's solution turned out to be the correct answer.

"Wow~ that was great!"

The MC tapped Park Moondae on the shoulder as he greeted him at the end of the filming.

"Thank you."

Park Moondae smiled and bowed his head.

MC glanced back at the prestigious university student and Park Moondae.

'They can't be compared.'

It was already a foregone conclusion that Park Moondae's questions-and-answers footage and his tremendous performance would be broadcasted as it was.

And Park Moondae was already considering the side effects of this.

* * *

"T-The shoot was fun!"

"Yeah."

I nodded. It was really fruitful.

Seon Ahyeon smiled.

“M-Moondae… You’re good at Korean history.”

I shook my head.

“No, I studied beforehand.”

“H-Huh?”

I meant it literally. I had studied beforehand.

“I watched some episodes before that broadcast.”

I’d watched about 5 of them. The rest were done a little differently.

First of all, I made a table list of <The Calls of the Past>’s 25 episodes with titles and plots.

And after excluding them, among the impressive events remaining in Korean history with similar trends in quizzes, I selected those that occurred in an era that didn’t overlap with the latest 3rd round.

‘The invention of Hangul and the June Democratic Uprising was the most likely choice.’

After that, I just had to memorize all the achievements and incidents that had happened around that time, even the minor ones.

‘If the scope is reduced to that extent, doing that is worth it.’

I had so much experience memorizing knowledge while preparing for civil servants.

In addition, there were still many pieces of Korean history that I had studied before.

“Y-You did a great job…T-That was really cool!”

“Thank you. You did a good job, too. You’re good at finding things. Your skits were good too.”

“N-No…, that was you!”

“What did I do?”

I kept chatting with Seon Ahyeon while moving in the car.

And just before arriving at the next set and joining the group, I slipped into the bathroom.

“I’ll stop by for a minute.”

“Yeah, okay~”

“G-Got it!”

But instead of going to the bathroom, I headed to the closed space behind the parking lot.

And I called the company.

‘It’s about time.’

Today’s filming was scheduled to air this weekend late at night. I thought I’d deal with it before then.

The rat.

“Yes, hello.”

Am I calling the operation team? No.

“Is this the management office?”

Management office. It was the office that had the operations team as its sub-organization.

“Can I speak to the director?”

Originally, isn’t it the most effective to plug this directly into the highest person involved?

- 1. A hanok, also known as the joseonjip in North Korea and China, is a traditional Korean house. Sumber: Wiki.
- 2. The Hall of Worthies, or Jiphyeonjeon, was a royal research institute set up by Sejong the Great of the Korean Joseon Dynasty in March 1420. Sumber: Wiki.
- 3. Military weapon = gab-eulbyeongjungmuki/갑을병정무기
- 4. The Azure Dragon, also known as Qinglong in Chinese, is one of the Dragon Gods who represent the mount or chthonic forces of the Five Regions’ Highest Deities. He is also one of the Four Symbols of the Chinese constellations, which are the astral representations of the Wufang Shangdi. Sumber: Wiki.
- 5. Gwanbok = traditional clothes worn by officials
- 6. Cheonggeumdanryeong = The formal attire worn by scholars in the Joseon Dynasty.
- 7. Sungkyunkwan was the foremost educational institution in Korea during the late Goryeo and Joseon Dynasties.
- 8. Sejong of Joseon, personal name Yi Do, widely known as Sejong the Great, was the fourth ruler of the Joseon dynasty of Korea. Initially titled Grand Prince Chungnyeong, he was born as the third son of King Taejong and Queen Wongyeong. Sumber: Wiki.
- 9. Hunminjeongeum is a document describing an entirely new and native script for the Korean language. The script was initially named after the publication but later came to be known as hangul. Sumber: Wiki.
- 10. Hunminjeongeum Haerye, or simply Haerye, is a commentary on the Hunminjeongeum, the original promulgation of hangul. The Hunminjeongeum Haeryebon is the printed edition—bon means “book” or “edition”. Sumber: Wiki.
- 11. I wasn’t familiar with it so I had to do some research. The eldest member called him King Sejong the Great but it was a name that was set after King Sejong’s death (Names like this are commonly called temple name/myoho). In this skit, King Sejon is still alive, hence the 'Extreme Spoiler' is referring to the name he'd get after his death.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 168

The meeting with the director of the management office was set up immediately after a little fuss.

There were several attempts to inquire about the reason for the meeting with the director, but surprisingly, I was able to defend myself with vague words, ‘I have something to tell him’.

‘I guess you make a lot of money from Testar.’

Because they were resources that had emotions, appeasing them was easy.

I even thought of a specific excuse.

And I also thought that the management division must be secretly nervous.

Because the guy who wasn’t even the leader of a group and didn’t have much self-assertion outside of albums or activity plans suddenly put in a request for a meeting.

They were probably racking their brains among themselves regarding this sudden action.

But they wouldn’t be able to do that for long.

“Then I’ll go see him tomorrow.”

– Ah… Yes

I made an appointment for a meeting the very next day.

It was the only time I didn’t have a daytime schedule during the week, so I couldn’t help it.

I hung up the phone and shrugged.

‘Hmm… How are they going to judge this?’

It didn’t matter in particular, but I was curious about the situation.

And I figured out how the company judged my behavior within five minutes after entering the meeting with the director at 10 o’clock the next day.

“Um… Moondae-ssi, is there anything about the group activities that you find unsatisfactory?”

“…”

“Moondae-ssi, you may find this frustrating because you’re so skilled. Still, going this way for another year or so is best for your stability.”

This was the main point of the conversation after we exchanged our greetings and talked about personal matters.

‘Aha.’

And I noticed in his subtlety.

‘Did you think I wanted to be a solo artist?’

It was an easy and quick conclusion.

Won first place in survival, recently received good responses in a solo entertainment show, and received counseling for mental anxiety during group activities.

‘With those backgrounds, it wouldn’t be strange if I came to talk about my solo activities.’

And there was one more thing I realized.

‘He’s never had a conversation like this.’

If I really came here to complain about group-oriented activities because I was really interested in being a solo artist, he shouldn’t have done that.

It would have sounded like ‘You’ll stay like this for another year’ before I could even bring up the topic.

A self-conscious celebrity would have understood that.

‘The format should proceed with the celebrity bringing up their story first and you pretending to be concerned.’

Usually, if you became a director of an entertainment company, you must be a person who had been successful in this kind of work, but this person was not.

*‘As expected, he’s a*parachute[1]Parachute = People who get high-ranked jobs through inside help..’

Other parts, such as AR parts, production, and product marketing, were departments that needed professionals, so experienced workers had been scouted for those positions.

However, the shareholders gave some seats to the parachutes, as if they thought this kind of management was a good trial for them.

In fact, this part also required expertise.

‘Thanks to that, it’s easier for me to talk.’

I stared blankly at the young director, then deliberately nodded my head.

“Stability is good.”

“Right~?”

“But I was worried that something like this might turn out to be a big deal.”

“Yes?”

I threw the bomb with a shrug.

“Someone is going to another agency and working a double job, is that okay?”

“…!!”

The director couldn’t answer for a moment, probably at a loss for words.

And he finally opened his mouth with a smile.

“Ah Moondae-ssi, it’s not possible at our company~ Well, maybe their profile hasn’t gone down yet because it hasn’t been long since they changed jobs.”

He must have thought that the young man he didn’t know well had misunderstood.

The more you think so, the better.

I nodded my head obediently.

“Is that so? Looks like I have misunderstood. It feels like they keep scheduling us with Golden Age.”

“Yes??”

“They were talking on the phone talking about the Golden Age and that I was filming <The Calls of the Past> this time.”

“…! W-Who?”

“Hm… Who was it? Wait a minute.”

I picked up my smartphone and pretended to go through my address book, then answered as if I had just noticed.

“Oh right. Oh Suhyung, assistant manager of the operation team.”

“…!”

Do you remember?

When Lee Sejin and Bae Sejin had a fight, he assigned them to the same team and I called to protest. He was the one who said, ‘It’s our mistake, but don’t get so sensitive’.

Oh, did I really hear that phone call?

‘Of course, I didn’t.’

Would you make a phone call like that in a place where the celebrity you were in charge of could easily hear you unless they got shot in the head?

But the suspect was definitely him.

‘It can only be him.’

First of all, the other departments had no reason to do that.

As I said before, they were made up of professionals that had been scouted.

That meant they had no problem changing jobs even if they didn’t spy on the industry.

There was no incentive so they had no reason to try.

But the management division was different.

Underestimating the expertise of the management division in the entertainment industry, T1 filled it with parachutes and cheap businessmen of ambiguous careers that had already appeared in the market instead of scouting experienced workers.

And they even add newcomers who didn’t know anything to fill the head count.

In short, the worst division in the company. There were a lot of complaints about them, and there was a high probability that they had no particular attachment to this work.

‘Then the odds of having a parasite is bound to be higher.’

Then the next step was simple.

‘I just need to see if someone overlaps.’

The Golden Age’s agency couldn’t have hired someone they weren’t familiar with, so they must have tempted someone they knew and had worked with.

So I checked the history of Golden Age’s agency, Traveler.

Usually, if they were such a good worker, it was highly likely that they came from another formation.

And sure enough, the testimonies I was searching for had already overflowed on SNS.

-The CEO worked at Wonder Hall and took Iljoon and a few people with him and became independent. No wonder the trainees had Wonder Hall’s vibes ㅠㅠ

Wonder Hall. That famous agency was good at producing large boy idol groups.

‘Hmm, it’s obvious.’

Then, it was decided.

For the rest, I just had to find the guy in our company whose tenure and career history overlapped with the CEO and his employees from Wonder Hall.

‘The company’s internal network structure is derived from T1.’

I was just grateful for their complacency in giving their celebrities high access to documents.

Anyway, as a result of looking around, there was only one person in the management division whose history overlapped.

[2019. 06. 01. – 2021. 01. 04. Wonder Hall ENT On-site assistant and paperwork]

Oh Suhyung, the assistant manager of the operation team.

Then all the circumstances fit.

‘I can understand why he’s doing a rough job over there.’

Since he had already made up his mind, he only had to adjust the assortment. That’s why there were complaints in everything he was in charge of.

“The assistant manager might have thought that sharing a good entertainment show would be efficient, but I thought it would be better to focus on one place.”

The important thing here was, he shouldn’t have done it by blaming the celebrity.

That meant I wouldn’t give him a chance to rationalize this issue by saying, ‘The celebrity must be overthinking~’.

This guy should have his own doubts and realize the seriousness of the situation. I said as if not knowing anything.

“Now that I think about it, I keep seeing a lot of things overlap with the Golden Age, so I wonder if he’s working with cost-effectiveness in mind.”

“Your schedules overlapped?”

“Yes. They did. And there are many cases where we appear together in articles and posts on the Internet… It was annoying so I thought they might be working together.”

“….”

If he didn’t notice the seriousness behind these words, he wasn’t a f*cking parachute, but an idiot.

Fortunately, the director’s face turned red, then white again, and then returned to normal.

That meant something like realization and anger came and went inside.

“Is that so… Hmm, right. I’ll talk about this substitution issue. I understood Moondae-ssi’s story.”

“Yes. Thank you.”

Of course, I didn’t really expect him to be alert and handled it neatly.

Take a good look.

“But Moondae-ssi, it could be a problem later, so I think it would be better not to say anything about this until the matter is resolved.”

I knew this would happen. This bastard was scared it would damage his reputation.

It was understandable. The moment this was leaked to the outside world, he would most likely receive a truck of protest from Testar’s fans.

I nodded my head obediently.

“Of course.”

By the way, this was of course, also a lie.

“Well thought out.”

The director saw me off, not even having time to ask or think about why I requested a meeting.

'I'm going crazy.'

I clicked my tongue inwardly and headed to the recording studio I had set up with the excuse 'I'll take care of the recording while I am at work'.

The AR team employee, who was asked to adjust the sound, was having a brief talk with the second manager who had come beforehand and was about to finish their work.

The manager talked to me first.

"Moondae, you're here~ Did you have a good talk?"

"Yes, it was fine."

"What did you talk about?"

"Hmm… He asked me to keep it a secret."

"Huh?"

I wouldn't be surprised if the ears of the AR team employee, who was touching the device from next to us, grew twice as big.

'You must be curious.'

It was the same for the second manager, so he asked me with a low voice.

"W-Why? Moondae, is he letting you go solo?"

"Oh, it wasn't that kind of talk…"

"Then what it was about?"

"Hmm… Hyung is in the management division, so maybe it's okay for you to know."

“What is it??”

Well, the hint that it was about the management division worked pretty well. The AR team staff must have picked it up.

I deliberately paused for a while, then just shook my head.

“I am not sure. He asked me to be quiet until it’s resolved somehow.”

“Ah~ I’m really curious!”

“I’m sorry. I don’t think I should say it.”

“Oh, got it!”

Now, the implication that a pretty big problem broke out also spilled.

Perhaps the AR team staff had something to say after this schedule was over.

‘A big problem must have happened in the management division!’

Isn’t it a fun snack for a boring company life?

Then, when the management division showed signs of patching up, there would be people interested in what was going on.

Then it wouldn’t take long for all the rumors to spread inside.

‘I bet 1,000 won it will reach the director’s ears within this week.’

And it was exactly what happened.

Three days later, there was news that the director was looking for additional evidence as well as the people involved.

* * *

“Moondaemoondae, do you know?”

“Know what?”

“The operation team said someone was selling our information to other agencies~ Oh my gosh, it’s really scary.”

Sitting on the sofa in the living room, Keun Sejin made a fuss. He probably thought catching the bastard was such refreshing news.

I smirked.

“Yeah. Did they get caught?”

“Yeah. But… I heard one of our members reported it on his own.”

“…Really?”

“Yeah. Really.”

Keun Sejin grinned.

“And I am just saying this, but you’ve worked hard, Moondae~”

Keun Sejin tapped me on the back and entered his room.

‘Did he notice?’

It was nice that he didn’t pry around.

And on the contrary, there was a person who came and chatted a lot.

“Wow~ The atmosphere at work is no joke!”

The second manager.

In the middle of my personal schedule, he said, ‘Isn’t this what you were talking about?’ and excitedly talked about the company situation.

“How is it?”

“I heard the director contacted the company directly! Ah, they already called Assistant Manager Oh!”

It was understandable.

The payment bot was trying to fill his time period quietly, but since such a large-scale problem had exploded under the surface, he couldn’t help but get angry.

In addition, once the news got out, there was only one way to restore the atmosphere. The payment bot that worked at T1 knew this well.

Public execution.

‘Of course, it’s limited to inside the company.’

So, with the industry spy getting caught, they were pressuring Golden Age’s agency over whether to sue the spy and make it public.

Of course, the result was most likely an unconditional surrender.

‘It was over the moment he got caught.’

Regardless of whether they had raised Golden Age to be a first-class team or not, this was neither a fight of weight class nor a fight of public opinion.

It was a head-on struggle between an affiliate of a large company and a small agency with broadcasting stations behind them, and this time the small agency was at fault so the large company even had the justification.

‘As long as the evidence is secured, they can’t remove it.’

No matter how clever and skilled Golden Age’s agency was, if they wanted to continue operating, they would have no choice but to lie down and watch their moves.

‘They’ll be silenced for a while.’

They would have to stop the media play and viral business that intertwined with Testar.

And this meant the Golden Age's side should keep their mouths shut despite the public response to <The Calls of the Past> which would be broadcasted now.

'This is much more comfortable.'

I lay back on the sofa.

All the preparations I had done in advance were complete. The weekend when the program would be broadcasted was just right around the corner.

- 1. Parachute = People who get high-ranked jobs through inside help.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 169

Nobody knew about Park Moondae's appearance in <The Calls of the Past> until the trailer was released. It was because the schedule was hurriedly set to the earliest airing date.

[(Preview) Testar and Golden Age become Sungkyunkwan students? <The Calls of the Past> EP36 SBC Education]

And, of course, behind the scenes, public opinion swirled at once with unease.

It was a gut feeling that came from past experiences and worries about the provocations.

– Ah, f*ck, that group again

– Am I the only one who feels strange

– Get a healing show and go to a famous restaurant but instead, these bastards ask the already busy kid to study

Among the fans who care about public opinion, a lot of them had already realized that Golden Age was deliberately clinging to Testar.

Considering Park Moondae's past, his family history, and the story of his unfortunate dropout, there was no way they would like this situation where he and a Korean University student appeared in a 'brain training education'.

If the edits secretly compared and scratched those two's academic backgrounds, they felt like they would go crazy.

– I am going to explode, I don't think I'll be able to watch the show

– If they annoy us again, I won't be able to stand it. I am going to make it public

But not everyone dug so deep and thought like that.

The public opinion of the people who enjoyed being casual fans without looking too deep into the abyss was this.

– Crazy, Park Moondae dressed in hanbokㅠㅠㅠ even better, it's Sungkyunkwan's yusaengbok. Just looking at the preview, it's definitely a masterpiece

– Thank you… Thank you so much…

– No, why so sudden? It's very sudden, but I welcome it

– Looking at the preview, it seems Moondae is going to be active, I get so excited

This was also the one that the graduate student, who was going through a difficult master's course, was looking at.

'The joy of my life…'

The graduate student grinned.

She was thankful it was broadcasted late at night. Because she was in the lab room even during the daytime on the weekend…

'I'm watching the show too!!'

She was so excited that she wanted to jump on the sofa, but she didn't have the energy, so she sat quietly and turned on the TV.

"Here we go!"

The broadcast started shortly afterward.

[What is the past that calls them?]

The graduate student excitedly watched the opening where they removed the blindfolds and the MC was sitting in the monitoring room.

And unable to hide her smile out of excitement, she followed Park Moondae's every move.

There was no better healing than seeing Park Moondae talking and laughing.

'It's a pity that he has black hair for this activity, but I still want to see you in the yusaengbok soon!'

However, this composure was shattered in the next scene.

['Gap' and 'Gi' are working at Jiphyeonjeon.]

[!!]

"Uooh!"

Because Park Moondae solved the first problem at a rapid pace.

"What? What's with him? What's up with Park Moondae?"

And the graduate student wasn't the only one who thought like that.

The timeline of her SNS account, which she made clumsily for fangirling purposes, was filled with similar phrases.

– ??

– What's this

– Park Moondae is crazy ㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋ

– My man's brain is so great, f*ckㅠㅠㅠㅠㅠ

But it was too soon to be surprised.

[Hmm, three flying animals, one wild animal, two sea animals, one flying animal…. I wonder.]

[Why don't you bring me the thing on the third shelf?]

Because Park Moondae's performance didn't end throughout the broadcast.

"Heol."

The graduate student looked at the screen with her mouth open.

The broadcast didn't particularly use the magic of editing. This meant that as befitting of educational content, the sophisticated but not overly stimulating atmosphere continued.

Therefore, Park Moondae's problem-solving felt like it was happening in real-time, making the taste even better.

[Huh? It shouldn't be like this, though?]

[They're supposed to solve it only after going around it once…]

[<The noisy monitoring team>]

With that extraordinary level of ability, the production team and MC's candid reactions and lamentations set the mood.

"Wow…."

The graduate student was at a loss for words looking at the screen, and her heart suddenly swelled.

'This… I don't want to express this in plain words like being smart!!'

He'd be an ace if he went on a quiz show that brought together smart celebrities to solve problems!

Perhaps the cast felt the same way, admiration and laughter poured out from here and there.

[Moodae, come here. Okay. Answer me honestly. …Are you a member of Mensa? Just tell me!]

(TL notes: Mensa is the largest and oldest high-IQ society in the world. It is a non-profit organisation open to people who score at the 98th percentile or higher on a standardised, supervised IQ or other approved intelligence test. Sumber: Wiki.)

[Yes? I am not.]

'He has to be!!'

The graduate student shook her head back and forth, wondering why he gave an answer like 'I am not' even though he had to be.

And like her, who was very excited, fans who were worried about his appearance were pouring out comments about Park Moondae's crazy performance, which far exceeded expectations.

– Crazy Park Moondae got it right again

– Is this a dream?

– He answered as soon he heard the question ㅋㅋKyuㅠAre you crazy, Park Moon Puppy?!!

– What is it that Moondae can't do besides drawing? ㅅㅂ I was worried for no reason;;

– I… I thought our puppy was a genius in singing, dancing, and visuals, but it turned out that he is a real genius.

Because Park Moondae proceeded so quickly, the problem-solving part didn't get particularly cut out.

Rather, they added to it even more.

[The first problem is actually simple if you organize it with logic symbols. Hey, can I have a pen… Thank you.]

Park Moondae explained the solution in an interview, interestingly reinforcing the amount of explanation of the problem that should have been originally presented.

It was so detailed that people who were about to curse couldn't bring up the words, 'The script is too obvious' and "Didn't he already tell the answer?'.

[It's easier for me to put the same symbols together by overlapping them. Then like this… There are things that don't fit.]

Anyone could see that Park Moondae solved it himself and completely understood it.

In addition, a background story about 'why he's so good at this' had been prepared as the finishing touch.

[I like this program… I've watched it a lot. I studied a lot while thinking about how to solve it.]

Park Moondae honestly expressed that he had studied hard for this program.

Of course, the truth was, he only narrowed down the scope of the Korean history questions in this episode to make it easier to memorize, but it felt more true thanks to the mixed facts.

The excuse for the Korean history skill in the logic quiz was also added with some truth mixed in.

[Actually… I wondered what it would be like to become a civil servant, so I studied Korean history a bit before becoming an idol.]

It was a rather heartbreaking remark for those who knew Park Moondae's situation.

Given that everyone knew the situation if they had even the slightest interest in Park Moondae, the remark was well-formed to the point that it was a bit mortifying.

Thanks to this, viewers' reactions were filled with 'I'm proud' and 'What should I do?' and crying emoticons.

– ㅠㅠㅠDo whatever you want except retiring

– My mom keeps saying to herself that she's so proud. She's about to send a scholarship

– Thank you for being an idolㅠㅠ A civil servant… Wow, with that brain, it looked like he would have passed immediately…; It's quite scary to see an idol world without squishy Moon Puppy

– So smart… A determined young man… With no opportunity to learn… The reality is deplorable!

It stabbed their national spirit that was burning with passion for education.

Indeed, with this atmosphere, it was awkward to bring up the manipulation aggro.

Still, from time to time there were ambiguous comments such as 'It feels artificial', 'Umm ㅋㅋ', and 'He's aiming for this' struggling to light the fuse, but they were far from enough.

Because the program had high reliability from the beginning.

– Not one of T1 affiliates, a public broadcaster is trying to show off Park Moondae in their show? ㅋㅋ They don't need to – Even the producers were bewildered ㅋㅋㅋㄱㅂ That's so funny ㅋㅋㅋ

– This professional PD would rather go bankrupt than fabricate it, that's why when he fails, he can't recover sometimes, but he's still firm

In addition, even if they tried to turn the direction of the criticism to 'He took up the whole airtime alone', they had no evidence.

Because Park Moondae didn't take any particular action except when he was solving the questions.

In role-play situations, action scenes, or heartwarming scenes, Seon Ahyeon was brought forward.

[Wow! Wooow!]

[I want to do something like that…]

For example, it was quite a sight to watch as Seon Ahyeon gracefully and nimbly performed the mission where he had to extract hints without touching the hanji and persimmons hanging from the ceiling.

(TL notes: Hanji = traditional Korean paper handmade from mulberry trees.)

It suited him more because he had a neat posture.

'He looks like some kind of Taoist.'

The college student was sure that all the slow edits for that scene would enter her timeline within a few days.

In addition, Seon Ahyeon also saved quite a bit of small talk.

[This… Do you want one?]

[U-Uh. I'm fine… No, I'm good.]

(TL notes: she switched from the modern way of speaking to the old one.)

There was a scene of Seon Ahyeon dipping a piece of rice cake in grain syrup and holding it out with the other hand to the court lady who was staring blankly at the rice cake baked by Park Moondae.

Perhaps he was wondering if it was okay to do this during the filming, the expression that revealed his internal conflict was cute.

Even the courtier, who appeared as an NPC to set the mood, forgot her duty for a moment and almost came out as a real person.

‘I can see why his nickname is Angel…’

The graduate student promoted Seon Ahyeon from her inner ‘Moondae’s Friends’ folder to the ‘Moondae’s Cute Friends’ folder.

In the meantime, the cast members were warm-heartedly solving the case on the screen.

[This mood is good?]

[Great, great! Shall we do it together?]

[Yes! Let’s solve it!]

Of course, as Park Moondae had prepared, the Golden Age’s Korean University students also received airtime in problem-solving and role-play situations.

However, because of his unfamiliar solo appearance and stiff talk, it wasn’t really fun.

He did well in solving the quiz in his own way, but of course, it had no impact like Park Moondae, who solved it quickly from the beginning when people hadn’t expected him to.

Because the prior information that he was a student at Korea University was emphasized from the beginning, this much was expected of him.

[Oh~ Good good!]

[Thank you!]

It was just a normal scene with no uniqueness, and only the flow of broadcasting continued.

So, while Korean University students were not ‘so bad that he became a subject of ridicule and a pointless topic of discussion’, he was sorted out by viewers as ‘barely deprived of the spotlight’.

It was the best result for Park Moondae’s fans.

Thanks to that, their private communities and SNS were in a festive mood.

– It’s a topic that can only be told here, but I want to start it up

– He looked just like when he was in My Singer ㅎ

– ㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋ Ah, so much fun

– Next time, please look for a place to lie down and stretch your legs

(TL notes: Look for a place to lie down and stretch your legs = Think of the results before you start something.)

The atmosphere was established without opposition because Golden Age’s agency, which normally would have encouraged talks of ‘the tyranny of large companies’, was as quiet as a dead rat.

And the climax broke out at the end of the episode.

[This book.]

[Isn’t this just like Korean?]

It was a great procession of Park Moondae’s knowledge of Korean history and his quick reasoning.

[‘Gap’ and ‘Gi’ of Jiphyeonjeon have come to present <Hunminjeongeum Haeryebon> to Your Highness.]

This scene with a calm voice and a faint smile came out well, just like the climax cut of a drama or movie.

Thanks to that, as soon as the scene aired, it was clipped and posted on various SNS and communities.

[Today's<The Calls of the Past> famous scene that the viewers could sympathize with]

[???: Doesn't this look like Korean?]

[<The Calls of the Past> Park Moondae's final deduction scene that gives you goosebumps]

Usually, those were titles that would explode because of the aggros, but instead of aggro, they received a lot of sympathies and quickly became popular posts.

Because it was the plain truth.

– It was super difficult, but he got it right in one try. I got goosebumps

– I guess his brain ascended

– This fit perfectly, but catharsis didn't come ㅋㅋㅋㅋ

– Yes, I knew it would be like this from the moment Park Moondae took the lead in making the PPT for the debut song ㅋㅋㅋ

– It's such a waste. He's so smart… Even now, the K-third-year in me is telling him to take the college entrance exam…

ㄴㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋNo! Moondae has to be K-idol forever! ㅠㅠ

It was at this moment that the image of Park Moondae's 'unfortunate past history', which was accompanied by weaknesses, was added with 'genius' and converted in a more three-dimensional way.

It meant that Park Moondae's plan was carried out without any problems or variables.

* * *

‘It’s neat.’

I put down my smartphone. It had been a long time since I saw only refreshing results without any unexpected incidents.

“Hunminjeongeum Haeryebon! Hunminjeongeum Haeryebon!”

I heard Cha Eugene excitedly shouting those words in the next room as if it was some kind of cheering phrase. It was the result of monitoring <The Calls of the Past> together because the people who had empty schedules were bored.

‘Is it an American habit?’

His pronunciation was also correct, and it seemed that the scene left a deep impression on Cha Eugene, who was ignorant of Korean history.

“Uhahaha!”

Just in time, I could hear Cha Eugene’s roommate, Keun Sejin, laughing. Roommate reassignment content would be coming soon, I hoped I didn’t get stuck with those two.

But anyway… It had been a while since I had nothing to calculate.

I closed my eyes, ignoring the noise in the next room.

A relaxed feeling dominated me, so I didn’t even need airplugs. I thought of going to bed early today.

It was then.

Ring– Ring–

The smartphone started to vibrate continuously.

It was a phone call.

‘What?’

I had no one who would call.

However, calls that were not registered in the address book were set to be blocked, so it wasn’t spam.

Ah…

Holding my breath, I picked up my phone and brought it to my eyes. Naturally, the name of the caller was floating on the screen.

[Golden Age Ha Iljoon hyung]

“…?”

What… The person calling in the middle of the night was Gold 1.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 170

‘This late at night, are you out of your mind?’

No matter how much he worked until night due to his job, this was already past midnight.

I thought Gold 1 was still a sensible guy, but it seemed I was wrong.

I answered the phone with bewilderment.

“Hello.”

– Ah, Moondae.

Gold 1’s reply sounded a little dazed.

– Um… Oh, is it okay to call you now?

“Yes. Please speak.”

– Okay. Um…

Gold 1 took a long pause, then slowly continued.

– I heard about it.

“Yes?”

– Our company to you… They said you didn’t take it well.

“…!”

You’re openly bringing it up?

That company was going crazy with emergency bomb disposal, so it wouldn't be strange if this guy figured out the situation, but it was strange that he called me all of a sudden.

'What are you going to do?'

This question was answered the very next moment.

– That… I'm sorry.

"…"

Is it about this?

Well, what I could say to him was pretty obvious.

"Hyung wasn't the one who did it, so you don't have to worry too much."

If he said it because the company asked him to, it would be useless, but still, it would be nice if those words came from Gold 1 himself.

'This should be enough.'

But Gold 1's answer was unexpected.

-…No, actually, I think I knew roughly what the situation was like. I just pretended not to know.

"…!"

– I heard about you at work sometimes.

I could hear Gold 1 sigh over the phone.

– I didn't know it was this bad… But I guess I rationalized it in my head.

I thought it wouldn't be a problem because you guys were doing so well.

"…Um."

– But thinking about it again today, I would have been really annoyed if I was in your position.

His voice trembled a little.

– So I'm calling to apologize. Um, originally, I was going to say it to Chungwoo, but I thought you're the one who suffered the most, so I speak to you first.

Hmm, this was true in a way.

'The company must have really turned upside down.'

A person's guilt didn't arise for no reason. That neighborhood must be really a mess, enough for the singer to look back on the past.

'Still, it's great that he thought of an apology first rather than the backlash.'

He didn't contact to put his mind at ease or to help the company… What can I do? This guy was only as old as a college student.

Just having the courage to apologize, I could see him as a decent guy.

I received the apology in a good light.

"It's fine. I was a little surprised, but it's all over."

In a situation where the one f*cking around was his company, I had no reason not to accept his apology.

I mean, what can he do?

– Yeah, thank you.

I could hear the voice of Gold 1 sighing in relief.

– And Seulhui also asked me to tell you that he's sorry and thankful. He said you were kind to him during the filming.

"…?"

Who… Ah, right. The Korean university student.

'Should I call him Gold 3?'

I accepted it in moderation.

"I didn't do much… Anyway, I understand."

– Yeah. …Gasp, wait. It's 1 am right now??

"Yes."

Gold 1 groaned in a strange voice.

It lost its weight in an instant.

– Wow, I'm so sorry. I was monitoring…

"So did I. It's all right."

It seemed that side was also watching <The Calls of the Past> featuring the Korean University student as a group.

"But it's time to go to bed."

I made an appropriate closing remark, and Gold 1 hung up the call.

– Ah, yeah. Hmm, good night. I'll be rooting for you.

"Yes. Thank you. I hope you the best, too."

The conversation ended smoothly.

However, I had a hunch that in the future, they probably wouldn't say hello or pretend to know us like they did at the beginning of their debut.

'It can't be helped.'

This was what it meant to be competitors. I shrugged my shoulders and turned my smartphone to silent mode to avoid any other disruptions.

'Let's sleep.'

And I slept soundly without knowing that Seon Ahyeon and Bae Sejin were entering the dorm.

Thanks to this, it wasn't until the next morning that I checked the text message that came at dawn.

* * *

[Hubae-nim, you put your experience as a civil servant examinee to good use. Congratulations ^^]

What's up with this bastard?

I almost spluttered my food.

'When did he send this?'

Looking at the time of the text message arrival, it was 4 a.m.

'He must be in the salon when he sent this.'

What a nuisance.

I looked at the word 'VTIC Cheongryeo sunbae-nim' with cold eyes, and his profile picture was the golden retriever that I had seen back when I was doing the insurance commercial.

'Come to think of it, I told this guy that I studied for the civil servant exam.'

It became some kind of unintentional proof of trust.

I quickly typed 'Yes thank you' and tried to exit the message tab. But before I could do that, a new text came.

Ring–

[(Image file)]

It was a… gifticon out of the blue.

"…??"

When I clicked on it, it was 'a chocolate set to support examinees' sold at franchise cafes.

Did he send this as a joke?

[I sent it as support for the activity. Isn't it time for a new song soon?]

That… He was right. It was time to release the repackaged album.

And, as planned, we picked the song for this activity out of the candidate songs received from the composer who was in charge of Golden Age's songs.

'The arrangement is done well.'

Kim Raebin's arrangement passed almost unanimously, but I noticed that Kim Raebin still wasn't very confident.

The funny thing was, he was more concerned about the environment rather than his own skills.

– We definitely chose a genre that stands out on the music charts, but if a new trend arrives by the time we release the song, the measure of popularity will completely change…!.

– That won't happen, Raebin, calm down.

We'd had this kind of conversation several times recently.

I held back my sigh.

‘You should worry about your feet.’

Kim Raebin’s foot was recently judged to have a ‘perfect level of recovery that no longer requires stability’. Thanks to that, the choreography practice went smoothly.

‘If he hadn’t insisted on doing the indoor climbing, he would have gotten it off a week earlier.’

I knew he was passionate about following the schedule, but he was a really strict guy.

“If we aim for too much popularity, the critics will criticize a lot…”

“No, Raebin~ Don’t worry, and just eat.”

He was doing that even while eating.

Anyway, the preparation for the album was smooth sailing.

‘If I was going to silence that company anyway, did I draw a big picture using that composer for no reason?’

Even Youngrin and Cheongryeo got involved to share the composer.

I thought while putting rice wrapped in seaweed into my mouth.

‘Hmm, Youngrin got good records this time, too.’

A new song released two weeks ago by Youngrin, whom I deliberately shared the Golden Age’s composer with, was also currently at the top of the music charts.

A few days ago, I received another separate thank you for introducing her to the composer.

‘Ah, that’s why they got angry.’

If the Golden Age company had heard somewhere that I was the one who introduced the composer to Youngrin, it would make more sense why they had been dragging me down lately.

‘You work better when you put emotions into your job.’

It was still a bit ridiculous that they got pissed off for sharing the composer while they had gone viral.

‘Well, it’s all over.’

It wasn’t morally problematic, so those guys who were out of breath right now struggling against T1 wouldn’t be able to hold bad feelings for long.

‘Then we’re next after Youngrin.’

The last was VTIC, Cheongryeo’s group.

‘Quick-witted bastard.’

While talking about tours and comeback schedules, we fall behind, but he was basically saying that he would bet on it after watching our rise and fall and being proven.

‘It’s not even the title track, just the b-side song, but he made so much fuss.’

It was like a perfectionist reset syndrome.

…Well, conversely, the fact that this lunatic was willing to cooperate was a sign of cooperation in itself.

‘I can bear it if we continue like this.’

I sighed and moved my thumb to the smartphone keyboard.

[Yes, I’ll do my best. Thank you for the chocolate, sunbae-nim. I hope you have a good day.]

[All right.]

Yeah. This was neat.

Perhaps this guy liked the composer's song deep down, he became much more cooperative.

'And if the Golden Age doesn't do anything wrong, it's better not to say anything else.'

In many ways, this picture was fine. I nodded and focused on eating again.

No, I was going to, but my smartphone rang again.

Ring–

"…"

[Oh, my birthday is in next month. 27th.]

So what.

I turned off my smartphone with disgust.

Let's finish eating.

"Did each of you bring your bowls?"

"Yes!"

We had someone who would clean it, but I put the bowl in the sink for basic etiquette.

Then, it was free time.

"Uhahaha!"

Usually, they often played in their own rooms, but today, the living room was crowded with people who came to watch Cha Eugene playing a strange dancing game.

‘Should I go to my room?’

I came out because I was always in my room, but they were too noisy.

But I was too lazy to move, so I found another thing to focus on.

‘...It’s time to look at it.’

It would be more convenient to do it when it was noisy because that way, I didn’t have to think about anything else.

‘Status window.’

For the first time in a long time, I started the settlement.

[Name: Park Moondae (Ryu Gunwoo)]

Level : 0

Title: None

Vocal: S-

Dance: B

Visual: A-

Talent: B+

Characteristics: Infinite potential, International student (A), Bacchus 500 (B), Snatching ears (A)

!Status abnormality: Get the audience or die

The remaining points: 2

The vocal that had entered S rank caught my attention first.

‘I am a little proud.’

It was a good item. From entertainment to activities, I had used it a lot.

After that, I noticed the points I gained from leveling up, but another factor bothered me more.

‘Why?‘

For some reason, my talent naturally increased from B to B+.

‘I don’t think I’ve done anything particularly worthwhile.’

I hadn’t opened it recently, so I didn’t know when it increased.

“Hmm.”

Anyway, the stat going up was a good thing.

I calmly crossed my arms.

Now I just had to quickly distribute the points and then turn it off.

Now right before the new album came out was the right time.

‘Following the standard procedure… Talent.’

This was the most efficient choice because it was an opportunity to enter the A rank by consuming only one point.

“Good.”

“What is?”

“…!”

Oops.

It seemed I had said it with my mouth because I was too focused on leaving the status window.

Cha Eugene, who had just finished the game, was looking this way with wide eyes.

‘Well, I didn’t say anything else.’

It didn’t matter. I was about to give a rough answer, but I suddenly thought of something.

Let’s see what these guys think.

“Hmm, this is just a hypothetical question.”

“Yes!”

“What do you think is the most necessary skill to become an idol?”

“Hmm? It’s like- personality?”

Personality.

‘Is it possible to roughly substitute that with a skill?’

It was something a guy with such good skills would say, it was hard to find even in the same industry.

But Kim Raebin stepped in from next to me.

“You should give a more professional answer! Hyung! I think it’s the ability to pull off a song. I think expressiveness is important.”

Yes. In the end, those were words that could be substituted with ‘Talent’, just like Cha Eugene’s.

“Mine was professional! Your answer was plain!”

“No! Your answer was insincere!”

As I watched those two fighting, a gloomy voice interrupted from next to me.

"…Basic skill."

It was Bae Sejin. It sounded like he was saying what he felt was necessary for him.

Meanwhile, Keun Sejin also added a word to Cha Eugene and Kim Raebin's quarrel.

"You should be good at everything~ Why are you still arguing about that?"

"But I want to choose something more important…."

It was a mess.

'I shouldn't have asked.'

Let's just leave it until they came to a conclusion. I shook my head and decided to use the gap in the conversation to check something else.

It was the event pop-up.

[The true taste of fame!]

10,000,000 people remembered your existence!

: Draw Legendary Characteristics ☜ Click!

10 million people.

At this point, it was impossible to imagine this scale gathering in reality.

What was even scarier was that this pop-up had been around for quite some time. Maybe… It was running towards 50 million people right now.

'Huft.'

It felt rewarding and creepy at the same time.

Anyway, let's click on the characteristic draw.

Dung Dung Dung Dung-

With the image of a familiar slot machine, the slots started to spin.

'Since the hero characteristic started with B… If it's legendary characteristic, does A come out as default?'

Ten million people knew me, so I should have that much at least.

But the slots were mixed with gold.

'What?'

Only the probability of a higher grade was created, and it wasn't confirmed that an A grade would come out.

'It's like a mass-produced game.'

I glared at the slot machine that spun with a mixture of gold, platinum, and rainbow colors.

'Anything is fine, so I hope something useful for the activities comes out.'

It was time to abandon the 'International student' and changed it. It would be nice if I got something that helped with concept performance or made my hair look better at least.

The slot rotated slowly and then stopped.

Fortunately, it stopped at platinum.

Papapang!

[Characteristic]

Acquired 'Now that I heard it, you're right (A)'!

"…!"

But there… The name of the characteristic that I had seen before was floating.

Just with a different grade.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 171

Do you know the ghost story of finding a doll you had thrown in the trash in front of your front door?

My feelings right now were very similar to that.

‘Why is this showing up here?’

The characteristic I picked up right now was ‘Now that I heard it, you’re right’.

At the beginning of Idol Inc’s participation, I got this characteristic with a C grade and used it to persuade Seon Ahyeon, but I deleted it after we debuted.

The fact that it popped out again was funny but the difference was funny as well.

‘Why is the grade A?’

I had experienced having a characteristic that popped up again being synthesized and changed to a higher grade but in that case, the name also changed.

‘What kind of system doesn’t have a system?’

Don’t tell me, saying that it was upgraded to an A grade because of its good utility, it wasn’t that kind of nonsense that only happened in failed games, right?

First… Let’s check the contents in detail.

[Characteristic]

Acquired 'Now that I heard it, it's true(A)'

– It causes emotional agitation to the 'listener'.

: Activation rate 60%, basic activation state

"…Hmm."

The explanation was the same, but the probability had definitely increased. It was 35% when it was a C grade, but 60% here.

'Then it's really a higher grade but without the name change… Why?'

At that moment, a thought came to my mind.

'Is this a warning?'

Come to think of it, I had hypothesized that when a new characteristic came out, the moment to use it would definitely come.

And the hypothesis… had been proven true so far.

So the reason the name didn't change was to make me think twice and warned me to take this characteristic…

'That's too much.'

Let's not focus too much on the intentions of this status window. It wasn't just once or twice that it hit me in the back of my head.

However, there was no need to flatly ignore it just because I was reluctant. I had to judge it objectively.

"…"

I tapped my arm with my fingers and eventually shrugged.

‘Well… I was going to change it anyway.’

‘Emotional agitation’ was a useful ability in many ways.

‘This is the right choice.’

I operated the characteristics section.

[Characteristic: International student (A) has been deleted!]

That was how the ‘Now that I heard it, you’re right (A)’ characteristic re-entered my status window. Congratulations on being used again.

What was left was stat investment…

“Yeah. Like Sejin said, I think basic skills are the most important. But it’s more of the mindset than the technical aspect. It’s important not to lose your original intentions.”

“Hmm~ that could be true!”

“M-Me too… I think the heart is important…!”

“That’s right! Heart! Personality!”

No, it’s not the heart.

In addition, their conclusion was completely unrelated to the stat investment.

‘Sigh.’

But these guys’ warm-hearted expressions were saying they had come to the same conclusion in their own ways… Let’s just leave it alone.

“So I conclude that it’s the mindset… Wait, but why are you talking about this?”

“Moondae hyung asked!”

At Cha Eugene's remark, Ryu Chungwoo turned his head toward me. I averted my gaze.

"…I was just asking because I was bored."

"Ah, I see."

Ryu Chungwoo smiled awkwardly.

"I thought you were telling us to keep ourselves together, once again. We'll start out new activity soon."

"Ah~ We can use it for that purpose! Comeback, fighting!"

"F-Fighting!"

It suddenly became an atmosphere of shouting for an awesome comeback. Seriously.

'But they're not as nervous as before.'

Definite popularity. Good songs and choreography.

And since the repackage originally had a short period and the album composition was similar, there were less expectations for the results, so the pressure lessened.

There was no fear of getting caught up with Idol Inc's new season. Because of the industry spy case, the company would keep a low profile for a while, so refusing appearances and articles wouldn't be too difficult.

From what I heard, in episode 6 that recently aired, they did a crazy thing called a stock sale discount, in other words, a 'negative vote sale'.

It wasn't my business, so I didn't look at the fire across the river.

'Hmm, should I take it easy this time too?'

It would be a lie if I said I didn't need to feel comfortable during the filming of the choreography.

I looked at the status window that was still on and smiled.

'What kind of person will die for being unable to collect 200,000 audiences?'

Let's do it efficiently.

This time, the performance wasn't strong, so it was better to make the stage attractive by emphasizing other elements more.

'It all converges to one opinion.'

I raised my stats just as I originally planned.

So that my talent went up from B+ to A-.

'Well, even if I do this, it can't be compared to Cha Eugene's.'

What difference it would have with the B grade? I was curious.

* * *

On the afternoon of Thursday, October 17, two weeks after Park Moondae completed the settlement of the status window.

"Comeback!!"

Park Moondae's homma couldn't hold back her overflowing emotion and shouted as she watched the music video and music streaming on the tablet and smartphone respectively.

Those screens had one phrase in common.

[Testar (TeSTAR) – Picnic]

Testar made a comeback on the 14th of this month and this was their new repackaged song.

‘I love it!’

Even though she was worried about the singers who worked like a cow without a break, she couldn’t help but open her mouth because she loved it.

‘I was worried it wouldn’t catch people’s attention because of Present’s momentum!’

She hadn’t needed to. The song they promoted was very good.

The refreshing and soft R&B song was perfect to listen to on a chilly autumn morning.

‘Pick this one on the way to work… Please!’

It was still the third day of release, so it was the popular pick of the public, and fans were busy raising the rankings on the daily chart, but the homma was already counting her chickens, which was unlike her.

‘This needs to be advertised on the music charts!’

Because it was a song that focused on the listening experience, she felt a strange pride that everyone should listen to it.

In addition, Testar brought a glimpse of themselves that fans might like, which could be missed if they only cared about popularity.

It was in the details of the music video.

– It doesn’t matter what the weather forecast says

It’s the day I want to meet you

If you walk lightly

The sky is blue today

Go on a picnic, Go on a picnic

The content of the music video was just a simple story of ‘College student Testar members hanging out at the Han River’, but the use of props and composition inside was not ordinary.

Because Testar’s distinctive appearance and props from Idol Inc to present were cleverly reproduced and inserted.

For example, the high school uniform that resembled <Idol Inc.> uniform hanging in Park Moondae’s room, the soap bubbles that Seon Ahyeon blew in the Han River, and the composition of Ryu Chungwoo walking through the trees.

The elements that only people in the know could find made the fans amused.

So a reporter who was interested in Testar made this comment.

[Nostalgia brought by a group celebrating their first anniversary]

Here’s time that has been compressed into a great story. Testar, which has been running non-stop, has shared compact memories with the public.

……

The feeling of releasing all those times one by one and letting them scatter beautifully is special.

Those who are in the know notice it, but even those who don’t know can enjoy it…

Of course, this article didn’t receive much attention from the public, but it received plenty of comments and support from Testar’s fans, including the homma.

And although it wasn’t at the level that got the fans drunk on the interpretations, the first public response was very good.

First of all, the fact that KPOP-related communities were not plastered with ‘the song is bad’ and ‘Present is better’ was the proof.

The limit was this.

– It’s a bit plain compared to Present, it’s just my preference though – They chose an easy route ㅠㅠI guess they won’t do this concept anymore

┗Raebin arranged it himself and the members said they wanted to use it as a title song because it was that good! I’m looking forward to what other great songs they’ll bring for the next comeback. ♡

– Easy easy~

– The song is good, but it’s a bit disappointing. I thought it would be more powerful

Of course, it didn’t mean the fans weren’t pissed off.

‘When Present came out, they said ‘That’s too much’ and ‘I’m cringing’!!’

It was always so upsetting to see them attacking the new song by praising the song from the previous activity that had already passed and couldn’t be undone.

The homma briefly recalled the scene, feeling like grabbing the back of her neck, but soon she calmed down.

‘It’s okay. It’s our masterpiece.’

The song was good, so everything was fine.

Besides, the reviews for the title song weren’t the only things good. The composition of the repackaged album was also excellent.

As a privilege for the people who reserved the album, they sent a picnic blanket and box, and the members drew the pattern.

‘I know it’s a marketing trick, but… It’s a great tactic.’

The homma gazed with satisfaction at the wall of her room, where a picnic blanket with an apple pattern drawn by Moondae was hung.

By the way, next to it were the dolls of’Groom in May’ from <The Singer I Made>, all in different sizes.

She felt satisfied just by looking at it.

‘All right…. It’s going smoothly.’

The homma calmed down in an instant and at the same time she rolled into the bed with excitement and happiness.

To be honest, when she first started her homma activities for a group member who debuted through a survival program, she was actually worried inside that it would be a thorny road.

But looking at their records so far… Those days had been more pleasant than she had worried about.

Although some problems broke out, they behaved appropriately, so it quickly subsided.

And above all, the records were great!

‘Ah, it was great that <The Calls of the Past> came out at this time.’

Saying that he was intelligent just like a crown prince in a historical drama, the homma excitedly recalled the situation as her timeline lagged.

Moondae was a genius puppy…

It was just plain silly comments.

And a few moments later, she came back to her senses again in a flash.

‘Let’s work, work!’

She should quickly edit the photos taken at the last event so that she could watch today's comeback stage with a fresh mind!

But what the homma accidentally clicked on the laptop's Internet tab… was an announcement on Testar's WeTube channel community.

[<Testar's Living Together TEST: Side Story> Changing Roommates Part 2!]

Who will share the same room? Tomorrow (Friday) at 7 pm, pre-released to membership Loviewers! > – <

(photo)

The attached photo showed several men's hands playing a card game.

If you matched it with the text… It was a game to decide the roommates!

"Waah!"

The homma let out a cry of joy.

'It looks interesting!'

Of course, she didn't dislike Ahyeon, but at this point, she wanted to see Park Moondae's reaction when he got another member as a roommate.

But then, she calmed down a bit.

'Um… Not Ryu Chungwoo… I hope it's Lee Sejin!'

It hadn't become a problem because they somehow knocked it off and turned it over at the right time, but looking at Moondae's last summer package, everyone vaguely guessed that he had something going on with Ryu Chungwoo

.

It wasn't serious, of course.

‘They get along well again after that.’

She doubted that they had a fight, but there was no need to hope for their endeavor in becoming roommates.

And because the first impression of Idol Inc’s first team match combination was still strong, the homma inwardly chose Lee Sejin.

‘Anyway, I hope it will be fun!’

As a result, only this comprehensive wish of the homma came true

* * *

“WOOOW! Moondae hyung!”

“…Wow.”

Is this real?

I was speechless for a moment when I saw Cha Eugene reaching out for a high-five.

This, now…

“We’re roommates!”

He even confirmed it. Now I knew this was real.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 172

Let me explain what the hell this was about.

Testar's roommate assignment this time was set as a board game disguised as a card game.

"Now, Yeouido is my 'Blushing Coin Power' land! Everyone, give me a coin~"

"…H-Huh??"

"Already? Sejin is very good."

"Haha, thank you!"

For reference, this unfamiliar game had complicated rules, a long playtime, and, crucially, had little to do with roommate assignments.

It turned out to be a new board game that used the IP of '127 Section' that we had collaborated with.

'It must be PPL from T1.'

I was used to it now.

Anyway, the production team somehow managed to fit this into the roommates' re-arrangement, allowing us to choose roommates in the order of the top players in the game.

And here was the result.

"It's Eugene's group…The 'Flame Gang' won first place with 36 squares!"

“Yeah!”

“Oh~ That’s too bad!”

Cha Eugene made a comeback victory and won last minute.

‘I can’t believe he got dice number six three times in a row.’

Thanks to his crazy luck, Cha Eugene triumphed and afterward, they all sat there screaming as if they were watching some kind of gambling game.

And Cha Eugene… He pointed me as his roommate without hesitation.

“Moondae hyung, you’re a good roommate! Please take good care of me!”

‘Just why.’

When did we get close?

Even the option to distribute the responsibility by inserting another guy was blocked.

“Hmmm, then room choice of the first-place winner Eugene…”

“Number 1!”

It was a room for two people.

“Oh~ Moondae is returning to room number 1? Congratulations!”

“…Yeah.”

It didn’t make me happy at all.

Of course, I had no intention of doing anything crazy like expressing this openly.

I couldn’t say anything positive, but I still gave Cha Eugene positive body signals such as high-fives and shoulder taps.

‘I shouldn’t provoke Cha Eugene’s fans.’

Those people wouldn’t pass this off as a gag, they’d squeeze me out and turn me into the maknae’s bully.

So calm down, let’s share a room with this guy and think of the benefits…

…Is there any?

“Then, what is the choice of the second-place winner Sejin?”

“Yes, my choice is… Da-dum-da-dum. It’s our cool Raebin!”

“Ah, thank you!”

“Haha! I think it would be nice if we can have the three-people room.”

“Well, the third-place winner is Moondae, so let’s skip him… Coincidentally, it’s Raebin’s turn to pick roommates since he won fourth place. What do you think, Raebin?”

“I want Seon Ahyeon hyung to join as the last roommate!”

“…! M-Me?”

“Yes! I’d like to ask you a few questions since we were roommates last time…”

I thought about it as the others were picking roommates one after another, but I couldn’t think of any good points.

But I knew one thing.

“Eat the jelly!”

“Okay.”

It would be difficult to sleep early for a while.

And this judgment was not wrong.

* * *

A few days later, in the music show waiting room. The stylist who was fixing the costume props asked.

“Moondae, are you okay? You look drained.”

“I am fine.”

But without Bacchus, I wouldn’t have been fine.

‘Cha Eugene, that crazy bastard didn’t sleep until 2 am yesterday.’

It was fine up to that point. Everyone could have different styles.

However, the problem was that he was active until 2 am.

Talking to me.

“…Sigh.”

In fact, I had made a few requests to Cha Eugene in advance.

– Recently, I’ve been taking care of my physical strength… Outside of exercise time, I want to lie down and rest whenever possible.

– Oh… Are you having a hard time?

– I am not. I’m trying to save some energy, so please don’t get me out of bed as much as possible.

– Got it!

And Cha Eugene said okay so neatly that I was worried a question bomb would come flying, but from then on he really paid attention.

…Only to the words ‘don’t get me out of bed’.

– Wow! Look at this, hyung!

– …

A video of a Siberian husky talking with a baby in a strange howl was playing on Cha Eugene's smartphone, which he checked by moving his head away from the bed.

– [Isn't it cute and funny?? A baby and a puppy. They always make my day happy] – Yeah. It's great.

I didn't know that this similar pattern would repeat itself until 2:00 in the morning until I gave a positive response.

We had a pre-recording for a music show tomorrow Friday…

– Hyung, hyung! This hippo…

– Stop.

In the end, Cha Eugene went to sleep after I said 'Let's be quiet and get some sleep' three times.

If it had gone for any longer, I would have hit the back of his head and forced him to sleep.

'I'm going crazy.'

Of course, it wasn't always like this.

There were times when Cha Eugene went to bed early, but the problem was that it was all up to him.

Still, looking at his attitude, it seemed he was trying to keep his word, but the problem was, he was the kind of person who wouldn't store things in his head if he thought it wasn't a big deal by his standard, so he forgot every time.

‘Should I scare him?’

Of course, it was a joke. The moment Cha Eugene showed a timid look in front of the camera, there would be rumors of discord.

I usually could ignore it, but the problem was, I had left a video where I had an uncooperative appearance with Ryu Chungwoo just a few months ago.

The summer package.

‘That’s not good.’

So for now… I would put up with it.

However, based on the trend so far, this roommate would be set for more than half a year, but I wasn’t sure if it would be possible for me to not show any slightest sign of discomfort to this bastard.

‘How did Ryu Chungwoo endure being his roommate in the first place?’

Well, come to think of it, Keun Sejin was there, so Cha Eugene’s aggro must have jumped at him.

“Hyung! Cookies, cookies?”

“No, thank you.”

“It’s delicious!”

“Eat a lot.”

Now, even outside the dorm, the frequency of Cha Eugene talking to me had increased. If he wanted to get closer as a roommate, I’d like to decline.

“Testar, let’s stand by right away~”

“Yes!”

Anyway, the next stage was our turn. Roommates were roommates, let's focus on work now.

Woooow!

I heard people shouting over the in-ear.

The buzzing sound through the small device that acted as sound insulation had a strangely uplifting taste.

'It's like my thoughts disappear.'

In particular, the feeling of adrenaline soaring helped a lot in a complex and thorough performance.

However, for a song that was loosely organized, it would be better to think a bit.

If I just let it spill out, it often seemed lacking.

As easy as it was, I had to pay more attention so that it didn't look plain.

'Wait here for a bit… Gesture.'

– Cool wind, sweet coffee

Add a lot of syrup

Same as me, yes

Take a seat

The chin-resting motion was well captured by the lit-up camera.

'It's strangely easy.'

It seemed that the delay or the sensory difference from thinking to expressing had decreased compared to before.

‘Is this the power of talent stat?’

It was quite fun.

I added a couple of unplanned expressions–such as changing facial expressions or setting up glasses with one hand–but I was able to get the timing right without hesitation.

‘Oh.’

It was interesting.

– Now, take it easy and wait

(Hold on a second)

I’ll pick you up now

The stage ended with the performers standing or sitting with their backs to each other.

“Thanks!”

“Thank you!”

The faces of the guys who bowed and came down from the stage were great.

“Monitoring, monitoring~”

“Watch out there!”

There was a bit of a witty dance break at the end, but it didn’t particularly make me breathless enough to have my lungs burst out.

‘The b-side is also a ballad.’

It was interesting that, unlike the reduced difficulty level of this activity, the music was doing well.

As soon as the stage monitoring was over, the manager ran over and shouted.

“Guys! Picnic goes up again! 7th on 24Hits!”

“Wow!”

It was an unbelievable feat for a song on the fifth day of its release.

In a format where it would only be counted once within 24 hours if one person listened repeatedly, we were the first other than VTIC to rank like this among boy idol groups this year.

‘Right now, it’s better than the double score of our previous album, Present.’

The speed was similar to that of Youngrin, who had much better popularity on the music chart, which meant our song must be really catchy.

Keun Sejin sneakily packed it up.

“It’s because Raebin is good at arranging~”

“T-That’s right. The song is really good…!”

“Ah, no! I think we got this result thanks to the team members’ good demonstration and feedback!”

It sounded like an award speech.

‘Your face straightens.”

Kim Raebin smiled broadly with a much more relaxed face than a few days ago. Hmm, it still looked fierce though.

“You make a lot of songs! Give one to me.”

“Songs don’t come out randomly like that. I need some kind of inspiration to work on them…”

“Old man? Are you a grandpa?”

(TL notes: Cha Eugene mistook inspiration (영감이) as old man (영감님).)

“You idiot! That’s not it, um…”

I sighed.

“…Inspiration.”

“Ah, thank you, Moondae hyung!”

“Thank you!”

…Looking at those two bowing their head, I wondered if Cha Eugene actually took me as his roommate to use me as an interpreter.

It was a convincing explanation.

“Guys, the ending performance!”

“Ah, yes!”

Anyway, the time to organize my thoughts didn’t come easily in a hectic schedule because it was the comeback week.

So, it was only a few days later, during my free time right before going to bed, that I found out Cha Eugene’s intentions.

* * *

[The weather forecast doesn’t matter~ It’s the day I want to meet you.]

It was late Monday night when I had some free time.

I was lying on the bed and watching a fancam.

It was the official vertical fancam that was uploaded by the music show filmed on Friday.

[(K-cam) Testar (TeSTAR) Park Moondae's fancam 'Picnic' 2X1018]

The thumbnail was a close-up shot of me resting my chin, and it had already received quite a few views.

It seemed to have become a hot topic in the community, comparing it to my first idol Inc fancam.

It… It was the fancam for the rating of <It's Me>.

I watched all of my fancams, going through the comments that were plastered with words like 'Park Moondae is a deep learning AI puppy' a little bashfully.

'It definitely got better.'

It was good to have clear control of strength and dynamics and to have a clear expression of what I felt, without feeling awkward or pressured.

'Hmm.'

Even if I look at it from my old self's perspective, this guy was good enough to make money from the filming, I thought it would be okay to praise myself a little.

However, this idea was temporarily dismissed as the next video played out automatically.

[(K-cam) Testar (TeSTAR) Cha Eugene's fancam 'Picnic' 2X1018]

It was Cha Eugene's fancam from the same day.

'This bastard is a real monster.'

It wasn't just at the level of looking natural and great. Each of his movements gave a strange feeling.

'Hmm, it's kind of gooey?'

I thought that description suited him. He didn’t just dance well, he did a great job.

‘He’s worth being analyzed.’

I played Cha Eugene’s fancam for a while. Then, a head suddenly popped in beside me.

“Hyung! Are you watching my video??”

“Yeah. You’re good.”

“Hehe.”

Cha Eugene poured out words in English with an excited expression.

[What do you think? Are you watching it because it’s fun?]

“There’s that, and I want to compare it with mine and do some research.”

“Oh!”

Cha Eugene’s eyes flashed, and he hit my bed.

[Hyung! I think we can share some tips? If you teach me how to sing, I’ll teach you how to dance!]

“Really?”

“Yes!”

Just when I thought that I shouldn’t expect much because he didn’t seem to have the skills to teach, Cha Eugene brought out the main point.

[And how about we make a unit performance? At the next concert!]

Huh?

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 173

A topic that I had never thought of came out.

‘A unit performance with Cha Eugene?’

The concert schedule was definitely set, but unlike other set lists that were mostly fixed, opinions on the units were still divided.

‘Some people also said that we don’t need it because we have solo songs.’

We were going to sing a few ballad songs as a group instead, but I was actually more inclined to do the unit.

I thought it would be more fun to look forward to.

Looking at Cha Eugene waiting for an answer, I smiled.

And answered.

“No.”

“Yes? Why?”

Cha Eugene looked betrayed.

This guy was funny.

I shrugged.

“Why do you want to do a unit performance with me?”

“Hyung is great! It’s cool to do it together!”

“I don’t know about that. You’re good at dancing and I’m good at singing, so I don’t think we’ll fit together.”

“We can practice!”

He talked about effort casually. He’d become a Korean, too.

Cha Eugene looked upset, which was rare for him. I put down my smartphone and crossed my arms.

“From the beginning, you chose me as your roommate with the unit performance in mind.”

“Yes!”

He nodded his head eagerly as if he didn’t particularly intend to hide it.

‘Did you choose me because you thought of how the roommates did the unit stages last time?’

I looked at Cha Eugene without answering, and Cha Eugene whithered slightly.

“Hyung’s performance is fun… I want to do that, too.”

Hmm. He was still as stubborn as ever.

“You think my performance is fun?”

“Yes…. Can I say it in English?”

What are you asking permission for after saying whatever you want so far? I nodded, and Cha Eugene explained the situation in English.

[I’ve been thinking about it since we were on the survival reality show, hyung’s stage ideas are really cool. So I want to devote myself 100% to it and try it at this concert!]

Cha Eugene blinked and pointed at himself and me alternately with his finger.

[Best dance, best vocal! I assure you, with a little more practice, it will be a great performance!]

Oh, it was more than I expected.

‘Come to think of it, in Idol Inc, he kept asking to perform together next time.’

At that time, there was no next time so I thought it was just some nonsense, but I supposed he had thought about it from a long-term perspective.

Seriously.

‘Should I explain it more to him?’

Look at his confidence when he proudly said he was the best dancer even though there were three dance lines on the team.

It was clear that if I just refused, he would continue to beg for a unit because he wasn’t convinced. I opened my mouth, rubbing the back of my neck.

“First of all, we don’t even know if we’ll do unit performances or not you know?”

“But I like the unit! Just say we’ll do it!”

“No. We should think carefully about which one is better, and consider other people’s opinions.”

“….”

Cha Eugene looked sullen, but he seemed to understand in his own way.

I went on to explain.

“And our positions are very different. If we play a unit where we clearly have to show different strength points, which is neither dance nor vocal, and doesn’t meet people’s expectations, the situation can become ambiguous.”

“I’m not worried. We have great skills, let’s try it!”

Even if you’re not worried, I totally am, you bastard.

It would draw attention if the first and second-place winners formed a unit among themselves, and from there, some fans of other members would get upset.

However, if we failed to meet their expectations after performing on the stage, we could suffer losses without gaining anything.

So, in other words, I had no reason to do a unit with Cha Eugene.

“Challenge is good, but we’re at work. This is not a school, so you can’t challenge yourself however you want. You have to be careful.”

“…”

Cha Eugene slumped. It was the first time since Idol Inc that I’d seen him so discouraged.

‘I guess you have grand ambitions.’

I finally shrugged and opened my mouth.

“So, when the unit stage is confirmed and a good idea comes up… Why don’t we talk about it again then?”

“…!”

It meant it was a postponement, not a rejection.

‘I shouldn’t press him too hard.’

It was okay to bring Cha Eugene down to reality, but there was no need to blindly press him down.

Well, I might come up with some really good ideas.

Sure enough, Cha Eugene was excited again.

“Good! I have a lot of old men! Let’s talk a lot!”

You mean inspiration.

“I get inspiration only three times a day.”

“Umm… Got it!”

The conversation seemed to end with Cha Eugene snapping his fingers, but…

[Right! How about an underwater concert?]

“…”

Think of our concert budget.

‘I should’ve just discouraged him.’

I briefly regretted my choice.

But I never thought that the fuse would be ignited by something more trivial than this concert unit.

* * *

A few days later, Testar’s roommate reassignment content was uploaded to WeTube.

It was released only to the people who subscribed to the account membership so that they could see it a week earlier, but of course, illegal pirated copies spread everywhere.

It was thanks to Testar's popularity, but there were other reasons for the number of views in each illegally uploaded video.

– Crazy, hilarious ㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋ

It was incredibly funny.

Just like most of idol's own content aimed at fans, Testar's recent WeTube content was somewhat heartwarming and less provocative.

However, from this roommate content, the production PD changed, reviving the stimulating taste of Testar's debut reality show.

As T1 reorganized Testar's own content, they also recruited the production team that filmed the debut reality show.

They actively added character traits, drove them, and made good use of the editing twists.

[Bae Sejin (Investment addict): (After investing in everything, all I have left is 2 coins…! It's really just these coins now!)]

[Seon Ahyeon (Building owner): Ah, that… I ask Sejin hyung to collect 3 coins…]

[Bae Sejin (Just went bankrupt): !!!!]

Besides, there were so many unexpected situations in this game.

Thanks to this, the comments in the videos were filled with repeated laughter in foreign languages and Korean.

– Everyone, this video is so real, I almost threw up while laughing

– They're crazy, they're making each other go bankrupt ㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋ Guys, look after your territories, why do you keep selling them ㅠ

– (19:41) Cha Eugene's reaction the moment he got the highest amount through 1/216 odds probability ㅋㅋㅋㅋ

– Child Ryu Chungwoo and Bae Sejin ㅋㅋㅋ

ㄴI think they've never played a game where they have to make fake money because they've been making real money since they were young… (Pitying emoticon)

ㄴㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋNo, how can you talk about national team members and child actors as if they're illegal child labor!!

Fans encouraged people to report illegal videos, but inwardly, they liked the videos because they were so funny.

– I think it would help promoting to muggles… Is it the idol delusion? (resting chin emoticon)

– It's just for promotional purposes anyway, so don't be blinded by the small amount of money you get from the membership and release the video right away ㅠㅠ

– Ah, so much fun… I love you guys

– You waste your life if you don't dig up this funny group right away. Check out the best cost-effectiveness Testar that will bring back your laughter on WeTube now

– Lee Sejin's cute hand gesture that grabbed the soul of the bankrupt Baese… (GIF)

And the PD made the forming of the roommates after this game quite fun.

[Cha Eugene: Wow!! Moondae hyung! We're roommates!]

[Park Moondae: ….Wow? (I don't know English, but let's thank him first)]

Because the roommates were assigned to maximize the emotions each member expressed in a positive way.

And among them, the combination of Cha Eugene and Park Moondae, which was rarely seen after their debut, was quite entertaining and received good responses.

– I think Cha Eugene just picked Park Moondae because he was next to him ㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋ

– Moondae must have thought Eugene would pick Raebin, look at his expressionㅋㅋㅋㅋ

– Moon Puppy and Cha Kitty's combination, how long has it been~~ Show us more

– ㅅㅂOn the topic of Park Moondae being an introvert, Cha Eugene accepted everything he said, what a sweet cider maker

– This Incheon Tibetan fox dried up under the direct sunlight of the super extrovert Caliboy (screenshot)

Most of the fans who liked Testar and Park Moondae also liked this format. It was because their characters were strong and kind, so it was fun.

However, there were also some people who didn't like it.

Among Cha Eugene's solo fans, there were stuck-up people who had been there since the beginning of 'Idol Inc' drama.

– Ah, I see someone who pushes forward to be everyone's favorite even though he doesn't do anything blergh

– He can't get rid of the habit of instigating with emotion, he can't help it, just dieㅠ

– Gommeo that *sshole is showing his dirt, but his friends are trying to make him look like a kind person. After the summer package, is Euggene next?ㅋㅋ

Their argument was that Park Moondae forcibly staged the neglect of Cha Eugene and had it directed in a warm-hearted way.

Of course, this was not the general public opinion of Cha Eugene's fandom.

Their aggression had softened a lot thanks to Cha Eugene's successful debut, and their exclusivity had decreased a lot as they mixed in with new fans.

However, there were still some fans who questioned the legitimacy of Park Moondae's first-place ranking.

And their emotions led to a poor view of Park Moondae's solo performance.

Therefore, some people made these hateful remarks not only on anonymous sites or secret accounts under the surface, but also in public places.

This day was the same always.

– What are you guys doing?

However, the difference from before was that Park Moondae's fans didn't have to endure it any longer.

– (screenshot) The second-place's akkgaes are still doing this, It can't be helped that he got pushed out because he wasn't good enoughㅠㅠ

– Hn, the freaks are swamped with inferiority complexes~

– I think I'm going to throw up when I see freaks like you using his profile

– He can't appear on a solo variety show because he stupidly can't keep his mouth shut, what can we do about that? Does the 1st place have to take responsibility?ㅜ

In Idol Inc, they had no choice but to put up with it and be satisfied with behind-the-scenes work because of the preoccupation of Cha Eugene's fandom which had been immovably at the top since the beginning, but the situation had changed.

Because Park Moondae did great performances after his debut.

His appearance and stage continued to improve step by step, the influx of fans increased, and entertainment shows often hit popularity with each of his appearances.

Even in this album, his photo card market price had become similar to Cha Eugene's.

So, it was only natural that Park Moondae's radical solo fans secretly started thinking like this.

'Isn't it fine to openly beat them up now?'

And once they started to refute, curses and accusations began to pour out like a broken reservoir.

Of course, it wasn't just Cha Eugene's malicious solo fans alone.

Some people deleted their posts and disappeared, but the remaining people went under the surface and began to respond more violently.

– Ah, If you ask me not to talk freely in my account, just don't look. Why are you using force?ㅋㅋㅋㅋ

– Pretending to be an all-fan, but refusing to stream solo songs behind the scene. Wow, really, The idol and his suckers are the same

– Ugh, *sshole, thinking he's the popular member and going crazy. Yes, congratulations on being the pick of grandmothers and grandfathers who don't spend money~ (applause emoticon)

It was a complete mess.

– Whenever Cha Eugene isn't the center of the chorus, they use dirty methods such as using fax machines. We need to take this opportunity to root them out

– Park Moondae's akggaes have an open message room, why are you pretending not to know?ㅋㅋDo you enjoy spreading rumors? (screenshot)

Revelations upon revelations followed, and rumors and fake testimony sneakily came out.

– Let's be happy, guys

– I will block all the related content, I am just going to enjoy kids' content~

– Quit the fandom, please

Among the fans who hadn't dipped their toes into this, many who noticed the situation were disgusted or ignored it, but unsurprisingly, there were also people who expressed their opinions.

– Honestly, the solo fans are going too far, they're crazy

– Gommeo's are the same but Euggene's are all jerks, what's wrong with them

– Cha Eugene should have won first place. it got twisted from the beginning, you just gave me a chance to feel upsetㅋㅋㅋ

If things spread a bit more, it was only a matter of time before they entered SNS or community popular posts.

*'F*ck.'*

And it was at this point that Park Moondae saw this.

"…Eugene."

"Yes!"

“Let’s do a W live.”

After a short phone call with the company, Park Moondae turned on a personal live broadcast with Cha Eugene.

It was less than half a day after the situation was confirmed.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 174

Let me briefly summarize the current situation.

Some of Cha Eugene and Park Moondae's solo fandoms started fighting, and it was on the verge of spreading widely through public debate.

'It's driving me crazy.'

…Hmm, calm down.

I could just pretend not to know and moved on, but if the topic made it to the surface, we could be imprinted on the public as a 'tiring group', so I would try to patch it up lightly for now.

'That's why I'm going to turn on the W app.'

We had become roommates and things hadn't gone too far, so if we pretended we didn't know, it wouldn't look too obvious.

However, there was one thing I should pay attention to.

In this situation, there were a few things I needed to keep in mind if I wanted to broadcast anything with Cha Eugene.

– First, one person shouldn't teach the other.

In this case, the situation could lead to an implicit sequence, making it a weakness they could pounce on.

I could give examples such as 'He did his best to teach but the other guy's attitude is so insincere' or 'His teaching is forced'.

‘Therefore, things like ‘Joyful Cooking Class with Cha Eugene’ and ‘Joyful English Class with Park Moondae’ are dismissed.’

– Second, don’t choose things related to work.

The moment I chose a topic related to dancing or singing, a talk of comparison would come out, asking ‘Which one is better?’.

It would be perfect to make the conflict explode again.

And… the last third.

– Don’t choose competitive content.

People who were committed to one side could get offended by the other.

‘Therefore, hard bets or card games are not allowed. They’re out.’

So what should I recommend?

It was simple.

‘We should show the two of us doing something together as a team.’

The implication was subtle, so it didn’t feel forced, and it was best to just laugh and watch.

Even if we failed, being funny would be much better.

So I chose this.

“Woooow!”

Right away… It was a horror-themed escape room.

*‘F*ck.’*

I never thought I would willingly waste money like this, but I was looking for a room at an escape room cafe that was going to be remodeled soon, and

I paid quite a lot of money and ended the contract over the phone in an instant.

…It seemed I had lost quite a bit of money because I didn't have time to bargain.

'I'm glad the company said they would take care of the expenses.'

Of course, the expenses would be taken from my settlement amount.

Anyway, that's why I came to the escape room with Cha Eugene in the middle of the night when my schedule was empty.

Naturally, the staff with their smartphone cameras followed with sad eyes.

'I'm sorry.'

I didn't know it would be like this either.

"Whoa! Hyung, head! Watch out!"

However, Cha Eugene looked very excited. It was absurd.

"Weren't you afraid of this, too…?"

"It's so fake! I'm not scared! There are no ghosts!"

He meant that compared to the house we had gone to in our debut reality show last time, this was almost like a child's prank.

'Certainly… It's rather sloppy.'

Perhaps because of the labor costs, there were no employees who played ghost roles. In addition, the props and the wallpaper strangely smelled of cost-effectiveness.

'It's not for no reason that the room is going to get remodeled.'

There were very few sections where I had to use my brain, so I didn't have to get caught up with words such as, 'You can't even solve that?'

Sometimes they turned off the light to scare us, but it was okay as long as I had the right amount of courage and agility…

"Hyung, there's blood here!"

"…C-Crayons. It's melted crayons."

"Aha!"

I shouldn't express my desire to hit him. Let's just forget it.

Fortunately, or maybe unfortunately, I was able to forget the sloppiness and got myself immersed thanks to the structure that became creepier as the second half progressed.

Even Cha Eugene got scared when the mannequin came out of the red light at the end, so this picture was good.

"What the…!"

He held back from cursing. Good job.

Thanks to this, when we escaped and came out, we had a tight atmosphere as if we had overcome some kind of great adversity.

"You two managed to escape with 6 minutes and 21 seconds left~"

"WOOOW!! Look, escape!"

"On the way back… Let's eat something delicious."

– ㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋScaredy-catz

– Surprisingly, aren't they soul twins?

– ㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋCongratulations on your escape

– (Applause emoticon)

The live responses that the staff sneakily displayed were very good. The number of viewers was as high as the group W app.

“Is it over?’

For now, the content seemed successful.

“Thank you for watching.”

“Thank you! Thank you, guys~”

Like that, the W live ended right before midnight.

“Then I’ll go get the camera.”

We had agreed that today’s broadcast would be edited together with the cams installed in the room from different angles and uploaded separately to the W app.

…I almost lost it when I heard that the title would be [The Story of a Puppy and a Kitty Overcoming Their Fear] but I approved.

It was better to attract aggro that way.

‘It’s better…’

I checked my smartphone again with a sigh.

– Escape from horror with those two? The person in charge of the W live is evil ㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋ

– The second coming of reality show horror experiences

– I guess both of them miss Keunse

– A trembling puppy and kitty ㅋㅋ (screenshot)

– Moon Puppy who was brilliant for a moment and shrunk in an instant (screenshot comparison)

“What are you watching?”

“Fans’ reactions.”

“Aha.”

Cha Eugene nodded.

In fact, while preparing for this W live, I had explained why I was doing this.

Some of our fans didn’t get along well.

‘He must have figured out the situation.’

It seemed that this guy’s tactful attitude in the last fight between Lee Sejin and Bae Sejin was not a coincidence. It was nice because his unnecessary desire to compete was completely gone.

“Does everyone like it??”

“Yeah. It’s fine.”

Anyway, the response was very satisfying.

They were busy enjoying the content and the related content posted on real-time trends and popular articles right now, so the topic of the behind-the-scene fights had already been pushed aside.

Except for the people who fought, it was hard for anyone to care.

‘Cha Eugene’s and Park Moondae’s fans have good firepower.’

A few days later, when someone else tried to raise their voice, a newly edited version would be uploaded. It was basically over.

“Are we going to eat something delicious now?”

“Tomorrow. It’s late, so drink zero coke.”

“Yes….”

…However, after getting in the car to go back to the dorm, I found something troubling.

It was the posts uploaded by some of Cha Eugene’s malicious fans who had fled to anonymous sites.

– Wow~ Amazing, look at the timing again ㅎ

– You’re making it so obvious that you care about the public opinion, you disgusting bastard

– I’ve thought about it. Gommeo, let go of Euggene

– ㅋㅋㅋㅋI feel like the*sshole Park Moondae is spying on us while browsing

‘It’s here.’

I had a hunch that someone might be talking about this.

‘I handled a few cases too smoothly.’

Every time there was a controversy, it turned out alright, so some people might connect the dots and think, ‘Is this bastard doing this because he knows everything?’.

However, whether it was this time or in the past, there was no circumstantial evidence.

Because I prefer to respond first, there were many cases where I was one step ahead or came out at the same time to crush them.

It would be difficult to regard this as ‘responding to a controversy’. They’d thought the timing was right.

Furthermore, since I didn’t comment on such things, anyone who suspected it would easily think that it was the company that set up the board.

So my assessment always ended with just the right response or luck.

Somehow… it was fun.

‘Even though they’re the ones who post that, they don’t believe it.’

They were just pissed off so they insisted on that situation.

However, if you put it together, the samples would eventually pile up and become a plausible topic… I had that concern.

‘Well, that’s also true.’

I shrugged. Still, I didn’t want to give them a win.

So I thought.

‘Then how do I get rid of this?’

Since it had already started, I wanted to root it out so there would be no room for complaints.

‘It’s best to disrupt them by making them fight among themselves. Or make them transfer to another fresh group.’

From Cha Eugene’s point of view, it would be good in the long run if their influence weakened. That’s why…

“Hyung! Would you like a coke??”

“…Huh, what?”

When I turned my head, Cha Eugene, who had bought coke zero, was in the car holding a small plastic bottle.

“Um, are you drinking? Are you going to drink…? You’re going to eat?”

Cha Eugene earnestly changed his words. It seemed he thought I replied like that because his words weren’t conveyed properly.

“It’s fine. You drink it.”

[Oh, okay. Hyung, are you worried about something?]

“…!”

“Hyung, you’re tired. You look like you are.”

“It’s late at night.”

[Not that! Um… Like, psychologically?]

“…”

This guy… He noticed that.

I looked over at Cha Eugene with suspicious eyes and finally sighed.

Let’s answer him properly.

“It’s because I’m paying attention to the response. It’s not a big deal.”

“Oh, there are a lot of people who don’t like it?”

“No, it’s just… Nothing’s missing.”

“Aha.”

Cha Eugene sipped his zero coke and spoke seriously.

[But don’t worry too much, hyung. How can you change everyone else’s mind at will?]

“…!”

Cha Eugene shrugged.

[My mom said that there are always people who hate you in your life! But ignore them, and voila! It keeps going. Don’t stress over it!]

“…”

Hmm. He gave advice that unimaginably made sense.

Somehow… My head cooled down.

I thought about it again.

Will there be a problem if I don’t immediately take care of the people who escape to this anonymous bulletin board?

‘Maybe, maybe not.’

So if that ‘problem’ occurs, will it be hard to deal with?

“…”

‘No.’

Even if I kept quiet and then solve it at that time, it wasn’t going to be a difficult problem.

Besides, it wouldn’t be a big deal if my intense monitoring became known. Even in the worst-case scenario, people would just be more self-conscious.

Rather, if I made a mistake when trying to pull them all out, there was a high probability that the problem would grow.

I eventually acknowledged it.

‘I was a bit… overreacting.’

Normally, I would have already brushed it off and stopped caring, but I hated that someone was trying to figure me out.

‘Do I have some kind of obsessive-compulsive personality?’

After entering the body of another person and being engaged in a job group that required dealing with many people in various ways, my brain had hardened before I knew it.

“Sigh.”

I turned off the anonymous bulletin board on the screen and tossed my phone aside.

And I said.

“You’re right. I need to snap out of it.”

“Of course, I’m right!”

You’re very confident.

[Ah, hyung. There’s one more! Don’t forget that there is always an option to sue!]

He also gave very American advice.

“Yes.”

“Good!“

I never thought I’d hear this.

I chuckled. And I leaned against the backrest.

‘Should I close my eyes?’

At the same time, Cha Eugene would be able to drink my share of coke zero with peace of mind.

And just as I closed my eyes, someone hit me hard on the shoulder.

“Oh, hyung! I’ll tell you my old man! Let’s have a circus performance!”

“…”

Being roommates for half a year… I didn’t know if I could stand it.

* * *

After suffering from sleep deprivation in between, I eventually threatened and coaxed Cha Eugene with snacks to make him shut up for several days.

The company talked about the concert, and naturally, there were also talks about new content.

By the way, I was optimistic. If there were a lot of things to enjoy, it was better to push out useless nonsense.

However, the company’s talk was not like what I had thought. It was different.

“I’m planning a new reality show.”

A reality show was good. It would have been nice if it was done at the time of the album release, but it would be good to fill in the hiatus during the tour…

“I’m thinking of going to America!”

“…?”

I should have noticed then.

The payment bot left and a new director came in… with American disease.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 175

It was two days ago that I found out that the director was changing.

“Again?”

“That’s what I said! But I thought he’d fulfill his term this year.”

According to the rumors, there were several talks between the payment bot and the higher-ups as the industry spy case entered T1’s head office.

And whatever agreement they had, the payment bot retired and left for an affiliate, and a new director was appointed in his place.

“The director said he’s not from T1 this time. Some famous professional CEO is coming!”

“I look forward to it.”

I wasn’t expecting anything, but well, I couldn’t do anything about it, so I nodded to the company staff.

By the way, this was a concert-related meeting.

“Then the direction of Moondae-ssi’s solo song will be set like this.”

“Yes. Thank you.”

This meant that I didn’t expect to hear the unexpected talk of the trip to the US at the reality show meeting two days later.

“America?”

“I like it! Let’s go to America!”

“Ah, Eugene, wait a minute. America is good~ But will our schedule and the cost be fine? We almost don’t come near America at all on our tour.”

As soon as he heard the remark, ‘For this reality show, you’re going to America’, Keun Sejin smoothly brought up the realistic issue.

‘His point is accurate.’

When we said that we got a certain amount of response from the US, what we meant was that we had a reputation worthy of the first-tier group in Korea only among KPOP fanatics.

The interest we received from the game talk show helped us gain some popularity in the subculture, but only at a small level.

This meant that the size of the tour was not as we had expected, and of course, the concert in the US only matched that range.

“Oh, they said that they plan the flights according to the South American tour schedule. About the cost, of course, Tnet will invest this much on Testar~”

“Oh~”

“I’m grateful, but what if there’s a situation where we can’t recover the production cost…”

A few naive guys were embarrassed by the staff’s flattery.

‘It’s strange.’

They suddenly brought up America. The cost-performance ratio didn’t fit.

I purposely asked straightforwardly, in order to see the staff’s reaction.

“But why America? Did Tnet suggest it first?”

“Ah, um… It’s what the director suggested…”

“…The new director?”

“Yes.”

It had only been two days since I heard that the director changed, when did he make that proposal?

“What reason did he tell you when he talked about it?”

“Well, first of all, I didn’t hear it directly from him… Well, since he chose it with the simultaneous global release in mind, he said that he chose a background that is familiar to the world.”

He created holes to escape and gave a vague answer. It seemed he had something on his mind.

‘Let’s dig a little more.’

Before I could open my mouth, Ryu Chungwoo continued with the next question.

“Simultaneous global release?”

“Yes. We are discussing releasing this reality show directly on WeTube outside of Korea!”

Cha Eugene stepped in.

“A lot of Americans are going to watch it?”

“…! Uh, yes. We talked about it, but…”

Looking at the agitated staff, it was clear that Cha Eugene had accidentally stumbled upon the right answer.

‘They’re aiming for the English speakers.’

Trying this reality show was not a bad thing, but the problem was that the director's preference was visible here.

Rather than selecting content to appease domestic fans during the overseas tour and preventing them from leaving, he was thinking of increasing overseas viewers.

Not a country where KPOP was already familiar, but the US that 'apparently watches KPOP'.

'Let's put it off for now.'

It would be better to check whether they would be cautious when we showed our reluctance.

I looked around the members and opened my mouth.

"Can we discuss it among ourselves first and then talk about it at the next meeting?"

"Right~ I think that would be better!"

Keun Sejin fired a support shot, but the responding staff's speech got longer.

"Ah, of course! However, Testar's opinions naturally will be considered but the final decision is made by the program producers after taking various realistic requirements into account… I'm really sorry about that, but I ask for your understanding."

This meant that even if we didn't want to go to America at the next meeting, they would send us away.

*'F*ck.'*

It must have already been half-decided because of the strong push from the inside. Still, because of the industry spy case, they showed signs of being cautious.

“Then I’ll see you next week.”

“Thank you~”

After that, we left the meeting room while talking about the content we wanted to do in the reality show.

“What do you think? About America.”

“Let’s go! Go to my home. There are a lot of delicious restaurants! Mom miss hyungs!”

“Ah~ that’s nice.”

“I-I wish I could say hello.”

Cha Eugene fiercely supported it, and other members seemed to think it was only natural.

‘It can’t be helped.’

He had fewer chances to meet his family compared to other members, so if there was a way to meet them, he would want to use it.

‘He must be homesick.’

If we would go anyway, it would be better to go to Cha Eugene’s house in regard to the content.

‘It would be better to set the mood before that.’

From what I noticed earlier, maybe there would be some gestures in the company before the next meeting.

And sure enough, the next morning at the company practice room, we received a new schedule from the manager.

“Guys, the director said he wanted to see you.”

“Ah, the director.”

“…Now?”

“About an hour later? They said it won’t take long!”

Bae Sejin’s face was gloomy when he asked.

It was understandable.

‘The break time is gone.’

We were in the middle of a busy schedule, so we were barely able to make use of our time and enjoy a break in the practice room.

“I understand…”

“Um, yes!”

The responses were not very enthusiastic.

Still, an hour later, Testar headed to the director’s office for the first time in a long time.

Seeing that even Seon Ahyeon, who had recently switched to French embroidery or something, glanced at the pile of cloth with regretful eyes, it was clear that the general manager had made his first impression.

‘We’d rather spend the meeting time doing anything else.’

He only managed to buy our slight animosity while trying to establish his position in a hurry.

I entered the director’s office, suspecting that someone who wasn’t good at their job was in there again.

And I was a little surprised by an unexpected sight.

“Ah, Testar. I’m sorry I called you out of the blue. Sit down first.”

The director was waiting with refreshments set up.

It wasn't at a trivial level that matched the occasion. From chicken to waffles, all kinds of snacks were brought out as if it was some kind of event.

It was like an academy briefing session to attract children, but at least he expressed his intention clearly enough.

He was saying 'I set up this position with you guys'.

"I called you while you were taking a break, right? You must be busy these days, I feel bad so I prepared some snacks, haha!"

"Oh my, of course, it's fine, director!"

"T-Thank you."

"Shall we talk while eating?"

And the director first picked up a chicken.

Seeing that he just put it down after it roughly touched his mouth, I guessed he didn't want to eat it, and he seemed to know that it was inconvenient for other people to eat comfortably if he didn't eat first.

'Oh.'

Still, I felt like he'd been close with the staff. He was also much younger than the former director.

.

The director chatted for a while and after waiting for the kids to eat, he started talking about work.

"The first reason I prepared this was to have a meeting where we can see each other's faces and greet each other. Please take good care of me in the future."

“Ah, please take care of us!”

We exchanged light handshakes.

“And the second reason is… I think you’ve already heard about it. It’s related to the reality show in the US.”

The director clasped his hands with a serious face.

“I am drawing a roadmap to target the US market not only for this period but also from a longer-term perspective.”

“Yes…?”

Ah, damn it.

“I checked all your albums and activities before I came here.”

The director talked about Testar’s activities and explained his analysis with a serious look.

“…And it’s clear that America likes it. Underdog, social message, pride and individuality in one’s roots. What do you think, Eugene-nim? Am I right?”

“Oh, you’re right!”

“Yes. And Testar is a team with styles that meets all three. So I’m sure it will work out in a bigger market as well.”

“Oh…!”

It was nonsense.

First of all, those three conditions were an excessive leap of logic, and Cha Eugene was excited because he just ate delicious food, so when the person who bought the food asked his opinion, he just agreed.

And more importantly, if all three conditions were met, groups who didn’t get beaten down by America would be as many as the stars in the sky.

‘I had a false hope.’

The problem was, this bastard was confident in analyzing the data in his own way. And he seemed to have a lot of confidence in his abilities.

Ryu Chungwoo managed to open his mouth.

“Well, thank you for your kind words, but rather than targeting any particular country or class… The team has been working to focus on making good albums.”

“Of course! You just have to keep making good music. I was saying that the company would work harder on how to promote and manage that good music.”

He had a way with words.

“Honestly, I think we’ve lacked support from T1 Stars so far. Rather than sharing my vision with everyone, I was in a hurry to chase after it.”

The director’s eyes were serious.

“For example, the size of this concert tour in Japan. I heard that <Idol Inc.> was well-received from the first episode aired in Japan, so we should have quickly increased the size of the tour, set up additional schedules, and analyzed Japan’s needs, but we didn’t do anything like that.”

Oh, this was pretty new.

I’d been busy lately, so I hadn’t gotten a chance to find out more about the responses in other countries, but now that I thought about it, as he said, it was something that the agency should have looked into earlier.

‘Still, it’s better to not do anything now than pointlessly do something in a strange direction.’

For example, if he had been there instead of the payment bot, we would have been on a Japanese music show out of the blue.

However, the director was deeply immersed in his analysis, and he was so enthusiastic that he was almost spitting out.

“So what’s the result? <Idol Inc.> was a big hit in Japan, and while Testar’s stock prices continued to rise, the agency put the activities in Japan on hold.”

“Um, is that so?”

“Is the upward trend that strong in Japan?”

At the remarks of the flustered Ryu Chungwoo and the curious Kim Raebin, the director took out his pad, excited to boast his knowledge.

And with a smart gesture, he flicked the screen.

“Have you seen this?”

It was a slide of a PPT made with an up-to-date template.

And the content… It was about a Japanese auction product screenshot. There was nothing special about it other than the price range.

However, Seon Ahyeon’s face was clearly visible on the product.

It was a photo card that was given out in a lottery at the beginning of the year as an event for public interest campaigns by some broadcasting company.

It was probably taken behind the scene at the request of the broadcasting staff right after the stage where the ear-in fell off and Seon Ahyeon covered it up with a somersault.

‘That situation was oddly unique’

In addition, considering that it was Seon Ahyeon’s photo, it was as good as ever, and I remembered that the original photo data was finally uploaded to the broadcasting station’s SNS after a barrage of requests.

Still, it seemed that the first few cards released in the event were quite premium, but I didn't know that it would go all the way to Japan and form such a price range.

"This is almost 500,000 won in Korean currency. It's strong proof that the demand for Testar is increasing significantly in Japan. In particular, they gave good responses to Seon Ahyeon-nim."

"Y-Yes…"

Seon Ahyeon's face turned red. The director exclaimed enthusiastically.

"So now is the time to be more aggressive in targeting overseas markets. Since we invaded Japan so easily, I am sure that we will be able to achieve enough results in the United States if we work hard and break through good routes."

"…."

Now I got it.

'I guess 'Now that I heard it, it's true' came back with an A grade to deal with this guy.'

This proved my theory again.

I held back a sigh and opened my mouth.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 176

First of all, one thing to point out, just because I had the characteristic ‘Now that I heard it, it’s true’, it didn’t mean I could be all-around persuasive.

Let’s look at the description of the characteristic again.

[Characteristic: Now that I heard it, it’s true(A)]

– It causes emotional agitation to the ‘listener’

: Activation rate 60%, basic activation state

It caused ’emotional agitation’ but that didn’t mean they would be convinced of whatever I was saying.

In other words, it was an assisting wheel to various types of communication situations, ranging from stage to conversation.

Therefore, in order to string around this America-obsessed director, I had to come up with a convincing reason.

Then where should I prod him?

I had to stimulate this guy’s inner desire that wanted to go to America.

Namely, the ‘image’.

“If it goes well in the U.S., that would be great, but… How long are you planning on doing this?”

The director was outspoken in his answer, as if he had already made all the plans.

“Two years if it’s short and about three years if it takes a long time. It’s a fully feasible plan.”

This meant that it would fill the period until the contract ended.

‘That shouldn’t happen.’

I asked right away.

“But if we work in the US for that long, won’t all the Korean fans leave?”

“Haha, that’s all in the past. These days, everyone knows the world news through WeTube or SNS. You all speak Korean anyway, right? Korean fans have more access.”

“Hmm… Then I think they’ll hate it even more.”

“Yes?”

“No. When we go to America, we have to start it all from scratch without having any recognition, but I think they’ll hate it if they have to see it all.”

I deliberated paused and then added.

“They think we’re a great team, but wouldn’t they think differently if we start from the bottom in America?”

“…!”

“If in Korea they don’t see things going well for two to three years, I don’t think our image will recover.”

“That’s right~ I think other countries are responding because we’re doing much better than we normally are! As the director said, everyone in the world knows everything in real-time these days~”

Keun Sejin interrupted with a smile. I continued right away.

“The reaction in Japan you mentioned earlier, I think they got immersed in the program because they know that we succeeded in Korea after <Idol Inc.>.”

“…Mmm.”

A strange look passed over the director’s face, along with the displeasure at being talked back by young idiots who hadn’t even graduated from college.

It was the agitation of being bothered by something.

And at that moment, a pop-up came up.

[‘Now that I heard it, it’s true (A)’ activated!]

‘Done.’

It was plausible to predict that the Korean market, which had already been established, would be shaken by the broken image of Testar’s brand in Korea because of its devotion to the US for two to three years.

Originally, he could have said something like, ‘If it goes according to my master plan, we’ll succeed in America, so it doesn’t matter!’ but here, the characteristic popped out and his agitation intensified.

‘Now all I have to do is make a stake that the director can afford to lose.’

So that he could rationalize it with ‘being considerate of the singers’ while quietly withdrawing.

“…It’s because we’re anxious.”

“T-That’s right.”

“We’re still growing in Korea, so I want to work harder to reach the top.”

The members also fired their support shots.

We’d already been in agreement since the last meeting.

– It’s good to film a reality show in the US, but having America as the target is a bit…

– It’s weird. It’s like they’re saying they’re aimlessly aiming for Hollywood

– I think it’s a perfect metaphor, hyung!

– W-Whatever…!

Through this process, the conversation had already ended, concluding that if there was any more talk about America, we would cut them off.

Here, Ryu Chungwoo carefully added the last words.

“Until our position is solid enough to receive Grand Prize in Korea… Can’t you think about it some more? Please.”

“…”

The director twitched his eyebrows for a moment, then shrugged as if he was the bigger man.

“Well, it can’t be helped. Since it’s an entertainment business, the thoughts of the parties involved are important. I think your opinion should be respected.”

“Thank you!”

Now, we just had to leave before he could change his mind.

“Phew.”

When I left the director’s office, sighs of relief were heard here and there.

“I never thought he would really let it go.”

“I-I was surprised.”

‘At least I bought time until the end of the year.’

If we happened to win the Grand Prize this time…then. Well, at that time, our right to speak would be stronger, so negotiations would be easier.

Ryu Chungwoo came out and hit Keun Sejin on the back.

“Good job.”

“What’s with you?”

“Sigh.”

“Are we still going to America? Are we going to my house?”

“Yes, we’ll go there”

There wasn’t anything I could do about the reality show.

“Wow!”

Cha Eugene raised both his hands.

Gazes that said ‘I am glad you’re happy’ secretly fell on Cha Eugene and then disappeared.

‘Still, it’s going well.’

I had met with the director and was convinced.

He was the type to get overconfident in his work, but not difficult to deal with.

‘He just has to put himself in the position of a giver.’

Above all, it was better to want to grow Testar itself rather than thinking about using us for T1.

‘I just need to change the flow.’

I stretched myself. There seemed to be a strange noise coming from my shoulders.

“Sigh, do you want me to give you a massage?”

“It’s fine.”

From ‘Present’ to the current repackage ‘Picnic’, my body felt a little sluggish after rushing non-stop

‘Still, the results are great.’

Although the music shows of this album’s activity had ended, the music score was still good.

‘Although we were beaten by VTIC at the last minute.’

VTIC, who pre-released the song from the same composer yesterday, climbed up the music charts at a terrifying pace.

‘It can’t be helped.’

However, the text message I received yesterday was a bit annoying.

– Thank you for the song, hubae. ^^

He even sent me a screenshot of the music chart.

I got pissed off for a moment, but after realizing that I didn’t have to deal with him in the current peaceful status quo, I calmed down.

‘Now… Should I just decide on the concert unit performance?’

Whether to add a unit stage to the composition, and if so, who to form with.

It’s not like there was a particularly huge landmine hiding there, but I just had to consider the quality of the concert and Cha Eugene’s fighting spirit.

‘I’d like to do a unit with someone else, like Kim Raebin.’

Thinking of the unit candidates I had originally thought of, I thought about how to separate myself from Cha Eugene.

However, before I could make the final decision, something happened that would make a major impact on the decision-making.

The edited version of the horror room escape with Cha Eugene was uploaded.

* * *

[Moon Puppy and Cha Kitty's number one horror escape | Testar Roommate Extra EP.1]

This video, which was slightly more distinctive from the preliminary title Park Moondae had heard, provided a different kind of fun from the real-time W live at the time.

When viewed live, the video was transmitted through a shaken smartphone camera, so it was like a fake documentary in the style of found footage.

However, in this video, that feeling was left out and entertainment editing was added.

So, rather than the immersion in escaping the horror room, the characters of those two were more emphasized.

[The theme of this room is… The nightmare of a child who has picked up a strange doll… Hmm, this is why garbage sorting is important.]

[Are you afraid of dolls? I hate nightmares!]

Before entering, Park Moondae was calm and Cha Eugene was making a fuss.

Even after entering, this format was similar but the position was reversed.

[Hyung, hyung! That hair over there! The Teddy Bear's hair is human hair! It's not pretty!]

[Put that down, put it down, Eugene.]

Cha Eugene made a fuss and Park Moondae calmly freaked out.

And at the end of the game, they threw away the initial format and were both terrified and trembling.

It was because they got immersed in the story, but there was no such gag for the fans who could see one step away from it due to the editing.

[Like this… If you get it right… Is it an English sentence?]

[It is! Umm~ THIS IS NOT A DREAM… It's not a dream!! It's not a dream!!]

[W-Wait, wait.]

Gugugugung!

Suddenly, the lights flashed red, and the crude mannequin in the corner turned its head.

[Hiiii!]

The sight of those two jumping backwards while holding each other was truly worth seeing even through the infrared camera.

And as soon as they saw the video theme, people were satisfied with the picture they had expected.

– (00:57) (05:14) (13:09) Both their eyes get bigger over time ㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋ

– It's the mannequin's fault. It threatened the two scaredy-cats

– ㅅㅂ This is the first time I've seen Park Moondae rely on Cha Eugene like that ㅋㅋㅋㅋㅠㅠㅠ

– It's heartwarming to see them pulling each other's clothes because they won't damage the property. Law-abiding idols

ㄴㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋCrazy

Both of them had the strongest mentality, almost second to none, but thanks to the additional explanation that they chose the content themselves, there were very few people who felt particularly uncomfortable watching it.

[It was fun. It was refreshing.]

[Let’s do it again one day!!]

[Yeah.]

After escaping, they naturally liked it as if it had been done easily, it was an example of a great idol’s content.

And it settled down better than Park Moondae expected.

– Scaredy-catz will continue to walk the path of fear…

Under the nickname ‘Scaredy-catz’.

In fact, it was as if they were giving suggestions to the people who wanted to group first place and second place together but had no special connection.

The fierce battle of solo fans who bared their teeth under the surface was so noticeable that people who liked them both reacted strongly.

“…”

In the end, Park Moondae, who only monitored in moderation, also said this to Cha Eugene.

“Hey, let’s do a unit.”

“Wow!”

It was a plain declaration of surrender.

However, in order to avoid direct comparison with the unit of the last concert, the timing of the unit stage was slightly adjusted.

“Then the unit stage will be revealed later during the encore concert?”

“Good, good~”

It was the conclusion of the final concert concept meeting.

Instead, they added some surprises to the tour.

“People will be surprised, right?”

“I think they will fall over laughing.”

Everything was neat.

Testar finished the preparation for the concert step by step without any particular conflict.

Under the direction of the new director, the agency even gave Testar a long 10-day vacation before the tour’s final rehearsal.

Along with the wonderful words, ‘It is also the company’s duty to manage the artist’s condition’.

‘Are you trying to get a head start?’

Park Moondae was not very impressed, but he welcomed the vacation anyway.

It was time for everyone to take a break.

* * *

“After a long time, I’m going home~”

“Let’s get some rest.”

“I’ll say hello often.”

They left the dorm after a loud farewell as if we were parting for half a year.

– I-If you don’t mind… Do you want to come over?

– My grandmother said she was impressed with the Groom in May.

– I’m looking for a house to move in with my mom, but, uh, if you have plans too, it’d be nice if you could share!

A few people invited me to go to their house together, but I declined.

‘I’m finally alone.’

I cheered as I reviewed the ten-day seclusion plan.

I established an emergency contact network with the company in case I got sick and received first-aid medicine. I also bought porridge.

‘It’s just a cold anyway.’

It didn’t matter if I got sick. The vacation was ten days long, so even if I got sick for about three days, I would be able to rest for a week with a sane mind.

‘Let’s not monitor too often.’

Funnily enough, I decided to reflect on Cha Eugene’s advice this time.

‘I can rest for a few days.’

The director was very interested in Testar, so he must have strengthened the Internet monitoring within the company.

This meant that I could expect to be contacted if a problem occurred.

“All right.”

Smartphones were also set to silent except for emergency calls. I even put up a status message.

– Vacation. Slow to check.

Like this.

I picked up my smartphone to double-check and found that the screen was already on.

The phone was ringing.

[VTIC Cheongryeo sunbae-nim]

I wasn’t really happy about this.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 177

Regardless of whether you saw Cheongryeo as a senior competitor in the same industry or a crazy person with reset syndrome, he was definitely not the kind of person you wanted to contact on the first day of your vacation.

‘Should I ignore it?’

The temptation was intense.

…However, it bothered me that it was not a text message, unlike usual.

‘He could have texted me, but instead, he called.’

If it was an emergency, not picking up the call could end up leading to more trouble.

For example… If it was something related to the composer.

*‘Let’s take a f*cking break.’*

I finally sighed and answered the phone.

“Hello.”

– Ah, hubae-nim. I’m sorry, but you’re on vacation, right?

This bastard saw the status message and still dared to call me.

“…Yes. I get a vacation.”

– Then you must be staying in the dorm.

For some reason, I had a hunch that I would face a very annoying situation.

I changed my words.

“I am going to go out now. I was thinking of going down to the countryside to rest.”

– I see. Then can I have a moment?

“Yes?”

When I wondered what nonsense he was saying, he immediately added an explanation.

– Ah, we’re filming right now.

“…!”

– Hm… It’s KBC’s <Instant Roadmap> and ‘close junior’ is the keyword for the place recommendations.

<Instant Roadmap>. It was a plan to travel around Korea for half a day by chance through a lottery filled with viewer requests.

In short, a random trip.

And it was also a program that was consistently doing well enough to be picked by VTIC, which was about to make a comeback.

‘I heard that it has content where they have to instantly invites acquaintances to participate, is that it?’

I was probably the most well-known among the guys who had free time, but I didn’t intend to work from the first day of my vacation.

With this guy.

Of course, I couldn’t show my dislike in a situation where the filming tape was running, so I spoke softly.

“Uh… Thank you, sunbae-nim. But I’ll move down really soon… I don’t have much time. What can I do about this?”

When I said it in a somewhat regretful tone, a troubled voice returned from the other side of the phone.

– I called Moondae-ssi because you’re right nearby… Can’t you just do it for a few seconds? You only need to draw lots once.

“…”

– It can’t be helped if you’re uncomfortable with it.

*‘I am so f*cking uncomfortable with it, you bastard.’*

However, if I refused it here and the editing didn’t work properly, I was the only one who lost.

Some people would definitely try to interpret it as an implication that the guy who was having a vacation and staying in the dorm refused his senior.

And the fact that this guy showed a submissive attitude meant that he must have been aiming for that too.

‘You’re crossing the line.’

I would make sure to pay him back for this one.

“Of course. As you said, I will try to make time somehow.”

– Really? I’m sorry and thank you. I’ll buy you something delicious later.

I tried to push an image of a junior who was troubled by power abuse, but it didn’t work. That damn bastard.

“Are you coming now?”

– Yes, I’ll go there. Hmm… I think I’ll be there in five minutes.

“All right.”

– See you in a little bit.

I heard Cheongryeo’s laughter over the phone, then he hung up the call.

‘How annoying.’

I held back a sigh, put on my mask and hoodie, and came out.

‘I should have gone with the others.’

Like Bae Sejin said, it would have been better to go around seeing Seoul brand apartments sale.

‘I would have a market price.’

Well, this pissed me off.

It was the morning just after rush hour, so the complex was quiet. I checked out a black car already waiting in front of the main gate.

Someone waved slightly out of the window as if to identify me.

‘Is that it?’

As I approached, the front passenger door opened immediately.

“…!”

I saw Cheongryeo holding the steering wheel on the other side of it.

“Good morning, Moondae-ssi.”

“Good morning, sunbae-nim.”

“You came down quickly. Thank you.”

“First of all… Shall we start by saying hello to the camera?”

Perhaps it was the section where the staff hadn't joined yet, Cheongryeo was alone in the car. And cameras were visible from all angles around the driver's seat.

What Cheongryeo took was the camera mounted in front of the passenger seat.

I put myself in the passenger seat and said a greeting.

"Hello. I am Testar's Park Moondae… Sunbae-nim, what about the lottery?"

"The PD will tell us as we move. I'll take a short walk around here, so can I get in touch with you?"

It had gotten more troublesome. But now that I'd come this far, I couldn't even throw up in front of the camera.

"Yes, of course."

I got into the passenger seat for now. As soon as the door closed, Cheongryeo filled in the audio.

"Don't forget your seat belt."

"Yes."

Even if you don't tell me, there's no way I won't put it on, you bastard.

As I turned around with my belt on, I suddenly became conscious of the smartphone in my pocket.

'Come to think of it, wouldn't it be better to contact the company?'

I didn't think of it because I was suddenly contacted on the first day of vacation, but it was beneficial for both of us to report it even if I just appeared briefly as a cameo.

'I'll have to contact them as soon as I get off.'

Since we were in the middle of filming, it was better not to touch the smartphone as much as possible.

It was then.

‘…?’

I had a strange sense of incompatibility.

…In the middle of filming.

I looked at the camera again.

‘The light’s off.’

The on-air sign was usually processed with red light, but this camera had no signs of that.

No, not just this camera, but the others as well.

‘...Is it a matter of the filming format?’

Still, I reached out to the camera, just in case it got turned off due to an error or abnormality.

At that moment.

Swoosh.

Suddenly, something flew to my face and clenched violently.

“…!”

“Done.”

Something like a white cloth covered my eyes, nose, and mouth. Suddenly, I was suffocated and a strange volatile smell stung my brain.

“Whoop.”

When I tried to immediately lift both of my hands and tear off the cloth, my mind instantly turned hazy.

*'F*ck…'*

I tried to bite my tongue, but it was too late.

I blacked out.

* * *

"…Gasp!"

"Ah, you're awake?"

My head hurt like sh*t.

At the pain that felt like shaking my brain, I reflexively tried to press my head, but both of my hands came up.

Clang.

Silver… handcuffs.

'...Handcuff?'

Even when my head was about to explode, I had a strong feeling that something was wrong.

"Drink some."

A silicone cup suddenly appeared in front of me.

The owner of that hand… F*ck, it was Cheongryeo.

"What kind of situation is this?"

"Hm, drink some water first…"

“If it were you, would the water go down your throat right now, you f*cking bastard?”

“…”

If I was in a clearer state of mind, I would have reacted more calmly, but I had guessed roughly what the situation was and got even more pissed off.

I tried to analyze the situation, pressing my head with both hands as much as I could.

This bastard got me into the car because it was a broadcast, and there was some kind of cloth…

‘Was it an anesthetic?’

Then, of course, the broadcast was a bait to catch me.

Of course, the camera wasn’t on.

*‘F*ck…!’*

I couldn’t believe I got caught up in something like this. No, first of all, this wasn’t a crime movie, and this situation itself was ridiculous.

I took a deep breath and raised my head again. At last, I saw the surroundings.

‘…It’s not an apartment.’

Looking at the ceiling and the floor, it seemed to be an old house. In other words, there was a high probability that it was somewhere remote.

‘Even if I started screaming, there’s no way this bastard hadn’t thought of that.’

In other words, a place where you wouldn’t be disrupted right away even if you killed a person… I surmised.

‘I’m going crazy.’

Why are you flipping out all of a sudden?

I swallowed dry saliva. And I thought as calmly as possible.

First, question him.

“…Why the hell did you knock a person out and drag him away? Where is this?”

“I have something to suggest. I don’t think you’ll be willing to hear it so I prepared for the long run.”

Cheongryo shrugged his shoulders and put the water cup next to me. And I realized that my feet were also restrained.

So f*cking thorough.

“What is your suggestion?”

“Hm… It could be a boring topic. You know, starting over.”

I knew this crazy bastard would bring that up as his reason.

.

However, this timing was so sudden.

“You said you were satisfied with the status quo. And you said you’d try to adjust, too, sunbae-nim.”

“Ah, about that.”

Cheongryeo stared down this way without moving an inch.

“There’s a problem.”

“…Yes?”

“One of the members will be charged with a criminal case.”

“…!!”

“It’s a little messy. I don’t think I can fix it. It’s only natural to expel him from the group, but… In the aftermath, the comeback will be difficult to schedule.”

F*ck. I didn’t know where to start. I swallowed my saliva.

“…Still, if that person leaves the group, wouldn’t there be no problem with the group?”

“Yes? haha. Hubae-nim. Why are you pretending not to know?”

Cheongryeo laughed.

“VTIC is not a multi-person group with 10 members, so if one of us leaves, the impact is great. There will be some issues with our image, so it’s almost certain that this will be a signal of our downward trend.”

Cheongryeo pulled up a chair and sat across from me.

“The company also started talking about the next group, so isn’t it safe to say that we’re over?”

This wasn’t going to work. I had to play it up.

“…In the future I was in, I haven’t heard anything big about VTIC. Maybe it won’t turn into a big incident…”

“You said you don’t know anything because you were a test examinee.”

“VTIC is a big group, so if there was an incident like that, I would have seen it on the news somewhere…”

“Haha, don’t try too hard.”

“…”

He wasn’t in a state to listen to anything. It wouldn’t be strange if he hit my head right now…

‘A weapon.’

I immediately looked around. To see if there were any tools that could be used as a weapon.

“What are you doing?”

“…I am wondering where this place is.”

“Oh, we have plenty of time, so you can take your time figuring it out.”

What is he saying?

“Of course, it depends on your choice, but… Hmm, let’s get back on the topic of my suggestion.”

Cheongryeo asked with a smile.

“Why don’t you try to commit suicide?”

Goosebumps ran down my spine. Crazy bastard.

“Are you crazy?”

“I knew it. This isn’t the time for you to be reluctant.”

He nodded his head thoughtfully.

“It’s better if I die myself, right? But I want to avoid killing myself as much as possible.”

There was no common-sense reason such as ‘because I was reluctant’.

“I don’t know if I can go back after I die… I don’t want to add unnecessary variables.”

“…”

“Hubae-nim, aren’t you like that too? We must avoid the terrible situation of not being able to go back to the beginning.”

“I’ve told you, I won’t go back when I die…”

“You will.”

Cheongryeo met my eyes.

“Don’t worry, you’ll go back even if you don’t want to.”

“…”

“Oh, and I was going to tell you… Hubae-nim, you can’t trust it if the casting is the same as before. Of course, when I call an acquaintance, I talk about everything in advance before filming it. Remember that, you might fall for a scam or an invalid blank check next time.”

Cheongryeo got up from the chair.

“Then, when we start over, let’s slowly come up with a plan on what direction we should take to make it better for hubae-nim. If you have any questions, ask me anything.”

“…”

“I’m taking a break. You said you’re on vacation.”

Cheongryeo opened the door and went out with a low hum.

Thud.

The door closed again with a polite little sound.

“…Huft.”

I could feel cold sweats running down my spine. My wrists under the handcuffs were also sweaty.

'Right now, I've avoided death.'

However, I didn't know when that guy would turn his head around and say, 'It would be easier to just kill you'. What a crap situation…

I got caught here?

*'Did my brain melt because I was on vacation? F*ck."*

I slammed my handcuffed hands to the floor in a boiling rage. Only the floor got dug out, and the handcuffs were still intact.

But it didn't matter.

*'I'm going to f*cking crawl out of here somehow.'*

I'll make you regret not smashing my head with a hammer when you knocked me out, you bastard.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 178

Sometime later. At some point in time that I couldn't guess because of the black curtain.

"Let's wrap things up from here. Was hubae-nim's participation in <Idol Inc.> a good choice?"

Sitting across from me again, Cheongryeo calmly explained while writing down keywords in a notebook.

"It's very efficient to pass the initial mission right away. Hubae-nim must have chosen it without knowing the existence of the next mission… That's a good judgment."

His words didn't make me happy at all.

"But it's a disappointing choice in the long run. In a short period of 5 years, the image burnout would be severe… The company doesn't have a system, and it's unclear whether they will renew your contract."

Cheongryeo smiled weakly.

"If you are confident that you can get past the initial mission, it is better to skip the survival program."

"…"

"When you restart, come to LeTi. I'll put you in a position where you can debut right away."

I could hear his inner thought saying, 'I will put you close so that I can restart right away if my team fails again'.

I held back a snort.

‘You’re all talk.’

In this bastard’s status window, the status abnormality that caused the reset, ‘Remediation’, was inactive

In other words, the method to restart by dying was already blocked.

And this bastard, who had grasped the concept of ‘If the mission fails, you will die and go back’ must have guessed now that his mission was over, he couldn’t go back even if he died.

That’s why he wanted to use me… I got a bit stuck here.

‘How can you be sure?’

Why is he so sure that when I die, I will start over? No matter how crazy he is, isn’t he too obsessed with this?

I’d like to dig into this and knock him out of it, but the timing wasn’t good.

‘If I mess up, he’ll bash my head with a hammer.’

I shouldn’t provoke this bastard right now.

‘I have no intention of voluntarily leaving this life. In that case, I can only taste the hammer.’

And I didn’t know what would hit me.

So I had to believe the other corner of my mind.

My advantage was that I knew something this guy didn’t know.

My status window. The characteristics.

‘Let’s think.’

Before that, I would get pissed off and grind my teeth, so I would answer this much.

“So if you debut in LeTi and there is another problem with your career, you will reset again, is that what you’re aiming for?”

“No. That won’t happen.”

…Cheongryeo looked a little embarrassed.

“I’m sorry for this. As hubae-nim has heard, it is because I don’t have the correct answer. If you want, I’ll help you finish the mission faster next time.”

“…”

“Of course, let’s make a plan together so that we can do group activities in a more convenient and beneficial way than it is now.”

The fact that he seemed so sincere hurt the most right now.

‘If something similar happens again, this bastard will urge me to reset again.’

Of course, I didn’t think I could restart even if I died, but wasn’t this already obvious? He’d done it once, so he would keep doing it.

However, it was more problematic to think that the current situation in this madman’s thought circuit would be an exceptional one-off thing and that he had provided me with a sufficient compensation plan.

‘He thinks it’s not a big deal.’

Since our control points were different, he thought forcing a reset was just embarrassing and felt apologetic about it. Of course, it didn’t work.

I sighed, and Cheongryeo got up from his chair again.

“You seem tired, so let’s stop here for now… Is there anything you want to eat for dinner? I will give it to you if I can.”

First of all, it was evening right now. I managed to scoop out one piece of information.

“None. Why don’t you just let me go so I can take care of it myself?”

“That would be difficult. Hmm, wait a minute.”

And Cheongryeo left the room once again.

I had no expectations, but seeing how he reacted naturally, I couldn’t appeal to his emotions.

…That meant without a build-up, it wouldn’t work.

‘I hope this can get me through.’

I checked one of my characteristics that I had singled out in my head during the useless conversation.

[Characteristics: Bacchus 500 (B)]

– Clear mind and healthy body!

: Fatigue accumulation rate -50%

Bacchus 500.

It was a characteristic that kept me in shape. Thanks to this characteristic, I could endure only sleeping for one hour or two for a few days a week during the comeback.

Of course, taking advantage of this characteristic, I wasn’t trying to sound like I would start ideally searching around while the bastard was sleeping.

‘This place is awfully and meticulously cleaned up.’

Even the bathroom, which I confirmed with an uncomfortable and funny attitude earlier, only had the bare necessities.

‘It’s like he’s done this a few times already.’

I didn’t know what kind of person he threatened to bash their head in to get information from during the reset, but this guess seemed quite plausible.

Anyway, the situation to use this characteristic would come at a different time, not ‘while he’s asleep’.

‘I’ll wait a little until then.’

I would watch over the situation carefully until he thought I’d given up, until he thought I’d adjusted.

I looked down at the handcuffs and clicked my tongue.

This was going to be a tough vacation.

And then a few days later.

Considering the sleep interval and meal timing, I estimated it had been about three to four days.

To prevent suicide solicitation from becoming more radical, I adjusted my remarks to sound as if I was slowly sympathizing with the ‘New Life Plan’.

Like this.

“Does LeTi also start paying after charging all the trainee expenses?”

“No. They start to pay when we make a profit at the time of our debut. You’re fine with that right?”

“It’s a nice place. …I have no intention of going there.”

“Haha.”

After repeating this pattern a few times, I started touching the slightly sensitive materials to gather information.

“Even if I am on vacation, if they don’t hear any news from me, they will definitely be suspicious. Is there any call?”

“Well.”

“… Looks like you got a call.”

“Haha, is it obvious? Don’t worry, I replied in moderation. In the way hubae-nim talks.”

“…”

Does this bastard even know my screen lock pattern?

‘It was during that insurance commercial.’

I remembered unlocking my smartphone when taking pictures of the puppies at that time.

‘Damn it.’

I couldn’t expect outside help until the vacation was over.

Still, I found out that this guy kept checking my smartphone.

In that case, there was a good chance it was inside this house. I decided to remember that.

Since then, meaningless persuasion, excuses, and surprisingly good-quality Cheongryeo’s idol-related tip briefings continued for a few days.

The time had finally come.

“Today… hubae-nim?”

“…Sunbae-nim.”

My third time waking up here. Maybe in the morning or dawn.

I shoved my head to the pillow and sighed. My nose and throat where my breath passed through felt hot.

My head felt heavy. I spoke slowly.

“Do you have any medicine for cold?”

It was the terrible cold that came every time I took a break.

This time, in line with the timing of the vacation, tremendous heat and pressure poured into my body.

Even though it was not the time for me to relax mentally.

‘As expected.’

It meant my guess was correct.

‘This illness, I guess it’s really a reaction to my physical condition’s characteristics ‘

Not just Bacchus, this was also true for that one-time characteristic, ‘Sleeping only if you die’.

After using those characteristics to the fullest every time, it only hurt when I didn’t have an ‘activity schedule’, so it felt strange.

That’s why I made a hypothesis, but with this, I was almost certain.

‘It’s a mechanical classification that seems to involve the status window.’

It was only when I took a break from the celebrity activities that the burden on my body came forward.

And this painful timing was fully exploitable.

“…Medicine?”

To make this bastard flustered.

It would have been hard for him to imagine that I would lie down with a cold instead of trauma in three or four days.

“Wait a minute.”

Cheongryeo, who was coming in, closed the door again and left.

‘Good.’

First of all, he didn’t immediately say something like ‘You’re sick just in time, just die’, so this direction was very good.

‘He let his guard down.’

The thought that he was in control of the situation made him reflexively relieved. He must already be thinking of resetting in a few days as an established fact in his head.

Cheongryeo came back with medicine and water in his hands.

It was a medicine that could be bought without a prescription.

‘...He’s prepared a first aid kit.’

This was a bit disappointing. Meticulous psychopath bastard.

“It’s painkillers and antipyretics. Take some.”

It was contained within the packaging. It didn’t need to mix with other medicines, so I took them.

And I sneakily took my luck.

“…By any chance, the hospital.”

“I thought it would be too noticeable if it’s just the two of us. I’m sorry. Um… If you restart, your body will be fine right away.”

In the end, he was back with these words. This was a good thing, though.

‘I’m going to prod you now.’

I hesitated, then spoke in a low voice.

“…Again, I actually like my team right now. Even if I start over and build the same team, it will never be the same as it is now. Because the incidents and stories we share will be different.”

“…”

“I just… Could you please let me go so I can continue to live here? Please.”

Well, it was a remark that didn’t fit my personality, but if you were sick, you could turn a little emotional.

In addition, the characteristic burst out just in time.

[‘Now that I heard it, it’s true (A)’ activated!]

Good.

Of course, it only led to the other person’s ’emotional agitation,’, so it didn’t guarantee persuasion.

Look.

“…I’m sorry.”

Cheongryeo murmured briefly with a slightly expressionless face.

It seemed he only felt ‘sorry’. I got it already, you damn bastard.

It was exactly as planned.

“…”

I deliberately remained silent for a while, then slowly opened my mouth.

“…My head hurts and it’s hard to move, but I need to go to the bathroom… Please help me up to the front door.”

“Yes.”

I knew he wouldn’t say no.

Cheongryeo held me under my shoulders as if he were helping a person with disabled legs.

The moment his mind wandered and got distracted.

Therefore… The moment when he was more conscious of his thoughts than his own actions.

‘Now.’

I spun my arms and draped them over Cheongryeo’s head.

“…!”

Then I began to pull the handcuffs around his neck.

“…You!”

The metal between the handcuffs pressed down on the guy’s neck, but of course, he resisted strongly. Even if I pressed with my weight and changed my posture uneasily, I continued to pay the price.

*‘F*ck.’*

It seemed I broke my rib. But I could never him let go.

I forcibly twisted my arm and broke his neck.

“…!!”

“Ugh.”

I couldn’t break the neck of a strong adult in this situation with my hands restrained anyway.

Just press down until this bastard collapse…!

“….”

His eyeballs turning away as he stared this way and his face turning pale due to the lack of oxygen was f*cking creepy…

It didn’t matter.

‘Just like the simulation!’

I twisted my handcuffs one last time and hit him in the back of his head.

Tack.

With a short, violent sound, the pressure dissipated.

“…”

I had subdued him.

“Ugh.”

I shuddered and got up.

“F*k you, seriously.”

My wrists were all worn out. They looked like crap.

Still, I didn’t feel the pain because of the euphoria.

I wriggled out of the door, and fortunately, I found a useful blade.

Right away…It was a light bulb.

Crash!

The light bulb was shattered on the thrown book, and sharp pieces fell to the floor.

It was worse because it was an old product.

“Alright.”

Although I got cut a few times, I undid the bundle of cable ties that bound my legs.

Now that it had become easier to escape in case of an emergency, I proceeded as scheduled.

I moved my sore neck. There was still a long way to go.

* * *

“…”

“You’re awake.”

Cheongryeo, who was tied tightly with cable ties to the chair across from me, lifted his head without groaning.

“You bought a lot of extra cable ties.”

“…”

“You prepared plenty of tools, so I removed the handcuffs.”

I showed him my free hands.

“You’re thoroughly prepared, sunbae-nim. Thanks to that, you made it easy for me.”

And I grinned.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 179

I had a lot to say to this bastard, but I would start with this.

“Let me ask you first. How the hell did you know that your crazy kidnapping plan wouldn’t get caught? After my vacation, everyone will be frantic to find me.”

“…”

Cheongryeo looked this way with dark eyes and answered without raising his tone.

“Because I was planning to finish it in ten days.”

He must have checked the vacation period on my smartphone.

“That means you will kill me if I don’t show any signs of committing suicide within 10 days. Got it.”

I changed my posture slightly. And asked again.

“And you firmly believe that if I die, I will restart, I know that, but where did you get the belief that you would go back together with me?”

It was a question that I couldn’t help but ask.

“Did you ever think that I would just die and you would be arrested as a murderer of an idol from another group?”

“…”

“Sunbae-nim.”

Cheongryeo leaned back on the chair. His face was expressionless.

“Well… They wouldn’t catch me.”

“…!”

“I have your phone… With the right gesture, if a member of an idol group that has a lot of incidents like Testar goes missing, there won’t be any police investigation. The agency will prevent it.”

Cheongryeo smiled faintly.

“They will think that you have given up because of the pressure, or that you’ve run away because you’ve settled down and lost your original motivation. And if they look for you on their own…Eventually, when the cost becomes high, they will give up. Even without hubae-nim, the remaining members will make enough money, and eventually, they will focus on rolling it.”

“…”

“That’s how Park Moondae will disappear after being dismissed as ‘suspended for health reasons’. Hmm… I think in about two or three years, you will only have people who sometimes reminisce about you.”

It was a leap of logic.

The contract period remained intact, so there was no way that the agency with T1 on its back would give up on ‘Park Moondae’ that easily.

In addition, I was currently popular enough to be one of the top 10 idols. The aftermath of my sudden suspension of activities wouldn’t simply disappear.

…However, when viewed thoroughly… There was an eerie plausibility.

*‘F*ck.’*

I almost went through that. Even though I clicked my tongue, I was satisfied with the conversation.

“I see. Thank you for your testimony.”

“…?”

I took something out of my pocket.

It was my smartphone that had its recorder running

“…!”

“You put it in a more boring place than I thought, so I found it quickly.”

He even considered the GPS tracking, so he turned it off, connected it to his laptop, and used a message app with bypass access.

Anyway, my smartphone, which I found in the dishwasher, was fortunately fine.

I pressed the stop recording button.

“Anyway, even if I report it, it’s a two-way assault, so if it spreads to the media, the controversy will only grow, and my last mission might fail because of this issue.”

I tapped my smartphone.

“I made a recording, left all the circumstantial photos, and even set up automatic backup to the cloud.”

“…”

“It means that if I get out of here and made a report, it’s over for you.”

“Is that so?”

“Yes. So be a little cooperative, you f*cking bastard.”

I sat down on a chair and hit him in the face.

Tack!

A short, dull sound coolly rang out.

I felt satisfied now.

Cheongryeo seemed to be feeling around with his tongue as if his mouth had burst, but he didn't look particularly agitated.

"…I can't make a comeback anyway. Hmm, it hurts. You said you weren't feeling well."

"The bastard who fainted after being beaten down by a sick guy is all barks."

"Haha, hmm, I don't think hubae-nim will report it, anyway."

Cheongryeo met my eyes.

"Even if you have evidence, I don't think you would want to get caught up in an accident like this and leave room for anyone to interfere with the mission."

"You're right."

I nodded.

"But if I get too pissed off…Who knows, I might solve it right after the last mission is over."

"…"

"It might get a bit noisy, but there is no one in the group who will oppose it. The report will proceed smoothly, what do you think?"

On the contrary, they would be astonished that I didn't report it quickly.

Things were looking good already.

But his reaction when he heard it… It was out of standard.

“Yes? Hahaha.”

Cheongryeo laughed brightly.

“I thought you were smart, but you’re blind.”

“…!”

“Do you like your team now? Ah, now, you must think it’s great. You get good records, and you have to stick together because there are so many enemies outside, isn’t that great?”

Cheongryeo lowered his head.

“But how many years do you think it will last?”

“…!”

“No, not even in a few years. After a year or so, they will start saying strange things.”

He looked into the empty air. He looked bored as if he were recalling an obvious past.

“There are all sorts of people, from the guy who voiced nonsense about finding oneself to the guy who sold the group while going in and out of the clubs. It’s the same no matter what team you set up. Human passion and sincerity are exhausting.”

“…”

“Even if it doesn’t look like that now, think about it. Were there any minor flaws that bothered you? Later they… They will come back with great disappointment.”

The low, calm voice finished speaking.

“After receiving the payment once more after the tour, you don’t know if no one will tell you to stop doing stupid things and just move on.”

“…”

I didn’t really trust people either, but… This guy had it bad, perhaps because it came from repeated experiences.

I was speechless and looked at him, then shrugged my shoulders.

So what, you’re saying I should start focusing on efficiency instead of getting attached to useless things?

That’s ridiculous.

“If we don’t fit together, we can disband later. My missions will be completed by then.”

“…!!”

“It can be done only with similar-minded people… If the fight gets worse, I’ll just quit, why would I bother with a group like that? Ah, right. I’ve been thinking about it ever since I heard about the restart.”

I crossed my arms.

“Can’t VTIC be on a downtrend?”

“What?”

“It isn’t a field where you can stay being a top tier for thousands of years. Prime times are called prime times because they can come to an end.”

No matter how popular the idol group was, they had no choice but to face a decline after reaching their peaks when they went into the military and got older.

“Even if that isn’t the case, there will be a day when VTIC will be on the decline, so I don’t know why you’re trying to restart just to delay it for some time.”

He probably had a delusion that VTIC could be the best in the industry for the rest of his life.

Cheongryeo lost his expression for a moment, but then he smiled.

“Hubae-nim, you haven’t tried it yet, so you don’t know what it feels like, but in fact, restarting once is not a big deal. If you can extend the group’s lifespan, it’s worth trying.”

He lowered his head slightly.

“And I am not doing this because the group’s career is declining due to the unexpected event, but it’s because I plan a picture where we decline in a gradual curve. Don’t worry, it will happen next time.”

I threw out my words.

“It won’t happen.”

“What?”

“That perfect career, it’s not happening.”

I tried to rest my chin on my hand, but it hurt, so I stopped. Damn it.

“VTIC’s decline is an event that is bound to happen, only the timing is different. But how do you know the most perfect timing to start the downtrend? Are you going to keep restarting every time album sales drop?”

I came to a conclusion.

“Then you’ll have to restart forever. With the rationalization that ‘next time will be better’.”

“…”

Cheongryeo opened his mouth slightly as if trying to answer, but he couldn't answer right away.

There was no expression on his face.

'I guess I've hit the mark.'

I didn't know if it was a landmine or a switch, but I had to solidify it now.

'I have to break his momentum.'

I couldn't let this guy get in the way of my work any longer.

After all, there was nothing more to spare now that I had come this far. I would put an end to it here.

I opened my mouth first.

"Anyway, even if I die, I can't restart, so you won't have a chance for that."

Cheongryeo opened his mouth almost as if moved by someone else.

"…So if you fail the mission."

"Well. I die."

I uncrossed my arms.

And told the truth.

"I wasn't originally Park Moondae."

"…!!"

"I was originally a college graduate, but when I woke up, I was in Park Moondae's body. I didn't restart, I just went into someone else's body."

It was ridiculous even when I said it. I smirked.

“So maybe if the mission fails and I die… Even in the best-case scenario, I think it will end with me returning to my body. Don’t you think so?”

“…”

“Wasn’t it strange in the first place? I didn’t act like someone in their early 20s. I was originally 29 years old.”

For the first time, all sorts of expressions passed through Cheongryeo’s face. I guess it didn’t sound like a lie.

He murmured blankly.

“That can’t be true.”

“It can. Why would I lie when I’ve caught you?”

I laughed, rubbing the back of my neck.

I hadn’t told him because I was afraid it would be a weakness, but I had evidence of his attempted murder in my hand, so I could say this much.

I felt refreshed.

“You can’t restart now.”

“…”

Now, he was definitely agitated.

Now… I didn’t want to do this, but let’s throw him a carrot instead of a whip for a perfect stitch-up.

“So… Just because it’s flawed, you don’t have to give up your life now.”

“…!”

“What you have now won’t go away anymore. So just live comfortably. Raise a dog and do whatever you want to do.”

If he could just cut his hands clean here, I had no intention to sue him.

Of course, I would claim compensation for the damages.

‘If I can avoid getting involved with him in the future, I will be satisfied with the loss.’

I fidgeted with the itch coming from the cut.

“…”

Cheongryeo lowered his head. The hands tied to the table tie were shaking slightly.

At that moment, a pop-up appeared.

[‘Now that I heard it, it’s true (A)’ activated!]

I didn’t know what this meant, so let’s wait.

“….”

After quite some time, Cheongryeo raised his head.

He looked unexpectedly calm.

“I don’t know what to do.”

“Figure it out.”

“I see.”

Cheongryeo’s voice was calm, but there was something like a strange feeling of melancholy.

‘That’s understandable.’

If he didn’t succeed as an idol, he kept restarting, so he must have put all his value judgments on VTIC’s success.

‘Otherwise, he would go even more crazy.’

And if the mission wasn’t cleared, the situation that kept resetting must have been processed in his brain as an ‘opportunity for VTIC’s perfect success’.

But now, I stopped him and said, ‘That’s not an opportunity, it’s giving up!’

And I didn’t know what would happen in the future, but right now that this guy had definitely lost his fighting spirit.

*‘It’s f*cking over.’*

Now that I had the evidence first, the disclosure of my situation second, and attacks on his mind third, I would rationalize it in my own way for about half a year.

‘And by then, the mission will be over.’

It was great.

I immediately got up from my chair.

“Then I’m off. I’ll leave the tool next to you, so untie it on your own.”

My movement was limited, so it would be difficult to pick up the tool and throw it to him.

Tap.

“…”

Cheongryeo stared at the toolbox I was pushing with my foot, and he said quietly.

“If you wait a bit, I can give you a ride to your dorm.”

“I decline. The inhaled anesthetic is still vivid in my mind.”

"…"

Looking at it roughly, it seemed we were in a suburb of Seoul, there shouldn't be any problem getting to the dorm by bus for an hour or two.

I wore long sleeves so the wounds on my wrists wouldn't be visible.

I took my smartphone and immediately headed to the front door.

I heard a voice from behind my back.

"…I'm sorry."

That feeling and attitude should last for more than half a year. Or else I would put him in jail no matter how much damage I had to take.

I opened the door and came out right away. The wind hit my face.

It felt cool.

* * *

I immediately caught an intercity bus at a nearby stop and headed to the dorm.

I had to transfer once, but it wasn't a complicated route so there was no big problem.

The problem was that the pain was slowly coming.

'I'll have to run a test.'

I was thinking of making up an excuse once I got back to the dorm.

I checked my smartphone on the bus to forget the pain.

First of all, quite a lot of words have been exchanged in the group message room since the vacation.

They mainly focused on reporting on the recent situation and chatting about what they were doing, but there was also a guy who kept calling ‘Park Moondae’ without getting an answer.

Like this.

[Keun Sejin: Moondaemoondae? Did you cancel your smartphone?]

[Keun Sejin: … Looking for Park Moondae… Even if it is a vacation, to cut ties with the world… Indeed the Tibet is merciless]

And Cheongryeo replied like this.

[Me: Stop it.]

Honestly, the synchro rate was creepy.

‘...He made it sound more plausible than I thought.’

I bitterly checked the other private message rooms.

[Kim Raebin: Moondae hyung, Grandmother is asking for a video call. I’m really sorry, but can you give me one more chance? We’ll set the date and time to however you want!]

After that, a picture of Hallasan Mountain flashing in primary colors with ‘Thank you ♫ as always’ written in fluorescent colors was attached.

“…”

How should I say this… It was a very predictable situation.

And Cheongryeo, who impersonated ‘Park Moondae’, neatly refused.

[Me: Sorry. I want to rest, can we do it next time?]

[Kim Raebin: I’m really sorry. All right. See you after the vacation!]

It was kind of like this.

‘It’s not difficult.’

I checked the rest again, thinking I should do this when I came back to my sense after going to the hospital.

It was all similar. When they suggested something, I refused.

[Bae Sejin hyung: We have 3 for sale. Which one do you think is more balanced? (Photo)]

[Bae Sejin hyung: You don’t have to reply if you’re busy]

[Me: I don’t know. I’m sorry.]

It was like this here, too.

[Seon Ahyeon: Moondae, I’m on a trip with my family near Seoraksan Mountain and I like the autumn leaves because they’re so pretty. I am not good at taking pictures as you are but I’ve taken some pictures. I’ll bring them to the dorm (Photo)]

[Me: Yes, thank you.]

It was the same for this one.

And Cheongryeo’s last trace was found in the group message room.

[Me: I’ve come to a hotel to rest more. See you all when the vacation is over.]

[Keun Sejin: Wow, hotel vacation! (emoticon) Moondaemoondae, tell me, is it 5 stars??]

“…”

There was no reply from there.

No wonder.

I felt like my vacation was almost over.

*‘F*ck.’*

As expected, when the status abnormality was over, I would rage on and kill him.

Fortunately, looking at the date, I still had half of my vacation left. I calmed down as much as I could, resting my head against the back of the bus.

Since it was a weekday, no one recognized me wearing a mask and hat on the empty bus, and I was able to arrive at the dorm peacefully.

However, my physical condition was not as peaceful.

‘Damn it.’

As soon as I opened the front door and entered, I collapsed on the floor with a sigh of relief.

Thud.

I could hardly feel the marble glued to my cheeks because of the burning sensation in my whole body.

*‘F*ck.’*

This was bad. I couldn’t move.

I felt like all my cartilage had disappeared.

I didn’t have any strength.

‘An ambulance.’

No. Looking at the injuries left on my body now, I looked like a crime victim.

It had been handled so far, but unnecessary controversy before dealing with a status abnormality was a no-go.

‘Wouldn’t I be fine once I wake up after passing out a bit?’

Nevertheless, staying down in the hallway like this…

Ring–

Smartphone.

Someone was calling.

Almost unconsciously, I pressed the receive button on my smartphone.

After a certain amount of time passed, I heard a voice.

– Ah, connected…

I cut off the voice.

“Now… the dorm, 119… Don’t call… hospital, somehow…”

– What??

“The company… Don’t contact them…”

– Moondae? Park Moondae!

I just spread out.

That said, I fell into a deep sleep for a few days.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 180

I didn’t know how long I’d slept after that.

It felt instantaneous, but the moment I woke up, I thought maybe it wasn’t short at all.

Because my head felt refreshed.

“…”

Fortunately, the place I saw as soon as I opened my eyes was a single-person hospital room.

‘Alright.’

The guy who answered the phone must have handled it properly…

“…! Moondae.”

“…!”

When I turned my head, I made eye contact with Ryu Chungwoo, who jumped up from his chair.

‘What?’

Why is this guy here?

“Wait, I have to call!”

However, without giving me time to say anything, Ryu Chungwoo immediately pressed the button and called the medical staff.

And a little later.

“Yes. There are no other abnormal signs. Is the drip rate okay?”

“Yes…”

“Then I’ll exchange it again in an hour.”

It seemed that under the check-up of the visiting medical staff, the discovery that there was no major problem was being issued again.

I looked at the back of my hand where I was being injected with bitter yes.

‘No wonder I feel refreshed.’

It must have been thanks to the direct supply of antibiotics and nutritional supplements.

“If there is anything wrong, you can call me.”

“…Yes.”

“Thank you!”

Click.

And as soon as the medical staff left. Some serious faces popped out from the side of the bed.

Not one, but three.

Ryu Chungwoo seemed to be fiddling with his smartphone for a while, but Keun Sejin and Bae Sejin came out of nowhere.

‘What is this?’

Isn’t it a format you’ve seen in some kind of gangster movie?

In the meantime, Ryu Chungwoo opened his mouth with a serious face.

"…Your wrists are sprained, it will take three weeks for a full recovery. And two of your ribs are fractured, it will take four weeks. They said the bruises on your arms and legs will go away faster than that."

"…"

"You've been passing out all day."

The degree of injury was better than I had expected.

Park Moondae's body was unexpectedly tough.

'It's good that it's not broken.'

But… I need to be smart in this situation.

Before I could screw up, the person who made the phone call spoke to me just in time.

"…First of all, I'm glad you're feeling better."

It was Keun Sejin.

There was no answer to this situation except that this guy had contacted the other two.

"…Hey."

"What, what is it?"

Why are you answering uncooperatively?

"How can I move you to the hospital by myself without calling 119? Is there any other way besides calling hyung who has his own car?"

"…"

I didn't mean to interrogate you, but I certainly had nothing to say.

Keun Sejin didn’t stop there.

“In the first place, when I called you… I was in the middle of meeting Chungwoo hyung.”

“…”

“Your messages were so weird.”

“…What?”

Keun Sejin crossed his arms.

“It’s funny that Park Moondae left the nice dorm to go to a hotel, but it’s even weirder that you cut off contact.”

“…!”

“So I asked the other kids, too… All your replies were strange.”

Keun Sejin tilted his chin slightly toward Bae Sejin.

“That hyung was also contacting Chungwoo hyung.”

Bae Sejin slightly averted his gaze and murmured.

“…It’s strange that you suddenly don’t know about apartment balances when we’ve already talked about filing a comprehensive income tax report.”

“…”

So you called him.

Keun Sejin asked with a hardened face.

“That wasn’t you, was it?”

“…”

“So let me ask you, what’s going on? What’s wrong?”

Yeah. I knew this question would come up.

“I stopped Chungwoo hyung from reporting it right away… Honestly, I don’t know why I stopped him. I thought about a lot of things….”

Keun Sejin sighed as he looked into the air.

“If you want to handle it alone because of a ridiculous reason, I’ll report it right now, so just tell me what’s going on.”

I smiled bitterly.

“I want to avoid reporting it.”

“Why?!”

“Moondae, whatever reason you have, it’s better to leave an official record first. Let’s report it.”

“…Is it because of the activities?”

“No.”

I shook my head. And I answered in a serious voice.

“I think it could be a two-way process.”

“…!!”

“W-What?”

I clenched the hand that didn’t have the injection into a fist and shook it.

“Because I beat the sh*t out of him.”

“…”

"…"

"I was caught by a crazy bastard while going out, so I knocked him down and got some evidence, but Korean law is too narrow for the scope of self-defense… Even if I win, I will have to spend some time on the court."

"B-But, you can get that bastard punished by the law…"

"It's fine, I've hit his head with real metal."

"…"

It was the handcuff, but well, it was really made of metal.

Opening my mouth and facing the three people who stiffened, I calmly continued my explanation.

"In fact, a lot of my injuries happened because I was trying to subdue him in retaliation… I didn't actually get hit in a defenseless state, so I think I'll be the only one in trouble if I pointlessly get caught up in an article."

"…Mmm."

The guys' faces turned dazed and complicated, not making a fuss.

However, Bae Sejin still had a dark face.

"Still, you were right beating him…! We can handle it, so let's just make a report. He might attack you again."

"Well, even if I report it, he won't be able to talk anyway. I've scared him enough so that he won't do anything stupid again."

"Y-You scared him?"

"Yes. I did a great job scaring him."

I lowered my head to the side.

“Um, I… You don’t think I would have taken care of it half-heartedly, do you?”

“…”

I guess not. Our well-built trust really shone here.

“Is this explanation good enough? That’s why I don’t want to report it. If I called 119, they would track the cause of the injury right away, that’s why I asked you not to.”

“… Moondae. You could just go to the hospital.”

“…!”

Ryu Chungwoo smiled bitterly.

“Your condition is very serious. Your fever was boiling, and you have traces of being beaten and tied up…”

“…”

“I don’t know how much you hit that person, but whatever the scope of your self-defense is, you are the victim. Looking at you now, is it possible for both sides to sound the same?”

Ryu Chungwoo sighed.

“First of all, I told the hospital that you had an accident while practicing for a concert and working too hard in a sick state, but… I’d still like to report it. It can’t be helped if you don’t want to.”

“…”

“Or at least share his personal details with the company as much as you know. Just in case, we should keep him away.”

“Hmm…”

I nodded.

I could just make up a sketch and talk about it.

“Yes. I will contact the company.”

“…! Well thought out.”

“Tell us, too! Everyone should be careful of such a crazy person.”

“Okay. Um, also.”

I was a little embarrassed, but it would be better to say it.

“Thank you.”

“……!”

“Thank you, hyungs. To be honest, it would have been difficult if you didn’t call me back then.”

I smiled.

“The fake messages sounded plausible. I didn’t know anyone would notice.”

“…”

For a moment, the hospital room warmed up with a sense of accomplishment.

‘If I hadn’t escaped, you would have caught on before I got smashed by a hammer.’

As soon as the moment passed, Keun Sejin nodded seriously.

“That’s right. So be nicer to me. First of all, my personal photos…”

“I take it back.”

“Hey! That’s too much!”

Keun Sejin hit the bed sheet. Funny bastard.

“… Hmm, hmm! Anyway, rest well! Take care of yourself!”

“Yeah. I’m glad you got me to the hospital on time.”

The other two were also proud. All right, things were sorted out well.

“Ah, should we get some drinks? What would you like?”

“Hey, hyung, I’ll go get them and come back soon~”

“No. I want to go for a walk. Um, Moondae, you want apple juice?”

“Yes. Thank you.”

And if there was one more thing I should sort out, it was this.

‘Hmm, we’ve certainly become a bit more comfortable with each other.’

Ryu Chungwoo had gotten less awkward.

Perhaps, my subconscious had slipped the person who had helped me when I was sick back into my mind.

‘As expected, I have to feel it to find out.’

As he helped with my health, my mind returned back a bit.

“Then take a rest.”

“Yes.”

I waved my hand and sent Ryu Chungwoo off.

Click.

And when he left, Keun Sejin suddenly asked.

“Hey, the leader hyung left too.”

“…”

“You don’t want to talk to the company but is there anything you want to tell me? Sejin hyung-nim will also listen if Moondae confides in us, right?”

“W-What? Oh, uh… Of course!”

Quick-witted bastard.

‘He noticed that I turned my words around with compliments.’

Well, I was going to explain it to a few people anyway, just in case.

So that I could move major opinions within the team toward not getting involved with VTIC as much as possible during future activities.

‘There’s no need to make a big deal out of this.’

For that, they couldn’t conspire against me without me knowing because they weren’t close with each other, and they had a good trait of not making blunders with other people.

‘It’s perfect.’

I opened my mouth.

“The guy who attacked me, I actually know him.”

“What?”

“Who is it!?”

“VTIC Cheongryeo.”

“…!!”

Bae Sejin’s face visibly hardened.

“That fellow, something’s strange about him.”

“…Really?”

“Yeah, his eyes are weird…!”

“Let’s report him.”

“…!!”

Keun Sejin stepped in with a hardened face.

“We’ll continue to see him at award ceremonies and music shows, so no. Let’s report him.”

“There’s no need for that.”

“Even if you’re fine now, when you meet…”

I smirked.

“So, what about that motherf*cking bastard?”

“…!”

“I told you. It was me who hit him.”

I stretched out my arm, careful of the injection.

“That bastard got hit in the face, so he won’t be active for a while.”

“…If he reports you first.”

“I even received an apology at the end of the recording and the photos. He won’t.”

“…Sigh.”

Keun Sejin let out a deep sigh, but he didn’t refute further.

‘I guess he’s starting to get the sense of what kind of mess it will become if I report it.’

Still, for a guy who was so hung up on the group’s records, it was brave of him to ask me to report it.

“Why on earth…”

“I don’t know. I guess he just doesn’t want to see me.”

“He’s crazy.”

Perhaps he had seen more outlandish people in the industry, Bae Sejin understood this poor excuse surprisingly easily.

Then he hesitated and asked.

“…Is there a reason you only say this to him and me?”

“Um, if we have to schedule a meeting with VTIC in the future, I want to ask you to avoid him together.”

Let’s flatter him a little bit.

“Because you’re good at speaking every time you’re working.”

“…! Y-Yeah. All right.”

He felt better now that I had given him a sense of duty. Good.

“Still, just in case, make sure you have the proof!”

“Alright.”

As such, the explanation and conviction of ‘How Park Moondae ended up like that’ were over.

‘It was more difficult than I thought.’

Well, it was difficult in a good way.

“Guys, drinks.”

“Oh~ Thank you!”

“…Thanks.”

After a while, Ryu Chungwoo returned, and I turned my head the other way while drinking a fairly expensive convenience store apple juice.

‘First of all… Four weeks is enough to recover from an injury to a level where I can easily move around.’

I guessed I would be able to make it to the beginning of the concert.

‘If I have to, I’ll overwork myself at the Seoul concert.’

However, the problem was, I hadn’t been able to keep up with the final practice.

It was the group choreography, so I had learned it before the vacation. I could adjust to it if there were no changes, but I was worried about the solo stage.

And I had to learn a new choreography for the fan service segment

‘Should I just memorize the moves while being careful?’

I couldn’t help it now.

I shrugged and picked up my smartphone.

First of all, I was going to ask the other guys’ understanding regarding the injury, and I planned to contact the company and ask them to publish some articles ahead of time.

‘I have to do this now so that everyone will forgive me if I don’t recover until the concert.’

…However, if I had known that this action would have stronger repercussions than I thought, I would have thought of delaying it a little longer.

[Me: Got caught by some crazy stalker and got hurt a little when subduing him. All of the messages after the vacation were from that person impersonating me, so please excuse everything. (sighing emoticon)]

As soon as he saw this, Seon Ahyeon quit his trip and came to the hospital room.

It seemed he was more alarmed by the stalker excuse because he had seen some freaks break into my apartment.

“M-Moondae!”

“…? Hello.”

Before he could look at my ‘Why are you here?’ expression, Seon Ahyeon shouted in panic.

“Y-You didn’t get hurt, right!?”

“…”

Well… I wasn’t even wearing a cast, this was a bit too much.

I calmed Seon Ahyeon who was about to cry instead of the other way around and I received a gift box full of some bread.

It was from a famous bakery in Sokcho, but it tasted good anyway.

I also exchanged awkward greetings with the parents who had brought Seon Ahyeon all the way here.

I was rather embarrassed because they were so sad.

“Next time, make sure to come with Ahyeon. There are so many strange people these days… Aigoo, what should I do?”

“It’s okay. I won.”

“R-Right. But still…”

The tearful face was the same as Seon Ahyeon’s, I wondered if it ran in the family.

“C-Call me if you need me!”

“All right.”

Since then, Seon Ahyeon had been in and out of the hospital room until the vacation was over.

He had a great deal of patience. If it were me, I would never visit the hospital every day while on vacation.

‘Is it due to a difference in personality?’

Oh, of course, other members besides Seon Ahyeon also contacted me.

Among them, there was also a guy who tried to call me.

– Hyung-nim! Are you feeling well?

It was Kim Raebin.

“Yeah. Um, that’s great. I had something to say.”

– Yes…?

And I did my job.

“Hello, Grandmother. This is Park Moondae.”

[Aigoo!]

I tried to sing trot to lighten the mood, but Kim Raebin’s grandmother had a firm taste.

[That one~ I like the one that our groom sang! Winter Night!]

“I-I will let you hear it.”

[Oh, so pretty~]

Hmm, it was a pretty fun experience anyway.

And lastly, Cha Eugene… Surprisingly, there was no contact from him until the last day of the vacation.

Then, a short video uploaded to the group message room reported his survival.

[Wahhahaha!]

[Watch out!]

… It was a video of Cha Eugene getting into the beach which was filmed dynamically.

In this late autumn.

[Cha Eugene: Mom took this video for me! :D]

He was a really consistent guy.

Still, he must have belatedly seen my post, so he called me late at night to ask how I was doing.

– Hyung!! Do you beat the stalker?? Did you hit him?

This guy was really consistent.

“Sigh.”

And around this time, the company finally started publishing articles about my injury.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 181

When the company first found out about my hospitalization, they were understandably shocked.

They sent us on a vacation to the best of their ability, so there should have been no disaster striking out of nowhere, but it got lengthened to four weeks.

And when I explained the whole story of the incident, they were even more shocked.

“S-Stalker??”

“Yes. I got caught by some crazy person…”

It was an excuse similar to what I had said to the members, but the agency’s face also changed when I said, ‘I also hit them a lot’.

They wanted to ask me to bear with it rather than stir up public opinion for no reason, so when I requested it myself, they welcomed it.

“Yes, Moondae-ssi. We’ll expand our security personnel as much as possible, so don’t worry! You’re on vacation, so this happened…”

They were greatly skilled at insinuating that this wasn’t their responsibility because I was on vacation.

Even if I was on vacation, they obviously knew that I was staying at the dorm, but they didn’t contact me for a few days, so they must have felt prodded.

‘It’s obvious.’

Anyway, thanks to that, picking the title of the article was easy.

[Testar Park Moondae is hospitalized due to a fall during concert practice]

Isn’t it neat?

They decided to post the notice on the company’s official account, and the contents were properly mixed with information about the sprains and bruises.

‘It’s done.’

In fact, I thought this topic would be over at this point.

When I looked it up, the circumstances of my hospitalization were spread under the surface, but everyone seemed to be in a rush due to the source issue.

Of course, the people who were obsessed with idols’ private lives brought up the topic first.

– Heol, Gommeo is hospitalized. He’s not faking illness because he’s on vacation, right?

– ㅠㅠㅠIt must be true that Park Moondae is hospitalized. He doesn’t come to the dorm, he’s making me worried

– There’s no record of his whereabouts… What’s going on

There was nothing more outside of this.

Besides, the place I was hospitalized was a hospital that the company had filmed before, so the staff kept quiet.

This meant that there wasn’t a lot of information regarding my detailed condition.

Sometimes, truths came up, but a lot of rumors and lies were mixed, so those were also treated as rumors.

– I heard from an acquaintance that he got caught by a sasaeng and broke his bones.. Hmm.

– Honestly, this topic is meaningless. We all know he gets a cold every time he rests

-Wrist injury ㅋㅋ I think it's an injury from practicing choreography. It's understandable because he's a practice freak

Since they were talking like this, I thought that the excuse of 'a stage injury during concert practice' was quite convincing and not particularly shocking.

In addition, the company quickly began managing media play to prevent unnecessary articles before the official admission.

Certainly, the director seemed to be running the company properly this time.

'It'll be fine.'

I inwardly gave them a passing grade and enjoyed the rest of my vacation.

'I'm glad I still got four days.'

Although the hospitalization period was extended to the end of the vacation to match the company's official data on the injury, I had no particular complaints.

In fact, except for the fact that the dates were cut in half, it was a one-person hospital room, so there was no big difference from what I was originally going to do.

But I was a bit shaken up.

'...This place must be expensive.'

From what I heard, the 6-person room was quite expensive, but I got a single room, so I must have been really hurt.

The fact that I was injured enough to go to the hospital was funnier.

'I've gone through all sorts of things.'

Well, it was still a good thing, the company would pay for it anyway, so I had a good rest and relaxed comfortably.

Read books, watch some videos. I spent my time without thinking of anything, eating three meals a day given to me by the hospital.

Members who visit from time to time brought outside food, so the special meals were great too.

"M-Moondae. I brought strawberries."

"Yeah, thank you."

"I-I'll wash it…!"

It was mostly Seon Ahyeon, but there were times when other people brought food, too.

"Moondaemoondae~ Pizza!"

'I think this guy is just buying what he wants to eat with the excuse of visiting the hospital.'

In any case, the four days of lying down and only eating food were quite thrilling.

And on the last day of vacation.

Articles and announcements were released as planned.

[Park Moondae fell during concert practice… 'Four weeks of full recovery']

[Testar Park Moondae, news of injury while on vacation]

But… when I looked into it, things went a little differently than I expected.

The response was much stronger.

– Ah, Moondae, what should I do?

– I am going crazy, T1, f*cking bastard, you can't even manage the stage?

– The kid who went to practice even after taking a long vacation got hospitalized. I am really upset. I am crying

– What did you force him to do? He fell off the stage and has to recover for 4 weeks… Ah, please, stop making him do dangerous things – Because of Park Moondae's personality, he fell due to carelessness? I don't believe you. They obviously ordered a weird device. I'm so mad ㅋㅋㅋ

Park Moondae's fans were exploding with anxiety and anger.

'Wait a minute.'

I broke out in a cold sweat.

No, I wasn't unconscious or anything like that, and I didn't break my leg, but how did it end up like this?

I agreed to not participate in the group's official schedule for about 10 days after the vacation was over, so I thought there would be people who would criticize me, but surprisingly there were very few of them.

Every time they came out, fans beat them up.

– He went out on vacation and couldn't attend his schedule ㅋㅋㅋ What a load of crap

ㄴㅎㅎ You bastard, every day is like a vacation for him, he can't keep up ㅠ

┗As a lifetime fangirl, I can show it to you ㅇㅋ

┗Oops! A comment from a fan of dead-eyed ruined idols! (Applause emoticon)

It was brutal.

‘First of all… I didn’t know the agency would be attacked this much.’

Because the members often showed themselves participating in album or stage production in their own content, I thought they would accept the stage setting with that feeling.

Maybe… They were so worried that they wanted to find the cause and take corrective action.

‘…Are they that worried about Park Moondae getting injured?’

I felt strange.

“…Hmm.”

I rolled up the sleeve of the hospital gown.

It still felt a bit swollen, but the bruises were almost gone, leaving only yellow or blue color.

‘This should be fine.’

I was going to be discharged to the dorm tomorrow, so I should do something now that I was in the hospital.

Click.

I took a selfie and uploaded it to SNS.

Hello, Loviewer.

It’s Park Moondae.

I am sorry that I missed activities because I was negligent in taking care of my body.

It’s not a serious injury, and I’m going to be discharged tomorrow. I’ll recover quickly so that I can show you a good performance.

(Photo)

In this case, writing it politely would be the best way to keep unnecessary noises out.

“This is okay.”

It didn’t have any unnecessary expressions, and I even attached a photo to notify them of the necessary information and my current status.

This would put everyone at ease.

I was satisfied and immediately monitored the reaction to the uploaded post.

“…??”

And I was flustered.

– ㅠㅠㅠㅠ Moondae’s writing that didn’t start with This is Moondae is so unfamiliar to me. What should I do? Moondae, let’s not blame ourselves for being sickㅠㅠㅠ

– No Moon Puppy… No Tibetan Moon Puppy either… Moondae without emoticons…

– You shouldn’t hold back and apologize like this. What the hell did you say to the kids, T1?

– Moondae, rather than overexerting yourself to quickly catch up with the schedules, I want you to rest well, recover well, and see me with a bright face. Please don’t sufferㅠㅠ

Below that, my writings were translated into all languages, including English and Japanese, and crying emoticons began to run endlessly.

It was almost like a wave of crying.

They even identified the bruises by correcting the contrast value of the color of my wrist.

"…"

What should I do?

I ended up posting a picture I took with the members the next morning after being discharged, along with the phrase 'This is Moondae'.

Only then did the atmosphere calm down a little, but the crying tone and the over-immersion still remained.

'For the concert preparation… I have to work hard.'

I didn't know how this atmosphere would turn out if I couldn't show them my normal appearance. I kept this in mind, feeling like I was going to break out in a cold sweat.

And the moment I entered the dorm after completing the discharge procedure, another intense reaction was waiting for me.

Cha Eugene had just returned from vacation.

"Moondae hyung! I'm here… Huuuuh?!"

"Don't!"

"M-Moondae's ribs hurt!"

Perhaps there was no time to give him a briefing when he returned at dawn, and the person who tried to raise his hands and pat me on the back at the front door was immediately stopped by the other members.

Cha Eugene opened his eyes wide.

“Ribs? Meat?”

“Here.”

When I roughly pointed at my back, Cha Eugene pointed with a shocked expression.

“Is that true? Didn’t you hit him?”

“…I got hit when I hit him.”

“He hurt his wrist, too.”

“Oh, my God!”

Cha Eugene muttered with a shocked face.

“You lost…”

“I said I won. I hit him more.”

[Did you strike his jaw??]

“Yeah, his jaw and his head.”

“Oh.”

Cha Eugene then nodded with a face of restored respect.

“That’s cool!”

“Yeah.”

Fatigue suddenly set in.

‘Come to think of it, he’s my roommate.’

I forgot because there were so many incidents.

‘I want to go back to the single room.’

It was a sudden wish, but of course, it didn’t come true.

[So, my mom is not a big fan of seafood. Still, she liked the hairtail! Well, the flesh was sweet.]

“…Hairtail is delicious.”

[I hope the team can go and eat together!]

As soon as I lay down in my bed for the first time in a while, I listened to Cha Eugene and his mother’s Jeju Island trip until right before the schedule.

My attempts to sneak out into the living room were thwarted three times by a bombardment of questions.

At this point, my only hope was to not accompany their schedule.

‘Please.’

And as scheduled, the members, including Cha Eugene, left the dorm following a short evening schedule.

It was one of the few official schedules I missed because the final practice for the concert would begin in earnest starting tomorrow.

“We’ll be back. Rest well.”

“Call the manager hyung if you have to!”

“We’ll be home around 10 and see you.”

“Yeah. Have a great day.”

The crowd disappeared from the dorm like a tide. As soon as they left, I went back to bed.

“Sigh.”

In my mouth, I had a semi-dried persimmon that I had received from Kim Raebin as a return gift for singing passionately in the video call.

It tasted sweet.

The world was silent.

"…Hmm."

But more than I thought… I didn't feel very good.

'It's like I just overslept on an important major and took a break from the class.'

I felt like I was losing money without gaining anything because I missed my schedule.

'Let's just make a plan.'

I had to pretend to work. I frowned and recalled some of the problems at hand.

The top priority was… Of course, the concert.

'Should I change the composition of the solo stage?'

Since it was a stage I did alone, it would be troublesome if the taste of watching the stage dropped just because my injury didn't recover much.

And this was the best way to make the excuse that Park Moondae got hurt while practicing alone during vacation seemed credible.

'It should be a stage where falls and wrist injuries are likely to happen if I make a mistake.'

At the same time, it was a performance where I could respond flexibly if my injuries didn't get much better…

'Hmm.'

I thought of several options and stopped at one.

“This is the best.”

And at a little past 10:00 at night.

I called one of the guys who were back from the schedule.

“Ahyeon.”

“Yes??”

“Can I ask you something about your major?”

“H-Huh??”

If I couldn’t load everything, I would have to make a moment of impact.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 182

Asking Seon Ahyeon for cooperation related to the stage was already a proven method.

Even during <Idol Inc.> midterm evaluation where we just knew each other, he was happy to teach me.

However, the conversation went a little differently than I expected.

“N-No!”

“…?”

As soon as I explained the situation, Seon Ahyeon changed his attitude.

‘Could this guy have awakened his competitive spirit?’

I looked at him dumbfounded, and he hesitated a bit before continuing.

“Y-You’re hurt, doing that kind of thing is dangerous…”

Oh, is it about that?

“It’s fine. I didn’t mean I would practice right away. I plan to do it once I recover properly.”

Since I was used to exercising a bit, I was going to focus on conceptualizing and memorizing first, and then I planned to practice in earnest with about two weeks left.

I wasn’t a character in a drama who got shot and then immediately ran around in the next episode, and of course, I did my best to take care of myself.

However, even with this detailed explanation, Seon Ahyeon's complexion didn't look good.

"S-Still, it seems to be putting a lot of pressure on the joints than I thought… C-Can you not do that…?"

"Hmm…"

"Y-You're good already! You're good at singing, even if you don't do that…"

I was doing well but he was on the verge of sweating profusely.

'…You're sensitive to injuries.'

I thought it was simply because he majored in dance, but there was something more desperate than that.

"Hmm."

Anyway, it would be difficult to get an answer at this rate, so let's change the words a little.

"Yeah. I think you're right."

"…! R-Really?"

"Hn. I'll take care of my body and refrain myself."

Seon Ahyeon's complexion brightened.

I added stealthily after that.

"Then, using the device for a short moment… Yeah, can I ask you for a safe posture just in case?"

"Y-Yeah!"

Done.

Seon Ahyeon nodded in agreement. I played a video on my smartphone and showed it to him.

“Here’s the part where I pull back my strength…”

It was the so-called ‘josammo sa[1]josammo sa = short-sightedness/deceit/deception. In which both outcomes are the same but we’re led to believe that it’s not. It originated from the story of a man and his monkeys. He told them he would give 3 acorns for breakfast and 4 for dinner and the monkeys got angry. So he told them he would give 4 acorns for breakfast and 3 for dinner and the monkeys liked it. ‘ style of speech.

Actually, if you thought about it carefully, it meant I would do what I was originally going to do, but with this guy’s personality, he would fall for the implication that the other person had agreed.

I picked up some practical tips from Seon Ahyeon and even got a promise of a demonstration in the practice room.

“Thank you.”

“I-It’s nothing!”

And it was only after Seon Ahyeon arrived at the huge practice room rented for the concert that he noticed the oddity.

The company seemed to be moving fast, they had already rented the device.

“H-Huh…”

Seon Ahyeon’s expression was plastered with ‘?’, but the situation was already over.

“This, uh I don’t…?”

“You said you’d tell me.”

“B-But…”

I shrugged my shoulders.

“Well… You can stop if you don’t want to. The instructor is here, so I can ask him.”

“…! N-No! I’ll tell you!”

“Thank you.”

This was how I secured Seon Ahyeon’s demonstration.

It was easy if you’d done it before, even without the instructor’s advice.

And it felt different.

‘…There’s definitely a difference.’

I had to learn that.

“Oh!”

It was a smooth progress, except for when Cha Eugene broke into the middle and almost hit his head on the floor while excitedly intervening, saying that he would try it too.

However, some of the members stealthily asked.

“Moondae, have you received treatment? Are you sure it’s okay to do this?”

“Ah, it’s fine.”

I immediately nodded to Ryu Chungwoo’s insinuating question.

“I decide to try this so I don’t have to overdo it once I recover.”

“…Okay, but don’t overdo it.”

I was really fine. Not only did I skip all of my schedules, but my recovery was definitely faster than my original body.

'Is it because of the Bacchus 500?'

Since the speed of accumulation of fatigue was slow, it must be compensated by recovery.

I crossed my arms and looked at the device where Cha Eugene had just descended down with a grin.

'As expected, this picture will be fine.'

Now I had a taste of what I was doing. I felt good.

I looked forward to the concert.

* * *

"This… A cup to celebrate success."

"Oh, that's great! Cheers!!!"

Park Moondae's homma drank beer with her friend who was a graduate student.

'Argh!'

It was thrilling.

They had successfully completed the pre-sale for Testar's second concert which was held a while ago!

Both of them did.

"This is the standing area, right? Do I have to stand and watch?"

"No, no! There's a chair there! You can just sit and stand depending on the atmosphere."

“Ah~ I see!”

The graduate student, who had a good seat in the front seats among the so-called ‘righteous standing[2]‘Righteous standing’ seat = even if there are chairs laid out, everyone gets to stand up and watch. It’s apparently a culture of concert viewing. ‘ seats with simple chairs in the standing area, smiled brightly.

‘I heard she barely made it.’

Looking at the scene with a bit of pity, Park Moondae’s homma glanced at her own smartphone that just rang.

Bzzt!

And as soon as she checked the contents, she grabbed her smartphone.

“Gasp, Moondae posted something!”

“Heol!”

Hello Loviewer

This is Moondae (dog emoticon)

This is tonight’s dinner

I made it

(Photo) (Photo)

Chungwoo hyung took the picture

Loviewer, enjoy your meal

In the attached photo, a home-cooked meal with soybean paste stew and fried egg was prepared quite nicely.

And there was even a picture of Park Moondae's profile, seriously taking his prize.

'I'm going crazy, seriously.'

The homma felt like hitting her head.

Park Moondae was really the best. He was just too much.

'Take a break!!'

He cut off his schedule to rest, so why is he sitting there cooking?

In addition, looking at the photos again, she noticed things that bothered her.

The graduate student muttered with a worried face.

"He's still wearing a protector on his wrist…"

"I think he has it on his back, too. The shape came out on his clothes."

It had already been a week since she heard the news of the injury, but she couldn't help but worry.

The atmosphere of the drinking party subsided a little.

"…But Moondae's solo song is not a song with fierce movements, so the concert will be okay, right? He sang it standing up in <My Singer> too."

"That's right. He'll sit down and sing."

The two made a reasonable guess, saying that he could skip the group choreography and sit down if it was necessary.

'He must be very regretful."

As a result of watching his activities for more than a year, Park Moondae seemed to be the type who pretended to be not greedy on stage.

The homma held back her desire to cry, thinking that she should send red ginseng through his agency right away.

"…Still, I think this concert will be more fun than the first one! The concert hall is bigger!"

"Hmm, t-that's right."

The graduate student attempted to change the atmosphere, and the homma responded accordingly, but she couldn't help feeling bitter.

She remembered what she had been ignoring in the face of a happy situation where both of them were successful in ticketing

'Gocheok Dome, of all places…'

The concert was held at the Gymnastics Stadium with 13,000 seats last time and now it was held at Gocheok Sky Dome and opened with 21,000 seats.

Of course, since it was Testar's concert that was gaining momentum like crazy, increasing the scale was the right choice for the agency.

However, as a fan, she didn't like really like Gocheok Dome.

'The field of vision is bad.'

She wanted to cry out that she'd rather have Gymnastics Stadium and extended the period for two weeks, but she knew it was impossible because of the tour.

'Hiks.'

The homma, who couldn't completely follow the entire tour due to personal circumstances, drank the beer in a single shot.

'I'll just have to buy the data a few times…'

She was drunk.

And she managed to bring up a good topic.

"…And after the concert, it will be the award ceremony season. I'll see them often even when they're on a tour!"

"Oh! That's right!"

Expectations for Testar's performance at the awards ceremony were quite high.

'There's a possibility that VTIC won't be able to attend.'

This was because one of their members was involved in a dirty social controversy at the club, and the group's comeback was delayed.

Thanks to this, VTIC only released pre-released songs and there was no news of them, so the fans seemed to be anxious.

After cutting off the controversial member like a knife, she heard their official SNS had been quiet too.

Even on a member's birthday, they were quiet.

'It was Cheongryeo's birthday, wasn't it?'

She didn't know if he was secretly preying on her kid or if they were actually close, but anyway, the person she was most familiar with slipped into her mind.

But it disappeared in an instant.

'Well, he's in the first-tier group, so he'll do well on his own.'

In fact, even without the variable VTIC, Testar's momentum was certain.

In particular, Park Moondae's rise had been sharper recently.

To some extent, there had been a number of new hommas for the past half a year.

‘So many people have transferred!’

It wasn’t just once or twice that she witnessed other group’s hommas sneakily transferred offline without a word.

Even the person who took the same area as her in this concert was like that.

‘It’s a twin fansite tied with Keun Sejin!’

She heard rumors saying that they took pictures of Keun Sejin at the first concert last time and picked out high-quality eye-contact photos from the <I like waiting> stage and posted them on an anonymous site.

However, when she actually opened the platform, it started with the other cuts from that photo.

Together with Park Moondae and two-cut photos!

‘...I thought they would only take pictures of Keun Sejin, but I never imagined we would take pictures of Park Moondae together.’

A subtle feeling of competitiveness ignited her heart.

For this concert, she would definitely choose a picture of Moondae that was better than the twin fansite she transferred to!

Ignoring the fact that she had also transferred, the homma made a firm resolution.

“I’m going to pick out a really great cut this time.”

“Ah~ That’s great! Show it to me too!”

The graduate student answered brightly. And they ordered a new beer.

“Then, cheers!”

“Cheers!”

Thinking of the upcoming concert, the two clinked their glasses again with pounding hearts.

She couldn't have imagined that she would cry while waving and breaking the lightstick on the first day of the concert.

* * *

And on the day of Testar's concert, in the rehearsal site.

"Now, move it right away!"

"Yes!"

Various people were busy moving ahead of the performance.

Among them, there were many one-day part-time workers who were urgently hired to fill the immediate unnecessary work.

'Oh, it's so hard.'

A one-day staff put down their load irritably. They applied for a wage of 70,000 won a day, but they were sick of the endless labor.

"…"

The one-day staff looked around and sneakily took out their smartphone. And they posted an angry message on an anonymous site.

[A male idol concert staff. Not taking questions]

: I have to load and unload. They give the lowest wage and ask for so much sh*t

There are already a lot of fangirls outside. Not doing anything ㅠㅠ

'This aggro is fine, right?'

There were a few comments that seemed interesting.

But it wasn’t a good talk.

– ㅋㅋ This bastard never load and unload delivery stuff before

– What kind of staff are you? Sounds like a part-time job

-ㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋ Then why don’t you order the part-time workers to do it

– Fangirl = Spend money, OP = Receive the lowest wage

*‘Motherf*ckers…!’*

The part-time worker huffed and turned off their smartphone screen.

“Over there! What are you doing?!”

“…! …Yes.”

The part-time worker noticed the sharp criticism and carried the luggage half-heartedly. The other busy part-timers glanced at them, but they already lost motivation.

‘Should I run away?’

As they switched up their mind, they suddenly heard a buzz from one side.

‘What?’

When they raised their head and looked up, they saw famous faces.

“…!”

Testar had come for the rehearsal.

They bowed their heads here and there as they busily moved down the aisle with the staff.

“Hello~”

“…!”

Coincidentally, Lee Sejin made eye contact with the part-timer and greeted them amicably.

It was a large, well-maintained physique and face.

“Let’s go.”

“Okay~”

Park Moondae tapped Lee Sejin. The two bowed their heads a few more times and quickly moved their feet again.

“They are all so handsome.”

“Wow.”

“It’s kind of amazing.”

The other one-day part-timers whispered excitedly next to them but the part-timer who was about to escape felt worse.

‘Well, how amazing is their job?’

It was a sense of deprivation.

It was an attitude that came out because someone in their age group had achieved tremendous accomplishments, and they didn’t want to admit it.

However, the desire to escape had diminished a little.

‘Let’s see how great they are.’

Whether it was personality or skill, shouldn’t there be any flaws in the people who rose without a period of obscurity in a single program?

These days, all kinds of facts could be testified with a single authentication post.

‘Well, it’s anonymous, so can you catch me?’

The part-timer thought complacently and fell into a not-so-wholesome pleasant delusion.

And regardless of one person’s fantasy, the concert was ready to proceed smoothly amidst the expectations and hard work of many people.

- 1. josammo sa = short-sightedness/deceit/deception. In which both outcomes are the same but we’re led to believe that it’s not. It originated from the story of a man and his monkeys. He told them he would give 3 acorns for breakfast and 4 for dinner and the monkeys got angry. So he told them he would give 4 acorns for breakfast and 3 for dinner and the monkeys liked it.
- 2. ‘Righteous standing’ seat = even if there are chairs laid out, everyone gets to stand up and watch. It’s apparently a culture of concert viewing.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 183

Testar's concert began with a heavy background sound.

Swoosh!

In front of the darkened concert hall, a dark video appeared on a huge electronic display board along with the sound of cutting through the wind.

It was a pine forest in the middle of the night.

[…]

With an ink-like brushstrokes effect, someone stepped out from the pine trees.

It was Ryu Chungwoo wearing a cheollik.

It was as if the composition was connected to the last scene of the 'Present' music video.

Six people appeared together behind him.

Then the sound of drums and strong kkwaenggwari began to ring.

It was the accompaniment of 'Present'.

Woooow-!

Amid the echoes of the cheers of 20,000 people who filled the dome, the actual members appeared in the concert hall under the electric signboard before the intro was over.

And as soon as they got in formation, intense rap verses and choreography broke in.

– So that you can't escape even if you struggle

You come today, you go

Even as the fans screamed, short thoughts quickly passed through their heads.

'Hitting with Present first??'

'I thought they would do it at the end after the solo songs!'

Just like the first concert, the audience was very excited about the bold set composition list.

Even the staff, who had been busy backstage, were nervous at the thought of the concert finally starting, and at the same time, the mood was somewhat heightened by the spread of the atmosphere of the venue.

Of course, not everyone was like that.

'What's with the sound?'

The one-day part-timer, who was assigned to the backstage aisle control task, frowned as they heard people shouting.

The sound of the sound speakers echoed through the voices of the audience and staff inside, making their ears hurt.

'It's so loud.'

Some part of the members' faces was occasionally visible on the half-hidden electronic signboard.

"Hey, I can see some of it from here, too!"

"Oh, so handsome."

They didn’t want to be amused or impressed like other thoughtless part-timers.

‘All the celebrities will be treated at the hospital. How much money will they spend?’

The part-timer couldn’t see the stage well because of the angle, but they must be doing something obvious like idol choreography.

However, despite all the noise, the part-timer could clearly hear Testar’s voice in the aisle.

‘It must be pre-recorded.’

The part-timer thought as cynically as possible and touched their smartphone.

Real-time comment broadcasts now…

“Hey, don’t look at your smartphone.”

“…”

Acting like that even though they were both part-timers, screw them.

The part-timer muttered and put back their smartphone.

‘I’ll post it after I finish watching it in a little while.’

Thinking of posting it with a verification attached, the part-timer frowned in the aisle.

And regardless of what the one-day part-timer was thinking, the performance was going crazy on and off the stage.

“VCR 120 seconds!”

“Next outfit, hurry up!”

As soon as ‘Present’ was over, what followed was part of the collaboration song from the game <127 Section> and the title song at the time, ‘Better me’, but it was a remix version, not the original song.

In order to continue the flow of ‘Present’, it was arranged into a traditional instrument and most of the chorus was changed to Korean.

– At this moment

You can’t let me go

A high-pitched chorus pierced like an awl between the dancers and the gigantic stage set that looked like the jaws of a beast.

And a very agile dance break was unfolded using white strings similar to sangmo[1]Sangmo is a Korean folk arts hat. A kind of a hat with feathers or paper streamers called pi-ji, made of Korean paper attached to the top which is worn when dancing and moving the head around during a pungmul performance. Sumber: Wiki.pungmulnori[2]Pungmulnori/Pungmul is a Korean folk music tradition that includes drumming, dancing, and singing. .

– Better me

The performance of the three songs poured into the sky was finished with countless dancers flying strings into the sky.

It was a concert-worthy splendid production.

Aaaaaa-!!

With the lightsticks shaking like crazy and flashing in different colors through the central control, the VCR entered again.

And the members and dancers came pouring into the aisle.

“Outfit!”

“Ahyeon-ssi, here!”

“Yes…!”

Seon Ahyeon moved quickly among the members who were gasping for breaths.

Because the first solo performance immediately followed.

“Ahyeon, gasp, you have good stamina.”

“Huff, his lung capacity, as expected, he’s really a dance major…”

And it was time for the other members to take a breather while reflecting on their own solo songs.

“Moondae?”

“Moondae-ssi, are you okay?”

“…Huff, yes.”

Park Moondae sighed as he leaned back in the hallway.

“Do you need a hot pack?”

“It’s fine.”

Park Moondae answered firmly and wiped off his sweat.

‘It’s more worthwhile than I thought.’

His ribs were all recovered a few days ago. However, he did hear something like, ‘Don’t overdo it’.

‘That’s what the hospital always says.’

Who’s gonna tell him how to live his life now that he’s all better? Park Moondae rationalized it sullenly and raised his hand to where his lung was supposed to be.

‘The wrist… It’s still a bit painful.’

But it would be fine.

‘Because it’s already well sort-out.’

Park Moondae was confident.

From above, he finally heard the sound of Seon Ahyeon performing on stage.

– A swaying conclusion

Among those voices

I can hear you breathing.

Uaaaaaaaa!!

“Everyone loves it~”

“…I guess so.”

Park Moondae also knew.

The stage of Seon Ahyeon, who moved while splashing water droplets on the surface of the water, was sure to be splendid.

“Wow! I’m coming!”

“Yes, yes! Move!”

Cha Eugene, who would perform next, ran excitedly, hitting the staff’s back.

‘He changed his clothes quickly.’

It proceeded smoothly.

The stages of the solo songs that came in the order in the music video teaser didn't give a surprising impression, but they created a structure.

It meant there would be a lingering aftertaste when the solo stage was finally over.

"After Cha Eugene, it's me…"

"You'll do well. Don't worry, Sejin."

Park Moondae heard Bae Sejin's voice and Ryu Chungwoo's encouragement from next to him.

'The stage equipment has been cleverly configured, so there is no problem over there either.'

Bae Sejin's stage featured a rotating stage device and several magical elements. It was probably the most expensive device on today's concert stages.

Therefore, Park Moondae guessed that he would be able to hold up even if he came out after Cha Eugene.

'Because the audience will be amazed.'

On the contrary, If they had put another guy in, that person might have suffered from a situation where his stage capabilities were compared.

Park Moondae quietly added.

"That's right, hyung. It's great, don't worry."

"…Ah, okay."

"Ah~ So heartwarming!"

Lee Sejin smiled. Beyond that, a camera for behind-the-scenes content could be seen following them.

‘…I shouldn’t throw up no matter what.’

It wouldn’t be aired, but it would be quite embarrassing if the camera caught that.

Park Moondae brushed it aside and got up, moving to prepare for his stage.

His solo song stage came out at 5th turn. He had plenty of time.

* * *

‘It’s coming.’

Kim Raebin performed a rhythmical yet slightly cute solo song with unbalanced charm under the stage lights that glowed with glow-in-the-dark lights.

At that moment, in the midst of ripping cheers, this was the thought that the homma had.

‘It’s Park Moondae’s turn now.’

She took good pictures of Kim Raebin as practice, so her hands were more energized.

‘Everyone’s performance is great.’

From Seon Ahyeon to Kim Raebin and even Bae Sejin’s stage, it was fun.

‘Moondae, you’ll tear it all apart with just your singing skills…!’

Conscious of Park Moondae’s and Keun Sejin’s twin homma sitting three spaces away from her, the homma held up the camera solemnly.

Just in time, she saw someone’s camera being caught by a security guard in the standing seat in front of her.

It was a person who tried to put a white lens on the shoulder of the person in front of them on the previous stage.

‘Amateur.’

The homma thought reflexively, seeing as that person couldn’t play innocent even if they got caught.

At that sight, some people were judgmental.

‘It’s really funny.’

One of them was the part-timer standing in the backstage aisle.

The part-timer clicked their tongue when they saw the audience getting their camera taken away by a security guard.

‘Why are you taking pictures like that? Don’t you feel embarrassed?’

A fangirl that couldn’t enjoy a show, the part-timer thought in a slightly condescending manner. They already had one certified comment.

– That fu*cker only took pictures. Just how boring is the concert? ㅋ

The part-timer, who grinned as they thought of it, shrugged their shoulders.

‘Since the concert started, this part-time job is easy.’

There were not many audiences trying to access the backstage aisle, so part-timers could easily fool around.

It was at that moment.

“The people in the back here!! Follow me!”

Staff came running from the inside and started calling part-timers.

It seemed something had spilled.

‘What is it now?’

The part-timer grumbled and followed the urging steps.

After that, the slow and beautiful VCR ended, and Park Moondae appeared on the stage.

Wooow-

In the static atmosphere of the stage, the cheers were quickly organized.

Under a ray of light on the dark stage, Park Moondae was sitting in a chair as a lot of people had expected.

However, as seen in the music video teaser, the colorful fabrics that wrapped around the abandoned house were stretched out from all directions on the stage, tying the chairs and Park Moondae.

And the costume was not a wedding outfit, but a light white stage costume.

On a quiet stage with no accompaniment.

Park Moondae started singing first.

– On the eve of April

I can't even see the moon

You didn't come

Love is rotting away

At the end of the first verse, when only the heavy voice resounded.

The sound of an instrument came in like a rush.

Whooo!

The moment the Korean musical instrument in the minor key subsided slightly, the next verse continued, and the color came into the light.

Red, blue, and flashing lights heightened the strange tension.

‘Gasp.’

The homma barely held on to the camera and heard Park Moondae’s voice.

‘He sings so damn well.’

She really had nothing to say other than this. The homma swallowed her saliva and captured Park Moondae’s image on camera.

‘I like the hair and makeup.’

And in her ears, she listened to the emotional high notes that run through the chorus as if sucking it.

– Still, I’ll wait

‘Gaaaah.’

At the end of the chorus, the homma’s heart was strangled by catharsis.

‘Just with your voice!’

It felt great.

But the moment he entered the second verse, things changed.

– After that time

The sun doesn’t rise

Along with the lyrics, Park Moondae’s hand was half-lifted in the air.

It looked as if the fabric wrapped around his arm was being pulled.

‘Huh?’

The moment she hurriedly tried to convince herself that the slightly bizarre movement must have been Park Moondae’s own movement, this time the other arm came up at a different angle.

– You didn't come

Love is rotting away

And Park Moondae lifted his waist like that and went up into the air.

"…!!"

It was a movement that looked as though he was swimming in a space without gravity, guided by the fabric.

As he climbed onto the chair, lying down and stretching his body, Park Moondae continued the song.

"…Huh."

The homma made a sound without even realizing it.

The audience everywhere also had similar faces as she was.

And this wasn't just the audience.

The part-timer, who was cleaning up the collapsed luggage inside, also saw the scene that was broadcasted to the stage electronic display through the monitoring screen in the front.

"…Oh."

The part-timer looked at the screen with their mouth wide open while carrying their luggage.

And they could understand why the captive audience was so eager to take pictures.

- 1. Sangmo is a Korean folk arts hat. A kind of a hat with feathers or paper streamers called pi-ji, made of Korean paper attached to the top which is worn when dancing and moving the head around during a pungmul performance. Sumber: Wiki.

- 2. Pungmulnori/Pungmul is a Korean folk music tradition that includes drumming, dancing, and singing.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 184

Park Moondae continued to rise into the air. Even as his limbs dropped in the air, his limp body maintained its dramatically graceful lines.

And he kept singing.

– My heart is melting

Until there's nothing to expect in desperation

Until it's over

Just like the eerie lyrics, it was a static yet intense performance.

The homma, who was watching the scene blankly, suddenly realized something.

'That's why it's a head mic!'

From the moment he sat in the chair, he was wearing a head microphone, not a standing microphone or a handheld microphone.

'I thought it was because it didn't fit the atmosphere with the tied-up clothes…'

No, it was because of that crazy performance.

And it didn't end there.

– Still, I'll wait

The moment the final chorus hit.

The accompaniment suddenly turned into a slow string solo instrument.

In the midst of that mournful sound, the fabric that had been tied around the singer's body loosened and began to flutter along with the wind.

And the cloudy night sky began to be reflected on the electronic display.

"…!"

Fabric in primary colors swayed against the background of a cloudy dark night where the stars were hard to see.

And a white figure floated in the middle.

Even though all the tied fabric was released as if he had been pulled up, Park Moondae was still floating in the air with only his body.

'Crazy.'

She didn't even have time to think about how he did it. Every element of the scene made a dramatic contrast, and it even looked like some kind of modern art.

The white outfit shimmered in the light.

The song flowed beautifully without wavering.

– On the day you finally came

Until the day you think it's pretty

Unlike the original song, which seemed to be burning, it was a singing method and accompaniment that seemed to resonate with sadness.

– Waiting

The ensemble of the orchestra resounded in the hall. It was the sound that was actually played under the stage.

With that melody, Park Moondae's body slowly descended from the air.

And the next moment.

As if nothing had happened, Park Moondae was sitting calmly in the chair.

The fabric, untied in all directions, was spread like a pattern on the floor.

Click.

The lights went off without warning, and the stage was over.

* * *

Woooow!!

The screams and exclamations that rang through the concert hall made the backstage tremble.

And the one-day staff members, who glanced at the monitoring screen while packing up their luggage, were all in deep admiration.

Looking directly at the electronic signboard screen from the front, they thought it was a performance worth paying for.

The same was true of the disgruntled part-timer who was fiddling with their smartphone.

'In real life, it looks even better…'

However, since they were watching indirectly through the monitor, the magic of the performance quickly unraveled.

'…But isn't it all because of the equipment anyway?'

All of that was done by the experts who made the stage, honestly, the singers just sang.

‘Maybe it wasn’t live like before.’

The part-timer tried to ignore the excitement and touched the luggage again.

Still, that person seemed to be struggling, they shouldn’t say anything bad. They were a little conflicted.

Just then, they could hear a murmur farther down the aisle.

It was a background noise that they had never heard before during the performance.

“What?”

“Is there an accident?”

In the distance, they could hear a small shout, ‘Hey, oxygen mask!’.

However, soon Lee Sejin’s performance began, and the background noise became almost inaudible.

‘Oh, boy.’

The part-timer licked their lips, listening intently to see if there was anything they could get as an anecdote.

But after a while.

People who were newly assigned to move the luggage whispered around the part-timer about the news they had picked up.

“What, he passed out because they pressed the wrong device?”

“Heol.”

“Is it Park Moondae?”

“Looking at the order, I think so? Then why would they make signals? The staff seemed to be talking about it… I eavesdropped and got kicked out.”

“What a pity.”

“…!”

The part-timer, who had been eavesdropping pretending not to listen, realized it too.

‘The guy who was on the air stage just now collapsed?!’

The part-timer knew his name because he was popular on WeTube these days.

Park Moondae, who debuted at No. 1.

To have collapsed after coming down from the stage, it was a passionate professionalism that they had heard in every good story.

‘...But what are you going to do with the rest of the performance if you collapse like that?’

Isn’t it rather thoughtless? The part-timer thought as sarcastically as possible.

But eight minutes later.

At last, it was the moment when Ryu Chungwoo’s solo song ended and the group song started again.

[Speading Midnight

The distorted focus

Shaking, worrying about the time]

The Park Moondae that was caught on the monitoring screen…was performing his part with a normal face.

“…!”

There were no signs of collapse anywhere.

And witnessing that gap somewhat directly… Something about it struck a person’s heart.

‘...It’s amazing.’

As if their energy was released all at once, the part-timer felt relieved.

Seeing him gritting his teeth and working hard like that, their inferiority complex subsided.

“Let’s go back!”

“Yes~”

Even after organizing all the spilled luggage and returning to the background, the part-timer was lost in thought for a while.

“…”

And with the noisy concert hall in the background, they took out his smartphone and wrote a post.

[A interlude review of male idol concert staff]

There are a lot of fangirls yelling sh*t, but there are no times to try

But still, the floating-in-the-air performance, he’s working so f*cking hard by himself

There was a problem, so as soon as the song was over he put on an oxygen mask and collapsed, but honestly, this bastard is so determined

It was written without malice.

However, the comments were appalling.

– ㅌㅅㅌIs it a part-time job?

– Fangirl, your efforts are so touching

– Not interesting

– Even in the ’80s, they wouldn’t have done this, show your next manipulationㅋ

“These bastards…!”

The angry part-timer took a picture of their vest visible in the aisle, then they posted the proof shot triumphantly.

‘They can’t say that anymore!’

And 30 minutes later.

“Who posted this here?”

‘Gosh.’

The part-timer, who was immediately found out, was dragged away by security guards for violating confidentiality.

It wasn’t a skit.

However, apart from this happening outside, the concert went on and finally reached the mid-break time.

Right away, it was time for the talk show.

* * *

[It’s Testar’s second concert!]

[Thank you once again for coming to <Enchanted ME>.]

[Wow~]

Members clapped and laughed at Ryu Chungwoo's hosting.

Most of them were still sweating, gasping for breath, and drinking water due to the performance just before this, but it was also attractive in its own way.

As Lee Sejin and Park Moondae who happened to be sitting side by side were zoomed in, the office worker holding the camera thought indifferently.

'If it's already like that, you should make Lee Sejin the MC.'

She was the homma that started operating the twin fansite of those two, 'Puppy Bear'.

'Looking at the leaked set list, I heard there's no unit performance.'

It was a bummer. She wanted to film the performance of those two soon… No, she just missed them.

After making a quick estimate, the office worker still felt good.

'The number of followers is different.'

The number of followers exceeded the fan account of a male idol from a small agency she originally operated for within six weeks.

Thanks to that, she closed her old account and moved on without looking further.

'It's for this taste.'

After all, it was right to catch popular guys, and the office worker thought calculatingly.

'In particular, Lee Sejin is the type to have a long run.'

Just in time, the person in question opened his mouth.

[Ah! While watching today's concert… Ah! Our area is so alienated! I didn't even make eye contact! Is there anyone who did?]

Me! Me!!

Here!

A booming sound echoed through the concert hall.

Lee Sejin smiled and picked up the points with his finger, asking back, "Here? Here?" wherever he heard the sound.

Park Moondae suggested with a slight smile.

[Then, shall we start with a greeting first?]

[Ah, that's a great idea~ Stand up!]

[Hello!]

[Let's have fun.]

Testar got up and went around the end of the stage, greeting up and down.

Laughter and cheers warmed up the hall.

The office worker relentlessly followed them with her camera and licked her lips.

'I wish you could show off your abs.'

Even if he only showed it for a moment, she was confident she could capture it neatly.

Unfortunately, that didn't happen, but the talk continued naturally.

[Did you enjoy the performance?]

"Yes!"

The office worker responded reflexively along with people shouting from all sides, and she got a little embarrassed.

But she couldn't help it.

'It was really fun.'

Even compared to the first concert, the device was more spectacular and there were many configurations that showed off their individual capabilities, so it was nice to get into it more.

In particular, the solo stage leading to Park Moondae–Lee Sejin was very good.

When Lee Sejin's splendid and active stage was put after Park Moondae's extremely static and artistic stage, her satisfaction doubled.

'It's not because I'm their homma, but objectively, those two did the best performance…!'

The office worker calmly fangirled.

[Ah, I worked hard on preparing it, so I'm really glad!]

[Thank you.]

[Actually, we've prepared an improvised performance!]

Huh?

There was a murmur here and there.

'Please don't screw around.'

Having seen several idol concerts that became solemn when doing things like 'improvised stage', the office worker clenched her teeth.

But the members continued to talk excitedly.

[Before that, everyone, there will be a sentence on the electronic display! If it's YES, can you turn on the light stick, and if it's NO, can you turn it off?]

[Shall we try it? Now, turn it off!]

Some audience were puzzled, but in an instant, the hall suddenly became dark.

[Wow, this is scary??]

[There are over 20,000 people in the audience, so I thought it would definitely have a big impact.]

[That's true.]

[Actually, I'm scared, too, so can you turn it back on quickly? …Haha, thank you, thank you!]

The explanation that followed was simple.

After hearing an explanation about a member, if you think it would be right, turn it on, and if you think it would be wrong, turn off the light.

[Okay, here's the question… Oh, 'Seon Ahyeon likes dogs more than cats!' What do you think?]

Twinkle twinkle.

Most of the lightsticks didn't turn off and swayed.

[Oh! There's no need to use central control! Everyone said YES!]

When Lee Sejin made a fuss, Ryu Chungwoo smiled and announced the correct answer.

[The answer is… YES, it's true!]

[No, how can you guess it so well, everyone!]

Seon Ahyeon nodded shyly. The members clapped and laughter and cheers rang out from the audience.

In the same way, questions about each of the seven members continued. Audiences succeeded in more than half of them, but of course, they also got it wrong.

[Oh, dear. All three are emoticons that Raebin uses in the group message room, it's true! Everyone, Raebin is such a mature friend.]

[I'm good at swimming! Loviewer, do you perhaps think Lee Sejin can't swim?]

As the laughter continued, it came to the last turn.

It was Park Moondae.

Park Moondae was rather quiet throughout the talk, but when he was given the timing, he read the message on the electronic display in a soft voice.

[Hmm, 'The largest amount of dishes Park Moondae has ever cooked is for 7 people.' What do you think?]

Twinkle.

Quite a few lightsticks were turned off, but the majority of them had turned the lights on.

'Since there are seven members, there's a high possibility that it's seven servings.'

The office worker also turned it on.

[The answer is… Ah! It's NO.]

Heol.

After the members commented one by one, saying that it was such a pity, Park Moondae took the microphone again.

[It doesn’t end with one serving each, I usually made enough for 12 people.]

Ah~

The audience was quickly convinced.

‘This is our fault.’

‘It didn’t cross my mind.’

After that half-playful understanding, the question and answer were finally over.

[Now, then… The members you didn’t guess right are Kim Raebin, Lee Sejin, and Park Moondae!]

[Nice combination!]

When Lee Sejin self-destructed, the members laughed.

[These members will get a punishment now!]

“…??”

“Punishment?!”

She thought they were just filling the time for the talk show before the stage, but it seemed they had prepared more.

[Yes, everyone. Please wait a moment~]

At the same time as the members stood up, the stage equipment moved and huge boxes began to enter from the right and left.

[See you later~]

And the members who were guessed correctly by the audience ran to the right, and the three members who weren’t guessed correctly ran to the left.

The box on the right had a nice castle printed on it.

And on the left… It had a picture of a tissue box with a doll on it.

"…??"

Around the time when the audience was bursting into laughter at the unexpected momentum, the accompaniment suddenly began to play out.

It was an ominously fresh and lively intro.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 185

Not long after, the door to one of the boxes on the side of the stage opened.

[TA-DA!]

It was the box on the right with the winners of the audience mini-game.

When Cha Eugene excitedly ran out of the box first, the other members followed with a laugh.

They were wearing something like red uniforms, which looked like the doll uniforms from The Nutcracker.

They were cute.

“Uoooh!”

The moment people cheered for the costume, the accompaniment included a melody.

‘Oh, this!’

‘Ah~’

Many audiences recognized the identity of the song. It was a famous children’s song that dominated the 2000s.

However, it had a stylistic refreshing band arrangement, which was perfect for an idol concert.

It was a little too cheerful, though.

The winning members jumped onto the stage, waved their hands here and there, and then stood up in a proper formation and began to perform on the stage.

It was a perfect movement.

– My friend is really really cute

I have no words

my heart is warm

It seemed they were watching the prompter, but the winning team sang the song very well by dividing it into parts while holding back laughter as the song was recited a few times.

There was no particular change, but with this level of quality, it was hard to say that the team was made on the spot.

‘So cute.’

In order to exchange data with Lee Sejin or Park Moondae from a different angle, the office worker set aside the data with great care.

‘I have to film Cha Eugene no matter what.’

The one with the highest unit price.

At the extremely eventful stage, the fans waved lightsticks and hummed along to the song, immersed in cuteness without much pressure.

The first verse ended in such a warm atmosphere.

[Thank you!]

[Thank you.]

When the bridge began to appear, the winning team finished the stage with a bow.

Cute!

Cheers and laughter spread throughout the audience.

And inside, a strong sense of foreboding flashed insidiously.

'If this is what the winners do… Are the losers going to do something worse?'

'It's sexy.'

'The answer is the costume.'

'Fairy wings.'

In the midst of all sorts of self-interest, the winning team ran excitedly down the stage.

And at that moment.

Jijijijijiing-!!!

Suddenly, an electric guitar sound pierced through the interlude.

"…??"

Strange exclamations like 'Huh?' mixed with laughter came out here and there.

'What??'

In an atmosphere of bewilderment, before long, the refreshing interlude was smoothly replaced by a heavy metal sound.

[Argh!]

Then, the tissue box was torn apart and the people who got punishment came out.

"…!!!"

"Oooh!"

They weren't wearing uniforms like the winners.

They were wearing stuffed animal suits with only their face shown and it was too big for their body size.

They were the ones rising from the tissue box.

The form of the animal suit waddling out was openly cute, but the animal suit only had gangster attire.

That meant it matched well with the accompaniment.

"Huuuh??"

While the concert hall was in chaos for a moment.

The three members hit the center of the stage with rock and roll gestures.

Lee Sejin, whose head tilted for a moment because of the wobbly body of the doll, stood up straight after receiving rough pushes from both sides.

'You get it…!'

The office worker captured the cut like a knife.

Lee Sejin, who was struggling, watched his gap while dancing, then picked up a hand microphone with a hot pose at the right time.

And the high note exploded.

-My friend is!

really really sweet~

Their hands are small

Their heart is big!

However, his voice was altered.

A chirping voice rang through the speaker as if he had inhaled helium gas.

That's why, it got higher.

"No!"

The noise of the bustling audience mixed into the modulated sound.

Park Moondae then struggled to raise the hand microphone with the foreleg of the thick doll suit.

– I like friends~

We are best friends~

Along with a capitalist smile, a flashy autotune surrounded the audience.

"Uahahaha!!"

The fans were now laughing.

It was the same for the office worker. She even saw the person next to her hit the lightstick to avoid hitting everywhere.

'Crazy.'

Nothing could be this radical.

'Crazy!!'

It was so unnecessarily great that it was so funny.

And, of course, it was cute.

– Dear friend, dear friend

You're my best friend

I love you, my friend

Give me a big hug

A low-pitched voice that sounded as if cursing came from Kim Raebin's rabbit suit.

And instead of hugging each other, they sit back to back.

Thanks to this, they couldn't control the lump of cotton and all three of them almost fell, and they got up again grabbing each other and pushing each other.

'Oh, my God.'

Watching the guys singing the chorus dance naturally, the office worker who ran the twin fansite felt it.

'This is… This is definitely going to pop off!'

This gag, this impact.

The future where they would appear in real-time trends and popular articles was already looking good.

[Testar crazy people ㅋㅋㅋ]

[Live crazy Testar concert.jpg]

'I have to do a preview right now and upload a short video on the way home!'

The office worker made the data passionately. And on the stage, the three guys on the losing team were also performing passionately.

The skull-patterned robe and black jumper worn by the stuffed animal suit were generously taken off and thrown to the audience.

By the way, it was disposable, made of paper.

Only its form looked like the actual thing.

“You must be crazy, seriously!”

“Here!!”

Fans cried and cheered, almost laughing. There was no other rock star attitude like this.

– Yeah~ Best friend!!

The performance of the children’s song in the heavy metal version ended with them hotly kneeling down.

Looking at the three stuffed animal boys pretending to be cool and waddling out in the midst of ripping laughter and cheers, the office worker cried out,

‘I’m going to upload it as soon as it’s over!’

She could already see the followers’ content!

And unlike the office worker who was busily picking out photos from the camera and making the previews during the interlude, the heart of another homma sitting near her was a mess.

‘I’m going crazy.’

It was Park Moondae’s first homma.

She looked at the stage where Park Moondae had already left, looking as if she had been riding a roller coaster ten times.

In fact, the homma had been in this state ever since she watched Park Moondae's solo performance.

'Moondae, this is… Sigh.'

Lying in the air and singing while floating?

With this stage, she could understand why he injured his wrist and his back.

So it was a problem.

'It hasn't been long since you got better, but you really did that…!'

The fact that he really did it without revising it made people feel nervous.

And there was a bigger problem.

'...It was great.'

The solo stage was really, creepily good.

Despite all the homma's worries and premonitions.

'I think it will be difficult to publicize due to artist's protection…'

There were so many people who like that stage, so it seemed the topic of 'If Moondae is fine with it, shouldn't it be fine?' would go trending.

Right now, he did it himself.

'The fact that you're so good at it is a problem.'

The homma mechanically filmed the VCR opposite her with a nervous face.

In fact, she felt the same sentiment for the heavy metal children's song he did earlier.

When she saw the kid who had just recovered was singing a group song breathlessly and running around in that heavy doll suit, she thought about all kinds of things.

But at the same time, it was inevitable that she felt pleased and proud and thought it was cute.

Still, the homma had no choice but to cry inwardly.

'Park Moondae, you're fine, right? I don't have to bang my head after the behind-the-scenes footage comes out, right?'

Park Moondae of the VCR turned around with a smile.

* * *

"Ugh."

"Moondae-ssi!"

"Are you okay?"

I was fine. I just overworked my cochlea because I was walking around in an animal doll suit.

'It must have looked funny.'

Good. Actually, I thought it was funny too.

"I am fine. Just give me one glucose."

"Here!"

The staff busily handed over the capsule.

It was salt glucose.

I removed the packaging and swallowed the pill with water. Immediately, a make-up artist came and wiped off the sweat and moisture.

‘Two and a half minutes from now.’

It was time to catch my breath and go out. I took off all the crap lumps of cotton.

Just in time, Keun Sejin was about to take off his doll suit and throw it away.

“Take a breath.”

“I am fine.”

My shortness of breath had long gone. I clicked my tongue.

‘How could they press it like that?’

What I prepared for the solo stage was a wire device that got me floating while lying in the air.

.

I looked like I was floating thanks to the fabric, but even if the fabric was completely unraveled, I was still floating, which was even more surprising…

I was aiming for something like that, and it seemed to work well.

In fact, even if it was a wire device, there was no great burden on the body because safety equipment was widely attached around the waist below the costume.

As long as it was properly installed.

‘It went wrong.’

It was fine during rehearsal, but maybe there was a mistake because they were busy when I used it, or perhaps something went wrong during the maintenance.

It kept pressing down on my left lung.

Fortunately, it didn't put pressure on my broken rib, so I could finish it properly without any major difficulties other than the lack of oxygen.

I also came down and put on an oxygen mask, so I recovered quickly.

'Even if there's no accident, I use an oxygen mask whenever I can.'

In fact, except for Ryu Chungwoo and Seon Ahyeon, everyone used it. Even those two had used it once or twice.

However, an accident was still an accident, so it seemed the others were nervous.

Right now, Seon Ahyeon swallowed and asked.

"I-Is there any pain…"

"Nothing in particular. My physical strength is fine, too."

I was in good shape because I just kept playing, eating, and practicing.

'The wrist… well, I rarely use my wrist anyway.'

This much could be managed after the Seoul concert. I shrugged my shoulders.

"Let's go. We can't be late. We have to be on standby."

"Y-Yeah…"

"…"

Ryu Chungwoo, who was watching from next to us, interrupted.

"Moondae. Can we talk again after the concert?"

"Yes, that woud be great."

I wanted to have a deep conversation about the thought of changing the person in charge of the device.

And the other guys added one by one.

"…Your body, just tell me if it gets worse."

"Health is the most important thing."

"Okay. Okay."

I could rest better if they didn't talk, but I accepted it in moderation because I was somewhat grateful and I wasn't a sociopath.

"Move!"

After a rather long VCR, we had to go up to the concert hall again.

Wooow-

Cheers.

And the purple lights that filled the concert hall.

'It reminds me of the first concert.'

It was understandable. Because it was built that way on purpose.

Listening to the clear percussion through my in-ear, I sang the first part.

– I will meet you tomorrow

I think about it all day long

It was our debut song, 'Magical Boy'.

– Dream as blue as daytime

At that moment, small shining things from the audience seats began to fly into the air in the wind.

“…!”

Those were soap bubbles.

Numerous round surfaces shimmered in all sorts of colors in the purple light.

“…”

These many people were shooting soap bubbles side by side.

Just like when the first concert started.

Because we remembered that scene together.

[Loviewer will show it to you today!]

A slogan was caught on the electronic display. A familiar phrase was altered.

‘It’s fun.’

I laughed.

‘…It’s nice.’

My brain seemed to disappear because of the adrenaline.

I felt like I had taken some kind of drugs.

The time of the remaining concert passed quickly, as if it had melted away.

* * *

Thus, the first day of the concert ended successfully.

I also heard that there were favorable reviews here and there. Of course, if you went to watch the concert, you must have liked Testar… Still, it was quite rewarding.

‘Good.’

However, not everything went as expected.

“Why don’t you reconsider it?”

“…?”

This was because the members, company, and fans each dragged a variable one by one.

It was driving me crazy.

Author's Thoughts

I am back (/◕ワ◕)/*:･ﾟ✧

Sorry for the sudden absence, I was sick, but I am all recovered now.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 186

I crossed my arms.

“So… You’re saying that it would be better to revise my solo stage.”

“Yes.”

Ryu Chungwoo nodded with a firm face.

I ordered a special meal at the dorm to celebrate having successfully completed the first day of the concert, but I didn’t know I would hear such words.

‘Is this what he meant when he said we would talk later?’

I have to cut down the person in charge of the device, why should I give up on the performance?

It was my solo stage, so it’s not like I was hurting anyone else, but it was funny to hear people telling me what to do.

I answered bitterly.

“We can just find the person who made the mistake, change them, and keep going. I’ve never felt any particular pressure on that stage.”

“You don’t feel the pressure, but you can feel it in your wrist or waist.”

I held back my sigh.

“…It’s all right. I wouldn’t have done it if I couldn’t stand it in the first place.”

Keun Sejin asked me a question.

Yes, not only Ryu Chungwoo, but the other guys were also listening intently as if we were having a meeting.

“Park Moondae. It’s been more than 3 months since our tour schedule was immediately set. The number of performances is 12, excluding Seoul.”

I know that.

“Can you do it 12 times? Can you do it every time at a new concert hall without making a single mistake?”

“That’s why, it’s fine to make a mistake…”

“I-It’s not fine.”

“…!”

…It was Seon Ahyeon.

“Moondae, you passed out… I-If you do something wrong, you’ll be in big trouble. Y-Your wrist still hurts…”

“….”

My head was pounding. I rubbed my shoulder.

“…I have time until we go abroad anyway. I can fully recover if I rest.”

“Moondae.”

Ryu Chungwoo shook his head.

“Are you a doctor?”

“…!”

“Whatever injury it is… I can’t guarantee that there will be no side effects from the moment the bone is injured.”

Ryu Chungwoo smiled bitterly.

“I guarantee you.”

“…”

This bastard was using a cheat key.

I kept my mouth shut at the words of the former national team member who retired before he got into his prime time due to the aftereffects of injury.

Of course, my silence was not a declaration of surrender.

‘Should I set up the mood first?’

As long as sensitive keywords such as ‘injury’ were included, persuading them only with logic was not a good match.

‘Either way, to put it mildly… I can use the characteristic ‘Now that I heard it, it’s true’.’

The probability was more than half.

I came up with a suitable structure.

And I said hesitantly.

To appeal in this way.

“But… I’ve practiced for a long time to show you this.”

“…That.”

“I thought a lot about the idea and created it. And when I actually tried it, the response was really good…”

I finished my speech with a serious tone.

“It’s such a waste to quit after just one day. I want to do as far as I can. If the recovery from the injury is too slow, I’ll ask for understanding and change it later.”

Ryu Chungwoo’s face darkened slightly.

‘Is it over?’

However, Keun Sejin intervened with a ridiculed face.

“You’ve been on the device for less than 2 weeks, what do you mean you’ve practiced for a long time?”

This bastard.

“…I mean, I’ve thought about it for a long time.”

“Ah, really? You picked this to make an excuse for your injury, right?”

“…!”

“The excuse should have worked in one day, so let’s go for an alternative now. You can refrain from it and later recover completely. We will continue to have concerts in the future.”

Keun Sejin continued to speak with a serious look.

“Look at it from the long-term perspective. Are you going to retire after this tour?”

“…!”

“You’re not.”

That… I don’t know.

I might not be able to continue.

Then, I realized as if I had been hit in the head.

‘Did I care about this?’

If all the status abnormalities were over with this tour, I didn’t know if I would continue to stay as Park Moondae.

‘So this time, I really wanted to do it while I could…?’

It was too sentimental… I wasn’t a kid.

I erased the sentence that crossed my mind at the moment and thought of a nuance that made more sense.

‘Yeah. I guess I want to do well while I am still doing it.’

The stage was more fun than I thought, and it was a rewarding work. In addition, the pay was good, so there was no area to blame.

In the state of being immersed in that sense, there was no long-term certainty, so my standards might have gotten a bit blurred.

While I was lost in thought for a while, Keun Sejin spoke as if driving a wedge.

“Rather than hindering your performance with side effects of the injury, just recover now.”

“…”

Yeah, f*ck.

He was right.

‘I don’t feel like it’s not my body that I use’

Maybe, I could continue to live as Park Moondae.

I sighed.

“All right.”

“…!”

“I already have an alternative, so I’ll look at the condition tomorrow morning and think about it again.”

Bae Sejin, who had been listening quietly, suddenly shouted.

“D-Don’t look at it by yourself! Go to the hospital!”

“…Um, yes.”

It was my solo stage anyway, so I could ignore them and push ahead, but let’s accept it this time.

“Well thought out.”

“Make sure you go to the hospital with the manager tomorrow.”

“You should.”

‘It would be funny if the doctor said I am fine.’

I drew an unanswerable hopeful prediction and postponed the decision until tomorrow morning.

By the way, it was a meaningless move.

Because an argument broke out between those who had concert tickets at dawn that day.

A pretty big one, too.

* * *

The atmosphere was great until the first concert was just over.

– Guys, I love you forever, Testar

– I can’t wrap my head around it. Why was I not at that concert?ㅠㅠ I should have found a seat in the middle, I am an idiotㅠㅠ

– I really love all the performances. The capital they poured is overflowing, but the performance is more memorable than that. I’m going to post a detailed review after I get home

– Moon Puppy, my sweet apple rice cake crybaby king renewed againㅠㅠ (photo)

– It’s hard to type because I am crying and screaming so much, but having my seat on the weekend is the best moment of my life

There were very few lamentations that were posted only under the surface and very few ambiguous responses of regret. It was just a wave of delight.

In addition, as the twin homma had expected, Testar’s improvised talk stage became a hot topic even for non-fans.

As soon as the concert was over, videos of the stage taken with smartphones were uploaded to WeTube.

– Ackㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋ

– I laughed so much that I would have cried if I had seen it on set

– It’s so funny that they were throwing their shirt off. Are they crazyㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋ

– In front of the handsome kids, happily watching a children’s song????Yes

– No, was Kim Raebin always been like that?ㅋㅋㅋ I can’t even imagine, it’s so funny

– The fact that what came out was a ripped tissue box is also funny

The company even got on the trend by quickly leaving a slightly witty post on SNS.

All combinations of our Testar are precious☆

All the improvised performances from the <Enchanted ME> tour will be included as a special feature in the VOD package.

Fans sent doubtful glances saying ‘T-One works quickly?’, but they were relieved that they were able to collect all of the improvised stages officially.

– It was good to continue with the solo songs, I got goosebumps when all the members came out after Chungwoo ㅠㅠ

– Ahyeon seemed to be in good condition. He was flying around. During the encore, he greeted everyone… But I hope Ahyeon will get the punishment tomorrow. Loviewers, please get it wrong. (Photo of Seon Ahyeon’s greeting)

– Cha Eugene’s dance break, you really have to see it with your own eyes at least once in your life

It was a night filled with detailed reviews and posts about looking forward to tomorrow’s concert from the audience who had returned home.

Of course, there were countless articles about Park Moondae.

– Park Moondae is an angel. I realized it today

– I wondered if it would be okay to spend money to watch it, but Moon Puppy is a genius performer of the century

– The moment he floated in the air and the moment the fabric was unraveled, the timing and color were exactly like Moondae’s taste, so I thought that Moondae was definitely involved in the planning. He wanted to show it even if he was hurt, I thought a lot about it and on the way back so much I shed tears. I became the girl who cried on the bus

– Honestly, I was worried that he might get hurt, but he did a really good job. I’m glad that our puppy recovered quickly but don’t overdo it ㅠㅠ

The exquisite shots of Park Moondae, who took the moment of rising in the air with grace, filled the SNS and were shared in all kinds of angles and versions.

There were occasional concerns about injuries, but because the stage was so good and Park Moondae was calm, the majority of people liked it, saying, 'He must have recovered quickly'.

It was also more convenient for those who believed they could see that stage in person next time.

But the moment this public opinion was about to pass by.

One post was discovered.

[Interlude review of a male idol concert staff]

It was the part-timer's review post that testified about the collapse of an idol who performed 'the stage of going up in the air by himself'.

It had been deleted fairly quickly, but it even came out with a verified photo, so of course, there were people who screenshotted it thinking that it was real.

And if you matched the situation, of course, Park Moondae was brought up.

– Did he pass out wearing an oxygen mask?

– My heart is about to drop

– I am going crazy, Moondae really would have done that – So humiliating. So humiliating. Those bastard really lost their mind. I'll trust this and burn the shared posts ㅋㅋ – Everyone uses oxygen masks at idol concerts. Why is this one special? He said he'll work hard, just enjoy it. Why pay money and go crazy?

– It must have been really painful if the injury hadn’t recovered, but he even collapsed. What should I do, seriously…

– It’s just an aggro, why are you guys agreeing?

– There’s nothing official about it, so I hope you all calm down… Are you doing this on purpose, or are you keeping Gommeo’s solo genius performance in check?

All sorts of opinions swirled around and the fans were shaken.

People who were already worried about the side effects of the injury were heartbroken, but because it was just a single unofficial article, various opinions came out.

And this situation deepened over time.

– I sympathized

– There’s a concert today right now, what if he does it again and the injury gets worse? I really can’t stand it

– Let’s not go ahead ourselves. Do you want to be ridiculed by the muggles again?

– I think it’s better to check if it’s true

– Let the sleeping dogs lie.. What would you do if he’s doing well? Is leaving the fandom the only answer?

The move to put pressure on the agency and the opinions of skeptics intersected, and it turned into a mess.

They were on the verge of splitting up.

And Park Moondae woke up in the morning and confirmed this.

“…”

He was puzzled.

‘Can I solve this?’

He grumbled, saying, ‘It seems serious when they describe it as pass out, but in reality, it was just a momentary haze’.

However, when it came to this point, Park Moondae had no choice but to admit it.

Because he didn’t want to worry the audience who was concerned about his health while watching the stage.

* * *

I admitted it over breakfast.

“…I should quit.”

“Y-Yes!”

“Well thought out.”

I calmly added to the members who responded.

“Yeah. But only after we’re done in Seoul.”

“…??”

To put it bluntly, all gazes were pouring out to me, asking what kind of nonsense it was.

It didn’t matter. I said it firmly.

“I came up with a good way to explain it to the audience. This is the best.”

“Moondae.”

“I won’t do it until I get better when we’re done in Seoul.”

It was funny that I persuaded them to do my own stage, but anyway, these guys reluctantly agreed.

‘Seriously.’

I contacted the company right away.

And before the concert on the second day.

A notice was posted through the company.

[Hello, we’re T1 Stars]

During Testar’s <Enchanted ME> concert last Friday, a stage equipment error occurred during the performance of the song ‘The Last Flower’.

Considering the risk of reinstalling, the performance of the song will be revised after consulting with the artist.

However, according to the artist’s wishes, this concert in Seoul will be held safely with the presence of experts without any changes.

……

After that, there was a lengthened content about ‘Park Moondae is fine’.

To sum it up, ‘Park Moondae is fine, but because there was a device error, we’ll remove it from now on’.

The agency must have been quite conscious of the fans’ attack, and they agreed to disclose the error of the device since the story was already going around anyway.

They would get criticized a little, but if I had to revise the performance anyway, it would be better to focus on ‘prevention’ rather than highlighting my injury.

‘Either way, it’s another device error, they’ll get criticized for their poor handling.’

It was none of my business. Anyway, the person in charge had been changed to someone more professional, so there wouldn't be any accidents anymore.

The problem was what I heard from the company afterward.

– The camera is going to come in, but you'll only see them briefly, so you don't have to worry about editing…

The participants in season 4 of <Idol Inc.> would come to see Testar's concert.

Of course, it was for broadcast content. Probably, they were planning to include a few cuts of 'participants who reaffirm their dreams after watching a successful Testar concert' in the final that would air soon.

After debuting, they would come to this agency anyway, so it was like tasting the water.

'Hmm, the company is digging their own graves.'

In fact, if they simply attended the concert, it was too ambiguous for the members to refuse.

'It's not funny if we ask them to take away the invitations that the company has already given out.'

Tnet's feelings would also get hurt.

I was a bit worried.

But right after that, I realized that I didn't have to spend my energy.

It was none of my business.

'If the company really wants to see the sea of fire…'

Then, just let them be.

I shrugged.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 187

“Wow, that sucks.”

A little past midnight, Kim Raebin’s solo fan was engrossed in the Internet while eating bread.

Testar’s Saturday concert, a mid-day concert that she attended just before midnight, ended as successfully as the first day.

– The kids commented that they liked it more because they had time to spare, and they even laughed during the encore, they were just 100% happy

– Today’s penalty group: Seon Ahyeon, Cha Eugene, Bae Sejin, and Kim Raebin ㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋ

– Loviewers are trying so hard to get the quiz wrong. Isn’t that too much?

– No, If they’re doing well, they have to get the punishment tomorrow

– Kim Raebin’s rabbit ears 3 times in a row (photo)

Needless to say, public opinion about the quality and the entertainment was still good.

In other words, the complaints of the day came from other factors.

The first, of course, was due to the company’s announcement about Park Moondae’s stage equipment.

Instead of apologizing, the statement focused on future measures.

If it was a company dealing with consumers of industrial products, that method might have worked, but of course, it didn't work in the entertainment business.

– Have you gone crazy?

– So, it was true that the kid passed out, you f*cking bastards

– It's been a while since I saw a post full of avoiding responsibility, every end of the statement is about the artist~The artist's will~ㅋㅋㅋ Have you lost it?

– I can't believe he was going to do it all the way to Seoul with a device error. Park Moondae is amazing. I'm already looking forward to the last concert – In the end, it wasn't because of Gommeo's injury, it was because the agency was bad at their jobㅋ T-one, just reinforce the device so that he can do whatever he wants

– I can't believe that the agency hired an expert only just now. What have you been doing?ㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋ

– So after making the kid pass out, you're saying you'll make him do it at the Seoul concert because it's a waste of equipment? Wow

From people who felt like sending trucks and bamboo spears to the agency building without hesitation, to people who were relieved to be able to see the stage in person.

Just like when the rumor first spread, there were various reactions, but this time, they clearly had one thing in common.

Either way, the evaluation of the agency had fallen below the bottom.

Whether it was a concern for Park Moondae or contempt for the agency's incompetence and shamelessness, they all converged into one and created a sharp atmosphere.

– I thought they had money, but I guess they didn’t have money to spend on the safety of their singers

– T1, go die. Please die

– Just give the company to Moondae

And when it reached this point, people who were cynical began to form an atmosphere of ‘The agency admits their defeat’.

– Honestly, the muggles completely agree, right?

– Practice injury, real-life accidents, controversy announcements, and strikeouts. It’s a small agency wearing the mask of T-one company

– It’s better to dig properly now than to check one by one next time

Kim Raebin’s fan was also like this. However, she had a little bit of stereotypes.

‘The agency is beaten, they’re supposed to listen.’

Anyway, all that public opinion flowed in one direction, and it was about to explode into a public debate as soon as the concert was over.

The only reason they were waiting was to avoid harming Park Moondae and to avoid disputes with other members’ solo fans.

The atmosphere was so intense that even Park Moondae’s fans who just wanted to enjoy the concert leisurely felt uncomfortable.

And in that fire, the second concert began.

“And it all ended.”

Kim Raebin’s fan murmured jaggedly.

As soon as the concert started and ended on the second day, the brutal atmosphere visibly faded.

There was only one reason for this.

…Park Moondae at the concert looked relaxed and happy.

Of course, while being incredibly enthusiastic on stage.

– Even if you watch it in low resolution, Moondae's face looks good…

– Moon Puppy getting a slogan at the encore (photo)

– Moodae is so excited. There's no Tibet. It's just the puppyㅠㅠ

– Park Moondae, side by side and choked upㅠㅠ Our apple rice cake is so juicyㅠㅠ (photo)

His solo stage was even more powerful than the first day.

Even the fans, who had been watching nervously before the stage, were loosened by the ease and momentum around the middle.

– Crazycrazy Park Moodae crazy

– The visualization of the best idol

After creating a good stage, seeing idols who were happy to see them face to face had the effect of making them sympathize.

They felt like they had shared a perfect successful moment.

The happiness transmitted from the party concerned slightly cooled down their heated minds.

So Park Moondae's fans began to refine the level of feedback they would send to the company.

From burning them at the stake to criticizing them.

– I am the leader of <Park Moondae Space>. The statement to the agency is being written based on anonymous voting, with an emphasis on safety.

(draft attachment)

– You'll see how far the boycott will go if another incident occurs in the future.

– If there are signs of something similar will happen, I will boycott T1, even their jinppang[1]Tl notes: Jinppang = fluffy steamed buns filled with red bean paste. too

T1 Star, who was monitoring while biting their nails, breathed a sigh of relief and was preparing to react to the feedback in advance.

'Ugh.'

Kim Raebin's fan, who was searching for all kinds of keywords related to 'Park Moondae injury' and 'Park Moondae accident', sneered at the fading atmosphere.

'Ah, whether Park Moondae enjoyed this concert or not, the agency has to lose~ Why are you trusting yourself to Park Moondae??'

She grumbled that she should have squeezed the agency at this opportunity, but deep down, she was also relieved.

FullMoon Baby

: XX1207 "Magic is You" Preview

(photo) (photo) (photo) (photo)

I love you, my star

#ParkMoondae #TeSTAR #Testarcon #Enchanted-ME #MoonPuppy #Moondae

'...Well, he did look happy.'

The college student's expression faded as she watched Park Moondae's sweaty face singing a fan song during the encore. She felt like her fighting power was shrinking faster with the low-definition photos.

However, she changed her attitude shortly after.

‘No, since he looked happy, isn’t it right to think that we should beat the ones who almost made him unhappy?’

The college student, who was huffing and puffing, updated her timeline vigorously with the thought of checking once more to see if anyone had similar thoughts.

And suddenly, she checked a post.

– I thought it was for VOD because there were many cameras in the best seat in front of the extended stage ㅋㅋ It’s Idol Inc 4 shooting, wow… (photo)

“…!!”

The attached photo showed a camera clearly marked with the logo of <Idol Inc.> season 4.

The real complaints of the day, the news of <Idol Inc.> season 4 participants watching the concert, began to be shared as a popular post.

Not only in fans’ SNS, but it had also begun to appear all over the community.

[Idol Inc 4 finalists were witnessed at Testar concert today.jpg]

[Testar concert will come out in Idol Inc 4?]

“What?”

As a finishing touch, the <Idol Inc.>’s production team, who was delighted to call this ‘going viral’, attracted the aggro as always.

[<Idol Inc. re-listed! Season 2> Stock Idol Testar cheers for the finalists ☆ Bling bling concert is a bonus! (EP.14 preview)]

At dawn on the very same day, this video was released as a final trailer.

* * *

I took a sip of cold beer.

I had a concert tomorrow too, so I had no intention of drinking too much, and it just was to relax.

‘It ends up like this.’

After the concert. The public opinion, which I confirmed while lying in the bathtub of the dorm, was running out of control.

‘First of all, the announcement was fine.’

It didn’t specify the side effects of the injury, but only revealed the device’s failure.

I pushed ahead with the stage until the Seoul concert.

It was to seal up the pointless differences of opinion among the concert audience.

Whether it was the people who cared whether ‘Park Moondae had recovered’ or worried about ‘being able to watch the stage of production’, both should be satisfied.

‘So that the debate wouldn’t become a controversy.’

As I had expected, the topic subsided.

And to prevent further gossip, I tried to show myself at the concert looking as stable as possible.

…However, I didn’t know that there would be so many people who good-naturedly cared about my mood.

How could Park Moondae looking so happy had such an impact?

"…Hmm."

I was a little embarrassed, but… It wasn't bad. Thanks to that, it seemed I had gone overboard with today's concert.

'I have Bacchus 500, so I will be fine.'

According to my calculations, I should recover well by tomorrow.

It went in a slightly different direction than I had expected, but I was able to settle it down within the expected range by slowing down the criticism that would pour down on the agency.

'Now, even if a bomb explodes as the final trigger, the company's resentment will not come directly to me.'

I was not the ultimate cause.

'Because they got ruined by <Idol Inc.> season 4, the agency must be blaming Tnet.'

And in fact, the bomb was already exploding.

"Hmm."

I put on the screen the trailer for the final episode of <Idol Inc.> that Tnet just uploaded.

[Hello, we're Testar!]

Familiar people in concert outfits bowed with a smile.

We didn't bother to refuse the final cheering interview for <Idol Inc.>. If they were going to perish, might as well perish splendidly.

'Still, at least they didn't take a face-to-face cut with the participants, as if trying to keep the line.'

Thanks to that, none of the members had to worry, and after the concert, even in an exhausted state, they smiled and filmed words of encouragement and support.

But I didn't expect them to edit it hastily and hit us with a final preview right at midnight.

'Normally, it would've been taken as a hot topic even if they got cursed at. Too bad.'

The timing was not good.

Because of my case, even among the fans of the other members, the image of the agency was at its lowest point.

'It's perfect to get cursed at by tying it up with the agency.'

It wasn't a situation where they could just rub it in and move on with words like, 'It must have come out to promote the concert tour'.

At the bottom of the video which had more 'dislikes' than 'likes', all sorts of comments were lining up.

– Wow! 30 seats in the center in front of the console!^^

– I'm sick of it. Idol Inc, stop crossing the line

– I don't have a seat yet, but a program that was cut down in the past crawled into the concertㅋㅋㅋ

– ㅋㅋㅋI was joking about boycotting the jinppang, but I guess I am going to do it for realㅠㅠ

And thanks to Testar's fans getting angry with the agency, <Idol Inc> season 4 participants got less swearing than they normally would.

Because they also added the complaints to the company.

– They are being held hostage by this garbage program and suffering again. Let’s all get out of here – Do you send people who haven’t even debuted yet to a male idol concert to get a picture of them cheering? Oh, you’re getting caught, you’re giving cheers to the kids you want to send away ㅋㅋ It’s obvious – Just show one more cut of the participants. Who would want to see a male idol when every single scene is a waste?

<Idol Inc.> Season 4 fans who didn’t want to be attacked began to attack T1 and Tnet together.

It was a strategic choice because they didn’t want to look bad since the weight class didn’t match, and it was clear that they would continue to be involved in the future.

Of course, there must have been enough anger accumulated on Tnet while watching <Idol Inc.>.

I clicked my tongue.

‘…There must have been an uproar after calling so early in the morning.’

It was obvious.

I sympathized a little with the regular staff of the company, but then I stopped when I realized I wasn’t in a situation to care about others

‘Still, as long as this tour goes well, I can easily fulfill the status abnormality.’

And when that happened, I…

“…Park Moondae! Are you there?”

“…!”

Someone calling me from outside the bathroom door could be heard dully through the steam.

“Um, yes.”

…I must have been sitting here too long. I got up from the lukewarm water.

Then, after roughly wiping off the water, I put on my clothes, took the empty beer can, and walked out of the door.

The one standing outside was Bae Sejin.

‘Are you in a hurry to go to the bathroom…’

I deliberately waited for the others to sleep, but it seemed the other bathrooms were already being used by someone else.

I tried to pass him by with a nod and go to the trash can.

But I was caught by my shoulder.

“Y-You.”

“Yes?”

What.

Bae Sejin gulped and glanced at one side and said.

At the empty beer can in my hand.

“Aren’t you drinking too much…?”

What are you saying?

- 1. Tl notes: Jinppang = fluffy steamed buns filled with red bean paste.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 188

‘Drink too much’, he said.

I looked at Bae Sejin with ridiculed eyes.

“I just took one can.”

I never drank too much when I drank alone.

I was not an idiot, and I had a schedule every day, so there was no way I would drink too much. Moreover, tomorrow was the last day of the concert in Seoul.

However, Bae Sejin replied with a nervous face.

“…It’s dangerous to drink while taking a bath. And not just today, you drink too often.”

“I drank once today to cheer myself up, I don’t usually drink like this. I don’t drink that often…”

“No, you drink often!”

Bae Sejin screamed. Then, in surprise, he glanced at the other rooms.

‘What are you doing?’

As I looked at him with bitter eyes, Bae Sejin continued to talk in a slightly lowered tone.

“You drank a few days ago. You drank last week, too.”

“It was just one can.”

“It’s not the quantity that matters. …You, why did you drink?”

“Well, to relieve stress…”

Bae Sejin clenched his hands tightly.

“Therefore… You’ve been drinking every three or four days to relieve stress!”

“…!”

“You’ve been doing that lately.”

Bae Sejin looked down.

“…Since you came back from America.”

“…”

I felt like I’d been stabbed in the back.

“I saw you did that too often while we were sharing a room.”

Listening to Bae Sejin’s testimony, I ran the calculation in my head.

‘I… drink every three or four days.’

Right.

Bae Sejin was right. Twice a week. It was almost once every three days.

There were more days when I didn’t drink than days when I drank, and I didn’t feel it because I drank it quickly without thinking.

In other words, I drank to ‘relieve stress’ every time like a habit.

“I-I did some calculations, and the frequency seemed to decrease a bit when you were receiving counseling. But… um, after you got hurt on vacation, you drink again often.”

“…”

“And when someone touches your drink, you get irritated, and you get happy when someone gives you a drink… To me, you look too dependent on it.”

Dependent.

Come to think of it, isn’t it too natural for me to drink beer when taking a break whenever I have a hard time?

‘It’s worse than before entering Park Moondae’s body.’

I couldn’t help it.

‘It has good cost-effectiveness.’

Considering all the time, effort, and money, I couldn’t help but know instinctively that there was no method as convenient as this.

“You can try to relieve your stress in other ways. Seon Ahyeon also picked up embroidery…”

I looked at the empty can in my hand, and I answered.

“…You’re right.”

“…!”

“I’ll be careful.”

“Y-Yes!”

Bae Sejin seemed a little surprised, but he soon answered vigorously.

‘...I’ve been helped.’

I looked at Bae Sejin again.

“Thank you for caring.”

“It’s not a big deal, I notice this kind of thing a little faster…”

Perhaps the problems at home had an impact. I nodded.

“Then I’ll throw this away and go to bed. I won’t drink anymore, so don’t worry.”

“Okay. Go to bed quickly. It’s already late. Um, uh, we should do well at the concert tomorrow.”

“Of course.”

I threw the empty can to the trash can in the kitchen.

Then I went back to my room and lay down on the bed.

Next to me, Cha Eugene was already lying upside down on the bed, completely asleep. It seemed he had fallen asleep while eating popcorn.

‘New hobby…’

I had to develop a hobby to relieve stress.

Still, I could choose regardless of money. Because I had a lot of savings.

‘Should I buy some expensive food?’

Looking at the empty popcorn bag on Cha Eugene’s bed, I reflexively thought of that first.

‘Maybe adjusting the quantity would be better…’

I felt like I fell asleep after thinking about whether I should eat Korean beef or not.

And the next day.

Before going out early in the morning to prepare for the concert, I inadvertently opened the refrigerator and noticed a change.

The beer was gone.

Of course, there was only one person who could be suspected of being the culprit.

"…"

Bae Sejin, who was sneaking into the kitchen, avoided my gaze and shouted quite brazenly.

"W-What?! You said you wouldn't drink."

True.

'I must have had some real dependency symptoms.'

I got a little pissed off for a moment.

I shrugged, packed the soda as planned, and closed the refrigerator.

"That doesn't taste good!"

Ignoring Cha Eugene who strongly recommended coke, I drank the soda.

My troubled thoughts last night resurfaced again.

'Hobby…'

I never had anything like that.

Whatever. Let's just end the concert for now.

* * *

“Thank you!”

“Loviewer! I love you!”

“Go home safely! See you again!”

Since it was the last concert in Seoul, everyone seemed to be immersed in emotion, so the exit remark was long.

“SEE YA~”

Except for when Cha Eugene reached out and shook his hand outside the closing screen and almost got caught, it was a satisfying ending.

“You idiot! You could get hurt doing that!”

“I’m not an idiot I have Passion.”

He was full of energy. I heard a few words from Ryu Chungwoo, who was equally energetic.

I drank water and wiped my face and neck with a towel. I could hear people catching their breath or chattering here and there.

“Moondae, your phone!”

“Yeah.”

I could just go to the waiting room and get it, but he insisted on handing them out today.

I nodded my head to Keun Sejin, who was handing out the smartphones from the hands of the staff.

Eventually, as the cheers from above subsided and announcements began to appear, the guys started moving from backstage.

“Ah, didn’t it feel going more smoothly today? No, of course, I liked all the concerts, but was it because it was the last?”

“Haha. Probably. I liked it, too.”

“R-Really… It was great!”

“I thought I’d like to sing one more song if it wasn’t for overtime work for the staff and night noise problems.”

I didn’t feel like refuting what I heard as I walked down the hallway.

‘It was fun.’

There were no accidents or difficult unexpected situations, and it was a performance that worked together.

It could be said that the best assumption was made because that was simply how it was.

Even the improvised performance during the talk show was like that. With a bit of luck and coincidence, an interesting situation was created.

‘I didn’t know we’d all get punished.’

Thanks to this, there was no stage for the winners, so we did one more encore.

It seemed the fans were plotting with each other to make us get punished, so they must be very proud.

“What do you think, Moondaemoondae?”

“It was good.”

“Oh~ You’re going to cry again today… Cough.”

He was good at goofing and messing around every time.

As I walked past Keun Sejin who had a towel on his face, the manager approached me from the other side of the hallway.

“Well, ahem, Moondae!”

“…? Yes.”

“Wait, can I talk to you for a moment? Not for long!”

“Ah, yes.”

Hmm, it was probably about the company.

I forgot about it for a moment because I was busy drinking and thinking about the concert, but the company was currently in a state of emergency due to the ‘Idol Inc season 4 Testar Concert Cameo incident’.

It might be slowly being added to the wiki in the ‘Controversies and Accidents’ section.

‘But I don’t know why they picked me.’

Well, because of the industry spy case, they might have misunderstood me as the type who was good at picking things up from here and there.

I shrugged my shoulders, bowed to the others, and followed the manager.

The manager went to the restricted parking lot and offered me an iced Americano.

“Um, why don’t you have a drink first?”

“Alright.”

I waited for the manager to get to the point while contemplating the benefits of drinking beverages as a hobby.

However, until the whole cup of Americano was gone and only ice remained, this guy hadn’t opened his mouth

"…?"

Looking at the manager who just stood awkwardly and pretended to be looking at his smartphone for no reason, I eventually opened my mouth first.

"What is it, hyung?"

"…Ah~ Um, Moondae. Do you have any concerns these days?"

What are you saying, out of the blue?

'Since when did the company care about that?'

I replied hesitantly.

"Well, nothing in particular. Why?"

"No~ Umm, ah, counseling! Do you have any plans to do something like counseling again?"

"…"

I frowned, then smiled.

"Why? Did the members tell you I need counseling?"

"… ! Uh, it's not like that~ You look tired these days!"

What do you mean it's not like that?

'Looking at his attitude, someone has prodded him.'

And to use that as an excuse, it would have been right to do it when I was hospitalized.

I shook my head.

"It's okay. It's hard to get counseling once the tour starts anyway."

“Um, that’s right. That… um, yes. But if you need it, just tell me!”

“Yes.”

“….”

“…”

No way, is it over already?

“Do you have anything else to say?”

“Um… yes, yes! Shall we go in now? Moondae, keep fighting in the future!”

“Yes.”

How strange.

I looked at him with some doubts, but soon I put myself together.

‘It”s not just once or twice that the company fools around.’

Well, even if he said it, I would pretend to evade the topic.

I returned to the waiting room with the silent manager and touched my smartphone.

‘Wouldn’t it be better to post a speech at least?‘

I turned on the camera application on the screen as I walked. And I turned it to selfie mode.

‘Now I’ll take some pictures with this.’

Of course, I was skilled enough that my focus didn’t falter when I walked.

Alright, let’s level it up.

Click. A proper picture was saved with a low sound.

'This is fine.'

Let's post this. I nodded my head inwardly and started typing.

Hello, Loviewer

I really enjoyed the concert. So much that I don't know how the three days went by

'Ah, I forgot the introduction.'

As I added 'This is Moondae' in front of it instead of typing it down, something suddenly bothered me.

'Hmm, it would be better to have a group shot than to post it alone.'

It was a concert, so doing that would make it more touching. It could also prevent sarcastic comments and useless comparisons between the members.

'Let's take a picture as soon as we enter the waiting room.'

Just in time, the door to the waiting room was just around the corner.

Like a habit, I knocked and opened the door.

… But, suddenly, glitter flew in front of my eyes and covered my field of view.

Puufft! Puuuffft!!

Similar to the confetti I just saw on stage… It was an event firecracker.

"…??"

When I came to my senses, I was covered in some kind of shiny threads.

As I was dumbfounded and speechless, a group of guys wearing cones of all colors suddenly appeared in front of me.

And in the hands of the two guys at the front… There was a cake.

It was chocolate, and a dark brown puppy decoration was on top of the mess.

The phrase was… 'HAPPY BIRTHDAY'.

"Happy birthday!"

"Happy birthday!"

"…!!"

Birthday?

Suddenly, I calculated the date in my head… I was surprised.

December 8th.

It was my birthday.

In other words… It was not Park Moondae's birthday. It was my birthday.

The day Ryu Gunwoo was born.

"How did you…"

I didn't even know what I was saying now. I was about to say something useless, so I quickly stopped talking.

But my brain still didn't work.

What the hell is going on?

"Haha!"

As if I looked funny, Keun Sejin burst into laughter and hit me on the shoulder.

“Hey, have you forgotten? It’s your birthday next week!”

“W-When we were on the plane, you said back then… It would be nice to celebrate on the same day…!”

“…”

Ah, I see.

‘That’s right. There’s no way you’d know.’

I broke out in a cold sweat. I understood a little bit now.

…Still, I didn’t know how they chose this day.

Like the improvised stage where everyone got punished together… It was because of coincidence and luck.

“Yes, and it’s also the last day of the concert!”

Ryu Chungwoo added with a smile.

“Moondae likes concerts so much.”

“…”

“We worked hard! The birthday cake! It was made by me and Kim Raebin!”

“Cha Eugene has no skills. Strictly speaking, it’s more like I am the one who made it.”

“No! I’m good at drawing!”

The two maknaes insisted hard to win the cake decoration.

Keun Sejin grinned.

“Anyway, you look really surprised, don’t you? The surprise is successful!”

“S-Successful…!”

‘Oh, my God.’

When I saw the manager who had slipped aside and looked at me with a happy face, I immediately understood what he had been doing.

“Then what you kept saying out of the blue…”

“Hey, these guys are asking me to buy some time~ What can I do? I just did whatever I was told to do, Moondae!”

“…”

The manager showed his smartphone.

On the screen, there was a group message room filled with noises such as ‘Just talk about counseling’ and ‘We need more time’.

By the way, the name of the message room was <Tibetan Moondae Surprise Birthday Party>.

I could tell without looking whose naming sense it was.

When I looked at the giggling Keun Sejin, he reduced his laughter and spoke seriously.

“Anyways, happy birthday!”

“Happy birthday, bro~“

And a messy birthday song mixed with English and Korean filled the waiting room.

The staff who were present were also smiling and singing together.

“…”

It felt really weird.

‘...No.’

Good.

Yeah, this was good.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 189

The birthday celebration lasted longer than I expected.

To be honest, I thought it would end after the singing, but we even ate the cake in the waiting room.

“D-Does the cake suit your taste?”

“Yeah, it’s nice”

“I guess it’s a beneficial choice to vote for the strawberry whipped cream cake. Strawberries are in season, so they’re plumps.”

The conversations about related topics continued until I received a large piece of the cake as the birthday boy.

There wasn’t even a camera. It was just… They did this without any intention to make this into content.

“…”

In the end, I had no choice but to say this in front of the cake plate where Cha Eugene had scraped off the remaining cream from.

“Thank you. It’s great.”

“…!”

“Ah~ Moondae hyung, I’m going to cry! What’s up with the Tibetan Moondae?”

“Because the cake is delicious!”

“Congratulations, Moondae-ssi!”

From the guy who pretended to cry, to the staff who clapped as they finished packing their last belongings, all kinds of reactions came back.

‘Oh, well.’

I smiled.

Then I picked up my smartphone and opened the camera app.

“Taking a picture? Great!”

“Oh, it would have been better if we had taken it before eating the cake.”

“Over here!”

I brought the empty cake plate and took several group selfies with the six guys in a row.

“Guys, we have to move now!”

“Yes!”

Then as I moved to the car at the urging of the manager, I completed what I was writing earlier.

Hello, Loviewer

This is Testar (puppy emoticon)

The concert was really fun. I was so happy that I didn’t know how the three days passed. Thank you.

I just received a surprise birthday party, so I’m posting this because I want to share it

I hope you have the best night in the world.

♡ (Puppy emoticon) ♡

After uploading my personal photo and the group photo I just took at the bottom, somehow I felt relieved.

The responses came back in an instant.

– Crazy. Park Moondae, welcome

– ㅠㅠㅠMoondae, happy birthday. What's going on? Come on, let's talk about it – Aah, let's do it together at the birthday concertㅠㅠ Testar, stop! Stop bullying Loviewer!

– I love you Moondae, the concert was so good. I always cheer for you. I hope you have a nice and happy tour

– I also want to celebrate Moondae's birthday in person, I'm serious (crying emoticon)

Expressions of excitement and affection, soaked in the afterglow of the concert.

Even in foreign languages and emoticons, I could feel their goodwill.

"…"

There was a lot more to read in the comments, perhaps because this time I shared it directly right before this. I continued to refresh slowly, examining them.

Occasionally, there were sounds of bulsh*t running around, but it didn't catch my attention.

However, even though it wasn't bullsh*t, there were also comments that bothered me.

– As expected, Moondae is fast, too ㅋㅋ

‘...Moondae is fast, ‘too’?’

Somehow the nuance was strange.

I clicked the back button on the post and returned to the first page of Testar’s SNS account.

And I saw the post below my post.

“…!”

Long texts beginning with ‘I love you, Loviewer’ were already uploaded in several long bundles.

20 minutes ago.

In addition, for each post, there was a selfie photo of him and a behind-the-scenes group shot taken at the last concert.

…It was Keun Sejin.

He glanced at my smartphone screen with a sleazy face.

“Ah~ Moondae, you posted too?”

“…!”

As expected, this bastard… He was no ordinary guy.

‘Could it be that the surprise birthday party was a ploy so that this guy could strike first?’

Even though it wasn’t possible, I doubted it briefly while moving to the place for the after-party.

* * *

“My~ friend~ is really, really cute!”

“Hahaha!”

While Cha Eugene sang the children’s song, other members collapsed into a fit of laughter.

It had been only an hour since the after-party started.

The staff just went home with only a few people remaining, including the manager. Perhaps he was somewhat conscious of the company’s hideous atmosphere…

And the rest of them…

‘They’re a bit drunk.’

It would be easier to be a little drunk among drunk people, but it was impossible for me.

Because what I had in my hand was non-alcoholic champagne.

* * *

“Y-You! Don’t!”

I didn’t say anything. I stared silently at Bae Sejin, who was cleaning up the bottles around me like a ghost.

By the way, those bottles were already empty.

“…Sleepy.”

It seemed so. Chop down the bottles and stay strong.

‘Slowly, their words are losing context.’

I looked around the not-so-drunk atmosphere, then shook my head and got up from my seat.

“Oh? Moondae, Where are you going~?”

“Restroom.”

Actually, not the restroom, I was just going out to get some fresh air, but it didn’t matter.

The entire restaurant was rented with the terrace included in the option, so it was convenient because I didn’t have to worry about other people’s eyes.

‘Still, if I just show my face, I am sure there are some bastards waiting nearby to take pictures.’

It didn’t matter. I would just sit quietly.

I came out to the terrace and escaped the space filled with songs and laughter.

Thud.

As soon as I closed the door, the cold winter air hit my cheek, but I didn’t feel too cold because there was a camping stove nearby.

‘It’s an expensive place’

I just sat down and quietly looked at the night sky.

“…Hmm.”

As with the night sky in Seoul, I could hardly see the stars, but it somewhat calmed my mind.

Filling the place where gratitude and joy had subsided…

Creak.

“Ah, M-Moondae?”

“…Seon Ahyeon.”

Why is he here?

After the door had been closed for some time, Seon Ahyeon poked his head out through the open door.

“C-Can I stay there too…?”

“I guess so.”

In the first place, I didn’t reserve this place alone.

“Yes!”

Anyway, perhaps taking this as permission, Seon Ahyeon immediately came out of the door.

Thud.

The door closed again and the terrace became quiet.

Seon Ahyeon quietly sat close, but not too close.

“…”

Strangely, it reminded me of something.

When I got hot chocolate from Seon Ahyeon, it was exactly in this position.

I inadvertently opened my mouth.

“Did you come out to get some fresh air?”

“O-Oh, me?”

“Yes.”

“That… There is that too. Um, t-there’s something I want to ask…”

“To me?”

“Yes.”

Seon Ahyeon hesitated for a moment as he touched his knee, then suddenly continued.

It was an unexpected question.

“Hey… Moondae, b-by any chance. After 5 years, you don’t want to be an idol…?”

“What?”

The words I heard from Keun Sejin when I gave up on the stage setting a while ago came out of Seon Ahyeon’s mouth again.

However, the nuance was slightly different.

…Seon Ahyeon sounded genuinely worried.

“Y-You said that to me before.”

Seon Ahyeon lowered his head slightly.

“I-It could be dangerous, so don’t overdo it on stage. Stay healthy… It is better to be able to do it for a long time.”

“…!”

“That, w-when I did the improvised backflip on the year-end stage last year!”

Seon Ahyeon even explained the situation at the time in detail, perhaps because he thought I couldn’t remember.

He didn’t have to. I remembered it well.

‘I did say that.’

I gave this advice because I saw Seon Ahyeon doing something that could cause serious injury on stage, and I had thought, ‘When pressured, he tends to overdo it in a self-destructive way’.

And since then, Seon Ahyeon had never been particularly stubborn.

…Yeah.

On the contrary, I was the one who had been stubborn.

“B-But Moondae… You’ve been overdoing it. You’re not healed yet, but you were using wires…”

Once I realized my dependence on alcohol, I came to acknowledge this too.

Perhaps this was a reproach, but it couldn’t be.

“Y-You said it’s good to stay healthy for a long time… I wondered if Moondae didn’t intend to do it for a long time…”

“…”

It seemed Seon Ahyeon had unexpectedly pointed out the truth.

How do I put this contradiction together?

‘I said that because you improvised at the time, so it seemed more dangerous’, ‘My performance didn’t have that much risk of injury’, ‘I thought I already got better’…

Various answers passed through my head.

And maybe those were things that could roughly convince Seon Ahyeon.

But in the end, the answer that came with a sigh was this.

“…I don’t know.”

A sigh spread white in the air.

“I think I want to, but I don’t know if I can keep doing this until then…”

“W-Why?”

Giving a specific answer to this would be difficult.

I lumped the situations together.

“Because I don’t know what will happen. You never know what will happen. Now that I see the stake running… I think this job is hard to do in the long run.”

“…”

Seon Ahyeon was quiet for a moment, but he soon raised his head.

“A-Actually, I don’t know if I-I can do it for a long time too… I think.”

“Yeah.”

“B-But that means… Doesn’t that mean that you can?”

“…!”

“W-We would have good five years… We can keep doing it together. Well, that’s how it is, but if you’re having a hard time because you’re overdoing it now, you shouldn’t…”

“…”

“S-So, if we think of staying healthy and doing it for a long time… Can’t we do that?”

I felt like I’d been hit in the head.

That… seemed like a more reasonable idea.

‘...Of course, I should have acted while considering the possibility of continuously being in this body.’

It might end, which meant it might not end.

Then, of course, I should make a long-term plan in case it didn't end.

'In the first place, it's not a field with a clear future.'

I was lost in useless thoughts in a situation where I could retire tomorrow because of an incident.

It was only then that the irrationality of my recent attitude came up. Throwing away your retirement plans just because there was an epidemic was a stupid thing to do.

'This classification fit just right.'

My mind cleared up.

If I lived with this body even after all the status abnormalities were over, I would be swearing at myself in the past for not making a long-term plan enough to make my dream of having a healthy long life come true.

I eventually smiled.

"Why not?"

"…! R-Right!"

"Yes."

Seon Ahyeon smiled. I looked up and watched the night sky again.

'Five years from now…'

Then, we should plan a route with the issue of contract renewal in mind.

Creak, thump!

"Wow! It's cold!"

“Eugene, you’re wearing short sleeves!”

“Heol, Moondaemoondae is here! Did you run away when you said you were going to the restroom?? I’m really hurt~”

“…”

The blueprint I tried to draw for a moment was soon smashed by Cha Eugene and other drunken people who broke into the terrace, but it was not without results.

Because the very next day, the variables for the long-term plan were revealed.

* * *

“There was a photo of you making a fuss on the terrace of that restaurant. Guys, hyung already told you to be careful!”

“Gasp!”

“But everyone says it’s cute. I’ve talked with the company, and the article’s content is good, too!”

“Phew.”

After listening to the first shocking news through the manager’s intro, the internal situation of the company that slipped out was important.

“Still, it’s fortunate that the company got better and responded quickly, so let’s be more careful from now on!”

“Yes!”

I did see the statement posted this morning.

The director had issued it in his own name.

‘It was almost a declaration of surrender.’

To sum it up, it was like this.

– We've really made a mistake in evaporating 30 seats. But since Tnet is a gangster, we couldn't help it either ㅠㅠ Hurry up and curse at them. We'll try our best not to mess around and take care of Testar.

In this context, it seemed that thoroughly setting the fans as customers worked better than unnecessary emotional sales.

'You must have taken a breather.'

But the manager's words didn't end there.

"There is a rumor that there is a shortage of manpower right now, but they said that when the girls come in, they will hire them there… Ah, guys, but hyung wants to continue as Testar manager!"

'Oh.'

This… This arrangement was a little fun.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 190

Of course, I had guessed that the new idol group selected by season 4 of <Idol Inc.> would come to the agency.

It was just, things were getting a little more interesting now.

”Naturally, I thought they would hire a new person in charge for that part.’

Testar was still in their 2nd year, so the company was going to hire someone here.

For the sake of a group that hadn’t entered and gotten a proper estimate yet.

“Oh~ We’re getting juniors, too! Ah, but instead of hiring new ones, our employees are going there? Aren’t you getting too much work?”

“They’ll hire new ones, too! But it seems they’re trying to distribute some of the experienced people. Don’t worry, hyung isn’t going~ They’ll send off the second manager!”

“Haha~”

Keun Sejin laughed brightly at the manager’s joking remarks, but he must have roughly guessed the atmosphere since he had experience with big and small agencies.

‘The director has left Testar and hold onto the junior group.’

To be exact, he was fed up with Testar’s fans.

From the director’s perspective, it was right to think that his predecessors had already been replaced two times at a fast pace and that the fans would get furious if he did anything.

In fact, Testar's fans were already watching the agency closely.

'And the members even oppose his vision.'

That American disease.

The new group had also been through that crazy <Idol Inc.> survival show and had formed enough fandom, so it wasn't strange that he turned the central manpower to that side and dreamed of a new vision.

"Our company's performance is good these days~ People with better skills will come, don't worry too much!"

"Yes, yes!"

What do I think?

'It's a great profit.'

It was great.

The company wouldn't want to pick a fight with the fans again, so they would take care of it properly.

In that case, this situation where the director could only pull capital investment without interfering was the best.

After all, we could plan on our own.

'Is this the second coming of the payment bot?'

However, there was one thing that bothered me.

There was a risk factor that they might stop investing properly in the new album and tried to turn the tour around.

'We're being treated like a cash cow.'

There was a good chance that the director would go crazy when he saw the sales volume once he checked the profits after this tour ended.

Now that he had other options to care about and grow on his own, it would be difficult if Testar asked him to withdraw money.

So what are the countermeasures?

It's simple.

'We just need to make sure that they can't give up their capital investment in Testar.'

Three and a half years until the end of the contract.

In the meantime, we had to steadily keep growing.

It scratched both the economic aspect 'because they're bigger, we can increase the scale of their tour' and the honor-seeking aspect 'the singer under me has become so great'.

'Looking at the personality of the director this time, he won't be able to give it up.'

Therefore, Testar's external atmosphere was important during this tour.

It was the first long hiatus. We should manage our popularity beyond showing our faces at the awards ceremonies.

However, with the already tight schedule, we couldn't put in additional activities in Korea.

Then there was only one answer.

'We'll have to present the reality show better than planned.'

To increase the scale of the schedule that was set.

'I'll have to be proactive.'

It was the first time I made this resolution since <Idol Inc.>, so let's grab the content and the personalities in a more provocative way.

"Are we going to watch our juniors??"

"It will be difficult right now."

I could hear Ryu Chungwoo answering Cha Eugene's words nearby.

And he was right.

The departure for the tour was tomorrow.

* * *

After the well-received Seoul concert, Testar left for America.

During the award ceremony season in January, they went to Japan, which was close to Korea, so that they could go back and forth quickly.

And the fans who used up all the content at the concert were sucking their fingers.

It was just around that time that the last episode of <Idol Inc.> season 4, which drew aggro with Testar's concert, was aired.

[Controversial <Re-listed! Idol Inc. 2> … Is the grand finale coming to an end?]

[<Idol Inc.> Season 4's debut name 'Mirinay (Miry-nay)' has been finalized]

[<Idol Inc.>'s New Season Winners, living under the same roof as Testar?]

In response to Testar fans' sharp reaction, Tnet also slipped out, and Testar's concert only briefly appeared as a nuance to praise themselves.

However, even if it wasn't for this issue, <Idol Inc.> season 4 had failed to properly shake off numerous gossip.

Because Season 3 Testar was so good that they were constantly compared to each other, and it came out with a more stimulating composition each time.

– Even if I am a survival nerd, I can't stand this season, go away

– Looking back, season 3 is like a fairy

– After watching its craziness, I escaped to Testarㅅㅂ

The program's image was at its worst, due to the accusations of being overly sadistic and squeezing the dreams and hopes of aspiring candidates, and testimonies from participants who dropped out.

Therefore, apart from the success of the program, the public felt uncomfortable about the group that was launched through this season.

So, naturally, Testar's fans didn't want to be deeply involved. Even more so because they were creating their own image and worldview after their debut.

– Don't tie them up together

– I want to know what the kids are up to but I feel uncomfortable

– It's nice that you're quiet when you release the group. As expected, losing is the answer

However, except for a few articles, there was no particular reckless act from the agency, so the hostility was not strong yet.

There were a lot more fans who were paying attention to Testar's news, which was not long before this.

– It's been a long time since I saw the kids' faces, they left right after the pre-recording of Gayo Daejeon (photo taken on the way home)

– Come to the W app, guysㅠㅠ There's no content these days and I'm bored…

– 2X1221 New Jersey Concert Preview (photo)

– Moondae's solo has been modified to sit on a chair and rise up. It's more stable, but it's a bit disappointingㅠ I hope the Seoul Concert V0D will be released immediately

Testar was not in Korea throughout December except for the year-end programs on public TV and big awards ceremonies.

Besides, except for a short W live to celebrate Park Moondae's birthday, they only heard the news of the tour.

There was no news of their own content. The behind-the-scenes footage of the concert was not uploaded either, probably because it was on VOD.

Naturally, people who were worried and freaking out began to appear.

It was an inductive reasoning formed by past experiences of KPOP enthusiasts.

– Looking at the atmosphere right now, I don't think there will be any content throughout the tour.

– Motherf*cking bastards, It's obvious that Testar's new content will be put on the back burner to take care of the rookies by taking out Testar's manpower. It's not just once or twice this has happened

-Enjoy the awards season to the fullest Loviewers, this year is the end of watching Testar on domestic music shows for three weeks every time they make a comebackㅋㅋ

– F*ck, It's only been 2 years since our kids debuted. Don't tell me they will go on a tour all around. Promise me they'll make a comeback twice a year at least, you f*cking bastards

– It's time to gradually reorganize activities focusing on overseas, but each one is too big.

Some people even went this far.

– I hope that the next album will not be well received overseas so that they can focus on Korea

ㄴDon’t say things like that with the kids’ profile

ㄴI am not even Shamstar[1]In case you’ve forgotten, Shamstar is Testar’s modified name to prevent searches. , so what’s wrong with that?ㅋㅋ Getting more popular here won’t help you at all. They don’t come to Korea and only fan sign cuts will f*cking increase. My initial determination is broken. It’s the shortest way to get rid of early-days fans

In fact, it wasn’t like they hadn’t heard from Testar for over a month or two, so it was too early to say anything like that.

The problem was that Testar had been working nonstop like a cow, so news usually poured out every day.

The news, which was delivered on all kinds of SNS and videos even during the vacation, was suddenly cut off, so this brief silence alone agitated people.

– The tour just started and it overlapped with the year-end programs, so of course they must be busy

ㄴWhat are you saying? Shamstar is hanging out everywhereㅎ I guess leaving the country is for sightseeing rather than the tourㅋ

– I am only saying it here.. I’m a bit sad that it’s difficult to upload a picture of them goofing around

ㄴThat’s right ㅁㄷ The birthday celebration at the last concert… In the end, they did a lot of things that didn’t solve anythingㅠㅠ

– It’s a mess. I wonder if the idol has been too nice to you or if there are a lot of people who haven’t been a fan before; I’m sad and sick of everything

Still, it's not that there wasn't any content at all thanks to the appearances in the year-end programs, so it was December when these voices were treated lightly

And on the last day of December, when fans felt sorry for Testar who also appeared in a pre-recorded event at MBS' Gayo Daejejeon.

A notification came on Testar's official WeTube channel.

Ring.

[(Trailer) Happy New Year! Testar's new reality show with the New Year!]

The thumbnail was a picture of seven figures sitting on the beach.

'Ah, finally!'

'Yeah, you should release at least a reality show, it's a vacuum!'

'Since they're on tour, it's probably going to be like a boring documentary, but it's okay! It's still content!'

Fans quickly clicked on the thumbnail, relieved by the New Year's gift.

And they got a bit perplexed by the video that was playing.

'...??'

First of all… The high notes of magnificent brass instruments and vocalists roared.

Bam bam bam bam bam bambam!!

[Urgh!]

[Argh!]

[Wow,]

[Oops!!]

[Ugh!]

The scenes of each Testa member screaming and sighing to that beat quickly passed by.

[…]

And finally, Bae Sejin, who was completely frozen and raising his hands, was captured for a long time.

On the floor, spilled ice cream could be seen.

-???

-ㅋㅋHn?

– What is thisㅋㅋㅋ

Leaving the bewildered real-time reaction behind, the video suddenly calmed down.

The peaceful daily life of Testar being interviewed suddenly followed.

The question was also simple.

[Have you ever had a part-time job?]

[Lee Sejin: Yes!]

[Chungwoo: I helped my parents' store?]

[Bae Sejin: …No. (Nervous) W-Why do you ask?]

White text appeared on a black screen.

[Just becauseㅎ]

And the scene changed again.

The production team shouted at Testar, who was wearing a suit during a business trip and carrying their briefcases.

[Everyone! Are you ready for the reality show shooting? This time, the theme is free travel!]

[Lee Sejin: Wow!!]

[Seon Ahyeon: Really?]

[Of course! Feel free to go around!]

And the heartwarming cuts of Testar having a good time in groups of two or three people at exotic beaches or restaurants flashed by.

With this red caption.

[※A fee will be charged.※]

Again, white text appeared significantly on a black screen.

[As expected, Testar… Will they be able to safely earn money and go out to play!?]

[Eugene: I want to go home.]

[Moondae: Please let us go…]

Park Moondae and Cha Eugene, who covered their eyes with both hands, came out futile and funny.

[Testar's reality showshowshow]

[Idol Working Holiday]

[Episode 1 will be released on Thursday, January 9th!]

Of course, it was a taste of full-fledged public entertainment that the fans didn't see coming.

* * *

"Today's sales finally exceed $1,000, so I think we can go to the theme park tomorrow without debt."

"Wow!"

There was applause all around. The members stretched out with proud faces and gave high fives.

"W-Would you like this?"

"Thank you."

I took the plum juice that Seon Ahyeon made. I was quite proud.

'Everyone worked hard.'

If this continued, we would be able to move smoothly without debt… Wait a minute.

"…"

'This… I don't think this is a variety show anymore…?'

Everyone was too immersed.

When I realized that in the filming site, we were more serious about paying off debt than playing around, I broke into a cold sweat

'How can I save this?'

I am afraid I can't.

I guess I'll have to encourage wasting money.

- 1. In case you've forgotten, Shamstar is Testar's modified name to prevent searches.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 191

In fact, when this reality program was planned, it had a simple travel and healing concept.

With the director's American disease and the part that reacted to American culture added, this composition was very obvious.

'It's going to end with only a few fans watching.'

You got the estimate.

Well-known idols appeared only to heal, so how could they stay popular for so long?

So, the reality show crew was languishing, too. Because they were already having fun picking out provocative images that tormented the cast.

So it was quite easy to fish around.

– Wouldn't it be fun if there are curves in the program? Like earning money for the trip on your own…

– Wouldn't it??

We fell for it right away.

The director was already distracted by the prospective junior group, so the change of proposal easily passed.

And, as expected, the reality show crew began to reconstruct the concept of 'earning money on your own and playing' in the most stimulating way.

…That meant I didn’t expect to get hit at the back of my head by a debt claim on the first day of filming.

“Ah~ I was so worn out that day that it was so hard to recover.”

“That’s right. I learned the importance of responsible consumption…”

“What did we eat back then? Lobster?”

“Lobster and King Crab! It was very delicious!”

“Yes, it was delicious…”

Cha Eugene’s bright remarks made some people look sad. It was understandable.

‘The crew deliberately drove us to an expensive course.’

– No~ you really can go anywhere!

By saying it like this.

All of the members commented that the nuance sounded like ‘playing to your heart’s content on the first day will motivate you to work hard to go play again’.

So on the first day, we watched dolphins, ate lobsters, and slept at a luxury resort in Cape May, New Jersey.

And here was the amount charged.

“But I didn’t expect to be charged a whole $4,000.”

“I know, right.”

It was about 4.5 million won in Korean won.

If I hadn’t reduced the price to $1,800 by asking, ‘Shouldn’t we stay at the dorm even if we didn’t play?’ I would still be in debt.

It was a very shocking start, but looking back, it certainly had been fun.

It's not that I didn't really have that money, it was betrayal and shock in an entertainment show, so there was nothing particularly sadistic about it.

'All the staff laughed…'

I remembered Bae Sejin looking at them with a face full of betrayal.

Anyway, I had worked like a cow ever since, paid off the debt in three days, and saved $800 for the theme park tomorrow.

It was more fun than expected.

'…I was so immersed in it because making money was addictive.'

Cash came and went, but it felt different when I got it in my hands.

We played one more time in the middle, but I didn't think it had much of an impact because all we did was run around the beach snacking on things to save money as much as possible.

'So this time, it's better to edit it with some stimulation.'

"All right, let's plan it out tomorrow."

"F-Fighting!"

"Testar is doing great today, too~"

The theme park tomorrow seemed like a good opportunity. I would make us spend all our savings and put us back into debt.

The tickets to the amusement park and safari alone would already cost $450, so there was about $350 left… Each person spending 50,000 won would be quick.

'It's easy.'

I just had to target Cha Eugene.

I took off my apron and hung it by the sink.

Anyway, I hoped they would just enjoy the program.

* * *

Testar's reality show was carried out in the form of two episodes being released weekly.

However, only those who signed up for a paid membership could see the sequel right away, and general users had to wait three more days to watch the sequel.

It was a preview arrangement that showed a determination to take care of both money and popularity.

And their determination worked well.

[Testar going crazy at Working Holiday Reality show is revealed today ㅋㅋㅋ]

The reaction to the first episode, where Testar was scammed by the production crew from the airport and eventually started a part-time job to repay the interest-free loan, was very hot.

The percentage of paid membership subscribers increased noticeably.

In addition, Park Moondae had one more goal that was mixed in here.

That nuance was revealed in the scene where Testar finally realized the existence of the debt.

[Here it is~ The small store we rented! You can make a profit there!]

[Kim Raebin: Gasp.]

[Ryu Chungwoo: A-Are the items already decided? What kind of store is it?]

[It's not decided yet, but if the cost exceeds $100, it is added to the debt!]

[Lee Sejin: Heol.]

And a shameless caption appeared.

[Whatever you want~ You can sell anything ㅎㅎ]

But right after that, Park Moondae, who had been calmly listening to the production team without expression, said this.

[Park Moondae: Then let's sell hotteok.]

(TL notes: Hotteok = Korean sweet pancake.)

[????]

[Seon Ahyeon: Hotteok?]

[Lee Sejin: Moondae, do you want to eat hotteok?]

[Park Moondae: No, it's not an obvious choice of menu, but I think there will be some competitiveness. The cost is cheap, and the taste is good. I think you just have to do well with the customers… I think everyone will be fine.]

It was a convincing tone. Sounds like 'Oh' and 'That's fine' began to come out here and there.

The idols, who had been hit in the back of their heads so many times even before their debut and got used to it, quickly understood the situation on their own and began to pioneer a survival route.

The weak point where Testar could be boring and frustrating if dragged too one-sidedly by the production crew had disappeared.

Rather, the production crew began to panic.

[Lee Sejin: But is there a place that sells them?]

[Seon Ahyeon: Wouldn't there be a Korean mart nearby…? Many Koreans live in New Jersey… I think I heard something like that!]

[Park Mundae: Yes. And I am good at making hotteok.]

[Lee Sejin: Oh~ So confident!]

[Cha Eugene: I'm in! (Expresssion of confidence)]

[Ryu Chungwoo: That's nice. Ah, it would go well with chocolate or ice cream on top.]

Even Bae Sejin nodded with a nervous face, and the agreement was over in an instant.

Ryu Chungwoo answered the production team refreshingly.

[Ryu Chungwoo: Okay. We'll sell hotteok.]

[PD: I-Is that so? Don't you want to consider anything else? Well, it doesn't have to be food, there are a lot of other things~]

[Cha Eugene: Nope!]

With the member's clear refusal, the image of the PD looking at the sky entered the cut scene.

[Expecting a lot of trial and error from Testar]

[We've prepared a lot of mini-games]

[But in the end, we couldn't use any of them and sent them back to Korea…]

Along with the blue sky, lively country music played hilariously.

[☆Decided to open Testar's hotteok store☆]

[(It took 5 minutes)]

That was how Testar started the hotteok business in the corner of an American beach…That was the composition.

It was a choice that captured all three types of popularity: money, food, and gukppong.

[That employee is cute!]

[Hotteok? It's crispy and delicious.]

And after a lot of twists and turns while hearing compliments from foreigners who didn't know Testar, the scene of selling hotteok was briefly inserted as a preview.

It was no wonder that people couldn't resist this familiar taste of entertainment and paid for the paid membership.

– The production crew is so evil. So funnyㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋ

– ㅠㅠIt's so cute when Testar was surprised. Please tell us a lot of behind-the-scenes stories, too!

– Wow, an idol reality show is doing something like this, too. It's cool and it's a lot of funㅋㅋㅋㅋ

– Foreigner's reaction to hotteok? This taste… It's the taste of gukppong!

– I didn't expect it to be this funny. Hurry up, show the next episode

There were a lot of comments from people who were full of expectations.

Fortunately, their expectations were not betrayed.

In the second episode that followed, Testar started running the store, boasting quite good teamwork.

And up to episode 3 where they took time off to see the beach a few days later, the reality show progressed at a fun and fast tempo.

[What club are you in? Are you a college student? A high school student?]

[Similar! Dancing, singing~]

The scene where Cha Eugene smiled and said something half-truthful made the taste of the so-called ‘Meta who hides his power’ could be felt properly.

People’s reactions to the second and third episodes, which faithfully met their expectations, didn’t cool down.

– Hey, these guys are doing a really good job, they won’t starve anywhere ㅋㅋㅋㅋ

-It’s smart that they spread food taster and drink coupons on the beach for promotion. As expected, Lee Sejin is a genius;

-Chungwoo is hot even by American standards… I knew it.

– Hotteok ice cream is really crazy. Is it only Americans who can order? Loviewers want it tooㅠ

– Cooking: Park Moondae, Kim Raebin

Taking orders: Seon Ahyeon, Cha Eugene

Serving: Lee Sejin, Ryu Chungwoo

Hamster: Bae Sejin

The best combination

ㄴㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋ

┗Why is only Bae Sejin the hamsterㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋ

┗Our hamster is working hardㅠㅠ

As the entertainment-type personalities were discovered, there was also the effect of having the image of the members softened.

And finally, the emotional moment when they finally exceeded $1,000 in sales and went to the theme park.

Testar's determination to deliberately spend money only on their savings was smashed, causing a burst of laughter as the scene went through editing.

The trigger was Park Moondae, as determined by Park Moondae.

[Park Moondae: That's cute.]

[Lee Sejin: Heol~ Moondae, if we buy something like that, our budget is over!]

[Park Moondae: ….Right. Sorry.]

Park Moondae reacted a little sullenly to Lee Sejin's gag skit at the souvenir shop.

After Keun Sejin's backpedaling, numerous exclamation marks were edited, and Cha Eugene intervened.

[Cha Eugene: Buy it! Let's buy it!]

[Kim Raebin: Huh??]

[Seon Ahyeon: Right, I think it'll be fine…!]

[Cha Yujin: We'll work again! Earn money again!]

[Bae Sejin: T-That's true, but…]

It just so happened that Ryu Chungwoo was away.

The moment Bae Sejin, the eldest, was flustered by Cha Eugene's assertive claim, Cha Eugene deliberately pretended to be pitiful.

[Cha Eugene: Let's enjoy it today! We're working hard…]

[Bae Sejin: …Then, just this time.]

[Cha Eugene: Yeah!]

That was how Testar went shopping at the souvenir shop with the rationalization 'Let's buy it just this once'.

The caption from the happy production team appeared.

[Of course, it doesn't end with just this one time♡]

They were right.

Saying that it was easy once you tried it, Testar went through a similar pattern and started buying all kinds of souvenirs and snacks.

And in the end, they began to reach out to the production team's finance.

[Ask for this much~ Guys, that's the money you can earn by working for 3 hours!]

[Seon Ahyeon: That's true, but…]

[Cha Eugene: That's right!]

[Bae Sejin: (Confused)]

[It doesn't have interests so who cares? Everyone, this is your first trip to the US!]

The result of falling for this trick.

[Today's settlement… Wow! Minus 1,012 dollars!]

[!!!!]

It ended like this.

[You have to work hard, everyone~]

Episode 4 ended with Testar hugging dolls, cushions, and hats, and returning to the dom with confused faces.

– ㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅠㅠㅠㅠThe kids lost all their money, what should I do!!

– This is why loan s are dangerous.

-The production crew prevented these unfortunate guys from working for more than 7 hours a day to manage their tour conditions and encourages debtㅋㅋ

┗Even if the kids beg to sell a little more because people are rushing in, they say, ‘It’s for you guys ^^’ I’ve never heard such a wickedly nice sound

┗ㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㄹㅇ

The Gold Disc Awards was even held in the week when the story of the Testar’s theme park money squandering ended.

That meant it was the week Testar entered the country.

The viewers of the reality show had already waiting been for that day.

Because it was an opportunity to laugh when the number of cases was caught even if just a little.

– Please add hotteok to Testar’s fan chant

– Ah, I think I’ll laugh just by looking at their faces

– I can’t wait to see you guys, seriouslyㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋ

– It would be legendary if they even certify it with the souvenirs

But it wasn't just their fans who were waiting for Testar's domestic schedule.

* * *

"Huft."

The evening of Testar's arrival.

Sitting in the lobby for company staff, the rookie idol waited quite a long time to meet Testar.

'...I heard they would stop by the office today.'

The news was delivered by their manager, who also worked as Testar's manager, so his words were reliable.

The idol clasped her hands together and thought calmly.

'Get a grip. I have to say it well today.'

Just then, the automatic door to the parking lot opened.

"…!"

What appeared after that… were several tall men wearing hats and masks.

They were Testar.

'They're here...!'

The rookie idol jumped up and ran toward them.

"Hello, sunbae-nim!"

The rookie from the same company as Testar, the participant who debuted in second place in <Idol Inc.> Season 4 bowed her head to them.

“Yes? Ah, yes. Hello.”

“Ah, nice to meet you.”

“Yes! I’m terribly sorry, but if you don’t mind, can I talk to you for a second…!”

“…”

It was extremely polite and desperate.

It was like a new employee’s attitude toward their boss.

“Uh…”

Among Testar members who exchanged glances with slight bewilderment, Park Moondae was slightly impressed.

‘Oh.’

He had a feeling.

He felt like she was going to unravel the story of the director.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 192

First of all, we moved to a nearby empty meeting room with the second-place winner of this season's <Idol Inc.> who appeared out of nowhere.

"Thank you so much!"

"…It's nothing."

No, it was actually a situation she should be grateful for.

She suddenly asked for our time in the middle of our schedule without making any prior arrangements.

For a junior who we met for the first time, at that.

'At least, I have some free time because the meeting concerns personal s.'

If not for that, she would have no chance.

– Ah, your talk will go well if you're together with Moondae!

Like this, Keun Sein made a hole to escape just now.

'Hmm, that's what they said. Sorry.'

The reason I didn't avoid this situation even if it could turn out bad with just a little flip was simple.

'It's better to know in advance.'

Someone must have taken action that would affect Testar, but it would be distorted once the company went through it.

‘If you listen to it directly, getting out of it would be easy.’

It wasn’t morally problematic if we couldn’t provide specific help to each other in the same situation.

‘Then let’s listen to it.’

…However, what came out of the hubae’s mouth after she said her greeting was more than I could have imagined.

“The working title of our debut title track is ‘Magical Girl’…!”

“Cough!”

The sound just now was not from me, but from Kim Raebin, who was sitting next to me. He wasn’t part of the meeting either, so he had time.

And I’d make that noise if I had been drinking something, too.

‘Are they crazy?’

Is the person in charge over there crazy? No, there could be a misunderstanding.

I managed to open my mouth.

“Testar’s debut song, it’s ‘Magical Boy’…”

“Yes, yes! When I heard it, I was immediately reminded of that song. The lyrics are also similar, and the genre is also similar… .”

It wasn’t a misunderstanding.

The hubae’s face was pale.

“The concept is already done… I’ve seen the outfits, and they’re really, really similar…”

“…”

“I came to see you because I thought I had to tell you…”

Yeah, I understood that part for sure.

*‘She came here because she thought this would f*ck us all together.’*

After all, since this kid also suffered in Idol Inc, there was no way she blindly believed that Testar would help.

A senior with a two-year gap in the same agency was very close to a rival.

However, if something like this broke out, Testar would get hurt, so she came here expecting that we would oppose it as well.

It was a reasonable guess. But I couldn’t just blindly believe it.

‘Let’s dig up some more.’

I had a rough idea of what the agency was thinking, but I needed to hear more about the situation.

But I didn’t have anything to fish around with.

Kim Raebin raised his hand before I could.

“May I ask you a question?”

“Yes? Yes!”

Considering this guy’s social nature, I thought briefly about keeping his mouth shut, but I gave up.

Because Kim Raebin was the person who directly had a hand in the song ‘Magical Boy’.

And as expected, Kim Raebin hit the mark.

“How similar are the songs? Is there more than a common denominator in the concept in addition to genre similarities??”

“That… Ah!!!”

The hubae excitedly put her hands on the table.

“Oh, I got something! It entered the bridge briefly!”

“Yes…?”

“The melody that goes ‘Ttarara~’ in Magical Boy!”

“…!!”

The most iconic riff melody of ‘Magical Boy’, a refreshing accompaniment played by Kalimba. That one…?

‘Wait, isn’t this plagiarism?’

Even if the original songwriter wrote that, it had a copyright issue.

As far as I know, that transformation occurred because Kim Raebin added a few more chords to the lower notes during the arrangement process.

So, Kim Raebin was definitely among the list of songwriting copyright holders…

“Ah, it’s sampling.”

However, Kim Raebin calmly shook his head. The hubae opened her mouth wide.

“S-Sampling…”

“Yes. Unauthorized sampling has often occurred in popular music history since the past, but recently, it has been avoided…”

“At any rate, you haven’t heard anything from them.”

“Yes.”

“It’s also legally ambiguous.”

“Yes, it depends on the quantity… In fact, there are many cases that haven’t been recognized as legal issues. Moreover, in this case, since you said that it briefly entered the bridge, there is a possibility that it could be interpreted as homage..”

In other words, it might have to be solved only regarding the moral problems caused by public opinion.

‘Come to think of it, I think there have been numerous cases where the permission is obtained once it is released.’

I clicked my tongue.

‘...I think this is the director’s endeavor.’

Anyway, the director had half given up on realizing his vision through Testar.

In that case, it wasn’t strange that he prepared to use Testar as the nourishment for the rookie group instead.

‘He’s pulling in the aggro.’

To use the firepower of Testar’s fans in reverse.

By touching an ambiguous line that could be played off as having a world view of the same agency, he was drawing a plan to take in the public interest with the anger of Testar’s fans.

‘It’s typical noise marketing, so to speak.’

After all, the public was not interested in details that Testar was in charge of their own concept and arrangement.

It was only accepted as an image, and there was no way anyone could infer exactly which part of the production the group was involved in by checking the details.

Therefore, if that junior group selected a good song and a good music video and was recognized by the public, public opinion might end up saying ‘Testar fans are too much’.

Like this.

– Isn’t it common to connect the worldviews of the same agency? Anyway, they’re unusual… ㅈㅈ

– It’s nice, but since the composer and the company are the same, their styles overlap. Do you really believe that Testar made it all by themselves? ㅋㅋㅋ

– There was so much fuss that I became a fan after watching your performance. Let’s only walk on the flowery path nowㅠㅠ

And the song and concept of ‘Magical Boy’ were already proven to be a popular hit.

‘Of course, they must have calculated that the reaction would be fine if they follow only half of it.’

Once the junior group became popular through this method, the director would push them to be the main force.

Overall, it was an arrangement in which only the agency benefited without much loss.

‘The arrow will go to that rookie group first anyway, so they’ll feel less pressured with being criticized.’

And just by looking at the complexion of the hubae sitting there, I could tell how burdensome this situation was for that group.

Going through the crazy program called <Idol Inc.>, all the members of that group must have received all kinds of curses they would have to deal with for the rest of their lives.

‘But it’s understandable that you don’t want to get cursed at after your debut.’

However, even after debuting, their ‘popularity’ could be guaranteed, but there was no conflict and there was only a sense of repulsion.

‘Hmm.’

I spoke again.

“Excuse me.”

“Yes!”

“Do you have any alternatives in mind?”

“Yes?”

“I was wondering if you have other candidates other than ‘Magical Girl’.”

“… ! Yes!”

As expected.

The junior’s complexion had returned a little. And a calm explanation followed.

“Actually, among our members, there is someone who originally studied producing. That person’s song went all the way to the final stage as a candidate for the title track… Suddenly, it was overturned a few days ago.”

Considering the situation alone, it was good news.

“You must have wanted to do that song.”

“…Yes. The team leader said we can use it for the next album, but… To be honest, regardless of the situation, objectively, I think that song is better.”

Hmm, the company’s strategy was good.

First of all, after pulling off a lot of aggro with the debut, they would paint an image of self-production in the next album.

'The problem is that they use us there.'

Even if Testar got offended, they knew what to do. The contract renewal was still so far away, and there were still three and a half years left.

I frowned slightly, and the hubae freaked out.

"Of course, 'Magical Boy' is an amazing masterpiece…! Right now, our debut song feels like an imitation, so the original candidate song is better than that…"

"Sure. I fully understand."

It seemed she had misunderstood my expression. As I loosened my face, Kim Raebin suddenly started talking.

"What kind of song did you originally prepare?"

"Oh, it's a bit of a newtro… It's a style that's been in the spotlight lately, and the members and I thought it's a really catchy and cool song!"

(TL notes: Newtro is a portmanteau of the words "new" and "retro", and refers to the trend of "modernized retro". Newtro's beginnings can be traced back to 2018 in South Korea. Sumber: Wiki.)

"Is it on the disco or synthwave side of newtro?"

"Um, I think it was synthwave!"

"Then, by any chance, do you have the sound pack…."

The hubae, who didn't work directly on it and couldn't have mastered all the terms of composition, began to shrink away at Kim Raebin's question. I had to cut him off.

"I'm sorry. He's so passionate about music…"

“It’s good to be so passionate…! You’re amazing!”

“Ah, thank you.”

This wouldn’t do. The new employee was back again.

I felt sorry for the hubae who seemed stiff and was shouting flattering words, so I refreshed the atmosphere.

“First of all, I understand why you came here. You must have been worried. You must have been upset.”

“Yes…”

“But as you know, it’s hard for us to get carelessly involved in the production of other groups. It hasn’t even been 2 years since we debuted. Now that I’ve heard the story, it’s hard to make it a legal issue.”

“…Right.”

The hubae’s face turned dark.

And Kim Raebin’s face also turned dark. Dude, you can’t do this to me.

‘Th song is the problem.’

I almost missed Keun Sejin for a moment. I continued, holding back my sigh.

“But I fully understand how you feel. Have you ever discussed this topic with the company?”

“…I tried, but they didn’t listen.”

In the end, in order for the words of the kids who haven’t debuted to be accepted, do they have to prepare a presentation?

“I see.”

Kim Raebin nodded his head eagerly, perhaps remembering his former agency.

“It’s sad. Everyone should be able to speak freely…”

Aigoo.

I looked at Kim Raebin in silence.

Kim Raebin quietly hardened.

All right. Now let’s pick the right words.

‘You never know how the story will be distorted if Testar comes forward and covers it up.’

The rookie had to be shown opposing it themselves, not Testar.

So, our role ended with advice.

I crossed my arms.

“Have you heard of the topic of America at the company recently?”

“A-America? … Ah, when we met the director, he said that a lot.”

“I see.”

So, the American disease was still alive. I nodded and said casually.

“The next time you meet someone in a higher position, why don’t you let this conversation go in this direction?”

“Yes?”

“Magical Girl is too traditional and nerdy, so I don’t think it will work in places like America.”

“…!!”

“Newtro is popular in America these days, give them examples of how effective it would be if you ride the trend before it passes.”

“In person?”

“No, you make the members hear those conversations. Do it with the AR team staff or company people as well.”

“…”

The astonishment disappeared from the hubae’s expression, and instead, there was calmness.

“And, when the rumors spread, I can meet with the director and talk about it properly?”

‘Oh.’

She was good at judging the situation.

I nodded my head slightly.

“I am not sure, but… If you prepare it properly, it might work. We did the same thing when we debuted.”

“…”

The hubae didn’t answer for a while as if lost in thought, but she soon nodded calmly.

“…Yes. Thank you.”

“No. I hope it helps.”

“Yes! Thank you so much for your precious time. Thank you! … Oh, a call! Ah, see you next time, sunbae-nims!”

The hubae quickly said goodbye, and soon ran out of the meeting room, startled by the sound of ringing vibration.

‘She must have come out here secretly.’

Well, now it was up to them to figure it out. I shrugged and got up from my seat.

“Raebin, let’s go, too.”

“Yes.”

Kim Raebin got up, arranged the chair, and then asked a question with a serious face.

“Do you think the hubae’s persuasions will be successful?”

“Let’s see. I think it’s a matter of luck and ability.”

Kim Raebin lowered his head and muttered in a slightly gloomy tone.

“I hope it goes well.”

“Why? Do you feel sorry for the hubaes that might get cursed at?”

“There’s that too, but…”

Kim Raebin hesitated and continued.

“I hope they don’t use our debut song as they please.”

“…!!”

“Everyone worked hard without having the time to sleep, so I don’t want other people to abuse the precious result… It may sound selfish, but I am more concerned about the feelings of our group.”

Seriously.

“It’s not selfish.”

“R-Really?”

I smiled.

“Yeah. I feel the same.”

“…!”

“How could I feel good about someone stealing our song to get some attention?”

“Y-You’re right.”

Right. Even the group would suffer some damage, so if I just let this go, I was just a damn pushover.

“And if they don’t succeed, I am going to work on it so that it doesn’t go completely according to the company’s will, so don’t worry too much.”

“…Yes!”

The sullen look disappeared from Kim Raebin’s face.

“By the way, how are you going to do it?”

Hmm, I just had to lay the groundwork.

That day, as soon as I returned to the dorm before the other members, I uploaded a post on SNS with Kim Raebin.

Debut production

(File)

To celebrate the airing of the theme park squandering, I look back on my original determination. I will continue to work hard…

(Screenshot)

It was the first and final version of the PPT related to the debut song, which was made to persuade the director at the time of the debut.

By the way, a file storage list from the first draft to the final copy was also attached as a screenshot.

There were all kinds of titles with lots of ‘Real-Final’ and ‘1- (1)’ attached in the screenshot.

Kim Raebin hit his palm.

“I get it! You posted it, emphasizing the physical evidence that the arrangement, concept, and lyrics of ‘Magical Boy’ were all produced by Testar!”

“Uh… Yes.”

When he said it like that, it sounded very grandiose. I was just playing tricks.

And just in case, I set the format to make it look like I accidentally posted it, conscious of the reality show.

I did that in order to prevent the talk of ‘Testar shot down the junior girl group’ from coming out later in case the company went ahead with it.

“Hyung! Some fans recommend PPT templates!”

“Yeah.”

The fans seemed to be immersed in memories while laughing at the strange content called PPT.

I listened to Kim Raebin relaying the responses and waited for the others to return.

After posting on SNS using the reality show as an excuse, I was thinking it would be nice to take some action related to the reality show at tomorrow’s awards ceremony.

‘It’s worth discussing.’

And… I should also alert the two guys with the same name.

‘I should tell them not to make it obvious at least.’

I just saw the article.

At the awards ceremony tomorrow, VTIC was finally resuming their official schedule.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 193

The Gold Disc Awards ceremony was held for two consecutive days, divided into music and album categories.

And male idols tend to be stronger in albums than in music, so they often show their faces in the latter.

This year, Testar was one of those cases.

This was because their album, which included ‘Present’, set a staggering record by selling more than 7th place in all-time idol album sales.

The music score was also excellent, but breaking the one-million-album barrier had a significant meaning.

First-tier male idol group in name and reality.

Even if there was an insurmountable wall above it.

– Still, they can’t get the Grand Prize because there’s Vtic ㅋㅋㅋ I feel sorry for them – Didn’t they still win ToneA’s Artist Award this year? Of course, I thought they would receive it since it was a T1 awards ceremony, but still ㅎ

– I don’t think Testar can win the Grand Prize yet, but maybe they can get it after Vtic goes down next year

┗It’s been a while since the problematic guy was kicked out, but it’s still hell ㅇㅈㄹ I don’t accept a failed idol’s wistful thinking, you bastard~

┗It’s ugly, Tika

“Oh, you bastards!”

A VTIC’s fan huffed and threw away her smartphone.

‘I’m so pissed… What’s with that criminal bastard?’

She didn’t like him because he didn’t have skills, but it even got to this point, she was so mad she felt like she was going crazy.

‘Our innocent kids suffer the damages…’

Temporary hiatus due to cancellation of all schedules.

No appearances in the year-end programs under the excuse of a break.

Just looking at the pre-release, it seemed they had prepared something amazing for their comeback, but she couldn’t believe that it got delayed this much, and now it was just about to be released.

‘Seriously, he hasn’t caused any trouble since his debut…’

In particular, this fan, who had a tendency to be a solo fan, recalled her favorite.

“Jaehyun…”

It was the leader, Cheongryeo.

*‘Our Shin Jaehyun… Even when he takes a break, he volunteers to take care of stray dogs, but he’s been having a hard time leading the guy who got involved with dirty s*hit like a club incident…’*

Let’s think of it as a good thing, Cheongryeo’s fan changed her mind.

‘Yeah. We lost an incompetent guy who doesn’t do anything anyway, so let’s get a career-high with just the four of them.’

The fan, who gave a merciless review to the ex-member who was kicked out, logged on to SNS.

The accounts of VTIC fans, who had been somewhat quiet during the hiatus, were full of energy.

‘It’s a cheering-up atmosphere.’

This momentum had to lead to grades, so the fan eagerly scanned the texts to see if there were any strange nuances.

And she found a vacancy and licked her lips.

‘They must have switched.’

Some of the accounts she had been talking with disappeared before she knew it.

It would be filled with new people when the activity started soon, but it couldn’t be helped that there were people who had fled.

“Have they all switched to them?”

Recalling the group that had been making a buzz here and there for some time, the fan was overcome with a mysterious feeling.

A group with a junior who seemed to be quite close to Cheongryeo.

It was Testar from <Idol Inc.> season 3.

In fact, she also recently watched their reality show. This was because it was so popular on the Internet and she was a little interested in Park Moondae, who was close to Cheongryeo.

It was said that the video, which included all the elements people like from mukbang to gukppong, had secured even the ordinary people who were not interested in idols and middle-aged Wetube viewers.

– Ah ㅋㅋㅋ Hotteok with ice cream on top? It’s irresistible

– Our handsome young people are promoting Korea’s delicious hotteok~ You’re good with your hands and your faces look great. Fighting^^

– ㅋㅋㅋLook at the faces of foreigners when they sing along to the song at Park Moondae's store. I think I would be like that too If a chef from a distant country who was cutting kebabs suddenly picked a great song

– Oh my, what if they misunderstood that all Koreans look like that… I don't know (smiley emoticon)

Thanks to the momentum, it was even scheduled to be aired on TV starting next week on T1 cable broadcast.

'If my kids were asked to do something like that, they would do well, too.'

Cheongryeo's fan grumbled, saying that it would be nice to work with a major broadcasting company.

But she couldn't deny that it was fun. Their characters were alive even in scenes that just passed by.

For example, in the second half of the second episode, there was also a scene where the business was suddenly suspended due to an unexpected rush of sales from the first day.

[It really tastes like heaven. I'd like to order one more ice cream hotteok. Please.]

[Bae Sejin: O-Okay.]

Bae Se-jin, who was carefully sprinkling chocolate on hotteok, was so nervous about the sudden attack by the foreigner that he creaked into the kitchen.

[Bae Sejin: Hotteok… I need another ice cream hotteok.]

[Lee Sejin: Gasp. Hyung, we just ran out of dough!]

[!!!!]

The shaking screen effect shook Bae Sejin's close-up.

[Bae Sejin: T-Then… W-Wait.]

[Lee Sejin: Ah, I'll tell them! I'll give them a lot of ice cream as a service~]

[Bae Sejin: …No, I'll do it!]

[Bam!]

Bae Sejin filled up the ice cream with a determined sports cheering song as the BGM.

[Oh~ Thank you!]

[…Ahem, you're welcome.]

And in the end, the additional order situation was concluded by receiving the customer's OK sign and making a proud expression.

The screen was also lively In the sales inspection discussion that followed.

[Suspension due to excessive orders!]

[※ Start of discussion ※]

Doodoom!

[Focusing on the recipe]

[Kim Raebin: It is a matter of skill to work with 50 pieces of dough and only make 40 pieces. I will learn 50 senses through practice after the business closes…!]

[Korea's generosity(?)]

[Lee Sejin: The cost isn't too high anyway, so let's give them a lot~ Show them how generous Korea is~]

[Let's make money]

[Park Moondae: Whatever you say, don't stop kneading. We need to sell something.]

The members actively expressed their opinions and seemed to get along well while bickering with each other, and their different personalities were also highlighted one by one.

In particular, Bae Sejin, who froze in surprise at the smallest mistake, and Kim Raebin, a broken hotteok machine, were walking around as cute memes.

It definitely meant that they felt attractive as celebrities.

'So leaks happen in our fandom too…'

But even that ends today, Cheongryeo's fan thought.

Now that the hiatus was over and the comeback had been confirmed, VTIC would continue drawing attention at a terrifying speed!

'As long as they pick a good song, their decline is far away!'

Rather, due to the influence of the member's withdrawal incident, there was a lot of interest like 'let's see how well you're holding up' or 'You've worked hard, I am cheering for you'.

And for a long time after his debut, Cheongryeo had never betrayed the fans' expectations.

[Ring~ Tiring!]

"Ah, here it comes."

As soon as the suggestion that 'Viewers under the age of 12 are not permitted to watch' passed by, she turned her attention to the TV.

'The live comeback stage at the awards ceremony!'

Perhaps it was filmed in advance, the singers seated in the waiting room were briefly caught and passed by.

And the moment it passed a certain point.

“Heol.”

Testar was caught on the screen.

Of course, it was not that Cheongnyeo’s fan was suddenly impressed that Testar came out. It was because their timing was perfect.

They just appeared on the screen… putting the commemorative cushions they bought at the amusement park on their chairs.

Squish, squish, squish!

They even covered up the amusement park trademark.

And the camera took a dim close-up of the animal’s face on the cushions attached to the chair.

‘What is that?’

When she opened the internet page with a sudden gut feeling, the live viewers were laughing and plastering ‘ㅋㅋㅋㅋ’.

Even for those who hadn’t watched Testar’s reality show, it was a funny scene that appeared out of the blue.

And those who watched the reality show were having fun sharing the background knowledge.

– Over here, it’s crazyㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋ

– What’s the story behind that?ㅋㅋ

– It’s on Testar’s reality show

– Gah ㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋ Thousand dollars of Impulsive buying, but they make use of it to the fullest

– Look at Korean young people who pay off their debts on the US trip by selling hotteok~

“Wow…”

While waiting for VTIC to be caught on the screen, Cheongryeo’s fan had no choice but to admit it a little.

Those guys were really great.

* * *

“I want to use the cat cushion.”

“Cha Eugene, you broke the cat cushion! Be content with the dolphin.”

“I hate the dolphin.”

Cha Eugene had his eyes on Kim Raebin’s cushion bought from the shop. My head hurt as I kept looking at the situation.

I lifted my cushion.

“…Use the puppy cushion.”

“Nice!”

Cha Eugene happily took the puppy cushion and politely held out the dolphin with both hands.

It was definitely ugly, but I was going to crush it with my butt anyway, so it didn’t matter.

‘Huft.’

I laid down the cushion and sat down. I could hear another idol hurriedly holding back their laughter next to me.

‘Laugh a lot.’

It was a good sign that the viewers would laugh, too.

Since it seemed we had done a good job in promoting the reality show, let’s focus on the award ceremony now.

Like the seating arrangement.

‘VTIC is right next to us.’

Since Testar was more popular than last year, it was inevitable that we received a good seat.

Besides, it wasn’t Cheongryeo that bothered me. It was the guy next to me.

‘What’s with him?’

Next to me, Bae Sejin had a very grave expression.

Fortunately, because it was an awards ceremony, everyone would misunderstand that it was because of the award, or else there would be all sorts of speculation.

Holding back a sigh, I covered my mouth just in case and spoke quietly.

“Hyung, your expression.”

“Ah…!”

Immediately, Bae Sejin regained his usual expression. Certainly, his ability as an actor was outstanding.

‘Keun Sejin… Well, there’s nothing to worry about.’

The guy who was laughing and teasing Cha Eugene was no different than usual.

Well, it was only natural. I remembered the conversation I had with these guys yesterday.

– I won't pay much attention, but I'd like to ask for a cover if the situation turns weird – H-How??

– Hmm… If it looks like there's going to be a problem, can you just change the subject?

In fact, in terms of the skill distribution, it was no different than just asking Keun Sejin rather than Bae Sejin, but as a courtesy, those words were delivered centering on the older one.

– Okay~

And as expected, Keun Sejin ended the reaction like without saying any further words.

However, Bae Sejin seemed to get a sense of duty from this conversation.

– Ahem, yes. Don't worry!

After answering like this, he was high-spirited all the way through the awards ceremony as if he was escorting his younger brother who had been bullied on the way to the school.

'Isn't that what's causing trouble?'

I probably shouldn't say it.

But it was admirable that he was trying to be mindful, so I decided to ease the tension.

Like this.

“Come to think of it, Sejin hyung’s cushion has a ribbon on it.”

“That’s right. Sejin, that guinea pig character is cute.”

“…Yeah, I think so, too.”

“Yes. Did you buy it because you thought of it after watching the VOD reaction?”

“…!!”

Bae Sejin’s face turned red.

The VOD reaction was this.

A video of Testar’s reaction to the first concert rehearsal which was included in the VOD sales of this concert.

‘I heard they’ll release it to promote the VOD.’

And when Bae Sejin reacted, he lost it.

This was because the rehearsal video that came out was the unit stage fully equipped with costumes ranging from jean jackets to ribbons.

In addition, inquiries from the film production crew came out.

– The ribbon really suits you!

– …No

Watching Bae Sejin do this and run away on the screen, Cha Eugene had mercilessly burst into laughter.

Hmm, Bae Sejin yelled loud as if he recalled the same scene.

“No! It’s just similar to a hamster…!”

“Oh, a hamster.”

“It’s not that I’m a hamster! I-It’s because the fans call me that!”

“Guinea pigs are big hamsters, right?”

“Ugh.”

At the members’ innocent question, Bae Sejin sank. He wouldn’t be able to get out of it for a while.

‘They must have looked harmonious, so it’s killing two birds with one stone.’

I smiled and looked away from Bae Sejin.

Then, my eyes met with the people at the next table who were just entering.

“…!”

“Oh! Moondae-ssi~!”

The two VTIC guys who appeared together with me in a variety show last time smiled and waved as soon as our eyes met.

And right next to them stood the guy who tried to hit my head with a hammer.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 194

VTIC's Cheongryeo.

'Is this the first time since vacation?'

In fact, just as I expected, it didn't really affect me. Seeing that he had been quiet, the chances of him doing useless nonsense were low.

'I guess I can just play along.'

Sure enough, I could only hear other guys chattering. They seemed to have raised their voices because they were conscious of the noisy awards ceremony.

"I'm enjoying the reality show!"

"Thank you."

Since their comeback had been postponed, they probably had been watching all sorts of videos while staying quiet at home.

However, perhaps misunderstanding my lack of excitement that made my words sound like empty words, they continued talking once more.

"No, we all watched it together and it was really fun!"

"That's right, hyung enjoyed it too, right?"

"…!"

One of them prompted and pulled Cheongryeo into the conversation.

‘Just go away.’

Even if you thought we had a proper friendship, the atmosphere was now sh*t, but if it got caught on a fancam, it would generate rumors.

‘These bastards are really annoying.’

As I sighed, I made eye contact with Cheongryeo.

“…”

He gave a slight nod.

That was all.

‘Oh.’

It was an appropriate attitude for the situation, which was a bit surprising.

Just as I wondered if common sense had finally returned to that guy’s head after he got hit on the head.

“Ah~ Sunbae-nims, thank you so much! We also watch sunbae-nims’ performances a lot these days~”

“Oh~ It’s a bit embarrassing!”

“I know, right!”

“So I even brought a cushion today to concentrate hard on it!”

“Wahaha! That’s why you brought it?”

“Of course~ Sunbae-nims, fighting!”

“Yes, hubae-nims too, fighting!”

Keun Sejin took care of the conversation and ended it.

Should I treat him?

‘It’s worth the meal price.’

I could say that Bae Sejin over there deserved the meal price just by not staring at VTIC.

And the moment VTIC went to their seat, Keun Sejin immediately covered his mouth so that it couldn’t be seen by the audience and said quietly.

“…Where did you hit him? I couldn’t see any traces.”

“At the back. His neck.”

Cheongryeo was wearing a black turtleneck.

It was clear that the scar hadn’t gone away yet.

Keun Sejin made a strange expression for a moment, but quickly erased his expression.

[Hello everyone. The beginning of the year, looking back on last year’s performance…]

And at that moment, the MC’s greetings began to come out from the stage.

The main broadcast had begun.

‘It’s going to be boring for a while.’

I put my weight on the backrest so that it didn’t show.

It was time to run the reaction machine.

* * *

Of course, it was nice to have time to sit still in the middle of a busy schedule.

However, it was also quite uncomfortable that I had to show a look of concentration while only looking at the stage without doing anything.

'Still, it's better than Idol Inc's first recording.'

At least all of the people who performed on stage now were the people who would win the awards.

Woooow!

I applauded following the cheers to the group performance that had just ended.

They added a dance performance that incorporated modern dance, but honestly, it wasn't very fun except for the one person standing in the center.

If I were to replace the popular idols with Idol Inc's ranks… they probably would be somewhere between gold and silver rank.

Hmm, let's hear the expert's opinion.

"What do you think about the stage?"

"M-Me?"

"Yes."

"Um, I-I think it's cool that they worked hard. Um, the extensions are pretty."

You can't say that they're good. Got it.

Like that, I put up with it while maintaining a reaction that was appropriate enough to not be seen as rude on the fancam.

[Loviewer, I love you!]

[Thank you. Thanks to all of you, we had a great year]

After an hour and a half, right after we said our award speech for the Main Prize, it was time to prepare for our stage.

“Move, move.”

“Okay.”

And this stage wasn’t just one of the special stages of the awards season.

It was our first performance after the successful reality show.

We had to bring the public attention we had received through the variety show toward the stage once again so that we could be liked as an idol group.

‘After all, I have to do my job properly.’

So this time, I put in some strength.

– The day that finally came

Present

Grrrr-wow!

The moment the two-pronged choreography collided with numerous dancers on stage, colorful flags with pictures of landscape paintings and animals fluttered by.

And there was a nimble dance break using a globose laser effect.

Brilliant colors and movements mesh with aggressive arrangements.

It was a performance that applied ‘Horseback riding Gyeokgu[1]Gyeokgu is an equestrian sport in East Asia with some similarities to polo. It’s called Dakyu in China. ‘, a traditional game played by military officers during the Goryeo and Joseon Dynasties.

Cheers pierced through my in-ear.

Uwaaaah!!!

Aah!

I added the dance break part that was shown at the concert to a shorter and simpler variation, and the response was very good.

I had thought about this the other day. Funnily enough, now I could roughly distinguish it just by the atmosphere on stage.

Whether it was a stage that was appropriately acceptable, or whether it was a stage worth seeing.

This time it was definitely the latter.

“Huft.”

“The floor was slippery, but everyone did well.”

“It was great~”

Even if Keun Sejin said so, he sneakily looked up, perhaps feeling regretful. It seemed that he had failed to show more radical movements than planned.

“Yes, you’ve worked hard. It’s been a while since we performed in Korea, right?”

“Yeah.”

“It’s fun!”

Seeing that the camera lit up on the flawless clean stage, the performance seemed to be set as great as the rehearsal.

Everyone took a breath with proud faces and came back to their seats.

It just so happened that VTIC wasn’t around.

‘They probably perform next.’

Now that the live broadcast was almost over, they must have gone to prepare for the last stage sequence.

The Popularity Award and the Grand Prize were the only ones left.

‘If they win at this timing, they’ll jump out of the backstage.’

I’d seen it a few times, but honestly, it had less impact than getting up and coming out of the seat.

Thinking that this year’s local awards ceremony was a bit clumsy, I waited for the VCR on the screen to finish.

And after a while.

[The winner of Golden Disc’s Popularity Award is… Congratulations. Testar!]

The presenter of the Popularity Award called out Testar.

“…!!”

“Huh? Huuh?”

The guys who had been sitting leisurely after the stage jumped up.

It was understandable.

This was… frankly an unexpected situation.

After being sanctioned not long ago for ‘encouraging unhealthy competition’, the voting status for the Popularity Award was changed to a closed-door method in which only the total number of votes was displayed.

‘But it made sense.’

Popularity Awards were often won together by the winner of the Album Grand Prize.

This was an era where streaming services had become mainstream. A singer who had sold a lot of albums? That meant that the singer themselves was popular, not just the song.

However, Testar, not VTIC, won the award with 100% voting, without the involvement of the organizers in the name of ‘expert screening’.

‘Even if VTIC fans have less participation, it’s still true.’

I knew that VTIC fans, who had assumed that VTIC wouldn’t be able to attend this awards ceremony, didn’t enthusiastically rush to vote until almost the last minute.

Even taking that into account, this result was still surprising.

‘There must have been a late rush after the article that they would be attending come out.’

This is what we call… ‘worth rubbing it in’, isn’t it?

A strange feeling of joy slipped past me.

‘Let’s stay calm.’

Anyway, apart from this thought that passed by in an instant, my body reflexively got up and I bowed my head.

So did the other guys.

“Wow…”

“Wow!”

There were all kinds of reactions, from those who got up with puzzled faces to those who ran out of excitement, but no one seemed to have expected anything. It was only natural.

The organizers didn’t say anything either.’

Maybe they wanted to properly pull out the cut of us being surprised. Treacherous bastards.

We creaked up onto the stage, accompanied by a camera that eagerly zoomed in.

“T-Thank you…!”

“Thank you!”

However, as the line was naturally disrupted because we greeted the fans who were waving their hands, the hand microphone from the staff went to the wrong person, not the leader.

It was Kim Raebin.

“Uh… Um.”

He was flustered. As expected, an impromptu speech was too much for this guy.

‘But once you’ve got your chance, you have to say something.’

Just say, ‘Thank you, I love you’.

“Thank you.”

Like that.

However, Kim Raebin seems to have gained momentum after taking his chance. He kept holding the microphone and spitting long words back and forth.

“While preparing the album, I had frequent concerns about whether it would be a hit in the public eye, but as a result, receiving the award because many people voted for it feels like a confirmation that the group’s choice was not wrong.”

Please, stop.

Still, at this level, it was a passing score, albeit a lengthy one.

If it ended well like that.

“And the adventurous choice of solo songs… Gasp, I’m sorry!”

However, when Kim Rabin finally found the staff’s sign in front of him, he freaked out and politely handed over his microphone to me.

“…??”

Why are you giving it to me? The leader is next to you.

The audience burst into laughter. Kim Raebin respectfully stepped back, covering his face.

‘It’s rather fortunate.’

More than half of the audience that filled the ground right now were VTIC fans, but the atmosphere there had eased up a bit.

Seeing that the less-than-2-years-old rookies who won the award were flustered, it seemed it was possible they would delude themselves with ‘I’ll let you go this time’.

I naturally tried to pass the microphone to Ryu Chungwoo, but Ryu Chungwoo smiled and pretended to ask me to do it.

He probably made concessions because he had given his speech on the Main Prize.

‘It’s fine.’

I held up the microphone even though I was nervous.

“Raebin is very smart. I agree with everything Raebin said.”

After a small laugh burst out again, I calmly continued.

“Thank you to everyone who took time out of their busy lives to vote for us. I will come back with an album that deserves more votes.”

“Thank you!”

“Loviewer, I love you! It’s great!”

The award time ended with Cha Eugene raising his thumb.

Since there were cameras even during the short time we went through backstage, we couldn’t have a detailed conversation yet, but everyone seemed to feel it.

Now, Testar wasn’t just the first-tier group’s goalkeeper, we had entered their weight class.

‘That’s certainly motivating.’

I even thought that the people at the company might be dreaming about whether it would be possible to create a rivalry with VTIC smoothly by next year.

But after a while.

Looking at VTIC’s comeback stage, I thought the company must have given up on the short-lived dream.

Waaaah!!

The cheers from the audience seats were so loud it could tear apart your eardrums. It was understandable.

‘They’re filthy good.’

Even though the number of people had been reduced to 4, there were no empty spaces because the dancers were placed in the right places.

And the tune was great.

‘If a company does its job well, that’s what happens.’

They quickly cut off the guy who couldn’t be rectified and thoroughly take care of the rest so that there was no article during the break period.

Even Cheongryeo’s injury had never surfaced to the outside world. With just this one action, I could feel the company’s experience, ability, and vision at once.

As a result. With that one perfect stage amidst the well-polished public opinion, it was obvious that VTIC would smoothly escape the downtrend crisis.

In short, it was very comparable to any agency.

‘Hmm, I want to resign.’

As I recited the dreams of all office workers, VTIC’s long stage would soon come to an end and the Grand Prize would be announced.

Well, it was obvious.

[The Grand Prize winner is… VTIC’s <Insight>!]

If you don’t want to create attitude controversy, stand up and clap your hands.

[Thank you so much! We… Sniff, we’ll really do better.]

That side was crying too, they must have had a hard time. The sound of snifflings could be heard not only from the award speech but also from the audience seats.

‘Hmm.’

However, Cheongryeo’s face was clean.

He pretended to soothe other guys a few times as if out of habit, and eventually grabbed the microphone.

Then, in a feminine tone, he began his speech.

[I don’t know.]

Have you gone crazy?

- 1. Gyeokgu is an equestrian sport in East Asia with some similarities to polo. It’s called Dakyu in China.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 195

195.

“…?”

“…??”

When someone said something like ‘I don’t know’ in today’s Grand Prize award speech, of course, the concert hall froze.

It wasn’t even a tone that came out of emotion and embarrassment, it was just a soft and mysterious tone.

‘This bastard can’t be going crazy and talking nonsense, right?’

A chill ran down my spine. Of course, that bastard probably didn’t know that VTIC Cheongryeo’s record of attempted murder would be published as an article if he mentioned Park Moondae.

Most of the people watching the stage were probably running their pupils around mercilessly at that awkward timing.

Cheongryeo continued.

[I really don’t know. There was once a night when I was so desperate for this spot that I cried and couldn’t sleep, and I couldn’t stand it.]

Even if the members next to him were frozen, Cheongryeo’s slow words continued.

[And after the time that felt like it would never come, I finally reach this far.]

Cheongryeo tilted his head.

[I still don't know what kind of enlightenment the desperateness at that time gave me. But now, my feeling is more than that.]

The audience held their breath. Cheongryeo laughed.

[Thank you. For not letting me give up.]

That was how the speech ended.

Belatedly, normal applause started pouring out from the people who realized that it had a proper heartwarming and emotional ending.

Fans had been cheering enthusiastically from the beginning.

Perhaps they were thinking that such feelings came out because of the recent commotion among the members.

Probably… That feeling actually came from other experiences.

"…"

I sat down quietly, following the others.

On stage, the VTIC guys were wiping away tears and clumsily patting Cheongryeo's back. It must be something he didn't normally do.

Still, with the title song of the Grand Prize album playing, VTIC stood on stage until the song was over.

Then, after the camera light was turned off for a while, they slowly came down from the stage.

"Hmm."

I felt like he just greeted me from over there, but I couldn't be sure because of the distance.

It didn’t matter.

Anyway, the ceremony ended with such cheers.

“I want to win the Grand Prize!”

As soon as we left and got in the car, Cha Eugene murmured somewhat sulkily.

It seemed he got interested because VTIC received the Grand Prize the moment we came down with the Popularity Award.

“Why? We did get one. Artist of the Year Award at ToneA!”

“It’s not real! They present our broadcast!”

Surprisingly, Keun Sejin didn’t waver despite the harsh remarks.

“Hey, we still earned it~”

“No. I want to win it fair and square.”

Hmm, now it was time for Kim Raebin to step in.

“We did win it fair and square.”

I knew it.

“It’s the same thing.”

“That’s not true!”

“It is!”

I was just glad there were no people around. I picked up my smartphone and ignored the two people who inadvertently started bickering while forgetting about the Grand Prize.

It wasn't just once or twice this happened, and they would go quiet on their own even if no one stopped them.

"A-Are you reading the comments about us?"

"Might as well."

I was thinking of monitoring it out of habit, but there were things I had to organize first.

[You have a new message +34]

There were a lot of text messages and message notifications.

Maybe those were congratulatory messages. Against all expectations, Testar received the Popularity Award, so the article must have been quite big.

'There's nothing urgent.'

It was just sent out of courtesy by strangers I had exchanged numbers with anyway.

I just skimmed through text messages and message notifications.

… And, I saw a distinct text message among the congratulatory texts.

[I brought this guy in]

Not beating around the bush, in the text message that came with only those five words without any other explanation, a picture of a rather filthy dog was attached.

The guy sleeping in the corner of the sofa looked like a retriever mix.

"…"

Well, I supposed it was over with this.

I skipped the message without deleting it.

And just as I was about to start monitoring again, I heard a deafening call from behind.

“Moondae hyung! Don’t you think Cha Eugene’s remarks on the Grand Prize are rash and reckless?!”

“We must have a dream! Kim Raebin is narrow-minded!”

You even know words like narrow-minded?

Anyway, it seemed that the topic of conversation had turned to Grand Prize after those two fought.

‘Where is the leader?’

Looking at Ryu Chungwoo, it seemed he was busy talking to the manager about the next schedule.

It couldn’t be helped.

I nodded and opened my mouth.

“Winning a Grand Prize would be nice.”

“That’s right!”

“But if you want to say you will win Grand Prize next year, it’s better not to say it too often.”

“Why?”

I smirked.

“It would be less touching if you win it after talking about it so much, wouldn’t it?”

“…!”

Behind the shocked faces of those two, Keun Sejin snickered.

“Hey, look at Moondae’s spirit.”

“That’s cool.”

“Thank you for your advice on the new perspective.”

Don’t mention it.

In fact, if Testar maintained this momentum, there was a good chance of winning the Grand Prize within a year or two.

‘VTIC will go to the army, too.’

Of course, I didn’t know if I would be living as Park Moondae until then.

For now, let’s assume that would be the case.

“T-That’s right, Moondae. Let’s work hard and get the Grand Prize…!”

“Yes.”

“Grand Prize!”

Cha Eugene was excited and began started humming a song and put Grand Prize as the subject instead of Present.

Bae Sejin covered his ears with earphones and went into the corner. Too bad.

‘That will keep him in a good mood for a while.’

Well, it wasn’t just because of Grand Prize.

“Grand Prize for the day I finally go home~”

It was because the next reality shooting destination was his home in San Diego that Cha Eugene sang like that.

Thinking about baking hundreds of hotteoks in two weeks, I felt like I was already getting muscle pain.

As expected, the food business was heavy labor.

‘Well, my arms are all healed.’

I looked at my wrist, where the bruise had almost disappeared.

Now, even in the examination, they didn’t say any caution.

So by then… It seemed I could resume my solo performance as well.

‘Good.’

I was already looking forward to the encore concert in Seoul.

Of course, I had to finish the rest of the Japan tour in January before that.

* * *

Testar’s concert tour in Japan was conducted in an arena size.

It was the size right before the dome tour, which was often seen as a symbol of a super-big singer, and it was an ambitious size before <Idol Inc.> was aired in Japan.

By the way, Park Moondae was bitter that the remaining tickets were sold through dumping.

(TL note: Dumping: selling a large volume of a product in a single transaction at a price lower than the market price.)

However, after <Idol Inc.> aired, it turned out to be a good prediction of demand.

[Testar’s first arena tour in Japan, 8 concerts in 4 cities sold out]

Ticketing for concerts in the form of a lottery was highly competitive in each city.

And the performances that wouldn't disappoint those who succeeded in the competitive ticketing continued.

– Everyone did the opening with a smile, so cool and cute!

– Here is an idol otaku who screamed at their favorite solo performance (laugh)

– The moment the encore came out, this magical moment was also over, I really couldn't hold back my tears because of that feeling… I am still crying。゜（゜´Д｀゜）゜。

– Not even 1mm of them is messed up by the flowing sweat, so he can't be human, right? This kid is obviously an angel who came down to Earth

'No, where are the pictures…!'

Bang. Kim Rabin's personal fan hit the keyboard with her fist.

She would be lucky if there was a supply of one or two fancams for each stage, as there had been many cases where solo cuts were completely wiped out.

'Why isn't there any detailed review on the stage?!'

The solo fan cried out that this was why she didn't like the tour in Japan. The control was so strict it was like there was no schedule at all.

Still, Testar was kind.

Dear Loviewer, I'm here

(Bear emoticon)

This is today's penalty outfit ㅋㅋㅋ But everyone is still cute, right? For sure! (Coy emoticon)

(Photo)

Even during the tour, each member took turns and constantly left a review of today's schedule and performance on SNS.

'Big Bird always picks and uploads the best pictures.'

Kim Raebin's solo fan grumbled, but she saved the photos of Kim Raebin and Park Moondae that Keun Sejin uploaded.

"So cute…"

Testar's improvised stage penalty outfit was a kindergarten uniform.

If you scraped together the contents mentioned in Japanese fans' reviews, it was said that <It's Me>, Idol Inc season 3's theme song, was arranged as a children's song.

*'F*ck…!'*

She heard that in Yokohama–or was it Jokohama?–last week, they even performed a song from a famous idol rhythm game unit, but her stomach hurt because it ended with one blurry picture.

The solo fan banged her head on the desk.

Bang!

'Please come back to the country…!'

Fortunately, thanks to the overwhelming stage of the award ceremony and cute congratulatory W live not too long ago, the public opinion of domestic fans was still fine.

However, there was a subtle anxiety that VTIC might lose all of its influx this year.

This was because they were still on a winning streak making a first-place record after their comeback stage at the awards ceremony.

‘That bastard is good at talking.’

The solo fan wriggled her eyebrows when she recalled Cheongryeo’s speech at the award ceremony that incited hardcore fans with huge aggro.

She recalled it along with the VTIC fans who stealthily made provoking noises.

– ㅠㅠI guess my kids feel sorry for their juniors because they can’t change generations. They’re so nice to them…

– It can’t be helped that a great team continues to lead this game, they’re just following their abilities! So I think we’ll see each other in the top spot for a long time. I love you

ㄴThis is a remark of a Tika who is scared that the junior will rise up following their abnormal abilities and beat them up

At that time, Kim Raebin’s fan, who was still furious even after defending Testar in the last comment, exclaimed.

‘Guys, please give us something in Korea!’

It was then.

Tiring.

“Huh?”

She got a WeTube notification on her smartphone.

[(Trailer) I’ll sell hotteok instead of lemonade at the maknae’s house (Resolute) Testar’s Idol Working Holiday Season 2]

“Crazy!”

At the long-awaited popular content, the fan hit the Bluetooth keyboard.

* * *

The morning after the Japan arena tour was completely over.

When I woke up after a good sleep on the plane, I arrived at Cha Eugene's neighborhood as planned.

I bought some presents and headed to his home, but a few unexpected things happened there.

Mainly because of language issues.

It was because an old woman who ran out of Cha Eugene's house spread her arms wide and shouted.

"Bienvenido carifto!!"

And Cha Eugene replied.

"Abuela, estoy aqui!"

"…??"

It's not English… isn't it?

'Spanish?'

Of course, it was a language that no one on the team had ever spoken before.

Cha Eugene ran out and hugged the old woman through the unexpected language barrier.

It must be his grandmother.

Ryu Chungwoo hurriedly grabbed Cha Eugene.

"E-Eugene? Is that your grandmother?"

"Yes! Ah, she speaks English! My grandmother speaks English well!"

Rather than that, his carefreeness in not bothering to mention that he spoke Spanish was more surprising.

In any case, after a clumsy introduction in English, a welcome greeting, and a gift exchange, the reality shooting began in earnest.

First of all, obviously, it started with the scene where we asked Cha Eugene's family to eat hotteok.

"What about your parents?"

"They're working now!"

For that reason, the solo cut of the grandmother was included instead of the other people who said they hadn't left work yet.

And the grandmother cleanly emptied the plate.

"I guess she likes it."

"That's a relief."

As the six grown-up men who gathered in the kitchen to bake hotteok were whispering, Cha Eugene, who had been talking with his grandmother, interpreted.

[It's delicious, but um, she said she wants it a little sweeter! Because it's a snack!]

"Yes."

I nodded.

Looking back at the breakfast earlier, it seemed that this place generally had sweeter tastes than Korea.

"Then let's add dalgona."

(TL notes: Dalgona is a Korean candy made by adding baking soda to sugar and stirring it.)

“What?”

“Yes?”

And after a while, we decided to sell a crazy snack called dalgona ice cream hotteok.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 196

First day of the hotteok business in San Diego.

Before the opening time, the PD smiled and gave a briefing.

“Everyone, don’t forget! You’re going to play right away tomorrow~”

The remaining debt was $1,000.

Last season, due to a miserable defeat from the chain of debt and sales to the last desperate drawing lot, we ended up in a debt-ridden state.

Therefore, if we didn’t earn about 1,500 dollars today, we would be in debt the moment we play tomorrow.

‘The picture will be more fun if we can pay it all off at this point.’

If the money kept piling up, it would become a problem because the tension dropped down, but being constantly in debt wasn’t good either. Wouldn’t it be better to have uphill and downhill?

But perhaps the PD was too immersed, he didn’t give us a chance.

“We should show our Korean conscience, right?” You can’t double the price just because you put a dalgona on it~”

“Sheesh.”

“Huh? Who said sheesh just now?”

It couldn’t be helped.

What I could trust now was the ability to attract customers and…Cha Eugene's existing connections.

Just in time, Cha Eugene raised both his arms and shouted.

[My high school friends are coming. Let's make them order three dishes for each person!]

"No, it's fine."

If you went that far, you were basically robbing them. Rather than getting controversial articles, let's just do our best to attract customers.

It was time to reorganize the job distribution and bring out new fun, but I postponed it at the end of the discussion because I needed skilled workmanship today.

So today's lineup was similar to last time.

Cha Eugene and Seon Ahyeon, who were fluent in foreign languages, took the orders, while Ryu Chungwoo and Keun Sejin finished plating and serving.

However, only one person has a change of job.

"I'll do my best."

Bae Sejin was put into the cooking section.

With the addition of dalgona, the amount of labor increased… It was the excuse I gave, but in fact, there were other reasons.

Last season, Bae Sejin fell into a sense of shame after making one mistake, so we made him our backup under the pretext of it being a versatile position, and the response was very good.

'They were saying it's cute.'

The production team saved his hard-working character through editing, so it became ‘It’s not obvious, but, in fact, he only made 1.5 serving’.

And this time, based on that image, the position was assigned to give the taste of promotion.

‘It would be more fun if having a lot of contact with foreigners is added to the picture.’

Bae Sejin’s stomach would melt so I gave up the idea.

“I’ll do my best, too! Let’s cook and sell the perfect hotteok today!”

“…That’s great!”

“Yeah. Shall we say fighting before we go?”

“Yeah!”

It seemed that subtitles like ‘Up to this point, I was full of energy’ would be included in the next cut, so I did it once for the image.

Next… The toppings that needed to be prepared right before the opening.

“Moondae-ssi, what are you doing right now~?”

“Pre-production of dalgona.”

Keun Sejin started to point a handycam into the frying pan. It would probably be used as a separate recipe clip video.

Actually, it was embarrassing to call it a recipe.

“After melting enough sugar, I’m going to add baking soda and make a good layer of air.”

“Oh~ Then what would happen?”

“It softens the texture.”

I made a huge dalgona with three huge frying pans. And I handed it over one by one to Bae Sejin, who was waiting.

“Me! I want to eat it!”

“…Here.”

Bae Sejin, who was diligently breaking the dalgona, awkwardly held out a large piece to Cha Eugene.

It was like feeding a beast, but in the actual aired episode, it would be highlighted as a heartwarming moment.

And then, Kim Raebin, who was carefully dividing the broken pieces of dalgona, suddenly let out a sound.

“Ooh!”

“What’s wrong?”

“A-Are you hurt…?!”

Even Seon Ahyeon, who was cleaning the table outside, came running.

“No! I want you to pay attention to this!”

And Kim Raebin was so excited that he took the dalgona that he had divided… and began to weigh it on the scale.

30g.

It was the perfect exact amount.

Is this what you want to brag?

“Yeah, it fits well.”

“And this too!”

Kim Raebin quickly put another one on the scale.

It was 30g again.

“Oh.”

“This, too…!”

Kim Raebin kept putting another pack of dalgona on the scale.

30, 30, 30, 31, 30…

“…??”

“Heol.”

Even the production crew began to make a fuss.

The PD hurriedly asked.

“Raebin-ssi, did you just put all of this using your gut feeling without weighing it??”

Kim Raebin clasped his hands tightly.

“Yes!”

Oh my god.

“Wooow!”

“What’s up with Kim Raebin’s hand?!”

The members started making a fuss around Kim Raebin.

Apparently, Kim Raebin was a good slave even outside the art and physical field… No, he could have become a grad student.

“Amazing! Amazing!”

The staff joined in and it became a World Cup goal-scoring atmosphere.

[The broken hotteok machine]

[Suddenly started operating normally]

Hmm, maybe this kind of editing would enter right after this.

What came next would be either ‘Weirdly Lucky’ or ‘Dream Team’s dispatch’.

‘It will be decided by today’s sales performance.’

I changed my apron at the request of the art team.

It was about time to open the store.

* * *

Near La Jolla Beach on a sunny day.

A woman returning home from a nearby comic store smelled something good.

‘Cinnamon?’

When she turned her head to the savory and sweet scent, she saw a small store next to the corner.

‘I think it used to be a taco shop over there.’

She hadn’t been there so she wasn’t sure, but the good smell made her legs move.

Ring!

[Welcome~]

[Um, hello.]

Even at this ambiguous hour, there seemed to be a lot of customers inside the store.

The people who seemed to be the employees, serving and moving between the tables without hesitation, greeted her.

And one of them approached first.

[Would you like to try one?]

[Ah, um, I would love to.]

A tall man with a cheerful voice held out the plate filled with testers. His smile was nice to see.

She quickly took a piece off the plate.

[It's a sweet snack with a bit of cinnamon in it. Its texture is great. Ice cream or…]

[Table 3, Dalgona 2!]

[Yeah, got it! Um, guest. Eat it and if it's delicious, call me!]

The man smiled broadly and tried to say something more, but when he heard the call from the kitchen, he ran away with a laugh.

The person who called the man from the kitchen was also a man of his age with clean skin and a neat appearance.

'They are all handsome…'

There was a vibe that could be felt beyond race. She stood dazedly near the entrance and chewed on the piece of hotteok.

Hot, sweet cinnamon syrup burst in crisps.

"…!"

‘It’s delicious!’

She was dragged by the smell, but her mind became firm.

‘I guess today’s snacks have been decided.’

She headed straight to the counter where the menu was hung.

The man leaning against the counter suddenly rose.

[Are you going to order?]

Huh?

She opened her mouth wide at the familiar figure beneath the unfamiliar hair color.

[Oh! You! Eugene!]

[Huh?]

The person opposite her looked puzzled. When she looked up, she could see more of his handsome features and fangs.

Her memory was correct. It was Eugene!

[Hmm… Have we met before? Middle school? Elementary school?]

Of course, she should have expected this reaction.

Since he was such a popular boy, the only point of contact between them was when she showed him her homework and got some snacks in return.

[Ah… It’s Hannah Hamilton. I was in the same class as you in middle school.]

[Ah~ Hannah! It’s good to see you. How are you?]

Wow, it was encouraging that he pretended to know her!

Hannah replied with a laugh.

[Couldn’t be better. What about you?]

[I am doing great. Ah, are you going to order?]

[Huh? Uh… Um.]

While she was hesitating, new people entered the store.

[You’ve come back to San Diego??]

[Oh~ Welcome!]

‘Ugh.’

They were faceless middle school classmates.

She backed away in discomfort.

Then she bumped into someone behind her.

[…! I am sorry!]

[It’s okay.]

It was another employee. He had a French accent.

And surprisingly, this one was also handsome.

‘...What’s this?’

What’s up with this little store?

Upon meeting her eyes, the elegant employee asked with a smile.

[…Would you like to order?]

[…Yes! Do you have a vegetarian menu?]

[Sure. Vegetarian… Here it is. Here, can you look at this?]

She was recommended a vegetarian-topped hotteok with cashew vanilla ice cream by the friendly, elegant staff.

And by the time her menu came out, Eugene came back.

[Hannah~ Huh? You already ordered!]

And they had a short conversation while she ate.

Some of the topics were surprising.

[Y-You're a K-Pop singer?]

[Yes!]

It was an unexpected remark.

It was the truth, but it felt strange when a popular boy who used to play American football mentioned K-Pop!

It was true that some of the K-pop singers were famous, but overall it felt more like a subculture.

But Eugene was calm.

[Didn't you know? We're filming right now! These are all my team members.]

[…!!]

At those words, she looked around, and she could see camera lenses all over the place. And there were notices everywhere.

– Currently shooting a Korean broadcast. Thank you for your understanding.

She didn't notice it because she was looking at the food and the employees.

‘I met my classmate who was a quarterback after a long time, and but he became a K-pop star and is selling snacks…’

In the unrealistic situation, she silently chewed on her food.

The hotteok she had ordered was very delicious.

‘It would be nice if they could just keep selling it here.’

In addition, she even received a drink at the end of the meal.

[Hmm, it’s a drink called ‘Dalgona Soymilk Latte’! According to that hyung, it is a bonus service for my friend.]

[Hyung?]

At Eugene’s gesture, I turned my head.

The man with an indifferent expression she had seen earlier in the kitchen nodded.

And smiled slightly.

‘…That’s cute!’

She almost smiled and nodded along, but she managed to switch routes halfway through.

[Really? Thank you. He’s kind.]

[That’s right, he’s a good hyung!]

Hannah inadvertently sipped the new drink while talking to Eugene.

“…!”

This was pretty good, too.

When she reflexively lifted her head and looked back at the kitchen, she saw that the man who had given her the free drink had full control of the kitchen.

‘You’re a singer, but you cook so professionally like this?’

She didn’t know whether he was the unimportant member of the bad or whether it was originally his main job…

‘…Should I ask for his number?’

No. It wasn’t possible.

She stopped thinking and picked up her smartphone instead.

Click.

She took a picture of the store’s menu and uploaded it to her comics mania SNS account.

[Found a store by chance. I heard that a K-pop boyband is running it, but it has a taste made by professionals (chin-rubbing emoticon)]

It didn’t mean much. It was just a record.

‘Still, it’s true that the food is delicious… The employees are cute too.’

In the end, she packed three sets of hotteok.

The man in the kitchen happily witnessed the series of events.

‘All right, the business is going well.’

At this rate, they were close to getting the highest amount of money, and Park Moondae in the kitchen was satisfied.

And that night, Hannah confirmed that the post she uploaded on SNS received a tremendous response.

Testar's fans cried and asked for the location of the store.

– Please, please tell me. Where is it??

– Oh, my God, I was at La Jolla Beach yesterday ; (

– You're so lucky (Cha Eugene looking at Park Moondae's hotteok GIF)

'Oh, my God.'

Eventually, through several Testar music videos and their appearance on an American talk show, she realized that her classmate was more successful than she had expected.

And after a few days of floundering on WeTube, she wanted to turn back time, saying, 'I should have gotten an autograph'.

* * *

"Huft."

I sat down on my assigned bed.

It was the night after the first day of business ended successfully.

– Today's sales… $1,627!

– Uaaagh!!

Incentivizing the sales by offering low-cost drinks to customers who came through personal connections had worked better than expected.

Cha Eugene's friends were very generous.

'It's sold out.'

And after a noisy dinner with Cha Eugene's family, we finally received a break.

However, I shared a room with Cha Eugene again. Damn it.

‘Today as well, it isn’t going to be quiet.’

Even now, Cha Eugene was still talking.

“Hyung! I think of something cool for our unit stage!”

Still, this was the first time I heard him say this since the unit stage was decided to be an encore concert.

Well, it was about time to talk about it.

“What is it?”

Cha Eugene hit my bed.

[I’ve thought about it many times, but the circus is the best choice!]

Is that so?

I replied while looking at my smartphone.

“Okay.”

“Oh?”

“Let’s do it, circus.”

“Wow!”

Cha Eugene raised his hands.

And after a while.

[As expected, diving would be more shocking, right?]

I knew this would happen.

‘I’ll have to get ready.’

Undoubtedly, the unit stage with Cha Eugene either would be a jackpot or a flop.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 197

Testar's reality show remained popular even after entering season 2.

No, rather, in terms of popularity, it received a better report card.

This was because Season 1, which was aired on TV, raised decent viewership ratings, and the term for Season 2 to air on TV was significantly reduced.

One week.

In addition, there was a slight difference in the amount of editing on WeTube and TV, so die-hard fans watched both.

Of course, there were more viewers who took advantage of the kind and quick labor of netizens.

[Hour Hall TV Additional Cut (1/3)]

: (Video)

0:43 Interview with Cha Kitty's grandmother

3:58 Keunse's whistling section

5:02 Park Moondae's smile collection

– Grandmother's pick is Chungwoo… As expected of my man

┗Wash your feet and go to sleep

– Crazy Lee Sejin, you're even good at whistling, just how far are you going?

– You smile when giving bonus services? Park Moondae is guilty

It was the first time since <Idol Inc.> that the group Testar itself was directly exposed to the public in terms of entertainment.

Of course, fans happily enjoyed the timing of the sales.

For a while, they thought VTIC would sweep off everything by themselves, but it felt good to see Testar come out even during their inactive period.

[Testar's Hour Hall that started season 2]

[The popularity of Testar members throughout serving in the US]

[An idol who can weigh 30g with just his hands]

In the first week when the first and second episodes of season 2 aired, dozens of popular articles went up and down on the Internet every day.

The momentum didn't die in the third and fourth episodes, which were released the following week.

[Testar's secret friend tour!]

In this tour, the members became each other's secret friends through a lottery.

[Kim Raebin: It's Chungwoo hyung!]

[Ryu Chungwoo: Ah, it's Moondae.]

[Bae Sejin: …Lee Sejin.]

And they had to buy the 'gift that person would want to get' that the selected members had chosen in advance as souvenir tourists without being caught.

Let’s laugh at Testar who was trying their best to be exempted from the punishment and acting as a spy…Or so was the plan.

[PD: The members’ caring deep friendship! It will be a tour that shows the power of friendship!]

[Ryu Chungwoo: Ah, I see!]

[Ryu Chungwoo: Then let’s pretend we don’t know each other.]

[The crew: !!!!]

Ryu Chungwoo’s innocent and transparent destructive method completely ruined it.

The members stood in a line, entered the mall one by one, and came out with a fully wrapped gift box.

[PD: E-Everyone. Don’t you want to know who the secret friend is?]

[Lee Sejin: Yes~]

[Kim Raebin: It’s going to be revealed in half a day anyway, so I think I can endure not knowing.]

Despite the PD’s desperate plea, Testar didn’t budge.

In addition, Cha Eugene misunderstood PD’s words as a question.

[Cha Eugene: Ah! Me!]

[PD: Ah, as expected! Eugene-ssi, you’re curious~?]

[Cha Eugene: No! I already know! Secret friend is a Spanish word! Buddy[1]The Korean word for secret friend here is 마니또, read as manitto. And after a quick double-check with Google, manito means buddy/pal in Spanish. I think Cha Eugene was mistaken and thought that the PD was asking what manito is. !]

[Park Moondae: !!]

[Moondae is unfamiliar with the maknae's knowledge….]

The PD holding his head and Park Moondae who admired without expression were cross-edited with a gag.

Anyway, it was a development that broke the cliches, which was made possible because they picked the amount of laughter they received from the PD while doing sales in anger.

Besides, it didn't end here.

In the latter half of the broadcast, not only they enjoyed the entertainment, but they also took care of the professionalism and the heart-warming moments.

In the evening after they visited the safari and the shopping mall to their heart's content.

[Lee Sejin: Should we make a toast over there? With drinks!]

[Ryu Chungwoo: Should we? What do you think?]

[Seon Ahyeon: I'd love to…!]

[Bae Sejin: Let's just order drinks.]

As if the members were having sincere conversations in a pub and making obvious editing points, the broadcast portion that started with this conversation changed its nature due to one factor.

[Lee Sejin: Is that a karaoke machine on stage? Ah, this has a karaoke concept!]

The place that Testar entered was a karaoke bar with a karaoke machine.

[Ryu Chungwoo: Come to think of it, Moondae looks like he wanted to sing.]

[Park Moondae: Me?]

[Lee Sejon: Wow~ Applause!!]

[Park Moondae: (Tibet)]

And while playing around, Testar eventually grabbed the karaoke machine and sang.

[Park Moondae: (Singing passionately)]

[A professional ruckus at a nice pub]

[He sings so well that we wonder if it is necessary…]

Although the subtitles were playful, the skills were indisputable.

And it was also Testar's job, which was highlighted for the first time on the reality show.

[Cheers and applause]

Being certified among foreigners who had no awareness of them all gave viewers a strange vicarious satisfaction.

In addition, it wasn't just Park Moondae.

[Lee Sejin: Hyung-nim~ Don't you want to sing a song?]

[Ryu Chungwoo: Shall we? Raebin, do you want to sing with me?]

[Kim Raebin: I will do my best!]

The members took turns using the karaoke machine alone or in a group of two or three people.

There were almost no Korean songs, but it didn't matter because everyone knew how to sing a few pop songs anyway.

Later, they got drunk with the atmosphere and even danced with an unknown customer, singing an old American boy band song.

[Cha Eugene: You got a vibe~ (Meaning you're pretty good)]

[Customer: I know! (Meaning drunk)]

[This cool customer even bought a drink, saying that they were impressed]

While keeping the humor alive from time to time, they essentially fulfilled the personality of music and entertainment, so there were more things to see.

Testar passed the time naturally without forcing themselves to sing their own songs or make promotional remarks.

Thanks to this, viewers were able to enjoy only the content without feeling burdened.

[Seon Ahyeon: Uh, if we order more here, I think it'll be put into debt…!]

[Lee Sejin: Oops]

[Park Moondae: It's time to get up.]

And finally, when they returned to Cha Eugenen's house, they reached the peak of the heartwarming moment with the cut where they gave gifts to each other.

[Ryu Chungwoo: Moondae gave his cushion to Eugene. That's why I picked this.]

[Seon Ahyeon: What I prepared is a wrist rest. Well, since Raebin uses the computer a lot…]

The moment it was about to end with such a good cut.

[Cha Eugene: Popcorn is delicious!]

[Bae Sejin: ???]

The camera focused on Bae Sejin, who was dazed after receiving a colossal-sized popcorn box from Cha Eugene.

[Bae Sejin: W-When did I ask for this…?!]

Bae Sejin's protest was suddenly cut off, and subtitles appeared with peaceful BGM.

[Reading Result]

[In Bae Sejin's gift list]

[There was a snack.]

[Cha Eugene won]

And the cut eventually captured Bae Sejin waddling around carrying the popcorn box as the ending. The aftertaste was good when the last part was decorated with laughter.

Since then, a delicious preview had been added to raise expectations, making it a great entertainment show.

Therefore, the response was bound to remain friendly.

– It's so funny

– Please make this series for other idolsㅠㅠ

– I think it's fun because it's Testar, let's do it for a long time with Testar – Seriously, I've been waiting for Wednesdays these days. Please go on for a long time~

Of course, there were comments from other groups that tried to keep them in check, but it was so popular that there were people who really only liked entertainment itself.

Of course, the fans started screaming and shouting.

– Please make a comeback before this trend is gone

– You have to strike when the iron is hot, T1

– Start an activity or something, you bastards

It was a desperate cry saying that they shouldn't let go of this entertainment special.

It was only during the awards ceremony season that they said it less often because they knew there was a definite influx factor—the awards ceremony stage, but this time, Testar wasn't committed to any schedule.

– What if they add a tour? There's a lot of possibilities that they'll go overseas more boldly after knowing that they're doing okay in Korea – I heard it's the month after Mirinae's debut. Aren't our kids behind schedule?

– It's not just a day or two that these bastards are senseless, I am so anxious;

– Don't tell me that you're going to mess around while the reality show is running. Don't skip all the sweets and do your job when we clap

Fortunately, news broke out before the reality show aired next week.

[Testar's <Enchanted ME> Seoul Encore Concert Ticket Opening Announcement]

It was the news of the encore concert in Seoul.

– Finally

– Crazy, I love it so much

– It's been a while since I saw them ㅠㅠ

└You need to get the ticket to go see them

└I’m going to succeed even if I have to sell my organs

As if worrying about the addition of the tour schedule was a lie, fans were delighted with the addition of the Seoul concert.

It wasn’t just because you could see them in person. The content of their bias concert in Korea was expandable.

This meant that once they entered the country, in consideration of efficiency, there were many cases where the domestic schedule was carried out rather than immediately re-departing.

For example, something like a new album comeback.

– I know it’s only been a few months since Picnic, I have a conscience, I’ll be content with a single

– If they at least held one event, they’ll have more opportunities to go off

– Wait for me, Moondae. This noona is going to break her savings account… I’m going to go to the fan signing event this timeㅠㅠㅠㅠ

Testar even had a history of releasing a new song at their first concert.

Testar’s fan community began to flutter with expectations, ‘Isn’t a comeback not too far away?’.

– Raebin just verified the wrist rest that Ahyeon gave him. I think he’s trying to tell us that he’s working on the music

It was time to creatively interpret all the members’ SNS posts as hints for a comeback.

In addition, not long after that, the agency really announced an activity.

– Huh?

But it wasn’t Testar.

[Mirinay (Miry-nay) Debut Intro -‘NO magic in this WORLD’]

It was a preview video for the junior’s debut.

– Ah ㅅㅂ It’s already annoying that they share the agency’s channel

– Wouldn’t it be better to just post them on the group’s official channel from now on?

– The kids are cute, I am cheering for them

Testar’s fans grumbled and ignored the video, or clicked on it out of curiosity.

However, there were some people who clicked because they felt strange.

‘Magic? ...Magic?’

‘The background color is purple…’

And they were faced with a familiar mise-en-scène from the first scene of the video.

[…]

With the sun hanging at the end of the ground, a teenager in a school uniform standing by a scarlet window looked back.

It was an image that they had seen somewhere.

– It’s Magical Boy

The association was too obvious.

* * *

It was one o’clock in the morning in Korean time.

I was sitting on a plane seat while moving on a schedule and watching the video uploaded an hour ago.

Surprisingly, the airline provided Wi-Fi.

“Hmm.”

On the screen, an idol in a school uniform was captured by a window in a very familiar composition and suddenly jumped through the window.

And suddenly, in the dark of the night, she fell onto a huge spider web, turning into a cocoon and fading out.

The scene that reminded me of ‘Magical Boy’… was in the first 3 seconds.

“Oh.”

They used their brains.

I smirked and turned off the video.

In fact, I’d already heard of it.

The title of the junior group was finally decided with the previous candidate song that they wrote and composed by themselves.

So what is this?

‘It’s like they’re going to peel it off to the limit no matter what.’

They wanted to try using ‘Magical Boy’ as a way to promote Mirinae’s title.

Just enough that it could be excused as fragmentary ‘homage’.

Even if Testar fans openly publicized it and got pissed off, they would only drag on the aggro so that the public support was uncertain.

The persuasions of the hubae who listened to my advice skipped out the essentials and only slightly touched the trap that I set up.

‘…It’s smart.’

Yeah. I admitted it.

I didn’t know who came up with the idea, but it seemed that the company made a decision on a more intelligent level than I thought.

And I felt worse than expected.

‘This won’t do.’

Don’t you feel like making a little contribution somehow following their plan?

‘I don’t want to see them making decisions on their own, leaving out the party concerned who get hit by bullets.’

I didn’t know what my place would be like in half a year, so I was slowly pulling on things I hadn’t bothered myself with.

‘Let’s tear up the factions.’

I had to make some trouble for the company.

- 1. The Korean word for secret friend here is 마니또, read as manitto. And after a quick double-check with Google, manito means buddy/pal in Spanish. I think Cha Eugene was mistaken and thought that the PD was asking what manito is.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 198

A few days after Testar returned to Korea to prepare for the full-scale encore concert.

“It’s been a while since I’ve been to Seoul.”

Testar’s first manager, no, currently their only manager, headed to the company with a smile.

Handling the work that was originally handled by the two people alone was inconvenient, but it was somehow easy.

Because Testar wasn’t such a demanding group.

‘I feel like the kids have been aggressive these days, but maybe it’s because they got criticized a lot.’

Besides, most of the work was allocated to the newly hired tour staff, so the manager was having a good time than when he was in Korea.

Originally, it was his responsibility to check and manage the condition of each individual, but he gradually let them be.

It was because that work was voluntarily taken care of by the leader, a former athlete who was familiar with this kind of work.

– Chungwoo, is there anyone who says they’re sick?

– Yes. In particular, it seems only Moondae’s upper body massage schedule can be skipped out

In short, it was a bit of a negligence.

This kind of ridiculous leech-off didn't make sense in this industry, but in the first place, people were bound to get used to their position.

'I can hold out well while the kids are in their prime time here and then change jobs after I get a bit of career experience.'

These days, the company had been paying less attention to Testar because they were focusing on the newly launched female idol.

There also had been rumors that the female idols, who were usually more popular than male idols, suited the current director's taste.

'Looks like you've done it this time.'

The manager recalled Testar's reactions a few days ago.

– Hyung, the fans don't like it… Are there any other talks from the company?

– It's definitely Magical Boy, it's obvious even for us~

– Huh? Hey, don't the same agencies usually use slight references like this? The fans will soon forget! It's not like it only happened once or twice.

He had already received a statement from the company, saying, 'If there's any protest, just gloss it over'.

Naturally, it was easier to deal with Testar than to argue against the company.

And the manager was already convinced that it wouldn't be too difficult.

'As expected, the topic subsided~'

Well, this wasn't going to ruin Testar, and it was obvious that those guys would continue to do well. There was no problem with the manager's own career.

So, it was best to calm them down and not to do unnecessarily tiring work.

“Ah, I’m almost there~”

The visiting manager, who arrived at the company thinking about this and that, met an unexpected face in the parking lot.

“Hello!”

“Oh, yes~”

It was the second manager. No, now he had been transferred to be the manager of the junior group Mirinae.

Even though he thought this man was stupid, the manager continued the small talk.

“Who are you waiting for?”

“Ah, Mirinae is meeting with the division head right now. I’m waiting for them!”

“Oh~ Is that so? Which division head is it? Why are they meeting?”

“Uh, they said I shouldn’t tell other teams… Is that okay?”

His hesitation was very annoying.

Since ancient times, social life was all about wit!

‘You won’t last long, will you?’

It was frustrating, but he felt relieved to have sent the man away. He still missed having someone to do miscellaneous work, though.

‘I hope the next one is more obedient and quick-witted.’

The manager passed the time with coffee, thinking of the manpower that would be filled soon.

And after a formal report and a hearing in the company, he slowly returned to Testar's dorm.

'Brief the schedule properly and shout fighting in howdy style~' This was the manager's expectation today.

However, the moment he entered the dorm, he realized something strange.

"Oh, hyung, you're here~"

"Welcome!"

There was a table of donuts and drinks in the dorm.

And a stranger was sitting at the table fiddling with his smartphone.

'What?'

"Guys, who's that…"

"Oh, hello, I am the new manager. I look forward to your kind cooperation."

"…??"

The person sitting down then slowly got up and greeted the first manager casually.

'What's with this jerk?'

He'd never heard of a second manager. And what's with his insincere attitude?

The first manager asked without hiding his doubts and irritation.

Isn't this a situation where the new manager has to say something?

"I've never heard of a new manager, who are you? No, are you really a manager?"

“I start working next week, but my hyung asked me to say hello today. Haven’t you heard?”

“Hyung?”

Park Moondae stepped in with a faint smile.

“I heard that he’s the division head’s cousin.”

“…!!”

“Oh, you’re saying this because you don’t believe me.”

The man claiming to be the second manager held out his smartphone with a crooked attitude.

“Well, would you like to talk with him on the phone?”

A familiar name floated on the smartphone screen along with the nickname ‘Cousin’.

He was truly the management head’s cousin.

‘What’s going on here…?!’

The first manager was puzzled.

* * *

“Have a safe trip home~”

“Yes, see you next week.”

The second manager gave a proper farewell and soon left.

They said they would put in a guy who had been unemployed, but he didn’t seem to have much passion for work. It didn’t matter, though. I didn’t have expectations.

In the first place, the first manager also only did the basics.

‘The important thing is the thoughts of the management head.’

The gesture that people with only that name were starting to make ‘their own line’ in the company was important.

‘It’s working well.’

I shrugged and turned away from the front door.

“Hyung, would you like another donut?”

Just then, Kim Raebin held out a box of donuts from the table.

“No, I’m full. You eat it.”

“All right!”

Yeah. Eat a lot.

The guy who bought those donuts got in because of you anyway.

I recalled my schedule on the first day of entering the country.

It was the recording schedule for the encore concert’s new song.

The team members preferred to match the tune in advance before practice so it progressed quickly.

Of course, it was a position where we worked directly with the AR team.

– Hello~

– Please take good care of me.

After greeting the A&R team staff who had gotten used to it, we recorded the songs by each unit.

I spoke to Kim Raebin, who was waiting for the recording.

At a distance where the staff scattered around the recording booth could listen to us.

– Does it bother you a lot?

– Yes?

– That ‘Magical Boy’ came out in another group’s teaser.

– Ah…

Kim Raebin’s face turned dark at once.

– It can’t be helped if it’s a decision made by the company, but I think it would be nice if they asked for our understanding first.

– It’s a little unfair.

– Yes.

He knew well how to drive it forward. Kim Raebin nodded and his shoulders dropped sullenly.

‘Excellent.’

I took the implication of what Kim Raebin had said on our way back from meeting the hubae last time and took my chance once again.

– Honestly, you put a lot of your opinions into the arrangement and concept. Me too… We don’t know anything about it, but I think it would have been nice if they asked for your opinion.

– Oh, no! For the overall concept, Moondae hyung even decided on the image and symbol, so I think they should have consulted with you first…!

– Is that so? Thank you. But you made bigger efforts.

Let’s get a little more emotional here.

I murmured in a slightly gloomy tone.

-… Back then, we worked really hard. I barely had time to sleep.

– Yes… We worked hard…

Kim Raebin was now almost crying. It seemed he got immersed after remembering that time.

Good.

I purposely talked to the AR team nearby.

– Excuse me, I am sorry but do you have tissue here?

– Ah, here…!

As expected, having been listening, the staff had a very sad expression and quickly found a pack of tissue and handed it over.

I pulled out a tissue and held it out to Kim Raebin’s face so that they could feel sorry for him even more.

Of course, Kim Raebin, who wasn’t really crying, tried to answer honestly.

-…? I’m fine…

– Just use it.

I personally pressed it to his dry face. Kim Raebin’s head seemed to be full of question marks, but the effect was certain.

Over there, I could see the staff exchanging looks like ‘What should I do?’.

‘The AR team secretly likes Kim Raebin the most.’

They could communicate well, and he was a composer, so he interacted with them the most. Besides, he had a mild temperament, so I knew that they thought of him as the maknae of the team.

And that team was split up with a lot of the staff watching Testar struggle through their debut.

It meant that there must have been a lot of people who were baffled by the higher-up's decision to copy the concept of our debut song without permission.

'But no one is able to speak out.'

As a result of collecting people with real experienced careers, there was no one here who had a personal acquaintance or network with the superiors.

'So next, I'll encourage people with connections.'

So I contacted the management office.

First, I sent a message with a light gift.

– Hello, division head. During the recent tour, Testar received a lot of help from the management office, so as a thank you…

In fact, during the tour, I usually met people from the management office, so this rough excuse was fine.

If you send vitamin supplements according to the number of employees there, of course, the division head would send his gratitude.

Usually through a call.

– Ah, I received the vitamins well~ Thank you Moondae-ssi.

– The members discussed it together and sent it. Thanks to the people in the management office who took care of us, we safely carried out our schedule throughout this tour.

I threw the bait at this timing.

And this bait was based on a fairly plausible understanding of the current situation.

‘The management division fell out of favor with the current director from early on.’

The current director was not a fool. There was no way he didn’t know the decisive reason why he came here.

There was a major accident called an industrial spy case in the management office.

Since he had a connection with the head office, he had no problem maintaining the position of the division head of management, but his influence was a slightly different issue.

‘He’ll be a bit alienated from the front-line decision-making.’

Still, since the industry spy incident, it seemed he’d been working with a lot of tension. I didn’t know if he was watching out for his behavior, but he must be pissed off.

If you came in as a parachute and got to work, you must have rarely experienced being ignored in your life, so the current situation was bound to be more unbearable.

Let’s slowly aggravate him.

– Even when talked about the strange assistant manager back then, you listened to us seriously… Thank you. There were people from other companies who pretended not to know, as if it was not a big deal, so I wondered if I was being sensitive.

Let’s give him a lead so that he distorted and glorified the industry spy case on his own, saying, ‘I, the division head, was quick to deal with it because I recognized the issue, but I am being treated unfairly’.

– Thanks to the director, I’m relieved and I’m still active – Haha! Don’t mention it!

Look at this. He ate it up without humility.

In addition, if the AR team spread public opinion to the general staff, such as ‘The director has gone too far this time’ and ‘It’s too much for Testar kids’, the division head could rationalize it more.

He would have a great delusion like, ‘The director who is bad at his job is keeping himself in check’.

I knew that if the condition grew well for a few days, it would serve as a driving force to hit the director at once.

‘Since he’s a parachute, he’s not scared of getting fired if things go wrong, so he’ll just do it with confidence and impulsiveness.’

And fortunately, it seemed I had properly filled the division head with delusion, and this morning, he put his cousin as Testar’s new manager… That was how things got to this point.

‘It’s going to be a mess.’

I lay on the sofa and watched Cha Eugene finish off all the remaining doughnuts.

“Stop eating! Are you a pig?”

“I’m a tiger!”

“Tigers are carnivores that don’t eat flour, but now you’re eating sugar and flour…”

Hmm, how peaceful.

‘The next one is going to explode soon.’

Of course, it could end in failure, so shouldn’t we lay several mines?

‘That hubae seems to be good at talking.’

I decided to wait peacefully for the next bomb.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 199

The ‘bomb’ that I planted exploded shortly after when we were practicing for the encore concert with the behind-the-scenes camera attached.

“Now, kick to the right~ Then sideways again… Hyung, be careful!”

“…Kuh.”

Bae Sejin, who almost got his feet twisted, rearranged the choreography again with his ears burning red.

Even if his dance stat had risen to C, he was still struggling with the more difficult choreography.

‘This isn’t the time for me to talk about other people’s situations.’

The moment I thought I had to reorganize my stats to do a unit stage with Cha Eugene.

There was a small commotion behind the door of the choreography practice room.

It sounded like someone was raising their voice.

‘It’s here.’

I had a feeling. But I didn’t have to pretend to know.

“What is it?”

“Hmm?”

The filming ended immediately, starting with the camera. Because it was too loud for us to ignore.

The choreography ended just after the chorus, and after the members finished their movements, they looked at the door of the practice room, half puzzled and half worried.

“W-Who are the people talking…?”

“…I don’t think there’s anyone else here right now.”

“Wait a minute.”

The moment Ryu Chungwoo, who was glancing around, got up and tried to figure out the situation, the door opened one step ahead of him and an unknown person suddenly entered the practice room.

“…!”

He seemed to be in his early and mid-30s. After that, the first manager with a horrible red complexion hurriedly followed.

He ignored the first manager, bowed his head at us, and started handing the takeout glasses in his hands.

“Ah~ Hello, our testa artists. Whoa, nice to meet you! I brought this so that you can eat this and practice well.”

“Who are you??”

To Cha Eugene who asked him after immediately receiving the drink, he answered neatly

“Ah, I’m the new manager.”

“Yes?”

Of course, his position overlapped with the division head’s cousin who brought donuts a while ago.

“Um, you’re different from the person we met a few days ago~?”

“That guy will follow you around and work as a road manager, and I’m the general manager!”

General manager.

In other words, that meant he was the chief manager.

That also meant that the first manager, who had been the manager dedicated to us, took this guy that suddenly rolled in as his boss.

“With such a busy schedule, you would need at least need three people… Aigoo, don’t worry from now on. I’ll take care of everything, so if you’re uncomfortable with something, you can contact me right away!”

“No…”

Hmm, the first manager still looked bewildered. It seemed he hadn’t heard anything about this.

The guy who became the chief manager looked at the first manager and said regretfully.

“Manager Kim, you must have had a hard time doing this alone. From now on, let’s manage the needs of our artists more systematically. I will also check their injuries and physical condition each hour every day.”

It had been advertised that the first manager was pushed out of the promotion line because he hadn’t been able to take care of the group properly.

Yes, it was the justification for the management head to push for a new manager.

‘Artist-centered care!’

If I had just influenced him, it might end up with the director and the division head going for the senior vs junior format.

It was because the director would simply push the junior group aside, so there was a high probability that he would choose the remaining option, the senior–Testar.

Then, it might come to a needlessly tiring situation in which the two groups were used for political fights.

However, if you inserted another variable here, the story changed.

‘The hubae is also influencing the division head.’

That’s right.

As soon as I entered the country, I contacted the second-place winner in the junior group through the second manager.

– I’m sorry, sunbae-nim. You gave me advice, but I couldn’t do it properly…

– No, you’ve succeeded. You convinced him. Of course, it’s unfortunate that you’re having a hard time mentally because the company hasn’t conceded to your requests.

– Yes… Ah, no, it can’t be helped, and we’ve caused trouble to sunbae-nims and sunbae-nim’s fans!

– We’ve hurt each other. Well… If you’re having a hard time, there’s a way to talk to the management division.

– Management division??

– Management division is in charge of group care. I think he’ll speak for you if you tell him.

And she probably would say this.

‘It can’t be helped that it’s already been planned, but it’s giving us a hard time, so I don’t want to get involved with the senior group from now on’.

Then the junior who had already used my advice would try it.

-…Thank you! I'll give it a chance.

She seemed to be the smart type so she would have done it well.

Then, as if struck by lightning, the head of the management division suddenly had a common vision.

'The director is ignoring the artist's will!'

'The incompetent director is trying too hard to take advantage of the artists who can produce on their own!'

It must have been a slogan that he liked.

If you refined this into a more formal language, you would see what you saw earlier.

'Let's focus on artists (instead of the director)!'

Of course, there was no way that the division head was really interested in caring for the artists.

It was important that he took that justification just to beat the director.

Maybe the AR team that was close to Testar, or the production and marketing side that had been grilled mercilessly to repackage the finished concept, would sneakily jump on the bandwagon here.

'Then it really becomes a faction.'

And it seemed to have worked quite well.

The manager manpower, which was the symbol of 'artist care', had been structurally reorganized.

Just in time, the chief manager, the symbol, tapped the first manager and continued to talk.

“To celebrate the three of us becoming a dedicated team, why don’t we have a simple drink today and talk?”

“…Uh, yes, yes. Of course.”

The first manager finally gave in with a bitter look.

Of course, it seemed he had cooled down and noticed that there was nothing good to say.

‘It’s the taste of your own medicine.’

I gazed at the scene with satisfaction.

Since then, I had been able to see the current situation at the company.

‘I want them to keep each other in check and bite off each other.’

Am I worried that the parachute division head will press the director and drag down the company and do whatever he wants?

Yeah, not at all.

‘That bastard is bad at his job.’

It’s just… I only needed to make the higher-ups who want to make their own achievements in this entertainment business use up all their energy to fight among themselves.

In the meantime, as the group took the lead in promoting their work, the regular staff could do their work diligently.

“Then for your practice, fighting~ I’ll see you again soon!”

“Yes!”

“Goodbye!”

The chief manager gave out his number and left with the words, “Please feel free to contact me anytime.”

And only then did the first manager start to use his head.

“…Guys, aren’t you uncomfortable with that guy? He suddenly came in out of nowhere.”

He was telling us to take sides.

Keun Sejin smiled brightly and said.

“Ah, it’s the first time I’ve met him, so I can’t help but feel a little uncomfortable! Still, he seems to be paying a lot of attention to us, so I’m looking forward to it! I am also grateful.”

“The shake is delicious!”

Next to him, Cha Eugene shook his drink.

Eventually, the first manager left the practice room with a look as if he was swallowing curses.

‘What a fool.’

I clicked my tongue.

These kids weren’t stupid, they must have known from long ago that Ryu Chungwoo worked more than he did.

There might be someone who hadn’t thought about whether that treatment was fair.

“Ah!”

Kim Raebin who was making exclamations over there probably didn’t know…

“I get it now!”

"…?!"

At the words that came out at an exquisite timing, I stopped thinking.

Kim Raebin continued with an admiring look.

"Thanks to what Moondae hyung said in the recording studio, this situation…"

"Wait a minute."

I couldn't believe he was bringing this up when there were seven staff around us.

No, more importantly…

'This guy understands the situation?'

It was questionable. However, Kim Raebin was steadfast.

"Ah, what did Moondae say?"

"Yes! I think the company gave us good feedback because Moondae hyung openly shared the hardships and emotional pain the group went through!"

"…"

"Oh, really? Moondae said we're having a hard time?"

"Yes! He asked me, too. Through this opportunity, I can feel that the other person's reaction changes only when I express such a difficult situation clearly."

"Oh~"

"…Um."

Geez.

So, this guy figured out the very basic structure.

‘Testar clearly shows that they’re having a hard time. → The company pays more attention to group care!’

Basically, this algorithm.

It was a theoretical level without any options, but those with a similar level of interpersonal thinking began to react first.

At the fact that I was having a hard time.

“M-Moondae…”

“…I see.”

You don’t.

“Thank you for always teaching me.”

It’s not something you should feel touched for.

In the midst of this, Keun Sejin smiled and applauded.

“Yes, wow, thanks to Moondae, it worked out well~ How cool~”

This bastard was doing this on purpose. I was getting pissed off.

…However, a heartfelt speech followed after that.

“But let’s not overdo it. Moondaemoondae, don’t we have mouths too? Let’s share it with us, not with Raebin~”

“…!”

“That’s right, Moondae.”

Ryu Chungwoo nodded, making eye contact.

“We’re a group. There are seven heads, so if we discuss it, we might come up with something good.”

“…”

Since I had a history, it seemed that all the sensible guys here had noticed that I had deliberately spilled those words.

And I wouldn’t deny it.

It was a fairly reasonable statement.

‘I was a bit hasty.’

It was so easy for me to deal with it alone, so I kept forgetting that this was an action that affected the entire group.

All of these guys were affected, so they definitely deserved to be consulted first.

‘In the future… It’s fine to proceed after discussing it first.’

There wouldn’t be any delay since we always saw each other’s faces every day, anyway.

I nodded.

“Yes, you’re right.”

“Alright!”

Ryu Chungwoo jokingly added.

“Because we have parts that complement each other, so the fans, um… the ‘shareholder’ chose us like this.”

“I have a smart brain!”

“Cha Eugene has no official intelligence test results. It’s just a subjective opinion…”

“I am smarter than Kim Raebin.”

“Is that so? Then should we do a psychological test for our content later on? Something like official MBTI.”

“Nice!”

“I think it’ll be a very interesting content!”

The quarrel ended in an instant.

‘He’s not the leader for no reason.’

I glanced over at Ryu Chungwoo.

As my perception as a member of this group solidified, the great rejection I felt toward this guy also clearly diminished.

‘Hmm, this is fine.’

I think we were slowly going back to how we used to be. I acknowledged it in my heart.

Next to me, Seon Ahyeon nodded with his eyes shining.

“T-Then from now on… If you have a hard time, let’s discuss it with each other…!”

“Yes.”

The atmosphere in the practice room was friendly.

And the practice soon resumed, leaving behind the staff who were weeping for not being able to catch this on camera.

A few days later.

“Oh.”

In Mirinae’s title track music video, which was finally released, traces of ‘Magical Boy’ were completely removed.

– In the edited version, there was a short video in the middle of the cut scene!! I was really worried, but it’s all thanks to you, sunbae-nim! Thank you!

Through the manager, I received a one-sided appreciation from the junior who seemed to make it sound three times more amazing than it actually was.

‘It’s neat.’

Articles that dared to connect Mirinae with Testar, which was secretly encouraged by the agency, also disappeared from the main page.

When there was no more unpleasant content, Testar’s fans also let it go, saying, ‘T-one is being T-one’.

It was because the news of the encore concert unit stage broke out and their attention was focused on it.

– Crazy, Cha Kitty Moon Puppy Unit? They’ve come to discipline K-pop. I’ll die if I don’t watch it

Seeing this reaction, I needed to prepare better.

“Wahaha!”

Watching Cha Eugene lying on the bed next to me, I called inwardly for the first time in a long while.

‘Status window.’

But it wasn’t mine that I checked first.

It was Cha Eugene’s status window.

‘I will check once more before finalizing the unit stage and completing the countermeasures.’

That guy’s stats monster-like stats, let’s see how they had changed.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 200

A translucent hologram appeared next to Cha Eugene.

[Name: Cha Eugene]

Vocal: B- (B+)

(Rap: B+)

Dance: S- (S+)

Visual: A (S)

Talent: S (EX)

Characteristic: Black hole (S)

I almost cursed.

'Is this bastard human?'

His dancing had improved again, so he got two S stats. As for his singing, his vocal part had increased recently so it eventually entered the B stat.

And the final nail in the coffin was… his characteristic.

[Black hole (S): Immersive stage that sucks everything, driving people's hearts]

– Stage immersion +150%

As A stat became S, 150% became 180%. Characteristics would also evolve.

‘Is it because of that?’

I broke out in a cold sweat.

*‘I think I am f*cked no matter what I do.’*

I felt like I was reviving my senses from <Idol Inc.> survival for the first time in a long time… My survival senses.

‘Did I push forward too hastily just because the fans like it?’

No, let’s calm down.

I didn’t have to leave the group just because my stance was broken after doing a unit with this guy. I would just be a little embarrassed.

‘It’s not like I am trying to press down Cha Eugene, like Keun Sejin.’

Though, I could already see that the fans would struggle to push public opinion with ‘Both of them did a good job’ and Cha Eugene’s solo fans would sneer at me and say things like ‘Gommeo sucks ㅋㅋ’.

And in the end, the image of Park Moondae being good on the stage would suffer…

‘I can’t stand that.’

I couldn’t. I’d double-check to make sure that such a situation didn’t occur.

“Eugene.”

“Yes!”

“Tell me all the devices you wanted to use on the unit stage.”

Cha Eugene, who was looking at his smartphone, jumped to his feet. His eyes were sparkling.

[Water! Fireworks! Lights and dancers! And a huge moving structure!]

In other words, he wanted to use everything he had.

“You know that it’s impossible to use all of that budget-wise.”

“I know! But I still really want to use a lot of them! They’re great!”

“Yeah.”

It was true.

The choreography draft and stage setting had already been confirmed. And a lot of the things Cha Eugene had mentioned were actually used on the stage.

I agreed with Cha Eugene’s claim only in secret, but I was actually aiming for those too.

I wanted the focus to spread throughout the stage thanks to the colorful peripherals.

But I could tell when I checked Cha Eugene’s stat. It was a little superficial.

‘Their focus won’t disperse.’

People would definitely focus on Cha Eugene. The stage setting would only help with it.

I needed a more enforced method to take away their focus.

The easiest method was… handling my stats.

‘Status window.’

Let’s check my status window this time.

[Name: Park Moondae (Ryu Gunwoo)]

Level: 18

Title: None

Vocal: S-

Dance: B+

Visual: A-

Talent: A-

Characteristics: Infinite potential, Now that I heard it, it's true (A), Bacchus 500 (B), and Snatching ears (A)

!Status abnormality: Get the audience or die

Remaining points: 2

I thought my current status window was pretty decent, but after seeing Cha Eugene's status window, that thought faded a bit.

'First of all, there are no unique points.'

What's worth looking at was… the one level-up. And the naturally-increased dance stat.

Perhaps it naturally went up because I kept learning and performing the improvised choreography during the tour schedule.

Then, naturally, what I would do was obvious.

'I will raise the dance stat from B+ to A-.'

It was easy to think of it as an efficient way to change the stat grade and a way to catch up with Cha Eugene's specialty, dance.

But… It felt iffy.

‘Even if I raise it like that, the grade is different from Cha Eugene’s.’

Cha Eugene’s dance stat was S. Since it was a unit stage, even if I mixed it in with an A- stat, we might end up barely matching.

Even if I invested all 2 points and set it to A, it would be the same. In talent and characteristics, I was way behind.

And this was true no matter where I invested.

‘…Turn the vocal into S+?’

It was a way to make the eyes focus on Cha Eugene, but the ears focus on Park Moondae. It was a bit desperate.

Let’s put it on hold and look at the remaining variables.

‘Hmm.’

I brought pop-ups accumulated through concerts and reality shows.

[Successful performance!]

You deeply impressed the majority of people!

There had been several pop-ups like this, including notifications of reputation renewal.

Most of them gave a moderate amount of characteristic draws, so there were about five draws accumulated.

And it had been proved every time that the characteristic that came out was always something that could be used in the near future, doubting it more would be embarrassing.

I was almost certain now.

‘Let’s spend all of it.’

Spit out something useful.

Let’s start with the low grade.

I ran all the draws that had ‘precious’ and ‘hero’ on them. They were the ones that came out with B–C grades.

The lever turned and the slot machine flashed.

Papapang!

[‘Soft and cute (B)’ Acquired!]

[‘Angelic Heart (C)’ Acquired!]

[‘Crocodile’s tears (A)’ Acquired!]

[‘Unmoving Heart (B)’ Acquired!]

They were unnecessary and didn’t fit the situation.

‘There’s nothing related to the stage.’

Only the characteristics related to external activities were pouring out.

‘Are you telling me to take care of my performance on my own?’

Is it implying that I won’t suffer much damage even if the unit stage is ruined this time?

I scanned the pop-up window with my head colled down. Then, all of a sudden, I remembered a rather unsettling prediction.

‘Or… Maybe it’s because the time has come.’

Naturally, the status abnormality would be over soon.

[Get the audience or die]

: If you fail to meet more than 200,000 spectators within the time limit, you will die

The number of people reached: 199,997 / 200,000

There were only three audiences left.

After the encore concert, no, even if it got canceled due to natural disasters, it didn't matter. With just one stage filled with three spectators, this status abnormality was over.

*'And… I think there will be another s*hitty truth check.'*

Considering the past cases, it wouldn't be strange if it showed someone dying again this time.

…That meant it could stir me up.

So, in order to defend against attitude controversy, characteristics related to external activities appeared…

'The fact it's so convincing made this reasoning more unpleasant'

Don't give me a disease and medicine[1]Give a disease and then medicine = it's a proverb meaning 'to give trouble and then pretend to help'. , just don't show me useless sh*t.

I clicked my tongue, but I decided to act rationally for now.

In other words, my characteristic was replaced.

[Characteristic: Now that I heard it, it's true (A) has been deleted!]

Instead, I added the 'Unmoving Heart' characteristic that could be useful. Although it had a lower grade, it was a characteristic that could be used in many ways.

…By the way, the ‘Crocodile’s tears’, which momentarily interested me because it was grade A, could arouse sympathy by crying pitifully… It was the upward compatibility version of the faucet characteristic.

In other words, it was trash.

‘Done.’

I cracked my neck.

Now, let’s clear out our brains.

There was only one left.

It was a draw lot with an unusual name.

[Draw Legendary Characteristics ☜ Click]

This was the last draw I received after the tour.

Whether in mass-produced sh*tty games or god games, it was the rule that having legendary attached to it meant it was something good.

In that case, the same should be true for this obscure game system.

‘I expect an A grade at least.’

Please let me add some stage enhancement features too!

The lever of the holographic slot machine was pulled, and the platinum-colored slots began to spin rapidly.

Brrr–

Amidst countless plausible characteristic names passing by.

Click.

The slots slowly… stopped.

It was a slot that had never been seen before, shining with a five-colored light.

Papapapapang!!

[Characteristic: 'Time of Indulgence (S)' Acquired!]

*'F*ck.'*

An S grade appeared!

Before I knew it, I pounded the bed with my fist. Fortunately, Cha Eugene, who fell back into his smartphone, didn't notice.

'It's crazy.'

Even if I wasn't so hung up in this kind of drawing lots, it was thrilling to have such a high-grade stat.

Wait, let's calm down.

First, I had to check what kind of characteristics it was.

'Still, just looking at it, it seems to be a stage-related characteristic.'

I brought up the details of the characteristic.

[Characteristic: Time of Indulgence (S)]

– I feel alive up here.

: (Self) immersed in the stage +180%

'It's driving me crazy.'

Isn't this basically Black hole but with a different name?

"Huft."

I took a long breath and sat down on the bed.

‘Additional 180% stage immersion…’

At this rate, I could compete with Cha Eugene just by efficiently adjusting the point distribution and coordinating the practice…

No, wait a second.

Looking at it again, there was something attached.

(Self) immersed in the stage.

‘Self-immersed?’

So, it wasn’t the immersion of the entire audience… It meant that the performer was immersed in their own stage.

“…”

You bastard.

‘Are you telling me to get narcissistic on my stage?’

If this status window was a real game, I would have already asked for a refund and left a one-star review.

‘Where did you sell your business ethics?’

I gritted my teeth while looking at the status window, but soon cooled my head.

‘…Compare with the Unmoving Heart.’

Let’s calmly weigh the pros and cons.

First of all, the effect of this characteristic, which was an S rank, would be certain.

It would really make me immerse myself on stage.

Then, what about how I usually did it?

Have I not been fully immersed?

‘The stage… It’s fun.’

It was rewarding, and matching the concept with the atmosphere wasn’t embarrassing at all.

In other words, it was just ordinary.

Then, what’s good about being more immersed than I do now?

‘It’ll look more natural.’

If the performer was deeply immersed, the effect of making the viewer more immersed was also expected to some extent.

And in case of an emergency, even if various obstacles intruded, the performance could be carried out more easily without breaking the flow.

‘And… it might be more fun.’

…This shouldn’t be taken into account, so let’s skip it.

“Hmm.”

Anyway, in summary, it seemed to be quite useful even if not at the level of the ‘Black hole’ scam.

In particular, due to the nature of this group having a strong concept, it was also beneficial if I could perform with less sense of incompatibility.
Because it seemed to affect the concept performance.

There would be fewer complaints like ‘It’s so embarrassing to see’.

‘It’s a little different from being good, but it means he can do it with boldness.’

The moment I thought that far.

“…!”

Suddenly, an extreme thought occurred to me.

‘But… I want to be able to use it.’

It was all or nothing anyway.

I’d already peeled off all the variables I had, and there were no other options.

‘Let’s just try it.’

I manipulated the pop-up right away.

[Characteristic: Unmoving Heart (B) has been deleted!]

In the empty spot where ‘Unmoving Heart’ had passed by, a new characteristic, ‘Time of Indulgence’ was inserted.

And I poured all the remaining points into talent.

Talent: A+

All right. Let’s proceed like this.

“Cha Eugene.”

“Yes??”

“Would you like to have more fun on the unit stage?”

Cha Eugene answered right away without asking a question.

“Yes!”

Yeah. I knew it.

With less than 15 days left until the encore concert, Cha Eugene and I made some changes to the unit stage composition.

And both of us were satisfied with the revised direction.

“Are you okay with this?”

“It’s really great!!”

“If you say so…”

Ryu Chungwoo asked several times, but Cha Eugene only raised his thumb.

It was worth it.

We would do what we were good at.

- 1. Give a disease and then medicine = it’s a proverb meaning ‘to give trouble and then pretend to help’.

Author's Thoughts

Hello everyone, Tapas has picked up this novel so naturally, I have to stop here. Take the chapters I posted today as a farewell gift and thank you for all your love support, it has been a wonderful journey(◍•ᴗ•◍)❤

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 201

Episode 201,

the day of Testa's encore concert in Seoul.

A graduate student entering Gocheok Sky Dome was smiling faintly.

'I finally… First cone… !'

Thanks to the encore concert starting on Saturday, we were able to barely make it in time.

It was finally time to enjoy the concert without spoilers!

Although he was a graduate student standing at the crossroads of becoming a doctor or getting a master's degree, he had only one concern today.

'Does Moondae look good? This seat is the best, isn't it?'

Yes. The graduate student succeeded in ticketing for a seat in front of the protruding front.

At the last concert, it was the same area where the controversy arose because Season 4 of Azusa took over.

Her friend, who was taking pictures of Park Mun-dae, congratulated her while shedding tears and enviing her.

-I just entered. My heart is about to jump outㅠㅠㅠ

The graduate student entered and sat down in his seat, replying to a message from a friend who came a few tens of minutes ago.

It really felt like my heart would jump out!

Encore concerts usually have similar set lists and even venues, so estimates have already been made.

‘I’ll see at least four songs on the protruding stage!’

She waited for the start of the performance, holding on to the cheering rod, expecting to see Park Moon-dae’s stage right in front of her nose.

and after some time

“Aaaaaa!!”

“Oooo!!”

Graduate students were also cheering among the people whose adrenaline exploded at the raging performance.

‘Ah so good!!’

Watching a concert from a place with a good view in the center was an almost artistic experience.

“Park Moondae!! It’s Moondae!!”

Park Moon-dae’s solo stage that just ended was an example.

This stage, which showed a performance of removing the chair used during the tour and floating in the air again, felt the intention more clearly when I saw it from the center.

A flurry of primary-colored fabrics, like a whirlpool of emotions.

A fleeting love affair floating in the air beyond the fabric falling from the center under the lighting.

The graduate student silently nodded and recited an intoxicating note.

‘Park Moon-dae… He’s a genius.’

And it wasn’t just because of the good seats that all those emotions came to me clearly.

‘Mundae is so good.’

Power that is cooler than last time.

Since it is the same venue, the sound must have been the same, but strangely, the emotion that touched someone somewhere in the voice felt more raw.

If graduate students had access to social media, they would have been able to see these comments from people watching the broadcast.

-Clap your hands while lying in bed

.

-Please give me Dip D for the encore con

as well. As the level of immersion changed, the quality of emotions on stage changed.

It was the ‘time of indulgence (S)’ effect that was more certain than Park Moon-dae’s own expectations.

And Park Moon-dae himself, who had just turned off the stage equipment on the backstage, felt it too.

“… Whoa.”

My hands trembled.

Not because of the pain or spasms, but because of the afterglow.

Up to the top of my head, the feeling of emptiness and refreshment was excessive, as if I had been submerged in the water of emotion and then lifted up.

‘still… It was a better choice than expected.’

It was because I was satisfied with the stage just now.

The immersion of entering right away without any conscious steps made people more uplifted.

In particular, it was added because I did a song that was terrifyingly emotional by myself.

‘It’s stronger than usual.’

Park Moon-dae drank an ion drink to regain his composure and tidied up his brain.

“Mumundae! Are there any places where you feel uncomfortable? ?”

“It’s comfortable.”

“That’s right. thank god… . Still, if you feel uncomfortable, you must tell me!”

“I will.”

“Eww! … ah! Just before the end of the flower, the plaza was so cool… !”

“Yes, thank you. You were nice too.”

As I listened to Seon Ah-hyun, who had changed her costume, and listened to her concerns under the guise of a conversation using an interlude, the time approached.

‘The group song continues and the impromptu stage VCR goes a little longer… .’

“Seven minutes left!”

‘The unit right before the encore.’

During concerts, Moondae Park thought that time flies faster than you think.

So I had to be more careful.

‘Do it properly.’

After making up his mind, Moondae Park moved down the hallway to wait under the stage again.

Then, he came out in time with the chorus of Chungwoo Ryu’s solo stage and began to immerse himself in the stage again.

Wow!!

In fact, it was a difficult environment not to be immersed in.

* * *

Now, while the stage of the title song, which is quite a lot, passed and the cute impromptu stage passed, the audience was thoroughly enjoying the offline experience after a long time.

Yet, everyone knew.

Judging from the past experience of completing the review through VOD, the concert was now clearly in the second half.

So, at the end of this reality show by Testa, which was a big hit, the ‘unit stage’ with publicity was coming soon.

‘There wasn’t much change in the set list!’

‘I think I put a lot of effort into the unit stage… … .’

Especially at the moment when the VCR, which overlapped with the last concert, came on, calculations ran in my head as if it were during a break even in the midst of excitement.

And without disappointing that expectation, the unit stage appeared at the right time.

[Falling- like falling autumn stars, to you fall fall Fallen.]

First, Seon Ah-hyeon and Ryu Cheong-wu.

The audience watched the stage with a fresh feeling with a combination they had never experienced before.

The two performed the debut song of T-Holic, a famous male idol senior, in a refreshing way.

‘Oh~ nice!’

This was the opinion of a graduate student who is a fan of Park Moon University.

Next is Sejin Bae, Sejin Lee, and Raebin Kim.

[I’m aiming for you, my target, I won’t miss my enemy.]

I took a female idol song with a strong concept called Hitman and distributed the parts appropriately.

‘Isn’t it nice?’

Except for Park Moon University, graduate students with ordinary people’s sensibilities appropriately gave good reviews.

Both unit stages have become much larger and larger than the first concert.

Thanks to that, I put strength into my back on my own.

‘Now that Moondae is left… !’

As the previous two stages were great, expectations were high as to what kind of stage Park Moon-dae and Cha Yu-jin, who were in charge of the finale, would prepare.

‘Everyone expected it on social media too!’

If you look a little deeper, there are plenty of opinions that are worried about biting your nails, but the graduate students aren’t that friendly with the Internet yet.

So, I just came across the last unit stage with 100% expectations.

[…] … .]

After the entire stage, a short video was played on the electronic display board, on top of the darkened stage.

Ding-

The bell of the grandfather clock rang and the lights suddenly returned.

On the black-and-white stage, there was a tall male figure in an angular choreographic formation with eight dancers.

It was Cha Yoo-jin.

‘Moondae… ?’

Even before the graduate student’s thoughts were completed into sentences, the music began to pour in.

It was the melody of a pop song I had heard at least once.

Bambam night night!

-listen!

No matter how hard

I think about it.

I can not hold it

Cha Yoo-jin started the movement, leading the dancers on top of the light and nimble electric swing sound.

Among the many people, the person himself, wearing a black shirt and everything from a harness to a jewelry chain, was the appearance of a solo singer.

-Why Why~

are you not a monster?

Cha Yoo-jin was gorgeous.

The use of sparkling lights, cheerful voices, and glitter effects in the background as part of the choreography made my mouth open.

Cha Yoo-jin was enjoying the stage as if she were possessed.

-Umm Umm Umm~

The screams and cheers did not stop.

So, the graduate student came to his senses only when he got out of the center and strode to the left.

‘No, that’s why you ask?’

However, Cha Yoo-jin entered the chorus without mercy.

Thanks to the song being in the form of a hook song, it was an iconic part that was quickly repeated four times.

-Monster monster

you got me so

I grabbed you

bebe babe

Cha Yoo-jin performed the most complex choreography among the dancers lightly and effortlessly by herself.

It seemed to draw attention.

-bebe babe!

After a swiftly rising motion, Cha Yoo-jin drew her mouth with her index finger and laughed.

“and… … .”

Even Park Moon-dae’s fans reflexively admired it.

But the closing moment of the first chorus is so impressive.

The accompaniment suddenly changed.

Whoa-!

‘uh?’

Sophisticated arrangements using extremely modern electronic instruments disappeared as if they were being eaten.

And instead, a radical band orchestra stormed the spot.

“… ?!”

“… ??”

Before the sound of embarrassment came out of the audience.

The background opened with a brilliant light flashing in the center of the stage.

“… !!”

And a golden chair like a throne began to appear on the huge blue carpet structure.

The person who sat obliquely on that magnificent chair… It was Park Moon-dae wearing glasses and wearing a school uniform with a noticeable knit.

‘what’s this??’

Park Mun-dae started singing with a naturally distressed face.

-okay.

Just thinking about it,

I can’t stand

you anymore.

It was the lyrics of a Korean pop song.

Park Moon-dae led the song with a clear and distinct voice. Somehow it sounds a bit exaggerated and emotional than usual… .

‘No, wait.’

The graduate student, who almost fell in love with it, realized that Park Moon-dae’s arrangement was also quite familiar.

It wasn’t just an adaptation.

‘… It’s a musical!’

Yes.

This pop song ‘Monster Baby’ was also one of the famous numbers of a musical made by collecting the singer’s songs. -You don’t even look like a person

!

Park Moon-dae, dressed in a neat school uniform, sat comfortably on a chair and continued to sing.

It was because he was digesting a song sung by a modern student who got lost in a shipwreck in a bizarre 17th-century castle.

And it didn’t end there.

Woo woo woo woo woo~

Around Park Mun-dae, figures in raucous modern clothes appeared and started to dance and sing the chorus.

It was a musical ensemble from anyone’s point of view.

Thanks to this, the audience, whether or not a few people knew the background, could roughly guess.

That you are recreating a musical scene.

‘omg.’

It was a stage that showed the same song in the opposite form, but the audience forgot their embarrassment and got involved because it was so powerful.

-Monster Monster

grabs me and pulls me

like that!

While Mundae Park choreographed the dance on top of a giant golden chair, the structure itself moved around in the hands of the ensemble to match the lyrics and story.

– Like that all the time!

Amid the intersection of colorful lighting and flamboyant period drama elements that seem like feathers going out of their minds, Park Moon-dae's vocals split the venue all the way.

It was the taste of an explosive and dramatic musical.

"Wow!"

First, the audience reflexively clapped again. Because it was the quality that gave me goosebumps.

However, there was nothing called a unit stage.

'Almost just… A solo stage showdown?'

'It's not a unit.'

Some people predict that the story of knowing will come out the moment you get out of the elation of this concert.

Gying!

The interlude trembled, and In-young, dressed in a stylish black-and-white suit, rushed into the center stage from the dimmed lights on the left side of the stage.

"uh?"

It was Cha Yoo-jin and the dancers.

And they pushed Park Mundae and the ensemble all the way to the right, who were singing on chairs and carpet structures!

“… ??”

The musical set was pushed out as if toppling over… .

and.

Baba bam bam – baba bam!

In line with the synthesizer and brass that came in again, Cha Yoo-jin and the dancers pulled out their sticks this time.

The rods are connected and dismantled according to the movement, adding to the dynamics and splendor of the choreography.

“wow.”

At the moment the luminous color flashed from the stick, numerous lights gathered in the air to assist Cha Yu-jin’s movements.

It was a luminous drone performance.

Cha Yoo-jin smiled crookedly and handled the drone as if it were alive.

-bebe babe!

The moment when the chorus is finished once again like that.

This time, without a break, Park Moon-dae pushed into the center of the stage in an instant.

Standing on a golden chair and crossing his arms, Park Moon-dae hung a huge chandelier on the structure as if he couldn’t lose it.

And, as if declaring war, the ensemble and high-pitched chords were chucked in.

– I thought about it today too,

I can’t stand it anymore!

The lyrics were exquisite. The chandelier flashed light, teasing the dancers' eyes.

'crazy!'

Now the audience started laughing.

However, there was comfort and anticipation to enjoy the finished stage, not because I couldn't help but laugh.

This is because somewhat meta humor that transcends genres was brazenly performed on stage.

Because Cha Yoo-jin and Park Moon-dae, the parties involved, were so naturally virtuous, the stage became very enjoyable instead of embarrassing.

Drrrrr-!

After agitating like that, the two of them eventually jumped out onto the stage and started to perform while having a silent fight in the final chorus.

As synth sounds and orchestras merged, the song became loud and grand enough to be used for festivals or carnivals.

-Monster Monster

bebe babe!

Grab it and pull it

like that!

Original language and adapted lyrics were mixed. Dancers entered between the ensembles.

Cha Yoo-jin climbed onto the golden chair and sang a different song, while Park Moon-dae danced with a drone.

The stage was heated with a sense of runaway invading each other's territory without hesitation.

-Monster like that!

Peeing!

Firecrackers of all colors exploded, bringing the harmony and choreography to a climax.

The two disparate elements of the stage met the ending by making use of each other's destructive feeling more radically.

Whoaaa

It was a composition that was difficult to immerse in unless you have a fairly thick face, but I didn't feel a single bit of solemnity.

'I thought it was a joke, but was it worth the S grade?'

On the contrary, I feel like it's a VCR and I want to continue the stage without stopping… .

"Do it again! Do it a hundred times! oh my god!"

Of course not to that extent. let go

"okay. Let's organize a large one."

"yes!"

This sudden consumption of stamina is not allowed. Tonight, I had to keep my mind straight.

Besides this unit stage challenge, today's event remains.

'… Is it really over now?'

About 30 minutes until the end of the concert.

The status ailment was really right around the corner.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 202

If you can’t debut, you’ll get a fatal disease Episode 202

The first day of the encore concert ended as planned without any problems.

The response to the unit stage was also good.

-Please give me some music.

-Azusa’s only advantage is that you can see these two in the same team. Abolish it now

. Young Dub App always talks about Moon Dae-hyung’s unit, so I can understand why. My kid is a genius.

Occasionally, aggro to compare with other unit stages came out, but it didn’t seem to work very well. Even if I say it with my own mouth… I guess the unit from 1st and 2nd place It seems to be a virtue.

Since the combination is a combination, it seemed that other unit fans didn’t want to make a fuss

. ‘ They were drawn together with the same story.

So, the fan community was harmonious with the atmosphere of liking each stage. -Today is so good

-I was so moved to tears when the opening VCR came out

-I'm going to the Testa Dinner Show Promise (Concert Group photo)

The air flow of Park Moon-dae and Cha Yu-jin's individual fans was at its highest level since the launch, so it was just like a festival.

This means that I was the only one who was nervous among the officials.

"Hyung!! Shake the chandelier tomorrow!

" Okay. Good night."

I gave another ok sign to the adlib suggestion I had heard about five times and left the bedroom.

"

Where are you going

? "

It's only here, so there's nothing special.

Click.

"Hoo."

I sat down in the bathtub

….Actually, I saw a pop-up pop up the moment the concert ended.

In order not to interfere with simple night schedules such as behind-the-scenes interviews, I even checked the bedtime. " Of course, you don't have to do anything right now to check the pop-up."

There is still time left, so there's plenty of room to wait.

Still, I think it might be the last time, so it's hard for me to postpone it any longer.

Let's see . At the same time as chanting '

Status window notification.'

The pop-up that I had only confirmed the existence of as I passed by earlier reappeared.

[Successful meeting!]

You have succeeded in meeting the audience of '200 000'!

!Time limit: Satisfied (success)

!Status Abnormality: Eliminate 'Audience or Death'!

: Check 'Option' ☜ Click!

first of all… Success is certain.

"under… ."

Somehow, the tension is all the way down. I pressed my temples with a strange sense of exhaustion.

All that's left is to check his damn truth… for a moment.

"… !!"

: Check 'Option' ☜ Click!

Keywords are not true.

'A choice?'

As soon as I saw the word, of course, there was something immediately associated with it.

‘… A choice between the original body and the ‘Park Moon-dae’ body.’

Isn’t it the most plausible and appropriate story as a reward for clearing the last state abnormality?

“… … .”

But it was so unexpectedly good.

My head gets cold.

‘Isn’t it too late to present it now?’

This bizarre system has faithfully maintained the game style since I entered the body of Park Moon-dae.

However, it was strange to give such a carrot as a surprise reward after not presenting it until the end.

In a normal game, I would have thrown this as a bait before hitting the status quo at the starting point.

‘Even if it’s not a game… Considering the structure and efficiency, that’s right.’

Wouldn’t it be better to torture your hopes if there is a clear reward at the ending rather than just whipping you for dying?

‘Then what about the other hypotheses?’

I tried to think about what would be plausible if not choosing a body, but I couldn’t come up with a hypothesis that made me want to be ‘this’ in particular.

“… … Whoa.”

I felt like I had to take a real half-bath. My head is itching.

I briefly thought about drinking, but I ignored it and just left the bathroom.

‘Consider anything tomorrow.’

First of all, the last concert had to end well. It is right to erase from your head anything that will affect your physical condition.

‘Let’s go to sleep.’

Just as I was about to return to my bedroom, someone from the kitchen waved at me.

“hmm? Aren’t you sleeping?”

It’s a big sejin

“Half-body bath.”

“Ah~ good.”

He smiled and poured out another cup of cold barley tea from the bottle he was holding.

“a drink? Mom gave it to me yesterday.”

The color reminded me of beer.

I took the glass without saying anything. Big Sejin continued his speech with a smile on his face.

“Oh right. The Moondae unit stage was amazing, right? You did really well with Yujin too~ After all, Moondae Park!”

However, the content has bones.

‘There’s a subtle nuance.’

Do you reflect on your own Cha Yoo-jin unit experience?

I remembered those days.

– Just draw the stage itself well. I don't feel like comparing you and Cha Yoo-jin to each other and comparing who is better.

At the time, I think I gave this kind of advice, but since I did a head-to-head match-style stage with Cha Yu-jin, I was sure to be concerned.

But it was just a matter of appearance.

"… I just picked the right thing to emphasize."

I sipped my iced tea and murmured.

"It wouldn't work if it weren't for musicals. no matter how you sing it."

"… … ."

In the end, it meant that the format was just as good as when you were on stage with your unit.

'Of course there are characteristics, but I can't explain that.'

Instead, give him a chance to finish his talk.

"Your unit stage was also good. The shadow performance is perfect, so it's cool."

"… … !"

A bitter smile passed across Sejin's face as if he was slightly embarrassed.

I probably know the feeling of saying it without thinking, so I'm going to do it like this.

The guy shuddered and quickly took the opportunity.

“… haha. You worked hard. It’s good that you did well in the real battle~”

“That’s right.”

Bae Se-jin was practicing with his soul drained away, but if the stage was ruined, he might have tried to kill you.

‘It seems to have gone well with Kim Rae-bin, who works hard without notice.’

Big Sejin smiled.

“Next time, we should try together with Moondae! We haven’t been on a unit together since our debut~”

There are no overlapping positions, so why?

Perhaps this guy is also saying it as a finishing touch. so… .

“Moondaemun University just had a different position, so I didn’t think it was necessary!”

“… … !”

“Haha, I guess you were right~”

“… no.”

How did you know this baby?

Big Se-jin laughed at the sound, but soon caught his face and said.

“Hmmmm, but when the opportunity comes, we will do well, right?”

“I guess so.”

“Okay~ That’s the posture!”

Big Sejin put the barley tea into the refrigerator. And after a little hesitation, he continued.

"… I am very grateful for you. I wish you well in the future."

"… … It was nothing."

"They say that when you compliment them!"

Big Sejin laughed and tapped my shoulder. You're laughing.

It's been a long time since this guy has a Korean concert, so he seems to have changed emotionally.

'… It's a bit better anyway.'

This guy didn't mean anything, but since he talked about the stage, I didn't feel useless, so it was comfortable.

"Then I go in."

"okay. Let's do well tomorrow too~"

I went to bed.

There were no variables yet.

and the next day.

Wow!!

"thank you!"

The encore concert has completely ended.

"Ahh! The clothes are sticking!"

"First of all, guys, take care of your things… ."

“They said we should all take a group photo… ?”

After the work was over, the small things that remained were quickly completed.

The after party also ended with the members eating simple delivery food at the dorm. It was because they made me live once when I came to Korea after the tour.

“No alcohol!”

“… I haven’t even touched it.”

I was assigned a non-alcoholic beer. It was a very strange feeling to be taken away by a drunk man.

Then I noticed and came out to the veranda pretending to get some fresh air.

“… Whoa. Status window notification.”

pod. Again, the pop-up I saw yesterday is back.

Now it’s time.

From today until the comeback, the group had almost no official activities.

Well, it’s a term of about a month, but it still means that this interval is suitable for me to try something. because I can afford it

And one thing came to mind.

‘I’m sure if you click on this ‘choice’ item, another pop-up will appear introducing each option.’

Considering the UI so far, this is a fairly convincing hypothesis.

‘Then it’s better to know quickly and think about it.’

After swallowing, I raised my hand and pressed ‘option’. My fingers cut through the air without feeling anything.

And as I expected… A new pop-up appeared above it.

[Option]

: Check ‘truth’ ☜ Click!

: Obtain ‘coin’ ☜ Click!

※Duplicate selection is not allowed

“… … !”

It was also not an option to choose the body. And one of them… he’s a familiar guy ‘truth’.

This must be a reminder of the damn past that I’ve seen so far.

If so, the meaning of this option was in the new option below.

‘coin’.

What the heck does this mean?

My head spins by itself at the totally unintuitive words.

The first thing that comes to mind… money.

‘Any store will open.’

This is a setting I have seen many times in web novels. I’m the only one in the status window shop.

It’s plausible, but too abstract. Other than that, only images of cryptocurrency came to mind.

“… Damn it.”

You’re acting vaguely to the end. I stared at the selection window.

but… In fact, it was nothing like it was decided.

I moved my finger right away to the option that I had nothing to worry about.

[Obtain ‘coin’!]

It was a reasonable choice.

‘The truth is… It’s too risky.’

I don’t know what to show you.

Just looking at the description of the pop-up right now, ‘truth’ is confirmation and ‘coin’ is acquisition. Since you own any coin, isn’t the status quo maintained even if it’s a failure?

‘This is correct.’

I watched the pop-up while wiping away a cold sweat.

There was a commonsense expectation that now there would be an explanation of what to do with this coin.

But the pop-up that popped up… Contrary to expectations, it was already a familiar form.

[Suddenly!]

Abnormal Status: ‘Star or Death’ occurs!

“what?”

The status abnormality notification like X popped up again.

‘These bastards are really… !’

My mind goes blank. What’s the end of the X-foot! How long do I have to keep doing this shit?

… But on the other hand, a strange feeling came up.

It was a relief.

‘This too… It can be seen as maintaining the status quo.’

At least for a year, I just have to live like I did until now.

You’d think it was a crazy idea if it were tomorrow, but… There was a strange comfort that grace gave.

that I can continue to live like this.

“no.”

I gritted my teeth to resist the feeling and shot the pop-up.

‘What’s the alternative purpose?’

It was then.

suddenly… The pop-up started cracking.

“… … !!”

Abnormal Status: ‘Star or Death’ occurs!

And the contents were lined up and disappeared.

“what.”

It wasn’t over.

Tring!

Status Abnormality: ‘If not 1st place, death’ occurred!

A new pop-up appeared. The content is a status ailment that has been seen before.

“what.”

And this was not the end either.

‘No 1 or Death’ occurs!

‘If it is not a target, death’ occurs!

‘Performance or death’ occurs!

‘The best or death’ occurs!

‘Debut or Death’ occurs!

‘What the fuck is that.’

The popup’s status ailments were endlessly lined up and deleted.

And as if someone hacked it, it blinked countless times and was renewed with a new name.

How many times did that happen?

Tiri-ri-ri-ring!!

[Suddenly!]

Abnormal Status: ‘If you are not an audience, death’ occurs!

The popup finally stopped updating.

With the same name as the status abnormality immediately before.

However, the content description was different.

[‘Audience or death’]

: If you can’t meet more than 400,000 spectators within a set period of time, the number of deaths achieved by ‘Park Moon-dae’: 0 / 400 000

400,000, not 200,000.

staff doubled.

And a point added to the description. A specific person was attached to the death.

‘… It’s not just death, it’s the death of Park Moon-dae.’

… How should I accept this?

From this damn coin to the status window that seemed to have this bug, there was no corner to figure out the alternative situation.

It’s no use rolling your head. Because there are no clues.

“… … .”

I sat on one side of the veranda and cooled my head. Cigarettes did pull me a little, but it was tolerable.

“after.”

And when the body got cold, the situation was sorted out.

‘For now, two things are certain.’

The first is to fill 400,000 spectators within a year.

this is rather fine They immediately filled 200,000 people with a two-month tour.

The scale of the tour in the second half of this year has increased, so it is possible to reach 400,000 people just by looking at the schedule.

‘It’s even more loose if it’s even included in the event.’

So let’s skip this for now.

second is… The thing is, there’s one person you can ask anything about this situation.

Even what this bastard told me was wrong, so there is a reason to question him.

“… … X feet.”

It’s not very tempting, but since there are no options, there’s no choice.

I took my smartphone out of my pants pocket.

Then, I found an MMS text with a picture of the dog attached and called it.

The beep was cut short.

-yes.

I guessed roughly, but it’s cool.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 203

If I can’t debut, I’ll get sick to death Episode 203

As soon as I confirmed what Cheong-rye received, I went straight to the main point.

“Are you on call?”

-yes. Got a problem with a mission?

“… … .”

-I think that’s the only reason to contact you.

Was the timing too blatant to contact you as soon as the encore concert was over?

Unexpected circumstances hit the back of the head, so consideration was lacking.

‘Still, I can’t give you the feeling of begging for clues.’

This will set the mood only when it comes from the words of unconditional questioning. I broke my neck.

“There was no problem with the mission itself.”

-I see.

“By the way, another mission appeared?”

-… … .

“It wasn’t the last time. Did you lie on purpose?”

-no.

The answer over the phone was compliant. There was no laughter either.

The sound of the dog grunting sounded like a small ringing for a moment, and then the words continued quietly.

-I think I can explain… If you don’t mind, why don’t you take a look at it when you have time? Who can hear the phone

“It would be better to do it over the phone.”

It’s not that I’m talking about America over the phone, but that someone listening would be better than breaking my head.

-If you feel uncomfortable, it’s okay to watch it at Testa’s accommodation. I have no other thoughts. … I know it’s not possible anyway.

Hmm, I tried to pry it out after yelling at it with a recording if I said anything unnecessary, but it doesn’t seem necessary.

Of course, I can’t guarantee when this guy will turn his eyes again, so of course I plan to make a safety plan.

“Then let’s do this.”

After setting the time and place, I came out from the veranda.

Kim Rae-bin, who was nearby, was startled.

“brother! You were away for 35 minutes, so I was worried that you might have secretly gone drinking, but were you on the veranda??”

“okay.”

He’s drunk too.

I sat down next to him before the others noticed and started talking.

“Rabin.”

“yes.”

“I have a favor to ask of you.”

“I will listen!”

Perhaps misunderstanding that he had something to point out, Kim Rae-bin became quickened.

‘No, that’s not it.’

I waved my hand once to calm down and continued my explanation.

“I mean… .”

And things went as expected.

* * *

A few days later.

“It’s fine.”

I first arrived at the outdoor cafe in the corner of town that I proposed and he rented out entirely.

It is difficult to observe from the outside, but it is a place where someone nearby can report immediately if they hear a scream. CCTV is sufficient.

“You’re here early.”

And next to Cheongryeo who appeared in front of the entry fence a few minutes later… The dog, wearing a tight-fitting chest strap, was panting.

“bruise!”

“… … .”

I thought maybe you didn’t know, but… I really didn’t know this would come out.

“I thought bringing him would be a good excuse. Are you okay?”

“… It doesn’t matter.”

“Haha, it’s okay to stroke it. A kid who likes people.”

Cheong-rye smiled and grabbed the dog and moved away holding it. The dog was wagging its tail vigorously.

‘The speed is good.’

It looks chubby if you feed it well.

“The owner of the cafe said you can eat whatever food you want, so feel free to listen.”

How could it go down the throat in this situation?

I sat down at the table and answered calmly.

“I don’t think, let’s talk first.”

“is it so? all right. Then the mission isn’t over… Can we start from there?”

“Before that, there must be something I have to answer first.”

“hmm?”

I kept questioning, but I didn’t think this guy would answer, so I threw a question I had put on hold.

“How were you sure of the number of missions?”

“… … .”

This guy told me the total number of status ailments with confidence from the beginning.

– I decided to calculate… It seemed like it was given by adding the number of years returned at once. that.

“I need to know where the formula of returning years plus 1 episode came from. Because it’s wrong.”

“Oh that.”

Cheong-rye nodded obediently and petted her dog.

And he made a bombshell statement.

“They collected cases from people like us.”

“… … !”

“Oh, not now. Because he died.”

The guy had a face that didn’t show much emotion.

“What kind of disease was it… anyway.”

I clasped my hands. My brain was tingling.

there was another guy?

“How did you meet?”

“Oh, this is a bit embarrassing… Was it the fifth? There was a time when I went around saying useless things to try to debut as soon as possible.”

Cheongryeo smiled brightly and continued.

“I talked about knowing the future on TV here and there.”

“… … !”

“But maybe it was because the field was different, the mission wasn’t cleared… Well, I did it right the next time. It’s fun when you think about it.”

This kid’s tone is changing.

Don’t give a madman time to soak in the past unnecessarily. I cut off the mood to strangely change.

“So anyway?”

“so… An old man approached me saying that he also came from the future.”

Cheong-rye removed her hand from the dog.

“Let’s check if it’s real… After that, I figured it out.”

“what.”

“The point at which the future he knows ends is exactly the same as the point in the past when I restart.”

“… !”

“therefore… It seems that only one person exists at the same time. Who knows the future. A few years for him and then a few years for me.”

“… … .”

“Now Mr. Moondae.”

I finally understood what this guy was talking about to me.

-Now is the perfect time. It must feel like living as a main character.

Was it because only one person occupied that period of knowing the future?

‘… Then what is the standard?’

What do you and I have in common? And was the dead old man also in the entertainment industry?

All sorts of questions confused my head, but the situation in which all of them were buried was profound.

This is because even in the midst of this, Chung-ryo continues to mutter to herself.

“Well, I see… Didn’t I restart before he died?”

“… … .”

“For once, it would have been nice to restart while the person was still alive and see if that person returned to the past as well. Yes? Then we wouldn’t have suffered for nothing. haha!”

“no.”

I purposely disconnected.

“no?”

“uh. To confirm that, it is better to be beaten than to die.”

“… … hmm. What is it?”

The spirit of Cheongryeo died.

‘I’m going crazy.’

As I wiped his saliva on the fur of the dog that had started licking my hand, I noticed something else.

“… Then you immediately noticed that I had returned to the past.”

“that’s right. The timing is just right.”

Cheongryeo laughed.

“Maybe someone else knows the future… I wanted to, but suddenly a non-celebrity came to the audition and won first place.”

“… … !”

“In a program that everyone expected to fail but was extremely successful… It’s because I broke into family affairs at a very decisive timing and won first place.”

“… … .”

It was the result of coincidence and the effect of the status window, but Cheong-rye smiled as if she was a little embarrassed.

“How many times did you know? of course.”

“… … hmm.”

It seemed like a candidate site worth thinking about and discussing.

“But I didn’t know it could be someone else… Well, in fact, I thought it might be because of that that another mission was created.”

For a moment, a hypothesis passed through my mind.

“… Because I am not ‘Park Moon-dae’.”

“yes.”

Since it came into someone else’s body, it means that there is an additional penalty compared to cases where you just returned to the past.

‘I never wished for it, but I’m going crazy.’

I pressed my forehead.

… If this hypothesis is correct, the designation of the target of death as ‘Bakmundae’ in this state of affairs feels quite relevant.

Doesn’t it seem like a sign that from now on, if you can’t overcome the status quo, you’ll make it so that you can’t continue to use Park Moon-dae’s body?

‘X feet.’

… Will it end with one?

I don’t know. Besides that, there are all sorts of anomalies, from status window errors to coins.

‘I can’t even check the coin.’

There is no news after the pop-up saying that it was received.

Despite the shame, I shouted out ‘inventory’ with upbringing, but there was no change.

Cha Yoo-jin, who picked it up even with earphones on, asked, “Are there any albums left in stock?” I heard only the same thing.

‘Damn it.’

When I think about it, my face gets hot. I roughly stroked the dog scratching its head.

‘Is there anyone with a status window?’

I want to tell the kid sitting in front of me to shout ‘status window’ once.

Of course, instead of acting on that urge, I just stood up.

‘Anyway, it’s a problem if the status window actually opens, and it’s a problem if it doesn’t.’

Let’s not stimulate it any more. Since the predetermined goal was achieved, I thought of reducing the stimulation as much as possible and digging more next time.

But suddenly the dog started whining.

“… Keeing!”

Does that mean don’t wake up?

“Kongi seems to want to play more.”

“… Beans?”

“yes.”

A more native name popped out than I thought. I get along with dogs, but it’s a bit gross that he attached it.

At that moment, Cheongryeo spoke as if emphasizing.

“It’s the original name.”

“… … .”

I see what you mean.

“okay.”

I stood up after patting the head of the guy who probably had been named Kong for quite some time.

“Let’s play more.”

“done.”

I felt like I was sucked up. I don’t need to talk to this guy any more.

I moved my steps towards the entrance fence.

The guy who had been following me with the dog in his arms suddenly asked a question at the entrance.

“hmm… Come to think of it, Moondae must have an original name.”

“… … !”

“Could it be that they were the same person? haha.”

I answered almost nonchalantly.

… It doesn’t matter. After all, I couldn’t find my records anyway.

“Ryu Gun-woo.”

“hmm.”

The guy made a strange expression.

“It’s better than Park Moondae.”

“… It doesn’t.”

I can’t bear to deny it.

Still, Park Moon-dae is also in his own way… When I hear it, I think it’s a good name.

‘The fans seem to like it because it’s unique after all.’

Anyway, I climbed the fence of the outdoor cafe and started to return home.

“Uh-uhh-!”

I could hear the dog howling rather plaintively until I turned the corner.

I rubbed the back of my neck.

‘I didn’t have any income.’

I had a hypothesis as to why the status ailment appeared again.

I hate to admit it, but… It's definitely easier to draw results because there's one more head. Now that guy doesn't put useless bluffing.

However, it was even worse to hear that this bizarre thing happened to other guys in a row.

'Why is the status window popping up only for me?'

It really feels like being the main character of a web novel.

Just then, the phone in my pocket rang.

'this.'

I got the call right away.

-older brother! are you okay??

It was Rabin Kim.

"sorry. check was late. I am on my way back now."

-You are very fast… It took less than an hour.

That's it.

I recalled a conversation I had with Kim Rae-bin yesterday.

-I'm going out during break time, so could you text me every 30 minutes? It won't be long… I think you only need to do it five or six times at most.

-of course! But may I ask why??

-I remembered the last time I had a fight with some crazy guy. I want to prepare a little bit. If I don't get a reply, I call and if I don't answer, I report it to the company.

-okay! That's a good idea!

A kind of emergency notification bell Albada.

Kim Rae-bin has a heavy mouth and rarely forgets what he has been entrusted with, so I intend to use it often in the future.

‘Should I have a snack when I get back?’

It was hard to work without pay, so it was when I was thinking about carrots.

Suddenly there was a flood of noise over the phone.

– Oh hey!

-brother!! quickly!

-Go away, Cha Yoo-jin!

– It’s important! Kim Rae-bin, go away!

This is Yoojin Cha. Got it.

“Come in soon. See you in a little while.”

It was the moment I was about to end the call calmly.

-Moondae hyung! Our American professional came out!

“… … ?”

– Our reality show!

It was very unexpected news.

For reference, after checking the detailed circumstances, I became more absurd.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 204

If you can't debut, you'll die. Episode 204,

〈Testa's Working Holiday〉, got a good response on WeTube and gained quite a bit of recognition among KPOP fans overseas.

-So you're saying it's a shop where you can buy Testa's smile if you shout hotteok? (Crying emoticon)

-A lover who shouts 'of course' whenever he sees a customer who says he's a really handsome young man

-Anonymous: The sophistication of Asians is chopstick sucking hahaha

-Rabin: Hand-made 30g

-Anonymous: No one is Chungwooui Kindness is not mentioned, everyone is talking about his 'hotness' (crying and laughing emoticon)

Quite a lot of reviews said that Testa, who made a big impression on the parade following the game collaboration song, opened wide the window for foreign fans to enter through this reality show. .

But, of course, it wasn't enough to break into the international mainstream.

It's just that a name has been created among people who like this field in the first place.

So when I heard that I appeared on an American program, I wondered if Hotteok had gone viral… … .

When I checked it out, I noticed that a small part that I didn't expect at all caught my attention.

"This is it!"

As soon as he arrived at the dorm, what Cha Yoo-jin brought in was a short video shared on social media with English subtitles.

It was the scene where I had a meal with Cha Yoo-jin's mother in reality season 2.

Thanks to the division of the team and the division of roles, the three of us, Cha Yoo-jin, and Ryu Chung-woo, accompanied us to this meal… The composition of the meal was quite unique.

[I got selected in a lottery! It would be nice to go with you]

It was a meal provided by an American chef survival program.

Our production team was excited and picked a few cuts through on-site negotiations, but honestly, it was not a comfortable place.

[Wait, hyung, it's not cooked.]

[Really?]

[Oh, let's ask for it to be cooked!]

It was because the white fish dish Ryu Cheong-wu ordered was not cooked, so when he returned it to the kitchen, he heard a tremendous shout.

[This fish is so cold that my hands will get frostbite!]

[…] … .]

Survival programs follow a similar route wherever they go.

It was a wonderful experience that reminded me of the days when I was beaten by the trainer every time I failed during Azusa.

However, it is said that this scene was also aired on the chef program as it is.

There was just a misunderstanding.

He thought of the members as brothers.

It was because Cha Yoo-jin's mother wrote a phrase like 'meal with her son who returned after a long time:)' when applying.

Thanks to this, the reprimand has a story.

[Those guests! After working abroad, he and his mother eat together in their hometown for the first time in a year!]

[You are ruining their precious time!]

[Stop! Everyone get out of my kitchen right now!]

The judges said this line.

In addition, when it was filmed, even our calm faces while listening to the clamor in the kitchen were sent to the peak of the show.

[Reminds me of the old days.]

[I will.]

This line was kindly attached to the subtitles.

And this contrasted with the maddening atmosphere of the kitchen and seemed quite funny.

As a kind of East Asian meme, it is said that it briefly popped up on the American Internet.

-A- is not an Asian C for nothing haha

It seems like a caricatured meme like ‘American survival is a daily life for East Asians who live hard haha’.

As a result, the KPOP fans who knew Testa must have come into sight quickly.

-Oh my

God, it’s Testa

. (Laughing emoticon)

-The scene has already aired on their reality show (link)

-Moondae is a great cook, so the scene where he notices an undercooked fish first is always fun to watch

-Their survival program is really good It was a crazy rule, I’m really proud of Testa who overcame it♡

This uproar became quite known in the US internet community and became an issue with an interesting twist.

And it didn’t end there, but the climax was that it almost sublimated into controversy.

-Am I the only one who feels like a form of racism to misunderstand Asians my age as siblings?

Later, it was well explained that it was a misunderstanding caused by Cha Yoo-jin’s mother’s story, but anyway, it seems to have gone viral after riding on issues ranging from humor to controversy.

[It’s a corner that introduces recent famous stories on the Internet!]

Eventually, it was briefly reported on a news-style broadcast that deals with Internet gossip in the United States.

That was exactly what Cha Yu-jin showed.

“cool!”

“I know.”

I think people can get word of mouth even by accident.

However, I wonder if it’s such an exciting time, but from the point of view of watching it in your native language, it might look more funny.

Cha Yoo-jin sang “Me right away” humming over and over as she browsed the pages in English. I shook my head and headed for the kitchen.

“There are more barley teas at Moondaemundae.

you sound like a brother

“it’s okay.”

“Hey, are you ignoring my mother’s sincerity?”

“… … .”

I eventually gritted my teeth and took out the barley tea. Big Sejin burst into laughter.

‘That’s real.’

It was a bit disrespectful, but it was possible because we were all lounging around in the dorm during the day.

‘… It’s been a while.’

It was good because his goddamn ‘truth’ confirmation was suspended. From the day after tomorrow, it seemed that there would be no problem if we worked hard on the second half of the comeback single.

‘The song is almost out, so I’ll just have to look at the final revision.’

It was a single that was lightly released as a fan service and reality show to confirm the form before the next regular album that gave strength conceptually.

If it goes as planned, the second half of the activity overlaps with the university festival period, so the quota for status abnormalities should be able to be increased.

‘good.’

Except for this fucking game system where nothing is certain, the near-term future seemed calm.

… I didn’t know that a variable would pop out the next day, but it was colorless to think so.

It was the news that the head of the headquarters had gone back.

* * *

The problem was the Gnome American meme.

Of course, it wasn’t something that would evoke much sympathy, so the meme quickly died down, but some people continued to pay attention.

-I’m really only VTIC, Tika, but I’m also interested in Testa.

– I was curious about how < Burning Chefs > would be received in foreign countries, so I looked for their program, and the number of views exceeded 10 million! (Capture from Episode 1 of Testa Working Holiday)

-Your name is Testa? Interesting.

I never thought the day would come when I searched for KPOP.

From those who were originally interested in KPOP to those who were bored and looking for something different to see, some of them dug deeper.

And they eventually re-listed! Co., Ltd. > on Netplus.

-I found a survival program featuring these friends, but there is a negative voting system! Oh my God (Gif of amazement)

So small, community-centered belatedly < Re-listing! Idol Inc. > has American viewers attached to it.

The sensibility may not suit the taste of Americans, but it seems to have spread a bit by word of mouth because it guarantees one stimulation.

-You're revealing the hate vote rankings, too

. It's crazy. Let's introduce it to the US right now. XD

┗Psychopath bastard

┗There's nothing to import. I don't know, but there are already a lot of survival programs like that in this country… … .

Of course, it wasn't a performance enough to be in the US audience rankings on Netflix daily.

It was a minor success, to the extent that "Azusa" was recommended by an algorithm to American viewers who had watched Korean dramas or entertainment programs at least once.

However, it seems to have approached the general manager in a different way.

It would seem that the 'appealing to America through reality' that he pushed so hard really succeeded.

In fact, you probably forgot that the reality program itself wasn't popular and that the plan was modified differently from your own vision.

'no. I think it would have exploded more if it hadn't been fixed… .'

The superior, who was intoxicated with a strong conviction and sense of accomplishment that he was right, was no different from a runaway locomotive.

The junior idol Mirinae's debut was also quite successful, so it was even worse.

'X feet.'

Fortunately, the management chief seemed to be diligently trying to uncover the behavior of the general manager.

He's a guy who's worth doing beforehand.

"My brother said that people who steal artists' achievements shouldn't run a company."

"and."

This is the content of the third manager, the chief's cousin, reading a text message sent to him with a sad face.

'I must have fallen out properly.'

I hope we keep biting each other and fighting as planned so nothing goes wrong. If I go single and start promoting, it will be fuzzy.

'Just fight each other for 4 weeks.'

"Thank you for caring about us."

"Yeah what."

Manager number 3 spilled out his words as if he was not interested, and then turned on the smartphone game.

'I'm really not interested in this.'

Still, this guy was more useful than the first manager because he didn't get out of hand when asked or asked for.

Besides, I don't have a social life, so I don't know the line and just show these texts.

“… Let’s go guys.”

“yes.”

On the other hand, the first manager seemed to be quite stressed by the changed ecosystem, and the attitude of pulling away was considerably reduced.

This was also convenient. Besides, the new chief manager was quick to work.

‘But still, Ryu Cheng-wu works too much.’

It was like the two road managers who accompanied him were doing only what they told them to do, so in the end Ryu Chung-wu took the lead in checking the management.

Originally, managers should check each one individually and Ryu Cheong-woo should give good feedback.

‘I think we should fill the testa team with people who work well.’

Let’s plan this some more. First of all, preparations for the next activity were first.

First of all, the schedule to do right now is a meeting related to the activity coordinator.

“I have red hair!”

“okay. Do as much as you like, Eugene.”

“Hi-Hi.”

“Could Sejin-ssi… Sejin Bae, don’t you want to dye your hair a brighter color? I think it would suit us well.”

“… ! It seems strange… No, if necessary… .”

“I’m not forcing you! I was wondering how it would feel to change my image.”

“It’s nice to change your image~ Moondae, piercing call?”

“You do a lot.”

“You don’t like piercings that bite… .”

“so-so. do you like it?”

“Oh no! I’ve never done it… .”

“Wow, look at Park Moon University’s discrimination.”

Thanks to the stronger voice, their opinions regarding hair and makeup are now starting to be reflected quite a lot.

“You worked hard~”

“I’ll see you again the day after tomorrow!”

‘Well, it’s a piercing.’

After the meeting was over, it was time to go to the recording studio while reviewing the undecided content.

“I’m really sorry, but if you have time, go to the management room for a moment.”

“Ah yes.”

A cautious call came in from the management room.

‘what.’

In this case, I had a bad feeling about the missing call, but I guess that was right.

“Don’t worry, testers!”

This is because the management chief who called us in said this with a lively smile as soon as we met.

‘Why does this bastard look so happy?’

“The head of the comeback headquarters kept telling us to target the US side, so I think you must have had a lot of trouble mentally.”

“That’s fine.”

In the first place, the order for the head of the headquarters did not fall directly. What’s more, he’s laughing at his boss right in front of him.

In response to Ryu Cheng-wu’s flimsy answer, the head of the department responded more forcefully.

“no. We must respect the artist’s abilities and intentions! So, through this meeting, I got a definite answer.”

“yes?”

I was full of spirits thinking that this was called to show off and appeal, but I am rather afraid of what kind of answer I received.

And the damn words came out.

“The Head of Testa Activities Headquarters said it would work well in the global market even if he didn’t have to send testers to the US!”

“… … .”

“So testers, you can make the album you want like you are doing now, without worrying about debuting in the US.”

It’s crazy.

All of a sudden, I had to make a global hit with a single for fan service.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 205

Episode 205

‘I believe that each of you will be able to do well enough.’

At first glance, it sounds like a good statement that conveys trust and trust, but if you heard this from a superior, it means one of two things.

‘You do it on your own’ or ‘If you don’t do well, it’s your fault’.

And this guy, the head of the management office, is making remarks that contain both of these meanings without even realizing it.

‘If Testa didn’t achieve global results in this activity, he gave the head of the headquarters a reason to rush in.’

It’s obvious. The general manager would say something like, ‘I have to do as I say in order for the global market to work’.

‘Naturally, Testa’s right to speak is weaker than now.’

Right now, the initiative has only grown this far, but that situation was tantamount to landmines in this small X company with no answers.

However, it is also problematic to leave out that Testa does not have the confidence to make a global hit with this album.

That’s because the head of the headquarters can use it as a reason to intervene.

In a word, it was a quandary.

‘I was played by this bastard general manager.’

I’m pissed at what to expect from a paratrooper.

“Of course, we are working hard to achieve good results, but we can’t guarantee that we will hit it every time… … .”

“yes? No, you just have to do what you’ve been doing. Do not worry!”

It means that the head of the department was only concerned with his right to speak, and of course he arbitrarily judged that Testa would continue its usual upward trend.

I didn’t even consider that ‘just do what you’re used to’ would be a burden to the singer.

Not knowing what it’s like to suffer on the front line is really like a parachute.

“… … Um yes.”

Liu Cheng-wu finally shut his mouth.

I realized that if I said I couldn’t do it seriously here, the group would look ridiculous.

‘Damn it.’

It means that the arrangement and choreography have already been left out for this single to be light and popular. Because I was thinking of digesting the domestic recognition I gained through reality shows.

‘I made the chorus point choreography easy to follow.’

With a few weeks left until the comeback, I came here and changed my direction.

I will see the inferno again when I debut.

“… … .”

Is there any hole to escape?

I quickly shook my head.

‘Testa is also slowly getting out of the rookie, so how can I rub it well… .’

At that time, Kim Rae-bin raised his hand and threw a fastball.

“But this single was organized with a focus on popularity in Korea, so I didn’t aim for a global hit.”

“… … !”

‘hey.’

I thought about covering my mouth for a moment, but realized it when I saw the confused face of the chief.

‘Rather, this way might be more effective.’

Kim Rae-bin had an expression full of pure doubts without any intention.

Liu Qingyu met my eyes and nodded slightly.

“… … .”

ok let’s see

“If it does well in Korea, of course there will be a good response abroad.”

“Not necessarily. The gap between KPOP’s domestic hits and global hits has steadily deepened over the past few years, creating various cases… … .”

Kim Rae-bin diligently explained songs that were hits in Korea but did not receive much response in the global market, as well as opposite cases.

And he ended his speech with a proud face that he had done all the explanation.

“That’s why this global hit is even more unpredictable!”

“… … .”

The chief seemed a little overwhelmed by the harmless bombardment of background knowledge.

However, perhaps he knew that Raebin Kim did not intend to talk back, instead of feeling offended, he began to flutter in a shaky manner.

“Since we still have a few weeks left until our comeback, why not try changing the route? Now that the head of the headquarters is a solitary general… . You all know that, right?”

That’s it. Found a pod.

I put on my handcuffs.

“Then, you are saying that we need to reorganize our group activities right now according to the manager’s words.”

“… … !”

It’s not that our performance is bad, and you can say something hateful about the parachute.

“Of course, I know that it was for our sake, and I feel that I should work hard… .”

Still, put a layer of cushioning material on it.

“I’m a bit worried because the general manager will say that this isn’t artist-centered in the eyes of the general manager since it’s going in the opposite direction from our intention in the first place.”

“… … .”

It means that there is a conflict between the order of ‘Let’s respect the artist’s intention’ and ‘Whatever the artist planned, change it to focus on global performance’.

A look of bewilderment flashed across the manager’s face.

Doesn’t it make sense to you?

You won at best, but if you think that the head of the headquarters will change his mind and get caught, you will be stressed out.

“That’s right~ It seems that there is a direction we originally wanted to promote! It might seem that way.”

“Since we don’t have big ambitions in the US yet, we want to continue preparing for a comeback by working hard in Korea first.”

Support fire pours in.

We will continue preparing as we were doing, so it means that you who have done it should take care of it.

Of course, the chief’s complexion deteriorates.

“Well, then I will support you in the future… … .”

You say you don’t want to say anything regretful while withdrawing the embarrassing words.

‘Hmm, if I push it more than this, this bastard might say that he’s hurting his feelings.’

The arrow of the head of department should be directed at the head of the headquarters, not at the testa.

Still, there are a lot of good things if you push it to the corner like this.

‘It’s not easy to rip off.’

Then like this… Oh right.

‘… I decided to proceed after receiving the consent of the team members.’

I made eye contact with the other members, nodded, and signaled roughly.

‘Let’s just do as he says, the bomb will explode if we do something wrong.’

‘Yes, yes~’

‘I’ll work hard either way… !’

‘I’m hungry!’

It seems that a strange signal intervened at the end, but I ignored it.

In any case, no one shakes his head or opposes the death toll. I replied slowly to the chief in a serious tone.

“hmm… Then how about doing this?”

“What… ?”

“We increased the scale of the project before the comeback because the company saw that reality shows were doing well and invested heavily.”

Invest more capital

“Then the context seems natural, but how about it from the manager’s point of view?”

It was a strategy to fill the void by pouring money as much as possible because there was not enough time.

‘Because he’s a parachute, he’ll be able to raise funds from the head office.’

As expected, the chief was pleased.

“It looks fine to me.”

done.

In the picture, Testa didn’t ask for more money, so even if it ended with an average hit, there would be less gossip.

Now, after pouring in a huge amount of capital, I arranged, choreographed and MV in 4 weeks… Let’s fix it.

‘X feet.’

I suddenly became a forced marcher.

* * *

That day, we put off our recording schedule and shut ourselves in the conference room.

“Global hit… .”

“Mmm.”

Surprisingly, Bae Se-jin was the first to speak.

“… How about doing it in English?”

That was a pretty reasonable statement.

However, looking at the global ecology of KPOP, it was a premature proposal.

“Using English is aiming for popularity in the English-speaking world… First of all, wouldn’t that work if the public knew us?”

“ah.”

Yes. First of all, it was a strategy to be used only when the fan base was clear.

If it wasn't right, it could have been labeled negatively, such as 'the United States is too conscious'.

So what can be done to solidify those who have been brought in by American memes into a fan base?

"I think it would be good to look at the concepts that existing KPOP overseas fans liked."

"Oh, that's for sure~"

Liu Cheng-wu muttered, and Se-jin raised a hand.

"The choreography is cool, the beat is good~ Don't you like that the music video was chosen well?"

"Wouldn't Korea like that cool thing too… ?"

"Um, yes. But what should I say, dance songs with a lot of emphasis on beats in Korea… Aren't there a lot of people who don't listen to male idol songs?"

That's right.

So, out of the two debut title songs, we pushed 'Magic Boy' more, which is easy to listen to without being too loud.

'That one definitely ranked higher on the music charts than 'Hi-five' and had a long run.'

In the same context, a song like 'Arrow', which is extremely conceptual and intense, had a slightly weaker ranking than the previous title song.

Even though it was a period of activity when he reached a career high and entered the top tier, so much so that the influx of fandom was visible.

Still, it's as Big Sejin said.

‘It’s a waste of the swollen popularity in Korea, but if you need an overseas response, this is the right way.’

Of course, even if you have decided on a direction, it is not easy to change everything overnight.

“The choreography and stuff like that can all be modified, so there’s no big problem… Sejin-ah, are you okay?”

“… of course.”

Bae Se-jin steadfastly replied to Ryu Cheng-wu.

Ryu Cheng-wu continued talking with a slightly apologetic face.

“okay. Well, so I think I can gradually revise the rest in a cooler direction… I am worried that the arrangement will be difficult.”

At those words, everyone looked at Kim Rae-bin.

“… … ?”

Kim Rae-bin looked at the surroundings with a puzzled expression, then opened his mouth with a realization.

“Once the concept is decided, I will come up with some arrangement plans to suit the mood! Please give me four days!”

It was an exciting statement.

“Will it be okay… ? It won’t be too hard… ?”

“Still, this title has a good melodic top note that can be combined in various ways, so it’s quite exciting to be able to try something new!”

“… … .”

Kim Rae-bin… He seems rather excited about being able to try something he couldn’t do because he couldn’t fit into the popular box office formula.

‘Yes, I’m glad that anyone is happy.’

I opened my mouth.

“Okay, Ravin. Then, let’s talk about the concept quickly so that our Rabin can start working quickly.”

“okay.”

“Joe is good!”

“Do you have anything on your mind? It’s an idea bank again~”

Originally, we planned to release a season song that was moderately refreshing and well-rounded without a fixed image.

It means that we need to change this to a concept that has a scale that would make a great ‘music video’… … .

At the same time, it should suit the tastes of the English-speaking world so that the head of the headquarters does not want to say anything.

It’s greedy, so I hope you don’t give up on domestic popularity and take care of it a lot.

It’s a digital single, so I don’t sell albums, so the music charts are important.

‘… … hmm.’

Nice choreography, strong beats, good for fans to consume?

‘… ah.’

I opened my mouth.

“We will use this opportunity to expand our world view.”

“Our worldview? Like what?”

“Come.”

After a while, after intense brainstorming, the amendment was passed unanimously, even the arrangement.

‘Instead, in the most comfortable way to listen!’

And then three turbulent weeks passed.

* * *

Testa’s fans knew that this comeback was a single.

This is because the news of the comeback was quickly spread to the media in line with the encore concert. It was part of maintaining the topic.

And with the words added to each article, the fans even guessed the mood of the song.

[Comeback release with Testa Cherry Blossoms]

[Testa comeback warm-up UP… Do you want to challenge spring carol?]

[Kookmin Stock Testa returns as men with refreshing spring sensibility]

It was a press release that the agency’s staff worked hard to set the tone after confirming the testa activity plan.

Thanks to this, fans all expected a public-friendly easy-listening song similar to the title of the last repackage album, ‘Picnic’.

Of course, it wasn’t just the fans.

-I updated the music charts with Picnic, so it looks like it’s safely covered -Haha. It’s a pity that Testa’s color looks like Magic Boy’s way ㅠ -Something like Berami really came out, but I feel like I'm pushing and cooling off because I keep doing easy songs

-It's not long since I've been away for a while, but I'm already choreographed It was a little weak to lower the difficulty level haha Even so, it must be because the fans like it. As much as the reality program was a box office hit, Testa's comeback received almost as much attention as it did during their debut, and thanks to that, many people had their stomachs full.

-It's a song that hasn't even been released yet, so I'm already fucking ㅋㅋㅋ I feel sorry for how dangerous it is

. I'm going to come back with a full regular, but I'm a fan of it. It's a pity, I'm a fan. It's a pity .

I was able to pass the reaction by being moderately intrusive and moderately laughing.

Because, given the current momentum, there was no way this comeback would fail… !

At the same time, on the other hand, I thought that it would be nice if this stage was fun and flashy enough to make him shut up, but basically everyone trusted Testa.

'I've never been ruined!'

And on the day of the release of Testa's comeback teaser.

Fans get to see a staggering 30-second video they never expected.

‘Woe Wilderness??’

The concept that Testa chose was… It was steampunk shipbuilding.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 206

Episode 206, Testa,

started with a steam locomotive passing through a desolate field.

Chii profit!

A brass-colored train with prominent cogwheels approached the screen at an angle.

Then, as if being sucked in, the inside of the train window became a close-up.

[…] … .]

It was a room incorporating an antique mid-Joseon style.

The two passengers sitting opposite each other in it were wearing black and white coats like coats.

Under the outer garment, a modern-style garment with leather straps and buckles could be seen.

Suddenly, the camera caught the face of the one wearing a white robe. Seon Ah-hyun, with her hair neatly tossed, looked down.

and opposite.

In-young, who was opening an old newspaper with a large headline reading, “What do you mean issuing certificates of citizenship even for ghosts?”, she lowered the paper.

It was Park Moon-dae with silver hair.

Park Moon-dae raised his head and stared at the camera without expression.

At that moment the music came on.

[♬♩-♪♬ ♩ ♩ ♩]

While the rhythmic drums and the falling wind chimes bring out the strange feeling of a period drama, the video quickly starts skipping cutscenes.

It seemed that Monocle's Lee Se-jin grinning while flipping gold coins seemed to be briefly reflected, and then Kim Rae-bin in a suit holding a gas lamp passed by in front of the mine.

And Bae Se-jin, with light brown hair, was looking at the strange analog brass instrument panel.

The moment Bae Se-jin looked down through the window, following his gaze, the camera illuminated the train entering the bizarre city.

A city with traditional architectural styles and symbols of the Industrial Revolution was briefly captured, but soon the focus was on the train running over the buildings.

and the next moment.

The train derailed.

Hey hey profit!

As it collides with the building, the roof tiles fall. Golden dust and debris flew.

A foot in a walker protruded from it.

Pod!

In-young kicked off the debris and hung on to the side of the train. Brilliant metal-colored decorations flashed across the island ahead.

[Wow!]

Cha Yu-jin, wearing a reformed military uniform, was clinging to the train while smiling widely. Debris flew behind her.

And the camera moved along the oldest of the many bounty posters that had been sucked into the wreckage.

[100 000 Nyang]

It was about time to recognize the identity of the black figure in the poster.

Suddenly, the camera that was showing the screen shook as if it had been shocked from the outside and then fell.

support position-!

The accompaniment stopped as if it were broken.

With a shaking black background musket slung over his shoulder, Ryu Cheng-wu looked down at the camera with his chin raised.

Like the poster, the eyes shone bright blue.

[…] … .]

The screen disappears.

A song rang out.

-no oh no-oh no-oh

Thirsty hour of thirst

A line of melody.

And with the silence, the subtitles appeared.

[TeSTAR] Immediately after

[Spring out],

the comment section started to be updated like crazy with question marks and tears.

* * *

“After!”

Kim Rae-bin’s personal fan caught his breath when he saw the package that arrived.

Testa’s activity this time only released one title song, so there was no album, but T1 sold related MDs.

Kim Rae-bin’s fan bought lightstick parts and… It was a concept photo book.

The site made and sold everything from bags to hats, but it was her choice because she didn’t want to become a hogu enough to buy everything.

‘The T-one bastards are really amazing.’

I didn’t expect to sell photo books in earnest instead of albums.

Still, of course, I wanted to check the photobook first, but first I had to remove the lightstick decoration parts that were on top.

‘It’s cute, but it’s so cute!’

The golden cogs and pocket watch connected to the pipe were dainty. While tidying it up, she went crazy with the music video.

“Crazy.”

I really couldn’t think of anything else other than that.

Since the first teaser came out, the reaction has been explosive. Of course, it was because of the good video quality, but other reasons were bigger than that.

-Spring Youth! It’s spring youth!

-Spring youth (derails the train)

-Okay… I wanted to express spring, not cherry blossoms, but yellow sand and fine dust

. Because it gave it a mulberry taste.

Still, there were so many people who were angry rather than people who regretted it.

-Traditional style to Yokai? This is unconditionally a worldview hahahah

Of course, that doesn’t mean there weren’t scratchers.

-But I think this will only work if the album is sold, but the sound source is… I don’t know

– T.One has good guts, but it seems like he’s been overpowered in a weird way hahaha – It was a chance to have a male idol popularity, but he kicks his luck People who like trouble changed their words and started to disparage them .

But even that ended the moment the song was released.

-Enjoy today’s permeating senses,

premonition in this moment

What’s up?

The real flavor (come out)

was rhythmic and languid reggae.

It was clearly expected that the performance would be faithfully preserved by mixing the interlude and the bridge with intense drops, but overall it was easy to listen to.

It means that it was a good song to enjoy as a drive song while shaking your body.

‘This skill of catching both rabbits is only the same rabbit, Kim Rae-bin.’

Kim Rae-bin’s fan casually made a rhyme-only infusion and continued to dismantle the delivery service.

But in my head, the reactions I had seen on the Internet were passing by.

The public, who had been waiting for Testa's comeback for the first time, were taken aback by the teaser.

-It looks like

a

movie trailer .

-What is it, the cuties who sold hotteok, why did their hair color become so glitzy? It reminds me of a magical girl transformation hahaha ┗Surprisingly,

their debut song is Magical Boy

┗Hey,

these people could only be seen on social media. washed away

-therefore… I guess this was the 'work' they did in Korea? (Chin-tied emoticon)

-Ahyeon's pomade hair almost stops her breath

-Didn't everyone know that airships fly around and steam locomotives run over buildings in Korea? (Crying and smiling emoticon)

-I can't believe that the winners of that grueling audition program are finally filming such a great video. Support them from Wisconsin☺ -Testa deserves more recognition!

Foreigners who had been introduced through memes and had watched Azusa started posting comments.

It was possible not just in the US, but also because the story of 'something like that happened in the US' itself circulated among KPOP overseas fandoms.

Thanks to this, the music video vomited spirits exceeding 30 million views in 24 hours.

Now, Testa's fans were dripping on the taste of the first team.

'The tour schedule will increase more… .'

Kim Rae-bin's fan drew a bleak future and eventually succeeded in unpacking the photobook from the courier box.

"Whoa."

For reference, there are 4 volumes.

It was because T-One, the cunning pigs of capitalism, used the random photo card system they used for their albums here too… .

If Park Mun-dae knew, it could have been stopped, but he couldn't get it this far because he was in the middle of a crazy schedule.

Kim Rae-bin's personal fan clasped his hands tightly.

'Please Kim Rae-bin!'

She had already searched for an explanation of what kind of photo cards each member had.

First of all, there were a total of 14 types of photo cards, 2 types for each member.

And Rabin Kim took a selfie with a wink and one behind-the-scenes shot of a music video wearing a suit and a hat.

'I prefer the former.'

This is because Kim Rae-bin doesn't take selfies often.

[hello! I am Rabin Kim. While I was working, I thought of Lover so I posted it. (Photo)]

In the early days of debut, it would be explained if there were a lot of cases where there were a lot of pictures of equipment attached to social media like this.

and… If Rabin Kim didn't appear, there was something I wanted him to come out with.

'Silver-haired Park Moon-dae… !'

It was the first time Park Mun-dae dyed his hair in such a cold color. In addition, the neatly trimmed and half-over hairstyle was great!

-Baba Bakmundae What is this?

-Please let me go to the workshop. I have to see that with my own eyes.

-Spring

Parkmundae. The reaction was so hot that it was caught.

'He's definitely someone who knows something.'

She nodded, ignoring the fact that most of the members, who dyed their hair anew or wore colored lenses, were similarly talked about.

And he began to open the photobook vigorously.

'Anyway, if I take out the card, I can't sell it for the right price! I just need one book to be fine!'

Checking the photo card was the priority.

She boldly opened the first photo book and picked up the card that fell in the middle.

"… … !"

The person in the photo… It was Cha Yoo-jin.

“Eight.”

She sighed at the reality that it was neither Kim Rae-bin nor Park Moon-dae, but soon changed her mind.

‘Cha Yu-jin is unconditionally interchangeable!’

It was obvious without seeing that there were overflowing personal fans of Cha Yoo-jin who frantically turned on the light in their eyes and sought exchange.

Moreover, the photo card of Eugene Cha in this music video costume came out seriously well.

Lying on top of a very classic open car with her feet raised, Cha Yoo-jin, grinning, shone in golden light.

There was a magical power that made me scream and want to keep it.

“… … .”

sell or not?

Even she, who had no special feelings for Cha Yu-jin, finally cleared her throat and carefully took the picture.

“no… Well, maybe the kids will come out of the other 3 books.”

Making excuses to herself, she reached for the remaining photobook, but couldn’t shake the strong feeling that the photocard would not be sold.

‘I don’t know if I can buy more.’

More than that, the key was whether or not this music video would appear on a music show as it was.

two days later… No, it just passed midnight, so tomorrow was the first music broadcast.

Recalling the murderous schedule of the first week of idol activity, she pondered.

‘Hmm, he must be in the middle of a last-minute choreography practice by now.’

Unfortunately, it wasn’t as she expected.

It was because at the same time, the members were all worn out and exhausted, huddled together in the practice room and looking at the monitors.

“ruler… Let’s play.”

“yes.”

After finishing their crazy schedule for the past month, they were filming the reaction video for this music video.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 207

If you can’t debut, you’ll get a fatal disease Episode 207

It’s been an eventful month.

-Teacher~ From confirmation of our choreography

-Sorry, but if the lyrics are edited like this, there are a lot of parts that don’t match the rhythm… … .

-For concept photos… The costume came out.

There was a countdown to the activity, but there was an infinite number of things to fix, so later all the staff worked like crazy.

Of course, the peak was the music video.

No matter what I did, I came to the conclusion that I couldn’t finish editing by the date.

‘It was creepy.’

So, we modified the schedule by releasing the music first on Tuesday, the date of our comeback, and then releasing the music video at midnight on Thursday.

At the time, I thought I would lose money, so my appetite was bitter… Surprisingly, this method has produced quite positive results.

‘Thanks to the release of the sound source, it rather settled on the charts without prejudice.’

Steampunk Joseon appearing in a music video is a fun element, but isn't it a friendly element?

If this uniqueness even affects the impression of the sound source, there is a high probability that there will be a flaw in popularity.

However, after turning off the topic with a mysterious teaser, I listened to the sound source separately, and the popularity of the song melted smoothly.

Thanks to this, we are currently going back and forth between the 4th and 5th places on the biggest music charts.

[4th place Spring out / Testa] ▲1

To be honest, I expected to be in the top 10, but it went surprisingly smoothly.

'After going around the stage and performing arts like before, the number of users increases more.'

So this time, I made up my mind and set up quite a few schedules on a team basis for major domestic entertainment shows. Also, to make use of the topic created by reality.

'I guess I'll look forward to it.'

Of course, for a smooth company life in the future… The most important thing is the global response.

For reference, I don't even expect it to be on the Billboard main chart.

'It's not yet that level of overseas recognition.'

In the first place, to grab and aim for Billboard, it should have been released simultaneously in the US on Friday to match the chart and fully reflect the performance for the week immediately after the comeback.

The fact that we couldn't build that infrastructure in 3 weeks… It will be understandable enough.

'Damn it.'

Besides, there is a chance at least if you aim for the album chart, but there is no answer to the song chart unless it is an overseas fandom at the level of VTIC.

Therefore, this time when they are promoting with just one song, Testa's global growth cannot be measured by entering the Billboard charts.

'We focus on proving that we have increased global awareness of Testa.'

The answer is the increase in testa search volume in global search engines and the number of visits by platform country.

And the music video reaction I'm doing now will also be a good WeTube content that drives it.

"Oh, it starts."

"Thumping~"

It was a great attitude for the members to talk hard even with tired eyes.

'Is it because of the settlement?'

The first quarter of this year's settlement amount, which came in a few days ago, exceeded the first settlement amount I received after staying for more than half a year when I debuted.

Bae Se-jin had paid off all the real estate mortgage loans.

Anyway, I looked at the monitor with my hands on the floor as sincerely as I could.

The music video started at the end of the teaser, i.e. the overturned train.

-I…

fancy messy sneaky collapsing

kwakwang!

When the low-pitched rap like narration ends. The train exploded.

And Cha Yoo-jin, who jumped out of the explosion, grinned as she snatched the newspaper that was flying in the air.

It is the old newspaper that ‘Park Moon-dae’ was looking at in the teaser.

“Oh~”

“Are you cool?”

“that’s right!”

While Cha Yoo-jin next to her excitedly asserted her coolness, Cha Yoo-jin on the screen excitedly ran to the city and developed the storyline of the music video.

And the rhythmic and slow introductory melody.

– Relaxing and enjoying the comfortable Driving Mode

I’ve been through a lot Fame Pain

Exploration in a strange city that mixes science fiction and modern Joseon unfolds. In a word, it was close to the old American West style adventure action.

However, I was careful not to appear obsessed with the story too much.

‘It’s a music video after all.’

In other words, it has well-prepared choreographed scenes set in an unrealistic interior of a building or in a wild field with flashes of light.

Also, it was stated that attention should be paid to the distribution of stories.

Cha Yoo-jin broke the first start, but after that, the members appeared one by one for each part and took the baton.

“Why is Sejin wearing a monocle… ?”

“Ah~ I was a gumiho before, right? Why are you mesmerized by the look in your eyes~ Are you showing me something like that?”

“awesome.”

“Huh? Put a little more soul into Moondaemundae!”

“Wow, that’s really cool.”

I fill in the already decided ment in the middle like this. It’s not fun if you just add exclamations.

Of course, I also took a note of exclamation.

“Wow Bae Se-jin hyung!”

“Oh, your acting is always great… !”

“Not so much.”

It was the praise that poured out in the scene where Bae Se-jin pressed the analog instrument panel and the train was restored by rolling the cogs.

“I didn’t have anything in front of me, but it feels like it really exists!”

“that’s right. When Sejin was acting, it was just full of green, everyone.”

It means that he acted in front of a green screen with only a stick for focus.

It seems like they're boasting about their technological prowess, but that's not really the case.

I just didn't have time to build the whole set, so I just chose a CG that could kill time on a budget… .

'That company must have been a hell of a job.'

And even in that situation, he gave a splendid CG scene to the guy who would act without agitation, and that was Bae Se-jin.

"… I'm glad it came out well, and I'll do my best in the future."

"and!"

Bae Se-jin's face turned red and he nodded at the camera.

Well, since public opinion is favorable to him recently, it seems that he has become more comfortable.

The music video reaction continued that way.

"Look at that! Kim Rae-bin can't move!"

"no! I'm a goblin, so the director required me to do such a static movement for mysteries!"

Soon after, a meaningful scene in which I, or Park Moon-dae, and Kim Rae-bin meet in a coal mine passes by, raising both the song and the scene.

From languid reggae to intense and deep Moombahton.

-Actually, I know what

I lack, what I need is because, going into the second half of the time of thirst

that burns my senses,

a specific sense of purpose is revealed in the story.

The derailment of the train in the music video teaser was aimed at monsters who came to the city to receive a ‘Certificate of Citizenship’.

So, the members try to catch this terrorist in order to obtain citizenship for various reasons.

And as everyone who saw the teaser would have guessed, the terrorist is Ryu Chung-woo.

-no oh no-oh no~oh

Thirsty and thirsty time

Soon, the members on the screen confronted Ryu Chung-woo, who looked down at him with an overbearing face, in the middle of the night.

“Oh oh!”

The scenes with cool CG were not overdone, but they were plausible.

It could have been like a low-budget B-grade movie, but it was worth the money spent.

And it was quite interesting that there were multiple interpretations of this scene.

For reference, this was a strong mainstream.

– A metaphor for discrimination!

The basis is this.

-Members who appeared as powerful and mysterious beings in ‘The Parade’ must run to be recognized as members within the boundaries of human society.

-It is a discourse on discrimination that has naturally melted into the background of the era of modernity, where sufficient discussion and awareness of human rights have not yet been achieved.

– The story line is arranged similarly to ‘Arrow’, so the subject consciousness stands out more.

-In addition, ‘Cheongwoo Ryu’, who eventually realized that he was a monster in ‘Arrival’, this time denied the citizenship of the ghost and became a terrorist.

-This is the emotion of discrimination that comes from self-loathing.

-In other words, Testa’s music video reflects the criticism of discrimination.

To be honest, I didn’t think it was this big, but… In any case, it was surprising to notice immediately what was considered.

Of course, it seemed that it was used like this in the end.

[How can you compare a monster like this? Foreigners shocked by Testa’s amazing music video!]

[A counterattack against Asian racism in the US? Testa’s new song review]

I’m filming this video so late that I’ve already skimmed through the public’s reaction and analysis… I think of myself

Anyway, at the climax of the song, the battle between the members and Ryu Chung-woo is implied, and an intense climax choreography enters.

Oh, that’s my part.

-Enjoying the permeating sense of the day,

premonition of the gaze at this moment,

Spring out

Without notice,

the cuts of Ryu Chung-woo, who lifts the ebony long gun and shoots it one turn, entered the appropriate parts in succession.

“Whoa!”

“Hyung-nim, you’re so cool, aren’t you?”

“It’s like a real real Boss! What a badass!”

“Um, is that so? haha.”

Liu Qingyu smiled shyly. In fact, at the time of filming, he seemed to be looking for a shooting hobby, as if he liked it quite a bit… let’s not talk for a while “Yeah~ But it’s a little like that because it’s our 6:1 drawing. Right?”

“no! I like to win! We just need to win!”

“… … .”

I want you to edit this.

The music video has more waves and twists than previous songs, so it catches the dramatic choreography well, and in the end, it ended with the monsters subduing Ryu Chung-woo.

However, a grinning Cha Yoo-jin comes forward and interludes that are not in the sound source are inserted for a while.

[…] … .]

Cha Yu-jin puts the citizenship application form into Ryu Cheng-wu’s hand.

-Bite it and enjoy it

Now Spring out

Swallow

the stinging heart to your heart’s content

The music returns and the ending ends like that.

The members added comments as if they were seeing it for the first time quite naturally.

“Oh~”

“I think it came out great… !”

“I was amazed at how well it was implemented as per Conti!”

“Thank you, director~ Love you Lover for watching the music video~”

“I hope it will be a hit.”

I know for sure that Testa has already updated its own record for music video views, but out of courtesy, let’s add a comment like this.

[Woah!]

[Wahhaha!]

After watching the cookie video showing the people who got citizenship running around excitedly for a few seconds, I think I chose the right amount.

“Then everyone, we will work hard this time as well, so please give us a lot of interest and love.”

“See you soon~”

With the greeting, the camera turned off.

And the moment the staff packed their equipment, all the members returned in an instant with exhausted looks.

“after… … .”

“We tomorrow… Can you stay awake?”

The current time is 1:30 in the morning.

I had to go to sleep right away considering that I was leaving the shop tomorrow at 4:00 am, but considering the final choreography practice, it was confirmed all night.

“you can do it.”

“yes.”

Well, there’s no other way, so I have no choice but to do it… At least it would be nice to reduce the travel time.

‘Isn’t it about time to change the lodging?’

I want to move my dorm to the center of Seoul.

Looking at the amount of settlement, I think I can get that much investment.

‘Should I report the results of this activity?’

In order to receive the best possible location and conditions, I decided to consider the timing carefully and put that thought aside. Because I’m too busy.

But the very next day.

This topic immediately surfaced.

“Our testers, how about moving to a better place?”

“yes?”

Of course, it was not a charity project in which the agency voluntarily paid for the singers who looked tired.

The chief manager said with a tearful smile as if on purpose.

“no… Because complaints keep coming in to that apartment.”

ah.

“There are those crazy kids, they just keep trying to break into me, so the management office says they’re having a hard time anymore… .”

Yeah. I wondered why this problem didn’t come out.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 208

If I can't debut, I'll get sick to death Episode 208

Actually, while doing group activities, I experienced quite a few unusual invasions of privacy.

-That crazy taxi was deliberately trying to buy, right?

– There… You keep trying to hit me from behind… .

-Wow~ Testa! Sign me here and take a picture!

-yes? I'm sorry, but this place… .

-I'm just going to do it because it's my nephew.

In the worst cases, from intentionally trying to have an accident, to in the weak cases, pushing in while waiting for a music show.

It is also true that it was not an unexpected side effect, but rather a job shortcoming, and I was complacent.

As befits the information age, there seemed to be more cases of people trying to hack electronic devices than people who came directly.

Once at the dorm, it was fine.

'There seemed to be no room for me in the studio situation.'

It's because the accommodation is a very secure apartment.

There would have been no other option than trespassing on an old studio I had roughly used as a temporary base.

Maybe Bae Se-jin also felt the urge to buy a property with good security after moving into this accommodation.

But now that seems to be the limit.

“Did you break through?”

“yes. Ugh. He said he bought a courier and entered the parking lot, but the process of getting caught again… .”

“Oh, how did you get discovered… … .”

The chief manager sighed and answered the nervous Kim Rae-bin.

“It was a diversion operation!”

“… ?!”

“All the kids caught infiltrating the CCTV room of the management office and picking blind spots were blown up and dragged away… … Ugh I am.”

“Eww.”

“… … .”

It’s amazing.

It’s not some kind of mafia, but you bought an employee and even carried out a diversion operation.

It was very organized, so the tenacity and passion were a waste. But it wasn’t surprising.

‘A similar number of cases came in several times when Datapal did it.’

It was a kind of request to stick with someone all day and leave data.

The pay was quite strong, but I avoided it because it was just right to draw a red line.

Anyway, after seeing this, a recommendation came from the apartment management office and the residents' meeting, which they could not stand anymore.

"Originally, it was hard to drive out the campers in front of the complex, but now you say it's difficult… ."

"… Mmm."

In a word, 'It's your problem, so try to do something yourself'.

It is a situation that has no choice but to be embarrassed because it is a common sense request.

Besides, it is dangerous to just ignore it because the company doesn't want to care. Things will get bigger the moment apartment residents report it to the media.

[Testa Accommodation Controversy… Apartment residents complain of fear due to noise and intrusion]

The title of the article is already thrilling.

'As expected, the only answer is moving.'

Rather than investing money and manpower into this apartment, the company would have chosen a director who could make a media play like 'I moved the accommodation to a better place'.

Still, telling the relevant situation in detail like this is more than just an explanation.

Rather than wiping your mouth and saying 'I'll move you to a good place~', it's easier to ask for cooperation if you scare me like this.

In the future like this… In dealing with stalkers.

‘In that sense, he’s definitely more competent than the first manager… .’

Hmm, but it would be better to add a new road manager with good humanity.

It is a group with a lot of guys who put their bodies into work. As a manager, we needed someone who was kind and quick-witted.

“So, it would be nice to move to a bigger and better place, how would it be?”

“song! great!”

“wait a minute. Um, would you like to raise your hand for someone who wants to change lodgings?”

A few people, including Cha Yu-jin, immediately raised their hands at Ryu Cheng-wu’s words.

Instead of raising his hand, Big Sejin smiled and waved it like a stretcher.

“Ah, moving is definitely nice~ But where are you going?”

“I’m still checking the candidates, but one thing is for sure, we should go to a place with better security and better location than here!”

“Right~ Ah, are you going to the nearest shop? I agree!”

It means the opposite unless the shop in Cheongdam-dong is close to the center of Seoul.

“Haha I see! Oh, would you like to see the candidate for yourself? I’ll send it to you!”

“yes!”

Soon, the file appeared in the messenger’s work room. I immediately clicked through the files and ran through the candidates.

‘It’s fine.’

Of course, you wouldn’t know unless you went there yourself, but once you looked at the location and name, everything was pretty good.

‘There are many places where celebrities have already moved in… .’

for a moment. why am i here

At that moment, the chief manager picked up the ‘here’.

“Actually, we want to push SV Village a little harder, but Testa has a name value! I think it’s okay to enter that much~ I’m delivering it so diligently!”

Can not be done.

“… How about a place closer to the station? Endrefelis or… .”

“Ah, I’m taking a meaningful look at that place again!”

The chief manager deftly swerved. Seon Ah-hyun asked from the side.

“I don’t like long rides in silent cars… ?”

“… It’s like that.”

“That’s right!”

no.

I only know who has accommodations in ‘SV Village’.

‘It’s a VTIC accommodation.’

Of course, it is said that everyone has become independent and famous because the annual leave is full, but there is no need to give the cause of being a neighbor.

‘Well, judging from what he’s doing, he doesn’t seem to have any intention of leaving the house.’

I don’t know why they send pictures of dogs lounging around in the garden, but I hope they just live as they are.

But since you don’t know what people are doing, you want to avoid it.

“Then, I will make sure to organize your opinions and deliver them to you!”

“yes!”

The meeting ended neatly, and it seemed that the director would move quickly around the end of this activity.

‘There won’t be any problems.’

I thought so, but the problem was that this news leaked elsewhere.

* * *

-I’m moving from island to islandㅠ E Fellow

-X’s are suddenly expensive

ㄴㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋ Now, the part where you can complain about the pain of invasion of privacy?

-
Hahahah

dorm

ㅠㅠ

Twin Homma turned off the capture that she was looking at.

This office worker who runs the twin home of Lee Se-jin and Park Moon-dae was browsing social media during an intermission. Then I found this article.

[Testa regular soldiers are disgusting]

Someone captured and uploaded their private account.

‘Why do you dare to drag something like this over the water?’

‘Looks like he wants to put on a candle during his active period.’

The office worker stopped thinking about the obvious dragon line-VTIC fan, One Curve fan, etc.

Because it wasn’t a bad atmosphere.

Testa’s activities this time were cruising smoothly.

There was a lot of influx of fans, but this is because the weakening of popularity, which had gradually become fixed as ‘their own world’ after ‘Azusa’, stopped thanks to reality.

‘That’s why it’s more disturbing, right?’

In addition, the two picks of the twin homers were on a winning streak, especially succeeding in adding new images.

Not only Lee Se-jin, who wears different types of monocles on each music show, but Park Moon-dae’s silver hair was also very popular.

-Lick the nib in the music video, but in the fancam, they lick my heart and eat the heart of the person who bites them

. Is here

└ It’s not Tibet with silver hair,

it’s not even a personal social media account, it’s been a runaway without seeing anything even on the WeTube direct cam.

‘As expected, it was good to catch Park Moon-dae together.’

If you make and sell season greetings with this amount, you will be able to cover the cost of your activities. Twin Homma satisfactorily accessed their SNS.

What do you mean by sasaeng? It is an issue that will be wiped away if a new rice cake is opened again.

To put it bluntly, the ones he caught were not the ones to be fished for by sasaengs, so there would be no further controversy.

‘For now, Sejin Lee is certain.’

Twin Homma is convinced by this floor time for many years, but the idol Lee Se-jin was never the one to sympathize with the stalker.

A person who is good at making ends meet and who is good at distinguishing between construction and construction is clearly an ambitious person.

‘Park Moondae? Absolutely not this way either.’

He was a guy who would wonder why he was living like a stalker here.

He seems to be weak to people who secretly like him, but when he sees his self-image astounding, he seems to be smart, so he’ll take care of himself.

The office worker finished his review neatly and continued to correct by gulp down the zero-calorie soda.

And it was the moment when we uploaded the two shots of the two that we didn't solve at the last concert to SNS.

"what?"

-Pervenim, have you seen this? ㅠㅠ

The link to the internet bulletin board from an anonymous account I didn't know was unusual.

[Testa's ability to squeak away]

Twin Homma checked the contents right away.

In the article, a GIF file was attached of a scene in which a large human attached to the testa and pointed the camera at it, and the member slashed it with his elbow and forearm.

And that member… It was Ryu Cheng-wu!

"… … ??"

Isn't this guy like this too?

He was an athlete, so he doesn't get into trouble, but I thought he was the type who mastered it, but just looking at the scene, he looked threatening, almost like hitting someone.

The best comment was also a fuss with similar content.

-Hey Ryu Chung-wu, did you have that kind of personality?

-Honestly, those bastards are cheap even if they get hit hahaha But Ryu Chung-woo is a bit broken

-What the hell did Chung-woo do wrong? It's scary really

. -Does he look cool? After all, people have to exercise.

Opposition and recommendation came and went dizzy, and all sorts of words came and went.

“Is it strange?”

First of all, the twin homers couldn’t let go of their reluctance even though they thought ‘so that’s the case’ because they weren’t the two they had chosen.

Ryu Chung-woo is not an idiot, and there is a reason why he would do that to the guard and manager when there was a camera.

‘It must be the magic of the angle.’

And sure enough, it wasn’t long before other cameras and testimonies that filmed the situation poured in.

-That bastard broke through security and almost threw a camera at the kids. It would have been dangerous if Ryu hadn’t done

that

. I don’t even know why the word “Cheongwoo” brought him to the national university and seeing him arguing with him made me feel like I was going crazy. Even the twin homies could understand why Chungwoo Ryu’s personal fans, who weren’t normally very aggressive, came out and vomited their anger.

Because I was slapped in the face out of nowhere.

And I was suddenly suspicious of the situation.

‘Who hit the job?’

It was the correct answer.

There was a group message room that worked hard to recreate the controversy and the speed of the data pal hired for a good salary.

And giving the datapal a daily wage… They were the ones who broke through the security of Testa's apartment.

Their eyes were blinded to the fact that Testa was moving to a place with strict security.

Of course, Testa's company couldn't help but talk about it as well.

* * *

"Are you insane? Are you out of your mind?"

"sorry."

What's breaking right now is the Testa member… is, of course, not the first manager.

"No, what if you avoid it alone? Why are you getting paid, bastard?"

I am hearing all sorts of verbal abuse saying that I was bitten by a cub that was rushing at me as if I was going to hit it with a camera.

'I might be a bit sarcastic by taking it out on my own, but… It's not like that.'

The manager is not a master of martial arts, but just an office worker, so there is no need for him to become an adult by killing himself.

So, this is a performance.

"sorry. I will pay more attention to security in the future!"

It was to prepare for the case that the artist under the agency is upset by the lack of security by turning the arrow of criticism to the first manager.

'Looks like I have time.'

In fact, it wasn't that there was a shortage of security personnel, it was just a special situation, but they were good at trying to appease them.

There are a few members who don’t know what to do in this situation right now.

“It’s okay.”

“I think it’s okay if you don’t blame the manager… .”

“Thank you phew!”

The chief manager continued with a relieved face.

“You don’t have to worry too much, Chungwoo-nim! Everything was explained, and there were many reactions that said it was cool in the first place.”

“… … .”

Liu Qingyu smiled bitterly.

Because he was a former national team member and had a mild image, he must have suffered a blow this time.

It’s easy for the puppies who were originally looking at it, pretending to be shocked for no reason.

“Do not worry!”

“I see.”

But I think it would have been better if the manager didn’t talk behind the scenes.

“But it’s okay if you don’t do this in the future! The company should take care of these things, but when the artist comes forward, it often happens like this… .”

Between the words that sounded like self-reproach, there was a strange nuance of ‘why did you do that for no reason’.

‘Why do I needlessly do that?’

The moment I thought about whether I should intervene and respond, Liu Cheng-wu answered first.

In an unusually sharp tone.

“… So who said you had to let it go?”

“… … !”

“No, not that… It means that avoiding it was enough! Because there are many eyes to see… … .”

“… … .”

Ryu Cheng-wu didn’t answer for quite a while, then answered with just one word.

“All right.”

It was a tired voice.

And throughout the entire schedule that day, Ryu Chung-woo didn’t say anything except at official events.

‘Damn it.’

It was a clear sign of burnout.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 209

If you can't debut, you'll get a fatal disease Episode 209

There was no freezer in the car.

Not the temperature, but the atmosphere.

'It's X.'

It was because Liu Cheng-yu was not particularly angry with anyone or was unfair, but he was never in a normal state.

Let's see what happened in the music broadcast waiting room a few hours ago.

-Hyung, eat those snacks again! Eat a lot!

-okay.

It was over.

Ryu Cheng-wu sat on the sofa without making any gestures and moved only the stress ball in his hand.

Since then, no one has touched Liu Cheng-wu and has been living quietly.

There is filming from dawn tomorrow, but it's been a while since I can go back to the dorm before dinner, so the guys who are obviously in a good mood are keeping their mouths shut.

me? Am I not the original talker? I'm just watching public opinion on my smartphone.

‘It’s roughly sorted out.’

[Direct cam from Ryu Chung-woo’s different angle]

[Ryu Chung-wu didn’t hit XXX]

After the explanation was all spread, the atmosphere calmed down with words like ‘then it’s like that’.

Still, those who claim to ‘break up’ inevitably pop out… this is unavoidable

In the first place, the reason why Ryu Cheong-woo’s condition became that way is probably not because it became a controversy on the Internet.

For reference, this atmosphere was the same as entering the dorm.

“Go in first.”

“yes!”

As soon as the meal was finished, Liu Qingyu entered the room. It seemed that he was thinking of going to bed right away.

widely.

As soon as the door closed and Ryu Cheng-wu disappeared, people sighed in worry or smiled bitterly.

Bae Se-jin muttered sadly.

“… To be honest, he was angry.”

“that’s right!”

“Cheongwoo-hyung, was he really offended? You did a good job so that the Me members didn’t get hurt… .”

Seon Ah-hyun exclaimed anxiously.

Anyway, everyone lowered their voices because of Ryu Cheong-woo who went to sleep.

“Well, from the company’s point of view, they just avoid it on their own, so why did they push it? It must have been a lot of pressure when it came out~”

Keun Se-jin sarcastically pretended to be sorry. You knew it.

I said as I brought my bowl to the sink.

“Cheongwoo-hyung has been too good to the company.”

If I had acted like an asshole, I would have just quietly repeated “I’m sorry,” but since he had a good personality and a sense of responsibility, he crossed the line.

“Why don’t you just use this opportunity to let Chungwoo-hyung rest? If you need something or have a problem, talk to the company right away.”

Most of them nod their heads in sympathy.

“You are right.”

“… okay!”

Bae Se-jin looks very conscious that he is the eldest when Ryu Chung-woo is absent. I want to tell you that it is a waste of stamina.

“Wouldn’t it be okay after resting… ?”

“you’re right. It’s basically a way to rejuvenate while taking a break. During this activity period, I will have to assist Chungwoo-hyung a lot.”

“okay.”

“Now, let’s go in as well~”

The short discussion concluded with ‘Let’s not burden Ryu Chung-woo from now on’.

It was common sense and caring teamwork, but in fact, it did not eliminate the root cause.

‘There is a limit to going like this.’

I don’t expect any of the managers to cleanly do what Ryu Chung-woo has been doing.

The chief manager is puzzled why he is telling him what to do with the load, and he will pass it on to the first manager, and he is… It’s obvious.

I’m sure at some point, I’ll see the angle of passing it on to Ryu Cheong-woo again, but if I do wrong at that time, a real mine will explode.

‘It’s fortunate if Ryu Cheng-wu is so mad that it ends with a single blow.’

So, what should I do before that? Whether it’s changing managers or making them come to their senses.

‘I’ll have to check how much Ryu Chung-woo’s mental recovery is.’

It would be difficult if a big sudden accident happened while I was active. 400,000 mobilization status ailments are alive and well.

So once… Let’s take a closer look at Ryu Chung-woo’s state tomorrow. Even if it looks fine, don’t be offended.

I fell asleep with that conclusion, but I knew right away that I didn’t even have to come to a conclusion the next day.

“I’m going to stop by the shop before today’s entertainment shoot, do you have anything else to say?”

“no.”

Because Ryu Cheng-wu’s condition was the same as yesterday.

I even looked at the first manager's face with eyes that looked at things and passed by.

'scary!'

'quiet.'

Does this guy have this volume even if he lowers his voice?

I took off Cha Yu-jin, who was shouting into someone else's ear, and got into the car. And deliberately sat close to Liu Cheng-wu.

'Let's see the liver.'

Ryu Chung-woo did not come out particularly uncooperative or gave an X-like answer. It's just a contrast because he's usually so slovenly.

'… In fact, I don't think there's anything special about me.'

Thinking like that makes me a little nervous.

Anyway, I saw the opportunity and naturally talked to Liu Cheng-wu around the time I got off.

"I'm going to buy you a drink, what would you like to drink?"

"are you okay."

It doesn't look good at all, but I know what.

"COKE! COKE!"

I only received the support of Cha Yoo-jin, who strongly advocates for carbonated drinks.

And the team members' 'It was a courageous challenge!' I got some attention, but… Well, this isn't even a challenge. It's just a build-up.

and the next day.

“Cheongwoo hyung.”

Without a word, I handed him some fresh fruit juice.

“are you okay.”

“You think you supply glucose. Because we couldn’t even sleep for three hours.”

“… … .”

Ryu Cheng-wu didn’t have the energy to argue, so he just picked up a drink and drank it.

And he opened his eyes.

“… ! Too sweet.”

It will. I asked for as much sugar and syrup as possible.

I actively tried the Sugar High method I used on Cha Yu-jin during < Azusa >. It’s simple and stimulating, so the hurdles are low.

“So it was delicious.”

“… hmm.”

Ryu Cheng-wu eventually finished drinking.

It’s probably annoying to say anything more, and he doesn’t seem to have the will to exercise self-control to control his diet.

However, as the speed of drinking increased, the blood color returned to his face, so it seemed that the goal was successful.

I asked one more question.

“How are you feeling? I think I’m a bit tired this time.”

“okay. a little… I also feel that I am less able to recover from fatigue.”

“Yes.”

Was it because of burnout exhaustion?

For the first time in the past few days, Liu Cheng-wu’s words come out smoothly. It seems that the power of sugar has risen in an instant.

“Still, high-fructose corn syrup seems to work! It feels energized!”

“Um, yes.”

Even when Kim Rae-bin couldn’t stand it and interrupted with a relieved face, the usual mild reaction came out.

Does it work better than expected?

I touched my chin.

‘… He seems to be the type to relieve mental stress through physical action.’

It’s not just about taking a break, it’s like the type where your head gets clear when your body gets a good stimulus and gets refreshed.

“hmm.”

Annoying but nothing special

‘Ryu Cheng-wu has a debt.’

I picked up my smartphone and searched for a place.

* * *

In the afternoon of the next day, we filmed a weekend variety show where if you misspell the lyrics of a memorable hit song, you will automatically dive into the pool.

It means that I bought it without buying it.

“Whoops!”

“You won’t let me go!”

“No, what are you doing after calling our testers? MC TongTong!”

In the end, without anyone skipping, they were soaked in water and only got on the car after being baptized with towels and dryers.

There was no green grass.

‘I want to go back like this and take a half-body bath…’ … .’

But even after that, there was a schedule.

It’s not a fixed schedule, but it’s relatively free because the term is set arbitrarily.

It’s W Live.

At least, it was packed in empty time, so if you are too tired, you can adjust the amount and content sufficiently.

However, this time, instead of going comfortably in the dorm, we agreed with the members to hold each other and take pictures.

Except for Ryu Chung-woo, of course.

“An hour later?”

“Yes, I will move~”

Testa briefly closed her eyes as she moved to the place she had been invited to in advance.

Ryu Cheng-wu, who would normally have asked where he was going, fell asleep without a word.

That’s why Nom gets more flustered when he arrives at the set after a while.

“Here… .”

The members surrounded Ryu Chung-woo, who was surprised, and smiled and opened their arms to introduce the place.

“Today’s W Live location is the shooting range~”

“Jan-Jan-Jan!”

“… !!”

A large-scale air gun shooting range in the middle of Seoul.

This is the place I searched for the day before.

“Hyung, shooting seems to be fun, but these days we don’t have time for such serious hobbies~ I wanted you to enjoy it at least like this!”

“Enjoy! play!”

“… … .”

Ryu Cheng-wu’s face looked like he had been beaten.

But soon, a hint of a faint impression was evident on his face.

“… thank you guys It will be fun.”

“Hi-Hi.”

You seem a little thrilled.

It seemed to work well as expected.

The caring mind that had been submerged under the water for several days finally began to come out of Liu Chengwu’s mouth.

“You must be very tired right now, are you okay? It must be hard to do something so active again tonight… .”

Bae Se-jin avoided her gaze.

“… When I saw it while filming the music video, I agreed because it looked fun. Everyone wanted to do it, so don’t get me wrong.”

“That’s right. I think it will be fun… !”

“Haha yes. okay.”

“Hmm hmm.”

It’s a good idea, and he pretends to be reasonably rational for a guy who excitedly agreed to it first.

“Then, pair up two by two and defeat Ryu Cheng-wu! Let’s go to W Live with this topic!”

“I can’t watch you! No mercy!! I win!”

Liu Qingyu smiled for the first time in a while.

“Are you okay? A team of three can do it.”

“Wow bro, you ignore us so much.”

For reference, it is revealed in just one hour that it was not ignorance but a cold face of reality.

“Oops!”

Let me just say that Bae Se-jin and Kim Rae-bin’s team sank with a double score with Ryu Cheong-woo.

-
Hahahah

hahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahaha
hahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahaha

–

–

–

–

And Ryu Cheong-wu flew more and more as time passed.

“omg.”

“… That’s it.”

The spectacle of the former gold medalist in archery going wild among ordinary people is likely to remain a source of laughter for fans… .

“Since Chungwoo-hyung used a firearm once in a music video, you should also consider that you have a bit of an advantage!”

“… They say it’s a musket and this is a rifle, so they’re different types.”

“omg.”

“The staff said that the rifle was born after the musket was improved… !”

“also! This is absolutely not the defeat of Bae Se-jin hyung and me, but the result of advancing to the end… .”

“Oh~ another double score!”

“oh my god.”

Regardless of whether or not this joke-like sound continued, I silently fired the gun.

Tattang!

Even if it wasn't until Ryu Chung-woo, I think it was good. As proof of that, it is because Seon Ah-hyun and I caught up with Ryu Chung-woo the most.

-Oh, this place is a little cool? Hahaha

-It's a little bit

-When is the testa army going? Hurry up ha ha ha ha ha ha ha ha

– ㅠㅠㅠㅠ Look at the atmosphere.

As a place is a place, there was a bit of military aggro, but anyway, the W live ended quite successfully with laughter and thrills at the same time.

"See you again~"

"I will come often!"

And with the usual closing remarks, everyone, including those involved, went back to exhaustion.

"under."

"I have no regrets… ."

"fun! I'll do it one more time!"

Oh, except for Cha Yujin.

In any case, the idols were given some free time during the interlude when the staff was cleaning up the scene.

It was then that Liu Cheng-wu moved.

"Drink some of this."

“thank you.”

Perhaps because he enjoyed shooting and won the competition, he got better and bought drinks for the number of people at a nearby convenience store.

Then, he stood next to me as I received the can and started to throw words insinuatingly.

“Ahyeoni says that you asked me to come here.”

Someone else had to say that.

Before I could answer anything, Liu Chengyu finished his speech concisely.

“thank you. … much better.”

“… … .”

I opened the drink he offered me. The sound of carbonation rising was cool.

“Are you cool inside?”

“okay.”

That’s it.

I silently gulped down my zero calorie drink. Ryu Cheng-wu opened his plastic bottle and continued talking calmly.

“Actually, it wasn’t a big deal… It was strangely exhausting.”

“… … .”

“Is it because it reminds me of when I quit archery?”

Are there even stories like this?

It seems that the active medicine was great than I thought.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 210

Episode 210 Ryu Cheng-

wu continued to speak in a not particularly heavy tone.

“When I first learned about the aftereffects, I thought it would be manageable. Everyone said that if I rehabilitated, I would be fine.”

“… … .”

“The doctor said there was a possibility, so I kept going… It had no effect.”

Like a habit, Liu Cheng-wu clenched one of his hands into a fist and then opened it.

“Possibilities are just possibilities… It’s a situation that can’t be escaped or recovered… .”

“… … .”

“Anyway, that’s why I was mad at the company for no reason. I want to know what will happen if someone gets hurt, but I also want to do something useless.”

Was that the cause of the exhaustion?

As it overlapped with the days of rehabilitation that were fruitless, I must have thought ‘what am I doing right now’.

‘… It must have been.’

Since he was so overworked, he must have been more discouraged.

I was a bit conflicted, and then answered after emptying my drink.

“You’ve never done anything stupid.”

“okay?”

“yes. Everyone was very helpful. … Me too.”

“… … ! okay? Haha, I don’t think I did anything special for you.”

No, you are an amazing personality just because you didn’t get angry like me when I behaved like an X.

If things got worse then… It could have been a sudden death due to a status ailment by now.

“Oh, maybe then? um no you are not good enough You said it back then too. I was like that when it was confirmed that I couldn’t recover.”

Ryu Cheng-wu laughed.

“It wasn’t really a joke. Angry at the doctor… On the day of the selection, it really embarrasses me to think about it.”

I’m not really curious, but it’s time to ask anyone, so let’s talk.

“What did you do?”

“I broke my bow.”

“… !!”

Wow this kid… The character is not normal.

A normal archery bow isn’t something that breaks, but it must have been quite a piece of shit.

Of course, it would be foolish to answer as you feel.

“It happened because I didn’t hit anyone.”

“is it? haha! Yeah, I broke one for practice.”

Liu Qingyu smiled with a much cooler face.

I don’t know if it’s okay to cool off with something like this, but… Let’s leave it alone.

Still, as if he had come to his senses, he added words full of sociality.

“Oh sorry. It may have been a bit uncomfortable for you to hear… .”

It seems to mean that it makes me think of the time when I gave a damn to Ryu Cheng-wu.

“it’s okay. I don’t really care anymore I am truly sorry.”

“Because it’s okay.”

Did I tell you to treat your worries as bigger worries?

After looking at the tasted status window, it is only safe to confirm the ‘truth’ that has already passed.

However, Ryu Chung-wu fiddled with his plastic bottle and threw a word as if it came out without knowing it.

“Um, it’s Moondae.”

“yes.”

“Actually, there’s something that I’ve had on my mind before… .”

“… ? yes.”

Liu Qingyu frowned.

“Is your memory okay?”

“… !!”

“I thought it would be a good idea to see an expert on that matter.”

A story came out that I couldn’t have imagined.

To be honest, I almost forgot that I was using the setting of ‘I can’t remember the past well, but it’s slowly coming to mind’.

I mean, there are so many incidents.

‘… Looking at it like this, there’s no such thing as setting up a last-ditch drama.’

In any case, it means that I did not expect that the excuses I had spat out before would suddenly hit me.

And Ryu Cheng-wu let out a chilling sound.

“You’ve never been to see your parents, look at pictures… I don’t think I’ve ever talked about it.”

“… … .”

“It’s already been over a year and a half since we’ve been living in the dorm, so you might have heard it casually.”

“… hmm.”

I brain-rolled quickly.

“I have very few memories of my family. It’s not something I really want to find in a hurry.”

“I see.”

“yes. I’m just happy with it now.”

“Um, yes.”

Liu Cheng-wu crumpled the plastic bottle and tidied it up, then inhaled and exhaled.

“that’s right. I like now too.”

I asked while drawing a picture of Ryu Cheng-wu’s own refutation.

“You said you were tired?”

“I can’t seem to get tired of anything. It is important to manage well.”

okay. That’s right.

“To be honest, I was dubious when < Azusa > came out, but I am grateful that it turned out much better than I imagined.”

“It is.”

Apart from the stress, Testa’s move was a surprising success.

Of course, I knew Azusa would do well.

“Trying not to get used to it.”

“… … .”

That’s great. Mindset is healthy for once.

I chuckled.

“Still, like these few days, you only do what idols should do. You don’t even have to do what the company has to do.”

“Haha what… Since I was the leader, I tried to work hard.”

At that moment, Cha Yoo-jin, who had finally updated the highest score, heard a shout from the other side.

“WOOOOOW!!”

“Be quiet, fool! It’s already close to midnight, but noise pollution… .”

“No noise! We are alone here!”

“The residents near the building… .”

“doesn’t exist!”

“there is!”

I mumbled with sincerity in my heart.

“… To be honest, you seem to be playing the role of a leader enough just to handle them.”

“Mmm.”

I can’t deny it.

“It just seems to be fine. At this rate, the manager will forget why he gets his salary.”

When I added a word, like a celebrity who is abusing power, Ryu Cheng-wu burst into laughter.

“haha! OK got it.”

Then, he pushed his clenched hand out to the side.

“Let’s do better in the future.”

“yes.”

He lightly bumped his fist into the back of his hand.

It’s a bit shriveled, but it has a mulberry taste.

“We are done organizing~”

“Yeah! I’ll move to the Testa car!”

That day, Ryu Cheng-wu returned to his dorm with his normal appearance moderately restored.

“Eugene, go in and sleep. It’s a music room tomorrow.”

“yes!”

Even Cha Yoo-jin was moved and listened well.

All the members congratulated themselves by doing things like raising their thumbs with faces that said, “The shooting range is a really great idea.”

“It’s also Mundae. Tibetan fox, her eyes that see through everyone’s psychology are just… … .”

“tight.”

And it’s a story that everyone slept soundly, albeit for a short time.

The best came out the next day.

This is because the first manager, who sensed that Ryu Cheng-wu’s atmosphere was suddenly relaxed, immediately reached out.

“Cheongwoo, don’t you guys have any special messages?”

Liu Qingyu smiled faintly and replied.

“well?”

“… … !?”

“I don’t know either. I think you can ask the members directly.”

It was over.

Ryu Cheng-wu stretched out and got into the car, and the manager followed him with a slap on his face.

It was only a few days ago that the chief manager broke up with him, so he wouldn't be able to complain to Ryu Cheng-wu for nothing.

'Is this enough?'

I can buy time until I find someone who is good at work.

And on the Internet, which I opened after a while, the bullshit about Ryu Cheong-woo hitting a person went in, and the topic switched to a shooting scene instead.

-As expected, male idols raised by Taereung -Is this what it is? -Aren't archery teams not human after all?

-I was impressed with his new career path as an idol

.

Big Se-jin, who peeked at the screen with his head out, deliberately praised Ryu Cheng-wu. Liu Qingyu smiled shyly.

"I was just doing it for fun."

"no! Watching yesterday's shooting, I expected Chungwoo-hyung's status to rise, of course, but that's it."

"It was really cool… !"

The guys who are relieved that Ryu Cheng-wu's mood has been released pour out compliments like a waterfall.

And it seems that Sejin paid attention to some of the comments during the reaction. A question came up.

“Come to think of it, how did hyung-nim decide to become an idol?”

“Ana?”

Liu Qingyu smiled vaguely.

“Well, actually, my parents recommended it.”

“wow!”

“Your parents?”

“Um, to them, they keep saying that I’ve been good at dancing and singing since I was young… It just started as a hobby.”

It seems that the new career path has been to encourage him to leave the house after quitting archery to get him out of the house.

“You? I’m especially curious about how Eugene became an idol.”

“Someone I don’t know talked to me!”

“When the beat submitted to the contest was accepted and went up to Seoul, the contract was signed… .”

The topic in the car has returned to ‘why did I become an idol’ before I knew it.

And finally, the question came back to me.

“Then what about the door?”

me?

It doesn’t matter if I answer this honestly… I’m a little embarrassed.

“… I was casted by the writer of < Azusa > at a karaoke room.”

“really??”

“Wow, I thought that was cut, but it turned out to be real!”

The car got noisy for a while. The theme seems to be ‘how talented Park Moon-dae is’.

“Then, you’re not an aspiring student, you just started as a birthday boy and ended up like that?”

“I think your talent is amazing… ! Of course, Mundae worked hard!”

“… That’s great.”

“Um, thank you.”

I think it would be okay if I brought up the status window.

Anyway, remembering the moment when I first came into this body, somehow it feels new.

In fact, without the stat increase given by the status window or the character selection, based on that, I wouldn’t have been able to grow as much as I did for my occupational group.

‘It would have been a pretty rewarding few years if I hadn’t been able to get rid of abnormal conditions.’

… … no i will correct it

Even with the status ailments, it was quite rewarding.

These years, when I returned to the past in the body of another person, are so dense that it is embarrassing.

‘If you’re fussy, you’ll get a terminal sentence, so maybe it’s because you’re struggling to live.’

Well, that’s pretty convincing.

“… … Then you didn’t necessarily mean to do this. are you okay?”

“yes?”

“activity… Are you okay?”

Bae Se-jin asked with a serious face.

I answered without hesitation.

“yes. It’s fun.”

“That’s right~”

“You don’t have any regrets after that?”

I grinned.

“doesn’t exist.”

“Ohh~”

The members responded loudly and clapped.

Kim Rae-bin secretly even played the sound source.

“I don’t know what I was thinking, but one day a sudden inspiration came and I made a Magical Boy EDM version… .”

“let’s go!”

And the inside of the car was filled with passionate idols bobbing their heads.

‘It’s spectacle.’

I decided not to post the scene on the group’s SNS out of loyalty.

* * *

After that, activities in Korea seemed to flow smoothly without any other noise.

“Testa standby!”

The pre-recording of the 2nd week of the music show was also carried out neatly, and the variety shows filmed in the week before and the first week of the comeback were aired one by one.

And, of course, not all of our schedules were filled with music shows and variety shows.

“Look here~ Raise your chin a little more!”

I played a few events, but because I was in the first team, I had to move far, so I focused on things with better unit prices rather than inefficient events.

it’s an advertisement

“Please touch the collar!”

I’ve been shooting commercials steadily since my debut, but these days, the scale has changed completely.

In the midst of the pouring advertising requests, the agency had picked out the real exhaust quite well, but I thought it managed to catch the one with a high unit price without excessive image consumption.

‘There’s no such thing as an unreasonable number like his artificial intelligence, Curious.’

But I didn’t know that I would be taking full advantage of the company’s profits.

The benefits of T1 Stars, the agency, not T1, the parent company.

Let’s take a look at the commercial we’re filming today.

“Hey hello, senior!”

I met Mirinae, a junior idol from the same agency, at the shooting site of a smartphone commercial.

‘oh.’

It was a tie-up that felt the ambition for the name value of the agency.

And there was plenty of room to use it.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 211

If you can't debut, you'll get a fatal disease. Episode 211

The smartphone commercial wasn't a co-model with junior idols at all. If so, you would have known.

However, there were only a few cuts where they were filmed together.

"ruler… Come in here with me and show me what you have in your hand!"

"yes."

"Ah, make sure to hold the tap with one hand~ lightly!"

"yes!"

A junior idol is advertising a tablet of the same brand line, and it seemed that the two groups would appear at the same time in order to add an additional effect to the advertisement.

And because this side is ahead in terms of time and awareness, it ended up like Mirinae waiting for one more time on the day of the testa shoot before coming in.

'Still, the fact that he didn't tell me until the day was over the line.'

It is unclear whether the shock of losing the first manager to Ryu Chung-woo was so great that he forgot it, or if he was deliberately crushed by the company.

Of course, the heart attack is the latter.

‘Did you get a sense after bouncing off the opinions of the headquarters several times these days?’

The possibility that the affiliated artists will request revisions because they do not want to be involved with each other.

And if I had known in advance, I would have.

‘Because I just talk a lot.’

It is a board that has already been scratched by the topic related to ‘Magical Boy’.

In extreme cases, it could have been like this.

-Ah, what

‘s going on with the bundling again ?

I am very sorry for your business perspective.

-Those fans really can’t figure out the subject.

You have to win something to get through on a music album.

Hahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahaha
hahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahaha hahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahaha
Hahaha

From comparison to speculation about dating.

It was unnecessarily annoying.

Fortunately, the company was also conscious of this, and when I came here, there were hardly any cuts that were suspiciously tied.

Rather, it was a layout that emphasized the premium electronic device line ‘Cosmic’ with artists from the agency T1 Stars.

“My identity shining like a star.”

“Star’s Choice Cosmic!”

But even this is quite empty.

‘What the fuck are you saying that they have a great commonality and vision when they weren’t raised by themselves?’

Perhaps, since they want to develop other newcomers soon, it seems that they came to an internal conclusion that they needed a value for their name beyond a simple agency affiliated with < Azusa >.

Existing groups may have come in from audition programs that have already hit the box office, complaining that they are overpowered by the rookie theme.

‘Maybe they’re aiming for a separate listing.’

Either way, it’s probably a thought that came out of the head of the current headquarters.

And when I thought this far, I had an angle that I could use this.

‘Let’s start by collecting cases.’

The opportunity came around the end of my filming.

“You worked hard!”

After today’s individual cut shoot, a short joint shoot with Mirinae was in the process of being finished.

I also finished filming and went near a guy who was looking at the monitor.

The 90 degree greeting came back right away.

“Ooh, senior! Thank you so much for filming today!”

“We are truly grateful.”

It was the junior who finished second in Azusa last season.

“Did the shooting go well?”

“yes! Oh oh senior, you were really great! Idols who were voted No. 1 with the support of the public… .”

“Let’s stop.”

“yes.”

The junior’s face became solemn, probably thinking that this wasn’t a big deal.

“How is the fort?”

“yes?”

“Company.”

“hmm… … .”

But right away, ‘Thank you so much!’ Judging by the fact that the remarks filled with the same social life did not come out, it seemed that he noticed the nuance.

The junior said with a slightly spleen face and a lowered voice.

“You’re still… !”

“… … .”

It has multiple meanings.

“Is it confirmed that the next album will also be a self-produced song?”

“… Well, they say let’s go for the double title.”

“hmm.”

Testa has been doing that since her debut, so it must be encouraging that it’s a box office formula.

“He said to do one in English.”

“… … !”

The junior spoke with the face of a liberated office worker.

“still… Everyone is saying that we should be satisfied with this much because we think you will include even one of them as our song… .”

“… … .”

That’s great. I expected it, but this side seems to have a lot of trouble in its own way.

“How is your care?”

“Care? um that’s good! Please take good care of the shop and coordination… .”

The words were brushed off. I brought the subject back.

“One of the manager hyungs who was originally on our side went that way too.”

“… ! right… ! Aww thank you so much and I’m sorry… .”

“no. You don’t need to do that at all. I’m asking because I’m curious about what that kind of care is like.”

I was like, ‘Is this workplace bullying… !”

“Does the management room brief the schedule well or check the health of the members… same thing.”

“Oh um.”

The juniors became troubled faces. I don’t know if he was reminiscing or choosing his words, but his next words sounded quite sincere.

“I do not know. You look so busy and overwhelmed… I think it’s because we have a lot of members. I’m sorry for looking like you’re having a hard time.”

also.

It seems that this one is also working properly.

‘Were there nine people?’

It’s 1.5 times that of Testa, so I’m sure there should be more managers attached.

‘It seems that the production team also went back and forth, saying that they heard the general manager or this side.’

As the general manager tries to hold tighter on this side, it seems that the management chief is less likely to respond.

hmm… How would this be enough?

“okay. You will suffer a lot. Let’s do our best.”

“Oh no! We are having fun and working hard. Thank you for your concern!”

“yes.”

I was about to end the conversation there, but continued talking again as if I had just remembered.

“Oh yes.”

“… … ?”

“I was wondering if there was any interest in setting up a dedicated team.”

This is actually the main point.

A solution I’ve been thinking about since the manager incident.

“A dedicated team… ?”

The junior seemed dumbfounded for a while, but quickly came to his senses and took up the proposal.

“Ah, will a team dedicated to our group be created?”

“It’s not confirmed… I’m thinking of doing it this time. If necessary, I will also pass on the cases of my juniors.”

“… … !”

“Of course, it’s not like I heard it myself… I’m thinking of telling a person close to the company that I heard it, but how is it?”

The junior swallowed saliva and immediately answered with eyes shining.

“We are very grateful.”

It’s a smart choice.

Since I’ve already told you about my current situation, I think I realized that I didn’t even need to ask a doctor if I was actually trying to set a trap or cheat.

“Well then, let’s talk together.”

“yes! thank you!”

At that moment, I heard a voice calling from behind me. It must have been that the filming was complete.

“Minha! Hey, come quickly! This chocolate is insanely delicious!”

“Okay sister~ Ah senior, then I’ll go!”

“yes. Good luck.”

The juniors rushed to the same member. The guy who shakes a huge box of chocolates that looks like he got it from a fan… You’re from number 1.

really… It’s sunny.

‘… Is that type of person originally popular?’

Or is it an audition special?

“brother!! Look at this! So Cool!”

“Oh, that’s cool.”

As I reacted to the shooting prop-surfboard that Yujin Cha appeared out of nowhere, I almost fell in love with the subtle composition of this industry.

But there was no time for that. There was a place to contact during the day on the move.

‘I’ll have to talk about the dedicated team soon.’

By the way, the conversation with the other guys has already ended.

The same week Liu Cheng-wu’s condition recovered.

– It’s a dedicated team… .

-I doubt whether the company will willingly cover such expenses.

– I agree! It must have been because he had a good idea~

-… i agree too

-oh!

-Management problems keep coming up at the company.

What's interesting is that Bae Se-jin unexpectedly agreed to a single shot and then actively pushed his opinion.

-Because it seems like this will continue… Better do it now while you can.

-Is Sejin cool?

-… ! I didn't try to look cool… anyway! Even with a majority vote!

-Oh.

So it means that it was pushed by the force and proceeded unanimously.

And here's how.

"Are you in the process of supplementing the contents of the me-mail?"

"okay. Do you have anything else to add?"

"Oh no! We all wrote it so diligently together, so I hope it gets delivered well… !"

"I know."

Among T1's affiliates, it is to put the story directly into T1 Culture, the direct parent company of this agency.

I think the fight between the head of the department and the head of the general manager will also be put on.

So, now is the time to give up pretending you don't know with a rough 'I don't know about new artists' stance.

‘The time has come when it’s more beneficial to look bad than to look easygoing.’

After all, it is better for the group itself to become a force and attack the company directly.

Even this self-produced activity was a hit, so now the regret is over there.

The global performance was also quite good… Let’s talk about this again later.

‘I took out the contact book by talking to the manager.’

He arbitrarily misunderstands that Testa will give him a piece of cake for the dismissal of the general manager.

Instead, he intends to poke at the company’s chronic problems.

‘Manpower shortage.’

If you keep inserting and turning the parachute and bringing in people without experience, the angler meshes and does not return.

The easiest way to write this… I liked the expression that the problem with risk management was serious.

‘Security problem Schedule delivery problem… .’

Most recently, the data arm experienced by Ryu Chung-woo connects the attack incident, the failure to deliver the schedule, and my stalker injury incident while on vacation.

And if these people are already aware of the ‘schedule leakage industrial espionage’ incident, this claim becomes possible.

‘It’s because we don’t have enough staff!’

And since our company is a new subsidiary, we write that we are in a situation where we cannot easily make the big decision of running an independent dedicated team.

Above all, it is emphasized that it will cause great controversy and damage if someone gets injured or becomes unable to do activities like this… .

– Moondae, this is… Don’t you think we’re too self-conscious?

– It doesn’t matter if you think so. It’s better if you feel that those guys are going to fuck because they’re having a hard time.

– Uhm, yes.

As long as you’ve entered the first team, it’s okay to play like this.

It’s not like it’s strange in the usual industry, so rumors without credibility will circulate among the officials for a while.

Above all, it is enough to be polite to the other person.

Whether or not they have complaints about their agency, wouldn’t it be enough if they were courteous and polite and bowed down only to me who listened to them?

‘The prior contact was good and there was nothing against the format.’

It is not childish to ask for it to be done, but it seems to have been neatly and well made like a draft letter.

I took my hand off the keyboard.

“done.”

“Oh~”

“Now I just need to send it!”

“send! send!”

In this way, the proposal for the ‘proposal for the establishment of a project team dedicated to artists’ was sent directly to T1 Culture.

If the parent company’s pressure pushes in in the name of ‘brand value’, the head of the headquarters will eventually be unable to oppose it and will be okay.

‘Of course, I don’t think anyone will do it gently.’

In fact, the possibility of an answer saying, ‘I know how you feel, but it’s impossible in terms of cost and principle’ is fully anticipated.

‘Then it’s going to the next step again.’

My head was spinning tight. Somehow it was kind of fun.

‘Come with anything.’

But that 7:30 call took things in a very unexpected direction.

“… A survival appearance?”

-Yes.

The other person over the phone answered neatly.

-Did you know that the production staff of Idol Co., Ltd. came to the affiliated studio this time? It is a new program produced there.

“hmm.”

-Of course, this time, Testa is not a participant, but a mentor.

‘It’s only 3 years old?’

It was a deal I could never have imagined.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 212

If I can’t debut, I get sick to death. Episode 212

I hung up the phone with the person in charge of T1 and reviewed the conversation.

‘Please appear as a mentor on a KPOP global survival reality show… is it.’

Of course, there were not one or two survival programs that claimed to be ‘global’ so far. Right now, just doing < Azusa > made me think of picking a global KPOP star.

However, this format… It was a bit unique.

‘It’s not aired on Tnet, it’s also a Netflix self-produced title.’

It seemed that production was started based on the small success of < Azusa > on Netflix in the English-speaking world.

The composition of the program was quite experimental, but the fact that the offer was good was more important than that.

-As soon as the appearance was confirmed, everything was talked about forming a dedicated team.

It is clean.

If it’s a dedicated team and a variety show, isn’t the exchange cost worth considering?

‘It’s not just Testa who comes out as a mentor.’

And I wasn’t alone in thinking that.

Because the reaction of the members who received it was all ‘worth a try’.

“hmm… It’s fine.”

“If you just appear, will a dedicated team be established? I think it will be very beneficial in the long run!”

But there were also concerns.

“… It’s a bit like that for the producers, though.”

“I don’t have enough skills to teach anyone… Are you okay?”

It was an expected story, and most of it was organized in a reasonable line.

“I don’t think you need to worry about that. you are good.”

“That’s right~ Looking at the nature of the program, I don’t think you’ll ever be beaten up like that for being a ‘mentor’? Yes?”

“that’s right.”

It seemed that the selling point of this program would be that the rookie is a mentor. In addition, it was a format where there was no reason for the mentor to be edited by the devil.

what kind of program is it?

What I heard at the meeting with the production team after accepting the offer to appear would be an explanation.

“We will gather K-pop haters and give them K-pop activity training. Of course, it will be a one-time use that will end in one-shot humor.”

“… … ??”

The members were a bit perplexed.

‘It’s still the same.’

Anyway, you’re talking too blatantly.

Ryu Seo-rin, whom I haven’t seen in a long time, had a glare in her eyes.

Even though this human testa has gone this far, his attitude has become more rough.

‘Is this because I don’t need to be coaxed out like when I was casting for a role?’

Sejin Keun replied quickly, probably considering Ryu Cheong-woo, who was somewhat uncomfortable with the writer.

“Um~ It’s a composition where foreigners who don’t know much about K-pop become attached to it as they get to know it, right?”

“You can see it that way.”

It means that you are drawing a bigger and more radical picture. Of course, we don’t need to know that in detail.

There was only one thing the production team asked for from Testa.

“You must do well.”

And this is not particularly worrying.

“I will try to structure the script as well as possible so that you can somehow make your skills look superior.”

“… yes! Because testers are always so great! I think we just need to work harder and capture that image well on the screen.” Perhaps the other production crew, who were a little taken aback by writer Ryu Seo-rin’s unfiltered words, intervened and slightly raised the testa.

At that time, the quiet Liu Qingyu asked calmly.

“Then you won’t look arrogant for nothing on the screen, will you?”

“… … !”

“… sure.”

Writer Ryu Seo-rin answered calmly. But there was a bit of agitation.

‘aha.’

The attitude earlier was overpowering.

It seems that the testa, who has a crush on this production team, came out stronger because he was afraid that he would be picky.

‘Shouldn’t I have guessed from the start when I offered my appearance as a deal to trade with the dedicated team?’

It means that the word that Testa will not appear in this production team’s work has already been circulated among the people involved.

However, it is not possible to get rid of it because it shows an uncomfortable appearance with a straight ball. It was clear that T1 had already put a lot of breath into it.

‘Well, I don’t have to worry about editing.’

The production team isn’t stupid, and there’s no way they’re arguing with the parent company.

“As mentors, various KPOP stars, including the testers, have already been recruited… .”

“yes yes.”

After that, the meeting flowed smoothly and ended without any special problems.

And after a few days, the article also became a big hit.

[Starting production of K-pop large-scale survival entertainment in partnership with Netplus]

[‘Guaranteed a gorgeous cast’… What is the identity of Netplus K-pop reality?]

[Netplus K-pop entertainment ‘Know KPOP Now’ super-large investment… K-pop market Norina]

It seems that the company name, T1, was not mentioned on purpose, perhaps because they wanted to independently develop the image of a new production studio.

Instead, as if on purpose, rumors about the cast circulated quickly and loudly on the Internet.

– ㅇㅇ Appearance was confirmed, but ㄴI was delusional, and the male idol captain came out with third-class entertainment on Netflix for what reason?

ㄴBottle X, why is Netflix third-rate?

I’m curious to hear that horse X is coming out from

-Mighty Studio? ㅅㅅIt’s said that it’s the hideout of Azusa producers, so it’s confirmed hahahaha

ㄴThey say all the young 1st runners came out It seems like all the cast members of Aju 1st company have been caught ㄴThe internet is going to turn upside down survival;

Anyway, if I knew that the amount of mentorship wasn’t that big, it would have cooled down quickly, but people who didn’t know that fact were in a frenzy just with rumors of appearances.

‘I’m seeing the effect that I didn’t reveal in detail.’

While all kinds of idols were being discussed, the first day of filming approached with an embargo on the details of the official cast.

And after an 11-hour flight to LA, I will confirm the identity of the rumor I did.

“hello.”

‘X feet.’

There was a real VTIC.

step. Except for the rest of them, Cheongryeoman.

‘It wasn’t in the cast lineup I heard about in advance.’

I heard later that at the last minute, he personally gave an ok sign and boarded a private plane to join us.

I don’t know, but one of the best running mentors must have been fired.

“I didn’t know that you would participate in the audition program as one of the mentors, not alone.”

That’s also true of this entertainment style.

And Cheong-rye gave an unexpected answer.

“Ah, my solo album is coming out soon. So it serves as a global PR?”

“… … .”

“Like my junior said, I turned the direction of my activities outside of the group a bit. haha.”

“Ah yes.”

‘How did you convince the company?’

The agency that didn’t budge even though fans regularly sent trucks asking for individual activities gave up solo? Have you ever threatened to quit?

… for a moment.

‘Could it be that he didn’t release a solo until now?’

It may have been artificially blocking the group activities to make the other members cling to them.

‘Well, it has nothing to do with me.’

It doesn’t matter if this guy comes here or not, except for some unpleasant things.

“… Park Moondae! Let us sit down!”

“Ah yes.”

At Bae Se-jin’s loud call, I returned to my designated seat in the booth and took my seat.

Bae Se-jin covered the microphone at once and hurriedly bowed.

‘Why does that crazy guy keep talking to you?’

‘Iknow, right. Do you want to have your head smashed again?’

‘… … .’

It’s convenient to have support from people who know the whole story of the injury incident while on vacation.

‘Shall we go on like this?’

And to be more honest, I don’t care if this program fails.

If this lineup is dragged in and ruined, it will be the production team's fault, not Testa's fault.

In addition, just yesterday, the proposal to set up a dedicated team was passed by the company. Now, we just need to bring some decent people in line with the end of our activities.

'That's it.'

I ate all the food in this deal, so it's enough if Testa doesn't curse in this program.

It's a waste of time to fly, but since I'm here anyway, I'm able to balance my schedule a bit by digesting my schedule in the US.

'Looking at the script, all the cast members will eat aggro.'

I wonder if the production crew of < Azusa > really climbed up from the fires of hell.

"Going into standby!"

"Yeah~"

In the monitor screens observed by the mentors, the participants were reflected.

It is the appearance and behavior according to the script.

– I'm ready to become famous!

-I can't help but say that it's not cool, but of course I lie to get hearts on social media. Isn't everyone like that?

-I want people to know me, be crazy about me, and be crazy about my actions. I have to do anything for it.

The friendly Korean subtitles below the English emphasized the identity of those people.

To put it vulgarly, it is a custom.

It was perfect to receive the evaluation that ‘I think I will sell my soul to become a celebrity in order to become famous’.

And this program is said to have recruited participants with the story that ‘celebrities teach you how to become famous’.

And here, there is one more secret that the production crew did not explicitly state.

It’s just a taste for music.

-Kpop? no! I’m like that… I’m not listening! never! (Loud laughter)

-You know what at school? I saw a lot of kids like that.

These guys hated KPOP, as writer Ryu Seo-rin said.

No, ‘I hated it’ is a very flat expression… I think ‘ignoring’ would be a more appropriate expression.

Cha Yoo-jin, who used to snort at the American talk show we appeared on thanks to a game collaboration, felt exactly like that.

“Ooh, that’s too much!”

It’s a little funny to see the monitor without hesitation and say things like that.

Anyway, that’s how the story of this program was established.

The contestants get a taste of K-pop self-discipline training after appearing on a reality show in anticipation of ‘I will become famous by being broadcasted around the world on Netplus’… Is.

‘That’s probably why it was such a fuss that I had to do well unconditionally.’

I guess I wanted to pick a scene where they open their mouths in amazement and declare ‘I will never ignore K-pop again’.

‘Gukppong is certain.’

Besides, we will definitely attract foreign K-pop fans as well. The problem is how to digest it with a universal liking so that it doesn’t cringe.

“It’s fun.”

“You might hate it!”

The guys who said a word while looking at the monitor seemed relaxed. Because I knew that a scene like that would come out anyway.

‘Honestly, there’s a high probability that the contestants will already know this fact and make a Go-Stop.’

what i don’t know

We just had to do our part properly.

Mentors riding on a stage set and appearing in each team in a place where there are participants who are excited to see who will appear as a ‘celebrity’.

With the ‘KPOP-like effect’ that is considered very flashy abroad.

Pupperpuppung! Pipipiyung!

[Welcome with applause! I’ll teach you how to become famous… This is the 7 K-pop star team!]

I heard the artificial intelligence MC supported by Ohseong shouting in English.

And the cloth fell from the top of the set, and the truth appeared on the screen.

-Welcome to

☆K-POP Training Camp☆

Of course, the response was not good.

[Oh.]

[Oh my god!!]

However, the filming moved on to the next cut with the officials who were flustered and unsure, deliberately exaggerated or forcibly laughed.

‘I don’t have time.’

How much time can 7 popular idols spend on this program?

So, while most of the mentors went home from work and only some of them went back to change their costumes and prepare, the participants were informed about the new content.

It’s called ‘Intro Stage’.

[On this stage, you can leave as the winner of this reality show right away. Even before entering the camp!]

To sum it up, ‘Can’t you admit that they’re mentors? If you win, I’ll give you the prize right away’.

And I was in charge of the first one here.

[Our mentors, please show up!]

It’s childish, but with a setting that seems to work well.

[As an audience of 100 randomly selected LA residents, you will alternately sing the same song as Mentor!]

[Of course, this song is not K-pop… It's a pop song that you selected in advance! Did you choose it as a personal skill?] [

And the mentor will check the song now!]

It's just taking off the rank insignia and sticking to it.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 213

of Episode 213, “If You Can’t Debut, You’ll Die”

was inspired by the style of an outdoor theater with open circular staircases that might be found in American parks.

In a word, it means that the small crab is open 360 degrees, so the audience is right in front of you in all directions.

‘It must be a fresh experience.’

While the residents who were invited as spectators came one by one and went through checkpoints, I sat in the waiting room with a camera on and received an envelope.

It was the American sensibility that the glitter was loud.

Along with the English explanation of the artificial intelligence MC, an interpreter came out through the in-ear.

[In this envelope are their signature songs chosen by the contestants!]

[Our KPOP mentor plans to learn all three of these songs in an hour.]

[Let’s see how it goes?]

Nothing to see.

The production team already told me in advance which songs would be candidates for it.

‘Of course, I can’t narrow it down to these three songs.’

They gave me a dozen or so songs and promised that they would come out of this. Because it's a pop song, it might be a song you don't know at all.

And it's probably because of the contestants' running or fighting that they selected these three songs.

Well, on the show, the contestant said, 'It's not this fucking song I wanted!' I can already see you shouting the same thing.

[Are you nervous?]

[A little bit.]

After giving the obvious answer to the obvious question, I opened the envelope.

"hmm."

Well, it was exactly as expected.

'I don't even need an hour.'

Let's get rid of airplane travel.

* * *

The set where people are buzzing.

Holding wine or cosmetic bags (all of which were sponsored by T1) in one hand, the residents crossed their arms and waited for the stage without much expectation.

It wasn't a famous show, and I didn't know anything about it other than making it on Netplus.

[They say they're singing]

[I'd rather do a magic show!]

The father and daughter shrugged and started talking.

And behind the stage, the camera was also running, filming the contestants listening to the murmurs of these audience members.

In this ‘Intro Stage’, a total of 8 people chose ‘singing’ as their key to becoming a celebrity.

And the audience was given a button.

[When the audience presses the button, the light instantly flashes in its place!]

[They will press the button if they feel ‘good.’]

[And… warning! They think everyone who comes out is a contestant and they don’t know the existence of our secret K-Pop mentor!]

[Then, our ‘K-Pop’ campers, let’s go on stage!

] gave a reflexive cheer.

[Wow!]

The participants also reflexively waved their hands or jumped around. It was not known what kind of arrogance or immaturity would be edited out on the air.

And in the corner was an Asian young man wearing a large hood.

However, unlike the other noisy participants, there was little movement, so it was barely noticeable.

Of course, it is Park Moon-dae.

[Now, the first song… oh! It’s ‘Drive It’ by Phil Garcia! Shall we run!?]

It was a popular song a few years ago that skillfully mixed R&B and pop and was good to listen to. It was also a regular song on audition programs for men in this country.

[Oh~]

The audience responded at a moderately polite level to the usual selection of songs.

However, when the next rule was explained, the admiration and sincerity began to mix.

[Contestants on stage will sing whenever they are randomly selected.]

[Feel free to press the button if you like! The longer a lot of lights are lit, the longer you'll be able to hear that participant's song!]

[If there aren't enough lights… Um, next!]

Laughter poured out from the audience at the sly words of the machine's voice.

[Hahaha!]

If the reaction is good, I can sing more songs, and if the reaction is bad, it's over.

It was a fun rule because it was easy to catch the eye and stimulating enough to be cruel!

[Now then, from step 1… Start!]

Music rang out among the participants who took a deep breath or pretended not to be nervous.

And participant 1 took up the microphone with blinking eyes.

A trembling voice created a sound that was quite plausible.

-I drive without hesitation~ I have a big engine and shiny headlights~

[Oh… .]

Those who used to press the button in moderation stopped pressing the button as soon as the participant stuttered.

[Now, next!]

The moment the lights went down, the artificial intelligence pointed out number 5 without hesitation.

-I'm not a man of integrity, but I'm wild. That's my charm… .

In that way, the song started circulating on people.

Most barely managed to digest one bar, and those who went a little further could only digest two or three bars.

It was unavoidable.

With the visual data in front of the artificial intelligence's nominations that come out of nowhere, you can see that 'if you make a mistake, it's over'.

– My eyes are boi… shit!

[N-Hmm!]

The contestant who couldn't finish even one word was even booed by the excited audience.

The moment when the audience became more ruthless with familiarity.

[Number 7!]

Number 7, who was standing blankly in the corner, received the first call from the display board.

[…] … .]

An Asian young man wearing a hood, who had been peeking at the flashing lights, immediately opened his mouth and picked up the microphone.

And the song started exactly where it was supposed to go.

Naturally, as if it was originally his part.

-That kind of sight makes me live. I ran through the lights of the city again today, between the stars and lights pleasant voice rang through the speaker.

[Oh!!] A

The difference in clear tone and volume, as if using equipment of different quality alone.

Tadadak! widely! Tara la la rock!

In an instant, all kinds of colored lights started to flicker along with the sound of button presses in the audience seats.

The song stretched out.

– Run, run.

Tonight

through the stars and lights .

Even in the high notes of the chorus, the voice was not disturbed.

On the contrary, the melodic part that clearly reveals the taste of the song stands out.

[Hey!]

The button press didn't decrease. The lights continued to twinkle and the 7th run continued.

But the problem is… Now it was about entering the interlude.

When the song stops, the lights will inevitably be reduced. Then, naturally, it is the moment to move on to the next person.

[Umm!]

When the lyrics disappeared from the electronic signboard, some of the audience who quickly realized the situation felt sorry for them.

-DDU DDU DDururu

DDU DDU DDU

[-!]

Number 7 started humming in the interlude.

It's not just a hum, but with an enormous range and technique that's almost like a concert ad-lib.

[Wow!!]

With that stunt-like skill, the button was repeatedly hit again, extending the lifespan of number 7 once again.

Paba Paba Park! Papabak!

Lights flashed in all directions.

By this point, some of the other participants were watching Number 7 with their mouths open.

However, Park Mun-dae did not continue the feat.

Instead, I stopped ad-libbing a few measures before entering the second verse and politely lowered the microphone.

[If so, then next!]

The audience was sorry for the artificial intelligence MC's resounding cry, but there was a reason.

'Push once at this timing.'

It was because the 7th Park Moondae knew the weak point of this rule.

'People get used to stimuli.'

It was more important to sing better than the previous verse than to keep singing well.

If you just sing without thinking, people's reactions will inevitably fade after the climax.

It didn't get better than the climax part I heard just before, so there are cases where I don't bother pressing the button.

So, I had to give variations, whether it be high notes or ad-libs, and keep giving new stimuli and surprising elements.

It was also the reason why people who sang well earlier couldn't go beyond two or three bars.

So Park Moon-dae passed the introduction of the second verse, where the tempo of the song was adjusted again.

'Well, I have to take care of the picture that gives the contestants a chance, so it's a good thing.'

As long as you are a mentor, you have to give a picture of concession to the participant so that there will be no bullshit on the domestic Internet saying 'I'm the only one who fights'.

And Moondae Park has already calculated.

‘Considering the number of participants… In the end, he’ll give me one more time anyway.’

Looking at the timing of the turn, it seemed that it would be his turn to go around the participants once again.

[Sorry, next!]

Because Park Moon-dae did so well in front, the evaluation of the audience became harsh, and most of the contestants who were suppressed were knocked out with one bar.

And as Park Moon-dae planned, he was nominated again for the pre-chorus just before the final chorus.

[Ohhhh!]

Amid the anticipation and preemptive cheers of the already biased audience, Moondae Park held onto the song from the first verse and did not let go.

-Run, run,

hit the horn and crush the light

Tonight,

Park Moon-dae’s song occupancy time was 1 minute and 3 seconds.

The shockingly overwhelming first ‘Intro Stage’, which didn’t even play like that, was over.

[The winner is… No. 7!]

[Waaaaaaaaaaaaaaaa!!]

‘I paid for the meal.’

Instead of bowing his head, Park Moon-dae waved his hand to match the emotions of the audience and smiled.

I could already hear the sound of the production crew drooling beyond the camera next to the stage.

‘If I do well, it will be used as a trailer.’

And that prediction was right.

* * *

[K-pop? I don’t listen to that kind of thing.]

[It’s called music… no don’t get me wrong I don’t think boy bands in this country are music either.]

[My younger brother is crazy, but honestly, he’s crazy.]

“Oh, a trailer?”

“that’s right!”

Cha Yoo-jin, who was playing Netplus on her smartphone in the car, excitedly shook the screen and showed it to the members.

Immediately, the members also focused their attention on the short preview video.

After the cuts of the interviews with the contestants who were obviously saying things like, “I’m a nerd, I’m not interested in subculture K-pop,” the actual filming went by briefly.

[This summer.]

[To reality show contestants thirsty for fame]

[K-pop baptism pours in!]

“Wow, look at the subtitles.”

“You did a good job translating.”

[Aaaaaaaa!!]

[What kind of X is this… .]

Screaming contestants and laughing K-pop idols.

Then, the profile of me singing and the image of the participant next to me with an open mouth flashed by.

“Were there two more vocal teams besides you?”

“okay.”

I guess I made good use of it because the participants reacted the most on the first stage.

“I heard everyone won.”

“Ah, of course not. Everyone has a position, so you couldn’t have lost?”

Seeing him smiling and doing that, it seems that he also won the dance stage by an overwhelming majority.

[Do you know K-pop?]

[Do you like it?]

[Would you like to try it?]

[K-NOW]

Right after the title came up, ‘episode 1 coming soon’ popped up along with the date.

Usually, programs that are released on Netplus are bundled in four or five episodes and released at once, but it seems that they have reached an agreement with the studio to release one episode at a time.

“Be sure to press receive notification when Cha Yu-jin is released so you can watch it immediately without forgetting… .”

“I know!”

“If you knew, what would you not have done!”

‘Anyway, the airing isn’t far off.’

I was quite excited about how the first episode would react, probably because the filming ended successfully.

And by the time you see it, there are new events.

Coincidentally, Seon Ah-hyun is also shouting if she realized it after seeing the date.

“Oh this day… It’s our moving date… !”

“I know?”

“After discussing a large TV, I think it will be worth ordering a new one!”

“really good!”

it’s moving

We have finally moved into a new home.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 214

Testa was in the middle of preparing for moving, people who were waiting for a new Netflix variety show created by the ‘Azusa’ crew were quite upset.

This is because the aggro of the released trailer was excellent.

_____==

[Azusa production team’s new variety show, I’m the only one who doesn’t care]

I don’t know why they’re begging K-pop guys to like K-pop… It’s like cultural fluency

_____==

-That’s right, I was like this too

-ㅇㄱㅇ

-There are a lot of kids who say they like K-pop, but it’s just that they gather haters and do that. He really doesn’t seem to have any pride

. I don’t think it feels like this… Little weak Americans, taste the K-pop inferno, isn’t it something like this?

ㄴㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋ I also watched the trailer with this feeling – On one side, the soup on the other side of the sadaeju is very good in all directions

. It’s amazing.

In addition, the production team secretly sent out official data about the exact content of the program only when the controversy was at its most controversial. – K-pop idols are mentors and they gather American watchers and set them up for a K-pop hell camp,

,

and only those who survive get a prize.

-My kids are already busy, but it’s ridiculous to ask them to do something like this, but it’s funny. ㄴYou’re a Testa fan

. It’s karma for raising the production team by buying Azusa shares

.

At this point, articles about the cast of mentors began to appear one after another.

Those who were embarrassed by the scale started to reproduce the program-related articles again.

-Vtic is really coming out?;;

-No, Jaehyun, why did you,

who is so brilliant, make this choice? hmm… Hahaha

ㄴ X asshole variety show, now they are even arguing about the grade. Anyway, these bastards are dying of laughter hahaha ㄴYes, see you next time

.

It was pitiful as if he was caught because it was filmed as a sacred goal, and everyone expected his appearance, and Testa fans who gave up when Park Moon-dae appeared in the trailer had already flared up and then died out.

-Yes, where is Azusa not a mentor for the new season

? lol…

-Testa will do Testa, but I'm rather looking forward to it because she's so good at it (a lie)

-I hope the kids don't have to suffer while filming

.

It's because this 'Spring Out' activity worked so well, and the overseas response index was good, so the day was less standing.

It has been a long time since Ryu Chung-woo's small rumors related to the camera have already subsided through numerous major entertainment appearances.

So, amidst the unfavorable topic from the idol fans who appeared on the show and general netizens, the first episode of the variety show was broadcast.

[K-NOW!]

[K-pop sucks! As the introduction , the production team introduced the extreme characteristics of some of the 24 participants and emphasized the two commonalities with editing magic.

that he was thirsty for attention.

And they ignore K-pop.

Of course, as soon as it was released, the reaction of domestic viewers who were watching it in real time was also extreme.

-
Ahhhh

Contestants who were shocked, angry, or embarrassed were still portrayed as shameless disliking.

Viewers are now one step away from that unfamiliar sensibility and just enjoy it as if they were watching idols appearing in foreign variety shows.

-Stop breaking out

-I want you to go backwards ㅠㅠ

-Hahahaha why am I laughing? All of the idols are really respectable and professional compared to each other,

so I get gukppong.

But from the next moment, the atmosphere reversed.

[You will compete head-to-head with KPOP mentors!]

[Fields are singing, dancing, and photography!]

[Yes, that's exactly what you wrote as 'specialty field' on your application form!]

-What?

-Wait

-
Hahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahah
ahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahah
ahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahah
ahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahah
ahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahah
ahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahaha

] -stop talking crazy

but it was true.

[great! If you win, you'll get 50,000 dollars~]

[Honestly, I don't think I'll lose. Yes.]

[As a pop song? I can never get it I'm sorry, everyone, you made a mistake.]

Again, some arrogant contestants were captured for quite some time.

They fought fiercely again over song selection and photo themes, and soon took the stage as amateurs full of unfounded confidence.

And in contrast to that, the idols were projected to be very calm and kind.

[Ah, you have an hour ~]

[I have to work hard.]

[Can I put this here?]

-Ilke looks like a real other race

┗ Other race

┗ ㅋ ㅋ ㅋ ㅋ ㅋ ㅋ ㅋ ㅋ ㅋ ㅋ ㅋ ㅋ ㅋ ㅋ ㅋ ㅋ ㅋ ㅋ

and the latter part of the program.

Idols who competed naked almost slaughtered the contestants with terrifying momentum.

[Victory, victory, victory!]

Coupled with the special emphasis on the editorial staff of < Azusa >, the scene was brutally cool and overwhelmingly on the screen.

[There's nothing more to see!]

[One more victory for the mentor!]

[Overwhelming! Hmm, are you still saying that camp is useless?]

[Participant: Damn… .]

In particular, the result was the same from Moondae Park's first vocal stage, which was edited with great care, as well as the dance stage where everyone wore masks.

In an instant, the Internet was covered with related reactions.

-Wow, I'm fucking crazy

-Crazy

Park Moon-dae, crazy

bastard.

-I can't believe that only Americans watched this

. Do it in Korea too. -It's so fun

.

In addition, the K-pop idols who are close to the heart win coolly, so the thrill of winning in sports is added.

But at the same time, there were also those who had doubts.

-this… Is it okay to promote this taste of gukppong to English and American countries

?

Hahahah

It was because overseas people were watching this program with a different sensibility.

It was the taste of rebirth.

They did not yet identify with the participants at all and were thoroughly enjoying their struggles.

This is because the production crew did an excellent job of endowing the participants with the ‘annoying human image they’ve experienced in their lives’ attribute.

-Friends, take this opportunity to grow up (tongue sticking out emoticon)

-Oh please, the blond guy wearing a cap is just like my ex who always puts weird things on in-heart

-Is this really funny?

-Please, I hope everyone is reborn as a 12-year-old like a ‘K-Pop’ star (laughing emoticon)

Here, one of the representative images of K-Pop was very popular.

that it is wholesome.

And the composition of these sound friends of all ages giving realistic lessons to the malignant servants was quite strange, but it fit well.

-It’s like watching a reality program where naughty kids are caught and sent to a special summer camp (laughs) ㄴPopular

Opinion: True

ㄴAnd there are K-Pop (rainbow and unicorn emoji) instructors in that camp!

So, to English-speaking viewers, all of this felt like a rather humorous parody.

At the same time, I felt a crush on the K-pop idol who was active in this variety show.

-Everyone is so kind and dignified! It's a bit touching – That hoodie is a really great singer

– They say he's been training since he was very young, but it doesn't seem to be in vain

.

-That hoodie has never been trained at all! He said he was 100% normal from the audition! It's just a bunch of talent and hard work♡

-Their latest song is really great. If anyone is interested in the combination of oriental and steampunk, I'd recommend it (link) -It's surprising that people who know the good things about K-pop are appearing now. do you live in

And even before this reaction was translated into Korea.

The reaction of viewers who were at least a bit familiar with KPOP came down to one voice by the trailer for the next episode that came out at the end of the first episode.

[Look at that, our top senior mentor appears!]

[Mentor: Hello.]

A close-up shot of VTIC Chung-rye appeared.

It was only in the trailer that the production team intentionally did not capture the first appearance of KPOP idols.

-Hul Cheong

-ryo -Mimi-mimi-michi

-nah -What are you doing

?

[Mentor: Ah, the name of this evaluation is… It's 'learn VTIC'. It's probably a meaningful training.]

[Mentor: We're famous.]

Cheong-rye smiled.

The trailer ended with a short cut of the contestants glaring at each other with suspenseful BGM.

-Creators ㅅㄴ Look at the next episode hahaha Just like that, the new variety show produced by the 〈Azusa〉 producers once again secured buzz.

It was a very smooth and tumultuous start.

However, Testa, who promised to watch this program 'as soon as it came out', was in a state where no one could confirm this reaction even though they were the parties.

There was a reason.

"Aaaaaaa!"

"Do it again! Do it again!"

"Oh no… ! This is right!"

"Hul, Ah-hyun is such an active refusal?? Are you suspicious?"

“You are more suspicious.”

“Guys… It’s our second hour.”

They were overinvolved in overtime in the roommate assignment game.

It was a side effect of the fan service content that started lightly after moving.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 215

Episode 215 Bae Se-

jin said calmly.

“next… It’s your turn.”

“yes yes!”

Seon Ah-hyun swallowed saliva with a nervous face and cautiously shouted.

“I’ll single out Se Sejin… !”

“What is it? Isn’t Ahyeon just filming too much because I suspected it earlier? You shouldn’t go into personal feelings in this~”

“Oh no!”

It’s the first time I’ve seen these two arguing.

What’s even funnier is that the people around you are watching that confrontation with sweaty faces.

‘How did it end up like this?’

As I looked down at the remaining cards in my hand, I was deeply troubled.

Even when I first entered the dorm I moved into, the atmosphere couldn’t have been so mild.

“It’s so big! I love it!”

“There are three bathrooms, right?”

“They say it’s a house that has been remodeled and plumbed in to make another small bathroom. Four.”

“oh.”

The increase in the number of toilets was a very welcome thing, since people come from the cleaning company anyway.

… Although the location of the accommodation was a bit disappointing.

‘After all, you came to SV Village… .’

The neighborhood where the VTIC accommodation is located.

Going to E Palace was leaked, so there was no choice. As I was concerned about security, the number of candidates decreased further, so I ended up here.

However, there is a difference in square footage, so even within the complex, the distance is quite far, so you won’t have to see it unnecessarily.

‘Let’s check the bedroom.’

I drove away any useless reluctance and looked around the inn.

“wow! Lots of room! Do I use it alone??”

“There are four bedrooms. Only one person can use a solitary cell!”

“… !”

As if he had been listening to the conversation between the two, Sejin Bae, who was suddenly startled, murmured sternly.

“… Can you write alone?”

“yes! Or, it is possible to have a configuration where three people share a large room and the remaining one enjoys the benefits of a solitary room… .”

Can not be done.

‘That’s a bad picture.’

In fact, we could have had two lodgings, each with a single room. However, the reason why I kept using the same accommodation was because I also had the purpose of preventing gossip.

It’s still before our 2nd anniversary, but since we’re already living in single rooms, it’s easy to say things like we don’t get along well.

‘We have to wait and see for at least another year.’

By the way, I added one more solitary room to the point of making a three-person room?

Babies who use energy to put a strange image on those who use solitary confinement will come out.

I intervened at that point.

“There is no need to narrow it down. As you said, three double rooms and one single room would be better.”

“yes!”

Kim Rae-bin immediately agreed with a slightly proud face, but my taste was bitter when I said it.

‘I want to write alone.’

It’s a pity that I kicked the chance to double the odds.

“Oh~ This room is great!”

“Chi bed size has grown a lot.”

Anyway, thanks to the larger rooms and larger accommodations, I felt like I would have more room in my life.

“Oh yes.”

And here comes the decisive sound.

Liu Chengyu grinned and said as if joking.

“Should we give the biggest room to someone who lives alone?”

“… !”

And surprisingly, this opinion is passed with strong majority support.

“oh! That’s nice~”

“Hmm, I think fans will feel the persuasiveness of the reward when they watch content related to roommates!”

“Haha yeah?”

Ryu Cheng-wu himself seemed a bit surprised, but it seemed that everyone had been diligently drawing pictures of himself when he was in a solitary room.

So, as a result, the room assignment game must have been ridiculously overheated.

“Even if you look at it rationally, Cha Yu-jin’s remarks over the past two turns are contradictory, so the impostor is Cha Yu-jin!”

“no! Think again!”

“that’s right!”

“now. So, does Rabin think Eugene is lying?”

“That’s right! Cha Yu-jin will ‘verify’ with the proposition that he couldn’t take a bribe last turn!”

“no, I do not want!”

As soon as Cha Yu-jin is pointed out, he is making a fuss as if drinking poison.

‘The problem is that he’s not the only one doing that.’

Everyone is doing that all the way through the turn now. I gave up and hung my chin.

In fact, it was a simple board game mixed with a mafia game and a card game.

Actions that can be performed are determined according to the job card secretly drawn at the beginning, and the one who collects the most money through it wins.

However, there is one point of difference.

‘It’s okay if I don’t get caught no matter what I do.’

I was able to do things I couldn’t do because of my job through bluffing.

In other words, all kinds of lies were inevitable.

‘… I picked it because I thought it would be funny.’

The problem is that in the first game, Sejin won with a complete pungka.

– Sesejin… I’m not a Member of Parliament… ?

-… Are you a flower shop owner?

-That’s right~ Ah, ‘Are you fooling me~’, right? Ha ha ha ha ha!

– Ugh!!

The big sejin who quoted his own music video lines must have been quite impressive, so from the next edition, lies became the dominant meta.

Everyone started to lie to raise money, so it ended up being a mess in the third round.

“Now, let Eugene ‘verify’. Show me your card.”

For reference, if the job was ‘verified’ by someone else, that person could not earn money for a while regardless of whether it was true or not.

So, first of all, those who were pointed out for ‘verification’ fiercely defended themselves… .

what didn’t you say earlier it’s called shit.

“hmm… Eugene’s job was ‘police’! Eugene is eliminated because he took a bribe last turn!”

“Boo… .”

“also!”

Now, all the footsteps of ‘verification’ are taking place.

‘It’s ruined.’

I’ve been filming this for over two hours now, and looking at it, it feels like everything will be edited and reduced to about 30 minutes.

Fans will be sad to ask for the full version, but the atmosphere will be solemn when the full version is released… Such a boring brain teaser.

‘Now that it’s like this, a guy who doesn’t seem to lie has to win to get out of the brain.’

I can’t.

‘The next edition… It would be better to drive Seon Ah-hyun.’

Aren't you the one who can't lie the most?

So in the 4th round, I gave Sun Ah-hyun a little push to do well.

-I'll buy this… !

-Hmm, I think the shop takeover pays more.

– Is that so? Then with that… !

And Seon Ah-hyun steadily earned money, and surprisingly, he did not lose even in a verbal fight with Sejin, and succeeded in pointing him out at the timing of 'verification'.

"Because I really thought about it and decided… Please verify that Sejin… ! Building construction from last turn!"

"Okay Ahyeon."

Ryu Chung-woo, who voluntarily fell into the role of host, probably didn't feel the great charm of the solitary room, immediately checked the big Sejin's card.

I crossed my arms.

'Is one person eliminated?'

Of course, I thought so, but the words that came out of Liu Cheng-wu's mouth were unexpected.

"… ! Sejin is… It wasn't a lie!"

"… !!"

"Really?"

"okay. It's a job that allows you to build buildings."

This bastard hit a double pungka.

“Ayy, if you lie again this time, it will be like that. I have a conscience too!”

There are lies coming out.

Thanks to this, Sun Ah-hyun, who failed the ‘verification’, took a break for 3 turns due to the penalty.

“Ahyeon is prohibited from acting this turn as well.”

“yes yes… .”

“Sejin won’t be able to earn another turn.” Thanks to an unexpected winner came out.

“Okay~”,

“The first place in this edition is… Mundae!”

it’s me

“Yes, thank you.”

By the way, everything is meaningless.

It was because there was a difference in the total amount anyway because I was intensively marked by a big guy in the previous game.

‘X feet.’

Maybe it was just fun and stupid and would have wiped out all the money.

Anyway, so who is the final winner… .

“The overall number one who can freely choose a room is Lee Se-jin!”

“ha ha ha!”

In the end, that kid won.

It looks like it would be fun to watch, but… Somehow, my stomach is spinning.

‘Should I stab you?’

I smiled and opened my mouth.

“Congratulations.”

“Oh~ Thank you, Moondaemundae!”

“It would be more comfortable to be alone.”

“… ??”

“This was about choosing someone to use solitary.”

“That’s right, I envy you!”

“I hope you have a pleasant life as a single person in a spacious room.”

When the solitary confinement was driven to a fait accompli, Sejin’s expression wriggled for a moment, then returned quickly.

“Ha ha no! Well, not really.”

Oh, you’re trying to avoid it.

I played an active part in the game to extract the amount of content from this content, but I don’t think I wanted to spend a single room.

If you use it alone, there will be a high chance that you will lose a little in the amount of appearances in your own content.

‘Is it covered by a picture that yields naturally?’

So, what is only one candidate?

“Ah, I want to write too… Um, I want to give Chungwoo hyung a solitary room! Our leader hyung-nim has really supported this team since their debut!”

“What about me?”

“That’s right bro~ Isn’t this kind of stuff originally used by elder leaders!”

“Ohhh!”

“Awesome choice!”

That’s how Cheng-wu Ryu went to solitary confinement without a drop of water on his hands.

‘I’m envious.’

I clicked my tongue in my heart, but I heard a small voice next to me.

“… I’m the oldest… .”

Bae Se-jin didn’t intend to speak out loud, but when their eyes met, he hurriedly shut his mouth.

Come to think of it, Sejin Bae has the earliest birthday. Maybe that’s why the image is so important.

‘… Of course, after all, I’m really the eldest.’

I licked my lips at the blown solitary opportunity.

Well, the two-person room isn’t a problem either. First of all, the roommate was also caught by a quiet guy.

“Then Mundae and Ahyeon are in the same room.”

“Please take good care of me… !”

“okay. A long time.”

It was because I was sharing the same room as Seon Ah-hyun. As soon as the seat was closed with this number, Sun Ah-hyun's face turned bright.

'Couldn't this guy be in solitary confinement as well? Did he work hard to avoid Cha Yu-jin?'

A fairly convincing hypothesis ran through my head, but it's not important, so let's move on.

For your information, the big guy was blinded by his amount and properly took on the karma that shook the game.

It's a problem because the kiddo is beaten together.

"Oh then… You and Sejin are in the same room!"

It was because Cha Yoo-jin and Kim Rae-bin chose the same room while shouting at each other to leave.

In the end, Keun Se-jin, who lost his choice by yielding his choice to Ryu Cheong-woo… He automatically joined Bae Se-jin's room.

"Thank you very much!"

"That's right."

The two exchanged friendly greetings a beat late. Be thankful it's not a live broadcast.

'I'm not going to fight.'

After a fight, they don't interfere except for necessary conversations with each other.

And even if it's the same room, it's the size of the living room in the last dorm. Even if there is nothing to bump into, I think it will be okay.

'If you notice something, you can change it.'

External excuses… It's enough to say something funny about how we both suffer because our bedtimes are so different.

"Okay then, we'll unpack our bags in our respective rooms and see you with another roommate story!"

"See you again in Loveuer~"

With that ending, the roommate game filming was finished.

After shrugging my shoulders, I went into my room and unpacked my things.

'The quality is definitely better.'

After a lot of remodeling, it really looked like that.

"It's nothing. Let's have fun and get along… !"

"That's fine."

I already look forward to a comfortable bedtime without noise pollution.

-I'm going out to play.

-I only receive hearts.

This conversation was a little ominous, but I wonder where I got away from Cha Yoo-jin's roommate.

'That bastard talks too much.'

I sighed and stretched out on the bed.

All we hear is the sound of Seon Ah-hyun arranging her French embroidery and scrubbing brush.

'It's calm.'

I guess this is the taste of moving.

… By the way, this impression does not last a day.

the very next day.

Because I had to get on a plane and leave for LA.

The cause was an additional shooting for that variety show, but the content was like X.

It looks like a special one-time stage with mentors mixed in.

The problem is that there is a Cheongryung in my team.

‘X feet.’

It started with episode 2 of < K-NOW > where he appeared.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 216

If you can’t debut, you’ll die from a disease. Episode 216

The Hellfire K-Pop Camp, which successfully drew off the buzz, was able to be broadcast with great interest from episode 1 to episode 2.

And it was an undeniable fact that Cheongrye’s appearance played a part in this topic.

This is because of the law of scarcity.

This is because VTIC has refrained from light and enjoyable content such as entertainment after the member withdrawal incident.

-It’s been a long time since I’ve had this type of entertainment. Guys, you’ve had a lot of trouble

– Just looking at the trailer, it’s true that K-pop is fundamental.

‘It was fortunate that we got out of the first episode.’

During the monitoring, it seems that everything from important judges to instructors to counselors has been done.

-Cheongryeo be kind to the world (video)

-My This is K-dol!

-ㅠㅠㅠㅠ Our leader is always a warm-hearted person (captured)

– I don’t understand why he can’t do this, but Shin Jae-hyeon takes care of the practice haha seems to have been taken away

‘Is it cost effective?’

After all, people with X feet have to open up and see. Only the mentors who came out together must have lost their time by subtracting time from filming.

‘Come to think of it, there were Golden Age guys among them.’

The group with Gold 1.

After the industrial espionage incident, there was little contact, but after seeing the face again in the variety show of the production team of < Azusa >, contact is occasionally reached at the level of networking.

[Golden Age Ha Il-jun hyung: Moondae, it was nice to see you after a long time! It’s a pity that the filming didn’t overlap this time. See you next time!]

I returned an appropriate reply to Gold 1’s message and boarded the plane.

[Yes, see you later]

It’s neat.

When people are originally working, a relationship where there is nothing to blush with each other is perfect.

In particular, it’s best not to get involved with a crazy guy who makes people go crazy, but it’s quite annoying to have a number of cases to work with subtly.

I’m glad the guy I’m going with listens to me.

“It’s nothing. Did you get your passport?”

“okay.”

Seon Ah-hyun said.

The special collaboration stage of the mentors was not one, because the special stage where Seon Ah-hyun belongs is also filmed this time.

‘It seems that some group complained about not having time.’

If we had known it would be like this, we would have tried to say that we would not do a special stage.

“Get on the plane and get some sleep. Even if that team had choreographed in advance, there would be no time because they had to re-align their movements.”

“Ughhh!”

Me and Seon Ah-hyun got on the plane safely, ignoring the data pals and some of the home horses’ cameras.

‘They gave me a good seat.’

Let’s see if the investment was properly pulled. I drew the curtains next to the seats to prevent any invasion of privacy.

The manager… I don’t know. The second guy came along, and he’ll take care of himself sitting behind him.

‘Let’s go to sleep.’

And that was when I pushed the seat back almost into a bed and grabbed a bottle of water.

Seon Ah-hyun spoke in a low voice.

“I’m over there.”

“uh.”

“Do not ask… Are you uncomfortable with that VTIC Cheongryeo?”

“Puff.”

Living water almost came out of his nose.

‘How did you know?’

“Gwa are you okay?! Do massage… .”

“Ooh, that’s it.”

I shook my hand and brushed my hair. Seon Ah-hyun looked at me with a bit of concern, then cautiously brought out the next words.

It seemed like he had thought of it beforehand.

“If you feel uncomfortable… Shall I switch with me?”

“what?”

“Since Moondae already knows the choreography for our team’s stage, I thought it would be okay… .”

“… … .”

“Because people who live there are uncomfortable with me… Not much of a difference… !”

“Okay.”

I smiled and closed the water bottle.

me really Still, it’s quite impressive. Does that guy even worry about interpersonal relationships anymore?

“And when are you going to learn the choreography again?”

“Haha because it’s a day… I’m fine.”

“… … .”

I’m full of talent.

“Anyway… I don’t like him, but it’s not to the point that I can’t work. He’s a no-nonsense guy in the first place.”

“That’s right. Even so… Please let me know if you have any thoughts!”

“okay.”

It’s not going to happen, but it’s okay if you say it gently.

I lay down on a seat that had turned into a bed.

And after a while, as if passing by, he asked.

“But is it that obvious?”

“Yes?”

“That I don’t like that senior.”

“… A little bit of Joe?”

“Have you ever done that?”

“Every time we meet Ma, Mundae keeps clenching his fists… … .”

“… … .”

I’ll have to be careful.

And after 11 hours I found out that I really do make fists.

“hello.”

“Hello, senior!”

‘It was real.’

A large choreography practice room with cameras already installed by the production team.

When Cheong-ryeo, who arrived a little late, smiled and said hello, my hand was really expressing its own will.

‘Maybe it’s because I remember being beaten.’

Anyway, thanks to Seon Ah-hyun, I figured it out. Be careful when you have a camera.

‘Anyway, there’s definitely a VTIC name value.’

Whether or not I paid attention to my fists, everyone around me was greeting Cheongryeo with all their strength.

“Nice to meet you. Shall we start practicing right away?”

Among the guys who shed longing or inferiority feelings, Cheong-ryeo went into the main topic casually.

‘This is convenient.’

I have no intention of objecting to not wasting time before practicing.

And the work on the copper wire has begun.

“One more go!”

The parts were all divided in advance, and through the video, he learned his own movement line that was already set.

However, once again, there was a difference in the spacing, height, and movement size.

It’s a maintenance job, but usually a choreography trainer is attached… .

“Eat more left elbow.”

“yes yes… !”

This time, the trainer is shouting ‘I’ll play it one more time’ from a certain moment.

Because some bastard caught them all.

“Please come in a little faster during the pre-chorus. When you lower your arms, just stop moving and come in.”

“ah… . yes!”

Of course, it is Chung-ryeo who is the one who is the most cold during this time.

It’s comforting to see people who would have been able to lose weight thanks to their age and popularity gradually became intimidated and followed.

“Then let’s take a break for a while. 10 minutes?”

“yes!”

I think I will cut my break time like a knife.

Whoa.

‘This is really useful.’

Indeed, a guy who lived as an idol leader for decades is different. Efficiency is too high

‘It will end quickly.’

It was a moment when I was about to slightly revise my evaluation of him.

“Brother.”

“… yes.”

canceled immediately.

The camera is also being maintained, so there is no need to mix with these guys, so I went to the corner, but you dare to talk to them again.

However, unexpectedly, there were no crazy comments like usual.

Cheong-Ryeo lowered her voice and gave advice quietly.

“It’s good to make big movements, but you’re moving the wrong joints.”

“… … .”

“Come on, look.”

A neat demonstration followed.

An action that gives a rebound to the upper body by bending and bouncing the whole body.

“This is where your elbow and thigh touch.”

“yes.”

“Why do you think it touches me?”

“It seems to be trying to give a sense of rhythm to the movement of bending and straightening the body.”

“that’s right.”

The affirmation came out at once, but the words did not end there.

“But you can’t just think that far.”

“… … !”

“look. This has to be done considering even bending the upper body in the next movement.”

Cheongryeo pulled her elbows out to the side as much as she didn't have to, then pulled her upper body.

"This increases the movement of the arm joints, so the movement jumps faster when you bend down."

Then, somewhere in the action, there was a sense of tension.

It was the so-called 'chewy' expression.

"That way the lines look better."

"… … ."

"If you pay attention to the 'why' of the front and back movements, you will be able to show off all your skills in the future."

I was about to bite my tongue.

oh my god.

This bastard is 'real' helpful.

For I have just understood that advice is extremely useful.

'… Compared to the stats raised, somehow I felt less like I was dancing better than the same stats.'

This was a realization that took time if not talent.

Like Cha Yu-jin, you know it instinctively, or like Keun Se-jin, you realize it after thinking and practicing countless times.

And to refine it into language and deliver it so that even outsiders can understand… It was something only a guy who had tried a thousand times could do something similar.

'It's not like I ate it raw for the past year.'

I plainly admitted.

“yes. thank you.”

“… … !”

Cheong-rye was unexpectedly silent for a moment.

However, he soon understood and smiled and nodded his head.

“yes. Wouldn’t it be nice to hear something like this? When we’re all together, it hurts when we get pointed out.”

“… … .”

“Ah, I’m not saying that juniors aren’t particularly good at it. haha.”

This fucking hurts my pride.

‘I’m only dancing, but singing is fucking.’

It’s a status window, but I can’t help but say this.

“I am not offended by that. Even seniors wouldn’t be offended if I gave them advice during recording.”

“… … aha. yes.”

Cheongryeo’s eyes narrowed.

But he shrugged his shoulders as if he would soon admit it.

“Well, I guess that’s the limit of talent. It didn’t work anymore.”

“… … .”

It would have been. Seeing that a guy with a B+ vocal growth limit has raised it to B+.

I was about to admire it a little, but I heard a very low voice muttering to myself like a low voice.

“So every time… How annoying it was to find a sane youngster who could sing well.”

“… … .”

“What this… So, even now, I can’t say I’m very successful. Did you resign? haha.”

… Come to think of it, the main vocalist of VTIC was the club guy.

I can’t. I quickly turned my words around before more crazy noises came out.

“Still, you seem to be doing well.”

“Looks like you’ve got your own know-how. therefore… .”

Beep beep beep!

At that moment, a loud alarm rang.

“Oh, time is up.”

It meant break time was over.

Cheong-Ryeo went straight to the middle of the practice room and stretched her neck.

“Then, let’s get the details right.”

And on a one-off special stage, the unification of the details of the choreography was tenacious enough to make one wonder if there was a need for this.

Thanks to that, I must say that the only people who died were the production crew.

* * *

“Is it up?”

Cheongryeo’s personal fan was constantly checking to see if the third episode had been uploaded while refreshing Netplus.

And the action was soon rewarded.

“It’s up!”

You can’t miss the variety show Cheongryeo will appear after a long time! Fans of Cheongryeo excitedly watched episode 3.

but… This time, almost none of the chrysanthemums came out.

“hmm… .”

It was definitely still stimulating, and there was a taste of seeing the participants purify and refine while struggling to get their tears and runny nose out.

However, since the most important request was almost non-existent, the excitement cooled off.

‘yes… It couldn’t have been filmed that long.’

He was not the main MC, but appeared as a mentor to that extent, so it was a great rice cake.

“I need to see the cut version.”

The fan of Cheong Ryeo shrugged and decided to stop wasting time.

But at that moment.

[After a while!]

[KPOP mentors’ splendid demonstration stage will be held!]

[Participant: Oh my god!]

[Oh my God. Will the participants be able to recreate this stage?]

A notice for a special stage suddenly appeared.

“Crazy Shin Jae-hyun!!”

And the fan did not miss Cheong-ryeo’s face.

‘what!!’

Cheongryeo’s fan couldn’t stand it and passed the replay bar for the last time. Seeing that it was put in like this, I assumed that it would definitely come out at the end.

And that prediction was right.

“Aww!”

In the video atmosphere that suddenly changed like a typical WeTube stage content.

The fan confirmed the 7 idol mentors standing in formation.

And in it, there really was a blueprint!

“Huh.”

It was almost the first time since her second year of debut that Cheongryeo performed with other idols!

‘There’s also Mr. and Mrs. Park Moondae.’

The fan’s head raced tight.

And the moment I thought that the formation of the idols with their chins up and their arms crossed or posing was somehow familiar.

Intro started.

-ShhShhShh Shh… !

“… … !”

This… It was a hot idol hit that was released only half a year ago!

It’s not even just a hit song.

‘That’s Miri’s song!’

A hit song by a rookie female idol who debuted less than a year ago was playing on the screen.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 217

If you can’t debut, you’ll get a fatal disease.

Cover stage for episode 217.

It refers to a stage where songs of other groups or singers are performed, not their own songs.

And, of course, there was an implicit line in that too.

‘I don’t bother to sing juniors’ songs.’

It’s because if you’re not as good as your juniors, the picture will be very awkward. Besides, even if you did well, it was common to hear that you had no morals.

In a situation where usually cover stages have to digest other people’s songs with only a few days of practice, the risk was quite fatal.

In addition, many idols appearing as mentors in this variety show by the production team of < Azusa > have already floated as they wished.

‘No, there are a lot of guys who aren’t in the level to do a cover stage at the end of the year!’

It means that no one would have expected to see them on video doing something unexpected by covering a newcomer’s latest hit.

‘omg.’

For your information, related SNSs in the same time zone also have ‘??’ was dominated by

However, fans of Cheong Ryeo immediately had an epiphany.

‘Honestly, does Jaehyun’s number of things decrease too much when he guesses with his senior’s songs?’

This is because there were only a handful of idols who were older than VTIC but had hit songs within the last 5 years.

However, it was not fun to cover songs from the past. It’s because I’ve already seen a lot of things to worry about.

‘Rookie female idol song… Fun for sure!’

Come to think of it, it was really the first time since her debut year to see Cheongryeo perform a female idol song!

The fan’s heart started beating at the thought of a rare rice cake that suddenly exploded.

It was a possible reflex action because I didn’t even have the slightest thought that Cheongryong would not be able to do it.

And by the time all these thoughts flew by in a couple of seconds or so.

-We gonna fly high

The screen stopped close-up and the stage started.

Dung-dung-dung-dung-

A stringed instrument wood that was tangled on top of the bass drum was deformed and laid down like the electronic sound of a synthesizer.

And the idols, who were wearing tight-fitting leather harness costumes, broke into formation and started dancing on the purple stage.

The sense of incongruity coming from different groups was gently melted and covered.

Skills refined through years of activity also played a role, but decisively… Because the center is different.

Of course it was clean.

-You shout, high up,

fly up, get out of bondage, shoot up,

Paradox

‘Ouch!’

A strong chorus came out from the introduction. Cheongryeol’s fan automatically fell silent.

“Ha, I like it… .”

Cheong-Ri on the screen ended the introduction by connecting dozens of seconds of choreography like flowing water, as if it were a single movement.

To make it feel like an instant without even having time to think of the original song.

It was a great ability.

‘Gaaaagh!’

Aside from screaming unknown screams and member names, similar posts were also posted in the fan community.

-Cheongrye is good at X

-balls -World class is gone

-Oh Only height changed, but the atmosphere changed

It wasn’t just the height change.

The nuance is different.

Mirinae’s debut song ‘high up’ is a song that contains the metaphor of a caterpillar caught in a spider’s web being caught in a cocoon and hardened, but eventually escaping as a butterfly.

In part, it seems to have a bit of a retro, mournful taste, but the refined and rhythmic taste is perfect for the recent trend and has succeeded in box office success.

It was an irreproachable debut song with intentional sensibility in places in a song that stood out with a rookie style, but… It also meant that the color was strong.

This is because the metaphor itself originally meant to shake off the public opinion of controversy and noise caused by season 4 of < Azusa > and soar.

And established idols who already had a history of doing this did not fall into this trap.

It means that they did not use their unique sensibility for this cover stage for no reason.

-Tear off the skin

Take off take off take off I took off and just saved the power right now .

“Wow Mr.”

As is the case with rookie debut songs, there was no rigidity that unavoidably came out. Instead, the expressive power that came from leisure was maximized.

In addition, the choreography set by Cheongryeo was blocked at the source so that this leisure would not be seen as self-indulgence.

As a result, it became a stage that was driven like it was going to eat it, and it became a different feeling from the original song.

In a word, it has become a good example of the ‘strong and talented concept’ that the global KPOP fandom is crazy about.

Moreover, since they are not originally from the same group, the atmosphere of not giving up on anyone maximized it.

especially the chorus.

-You shout high up

(high-up up up up)

go farther up,

“Hey!”

drove away

The formation led by Cheongryeo was elegant and the dynamics were exquisite, drawing attention.

The law of choreography, which seems to improve overall quality if the guy in the middle controls it well, was faithfully followed.

Perhaps, as soon as episode 3 came up, some people who skimmed through and pulled out the performance scene are already endlessly pulling out GIF files.

‘Ah, it’s confirmed that there is no morality!’

The fans of Cheongryeo could not leave their smiles even though they were drawn to the twisted future. It was the magic of the stage.

It was so full of energy that it sounded like he was going to break everything down and use it as a support board, just like the lyrics of ‘I’m going to fly’.

-high up!

And verse 2 verse.

It was a part where a dramatic melody suddenly came in and the vocal ability was emphasized.

Of course, Park Moon-dae was in charge.

And this was originally a part that Mirinae’s center 1st place digested.

‘She’s good at dancing too.’

Fans of Cheongryeo briefly recalled the 1st place in Season 4, a huge all-round hexagonal character, and then reflexively felt a subtle sense of anxiety when they saw Moondae Park on the screen.

Park Moon-dae also danced quite well, but many non-fans still had doubts about his dancing.

… It was because the ‘POP☆CON’ when it first appeared in < Azusa > was so intense.

“Mmm.”

However, that worry ended with a guess.

-The pain and scars

can never be stopped

< THE WAY OUT >

Can’t let us down

“Oh.”

It was because Park Moon-dae’s dance was chewy.

The feeling I felt when I bent over was unusual.

‘you’re good?’

In Testa’s title song formation, there were not many cases of center during this full-fledged choreography, so the freshness was greater.

The fan of Cheongryeo nodded, perhaps it was a pity that there were so many guys who were good at dancing in a group.

‘But how is the dance line here… .’

Doesn’t it look like our kid?

However, before Cheongryeo’s fans felt that strange sense of déjà vu, the song caught their ears first.

-We gonna fly high!

Against this chain,

Say Goodbye

must have been post-edited, but it was a more dramatic development than the original song.

“Whoa.”

The difference between the balance members and the vocal-specialized members was significant.

‘He’s really good at it.’

Fans of Cheongryeo felt a strange feeling when they saw the young face of Moondae Park suddenly looking at the screen.

And at the same time, anger was welling up.

It was because of the skinny guy he was reminiscent of.

‘If you think of the kids having a hard time because you’re that incompetent bastard and you’re crushing your butt… !’

Wasn’t that bastard so damn good, so he was busy storing things!

‘Beat the all-fan keynote! I should have been cursing that head by swearing over it!’

Still remembering the overseas fans who commented like ‘Vtic is 5 people ㅠ’, Cheongryeo’s fans grinded their teeth… .

Anyway, the stage I was watching was so good that I was fascinated, and my anger quickly subsided.

“phew.”

It’s been a long time since Cheong-Ryeo sang a typical conceptual rookie idol song like this, so I was happy.

-We gonna find

〈THE WAY OUT〉

After her idol almost flew off the stage, the final chorus ended with Moondae Park occupying the center for a while.

“hmm.”

I thought I should have given Cheongryeo in terms of ability distribution, but Park Moondae was quite impressive, so the fans decided not to complain.

Of course, it was possible because the amount of Cheongrye was sufficient.

“fun… .”

Cheongryeo's fan was satisfied while saving the pictures and gifs of Cheongryeo lying on the bed. It's been a long time since I had such a sense of distance.

And I secretly saved a few things from Park Moon-dae.

'How cute.'

Fans ended the day satisfactorily, guessing things like, "I seem to be close with the kids, but will I sign a contract with LeTi after the test is over?"

And when the behind-the-scenes video was uploaded a few days later, when I checked Chung-ryeo informing Park Moon-dae of the movements, I was proud, saying, 'As expected, my eyes were not wrong'.

* * *

-Mundae, when did you get a dance line behind your sister's knowledge? As expected, IQ 300 genius puppy

-I recommend the best husky (Chorus choreography scene Moondae Park GIF file)

-Park Moondae's ability to digest the concept is truly unique. It is rare to find a performer who knows how to show accurate expression no matter where he puts it. And Park Moon-dae must be one of those few. (Photo)

-Hey, it's not for nothing that Season 3 won first place

.

I nodded my head while monitoring the reaction of the first public stage.

Since it was a song by a rookie group that T1 promotes, words such as "Why did you choose a junior song?" did not come out.

'Because anyone can see it's the production team's breath.'

In addition, on the contrary, there were not as many stories as expected that ‘T-One pushes Mirinae too much’.

‘Because the stage reviews are so good.’

Once the results are good and satisfactory, the tendency to justify the detailed process was unavoidable.

However, because the stage was staged with unrelated people tied up, there was a fierce fight over who did better.

Of course, usually the most popular guy wins, like this.

-Look at Cheongryeo’s face. Wherever you look, you’ll be 10 years old soon. I’d believe it if you said that she debuted yesterday .

I’m in a bad mood, fighting!

-Cheongryeo is a millennium idol

‘I don’t know about a thousand years, but maybe I’ve been working as an idol for fifty years… … .’

I shyly scrolled down the social media page.

this time… I hate to admit it, but that ‘most popular guy’ had the biggest role on the stage, so I don’t have anything special to comment on.

‘Anyway, I succeeded.’

It is said that the number of views is increasing at a terrifying speed not only in Korea, but also in YouTube videos that have been uploaded separately.

She'll be doing variety shows, raising Mirinae's awareness, and making her happy at work.

'Actually, we haven't lost anything either.'

As the overseas recognition of this variety show steadily increased, it was quite helpful in raising the overseas recognition of the Testa members who were well-known as mentors in the beginning.

'The special stage I appeared on this time was very well received.'

And since Seon Ah-hyun is next, I will continue this momentum.

There was also Youngrin in the lineup.

It's not as good as Cheongryeo, but he's a well-known person overseas, so Ahyeon Sun will also benefit from synergy.

In addition, the two of them have such a difference in years, so there is no risk of unnecessary love rumors.

'It was a mixed group song.'

From what I heard, they covered a mixed unit song from a popular agency that was quite popular overseas.

I know because I did it once on an impromptu stage during a tour. It's a classic song, and it's an atmosphere that suits Sun Ah-hyun well, so it will come out well.

Coincidentally, the person who was monitoring my stage next to me asked if the video was over.

"It's nothing. You did a great job… !"

"Are you okay dancing?"

"Yes! Hey, you have good strength!"

Oh I’m sure

“thanks. I think you will be fine too.”

“Is that so?”

Sun Ah-hyun laughed. I guess I think I did pretty well.

‘As expected, the correct answer was not to change.’

I think it would have been good if I didn’t see it, but I’ll have to monitor it next week.

I thought so and turned off the smartphone I was looking at.

However, the process to get there was not as smooth as expected.

After the second special stage trailer was uploaded a few days later.

[Post posted on Coolet Choi Ki-woon’s private account.jpg]

[Choi Gi-woon’s scaffolding stolen]

It’s because the secret account of an unknown kid who performed this mixed unit song like Sun Ah-hyun was stolen.

‘Honestly, I didn’t even think of Young Rin in the lineup.’

To be honest, we didn’t know this until now. Maybe it would be better if he received less camera footage because of the controversy.

The problem is that, without fail, those who use the method of interest have started appearing.

-Isn’t this the story of Seon Ah-hyun? (Captured)

-Isn’t the timing right

? It’s about time for the cooldown to come back.’

This meant that the era of pest eradication had arrived.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 218

If you can’t debut, you’ll get a fatal disease Episode 218

In fact, what was revealed in the private account of the robbed guy was an obvious repertoire.

[Yeah, I’m sick of it]

[When are you done? (Flaming emoticon)]

[I’m tired of these X feet… The weight of the crown of Hugh Star’s life]

It means that he is filled with lamentations and curses about his work, just as office workers curse at their work.

Still, if it ended with swearing at the company, it would have ended at the level of ‘break up’, but this guy freely criticized his colleagues and fans.

Of course, the internet is in a frenzy.

-Leave

it, you crazy bastard

. Yes, swearing at celebrities is fun, right

? Retirement at the time of commenting ㄱㄱ

-I don’t think that momentary emotion is all about stone, but couldn’t I please be more careful?

-It was like attitude X, so I knew it would be like this.

-It seems like the name of the fans who came to the radio when you see this is right, but at that time, it sounds like X or uncomfortable on the radio (video link

) hmm…

-The life of a star is sooooooo

-Ah, did you know now that stuttering women are crazy

?

Poor groupies.

They're babies from the beginning.'

Bastards who seem to bet their lives on cutting down or crushing Seon Ah-hyun.

Most of them left after "Azusa" ended or switched to the moment a new survival program of interest started, but some seemed to still be there.

'Other guys, of course, have persistent antis, but… The offspring attached to Seon Ah-hyun are a bit different.'

It wasn't just 'I hope it's ruined', but there were many bastards who were obsessed with ruining Sun Ah-hyun's image and killing his spirit.

As Seon Ah-hyun receives counseling and her attitude in public events changes less passively, it seems to be more fucking.

'What's the point of speculating on how crazy bastards think?'

The answer was to sue, but once it exploded, it would be better to fix it quickly.

I rubbed my chin with my hand.

'… It won't be difficult to organize.'

This kind of thing will be clear from the fan opinion line if you just shed the evidence that contradicts the 'circumstantial suspicion' these guys are talking about.

Right now, in places where you can't touch under the water, Sun Ah-hyun's fans are terrifyingly beating the public opinion.

-Hahahahaha. It’s so bullshit, it’s embarrassing. It’s like a club for a kid who knits and embroiders with a scrubber hahahahaha -Wow, there’s a lot of complaints

. It’s crazy, but it’s a bit of a bit of a bit of a bit of a bit of????

-Ah, how about going to a club? My kid is a professional idol without controversy, deceiving fans, deceiving schedules, punk attitude

. Of course, there’s no way a guy like Seon Ah-hyun would be a club leader.

Here, for defense, the moving news at the time, the roommate content… I have a lot to post as evidence.

It’s before there’s a lot of talk, so if you post something within today, it will be sorted out at once.

However, Sun Ah-hyun’s mental state is something to consider.

‘There is a possibility of getting scared or panicking.’

Due to Sun Ah-hyun’s personality, she won’t even try to rest properly, and even the situation where the counseling she’s received so far becomes dormant is drawn.

‘… The next activity is worth seeing.’

My temples are already itching.

As expected, it would be right to proceed quickly and finish at a level that does not go into Sun Ah-hyun’s eyes.

I immediately called the company and tried to adjust the timing of the content release.

But, of course, there was a problem.

“Ahyeon makes useless noises while filming. Wouldn’t it be better to just release it now? … Oh, it’s not finished yet. Then, even if it costs a little more, pulling it to be completed by midnight… .”

“Are you dumb?”

“… !”

All of a sudden, Seon Ah-hyun came to the veranda to look for me.

That was the downside of living together. Damn.

* * *

“I thought it would be nice to put this next to the bed… … .”

“Um, yes.”

The purpose of Seon Ah-hyun’s visit to me was to discuss the interior design of the room. I took the dog doll Seon Ah-hyun gave me and put it aside.

‘… I should have considered the fact that this guy is my roommate.’

Anyway, since I had already heard the story, I couldn’t help it.

‘Seon Ah-hyun is the kind of person who thinks a lot.’

If you don’t hear the exact facts, there is a high probability of guessing the situation in a worse way.

‘Turn lightly.’

I spoke in a comfortable tone to Seon Ah-hyun, who was stiff.

“No big deal. Since one idol is being criticized and it has nothing to do with you, I thought it would be better to prevent it from being woven together.”

“That’s right… .”

“okay.”

“okay.”

Sun Ah-hyun nodded quietly.

‘I don’t think it’s going to go on like this.’

“By the way.”

I thought so.

“What kind of story… ? Because my story is coming out… .”

Did you hear that far?

Anyway, don’t be shy and say it lightly.

“It is a nonsense story. I mean, are you going to the club?”

“Big club??”

“uh. Everyone doesn’t believe it, but why are you saying that the dates are similar? So I tried to show you that you did something else that day.”

“Ah ah… … .”

Seon Ah-hyun calmly agreed this time as well.

‘Is it over?’

I wondered if it would be okay if I stopped using my smartphone for a few days so that I wouldn’t look for strange noises.

“It hasn’t gotten any bigger, so you don’t have to look for it.”

However, Sun Ah-hyun’s words did not end with acceptance.

“There. Then Moondae found everything… ?”

If I didn’t look it up here, it sounds like things have grown big enough to see this bullshit everywhere.

I shrugged.

“Because I monitor things, there are times when I go a little deeper.”

“Mmm.”

And Seon Ah-hyun paused as if he noticed, but eventually continued to talk behind his back.

“There is.”

“uh.”

Seon Ah-hyun clenched her hands tightly.

“Ah, in the future, shouldn’t Mundae stop looking for people who talk like that…?” … !”

“… … !”

“It’s hard. Those words… If you look at it often, it doesn’t dull it, it makes it harder… .”

“… hmm.”

I’m a little embarrassed. I never thought I would hear these words not even during a lull, but in a situation where I was benefiting right away.

I crossed my arms.

“Wouldn’t it be comfortable to act quickly?”

“It’s okay.”

Seon Ah-hyun said quite firmly.

“That’s not true, and not everyone believes that… !”

“… … !”

“Ho, if there are more people who believe that way, even if I talk about it then… I think it will be fine.”

“… … .”

“That’s it… I hope Mundae doesn’t worry or care too much.”

It was an unbelievable statement from Seon Ah-hyun, who said ‘I’m used to it because I see people being criticized so much’ during < Azusa >.

Does the power to receive counseling come from this?

‘It’s amazing.’

Thanks to that, I kept my mouth shut for a while, but Seon Ah-hyun opened her mouth first.

“I am… When I look for a car, I feel rather anxious.”

“I see.”

“Yes. I didn’t do it before, but for some reason, I think everyone will believe that… I was worried that no one would listen to my explanation… .”

“… … .”

is it an experience?

“Ho, I’m afraid that even if an explanation is given, it will become a problem again later and cause a big problem… I kept checking and worrying.”

The experience seems to be right.

‘Is it a problem with that age group?’

I listened silently. Seon Ah-hyun swallowed.

“Ha, but the chances of that really happening are very low, right… ?”

“that’s right.”

“Yes!”

Sun Ah-hyun’s expression relaxed at the immediate answer.

“So, I hope you don’t worry too much… Do it!”

“… … .”

That’s great. When I am told to restrain myself even though I am helping, I have to be scornful, but I don’t even want to because it is too straight-forward.

‘What are you worried about?’

I untied my arms and smiled.

“Well, the fort doesn’t look that far. This time, it happened because I was noticed by chance.”

After hearing something similar from Cha Yoo-jin the other day, I stopped trying not to miss each and every one of them.

Sun Ah-hyun’s face brightened slightly.

“That’s right!”

“uh. And actually, it’s kind of fun.”

“… … ! re fun… ?”

“Don’t look. It tastes good when you wipe it off.”

“Ah ah.”

Seon Ah-hyun shook her head vigorously. My pupils seem to be shaking, but it must be because of my mood.

“Ah Okay. If Moondae is… .”

“okay. I will do it in moderation.”

“Yes.”

On the contrary, when she said that the stress was relieved, Seon Ah-hyun calmed down again.

‘After they became roommates, they started talking about everything.’

And only then came the standard response.

“That and… Moondae. Thank you so much for caring about these things.”

I shrugged.

“Well, this time I knew anyway, so I just responded.”

“Ah Okay. … that but! It’s okay if other people don’t suffer… .”

“No, no one else will.”

“Huh?”

There’s something I’ve been thinking about ever since I got the answer, “I think it will take a little longer to edit.”

“You and I do.”

“Uh… ?”

And it means that I spent four or five hours eagerly holding onto my laptop that evening when my schedule was empty.

Thanks to this, I was able to upload the content as scheduled at midnight.

Of course, it was not the official content that we talked about with the company earlier.

* * *

Even fans felt that Testa was the type to use his SNS account to the fullest.

Photos and recent statuses were posted almost every day, and sometimes the members would show off their cute image by bickering or competitively uploading them.

But uploading a video wasn't that common.

It was also the first time since the surprise release of a fan song that a rather lengthy video was uploaded rather than a short one.

-Video length 6 minutes 27 seconds?

-Who is this hyoja

?

"… … !"

And at the scene that came out, he reflexively smiled.

-Hul vlog -Heo

-eok I love you

What was played was a crude video of the members sitting freely in an unfamiliar living room!

There was even a small subtitle included.

[Popcorn Lover Cha Yoo-jin]

[Yum]

Instead of roommate content or moving content that doesn't fit the schedule, Park Mun-dae's personal collection was quickly edited and uploaded.

He did not forget the number of goals he was aiming for by deliberately using a film camera-style filter from the 90s to keep the shooting date and time open.

[19:11:21]

[Today's dinner attendees]

[Seon Ah-hyun is prohibited from approaching the fire]

In the dark but warm old-fashioned colors.

The members chatted while having dinner against the background of the kitchen, where the luggage was not yet completely organized.

Also, playing games among themselves, looking at the camera, saying V, or saying hello was edited briefly.

[Pajamas were comfortable]

[Good night!]

Even brushing your teeth or going to bed.

Lazy BGM was laid to create a comfortable atmosphere.

Even excluding the filter, the sensibility that felt quite raw had a different taste from the official video content.

-So cute

-Kids are still wearing the animal pajamas they made for their debut. I love you

.

Of course, the imposition effect came out steadily.

-That’s not a dorm.

-What is it, did you go to MT??

-The awesome kids must have really moved!!

-So, is it a roommate game? It’s a bit tantalizing that it’s released so fast. (Moondae cut captured by turning the camera)

-Please, let’s do it one more time as a roommate for Moon Daeng Daeng Cha Cha Young.

Of course, the most important objective was also achieved right away.

[Ahyeon completes the embroidery]

Since not a single member appeared on the screen at all times, Seon Ahyeon’s innocence was naturally proven.

In the middle of the rain, there was no way I could go to the club in 30 minutes.

-ㅅㅇㅎ How did the club go?

ㄴYeah, I was doing a halli galli to celebrate moving into his dorm at that time.

-Cunny bastard

-Hahahahahahahaha designed it for you

? I didn’t learn anything from Pitik.

It was a time when I realized that it was no longer a common rice cake even under the water, and I was struggling with meaningless fuss.

Once again, a wave came to push away the useless rumors.

-Hey, there’s something on YouTube

-What is it? -What day is it today

?

Around 1:00 in the morning, T1 Star’s WeTube official channel notification popped up.

[TeSTAR ‘Enchanted?’ Concept Film]

In the black thumbnail, Ryu Chung-woo, dressed in a costume somewhere between the two music videos, ‘Spring out’ and ‘Spring out’, was sitting with a pine tree in the background.

-Hul,

it was a concept film to connect the world view that Testa prepared to finish this activity.

Originally released three days later, Park Moon-dae brought it through a group meeting.

It was openly a stock attack.

Thanks to this, the reaction of the fans was like this.

-Suddenly?

-I don’t know what it is, but thank you guys

.

“… … !”

The atmosphere of the video quickly swallowed up the screen so that their hearts, which had been lightly heated, would settle down.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 219

If you can't debut, you'll die. The video for episode 219 started with Ryu Cheong-wu sitting motionless under a pine tree.

[…] … .]

The pine forest in the background was a clear night. The moment when the blue eyes shining in it disappear under the eyelids.

Peeing-

The screen flickered, as if reminiscing, the past and the future were grafted together.

dazzling day. It was the moment when Liu Cheng-wu, who had sent the arrow, reaped the palace with a smile.

Suddenly, the cut changed to an expressionless Ryu Cheng-wu holding a black musket, and a bullet came out of the muzzle.

bang!

And the scene where the bullet was fired slowly changed to a cut where a similar-sized gold coin bounced in front of Lee Se-jin's face.

Tithing –

And Lee Se-jin's hands, which were bouncing gold coins, suddenly turned into fancy hand movements that were dancing in the palace.

swish

After that, the five-colored cloth fluttering in the air turned into a faded string, and the light of Bakmundae tied around the string like a bracelet was reflected.

Piece by piece, cuts that could have appeared in a music video were put together like a stream of consciousness and passed across the screen.

Using the slow, classically arranged melody of the parade as BGM.

-??? What is it?

– I think it was taken during the parade and sout

– Waiting for interpretation

People were taken aback by the sudden video, but primarily enjoyed the great visual beauty and the new cuts of the members.

It should have looked like a collection of B-cuts, but the arrangement of the exquisite cuts gave off a hint of symbolism.

And as it progressed a little further, some noticed the composition.

-This is coming up in reverse order of the teaser

ㄴHuh

ㄴCrazy Goosebumps

.

The cuts of the members were appearing in reverse order in the order in which each solo song appeared in the upcoming teaser.

It wasn’t even once.

When the cut of Seon Ah-hyun reaching for the surface of the water, which appeared at the very beginning of the teaser, appeared, it turned into a cut of Ryu Chung-wu turning the musket and snatching it.

The beginning and the end are connected.

The cut continued as if the flashback continued.

Whoops!

over and over again.

Faster with a great sense of speed.

The artistic cuts that crossed each other as if they were being chased came to an abrupt stop, just like when they started.

click.

The moment when Cha Yoo-jin grabbed Ryu Cheong-wu's hand and lifted him up, and the citizenship application in his hand was close-up.

[Ding-.]

Suddenly, the cut was fixed.

And instead, out of nowhere, the face of Bae Se-jin, who was standing behind Cha Yu-jin, was illuminated.

With close-ups that are relaxed and fixed like a movie.

[…] … .]

The face revealing thoughts seemed to tell who the subject of the reminiscence expressed in the previous numerous cuts was.

[Wahhahaha!]

Eventually, Bae Se-jin quietly moved her feet behind the members who were excitedly running around holding the application for citizenship.

My steps got faster and faster. The sound of laughter faded away.

Tadadak!

And soon, the place where Bae Se-jin was standing changed.

It was the huge window he looked down on this splendid city in the last music video.

The vast and exotic city was still there.

However, there was a document attached to the window that had not been shown in detail in the previous music video.

-Guidelines for responding to requests for citizenship certificates (yokai)

On the crumpled documents, there were numerous red circles on the ‘active refusal in case of emergency’… .

Which means the certificate of citizenship was useless bait.

[After.]

Bae Se-jin sighed and opened the document.

Then, hesitantly, he alternately looked at the papers and out the window. In a corner outside the window, the still-excited members flashed past… .

So his conflict did not last long.

[…] … .]

The theme melody of ‘Spring out’ was played with one string instrument.

Bae Se-jin slowly threw the papers to the floor. Then he took an old cloth from his pocket and started covering it over his eyes.

Like when you’re on the go.

A natural and clear voice narration flowed over it.

[If I were to be born again]

[I want to be born as a person like you.]

Bae Se-jin on the screen stretched out his hand toward the window without hesitation, with his eyes closed.

Slow close-ups and escalating music.

And the moment your hand touches it.

Took.

The music distorted and the vision reversed.

shhh.

Blackout and white noise.

And the screen came back to life.

Not Bae Se-jin, but black-haired Park Mun-dae, standing in his school uniform and taking his hand away from the window.

It was school.

He turned around and smiled at the camera.

The sunset was setting.

[…] … .]

It was a very familiar scene.

Then came the familiar sound of a chime.

♬♪♩♪- ♬♪♬♪- ♪♩-

Magical boy melody.

The screen melted away with him.

[Still enchanted]

[See you in that dream]

left behind.

The video ended just like that.

-????????

-What did I see now

? Of course, but after that, Testa's fandom was completely covered in a huge worldview linking rice cake for about three days.

* * *

"Excellent."

The successive release of personal daily life and official worldview videos was also very effective. I skimmed through the SNS articles full of theories.

Let's see, there are all sorts of stories.

-The taste of parallel worlds

-Think of it as a kind of inception A dream within a dream? Probably Coming > Magical Boy > Bareremi > It looks like an airplane – Come to think of it, even during the picnic, strangely, all the scenes from the previous MV came out at the same time. ?

-ㅠㅠㅠㅠ My kids wanted to become human beings, not monsters

. (Drinking Kimchi Soup seems to have made people more excited to be able to talk about it in various ways, starting with Bae Se-jin's role and the order of the worldview, probably because of making it so meaningful

.

Of course, there are many fans who don't really like the world view itself. These people must have been a bit squeamish the past few days

. If you ask me whether or not to play with the world view, I can feel it endlessly

– I thought it was a group with different concepts, but the scale is too big, so I'm a little tired

– I'll have to see

Moondae brushing my teeth one more time. Then, within a few days, the fan community will be able to run comfortably. '

I don't think there will be any more stories about Seon Ah-hyun'

'Well, I'm going to stop watching soon,' so I'm going to consciously not watch the stories that are being talked about under the water for a while…. In fact when I had a short meeting to solve this world view content a little quickly, the related story came out. -That's why… I decided not to look at the Internet much from now on…!

,

-Good work!

-Yes. I was a bit worried because it seemed like I was browsing too often

. I heard that it is good for me. It’s a great choice!

Rabin Kim seemed to have misunderstood me a little… But anyway, when it came to this, even Sejin shrugged his shoulders with an expression like ‘What can I do?’ These guys unanimously agreed to my mental health I didn’t know that I would be concerned.

‘If anyone sees it, I’ll see that I’m a reclusive loner who is addicted to the Internet to the level of a dangerous group.’

Anyway, that’s why I had no choice but to nod my head in the end,

‘I’ll just live watching animal videos on Wetube for a few days. ‘

I thought to myself Connected via YouTube.

Algorithms did not come out because they did not leave viewing records and refused to collect related information. I was just thinking of sorting them by popularity and seeing them.

… But, of course, this video was the 5th most popular in real time.

[The big picture of Testa? Discover the route that leads Americans to K-pop ant hell!]

… ‘Azusa?’ I saw Westerners grabbing their heads with a speech bubble saying, “What is the world view?”

It was to the point of suffocating because the soup overflowed with aggro.

However, looking at the name of the YouTuber, he has seen it a few times.

‘The content itself was quite well organized.’

Roughly speaking, he was a guy who biasedly summarized the overseas Internet.

"… … ."

Then, about real-time popular videos… Doesn't it really matter if you look at it? Isn't it a thumbnail that even those who are not interested will see at least once?

'By pretending, I think he must have been giving compliments.'

There is nothing to take a hit on. I immediately made a valid conclusion and clicked on the video.

Skip the obvious story that starts with 'Hello Witube viewers'.

Let's start playing at 1.5x speed.

[Everyone, in the last video, I told you why Testa's popularity in the UK and the US increased.] [

The flow from the survival audition meme to 〈Idol Inc.〉 is connected to the number of views of the 'Spring out' music video.]

The 'old days' The remark, "I remember it," is intertwined with an East Asian meme, making a fuss about something that has become a hot topic.

[This oriental steampunk worldview thrilled the hearts of many good people. And what was thrown here is the new K-pop variety show 〈K-NOW〉.]

[The production team of 〈Azusa〉 made it, and even it was a self-produced entertainment show on Netplus with good accessibility. Of course, Americans who became interested in the Testa-Azusa line started watching this program.]

Not until 'rumble'. There were some people who were interested in KPOP enough to even watch < Azusa >.

The moment I thought it was too obvious, the next thing that was quite useful came out.

[However, this is not the end. 〈K-NOW〉 hit the jackpot locally than expected!]

Oh, that's right.

I heard that the "Azusa" production team's hell K-pop camp has established itself quite successfully in the US.

Even so, it was not a really popular channel level because it was well produced for Netplus itself, but it means that the speaker has become a bit old to the general public on the Internet.

Of course, this YouTuber omitted the story altogether.

Still, the next words were quite sharp.

[The hit variety show attracted a wide range of public viewers. Here, with the meme as an opportunity, Old B who rode the Testa-Azusa line became active!

] This is because I highly recommended it.]

"… … !"

oh this is kinda new

'Was there such an analysis?'

I thought I was just benefiting from overseas recognition because of my talent for entertainment, but I guess there was some movement within that as well.

[Viewers who were impressed with < K-NOW > ended up watching Testa's music video or < Idol Inc. > and were newly introduced to KPOP!

] It can be seen as a move with a strong ripple effect.]

No one in the production team intended it, and the company said that it hadn't even considered it, but I'll bet this quarter's settlement.

Because we haven't painted until here either.

However, the YouTuber seems to be completely convinced of his theory.

[Then, how far does Testa's big picture go?]

[Even just yesterday, a new video of Testa's worldview was uploaded. The video connects the chronology of Testa's activities so far.

] [In the end, even an indicator that their debut song 'Magic Boy' is inflow!]

[※Based on the video production date※]

… is it?

The graph attached to the video is a little exaggerated, but it sounds right.

[And last Monday, Testa finished this activity and entered a break. What kind of moves will the next album surprise us with?]

[Today's video ends here.]

Hmm.

I rubbed my chin.

There are a lot of exaggerations and fuss, but even if you remove all of them and look at them, there are quite a few discussions worth considering.

'The next album must be important again.'

It wasn't like that before, but this time, it's worth digesting the attention well as a fan base… I should choose a song that will work well both at home and abroad as the title song.

It's good to grow steadily without stagnation, but there's no time to breathe.

‘Should I take a closer look?’

Isn’t it okay to break away from the needs of existing fans just to create new ones? The more data, the better.

So, it was the moment I reflexively opened the Internet tab to start a detailed search.

“That’s a dumbass. Search?”

“… … ! just some.”

Seon Ah-hyun speaks in a small voice.

“Oh, I don’t see… oh no If you want to see Mundae, you will see it. I don’t want to see too many… .”

“… … .”

“Hey, because I promised… .”

OK.

“okay.”

“Ughhh!”

I turned off my smartphone. And I sighed inwardly.

‘Is there anything I can do?’

It’s going to be inactive soon, so there’s no need to figure out the schedule. Why are my hands and feet itching?

It was then.

Drooling!

Suddenly, the phone vibrated and a text message came.

“… … ?”

[Guide to notes for the 202X 1st Qualification Test Candidate]

Oh, that’s right.

Come to think of it, I applied for this just in time for my inactive period.

‘Should I just take a look at it?’

I calmly put down my smartphone on the road.

By the way, the people sitting next to me didn’t even know that they had seen this message in the blink of an eye.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 220

If I can’t debut, I’ll get sick to death Episode 220

To be honest, I didn’t have any great intentions about taking the GED.

It just seemed like there would be no harm in living at least in case of a high school diploma.

‘There’s no way that those who say they’re middle school graduates will be quiet just because they passed the GED, even though they wore their hair like that in variety shows.’

So, I just solved the past workbook once and finished without being conscious of it as if I was updating the TOEIC when the time came.

I even prepared for the official exam after graduating from college, but I wondered if I wouldn’t be able to pass the GED.

And as I thought, looking at the score of the previous exam, it was a pass.

“I just need to go quietly.”

It was the conclusion reached by covering the graded problem book.

Our activities ended yesterday, and we weren’t at the level of taking a vacation yet, but we were relaxed enough that our official schedule came out every other day or two.

Even so, I will have to prepare for the next album again after taking a break for about two weeks, but it means that there will be no problem taking the GED the day after tomorrow.

I crossed my arms.

‘Let’s not talk about it.’

There was nothing good about the news of my GED getting out of public opinion.

From useless sympathy public opinion to the worst case where a stalker becomes a nuisance to the exam hall, only unexpected situations increase.

Wouldn’t it be just annoying in the yard where monitoring was already restricted?

‘I don’t have to tell the others.’

It’s a long-awaited day off, so let’s all play on our own.

[Looks like these fucking KPOP bands!]

“Wahhahaha!”

Immediately outside the door, the sound of Cha Yoo-jin’s laughter was loud.

I think I’ve been watching 〈K-NOW〉 from the 4th episode, but thanks to that, I effectively trained for a mock test in the middle of the noise.

However, I don’t know why Cha Yu-jin is laughing.

‘The atmosphere seems to have changed a bit since episode 4.’

Unlike the beginning of the episode, which felt like ‘no-response officials are playing tricks with KPOP hell camp’, from the 4th episode, the stories of the participants were illuminated and a consensus was formed.

[Since my parents passed away, I’ve never had the feeling that other people ‘care’ about me.] [

I really need the prize money. For the sake of the family.]

And naturally, the editing of the participants' attitudes changed a bit to match the atmosphere.

Unlike before, when he was in pain at the camp and fell out like an extra villain in the KPOP bombing, he showed that he felt real worth while completing the stages one by one.

[I don't think I've ever pushed myself 100% like this.]

[They're real. Factory training? Eat all the X's! This effort is real and they train like athletes train!]

And even forming a consensus with KPOP mentors.

For example, the family history of 'Park Moon-dae' was intertwined with the participant's story and used a little.

Oh, I hear a sound outside the door, as if the scene mentioning me is passing by.

[After my parents passed away, I lived as a trash doing shit or drugs, but my mentor went to the audition and won.] [

This really means a lot to me.] It was just a scene where I was just giving tips on how to find a camera during the performance, but it was well organized with an interview. got it right

Maybe it's because he doesn't feel that he's tired of it abroad yet, but he seems to be able to communicate well with the Shinpa code.

'I'll share some of the cast… Should I skip it?'

Come to think of it, I already heard the news that season 2 production was confirmed.

'I hope there will be a lot of influx into the next album.'

I hurriedly opened the door and walked out. Cha Yoo-jin turns her head at once and shouts with her eyes flashing.

“brother! My brother is amazing, he is a wonderful person!”

“Oh thank you.”

They are on the verge of shouting ‘love yourself’ at any moment. he’s really american

I went to the kitchen and poured water.

“Has everyone gone out?”

“I don’t know! I’m awake now!”

It’s 2pm now, and I’m really proud to say it.

Actually, during my promotional period, I lived sleeping three to four hours, so even if I slept for twelve hours for a few days, they would treat me like a lazy person.

“Hyung, let’s play!”

“Later.”

“Do it now!”

“You saw something. You should see all of that.”

“aha.”

It’s over a term. There’s a half chance that you’ll forget that you said you’d like to play a game while watching a variety show.

I sat down at the table and drank slowly. After a while, Saejin Bae came out of the next room.

“Have you been sleeping? I did too!”

“Oh no, just… I read a book.”

“no way.”

Sejin Bae had a comfortable face for the first time in a while.

After being in the same room as the big guy, I sneaked out into the living room and saw him sitting in the corner, but he probably isn’t in the room right now.

‘Come to think of it, Seon Ah-hyun wasn’t in the room either.’

Sejin Kim and Chungwoo Ryu are said to be so, but even Kim Raebin and Seon Ahyeon, who don’t go out often, are inactive.

“… excuse me.”

“yes. Would you like some water?”

“uh? uhh… .”

I gave water to Bae Se-jin, who walked into the kitchen.

Bae Se-jin stood with a bewildered face holding a glass of water in his hand, then asked without even drinking.

“… What do you have to say?”

“… ? Not really.”

I bet he wasn’t expecting an offer to change rooms.

I’m sorry, but the favor ends with water.

“Um, yes.”

Bae Se-jin seemed to be wriggling his eyebrows, but without saying anything, he quietly drank the water and went back to his room.

‘What.’

There was a nuance that he had something to say, but given the atmosphere, it didn’t seem serious, so I passed it on.

‘If I’m scared, I’ll tell you on my own.’

It’s the beginning of the inactive period, so let’s take a break too.

I shrugged and put the water cup in order. There was nothing to do, so I thought about solving the problem one more time.

“brother! I saw them all!”

… And after a while, I played a few games with Cha Yoo-jin, who had not forgotten the game even after watching all the variety shows.

To be honest, I was bored because there was nothing to do, so it was worth doing even if it was a bit annoying.

[How about hovering? My friend said it was fun last time!]

“Do whatever you want.”

Looking back, I shouldn’t have skipped it like this.

Two days later, in the morning, I received something I could never have imagined.

* * *

The morning of the GED exam.

I set the alarm to vibrate only to wake me up.

‘I’m sure everyone is sleeping.’

I quietly got out of bed and went to the bathroom to wash my face.

But when I came out of the bathroom, the bed opposite was empty.

'… … ?'

Seon Ah-hyun, where did you go?

'Did I use the bathroom here and go down to the living room?'

It was when I put on my street clothes and cautiously opened the door, making the most probable guess.

The first thing I felt was… it smells A very savory smell of food.

And a booming voice was heard.

"Park Moon University came out!"

"… ?!"

When I looked up, my roommates filled the bright living room and kitchen.

'what's this.'

Just as I was about to think about what day it was today, Big Sejin approached me, clapping his palms.

"Oh my gosh Mundaemundae~ They said they had an exam today!"

"… … !!"

Big Sejin was smiling. And looking around, the other guys are no different.

Knowing everything is an established fact.

"How did you know?"

Big Sejin shook his head with exaggerated pity.

“Moondae, let’s not forget that we live as a group… The smartphone screen you see… The person next to you can see clearly.”

“… !!”

“No, how? Don’t you have a word to say to the members~ Aren’t you too heartless?”

“It’s not a college entrance exam, so I don’t have to say it… .”

“Heukheuk, such a pitiful word!”

“that’s right! I’m sorry!”

“… … .”

These guys are deliberately pretending to be sad. did you have fun

At least, the rational explanation came from Ryu Chung-woo.

“It’s a day when everyone has time and is at the dorm… I thought it would be nice to give a surprise send-off. haha.”

“… yes.”

This… A bit unexpected. I don’t have to.

“Considering my older brother’s desire to take the exam quietly, we have decided to refrain from seeing him off to the exam site.”

That’s an accurate judgment.

But it didn’t end here.

“So… We made this all together.”

Seon Ah-hyun, who was standing at the back, quickly moved the ladle and set the bowl on the table.

What's in it… It was chicken porridge.

"… … ."

"I want to make chicken soup! But everyone was against it!"

"Since it's before the poetry exam, I thought it would be good to be familiar with it."

"Chicken soup is delicious… ."

The burnt-out chicken soup, which looks like it came from hell, automatically comes to mind.

It's almost unbelievable that it evolved into such a perfect chicken porridge through two processes.

"Ahyeonie worked hard… Sejin, so Bae Sejin did a lot. Among us, the only ones who can cook are Rabin and Sejin."

"It seemed that Bae Se-jin was more knowledgeable than me!"

"Not quite like that."

Bae Se-jin coughed. okay. Both Kim Rae-bin and you are stubborn.

'I managed to make it.'

I was at a loss for words while looking at the chicken porridge, which looked like it had been made with great care.

a little… I'm embarrassed, but I'm sorry.

"How is it, Moondae? I'm so grateful… Are you speechless? I know everything, eat deliciously~"

Excellent. sorry disappears

"What did you do?"

“Ayy, we all went to the grocery store together~ If you deliver it, you’ll get caught. Where did the material fall out of thin air?”

So yesterday, all of a sudden, everyone was absent. I don’t think I managed to find out and put it in the refrigerator.

“How do you understand?”

I sighed, but finally smiled bitterly.

“Yes, thank you.”

“… … !”

“Thank you everyone.”

“Thank you.”

“Eat quickly!”

Anyway, I ended up eating chicken porridge while sitting among those smirking.

“… Do you have any taste?”

“yes. It’s delicious.”

I thought I was pretending.

But I didn’t know what else I would hear if I left it, so I emptied it clean.

… It was also something to be thankful for.

“Would you like another bowl?”

“it’s okay. Seriously, don’t take pictures of you.”

“Huh? You don’t want to share this important moment with Moondae fans? The members worked so hard on cooking~”

“… … .”

yes, do as you like

It’s not like you’re hitting a notice right away just because you’ve taken the GED, but it’s okay to post that Moondae Park ate breakfast later.

“Do you want me to pack the leftovers into a lunchbox?”

“Um, yes. thank you.”

Actually, I did pack something to eat for lunch yesterday… You can come back and eat it.

I left the inn at the right time, carrying a thermal container of chicken porridge and being seen off by the others.

“Get a perfect score~”

“Eat something delicious for dinner!”

I felt odd.

‘I brought a cheap lunchbox with me during the college entrance exam.’

I didn’t expect to eat something like this while taking the GED with someone else’s body.

‘… Let’s have a good test.’

If I don’t pass, I think it’ll be really funny, so it won’t happen, but I’ll have to pay more attention.

After putting on a mask, I put on a ball cap and hit the road.

The test site was not far, and it was easy and quiet to arrive by taxi.

And, of course, no one was interested in me. If I had asked the company for security personnel, I would have been criticized for interfering with the exam.

‘Not one or two dressed like me.’

There are so many different age groups, so the usual outfit like me is not buried.

Thinking that I had done well not to leak the news unnecessarily, I sat down at my desk and took out a pen.

It was a long test.

* * *

Ahn at a GED test site in Seoul.

As Park Moon-dae said, different people of various ages were sitting at their desks.

However, there was something that Park Moon-dae did not expect.

All in all, there were people who had a huge fan heart that could identify any idol just by looking at its skeleton.

‘Bar Park Moondae??’

Yes.

A student who was putting his bag on the seat behind the desk at Park Moon-dae froze when he saw a familiar back in front of him.

That bone, that hairline at the back of that neck.

All kinds of backseats of Park Moon-dae’s direct cams that he looked for countless times reflexively overlapped.

And an instinct-level realization hit my head!

‘Wait, it’s inactive now… And because Mundae dropped out of high school! Couldn’t you come for the test??’

Thoughts rushed in like bombs. Of course, the ego of the test taker was also shouting that it was an absurd delusion.

“… … .”

However, after a while, the examinee, who got out of the vortex of all kinds of thoughts, thought hard.

‘I have to be careful!’

The possibility of that is extremely slim, but it is rude even if Park Moon-dae is hit, and it is rude even if he is not.

Firmly resolved, the examinee cautiously sat down at her desk.

That’s how the thrilling GED test began.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 221

If you can't debut, you'll get sick to death Episode 221

Even while the bell rang and the test papers were being distributed, three or four sentences popped up in the students' heads at the same time and then disappeared.

'Come to think of it, Mundae should have silver hair now, but black hair? what? is it a wig? Isn't that also Mundae?'

'Even though I'm not at the literary college, I feel like I'm a bitch when I see someone who looks like this.'

'for a moment! Can't you see your face when checking your identity!?'

'Ugh! yes! When I turn around the test paper, I look back… nope The supervisor will share it.'

Some were correct, but some were incorrect assumptions.

For example, Park Moon-dae used color spray to cover her silver hair, and when checking her identity, she slightly lowered her mask and showed her face to the supervisor.

However, it was not properly visible even to the examinee sitting in the back, and since the supervisor was an elderly man, he did not immediately recognize Park Moon-dae, so he remained calm.

'Ugh!'

So, the examinee in the back seat could only scream internally, suffering from frustration and curiosity.

However, an unexpected opportunity came soon after.

“Now, give me back the test paper.”

“… … !”

This is because the test papers were handed out from the person in front of you!

And the students… finally saw

‘Huh.’

The man in the front seat turned around only slightly, handed over the test paper in an instant, and straightened his posture.

In addition, he even wore a mask, but the test takers could be sure.

Those horizontally large, clean-lined eyes!

‘Baba Park University!’

Park Moon-dae was right!

The examinee received the test paper with a feeling of almost fainting.

My heart was pounding so much that I couldn’t tell whether I was getting an album at the fan signing event or taking my GED.

No, I’ve never won a fan signing event!

“You can start solving the problem after the paper rolls.”

‘Save me.’

The test takers shouted without a subject, but thanks to the large amount of mock test experience, they opened the test papers and started to solve the problems.

But the shock left his head white, so he couldn’t see anything.

after a while though.

‘… The sooner you solve it, the sooner you can see Mundae’s back!’

A strange idea gave an erroneous realization to an examinee who was unable to raise his head and stuck his nose in the test paper.

So, the students began to solve the problem vigorously. It was the moment when failing the GED was one step further away.

‘Ah!’

And to the surprise of only Park Moon-dae, it wasn’t just the students in the back seat who were conscious of him in this classroom.

* * *

‘It’s okay.’

I finished the last optional subject, ‘morality’, and put down the pencil.

The test went smoothly without any problems.

It was almost dangerous during lunchtime, but I ate by the window at the far side of the hallway with no people.

‘It was easy to eat because it was porridge in the first place.’

And the most important thing is that the test itself was easier than the average year I saw in the past.

I was worried that the social sciences and sciences would be written only in the forgotten parts, but it was unfounded.

‘I don’t think I’ve seen it.’

I stretched a little, almost certain that I would pass.

“Sigh.”

It must have been a little annoying to hear a sound from behind that seemed to be uncomfortable. I just lowered my arm.

‘The remaining time… 10 minutes.’

And quietly waited until the exam was over.

On the way back, I had already called a taxi on time, so I just had to get down and get on.

‘Enough.’

However, the reality that I met 10 minutes later was not very expected.

It was because while I was waiting for everyone to leave after taking my smartphone, someone in the same classroom started talking to me.

“Hey student!”

“… … .”

“Students… Isn’t that the door? Moondae making hotteok?”

I pondered briefly here.

Would you shout ‘You’re looking at the wrong person’ and run away?

However, I stopped because there seemed to be not one or two witnesses.

Besides this… Seeing that the lady also spoke in small whispers in her own way, I thought I could finish it quickly.

“yes. I’m here for the test.”

“oh my! I see trouble… If that’s okay, just one autograph? My daughter is such a fan!”

“sure.”

After briefly signing the admission ticket, I was about to leave.

But it was already too late.

“Huh, if you’re okay with that, I… .”

“Ah yes.”

“excuse me! I’m really sorry, but can I have it too?”

The few people who were still in the classroom immediately began to line up. It was also orderly.

And no one was frightened by the current situation.

A strong hypothesis came to mind.

‘Could all these people have been suspicious before?’

Somehow, six or seven of them didn’t go out of class, and it might have been because of me.

It seems that I was too complacent about the popularity of Testa.

‘I’m breaking out in a cold sweat.’

Above all, it is most surprising that so many people did not gesture at all during the test.

If even one person had made a fuss and talked about it, there would have been a high probability that it would turn into a nuisance controversy.

Then I would have already escaped at lunchtime.

‘… Thank you for watching.’

There’s nowhere to escape. That’s what covered my prediction failure.

I signed the autograph without saying anything.

“thank you!”

“Wow thank you… .”

I was about to leave after signing autographs for a few people who had gathered there.

‘Let’s get out of here quickly before the photo request comes in.’

However, when I picked up the bag, I saw that the person in the back seat was still sitting in the seat.

“… … ?”

Besides, he was looking at me with his eyes shining without a slight movement, and when our eyes met, he opened his mouth.

That’s the expression I saw a lot at fan signing events.

“Do you need an autograph?”

“… … ?! yes Yes, yes!”

It wasn’t self-consciousness. It was fortunate.

“I love you.”

“thank you.”

I hurriedly left my autograph on the person in the back seat and left.

“Welcome in!”

“Activity fighting!”

It was only fortunate that the person at the other exam halls didn’t see this because this class was at the end of the exam hall.

I ran quickly across the crowded hallway.

‘Are you going to post a review?’

There won’t be any big problems.

No one bothered me, so I’ll just sympathize with me or scratch myself.

I shrugged my shoulders and went out to the playground and immediately boarded a taxi.

It was as soon as it came to the accommodation.

“Welcome~”

“How have you been?”

“huh.”

“How about having porridge for lunch?”

“I ate well. thanks.”

And under the strong insistence of Cha Yoo-jin, who used my test as an excuse, I ordered and ate pork feet.

Thanks to that, I did another subtle thing of listening to a toast without alcohol.

“You did a good job taking the exam today… Let’s recover well until our next activity and show a cool image again.”

“Sure~”

“Yes!”

“I want you to spend a fulfilling preparation period.”

“Wait a minute. Moondae Park Put down your smartphone!”

“… It’s a video of a dog eating meat.”

What an inactive day it was.

dinner too… It was delicious.

* * *

The news of Park Moon-dae’s GED spread more slowly than he thought.

It was because there were many fans who were dubious because none of the people who went to get autographs took pictures with them.

So, it was recognized as an established theory only after three or four people signed and authenticated the admission ticket.

The decisive blow was this latter part.

_____==

[I went to take the exam yesterday and saw my favorite]

I think there are many people who came in thinking of who they are right now haha

Yes, my favorite is Bakmundae!

(signed photo) I even sat in the seat right behind Mundae, but I thought my heart would burst. Just looking at his back, he was handsome. Even his bones were so handsome that I couldn’t raise my head

.

_____-==

It was the certification of the examinee sitting in the back seat of Park Moon-dae.

And behind the people, there was even a friendly aggro prevention.

_____==

I really quietly took the exam, and when I left after it was over, people pretended to know, so they signed everything

. I just watched it, but I asked if I needed an autograph, so I did it. I'm uploading this because I want people to know how well Mundae has done for them…

I decided to hold the admission ticket until I die hahahahahahahahaha

_____==

It was a cute and heartwarming review. Even the fans, who were a bit vague at the news of Park Moon-dae's GED, happily confirmed this review.

It's not to the extent of seeing it as an invasion of privacy, but it's because I was automatically reminded of what the situation would have been like.

-My dog likes people,

so he asked me for an autograph and came back

.

The cute anecdote went around the internet community and social media, even though it was barely reaching the point of selling personality.

However, as expected by Park Moon-dae, the 'scratch' reaction naturally followed.

However, it was slightly worse than Park Moon-dae's guess.

-Bakmundae honestly, you don’t need to take the GED, it’s just your greed - I wonder if you really have an academic complex .

-I can’t stand the desire for fame, but I’m still a high school graduate, so what can I do?

Park Moon-dae continued to cut off or prevent controversy with exquisite timing, so the true anti-people who rose as soon as the medicine rose were eagerly waiting for it.

Of course, since Park Moon-dae’s response was often less explicit, there was little credibility as to whether ‘Park Moon-dae really cared too much about public opinion’.

It’s just that thinking like that tastes better when you swear.

It was a psychology that Park Moon-dae wanted to see the excessive reaction behind the scenes and, conversely, show signs of being cautious.

-I’m doing 1 bear search X. I’m sure you’ll be watching this too hahahaha

-Ah, don’t even think about making rice cakes with black goo~ I’m going to beat you X~ hahahaha -Yeah

Gommy, you know all these are scratches, right? Are you going to go quietly?

-I think it would be really funny if I uploaded it like this. It was certified as an idiot in a fight of spirits. But unfortunately for them, Park Moon-dae was keeping his distance from the Internet.

All I could see was the fan community or WiTube. If you try to see more than that, the members will intervene like ghosts, so even Park Moon-dae couldn't help it.

In other words, Aggro was just fighting a lonely fight alone.

Thanks to that, a member who is anti-go nabal and doesn't care will respond instead.

"brother! Show me the Chicken Porridge Lover!"

"Yes."

Park Moon-dae, who thought that rumors had spread anyway, coolly allowed it, and Cha Yu-jin passionately uploaded the photos at the time.

[Dae-hyung Moon has an exam, so I eat chicken porridge. Everyone works hard. Best Teamwork! (tiger emoji) (group of photos)]

From the photos of the various members shopping and cooking, to the photos of Moondae Park smiling while eating chicken porridge or embarrassed.

They were everyday cuts with a story.

-?

-Ah what is it

? -Really?

And while the aggro panicked for a while.

"hmm? Did Eugene post a picture?"

"yes!"

"Oh, I see."

Seeing the situation, Keun Se-jin even uploaded a video he had taken.

[It's been a while since I've seen such a smile at Moondaemun University… After all, eating well is the best, right? haha Love is also delicious♡ (video)]

There were few fans who would hate to see their favorite group get along well and be close.

Unsurprisingly, fans were ablaze with the unexpected extra warmth that warmed their hearts.

-My kids are serious about Testa. Let

's keep going like this forever. The answer is the dinner show. Shut up, Testa is a family

– ㅠㅠ My heart is really warm. Thank you guys for the good news.

Even photos and videos are on the offensive, and Park Moon-dae himself didn't take or upload them.

Thanks to that, Aggro was knocked out while punching alone.

-Hahahaha, the fight broke out

.

-It feels like I'm gritting and posting, but I

'm the only one who tried to rationalize it somehow, but anyway, it was just a mental victory.

In the end, the story of 'Park Moon-dae is a Seochichung' has withered away due to that vague embarrassment.

For reference, Moondae Park, the party involved, was watching a video of a red panda in the corner of the room.

“… hmm.”

He was suffering from intermittent boredom, but there was nothing in particular to do.

There was only one thing to look forward to.

‘Vacation from the day after tomorrow.’

The three-day vacation is just around the corner.

It was a very meaningful time for Park Moon-dae, who had never had a proper vacation until now.

‘This time I’m going to have a wonderful vacation.’

The plan was perfect. So the plan.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 222

If I can’t debut, I’ll get a fatal disease Episode 222

It’s been a long time since I’ve heard that Testa’s 3 days of vacation were decided.

This is because the general manager’s statement that ‘artists can only show their skills when they are in good condition’ was surprisingly not retracted and continued.

‘Even though he doesn’t invest in the management office for things like that.’

In fact, rather than caring about the company’s singer, it seems to be more of an obsession with his management philosophy… Anyway, it’s my benefit, so I have no intention of objecting.

Thanks to you, I’ll be able to spend three days alone quietly.

Besides, there are some expectations.

‘I can do some monitoring then.’

The only thing I’ve seen on the screen lately is a furry quadrupedal beast, so I’m nervous.

“… … hmm.”

I said I would moderate my usage, but that didn’t mean I would be monitored for Internet browsing throughout my inactivity.

At this level, dereliction of duty is not honey, but high-fructose corn syrup.

So, I’m going to do my job using the time they go home.

And rest alone quietly.

… Of course, I’ve never really enjoyed a vacation thinking like this until now.

‘Because I’ve never been on vacation a few times in the first place.’

This time, after blocking all variables, I will definitely be alone. I had such an idea… .

An unexpected incident occurred.

therefore… maybe for the good.

“Hyungs, what do you think about MT… !”

It’s because Kim Rae-bin said this right before vacation.

“MT?”

“As an abbreviation of membership training, it means a short trip to strengthen harmony and teamwork among colleagues.”

“Ay Rabin, you know that~ I asked if you meant that you wanted to go to MT!”

“Ah yes!”

Kim Rae-bin nodded enthusiastically at Sejin’s name.

The funny thing is that Cha Yoo-jin was doing the same thing next to me.

‘Did the two of them work together?’

I think you are right when you hear the following words.

“I hope to make up for the unfortunate point of not being able to share topics other than work while digesting a busy schedule!”

“Let’s go play, I want to go to the sea in Korea!”

Support shot. Active once.

Liu Cheng-wu answered softly with a slightly embarrassed face.

“okay? It’s vacation, so it’s okay if I don’t go home?”

“3 days? Oh hey, I can’t go to America! My parents are busy!”

Cha Yoo-jin answered coldly.

‘Hmm, I guess I understand what the situation is.’

Cha Yoo-jin can’t go to the United States even after three days. And it will be ambiguous for parents to come because it is not the holiday season.

‘I’ll be bored since I can’t go home, so I’ll have to hang out with the members.’

I’m pretty sure it counts.

I shut my mouth shyly, but suddenly I had a flash of realization.

‘… If this fails, will Cha Yu-jin stay at the dorm for the rest of the vacation?’

hey please

“I am not advocating full use of vacation time. It is just a plan to do MT in a remote place for 2 days and 1 night from the day before the vacation, and then return home in the morning of the first day of vacation!”

“Oh nice? How are you all?”

“I think I’ll be fine too… !”

“… It will be fine for a day or so.”

Votes are pouring in from everywhere. It seems that Kim Rae-bin’s opinion of taking a short trip while preserving the vacation as it is was quite plausible.

“… … .”

“What do you think, Moondae-hyung?”

I answered quickly.

“It’s good. let’s go.”

“… ! yes!”

I waited until the end to put the emphasis on ‘Let’s go’ so that people wouldn’t say anything else.

I had thoughts

‘Someone has to make Cha Yoo-jin go.’

During the MT, he manages to circumvent the situation and sends Cha Yoo-jin to one of their houses while on vacation.

“Oh~ Mundae is active!”

“Yeah, it’s good to go once. Is there a place Rabin has in mind?”

“I am! Even rivers go to the sea!”

“It’s Ganghwa Island! … yes brother I’ve seen a few places I’d like to stay at.”

I contemplated when I touched my chin.

‘Um, are Ryu Cheong-woo and Kim Rae-bin candidates?’

The other two do not match Cha Yoo-jin's code or feel burdened by the opponent, so the possibility is extremely low.

'hmm.'

I came up with a plan of my own while watching the guys talk about their destination.

and after a while

"Then, considering the location and interior, I'll make a reservation here on Ganghwa Island. Are you all okay?"

"Yes, yes~"

"Should I tell the company?"

"Then thank you."

I was ready to ask for the company's understanding and establish an emergency contact network.

It was a game to be played within a few days, so the leak was not a big concern.

The car is also rented to the manager, so only the driver and Ryu Cheng-wu will be registered together, so there is less worry about being traced.

'And he said that he would wait for the manager to come if it was necessary.'

The manager has recently become noticeably cooperative. As the plan to form a dedicated team is in full swing, the sense of crisis seems to have worked well.

Anyway, finally, the reservation for the candidate pension was easily completed. It seemed that the price was high even in the off-season because of the security and facilities.

“Okay, the reservation is complete. Let’s go and have fun!”

“Wow!”

“Thanks Rae Ravin for the good suggestion… !”

“It is too much to say. Thank you for your willingness to agree!”

Everyone is excited.

I stretched out my arms and lay down on the sofa.

‘… It’s not even content, but it’s the first time going somewhere with this number of people.’

Travel, not work, was fresh.

In fact, I think it’s more like a workshop when co-workers go there… There is no one who is particularly uncomfortable with it, so I don’t have to bring it up.

Even Bae Se-jin seems to be looking forward to it.

Seriously, this guy even said this in the rental car that day.

“… It’s the first time I’ve been to something like this.”

Bae Se-jin in the seat next to me looked at me regretting why he said it even after he took it out, but the reaction was already over.

“Really?”

“Have you ever participated in various events such as school trips?”

“… I didn’t like that, so I didn’t go.”

“I see! Certainly, traveling with dozens of people is often inconvenient and limited in choice.”

Kim Rae-bin nodded happily, perhaps accepting it as an honest expression of likes and dislikes, but everyone else seemed to notice the subtle nuance.

‘It seems that he didn’t mix well with the school group life.’

Not particularly surprising.

At that moment, Seon Ah-hyun raised her hand.

“I haven’t been to many… !”

Bae Se-jin’s face, which was full of harsh words against himself for saying useless things, improved a little.

“… okay?”

“yes!”

Can you help me out a bit?

“I haven’t been there much either. You just have to have fun when you go.”

“… ! no right I’m looking forward to today’s trip because I think it will be fun… !”

“… me too.”

Bae Se-jin turned his head and murmured. It’s oddly painful.

‘Why is the atmosphere like this?’

Fortunately, this shriveling atmosphere was destroyed in the next moment.

“I also have high expectations. The options were perfect!”

“I like the sea!”

“Haha, the atmosphere is really warm, isn’t it? I just have to choose a song here~”

This is because Sejin played the song behind the clear remarks of those who have no idea.

Doo doo doo doo doo doo doo doo doo doo!

This… It's the Magical Boy EDM version.

'When did you get it from Kim Rae-bin?'

"Ah, today~ Let's throw away our work and just have fun with each other~ Let's go to the testa!"

"haha!"

Liu Cheng-wu in the driver's seat laughed.

'Does it take an hour and a half to reach Ganghwa Island?'

If that's enough, Sejin is sitting in the front seat, so I'll be in charge of dealing with Liu Chengwu.

'I'll take care of myself.'

I leaned my head against the backrest in the midst of the guys singing along.

These guys would definitely arrive and do everything from games to running, so I thought to enjoy the peace of the body even now.

"I met you tomorrow! You you you you!"

"Hahahaha!"

And this judgment was correct.

* * *

After midnight that day.

“Cha Yoo-jin!!”

“Wah ha ha ha!”

The two youngest guys are running on the beach.

‘I’m not tired.’

It’s not work, so these guys don’t get tired.

-BBQ! BBQ!

-Is there a karaoke machine here?

From the moment I arrived at the pension, I was like this, and even after using everything from grilling meat to the heated pool, my energy is overflowing.

‘I thought it would stretch out by this point.’

Hopefully I’ll be there all night.

What’s even funnier is that I was doing the most static work right now.

it’s fireworks

“Yes, it is pretty.”

“I know.”

Of course, it’s not grandiose, just carrying a few sticks and waving them near the silver water pool in front of the pension.

‘Because if you do it at the beach, you might end up getting into an illegal fight.’

It’s illegal at the beach.

And just now Cha Yu-jin is trying to take a picture of fireworks with the beach in the background, but Kim Rae-bin caught her and is being chased.

A voice is heard from far away.

“It is unconventional to pour water on… Whoops!”

well you’re playing

I pulled out the burnt firecrackers in my hand and tried to clean them up.

It was then.

“Mundaemundae~ Beer?”

“… … !”

In the hands of the big Sejin who speaks… There was a can of imported beer covered in thin ice.

… It is a type of fruit beer with low alcohol content.

“You came to play. You’ve been drinking for several months, and I thought it might be okay to have a drink since it’s a good time~” “

… … .”

Not really.

Without saying a word, I took the can and opened it.

widely.

Then I hear a chuckle from the side.

“Are you kidding me?”

“Hey, it can’t be~ It’s just because it’s warm.”

Sejin giggled and lay down on the sunbed next to him.

“Ah, the atmosphere is good~”

This guy must have drank some too. I slowly drank my beer and breathed in the night breeze.

… I was definitely feeling fine.

Still, I didn’t particularly want to frantically drink or drink more.

It was calm.

“… … .”

It was clear proof that these few months of sobriety had an effect.

Habitual links are broken.

‘I should say thank you.’

I briefly glanced at Bae Se-jin, who was choosing the second stick of fireworks over there.

And the big sejin suddenly threw a word.

“Are we going to be fine like this?”

“… … .”

“Hey really… If you go back three years and tell me to sell 1 million albums, you won’t believe me.”

“Everybody does.”

“Is that so? yes!”

Big Sejin laughed. Seon Ah-hyun, who was watching, smiled as well.

“Anyway, I really like this team… Like it. My friends, I love you a lot~ Let’s do well this year too!”

“Yes! Let’s play well!”

Let go of the shoulder strap for now. The three of us are going to roll down from the sunbed.

Still, it’s okay to say something like this.

“Let’s go hard.”

“good!”

The hand that had hit the back as if encouraging it fell off. … I don’t feel bad

I decided to stop laughing.

“Oh Moondae. But is it actually non-alcoholic?”

“… … !”

“The package was the same. Uh, but I think it’s okay~ I don’t know that it’s non-alcoholic. Can I have a can or two from now on?”

“I think you’ve improved a lot… !”

I guess this is a little over the line to laugh at.

Hmm, though, let’s move on for the good results and the ease of passing Yoo-Jin Cha after a while.

It was when I was contemplating the decision.

Tadadang-dadadang-!

Suddenly, a strange bell rang.

“Oh, it’s not mine.”

“Me too.”

I immediately checked the smartphone in question on a nearby sunbed.

[Sister]

This is Kim Rae-bin.

“Rabin. Bring and bring.”

“Okay~”

“Should I come and go?”

“are you okay.”

I moved my feet to the beach. Fortunately, the two guys who were being chased after were back near the pension.

“Cha Yujin, you lack social style… !”

“Lavin, you call.”

“Oh, thank you!”

Kim Rae-bin, while drenched in seawater, bowed his head politely, even though he acted vigorously. And I picked up the still ringing smartphone and answered it.

“sister. yes i’m fine… … .”

Having completed my purpose, I was about to return to the front of the road pension.

The feeling came without warning.

“… uh?”

“… … !”

Kim Rae-bin’s question was suddenly mixed with a strange expression.

A pitch that I would immediately recognize.

therefore… It’s like the bewildered sound people make when they hear something very shocking.

Reflexively, my feet stopped.

I turned my head.

“uh… no what… .”

“… … .”

“Kim Raebin?”

Kim Rae-bin stood on the dark beach holding his smartphone as if he couldn’t hear Cha Yu-jin’s voice.

There was nothing to tremble.

“I don’t know… . why?”

“Rabin?”

“… … !”

Ryu Chung-woo saw a strange atmosphere nearby and intervened and grabbed Kim Rae-bin’s arm.

Only then did Kim Rae-bin, who got off the phone, shake his hands and look great.

“Ha grandma… I think you’ll come back too… … .”

“… !!”

At that moment, the atmosphere on the beach changed completely.

“Wait, are you my sister?”

“yes yes… .”

“Where did you call from?”

“Bye Hospital… ? therefore… at home… .”

“Is there a big hospital near your house?”

“yes yes… .”

Kim Rae-bin had a face that couldn’t even cry.

Of course, on a trip again.

As if the past situation is repeating itself… I mean.

“what.”

“What’s wrong with Rabin?”

Other members ran around.

Ryu Cheong-woo immediately patted Kim Rae-bin on the back.

“Levin, take a deep breath.”

“Yes yes… .”

“Once you change your clothes… .”

I immediately ran to the pension.

“Is it Moondae?”

And right at the front door, I grabbed the car keys and ran back to the beach and told Kim Rae-bin.

“Get in the car.”

It’s not the time for that. It’s clothes, it’s a deep breath, and you can do it as you go, so right now… .

“… Park Moon-dae, you don’t have a license. calm down.”

right.

I handed the car keys to Liu Cheng-wu at the words of big Se-jin in a small whisper.

“… yes Rabin. Better to move right now. Change your clothes in the car.”

“… … .”

Rabin Kim nodded.

And people went straight across the beach to the parking lot and got into their cars.

I got stuck in the corner of the back seat of the car.

“Did everyone get on? It moves.”

“yes.”

The car started right away.

… So the first day of vacation began.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 223

If I can't debut, I'll get a fatal disease Episode 223

It's as quiet as a dead mouse in the car.

No, sometimes I could only hear Raebin Kim whimper.

Even those who would normally have comforted me by saying something like, "You'll be fine," drove silently or patted me on the back.

Because comfort was more anxious.

"Your brother. … Yes, you should come 'this morning'. We are on the move right now, so please wait nearby as soon as possible."

After talking to the manager who was barely connected, I hung up the phone.

Now 'this dawn?' Are you going to say the same thing? You have a moment to claim your work-life balance, you crazy bastard.

"… … ."

What are you doing after that?

I couldn't do anything like X.

And then I'm just thinking.

From here to Gangwon-do, where Kim Rae-bin's birthplace is located, it would take more than three hours no matter what he did.

‘In case of emergency, it may be late.’

… But let’s imagine what it would have been like if we had started straight from Seoul, as we usually do right before our vacation.

That time would have been shortened by more than an hour and a half.

difference of an hour and a half.

that calculation… I can’t help but do it.

‘X feet.’

Because the guy sitting in front of me will be thinking the same thing.

Kim Rae-bin is still unable to let go of his smartphone. Unconsciously, he is afraid of waiting for another call to come.

At the same time, he couldn’t bear to call back first… .

“… … .”

out of breath

‘stop.’

It was funny. I’m not the person involved, and I’m not in a situation where I can help, but I’ve been immersed in myself for no reason.

I laughed at myself, put my head against the window, and decided to keep my mouth shut.

It didn’t seem to bother me at all.

After about three hours of fainting in the car.

I had just passed the final highway toll gate to my destination. Ryu Cheng-wu opened his mouth in the most calm tone.

“I’ll be there in thirty minutes.”

“… … .”

Bae Se-jin struggled to talk to Kim Rae-bin.

“… Change your clothes.”

“… … .”

Kim Rae-bin, who had been stiff from tension and worry for too long, slowly began to change his top.

The clothes, which were already about to dry, fell under the sheets and the salt content dropped.

And Kim Rae-bin, who was wearing new clothes, stopped moving as if he was crazy, and soon began to shed tears.

“I am… Because he asked me to go to MT… … late.”

“no.”

I answered involuntarily. without thinking.

So, in fact, I had to come up with a plausible reason from now on, but there was no time to add an explanation.

Because there was someone who intervened.

“that’s right! It’s because of me.”

“… … !”

“I said let’s go first. It’s not Kim Rae-bin’s fault!”

Cha Yu-jin spoke quite vigorously, but she herself looked like she was about to cry.

Kim Rae-bin let out a hoarse voice.

“Oh no! MT was planned together with… … Now, the place is also me… .”

“Think about it later.”

I cut him off.

“Think about it later and see Grandma now.”

“… … .”

Kim Rae-bin barely nodded.

You shouldn’t make me think about it now. this is correct empirically.

Soon the car’s navigation system stopped giving guidance.

“let’s go.”

“… yes.”

So, Kim Rae-bin stumbled and got out of the car and headed to the hospital.

The rest followed as far as they could accompany them.

It meant sitting on a waiting chair by the hallway of the hospital room and waiting for Kim Rae-bin to come out.

“… … .”

“Oh, my mother… .”

In front of the hospital room, people who seemed to be relatives and medical staff came and went, but of course we pretended not to know or talked to each other and sat together.

Fortunately, the atmosphere… It didn't seem too late.

I don't know if I can call this fortunate.

It was around the time that the twilight sun was shining outside the window.

"It's Moondae."

"… … ."

"Park Moon-dae, why don't you go to the car and lie down?"

"It's not me, it's Ryu Chung-woo… My brother will go."

Does it make sense that the person who didn't sleep all morning and drove was still awake.

It was moral for him to go to bed.

However, Liu Chengwu shook his head.

"I'm not that tired."

"yes. So do i."

"… … ."

The short conversation ended there. The members no longer talked about taking a break and waited more quietly.

After a while, Kim Rae-bin staggered out with a pale face and conveyed the situation.

"Rabin."

"are you okay?"

"Yes yes… . Talking to Grandma… You are sleeping now… ."

It means that the hurdle has been passed.

‘under.’

Ironically, it seems that the tension in the whole body is getting out of the way.

Kim Rae-bin… Because it means it’s not too late.

However, I was able to guess from Kim Rae-bin’s expression and nuance.

It’s not a reassuring face.

‘… There will continue to be hardships in the future.’

I thought it might be the worst vacation for Kim Rae-bin.

* * *

The members who had a home to return to after telling the story to the company people who arrived a little late went home.

It was because Kim Rae-bin’s older sister, who came out of the hospital room belatedly, gently recommended him.

– Thank you very much for taking me there, Rabin.

-no. It’s only natural… .

-I heard you are on vacation. Thank you for spending a precious day… . I hope you are safe on your way back.

It was a reasonable remark because he must have felt sorry and he couldn’t have been in a situation where he could care about so many outsiders.

It was a great act of loyalty for these guys, who only have time to spend with their families once or twice a year, to accompany them this far.

However, Cha Yoo-jin firmly refused, saying that he was going to the dorm anyway.

– It’s okay, I can’t go over there! Here you are.

– Eugene… .

Thanks to my previous agency life, I was quite familiar with Kim Rae-bin’s family, but this was an atmosphere where I was accepted anyway.

But I can’t just leave Cha Yoo-jin behind… There was no

‘This guy isn’t the type to take care of someone completely.’

If not, Kim Rae-bin’s older sister could have taken care of him.

Besides, isn’t it too funny that only one of the two guys who would be in the same dorm would stay here, even if the older one is missing?

So I decided to stay too.

– I’m fine too. I was thinking of staying at the dorm on vacation anyway.

And after a few requests and relief, we moved to Kim Rae-bin’s home at the insistence of Kim Rae-bin’s older sister and grandfather.

And in the process, through a conversation with Kim Rae-bin’s older sister, I was able to hear an appropriate explanation of the situation.

– He said he would watch the situation for a few more days and go into surgery when conditions permit… .

-… It’s not very likely.

-But rather than suddenly hearing something like this time… I think it would be better for Rabin to prepare his mind in advance.

I couldn’t do the crazy thing of asking what kind of disease it was.

Just going back and forth and listening to the conversations of relatives seemed like some sort of pituitary problem.

And after coming home, Kim Rae-bin, who was relieved of his tension, cried and said this.

“I found it when I was hospitalized last time… I work in Seoul, but he told me not to talk about it because he didn’t want to bother me… .”

“… … .”

“I didn’t even know that… I don’t even care and I feel like an idiot.”

“no! You are not stupid.”

“No, I was stupid! Oh today… I couldn’t even come to my senses and couldn’t do it properly… .”

“You did good enough.”

I cut Kim Raebin off.

“You did well to stay calm. You met your grandmother and did everything. No one is good at this kind of thing.”

“… … .”

Kim Rae-bin shrugged.

And I… I felt a strange feeling that my words worked.

‘that’s right.’

What party can be good at this kind of thing.

This is good enough.

I got up, opened the refrigerator, and took out an ionized drink, as Kim Rae-bin’s older sister gave permission in advance.

And after confirming that he was drinking by handing it to the guy who was obviously lacking in hydration, he said slowly.

“In the car… Sorry for pushing. great job.”

“Oh no… ! Thanks to you, I was able to come on time… .”

Actually, it wouldn’t have happened to me to worry about later, but it must be a psychological problem.

And I realized that this psychological problem would continue.

‘… No matter how things turn out, it’s difficult.’

Even the conversation that this guy will have with the company after the vacation.

“Eat something delicious, Raebin Kim. Deliver!”

“Ship delivery… I’m going to do it.”

“okay. make it!”

Kim Rae-bin, who regained his usual tone by talking back to Cha Yu-jin, barely ordered food, but did not eat much.

The vacation passed while maintaining the usual atmosphere and waiting for the emergency call from the hospital.

and… The difficult moment has come.

* * *

Morning on the last day of vacation.

“They say that grandma is having an operation.”

Kim Rae-bin received a call from his sister in the morning and said quite calmly. Even though I was holding my smartphone upside down.

“Tell me while you eat.”

“This is Kim Rae-bin’s seat!”

“I know, this is our house! … yes! She says her condition has improved and she can undergo surgery!”

It meant there was a chance of recovery.

But again… It also meant that there was a greater chance that the operation would not be successful.

I don’t know.

Should I hit the candle or chime in with the guy who is trying to think hopefully?

So I brought out a practical problem instead.

The ‘difficult’ problem that I thought about from the first day of vacation.

“Are you planning on taking care of me?”

“yes… ?”

“You know, the vacation ends for today.”

I put the spoon in the bowl.

“I have to return sometime tomorrow morning.”

“… !!”

“Is it okay if I go back to Seoul… You should think about it.”

… If you return to your activities and are in Seoul, you may not be able to stay on your deathbed if the progress of your grandmother’s surgery suddenly deteriorates.

I remembered the conversation I had with Kim Rae-bin when my grandmother collapsed for the first time at the beginning of my debut.

-In that case… While I was filming during the performance… Is it right to stop and go? But then… It sounds like you lack professional skills.

Is it family or work?

It's that damned-alternative moment.

It's not just a moment, but thinking about the whole 4 weeks to see the progress of the surgery.

'The situation is like garbage.'

Of course, it was like that then, but what to say has been decided.

"I'll tell you in advance, but it's okay if you don't come back for a while. It's all about living well, but there's no need to suffer."

"… that's right. are you okay!"

"Don't worry, the company's persuasion will come together."

Cha Yoo-jin seems to know how to shoot support. You've been good at grasping the atmosphere these past few days.

And in fact, at this point, I thought Raebin Kim would close his eyes tightly and shout 'I'm really sorry, but I'll do it'.

But no.

"that… It would be painful to do so… … ."

"… … !"

"It's an important full-length album, but I haven't finished a single song yet… A title is also in the works… ."

Of course, Kim Rae-bin also had a dream and a sense of responsibility.

“The music video, the choreography, the stage… Oh, I can’t contribute anything.”

Raebin Kim was even a member in charge of producing. So, it was also the musicality itself of the group called Testa.

Kim Rae-bin was quick to realize that if he completely fell in, the group identity would be damaged.

“If Grandma doesn’t die and recovers… It’s not what I did, that’s what I wanted.”

“Yes, I understand.”

I stopped talking to him.

That’s right. If Grandma recovers without any problems, Kim Rae-bin might regret that he rested for nothing.

And you will be disillusioned with yourself who regret it.

‘… Am I biased?’

I was a bit mistaken because it overlapped too much with my past situation.

I tapped the table with my fingers.

‘The best thing to do is to delay the release of the album for a month or two.’

But this troubled me.

If this happens, the tour schedule may be distorted, and then there may be a problem with clearing abnormal conditions.

‘I’ll turn around.’

It was then.

“Do both!”

“… !!”

Cha Yoo-jin shouted.

“We have a lot of good ways! phone and… mother.”

“Do it in english.”

[right! I speak English, right?]

Yujin Cha knocked on the table with her eyes shining.

[It’s an era where you can have mail, video calls, and even video chat! Raebin Kim tells me to work on a song here! And we prepare other elements!]

“… … !”

Surprisingly reasonable. I immediately opened my mouth.

“Cha Yoo-jin told me to work from home remotely while working on a song here.”

“Are you working from home?”

“It sounds good to me.”

As expected, Kim Rae-bin’s complexion instantly improved.

“Even I hear it! Then, other than the song… .”

I clasped my hands together.

The hair started to roll smoothly within a few days.

“Don’t do this. The choreography will make two versions just in case. The version without you.”

“yes??”

“great!”

“And in the same way, for filming, we select our individual cuts and groups, and set the four individual shooting dates separately as much as possible.”

“Oh!”

“As much as possible, I’m putting back the time you joined, and I’m also completing a version in case you couldn’t join.”

Kim Rae-bin opened his mouth wide.

“… … I’m sorry.”

“What are you sorry about? It’s just that the later you join, the harder it gets for you alone.”

I asked.

“Are you going to do it anyway?”

“… yes!”

good.

Kim Rae-bin nodded eagerly.

Still, he looked quite courageous, and soon began rubbing his eyes.

There must have been something uplifting for various reasons.

“Okay, let’s do as much as we can.”

“yes… … .”

I added a comment.

“And you can quit halfway if it doesn’t work.”

“That’s right! It’s not Kim Rae-bin’s fault.”

That’s right.

That’s how the 4 weeks of trying to catch both work and family rabbits began.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 224

If you can't debut, you'll get a fatal disease Episode 224

After the vacation is over.

"I'm here?"

"okay."

As soon as I returned to the dorm, I delivered specific details about Kim Rae-bin's telecommuting.

In fact, I told Kim Rae-bin that it was difficult for you alone, but it is not common to prepare two versions of activities with or without Kim Rae-bin.

'Actually, it's heavy labor.'

Wouldn't it be obvious to do this under the assumption that the comeback schedule remains the same?

It means that there is nothing to say even if the three of them arbitrarily protest that the conclusion is unfair.

Of course, I didn't think these guys would protest, and they did.

"… So, we finished talking in the direction of preparing the album remotely while Rabin worked on the song at home."

"Oh oh."

"Good job, whoa."

After gathering in the living room and briefly briefing, sighs of relief came out from here and there.

During the vacation, they couldn't openly ask about it, so they turned around to ask how they were doing.

"Then Lavin will be by Grandma's side… You can stay."

"I know. Thank goodness~ Then, Rabin's work will be given feedback at 9 p.m. on Mondays and Thursdays?"

"that's right. And intermediate contact is possible in real time."

It was a compromise that would satisfy those who focused on Rae-bin Kim's peace of mind and those who were concerned about Rae-bin Kim's absence.

"It's just that the method is slightly different, nothing has changed. Let's all make this album well together."

"Let's go for it~"

"Go for it… !"

In the process, the level of increase in workload was not a matter of a day or two, so it was naturally pushed out of the priority list.

I sensed it there.

'The staff's reaction must be similar… .'

That means there was no need to think of incentives.

… I'll have to check if the company is taking care of the overtime pay.

However, it was not without exception.

Because one member had a white face.

“… It’s okay, Kim Raebin.”

It’s natural, but it’s Bae Se-jin. Even after all the topics have passed, the response came a step late.

‘Though the words themselves sound like sincerity.’

It was only clear that my eyes went dark when I imagined a future where I learned the two choreography lines separately.

Still, the recovery was surprisingly quick.

Let’s see what Bae Se-jin said right after the choreography formation discussion.

“Then, shall we talk about the choreography first?”

“Oh~ Since the number of people is different, why don’t we ask them to think of a separate formation?”

“hmm… Still, wouldn’t it be better for the vocal members to move in a direction with as few changes as possible?”

Liu Cheng-wu made a rough drawing, but no one knew who he was trying to be considerate of.

And the reaction of the party was this.

“… no you don’t have to do the same.”

“Is that so?”

“… okay!”

“Oh! cool!”

“Kuhm.”

Bae Se-jin seems to be secretly happy with Cha Yoo-jin’s response.

‘… I get it roughly.’

That’s why he had a small amount of confidence.

Maybe it’s because of the latest reputation.

I recalled that he was secretly watching a WeTube video titled ‘Escape from a hole in the belly’ in the corner of the living room right before the vacation.

[As if the controversy in < Azusa > was a lie, Bae Se-jin showed an amazing cascading growth after his debut.] [

Beyond simply not standing out in the group dance, he surprised fans by not missing the details of the choreography from start to finish in the fancam.]

[Isn’t that a model that says ‘growth type’ needs to be at this level?]

Even with Bluetooth earphones, the subtitles were so large that such videos were just visible.

Most of the comments seemed to be surprisingly favorable.

-Bae Se-jin was really surprised. Seeing the variety shows, he was cute and worked hard, so I wanted to cheer for him haha.

Hmm, I also think of Bae Se-jin’s face, who secretly clicked ‘Like’ on a comment like this and couldn’t control his lips.

Anyway, since his debut, he went through a hotteok baking reality show and his public reputation is on the rise, so it means that he himself seems to have been positively motivated.

maybe… This time, it must be a decision to put an end to the re-evaluation by properly serving one person.

‘Still, I’m in trouble if I overdo it unnecessarily.’

I don’t want to burn out during the active period and interfere with the tour, so I’ll have to let them relax a bit.

“Then proceed with the choreography movement request without any special comments… .”

“I’m fine.”

“Huh?”

“I wish there were fewer changes in the movement. Caring is good.”

I deliberately stared at Bae Se-jin and Ryu Chung-woo in turn.

why what Aren’t I a vocal member too?

Ryu Cheng-wu lowered his head pretending to tidy up with a slight smile on his face.

“hmm… okay. Then, Sejin-ah, would it be okay to ask a simple favor? Because Moondae said that.”

“… Is that so?”

“Yeah~ Then let’s decide that~”

Keun Sejin’s eyes met and he raised and lowered his eyebrows slightly.

It seems like why don’t you leave it, but that’s a pretty consistent guy.

“Have you contacted the company?”

“yes. I asked for a double shooting schedule… .”

I rubbed my chin.

“now… We just need to proceed quickly, starting with the concept of the album.”

“… … That’s probably the period.”

“Is it enough for a week?”

“okay.”

There was a sense of spleen in the living room.

As I gained more experience, I suddenly felt the vacancy of Kim Rae-bin, who made Excel work more staggering.

Besides, this concept is going to stand out from the entire flow of activities.

Clarification was essential.

“Today, let’s quickly check in with the people involved and start in earnest tomorrow.”

“great.”

“W I will work hard… !”

That’s how the final album work began.

* * *

Scheduling a busy freelancer is more cumbersome than you think, and there are many things to consider.

It’s because the freelancer himself shouldn’t be too overworked while properly arranging the schedules of various people involved.

Even if that freelancer is an idol group?

What to consider multiplies.

So what we need is the management room… .

‘They’re the ones who can’t handle the spirit.’

It was just convenient for me to watch.

For example, contact with Kim Rae-bin.

[Title work_2 verse verse_ (1)]

[Title work_2 verse verse_ (2)]

[Kim Raebin: Today, I worked on the rap part of verse 2 verse. Please listen and respond with the version with more votes.]

[Raebin Kim: Thank you as always.]

Raebin Kim sent the work on time like a knife. I sent a reply

[Good job. I'll send you feedback quickly]

Then, after receiving this, the members' opinions are collected and reviewed by the AR team, usually by mid-morning the next day.

And if I send it back to Kim Raebin in the evening, another work will come on the next contact date.

Originally, Raebin Kim would have been able to communicate directly with the AR team, but… Because the situation is the situation.

I added a text while thinking about it.

[Tell me if there's anything particularly difficult or worrying about you while you're there]

Because of these problems, I need some flexibility outside of work.

Fortunately, the answer came quickly without any hesitation.

[Kim Rae-bin: There were no special exceptions.]

This means that there were no deterioration or rapid recovery symptoms after Grandma's surgery.

'… Still, this period shouldn't be too long.'

As I was contemplating the answer, messages arrived in quick succession.

[Raebin Kim: Thank you for always worrying!]

[Raebin Kim: (Image)]

The attached image is… On the picture of the rose, the phrase ‘The power to live today is from a smiling face and courage^^’ was flashing in rainbow colors.

[Kim Rae-bin: My grandfather sent it, but I really like the phrase, so I’m sharing it. I hope you have a lively day.]

I chuckled.

‘There’s not much left today, man.’

It’s already 10 o’clock at night.

Even so, I understand that it means to have a good day even for the remaining two hours.

[okay. Sleep well, too.]

After checking Raebin Kim’s polite reply, I turned off my smartphone screen.

In front of me, I heard the sound of shoe soles sliding.

“Let’s go again.”

“yes!”

This is the reason why no one except me could reply in real time even though Rabin Kim uploaded the file in the group message room.

It was because they were in the process of learning the choreography of 6 people, excluding Kim Rae-bin.

No one can react, so I’m in for a while.

“Did Moondaemundae Rabin check the song well~ Which part?”

“Introduction to Section 2.”

“Okay, is it over?”

It means to rejoin practice soon. I stood next to him before entering the chorus loop.

“Let’s see Moondae.”

“yes.”

The entire composition of the song has been released, and arrangements and some recording-related work are in progress, so a tentatively edited demo song is coming out of the speaker.

For reference, I recorded it.

… When I recorded each part, I made the singing method similar to avoid confusion, and it reminds me of the laughing bastards.

– Ha ha ha ha! is that me? Moondae is the best??

-I’ll try again! I do!

-Mundae-ya, why don’t you try your vocal mimicry skill?

This time, whenever I go on a variety show, I think it’s an anecdote and I’ll talk about it.

… Um, I’m hot again. Let’s stop thinking.

I focused on the choreography moves.

“one two… .”

The choreographer checked my movements and movements and nodded.

“You dance well. I especially like raising my head.”

“thank you.”

“Also, by the way, I like the song. It fell well.”

It was a compliment that any idol who is about to release an album would be happy with.

Bright answers came from here and there.

“thank you!”

‘It’s fun.’

For reference, this choreographer is the same choreography trainer I met in Azusa.

He pretends to be natural, but his attitude of spitting out vicious words has gone and he has become much more cautious and kind.

Look at how Bae Se-jin can’t even ignore it, let alone get nervous when he sometimes reacts slowly or makes mistakes.

‘This is society.’

In particular, she is almost polite to Sun Ah-hyun, who was uttering abusive words to her heart during the audition.

I can’t say this is a very good way, but there is no etiquette injector that works as well as social position when working.

“… Ahyeon-ah, let’s look back there once more.”

“yes yes!”

‘It seems that Seon Ah-hyun herself doesn’t even care.’

Well, even choreographers came out with more pressure because of show business, so there is no need to treat them as people with particularly bad personalities.

Besides, the most important choreography came out well.

There was a reason why this choreographer's draft was chosen as the main.

'It's almost the first time I've seen this style.'

"End of verse 1."

"You worked hard~"

"Thank you!"

The guys who fell all over the place seemed to be having a hard time, but they didn't look too anxious.

Apart from being busy, it is thanks to the sense of security that things are going well step by step.

'good.'

"It's nothing. water."

"thank you."

I drank water while drawing the rest of my schedule in my head.

Either way no problem.

'Still, I'd like to go to the best scenario with Kim Rae-bin joining.'

Because the image of this album suits Kim Rae-bin so well.

I came to that conclusion and took a short break to the fullest.

"Ten minutes over."

“Yeah~”

However, there was one thing that I couldn’t count in the process.

That I haven’t been monitoring the internet deeply for weeks.

And under the water, the text of knowing was already spreading.

[Kim Rae-bin seems to be missing this activity]

Of course, I’m not saying that I confirmed it too late and hit the ground.

“Ah Hyun-ah.”

“Yes?”

I managed to convince my roommate that day.

therefore… It means that the season of only watching furry on WeTube is over.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 225

Episode 225: Persuading

a roommate wasn't as difficult as I thought.

"It's been a while since I haven't looked at the internet, but I haven't had any withdrawal symptoms during that time."

"Yes. I was fine Moondae… !"

"That's why I think it's correct that I originally saw it as a way to relieve stress, not as an addiction."

"Uh uh uh?"

"As you said, if it goes too far, it might be stressful, but… I took a break and got my senses."

Seon Ah-hyun couldn't keep her mouth shut, as if she didn't know that the words would connect like this.

"Now I think I can control myself before the stress level."

"Of course, Moon University would do well, but… ."

And here's where to put the change ball.

"Thanks to you. thank you."

"… !! Ah no, Moondae adjusted it well, but what… !"

“okay. In the future, I will control it well and monitor it in a stress-free line.”

It was over.

Afterwards, Seon Ah-hyun was dragged around the schedule in a daze, feeling like she had been scammed, but it must have been okay because she soon recovered.

In this way, we succeeded in freely resuming monitoring using the break time.

“The preparations start tomorrow at 7:00 for the concept photo shoot, so let’s not sleep late.”

“Nenep!”

And the night when today’s work is over.

‘It’s been a while.’

As soon as I lay down on the bed, I looked through the related community once.

slowly from the past.

First of all, 〈K-NOW〉, which was filmed in the beginning, was working as a healing camp while gradually getting out of the K-pop hell camp.

That smooth line transition seems to have worked well for viewers, but thanks to that, Testa was still scoring quite a bit.

-Seon Ah-hyun’s special stage was mixed, so the size difference was huge. I thought it was a deer,

but

it’s an elk. It’s the dignity of stone (photo)

First of all, it seemed that the editing made the mulberry properly when it was compared with the ordinary participants in terms of ability and composure.

My portion is concentrated in the beginning, so there is no big change, but as the behind-the-scenes scene unfolds… There are a lot of cute words. - Mundae learns really hard. If you are sincere about being an idol, you won't miss every opportunity

. Can't you see? That couldn't be the case (GIF file synthesized with dog ears)

Everything would have been good except for the fact that the behind-the-scenes scene was a special stage rehearsal camera with Cheongryeo.

-The two of you did variety shows together, so they seem to be close. What line should we call it? (Kimchiguk is not a fan of '…crossing the line.'

It's editing behind the scenes of entertainment. I quickly passed this date's reaction.

And the GED.

Maybe it's thanks to the people who uploaded the visual material? Surprisingly, the overall response was warm

… What

are these guys

.

_ Ahyeon’s advice seems to have worked really well. I turned my eyes to the bed next to me

. Our eyes met and it saved me the trouble of calling. “Do you have anything you want to eat

?

”

Ahyeon seemed to think about what this meant for a moment, then a ‘!!’ appeared on her face and her upper body jumped up. “Do you want to have a late-night snack?

”

It’s a symptom of ‘I have no ability to relate’.

I think I can feed something in return tomorrow morning. I moderately calmed Seon Ah-hyun, who was answering alumni, and resumed monitoring the road. After seeing it, there was no big topic for a while

. Bonnie, the main thing was the reaction of the fans to the roommate or moving content, but the atmosphere behind the scenes has changed completely.

It started with a confirmation message

. ——==

[I saw a lot at the hospital]

: I went to the emergency room because I had a stomachache and on the way back I witnessed several long-legged men getting out of a van in a parking lot. It was an island star Rabin Kim didn't wear a mask so I checked it haha It's lame haha

But the complexion is bad. Is there anyone in the family who is sick ?

__==

It was posted on a community that believes that the personal life of a celebrity is a public good, so I didn't buy any criticism and just received a lot of reactions.

I held back a

sigh

. There was no way there was a guy who could even consider work.

On the plate that may see someone's death right now.

"… … ."

After that article, I put 'Rabin' and 'hospital' in appropriate combinations in the search terms to check various results.

-What is Labin's eyewitness story about

? -I'm blocking related stories .

I shouldn't be consuming something like this, but I'm crying for no reason.

The guess that one of Kim Rae-bin's grandparents must have been sick was almost certain.

Still, in most fan communities, it was forbidden to mention it openly.

'It spread faster than I thought.'

It seemed that it was because it was widely spread before the original direct authentication text was deleted.

'The company's response was a bit slow.'

It was clear that I had missed this part because I was focusing on reorganizing the album preparation schedule and preparing for the media response.

So, under the water, it was perfect for stalker-style crazies to rampage.

He seemed to feel a strange sense of superiority, as if he preoccupied information that many people are curious about.

-I rented a Ben under the name of the manager. These bastards are playing around with each other ? Calling a woman? It's true that I didn't call a girl, someone quickly find out

.

It seemed that the installation was reproducing this information.

Besides, even the bastards claiming to be fans of Kim Rae-bin claiming to be fans of all sorts of speculations and nonsense. -Ah

, what's going on with the mentality X? But I knew it would be a day like this someday know?

.

-Take out the regular album to spend time with your sick family haha? How did I get hold of such a family stone?

It's a spectacle.

'… This side has not been cracked down either.'

I… At the time, I didn't have the mental head to care about this, so I neglected it to this point.

"… … ."

let's stop fucking Self-criticism is not a nuisance if you do it when you have time.

'Shut up and use your brain.'

A few patterns that could be used immediately came to mind.

'First of all, it would be best to release the message room capture first.'

It is to post the words shared about Kim Rae-bin's work on social media as a kind of comeback notice.

Then, it will be possible to put an end to speculation about Rabin Kim's current condition or anxiety related to participation… .

Even in the worst case, it will work.

therefore… Even if Kim Rae-bin could not participate in the early stage of this activity.

There will be less needless cursing.

Still, there will be pups that will bite, but this time I'm ready to handle it neatly.

‘I have to hit you first before accusing you.’

It is the first thing to do as soon as a dedicated team is formed. And the dedicated team will finish the composition within this activity even if I don’t sleep.

‘Before that, start with what you can do right now.’

I immediately selected and captured the most suitable conversations about Kim Rae-bin’s work.

And I tried to quickly seek consent to upload to the group message room.

Kim Rae-bin is nocturnal, so he’ll probably be awake even now.

[I think you’ll like it if we capture and upload some of our work.]

[Big Se-jin: (I agree with that emoticon)]

[Cha Yu-jin: I need to come out!]

As expected, those who aren’t good at sleeping immediately jump out and react.

And Kim Rae-bin’s response also arrived in time.

However, the content was a bit odd.

[Raebin Kim: It’s okay]

“… … ?”

It was a typo that did not suit Raebin Kim at all.

Maybe it’s a trace like I slipped while trying to write ‘I think it’ll be okay’.

‘… Did I make a mistake because I was sleepy?’

I crossed my arms. And I waited for a reply with the most conservative attitude.

however… A corrected answer did not come until several minutes passed.

“… … .”

So, this means that ‘that’ Kim Rae-bin did not correct the typo and lost contact.

It wasn’t something to laugh at.

‘What is to be expected… .’

It’s like X, but it hit me in the head from a very intense assumption.

I tapped my arm with my finger.

‘… Is it an obituary?’

If that is the case, you should not call now. Calling will only get in the way of an emergency.

I barely made any sensible conclusions.

‘… I’ll check around tomorrow morning.’

By then… Whether it’s porridge or rice, it’s all sorted out.

[Big Sejin: Rabin?]

In the message room, messages from other guys calling Raebin Kim popped up a few times, but it soon went away.

Everyone seemed to be grasping the atmosphere.

about what might have happened.

“… … .”

I will respond as rationally as possible… I kept turning my brain to derive.

‘The timing of the obituary and SNS upload should not overlap.’

I decided to put the upload on hold.

And right away, I lay down on the bed with my smartphone.

“It’s nothing. ruler… ?”

“uh.”

‘Let’s go to bed without unnecessary thoughts.’

There is no time or space for this.

I didn’t sleep very well, but I was able to fall asleep moderately around dawn by using the tiredness as a sleeping pill.

However, even after the day was bright, Kim Rae-bin was not contacted.

* * *

It is past 8 o’clock in the morning.

“Let’s get in touch.”

“I don’t know what the situation is, so how about waiting a little longer… …

“I want to call you!”

“wait for a sec. We are already behind schedule. Let’s talk while we move.”

The living room was in an uproar with people each giving their opinions about the current situation.

The time to leave for the practice room has already passed. I sat down on the sofa and tilted my head.

‘Damn it.’

head won’t turn

‘Is it because I couldn’t sleep?’

This speculation is also an excuse. The Bacchus 500 is running well. It’s not about fatigue, it’s about my mental state.

I exhaled.

‘… I’ll have to check.’

… If you delay any longer, avoid it. I really need to call now.

It was then.

Drooling!

“… … !”

The smartphone in my hand rang.

the phone… come.

“Are you Ravin?”

Rabin Kim is right.

Without even thinking, I pressed the call button and brought it to my ear.

“hello.”

-brother!

Rabin Kim’s voice is… .

It was bright with excitement.

– Last night, Grandmother Ha regained consciousness completely… A conversation was possible!

“… … !”

It wasn’t an obituary.

Suddenly, a strange feeling of relief came over me, like firecrackers exploding all the way to the top of my head.

and ran amok

I don’t know if it’s good. I just couldn’t control my voice.

“Then you should have contacted me right away… !”

-Sorry! I’m going to go to bed in the middle of the morning, but I thought it would be intrusive, so I tried to wait until 9:00 in the morning… !

“… … .”

I was speechless because the answer was so bastard.

My Mac got unlocked and I took my smartphone off my ear. Members gathered around.

“Are you Kim Raebin?!”

“Are you okay?”

Liu Qingyu asked quietly.

“Moondae, should I take it?”

“… yes.”

passed the smartphone.

The voices of the guys rushing in and talking excitedly into the phone rang in my ears.

“Rabin~ Do you have a good voice?”

“How are you?”

I am… I don’t know.

It was just strangely sweet.

I don’t know if it’s because of Kim Rae-bin, the phone, or this damn situation or the status window… It was just X.

Fatigue goes away.

‘Are you crazy?’

I smiled and pressed my forehead.

“Rabin is coming up tonight!”

“Oh, the date is just right~”

Like that.

Sometimes it seems to fit just right.

As soon as I got my smartphone back, I connected to social media.

‘Let’s do something quickly.’

My head and hands were itching.

* * *

That morning.

Less than an hour had passed since Kim Rae-bin called Park Moon-dae.

A short article was posted on Testa’s SNS.

_____==

Excitement (Photo)

_____= =

The post that was uploaded without introducing who it was was attached with a screenshot of a friendly group message room carefully selected by Park Moon-dae.

-Hey guys ㅠㅠ

It was a signal for the comeback work.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 226

If you can't debut, you'll get a fatal disease. Episode 226, the group message room conversation was released, and the reaction was good.

-Is this a comeback rice cake??? Is the title Rabin your own song?

-DanDangDang,

who just talks about work, no matter what kind of bullshit happens. It's crazy that I'm going to use it.

If there's no particular problem material, wouldn't this kind of small and friendly content be a steady seller? Besides, there was even a comeback hint, so it must have been fun.

… However, before uploading this, I received an unexpected review at the last minute.

-Um, will you capture it and upload it?

-okay.

– Wouldn't Chungwoo hyung be better at this? you're the leader

-… !

-You don’t usually post things like this, so I think the fans will like it more~ Don’t they?

… That was right.

It must be more natural than me, who has already used similar patterns a few times.

So, I accepted Sejin’s feedback and posted the article on the side of Ryu Cheong-woo to cleanly deal with it.

-Oh, it was Cheongwoo

. -Ah, Ryu Cheongwoo put an animal emoticon after the younger siblings’ names and saved them. Are you crazy, this guy

?

‘I couldn’t think of this before that guy.’

Wasn’t he like a child who was impatient with only his own motivation?

It’s time to do a self-diagnosis to see if you’ve lost your form.

I clicked my tongue and crossed my arms.

‘Do the next thing properly.’

Of course, before that, we had to properly finish preparing for the comeback.

Even if one person joins separately, it was organized so that it proceeds step by step, but the process of matching each other on stage is still essential.

Still, the other members, including me, have some time to spare. I’ve finished a lot of filming that I can do without Kim Rae-bin.

But not Kim Rae-bin.

‘That guy has to do it all from now on.’

Thanks to this, as soon as Kim Rae-bin joined, he was so busy that he would start talking about work whenever he touched it.

Even so, he didn’t forget to say hello.

A few days later, as soon as the time finally arrived at night, he sneaked into the room.

“My sister asked me to deliver it to my brother and Yujin Cha! I tried my best with all my sincerity. Thank you so much.”

What Kim Rae-bin offered was… Yakgwa and pumpkin sikhye purchased from a local restaurant. It was probably sent by courier.

But the quantity is staggering.

‘Somehow, you must have known Cha Yujin’s taste… .’

Since the two give different things, it is reasonable to at least match the taste of the person who knows the taste.

Because I don’t particularly like or dislike food.

‘I wonder when I’ll eat all of this.’

Still, I have to say something.

I received the box wrapped in a huge cloth.

“thanks. I will eat well.”

“thank you! I will definitely pass it on to my sister.”

Kim Rae-bin smiled and nodded. Originally, it was of no use to me because I had a bloody look and couldn’t sleep properly for several days.

I was a bit conflicted, but finally asked the question.

“… Is Grandma okay?”

“yes! I’m constantly in contact with him, but he says he’s recovering smoothly.”

It was fortunate.

I nodded without speaking.

“And in the future, I asked you to tell me honestly if you experience any physical discomfort, such as a disease… .”

“good job.”

I tapped him on the shoulder once or twice.

Now that you have gone through this process once, you will be able to accept it more resolutely even if the moment that Kim Rae-bin is really worried about comes someday.

‘… I can’t avoid it, but I can cope with it.’

That’s it.

I shook off my useless thoughts and picked up the bundle or the return he gave me.

“Then this… Refrigeration would be right.”

“That’s right. … Oh brother! I will!”

“done. I got it anyway, but what?”

That’s how I was about to take the contents of this bag to the refrigerator, which would need to be refrigerated anyway.

“Oh, come to think of it, there is something I wanted to ask you!”

“What.”

Kim Rae-bin followed and raised his hand.

“I wonder why you opened the message room related to the remote work of this album to the fans!”

“… !”

“Since there has not been an official press release related to this album yet, I was worried that there might be a risk of leaks in my short opinion… .”

Rabin Kim’s eyes flashed.

“I would like to ask what efficiency you expected to take that risk!”

“… … .”

such a risk… I never thought about it.

I looked at him with a bit of awe.

‘As long as the KakaoTalk server is not hacked, there is no way the song will be leaked.’

You’re so serious about your songs and albums that you’re even worried about the risk of existing only in theory.

Still, I think it might take a while for the group to shed space for a comeback personally before an official statement is made.

However, it shouldn’t have been said directly because of the remarks that crossed the line.

‘Should I take out only the least irritating parts and weave them together?’

I calmly opened my mouth.

“Among the fans, there are people who noticed that you were at your home. I told them to be at ease.”

This was also a real reason. It was because there were quite a few people who were anxious and worried about Kim Rae-bin's mental state.

Of course, the primary purpose was to make the bullshit shut up.

-Hahaha, Lebyung is more sincere about his career than you guys~

-Where has everything disappeared?

-Because Gatgi is good at it before you guys even beat it, losing is the worst thing in life.

Seeing that reaction made me feel at ease.

'This is the correct answer.'

"Is that so."

but… Kim Rae-bin still had a puzzled face.

"But when the official comeback press release comes out next week, you'll feel relieved."

"… … !"

"The pleasure that message rooms can give would have been valid even then, so it would have been safer and better to upload after that… Oh no! Sorry for talking back."

"… … ."

I was devastated.

is that correct?

right.

It does not mean that Kim Rae-bin's hypothesis, such as the leak risk, is correct, but it means that there was no need to respond directly, being conscious of public opinion behind the scenes like X.

After all, everything will be solved once the comeback teaser comes out.

Posting a group message room capture in a hurry was a scrape that would be a hint that he was conscious of the bullshit.

At least it was not me, but Ryu Cheng-wu raised it, so it passed naturally.

My initial judgment was… Wrong.

“You’re right.”

I muttered.

There was a voice that came to mind.

– But don’t worry too much bro. How can I change someone else’s mind to my own?

-That’s not true, and not everyone believes that… !

In the meantime, while listening to the people around me, I admitted that I was preoccupied with controlling public opinion more than necessary, and then I repeated the same thing again.

Didn’t he even commit something that didn’t produce any benefit this time like a headless bastard?

It was obvious.

just… It was just that I couldn’t stand the sight of being criticized for the death of my family. X feet.

“I made a mistake because I was oversensitive.”

“Oh no! A question I don’t need… .”

“No, this is right.”

I kept muttering.

“I guess it was because I was thinking about the past.”

“Yeah, you mean… ?”

“okay.”

I lost my words as if my spinal cord had been frozen.

“I am late.”

“yes… ?”

“When I went, everyone else’s family members had already completed identification. Only my parents stayed until that night… .”

Are you crazy?

I bit my tongue.

“Tongue bro.”

“I’m sorry for saying something stupid. Anyway, your reasoning is correct. It was my mistake and there is no big meaning or efficiency.”

“I’m sorry… !”

Kim Rae-bin… It became like I was about to spill all my tears and mucus at any moment. Damn.

I put down my luggage and touched my forehead.

“What are you sorry about?”

“Choosing the wrong subject to remind you of a difficult experience… .”

“No.”

I told you the truth.

“It’s hard because I couldn’t cope properly at that time… .”

“no!”

Rabin Kim cut off his words.

Then, with a clear nervous attitude, he clenched his hands into fists.

“As far as I remember, my older brother contacted me while studying at the academy… … . So, after a while, I received it. Is that correct?”

“… okay.”

I even talked about that.

Raebin Kim shook his head eagerly.

“But the student’s duty is… Studying is not right!”

“… !!”

what?

I looked at him with a look as if he had been hit in the back of the head.

“My brother was just doing his best in his position. So that’s… It was just an accident.”

Kim Rae-bin swallowed his saliva.

“As if it wasn’t my fault that I went to MT.”

“… !”

“Yes? Of course, the case is a bit different… .”

okay.

you are not me

But aside from that, I also… It's true that you did your best.

It just felt like the best was not enough.

And no matter what I did, I just couldn't admit that there was no way it wouldn't be hard.

– No one is good at this kind of thing.

As I told Rabin Kim directly, no one is good at this kind of thing.

"… … ."

I got my head

The shock was strong, but the answer was clear.

Judging by using Kim Rae-bin as fodder, I finally saw it.

'What a great deal a middle school student can do.'

I thought he was too young to suffer the obituary, but he couldn't look at my situation when I was younger.

So now… Is it time for a re-evaluation?

'okay. It's worth watching.'

That's enough for a middle school student.

"… … ."

Somehow, my mind was at ease.

… I had a groundless hunch that the quality of my sleep would be good today.

“I think there are grounds for making similar emotional judgments in the recent situation between Hyung and I, but… … .”

“okay.”

Let’s confirm this, though.

This poor bastard kept trying to convince me with my eyes.

Kim Rae-bin’s complexion brightened.

“… … ! Yes! So it’s my fault for reminding me of a hard experience!”

“No, not that.”

You’re saying too brightly that it’s your fault. It seems to have been inverted because of the joy that the persuasion was successful.

I continued to speak as softly as possible while lifting the boxes of Yakgwa and Sikhye.

“… Thank you for your kind words.”

“Hup!”

Kim Rae-bin bowed his head again.

“I really thank you very much. Meantime… Thanks to my brother, I received a lot of help and was able to participate in the album safely.”

It’s good for the group itself, so I’m doing this again. There is no end to this.

‘I need to freshen up the atmosphere.’

I asked lightly.

“Is that why you gave Cha Yoo-jin a return?”

Kim Rae-bin was straight.

“no. I gave it to you.”

“… … .”

I don’t know if the two of them are close friends or if they treat each other as fools, but I hope fans will see it as the former.

I shrugged my shoulders and put the yakgwa and sikhye in the refrigerator.

“Don’t eat well.”

“yes!”

For reference, I’ll just say that this gift had to be eaten one by one while preparing for a comeback, and I had to manage my weight at the last minute.

‘It’s self-employed.’

… The mysterious thing is that Cha Yoo-jin did not have that matter.

Anyway, such a funny happening was short-lived. The release date of the album was approaching by the minute.

The first signal was the teaser release.

* * *

“What are you doing?”

“I will not. go away.”

Kim Rae-bin’s personal fan gritted his teeth and pushed his snooping younger brother.

‘That’s fucking shit because I don’t want to admit that I’ll just have to look for it myself!’

It was quite annoyed that he tried to sneak a look at something that he could confidently look for if he was interested in Park Moon-dae, as if he was arguing with himself.

Of course, even considering that, her current reaction was more intense than usual.

Because there were concerns.

‘Is Kim Rae-bin okay? !’

Rumors had circulated that the grandparents had collapsed and joined the preparation belatedly.

Rabin Kim’s fan tore his nails.

‘First of all, it seems that the family problem has not grown bigger after seeing it posted on social media.’

Still, since the preparation period was relatively short, I had a foreboding feeling that the amount of Kim Rae-bin in the album would be small… .

‘Oh, it’s noisy! Then, protest to increase the amount of the next album!’

What are you buying and worrying about!

She yelled once and then corrected the mouse.

I’m sure it will wake up at midnight… .

‘It’s up!’

[TeSTAR ‘Calling’ (Nightmar e) Official MV Teaser]

Then she shut her mouth.

“Huh.”

The thumbnail is Raebin Kim!

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 227

Episode 227,

Kim Rae-bin's personal fan froze the moment he checked the thumbnail.

Kim Rae-bin, wearing fancy chains around his ears and arms, was making eye contact with the camera while wearing a black knit.

"Ahhh!!"

It was a great atmosphere and face, but there was more emotion than that… .

This is because Kim Rae-bin's fans have been waiting for this moment for a long time.

Activities with Kim Rae-bin as the center!

'They've been eating too much among themselves! To be honest, people who were less popular than Kim Rae-bin did chorus centers!'

Every time a member's part quantity table came out for each active song, Kim Rae-bin hovered between 4th and 5th place.

And there were also individual fans who poured out swearing at the statistics every time.

'Isn't it a national rule that a producing member gets beaten up for monopolizing the amount… .'

Why are these the only exceptions?

Obviously, I thought Raebin Kim's lack of talent in politics was attractive, but it was also true that he exploded inside.

But finally this moment has arrived!

'It looks like this, but I should have made it to the center earlier. Let's go.'

Personal fans clicked on the video right away without even thinking about it. It was almost a reflex action.

"… … ."

Dark black and white screen.

The teaser for Testa's new song started with smoke like smoke rising slowly.

Black letters appeared.

-CALL it.

Beyond the smoke, I could see lights hanging from black wires swaying by a bony white hand.

Moving lights left blurry afterimages and smoke.

but there was no sound.

"… … ??"

Black cuts with only letters lined up like lines are inserted between mysterious scenes with an aspect ratio like a black and white silent movie.

A contradictory situation in which there is no sound in the preview of the song.

-Sometimes.

It will CALL you back.

Then, all of a sudden, the color came into the video.

Pale, brilliant colors of light bulbs flickered in cyan and purple, tinting the smoke.

And in that, the members showed up one by one.

All of them were wearing accessory parts with a strange atmosphere that applied chains to body parts as if they were restrained.

Bright yellow or blue primary-colored eyes flashed through the dark hair of the loose top.

The expressionless short cuts in different postures passed intensely with the symbols of cunning feelings.

And the last thing that came out was that cut of the thumbnail.

Kim Rae-bin with purple eyes staring at the screen.

However, six hands suddenly protruded from the screen and grabbed Kim Rae-bin's body.

"Hup."

However, Kim Rae-bin was calm.

Instead of responding, he slightly opened his mouth and whispered something.

[…] … .]

But the video still had no sound. Because it was a silent movie style.

Instead, dialogue cuts from silent films appeared again one after another, as before.

"… … !"

And the sound came from here.

A low, resonant voice on a black screen and an octave higher voice.

-Welcome welcome

This is the sound of calling you.

There was a slightly ominous feeling in the melodic line mixed with air like a whisper.

And more than that, I could feel the element of wanting to appeal.

‘It’s sexy!!’

Rabin Kim’s personal fan threw a mouse.

The short teaser was already over, but that was enough. This was a decadent sexy concept for anyone to see!!

From the explicit close-up of hands in front of the members to the costumes of the members, everyone is shouting that this concept is languid and decadent sexy!

‘This is why Kim Rae-bin was the center… !’

Rabin Kim’s fans hit their heads on their desks at this indisputably excellent choice.

And at that moment, like an active volcano, reactions began to spread around the fan community.

-Crazy just teaser

-What is the teaser

–< Kyung > Finally sexy after 3 years of testa debut < Congratulations >

-It’s early summer, so it’s a bit scary Noona looks scared, but it’s okay, I’ll enjoy it

-No, I’m not sure if it’s a costume ㅠㅠㅠ

-Rabin is grabbing the member It’s 6 of them, right? There’s no way this isn’t the case

. A taste of sexy?

This is because, as Park Moon-dae thought during the preparation for the 3rd team battle of < Azusa >, there were few concepts that were as intense and worked well if done properly.

In addition, the teaser mixed with artistic references so as not to be too explicit softened the hearts of those who wanted to be a bit pompous.

Thanks to this, the teaser instantly became a hot potato in various entertainment-related communities beyond the fan community.

[Teaser for Testa’s new song that went viral as soon as it was released]

[Collection of teaser reactions for Testa’s new song ‘Nightmare’]

[Testa’s teaser that seems to be determined and sexy]

[Testa member reacted with black hair and body chain]

Even There was even a WeTube review video analyzing ‘why the response is so good’.

It was the first time since the teaser for ‘March’ that the reaction was so hot with just a teaser.

Even then, it was embarrassing to compare it to because it was like an 8-minute introductory music video for each solo song I made.

But, as always, opinions diverged once they left the fan community.

-It’s too obvious

, so it’s cold -Ugh, this time it seems that the concept will be eaten

-Vtic did this only in their 5th year hahahahaha I was in a hurry because it was a 5-year contract ..

If I just wore a black suit and had a sexy concept, half of it would go well, but it seemed like it crossed the line, so it was half a lie.

Even the excited foreign KPOP fans frantically clicked on the teaser and showed signs of an unprecedented hit, so there was a mix of forces trying to blow the candles somehow.

Of course, there were people who really didn’t like it.

The representative reason was that it was an overly heavy and mature concept for a 3-year car to digest.

-That kind of thing is a complete double-edged sword

. However, most of the fans had a corner to believe.

This is exactly what Testa has been doing up until now.

‘As long as the company pays for it, my kids do well!’

That belief, close to inductive reasoning, was a bit like pride among the fans overall.

Thanks to this, Testa released various contents before the comeback according to the schedule, absorbing expectations without backlash or noticeable concerns.

-Confour is out

-ㅠㅠㅠ White conformo taken with dried flowers is really the best Moondae Park This dreamy guy is a flower, but I can't even think of the groom in May -Wow,

what should I do

? It's the best opportunity to become a fan. If it succeeds, it will be a jackpot, but if it fails, it seems that it will be hit more than expected.

And on the day of the music video release.

'Come out quickly.'

'Come right away.'

A short and thick 5-minute music video was released in front of the bloodied eyes of the fans who had already raised their expectations.

drooling.

The video begins with Moondae Park dragging a white bed into the screen in a format like a CCTV screen.

It was the moment when he sighed and lay down on it.

[After.]

The bed went black.

Then, without warning, the color of the screen reversed to black and then turned upside down.

Took.

The black-haired Park Mun-dae fell from the black bed with the bronze ceiling and lightly sat on the cracked floor.

And the moment I tilted my head, like a teaser, a silent movie style classic dialogue cut was inserted.

[…] Dream?]

Moondae Park smiled and fell backwards.

Diiing-

Diiing-

Dididididididi-

The song started like that, with a strange riff melody filling the screen as if an alarm bell was ringing.

[Bear well. The last four thoughts with a bit of sweetness

]

There was no special storyline.

The camera slowly moved around this bizarre space like an attraction in an amusement park, only showing the members who suddenly appeared one by one.

And the members just appeared in a captivating or intense look and digested their parts.

However, the way the focus changed was subtle.

swish

The member who was on camera was dragged away by a white hand protruding from somewhere and disappeared.

And like a connecting motion, the cut of the new member who seemed to be the owner of that white hand in the smog changed as if it was cut and pasted.

When the dream-like and chaotic composition blended with the dark and lush appearance of the members, it was somewhat dizzying and oddly stimulating.

[Dreams can be horrible

, but it won’t be now, so call me, can you hear me

voice-voice]

And choreography that uses a lot of interspersed lines and costumes with bold props and vocal directing.

As everyone guessed, it was a concept aimed at being sexy. However, it wasn’t too heavy like some people were worried about.

[Call-it

, call it now. Nanananananana-name that will stick like honey and won’t fall off

.]

It’s because you mixed your talents in the right place.

Due to the singing method, it can sound a little languid, but the beat and bass stand out, so the sticky feeling is not too much.

Based on that, the characters of the members in the cut pop out every time, so the bizarreness of the space that seemed to have reversed reality was not excessive.

However, it was not that he completely ignored the eerie and languid heaviness of the teaser.

They tucked short and thick into the late bridge.

To fill the satisfaction of people who would have expected that kind of pleasure.

[Welcome welcome,

this is the sound calling you]

The chorus was the same, like a strange whisper.

And a bridge in the style of an intense teaser video that makes you feel as if you will collapse and suffocate in the black and white smoke that suddenly blows in front of the camera.

Tup.

A large hand holding a face in a rough tone, like a beast or a ghost. And even the eyes twinkling between those fingers.

It was a decadence that even became a little sensual.

In addition, at the climax, as if to ask them to forget the bridge, they mercilessly put in splendid choreography cuts full of visual beauty.

As if trying to catch your attention.

Thanks to that, it was about the time when the viewer was fully focused and captivated by the splendid sight that he had generously given strength to.

The choreography stopped and the song ended abruptly.

And as if they were interrupted, everyone stared at the camera at the same time, like a painting.

swish

At that moment, the screen suddenly went black.

The sound of breathing in silence.

[Heo Eok.]

Bae Se-jin, wearing a round white tee, woke up on a white bed. Then, as if shocked by a nightmare, he gasped.

However, the close-up expression quickly disappears and turns into a faint smile.

As if you were obsessed with something.

And the video ended with a slow tap on the slightly sweaty ear with one finger.

[Call me]

It can be interpreted symbolically, but if you accept it intuitively, you can interpret it very easily, leaving only this word.

It was a music video like a set composition of primal stimuli.

-What did I see

? -You crazy people

-Testaaaaa!

-It’s so good that I can’t believe it

hahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahaha
hahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahaha
hahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahaha hahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahaha

* * *

“Testa’s latest activity is already creating a great sensation!”

“Ugh thank you!”

The interviewer this time was a very lively person. Thanks to this, the voices of those who were dying from not being able to sleep also increased in tone.

And the deokdam was real.

‘… I never thought the reaction would be this good.’

Only half a day after the release of the music video.

First of all, I felt the power of this concept when I saw that all kinds of GIF files that were songs, naked, and edited were shared one after another and posted on popular posts.

There is no doubt that the song is taking a back seat, but it won’t be too late to see it on stage.

Anyway, in the current schedule, let’s deal with that interviewer who was excited about the good reaction.

“… So, does the music video and these piercings you have now have meaning?”

“There is no special meaning, but the one who drills a lot expands the range of choices when digesting various concepts, so I managed it steadily!”

“I see~”

I glanced at Raebin Kim, who enthusiastically participated in the interview, and nodded with a smile without muttering.

‘I said I was going to shoot a video.’

Since it is an appropriate media interview, they say that they will focus on online articles, but there is nothing wrong with managing the behind-the-scenes.

Well, at least the question I'm getting is at the level of 'everyone wore a lot of piercings on this album, did you really get them pierced'?

Oh, it's finally my turn.

"Then what about Mundae?"

"I was all gwijji."

"That's right, whatever your personal beliefs… ?"

"No, I'm just afraid of getting sick."

"yes? ha ha ha!"

In fact, I gave up because it was tricky to manage and a bit difficult to make holes in other people's bodies, but this would be a more appropriate answer.

"Moondae is surprisingly timid~ I can't even watch horror movies!"

"Really? No, this music video is quite creepy, that's how monitoring is… ?"

"yes. I watched with my eyes closed."

"ha ha ha!"

Let's give up and admit it roughly, and they laugh coolly here and there.

Yeah, I hope the people watching the interview do this too.

To be honest, I'm so used to this kind of small schedule that it doesn't take a lot of effort.

Surprisingly, there are many cases where the questions people ask are standardized like routines.

The thing that takes my heart the most is the stage and entertainment.

and… There is something special to do for this activity only.

‘Now is the time to implement it.’

I smiled lightly as I recalled the ‘official notice on the formation of a team dedicated to Testa’ that I had read in the morning.

I’m going to intervene somehow.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 228

If you can't debut, you'll get a fatal disease Episode 228

Formation of an artist-only team for Testa.

On the surface, it was supposed to be carried out by the Planning and Coordination Office, but in reality, it was expected that the general manager's influence would also enter.

'There's no way he would fall for something like this because of his tendency.'

Even if the words came down from the head office, he would have wanted to somehow adjust the direction to suit his taste.

So I was considering a way to gently stir up the management room one more time in order to intervene under the pretext of mediation.

I thought I would make a gap even if I had to accept the number of kkakdugi there… .

There was no need for that.

'They just do it.'

– Oh sure! Of course, the opinions of the testers should be reflected… .

It was a declaration of surrender that Testa's intention would be reflected as much as possible in the planning of the dedicated team just by expressing its intention.

'What.'

I wondered how this could be possible, but it turned out to be simple.

It was because the activity signal this time was so good.

Even though it's been just over a week since we've been active, the response has been beyond our expectations.

Beyond measurable factors such as album sales and music charts, in terms of feeling.

[Am I doing this… ? Testa call challenge!]

[Follow nail: Testa (TeSTAR) call (Nightmare) ｜ Personal customization and interpretation included! :)]

Even if you're not a fan, people who watch, follow, or comment on it pop up all of a sudden, and stories come out in communities or everyday life that have nothing to do with idols.

Wetube entertainment programs belonging to popular broadcasting stations quickly pick up music video elements and use them.

To sum this up in one word, this is it.

'It's the beginning of a fad.'

In fact, I felt it only on stage.

Yesterday, the stage of a culture and arts promotion event was broadcast on the airwaves, and it was live there.

-Oh oh oh…

It was because I felt that the fans of other groups were especially excited to watch our stage.

Even VTIC fans.

In the meantime, I felt that fans of other idols were responding with appropriate restraint while watching, but that kind of hesitancy has disappeared.

This meant that a consensus on fashion had already been formed.

No matter how much idol fans are the internet and intimate fan base, in just one week.

'… Of course, the response from our fans was above average.'

The tearing moaning and shouting that had been heard non-stop, all the way to the inside of the in-ear, automatically came to mind.

– Kkeaaaaaaaaaaagh!!

-Aaaaaaaaaaaaa!!

what is this… It could also be due to the nature of the concept.

Anyway, overall, it means that the explosion of tremendous grades and topicality was not unusual.

To put it bluntly, the kid standing on the ending stage of this event started greeting with these words.

-congratulation. Will you hit the target?

-… I don't know how.

-haha. don't know what

-… .

– It's obvious how it will flow.

With those words, Cheong-rye went up to the stage.

'X feet.'

I don’t think he’ll hit my head with an Ohama anymore, but why does that bastard still have flaws in his head?

‘The dog looked fine.’

Anyway, his solo performance was as high as the group’s, so there’s no reason to blame Testa for coming to a slump.

And in fact… He was right.

‘I think I can get the grand prize.’

If the activities continue without controversy like this, looking at the results and momentum so far, at least one or two places have been confirmed.

‘Usually, divisions are divided into 2 or 3 categories, so even if you omit the VTIC seat, you can see the angle.’

And to sum it all up in one sentence:

The ransom was skyrocketing.

“Did you see the unit price of our advertisement at Moondaemun University?”

“okay.”

It was twice the highest amount at the time of ‘March’.

It seems like the agency chooses only those with good images at the highest price, but it was ridiculously encouraging.

‘Even on the way, the first team treatment started.’

Now, even the story of the generational change against VTIC seems to be coming out with credibility.

So, the agency thought the same way.

‘It’s going to be a long-term battle, so let’s calm them down and maintain a good relationship’.

In the meantime, it was unclear whether or not to renew the contract, so the sign of trying to pull out all the spines that could be pulled out within 5 years somehow disappeared.

It’s too wasteful to eat it after only 5 years.

Of course, at the same time, it seemed like the gags would start trying to catch weaknesses somehow until the contract renewal season, but we’ll talk about that later.

First of all, let’s pay attention to the fact that the agency’s employees act like Eul to please Testa even when she comes out tough.

‘It seems that the fact that Kim Rae-bin handled progress issues in a rather rigid manner with a notice to the agency while working from home also had an impact as a precedent.’

It seems that he even asked if there was a problem with the dedicated team because he was worried that he would mess around with nothing this time.

So, the group’s internal meeting related to the dedicated team was able to split the schedule during this busy period of activity.

But to no avail.

“first… I would like those of the AR team who have worked with us since ‘Magical Boy’ to come.”

Kim Rae-bin raised his hand.

“I totally agree with that statement! And they said they were willing to come too.”

“… ??”

Suddenly, an impromptu spokesperson jumped out.

“Rabin, when… Um, did you ask?”

Rabin Kim said proudly.

“In fact, as soon as rumors of the dedicated team spread, we talked about it and they said they would come!”

“… … .”

“Rabin, there are security issues, so be careful… .”

“Oops sorry! When the AR team brings up the topic first… .”

Because it was like this.

Those who wanted to come already heard the story of knowing and finished appealing to the people involved.

And since the company is suddenly trying to make friendly gestures to Testa, everything seems to be okay.

I touched my chin.

‘This has already been implicitly agreed upon.’

Therefore, there was nothing to agree on other than the company notifying the existing working-level staff and asking for someone to turn to the rookie side.

“Okay, then let’s tell them that we want to be with them.”

“Yeep.”

However, as the silence flowed, Bae Se-jin noticed and opened his mouth.

“… So, isn’t it just for new job seekers? what… Like watching that interview.”

Oh, that’s a fairly reasonable opinion.

It is true that about one-third of the dedicated team decided to add new personnel.

Especially the management staff.

Liu Qingyu nodded.

“Hmm, it would be nice to have some time to get to know the newcomers as well.”

However, there are practical problems.

Big Sejin opened his mouth first before I said anything.

“But I don’t know if we have time for that, right?”

okay. right.

With barely enough time for this meeting, where is the time to watch other people’s interviews?

I crossed my arms.

‘Anyway, it takes time to make a preliminary question to see if the work style is right… .’

ah.

I thought of a way to try it out.

I muttered inwardly.

‘Status window.’

I wonder if it’s time to spin the slot machine one more time.

‘Hmm, I want to say ‘Sleep is to die and sleep’ one more time.’

Or the ability to stretch a day to 30 hours… It's good to increase work speed.

Check the status once.

[Name: Park Moon-dae (Ryu Gun-woo)]

Level: 19

Title: None

Singing: S

Dance: B+

Appearance: A-

Talent: A+

Characteristics: Infinite potential Time to indulge (S) Bacchus 500 (B) Snatching ears (A)

! Status Abnormality: If you are not a spectator, death

Points remaining: 1

'There is a natural increase.'

S- became S, as if the overuse of the neck was worthwhile. Somehow, the reviews have been better lately.

It cannot be denied that there is a sense of accomplishment.

'good. Then next.'

Other changes… You level up once, and you draw twice for the attributes you accumulated through the pop-up.

'Because the term hasn't been that long since the last check.'

To be honest, it was amazing to build this much in just a few months. It also means that Spring Out and this promotion are impressive.

so… For now, I'm thinking of putting the points aside and trying to draw or spend the necessary traits.

'It's funny to call it a waste of time after taking it twice.'

Didn't I eat only one S at the end after turning it 5 times last time?

But now I know for sure.

'It's obvious that I'm giving you the characteristics I need right now, so spit it out.'

I stared at the sparkling 'Click' phrase in the pop-up window and pressed it while pretending to raise my arm.

Number two.

The lever in the picture turned and the compartments flashed in different colors.

Passing through the candidates I saw once… It was the golden khan that stopped.

Grade B.

It looks like a flat stroke, but if you read the letters in the box, you will change your mind.

Papapang!

[Obtain 'Bacchus 500 (B)'!]

"… … !!"

[Attribute: Bacchus 500 (B)]

– Clear mind and healthy body!

: All fatigue cumulative speed -50%

The fatigue recovery totem that has been extremely useful has reappeared.

And the unexpected pop-up also appeared.

[Check the same characteristics!]

Do you want to synthesize ‘Bacchus 500 (B)’?

‘also!’

The time has finally come to enhance this essential trait… !

I unknowingly clenched my fists.

“It’s dumb… ?”

“Are you okay?”

It was so good it was awesome.

“I’m looking forward to it and it feels so good to hear that a dedicated team is being formed.”

“That’s right!”

“Hey, I guess it’s really like that. It’s been a while since you’ve answered a question this long.

You can stop making excuses and let’s go.

I immediately clicked ‘yes’.

A round indicator appeared on the status window as if it were loading, and soon a flashy fanfare erupted.

[Synthesis Success!]

Obtained ‘Bacchus 1000 (A)’!

Clear mind and strong body!

-All fatigue cumulative speed -50%

All fatigue recovery speed +100%

.

‘It has more recovery options.’

Isn’t it enough to sleep like this once every two days?

What is certain is that there is no hindrance to activities and you can squeeze in the time to create questions and answers for interviews.

‘It’s a huge benefit in the long run.’

The rebound on vacation… Well, it’s always been like that, but it doesn’t matter if it’s a little worse.

There are no aftereffects, but I lie down for three days. No, since recovery has been added, the taste may not go away during the vacation.

‘Come to think of it, I didn’t go through it this vacation.’

Perhaps taking care of Kim Rae-bin was treated as a kind of work, so the status window did not judge it as a vacation.

Anyway, I didn’t expect this dubious game system to spit out something useful this time.

‘good.’

I hope you will be so cooperative in the future. I don’t know if it’s going to end like this, but I have to do this much.

I looked at the updated properties window in the status window with satisfaction, then nodded.

“Does Moondae nod now?”

“Isn’t it just imagining the people on the dedicated team… ?”

don’t pretend it’s the same

The launch of a dedicated team has already been expected.

To be precise, the effect that the launch will bring.

* * *

Testa’s first manager frowned on his way to work.

‘X feet.’

The work is getting more and more difficult because the kids are hot and arrogant.

They say that if you get star disease, you will treat the staff first, isn’t that just the case?

Even a parachute came in and took away the position he had worked for, and the opportunity for promotion was pushed back.

In his judgment, there was no X small entertainment that seemed to be drawn. The manager was incensed at this unfair situation, but was frustrated because there was no countermeasure.

‘But I just need to hold out for a bit.’

In a few days, Testa will also be celebrating its second anniversary. Then his career will soon fill up 2 years.

Since the number of digits was different, I was thinking of taking this and going to a career position.

‘I’ll hit you all over the back at that time.’

The manager, who knew the confidentiality clause and shouted out loud for no reason, went to the company without hesitation.

Due to working all night, Testa was all in the company conference room.

But the moment you enter the lobby.

He was suddenly called to the personnel team. And then I heard the thunderous news.

“yes?”

“therefore… Because it’s not a joke. You don’t have to come out tomorrow.”

It was the news of the layoff.

The manager looked at the team leader dumbfounded and exchanged a few words, but soon realized that there was no room for negotiation.

“Take off your luggage, huh?”

Immediately, the emotions suppressed by the fear of being fired surged up.

It was anger.

“No, chief. what now… Isn’t this unfair?”

The manager’s expression that he didn’t want to talk more because he was ridiculous made him more angry, but soon the team leader became stiff in the recording he was playing.

-Hyung, we are on the move because Rabin’s grandmother passed out… .

-what? this morning?

-Yes, you should come ‘this morning’. We are on the move right now, so please wait nearby as soon as possible.

-… uh okay

And a small swearing sound as it cuts off.

“… … .”

If Testa wasn’t very popular, or if there was no connection at the head office, or if the manager had a connection, it could be passed over.

I don’t know how I could have been able to criticize him for being rude because he was friendly.

But unfortunately for the manager, not all three.

“Yesterday, the artist’s phone cloud was hacked and almost spread. know?”

“… … uh uh uh.”

“Hey just… go out nicely Huh? If this gets out of the press, you have to leave Korea. Look at the atmosphere right now.”

It was a sentence of no recovery.

The manager left the company on his own accord.

And Park Mun-dae, who heard the news from the upper floor by the AR team who was excited about gossip, laughed.

‘Stupid bastard.’

He had never turned off the call recording setting since high school.

‘I sent one.’

It was cool inside.

He continued to prepare for the next one with his body spinning by nature.

‘… 2nd anniversary.’

Testa’s debut date, June 18th, was just around the corner.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 229

If you can’t debut, you’ll get a fatal disease Episode 229

The second anniversary of Testa’s debut was planned to be held as a fan meeting. It’s classic, but it’s guaranteed to be fun.

Also, since the size of the venue is smaller than that of a concert, paid real-time streaming is also provided online so that it has a friendly taste like a fan meeting.

‘I don’t think it’s obvious that illegal broadcasting will spread all over WeTube.’

It’s not even a day or two, so it’s not new. I’ll report it hard on the paid platform.

‘Isn’t it better than not sending it online and making the scalper full?’

And by figuring out the number of people who pay to see the fan meeting, you can see how much the popularity of this activity is connected to the fandom.

If you ignore the voice of conscience for a moment, it’s a disgrace to those who pay a fee even though you can watch it for free.

So, if you look at the price versus time compared to VOD… .

‘… After all, I have to pay for the concert.’

Don’t think about useless Witube, let’s do my job well.

And fortunately, the fan meeting on the day started smoothly.

-It has nothing to do with the weather forecast.

It’s the day I want to meet you.

Waaaaaaaa!!!

A blue opening stage with countless colorful balloons floating into the sky.

The subtitle of this fan meeting, which started with the light and bright ‘Picnic’, was ‘Daydream’.

It can be seen that the English subtitle of this song, ‘Nightmare’, has been reversed once.

‘If there is a connection like this, there is a theme on the stage.’

Wouldn’t it be fun to see that again?

And it will be conducted in a soft and warm atmosphere.

I thought it would be okay to hold a fan meeting as there were many incidents over the past year.

Overall, the concept was set in a fairy tale-like atmosphere.

So, the talk and entertainment in the middle are quite… I tried to cut it out cutely, but I don’t know.

It’s because the route changed in the middle.

Once started it was fine.

“Hello everyone!”

“Today is the anniversary of Testa and Loveuer. 〈Tesversary〉! Thank you so much for coming.”

“Let’s have fun!”

The recent talk and post-it questions are almost national rules for the first fan meeting, and the expected answers came out well.

Of course, the confident guy did the ad-lib first.

yeah that's a big deal

"uh? 'Who has the most aegyo'? You have to see this! Now, everyone, prepare a little bit of aegyo~"

You seem to be overdoing things that have not been agreed upon. Be thankful that the fan meeting is live.

When the camera came in, I matched it appropriately and brazenly performed the recently popular aegyo.

Shock and screams were heard everywhere. … up to scream?

"No, Mr. Mundae, when will you practice for that?"

"Because I'm an idol, I don't sleep. in your spare time."

"Ah ah~"

laughter erupted from the audience.

Still, it's about 3 years old, and the embarrassing things gradually lose their inspiration. You're going smoothly.

However, Keun Se-jin, who was arguing against the nonsense bullshit conte, smirked and slapped me on the back.

And brought reality.

"No, but you should sleep, Mr. Mundae! Ah everyone! You really don't sleep at all these days?"

"… … !"

“Mundae-hyung works at dawn! You work so hard!”

“It seems to me that he only sleeps once every two days.”

I don’t know how a guy who doesn’t notice anything dirty can hit something like a knife again.

‘Certainly, I slept just that much these days.’

It was thanks to the Bacchus 1000.

Thanks to that, I was very satisfied with the fact that I quickly completed the interview questions, formed a dedicated team, intervened well, and acquired new management personnel.

‘Still, it’s unusual for people who can’t see the status window.’

What is certain is that you don’t have to take it seriously.

‘It hurts when it’s used as subject matter for things like ‘Park Moon-dae doesn’t sleep, so why are you a wife?’

Let’s pass it as a joke. I shrugged.

“what… Idols don’t sleep.”

“Ooh~ Idols are people too~”

“Aren’t we idols?? uh huh?”

Amidst the mischievous booing, Bae Se-jin muttered with a sullen face.

“It just seems like a labor law violation… .”

“… … .”

I avoided the eyes of the camera, being conscious of the audience that was groaning with eccentric cheers, half laughing and half worried.

‘I can’t show you the Bacchus 1000.’

In the midst of this, Keun Se-jin giggled and dared to hold his microphone at Sun Ah-hyun.

“Now, what did Ahyeon, Moondaemun University’s roommate say?”

“… that’s right! I don’t sleep too much… !”

“… !!”

Seon Ah-hyun said hard with a firm face.

“If you tell me to grow up a lot for your health… .”

These guys… .

ruler!! Come on Moondae!!

You should sleep well!!

‘… pushed.’

I was silent for a while at the comment from the audience, then changed my posture.

“… … sure. It’s a joke. You should sleep well.”

“I swear! I swear!”

“I will sleep well so that my health will not suffer.”

“Wow!”

It’s not a lie, it’s a lie.

“Then everyone! While talking about our sleep~ Aren’t you curious about what kind of pajamas we wear??”

I wonder!!

Totally curious!!

“Let’s meet on this stage!”

The performance of the animal pajamas version of the parade, which was prepared by gently rotating topics, continued with great success.

-Good luck!

People were happy, and after that, stages and events came out without any injuries or mistakes.

… The pleasure of showing a good stage as envisioned was still the same. There was no time to think of anything else.

And the last stage before the encore.

It was only after presenting a classically arranged version of the title song ‘Call’ that I had some time to think.

Encore! Encore!

A now friendly shout resounds from above.

“The VCR will go in in 3 minutes!”

I caught my breath and looked at the clothes I had changed, only then I remembered the last talk and suppressed my silence.

‘From now on, every time I hit Dub App at night, I’ll be bombarded with comments saying that my nose is growing… .’

I may not be able to use the Bacchus 1000 for a while… .

I realized in that moment.

“… !”

for a moment.

As a result of this… Didn't it make the fans watch me?

And if you think about who the guy who said it is obvious.

'I was aiming for it.'

After I changed my clothes, I looked at Se-jin, who was getting her makeup done.

Big Sejin narrowed his eyes.

"Hyung is really handsome today~ Everyone knows."

"… … ."

See you after the fan meeting.

* * *

The fan meeting ended with the stage of the fan song 'Magic is You' arranged with exciting band sounds.

"You are in the car. I'll get some feedback and come back soon!"

"yes."

I wiped my soaked face and got into the car following the new manager's guidance.

And briefly looked at the online reaction.

– The bonus book stage I haven't seen in a long time… Overwhelming thanks to the coordinator (captured)

-What is the Moon Dang Daeng Idol Drip? What do you say so naturally?

-2nd Anniversary Cake Cutting Ceremony Hahahaha Cha Cha

Young Stealing and Eating (GIF File) -Testa Fan Meeting_Talk Medley of Other Idol Songs (1)

‘No problem.’

Clean with no incidents. The reaction behind the scenes… I thought to refrain from it, so I omitted it.

I immediately turned off my smartphone screen and opened my mouth.

“Lee Se-jin.”

“huh?”

“You were talking about sleeping on purpose.”

Big Se-jin, who had been chatting with Cha Yu-jin in the front seat, immediately looked back and smiled.

“What are you asking for the obvious?”

“… … !”

“No~ Mundae isn’t some kind of Terminator~ I don’t sleep and I just work. Then he suddenly dies in his 30s!”

‘Don’t do it, bastard.’

Rather, she could die suddenly next year thanks to abnormal conditions.

However, Keun Se-jin looked around the inside of the car and raised his hand.

“Does anyone think that Moondae sleeps enough here?”

“… … .”

“Then who thinks we should sleep more?”

hands rise up

They range from quite nervous to obvious expressions, but they seem to have the same idea that I was overdoing it.

“That’s right~ It’s a group life. Protect me, Moondae!”

I held back a sigh.

yeah what… I know you’re worried.

“okay.”

“exorcism!”

Since the formation of the dedicated team is over anyway, you can seal it for a while.

‘I spent a few days to the fullest.’

I shrugged and leaned my head on the backrest.

Liu Cheng-wu took the situation gently.

“Yeah, as well as Moondae… Everyone worked hard until the 2nd anniversary. I think we did really well.”

“I think so too… !”

“That’s right~”

Yes, the 2nd anniversary. How much time has passed before you know it?

“I like this team. Our teamwork is the best!”

“… Thank you so far. We will continue to work hard in the future.”

“This is a fair statement. I will not be vigilant and will do my best for the remaining three years!”

I could hear the voices of the guys talking about their feelings.

I didn’t feel bad.

‘… Yes, I have three years left on my contract.’

It’s longer than what we’ve come so far. Still, I wish I could go on like that… .

“… … .”

It was the moment when I was trying to plan a route in case all of this would work out the best.

“Moondaemundae.”

“why.”

“Is there anything you want to say?”

“… ? Not at all.”

“Umm, that’s right~”

Sejin said as if passing by.

“Okay, let me know if you think of it.”

“… … .”

That… Isn’t that something I should try when I’m sure I have something to say?

‘This bastard isn’t the type to say things like this for no reason.’

I got up from the backrest.

“What are you… .”

It was then.

rattle!

The front door of the car opened.

And a staff member wearing a hat climbed into the driver's seat. I couldn't check it properly because I got on it in an instant, but if you exclude all of them, only one person remains.

'It must be the manager.'

no wait

The manager… Wasn't it the black staff uniform?

Ryu Cheng-wu next to me called.

"hey?"

However, the staff did not answer and the car started immediately after.

"… … ?"

What is that baby?

I checked ahead again.

'… There were no members in the passenger seat.'

I put my luggage in the passenger seat, so everyone rode in the back.

However, without seeing his face and not answering, he started the engine again and again… .

"… … !!"

I can't believe this X foot.

I immediately whispered to the seat next to me and the seat in front.

“Get everything down.”

“what?”

“Open the door right now… !”

That was the moment.

“older brother? Aren’t you manager Kim Joon?”

“… … !”

Big Sejin in the front seat spoke calmly and conveyed the information.

And that means… It means that the guy in front of me is the former manager.

I got fired from the company a few days ago thanks to a phone call recording.

‘X feet.’

No matter how you think about it, it was never a good intention.

Wooooooooooo!!

In addition, the problem is that this X has left the car.

And that too at an incredible speed.

“Sigh.”

“Brother, brother? for a moment… Calm down.”

“What are you calming down!!”

The former manager suddenly let go of the steering wheel and glanced back.

What a profit!

After leaving the parking lot and running, the car stopped.

In the middle of this night road.

‘This crazy bastard.’

Baaang!

late night A car that was running right behind me passed by leaving a tremendous horn.

“… … .”

A cold sweat broke out.

The car is still running. If that bastard leaves while trying to open the door now, he will most likely be hospitalized.

I immediately sat in the back seat to make sure there was nothing to throw forward.

We need to get that bastard out right now.

“You guys. uh? Is it good to threaten people with recordings? uh?”

The former manager spat.

“Tell me because I just came here to hear the answer. is this my fault? uh? How can you cut a person for saying one wrong thing… .”

“I was wrong.”

“… … !”

First of all, you must calm that X foot. I immediately jumped in and answered politely.

“There was a hacking attempt on the cloud account, so I handed it over to the company. .”

“… … .”

“It’s absolutely not what we wanted. Maybe while creating a dedicated team… The company told my brother without permission.”

“… … .”

agitate I’m glad you’re a stupid kid

Big Sejin hit right next to me and came in.

“Brother, I’m sorry we couldn’t insist strongly. Until now, we thought that Hyung-nim was scouted and left. I’ll tell you right now as soon as we return, okay?”

Ryu Cheng-wu, who was sitting next to him, deliberately kept his mouth shut. In the end, it seemed like he knew that it was he who provoked that manager.

Just hold a book in your hand. It seemed like he was thinking of throwing it.

‘If it doesn’t work this time, I really have to throw it.’

I watched the madman’s reaction in the driver’s seat.

The guy took a deep breath and eventually bit the bait.

“… So, do you mean to be reinstated?”

“sure!”

“We will make a strong claim to the company unconditionally.”

“yes yes.”

As if the atmosphere is showing signs of lightening up, the members eagerly put on words.

And in the corner of the front seat, Sejin Bae was texting 112 in silence with his hand turned behind him.

“… … .”

It was the moment when the former manager sneakily put his hand on the steering wheel again.

‘done.’

As long as you stop on the side of the road and ask for a phone call with the company… .

That was the moment.

“… uh?”

Aaaaaaaang!

… A loud noise was heard from behind.

with vibration.

Can I call this vibration?

This… It was a shock.

The tremendous shock that started with the vibration caused my body to jump forward.

‘X feet!’

It was a crash accident.

And I saw that fleeting moment.

Broken car body and seats. Something like a broken part fell on someone's head between the rising airbags and was about to get stuck.

sharp and massive.

'… … !'

Without thinking, I blew my body and tried to knock the parts off.

I think I can.

It was crazy, of course.

hooked

Instead of grabbing the part, it stuck to my chest with the seatbelt on.

A shock pierced his chest.

"Huh."

And everything went dark.

* * *

When I came back to consciousness.

A small light flashed in my head where the black vision roared.

Ting-.

Something round and shiny with golden light broke through the black air and jumped out.

And slowly falling… outlined.

gold coin.

‘… coin.’

[Insert Coin]

The status window that appeared… I swallowed the coin like a slot.

and.

“Huh!!”

I am… I am.

I opened my eyes looking at the moldy motel ceiling.

Like sometime two and a half years ago.

“… … .”

know… It was an unforgettable ceiling

. ‘No.’

There was no way this would happen.

I raised my head and looked around. A musty blanket fell under my feet.

The scenery I saw once was right… no.

‘Is it a hallucination?’

Another interpretation… There is room for understanding in a different direction… .

“okay.”

I staggered out of bed. Then, almost crawling, I went to the dressing table.

and… saw.

“… … !!”

What is reflected in the mirror… It wasn't Park Moondae.

It was me. Gunwoo Ryu.

… What a sight to see in two and a half years.

Laughter came out.

"no."

Even if you come back, it's Park Mun-dae.

Why did I wake up in the motel room where Park Moon-dae was?
nonsense. It's not natural and it doesn't fit… … .

'The status window pops up and enters someone else's body, but it makes sense, doesn't it?'

"shut up."

I hit my head on the dressing table.

and muttered

"Status window."

But nothing happened.

cried again.

"situation… window. Status Window Status Window… ."

something… .

belt ring.

"… … !"

right in front of you… A window popped up

, but it wasn’t the status window I knew.

[Name: Gunwoo Ryu (Moondae Park)]

-Enjoy your daydream :) –

It was over.

“… … .”

I sat with my back on the bed.

And as calmly as possible, in a direction that is not rationalized as much as possible… I reviewed the situation a few more times.

concluded after that.

‘This… It’s a dream.’

I think I’m in a coma.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 230

If you can't debut, you'll get a fatal disease Episode 230

This situation… There are several reasons for concluding that it was a coma after a car accident.

The first is the degree of injury.

'The shrapnel entered the chest at least 5cm.'

I had seen it with my own eyes just before, and I ruminated a few more times to see if there was any exaggeration, but I was sure.

It will inevitably be fatal.

As far as I remember… He was also bleeding profusely.

The prognosis is not likely to be good if the splinter is not pulled out and when it is inserted.

But it won't be instant death.

'It's not like it's directly driven into the heart.'

It's a late night road, but it's in the middle of Seoul.

Bae Se-jin reported it, so if the police had confirmed it, an ambulance would have come… Then it would have been at least to the extent of wandering between death and death.

'I can't just die and start over… doesn't exist.'

… … It can’t be.

The second is because of my face I checked in the mirror.

“… You’re not 29.”

Because it was the face of ‘Ryu Gun-woo’, I couldn’t figure it out right away because I was embarrassed, but I understood it when I looked at it again slowly.

too young

‘This… At least it’s been a while since I graduated from college.’

However, this is the motel where I first woke up as ‘Park Moondae’, and it was the same date as the calendar I checked at the time.

[202×December]

That is, the time zone does not match.

I also checked my wallet on the dressing table just in case.

It was the number of ‘Ryu Gun-woo’, whose resident registration number changed to 3 at the beginning.

chills down the spine

[Ryu Gun-woo 0X1208 – 3XXXXXX]

20-year-old Ryu Gun-woo.

“What is this… .”

However, there were no suicide pills and a suicide note on the bed.

… Isn’t it as if he took only Park Moon-dae’s situation and matched it to Ryu Gun-woo?

‘It’s not a level where the front and back don’t match… .’

It doesn’t come off cleanly.

If you come this far, you will think about the phrase that appeared on the status window again.

[Name: Gunwoo Ryu (Mundae Park)]

-Enjoy your daydream :) –

‘daydream’ means daydream.

And not just ‘Ryu Gun-woo’, but ‘Park Moon-dae’ in parentheses… Consider this possibility.

‘What if it’s because I’m still in Park Moon-dae’s body?’

It leads to the suspicion that I am in a coma and having an absurd dream.

‘Besides, the system intervened here.’

… that coin.

If what I saw in my subconscious was the coin I received after clearing the previous status abnormality, then this situation was caused by that coin.

Until now, I assumed that it was used in stores considering clichés, but now I have a different guess.

‘… Wouldn’t it be an extra life like an arcade game?’

this too… It suits the game system. I was stupid and laughed at myself meaninglessly.

“under.”

Anyway, putting all of this together… .

I clasped my hands.

“… There will be a way to get back.”

If this situation is given as a way to wake up from a coma, just wake up.

And usually the best way to wake up from a dream is-.

“Should I jump?”

This motel isn’t particularly high-rise, so you won’t die if you fall here.

I don’t know if that will be enough.

Besides, Park Moon-dae’s real body could die, so dismiss it for now.

next… It’s a shocking surprise, but to be honest, I don’t think I’ll be shocked enough with just about anything right now.

A lot of it has already accumulated.

‘What else could there be?’

I tapped my knee with my finger.

The most standard method remains.

‘… Wait for the body to recover.’

external recovery.

Just don’t know how long it will take. I don’t know if I can recover.

“… … .”

Combining the given situation, I chose the most moderate method first.

‘First, look for hints.’

If this is systemic intervention, there may be hints to wake up while figuring out this dream.

‘The status window may respond.’

I stumbled up from under the bed. Then I packed my wallet and left the motel room.

First of all, let’s check what kind of situation ‘Ryu Gun-woo’ is in this coma.

* * *

“… … .”

I gritted my teeth as I brought out my newly opened cell phone.

‘same.’

I was in the same financial situation as my 20-year-old friend. The only difference is that I did not go to university like Park Moon University.

However, there was no contact with relatives.

‘Thoroughly configured as convenient… .’

so that inconsistencies do not appear.

Besides, I realized a crucial point.

‘She sings well.’

This body has the ability of ‘Park Moon-dae’ in reality.

It’s a fact that I realized after going to a karaoke room and singing a song, just like when I first woke up with ‘Park Moondae’.

All the senses of the stage that I experienced in the body of Park Moon-dae remained in this body as it was.

‘Is it encouraging me?’

In reality, ‘Park Moon-dae’ is telling me to go the same way.

So, as if digesting all of them with the real ‘Ryu Gun-woo’… .

“… … .”

Let go of useless thoughts, then let’s go ahead with your dreams.

‘The next thing I did… < Azusa > participation site.’

It means hanging out at a nearby karaoke bar to be invited by writer Ryu Seo-rin.

‘It’s not difficult.’

If you really want to participate, what will you do? It was painful, but the attempt itself was not difficult.

‘Because my face doesn’t look too bad in the first place.’

First of all, since the song is S-grade, the possibility wasn’t bad.

With no other options in mind, I decided to try this again and immediately headed to the karaoke bar.

But it failed.

“… … .”

I don’t know if the date is off or if it’s a dream, so what’s the difference… For several days, writer Ryu Seo-rin did not visit the karaoke room.

‘X feet.’

And I knew

‘The audition is already over.’

that there is no other way.

The way I squeeze in between them… there is nothing realistic

"… … under."

Again, without any hints, I was stuck in my place.

'What do you mean?'

Should I pretend to be crazy and climb the roof?

However, the judgment that it was too much of a risk, even though my body would not be normal, did not change.

'Then what can I do… .'

The way I can debut… … .

there is.

"… … !"

I knew one sure way.

It was just dangerous.

'… If I'm wrong, I could die in here.'

But if there's nothing you can do anyway, there's no harm in trying.

'I even thought about jumping off the roof, but that's about it.'

I took out my phone and hit a contact that was familiar to me because I had only seen text messages.

There are some confusing numbers with one or two digits, but just send them all away.

[I have changed breeds every time, but this time I don’t. Maybe it’s because the rumors of schizophrenia ruined me last time] There are certain people who will respond to this phrase.

Only the person concerned will not be able to ignore it as spam.

There is no such thing as future or past or restart. I’m not the kind of person to be shaken by such an obvious sound and contact you.

It has to be this specific to be agitated.

“… … .”

After sending the texts, I spent a few moments waiting for the confirmation to pop up.

and after a while

drooling.

– What are you? – I got a call right away.

I replied calmly to the words that came out of the middle of the day.

-A person like you would have understood this.

And after a short and bloody phone call, I saw him in the conference room inside LeTi’s agency.

“… … .”

“Here.”

It must have been a break, so you managed to find time to meet me even though it wasn't late at night or early in the morning.

Heck, even in the first week of activity, in this situation, he would have figured out the personal details first.

Even now, I contacted him to get a clue, but it was clear that he would have left the investigation behind my number.

I nodded my head to the guy wearing the cap.

"Like I said… Restarting."

"… … ."

He looked at me without expression and then threw a comment.

"How many?"

"Third."

Then the atmosphere changed completely.

"I can't go far."

Cheong-Ryeo responded calmly, then released her arm and placed it on the table.

'… I finished the calculation.'

Since I haven't done it a few times yet, I thought I could shake it off.

And seeing that he doesn't know him even though it's the third time… I thought that we could never go back to the past together.

'Let them misunderstand.'

There is no need to say useless things like coma and all, and you shouldn't.

Whether this bastard is reconstructed with the knowledge in my head or the system intervenes and looks the same as the real thing, at this point he is a crazy bastard with Reset Syndrome.

I spoke quietly.

“First of all, I apologize for one rude word in a text message. He told me to do that because he wouldn’t respond with tolerable words.”

“Ah, did you say that to me?”

“yes. I happened to see it.”

Of course it’s a lie.

“hmm… How many years from now?”

“Three years later.”

“Oh, three years… . How am I living?”

“You live well. The general consensus was that VTIC was the target again this year.”

“I see.”

It may not be as long as the period you turned, but 3 years is a fairly usable number. It’s not enough to roll your eyes.

‘… Let’s not talk about solo.’

This is not a hand to consider now.

Once you start thinking about it, there is no end to it.

Cheongryeo chuckled.

“Looks like we got along pretty well.”

“Even after realizing that even if I restarted, I wouldn’t be able to return.”

“That sounds plausible.”

Cheong-rye nodded.

And he asked with a smile without agitation.

“So why did you contact me?”

“I have come to make an offer.”

I spoke as naturally as possible, as I have already done.

“I want to debut here. ASAP.”

“Ah, that’s the mission.”

“… … .”

Cheongryeo replied with a smile on her face.

“And that one… Can I call you junior?”

“yes.”

“is it so. You must be saying that you will provide me with information about the future.”

“That’s right.”

I thought I wouldn’t come out with lines like ‘How can I trust you’ right away.

It’s a situation where I’m glad that someone to keep an eye on somehow came by itself.

However, the affirmation did not come immediately.

“however… How will you debut?”

“… … !”

“LeTi doesn’t support solo activities. Now the trainees… There are no guys to debut.”

“… … .”

“Oh, you already know. I heard you came back from the future.”

I think you’re blocking your solo or rookie debut.

The former is afraid that group activities will be neglected, and the latter is afraid that group activities will be hindered.

Instead of saying that, I said what I had in mind.

“… There are members in mind. We debuted together last time.”

“ah. which?”

“There is an audition program starting soon, and I am a cast member there.”

I thought of the guys who came to mind for a moment.

“… During the program, there is a chance to be officially recruited by another agency… … I want you to bring it.”

It’s called “Casting Call”.

… No matter where you go, just debut with them… shouldn’t it be done

I swallowed.

“That’s why you need my help.”

And this bastard in front of me will hit the back of my head at some point to cut off the buds that will become a threat, so let’s wake up before that.

* * *

“… … .”

The first thing Liu Cheng-wu heard was the notification sound from the device.

And when I opened my eyes, what I saw was the hospital ceiling.

“… … !”

got up right away

Then, I felt a hand helping me to lay down again.

“… Burn consciousness is back!”

“You must not move. I will lie down.”

Having made it a habit to trust the doctors’ words due to his long athletic days, he reflexively relaxed his body.

Then he lay down and checked his condition.

feet were immobilized. It probably wasn’t cracked or broken.

‘… Glad it wasn’t an arm… … .’

No, he no longer had to make his arms his top priority.

However, I should be grateful that the wounds are not serious.

“… … after.”

Liu Qingyu let out a long sigh and tried to straighten his mind.

The surroundings were noisy and noisy. He put the situation together.

‘… It was an accident.’

former manager.

It seems that the passengers were safely transported to the emergency room.

Being a celebrity, it seemed that they were somewhat considerate of privacy, but I could still hear them.

“… Fine… … .”

“Guardian here… … .”

Everyone will be surprised. It was fortunate though.

‘… I was the last, so everyone should be better than me.’

It’s because I think I came to my senses before my parents came. maybe everyone… .

That was the moment.

What had happened before he lost consciousness flashed into his vision like a flash.

The shoulder that pushed him away and the huge fragment that was pierced by the flesh below him… .

“… teacher!”

“yes?”

“Mundae… How about Mundae?”

“… … .”

“Moondae Park Moondae. You know?”

“… … I guess I’ll have to check that out too. First of all, please rest in peace.”

Ryu Cheng-wu knew it too.

… It’s a lie.

Click. The door closed.

Liu Qingyu was overcome with indescribable emotions at that moment.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 231

If I can't debut, I'll get a fatal disease Episode 231

The emergency room is still busy with this purpose. It's because the news didn't even reach the reporters.

Lee Se-jin looked at the floor and thought silently.

'I contacted the company, so that must be over now.'

Even though he couldn't calm down and calm down, he himself screamed, so all sorts of words will come out soon from the officials who grasped the situation.

Still, I couldn't do it. … to this situation.

Except for Liu Cheng-wu, who had lost consciousness, he was the only person who could contact the company, but he couldn't stay calm.

"… … Hueup."

Sejin Lee grabbed his smartphone and caught his breath.

My hands trembled.

Most of the members were fine. The extent to which a joint is sprained or fractured.

After some time, the aftereffects will have to be checked, but Lee Se-jin now only suffered minor abrasions.

The person who caused all of this was thrown out and passed out because he was not wearing a seatbelt. But even that was merciful compared to someone else.

‘I should have died.’

However, Lee Se-jin held her breath in overwhelming emotions rather than anger toward her former manager.

It was horror.

-Everyone is fine… … !

When he checks the status and checks on the members right after the accident.

What I saw next to Ryu Cheong-woo at the back… .

‘… No, it will be fine.’

myself… Because I was so embarrassed, I must have taken the wound more shockingly than reality…

All of them are lightly injured, but Ryu Cheong-woo, who was closest to the place where the car hit the back, only cracked his leg, but only Park Moon-dae… It can’t be.

It was because of the bleeding. I’ve had blood transfusions and surgery, so I’ll be fine.

Lee Se-jin tried to calm his head, guessing about the field he didn’t even know well.

It was because I almost signed the consent form for Park Moon-dae’s surgery right before.

-Current patient condition… … risk… … I need to go in the tube right now… … .

I tried to listen as much as I could, but I couldn't concentrate.

There was no sense of reality.

'we… I just had a performance for the 2nd anniversary.'

No matter how many accidents come without notice, does it mean that they come without being able to prepare like this?

so powerless?

yeah this was nonsense.

'It was going well for a while.'

Aren't you too embarrassed? What did Moondae Park do wrong… .

People with talent, sincerity, and hard work are not so common in the industry, so why is it called Park Moon-dae?

The guy whose life wasn't easy.

-Parental consent is required.

– A guardian… .

There was no Lee Se-jin's blood cooled.

– Can't I just sign it? just… .

-wait a minute.

Signs seemed to come and go quickly, but instead of receiving Lee Se-jin's autograph, the medical staff reconfirmed the patient, held a meeting, and went into surgery right away.

It was possible because it was an emergency, but anyway, Lee Se-jin sat stunned and waited for the results.

“… … .”

And I thought.

Now that the other members who were already in a state of panic would have received all the treatment, so they would have known the situation.

Lee Se-jin could immediately recall the scene of crying and fuss.

‘Soon sightings will come out… When an article is published, rumors… .’

No, what’s the use of all that? First of all, all the members should be fine.

Sejin Lee gritted his teeth and clasped his hand.

‘It’ll be fine.’

Still, having surgery means there is room for recovery.

So, if Moondae Park comes to his senses soon… … .

-Then you suddenly die in your 30s!

‘X-footed, I said that for no reason… .’

Lee Se-jin hit the knee with his fist. My eyes are blurry.

‘I’ll wake up.’

It had to be.

* * *

“… I am Ryu Gun-woo.”

“Ah, yes. Nice to meet you. I hope to go along well! This is Sejin Lee.”

I looked at the guy who greeted me with a strange feeling.

Even from the coma, he was still a skinny guy, but one thing was different.

‘These little eyes… .’

taste gone

In an attempt to seize the opportunity somehow, he smiles and acts nice, but he can’t erase the doubts and vigilance in his eyes.

‘… Was it a fatal blow to leave because of rumors?’

Besides, I don’t know why LeTi brought him after he got off due to rumors of school violence, and even more so I don’t know why he was able to explain it carefully.

“How old are you? I am 21 years old~”

“I am also 21 years old.”

“Oh, we are the same age.”

First of all, I don’t even talk about casually saying that I judged that I was higher in the ranking.

It means that my mentality was destroyed because of rumors to the extent that I couldn’t even consider the reputation I had built with Azusa.

I said with a sigh.

“Shall I speak?”

“Oh is that so? It’s good~”

Afterwards, Lee Se-jin left to meet the agency official after having a formal conversation to dig up information.

“… … .”

is this correct

I was trying to bring in people I could scrape together before < Casting Call >, but it was strangely bitter.

Besides, Seon Ah-hyun's side… The agency has not yet responded.

… After watching the broadcast of < Azusa >, I can understand why.

'X feet.'

My head was itchy.

… Did you have to force yourself to participate in < Azusa >?

In fact, with LeTi, it wouldn't be much of a chore to kick out one participant from such a ruined program and put one's own trainee in it.

The problem is that the agency strongly refused.

–< Idol Co., Ltd. >? why there… .

'… There's nothing to gain from this.'

Being added as two or three trainees was not even a debut, so it was possible with Cheongryeo.

However, it is said that a trainee with a name tag from this agency and not verified can not go to a low-quality program.

At this time, everyone thought that Azusa Season 3 would fail spectacularly.

'The persuasion didn't work.'

I thought I could encourage Cheongryeo a bit more with the bait of future knowledge, but it was impossible due to time constraints as Azusa's first filming was just around the corner.

'It's like X.'

The positive thing is that this agency treats me very well.

-Geon-woo, have you really never taken lessons? really?

I've been a trainee for the past two or three months, and after about 15 days in the beginning, I figured out my skills and my attitude became extremely friendly.

It was worth it. I didn't have the main vocal time in my 3rd year of debut.

'Looks like they're even making plans to join the debut group.'

There is no news about the debut group even after 3 years, so I want to tell them to stop it.

"… … after."

I sat looking at the mirror in the practice room. My familiar face I had seen for 29 years was reflected in the mirror.

… To be honest, the process itself is much easier.

My abilities are already almost complete, the company is smart, and the treatment is good. Besides, I already know what song and concept I should debut with.

If only members with verified abilities are gathered, they will surely achieve success after their debut.

And as long as you can't see the status window, it would be best to bring those who have already matched the sum.

'… I think it's only a matter of time before Seon Ah-hyun gets in touch.'

It would be perfect if we brought in a few more guys through < Casting Call > and debuted. If it is not possible, you can add at least one existing trainee.

So even though it's much easier than the reality where I've been through everything I've been through with "Azusa"… .

strangely reluctant.

“… It’s not real.”

I finished my thoughts, saying that it was unavoidable because the goal was to wake up.

“Isn’t that real?”

“… … !”

When I turned my head, I saw Chung-ryeo opening the door at the back of the practice room and walking in.

‘That bastard didn’t even learn to knock.’

I replied shyly.

“I just did it.”

“Well, it was time to think about that.”

“… … .”

“But it’s real, so don’t think like that. Because it’s a waste of time.”

It’s not, but it’s a dream.

I just nodded without saying anything. Cheong-rye smiled and continued.

“Ah, I heard that < Casting Call > would follow. It was filmed three days later.”

“… … .”

“I can’t appear on TV. I’m just taking it.”

“That’s enough.”

Would you have wanted to appear?

Anyway, after his knowledge of the future was verified several times, the guy who became creepily kind was willing to accept the < Casting Call > manipulation.

“hmm… You mean this question comes out?”

“yes.”

It is a reverse use of the method of ‘receiving a transfer offer from the agency with the most similar answer to the given question’.

Kim Rae-bin knows that he will be invited by LeTi even if he goes anyway.

And Cha Yoo-jin and Ryu Cheong-woo… No matter what I do, I know that these guys aren’t the ones who will come over because of this kind of work.

So, I plan to catch the one left.

“Since you told me, I will probably do it.”

Sejin Bae.

If done right, it’s the easiest fish to catch at this point.

* * *

And a few days later, at the filming site of Azusa.

“Move this first!”

I checked the situation by running errands on the LeTi side among the staff in similar outfits.

‘… The odds are high.’

First of all, the agency confirmed that they had contacted and talked with the two members before < Casting Call >.

‘Kim Rae-bin and Bae Se-jin.’

It was through the advice of Cheongryeo, who had been instructed by me.

Since < Azusa > was a box office success, they were happy to do tricks like this.

Both advised the deal in the most tempting way.

‘For Kim Rae-bin, it is centered on work support.’

-Among domestic entertainment companies, we invest the most in production-related facilities.

This agency’s AR work was very systematic. Besides, Rabin Kim was curious about the recording program used by VTIC, so there is quite a possibility.

And considering his moral inclination, he didn’t even mention the leaked question.

I just emphasized that all of this is the ‘official way’.

-It would be a great pleasure if we could meet through the official transfer method in the program.

However, he added that it would be good to persuade Cha Yu-jin to come with him if necessary.

‘Cha Yoo-jin is a guy who pays attention when necessary.’

If the person himself is willing to accept this proposal, he will notice the board running now and take care of it, and he will take an answer that Kim Rae-bin would do. Although the chances are very low.

‘And Bae Se-jin… safety.’

– Our legal team is fully staffed and we are actively working with large law firms to protect our artists.

With the subtle nuance of being strong in disputes with agencies, etc., he openly contacted us with answers to questions.

I'm still a jerk, but this should be enough.

And in this process, Chung-Ryeo surprisingly faithfully performed the role of cheating on the agency externally instead of me.

'You did a good job trading the composer as bait.'

So now it's time to see the results.

I continued to pretend to be a staff member and checked the set.

first… Rabin Kim.

[that… um sorry Since I appeared on the show, I want to do my best in my work.]

I thought about it more than I did in reality, but in the end I declined.

'I thought so.'

But the important point is after that.

[Here.]

[Ah yes! Thank you.]

I got a business card.

In other words, due to an unfortunate accident… This means that if the program goes bankrupt or you get off, you will contact LeTi.

And you don't know what the world will be like.

'This is enough.'

I’ve been watching this production team for 3 years in my own way, and there are three or four ways to break “Azusa”.

In addition, after the filming was over, even Ryu Cheong-woo took advantage of the confusion and took a business card from a LeTi official who sneaked up on him.

The performance was better than expected.

‘How can only Cha Yoo-jin… I think we could just gather all of them and debut as they are.’

Suddenly, the tip of my head was thrilled.

I swallowed.

However, not everything could go as expected.

[…] no. It’s okay.]

“… … !”

Sejin Bae… refused.

I didn’t even get a business card.

‘Are you crazy?’

Why are you kicking the rope? Even in real life, I know for sure that I was deeply troubled at this time.

[yes. Good luck.]

However, the result did not change.

Bae Se-jin has been confirmed to remain in Azusa.

* * *

“… … .”

I walked away with my mouth shut.

‘It looks like it was slapped on the cheek.’

I was thinking of skipping the bad guy anyway, but I don’t know why he’s doing this.

jump.

Thinking of splashing cold water on it, I rushed into the toilet for officials.

“… !!”

“… !”

And Bae Se-jin’s eyes met.

It is clear that he was embarrassed as if he had been wringing with the water turned on.

‘If that’s the case, why refuse?’

I couldn’t hold back my irritation and spoke impulsively.

“Why don’t you accept it now?”

“what?”

Bae Se-jin blankly replied.

“LeTi is a decent agency.”

“… … .”

Bae Se-jin’s face turned blue, then red again, and finally went white.

‘Did I stab him too directly?’

“what… You LeTi… .”

“yes. The staff there.”

Bae Se-jin looked at me with a bewildered face, then suddenly became extremely defensive.

And he responded sharply.

“You… Are you even doing this to steal a celebrity?”

“… … !”

“Contact me in advance… Stealing questions.”

‘X feet.’

twisted here

This guy is terrified.

Sending questions and even talking about the legal team in advance.

It must have felt similar to what Bae Se-jin originally did at his agency.

“… … .”

bang.

Sejin Bae left the bathroom as if he were running away.

And I had no choice but to admit my mistake.

* * *

In the car on the way back.

I crossed my arms trying to clear my mind.

‘Let’s do something that didn’t happen.’

Still, I felt dirty.

Cheongryeo across from her opened her mouth after checking that the member next to her was sleeping soundly.

“Your junior?”

“yes.”

“No, I don’t understand. I didn’t join anyway, so I’m asking.”

“… … .”

“Lastly, the former actor was not even a good contestant, so why did you bother to take him? If it were me, I would have cut it at this opportunity.”

“… … what?”

“It’s not cooperative and it doesn’t look very useful.”

“… !!”

It looks like he got hit in the head.

why did you want to bring it?

‘That’s it… .’

Because I was unconsciously conscious.

If he debuts here, Bae Se-jin will write drug rumors and his career will end.

‘His life… X feet.’

I gritted my teeth.

Actually I know.

It’s not even real, so what does it matter if Bae Se-jin overwrites drug rumors or dies?

I don’t know why the fuck am I even bothering with this shit.

“Don’t worry about your past relationship. It’s a loss.”

“… … .”

“Anyway, everyone only received business cards, so the number of people is not confirmed, so why don’t you do that.”

“what.”

Cheongryeo smiled.

“Um joining VTIC?”

“… … !!”

what kind of crazy shit is this?

‘Is it a trap?’

He has a knack for saying suicide in a different way to join a new member of a top-tier group that lasted until the contract renewal season.

“No, listen closely.”

And surprisingly, the guy started talking about a fairly plausible route.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 232

If I can't debut, I'll get sick to death Episode 232

The ridiculous plan to join VTIC with a new member started out as bullshit.

"First of all, juniors have a free debut. alone."

"… … ."

Are you suddenly talking about solo?

"If there is no special misfortune this year… It would be rather easy to win the rookie award in the male solo category. Because there will be no competitors."

You speak naturally.

"Didn't this agency say that it would not support solo activities?"

"I think a pre-debut is worth persuading."

Cheong-Ryeo calmly gave a positive answer.

'No matter how much I'm sure it's a tasting activity before the official debut.'

As expected, the fact that this agency excludes solos to an extreme level is due to this guy's influence.

I crossed my arms.

“Even if you debut like that, where is the guarantee that you will be successful as a male soloist?”

A male idol who does not belong to a group is going to be in the dark someday when he achieves good grades as a solo artist.

But Cheong-rye laughed haha.

“Ah, not a performance-oriented idol, but a vocal-oriented singer.”

“… … !”

“It’s the first junior from LeTi after VTIC. Are you sure it’s hot? Since the field is different, I will avoid the checks a little.”

That’s what it says.

Besides, the traditional male solo ballad or indie type that aims for a sound source, not a dance-type solo singer like an idol… The batting average is fine.

If only the song is good.

“And early next year, I will release a collaboration song with the VTIC unit. It would be nice if it was the kind that showed some performance.”

“… … .”

Appealing that performance is possible, it connects me with VTIC.

“There are many cases of collaboration songs with the same agency, so even if there is a backlash, it will be at a level that will pass. If the grades are good and the role of the junior is clear, the fans’ repulsion will soften.”

At this point, I know what you mean.

I opened my mouth.

"… And if the main vocal incident over there breaks out, are you really going to accept bullshit like 'I'd rather have Ryu Kun-woo' and let me join the group?"

"You are smart. that's right."

It means that Ryu Gun-woo will be put in as a substitute for VTIC's main vocalist as naturally as possible.

'It sounds crazy.'

It was natural.

The reason I told you about the main vocal case was because it was the most expensive information he was thirsting for.

'Moreover, it's an incident that will happen in a year or two, but it's just at this time.'

That is, verification was easy. I decided that it would be easy to build trust by proving that I came from the future.

However, this bastard is thinking of switching to me instead of trying to keep his form by avoiding controversy.

I furrowed my eyebrows.

"I don't know why you're suggesting that when you can prevent it from happening."

The guy's expression disappeared.

"Because people can't fix it."

"… … ."

"Remember. It is a fact that will be useful in the future."

It's pure parts handling.

‘I’m sure he’s crazy… .’

let’s go over

In any case, in other words, even if the group suffers a blow, he will not leave behind any seeds of turmoil that he cannot control.

And instead, he said he would put in a guy who listens well and is desperate as well as a guy who is useful and needs to be monitored.

“So are you going to do it?”

I mean.

‘He goes through something like this.’

You’ll have a chance to do the same group as this baby.

I opened my mouth.

“no. I will decline.”

“… … .”

No matter how you think about it, the plan becomes X if you stick to it.

And isn’t it like completely handing over the hilt to him?

‘This bastard can flatter me, and if things change, he might put me down after my pre-debut.’

Besides, if it’s just a dream, all my actions right now are trying to find a hint to wake up in a coma. Let’s not be adventurous.

‘It goes as close to reality as possible.’

… Bae Se-jin, who couldn’t catch it, will have another chance to recruit if the < Azusa > program collapses.

I clasped my hand.

However, there was no need to fight with this guy, so I started with a very plausible excuse.

“I’m not sure if the solo rookie award part will fit into the mission. If you give me the idol group rookie award, I will die just like that.”

“aha.”

I thought this would work. Cheong-ryeo crossed her arms and smiled cheerfully.

“Haha, then next time you can use another method. I still lack a sense of challenge.”

“… … .”

With this kid… Let’s not talk at length.

Afterwards, Chung-rye did not immediately withdraw the offer, saying, “I will give you a month to spare,” and left without leaving room.

‘It sounds like you’re pretty sure I’ll give up within a month.’

He was a bad kid. I’d rather be a guy in real life who throws pictures of dogs when I’m bored.

I held my breath and got up.

‘Let’s do the next thing.’

Now that we’ve laid out the base food, we’ll have to bring out the recluse.

… Seon Ah-hyun of this dream.

* * *

The room was quiet.

Only the medical machines and the white noise from people moving across the corridor gently enveloped the single-person ward.

It wasn't that he took a private room in consideration of his status as a public figure.

This is because the patient using this private room is still not awake.

"… … ."

Seon Ah-hyun quietly sat in the caregiver's chair.

Park Moon-dae had no relatives. Even after Testa became very successful, no one claimed to be a distant relative.

So, other than the hired caregiver, only those who had been involved since he started his career in the entertainment world came into this hospital room.

Around the members who were sober, the people at the company also opened the door from time to time.

However, numerous gifts from fans were still undergoing scrutiny. Thanks to that, the hospital room was empty.

"… … ."

Seon Ah-hyun put a fluffy doll crocheted on the table. It floated directly.

The hand that fell off the doll trembled.

'Let's calm down… .'

Sun Ah-hyun held her breath.

He could even pretend to visit this hospital room most often among the members and take care of him.

Because Sun Ah-hyun… Because I was barely hurt.

Unlike members who needed action due to fractures or other reasons, or members who were busy fighting with the company, they were able to move from the beginning.

And I felt a burning guilt over it, even though I didn't have to.

'I couldn't say a word…' .'

When the other members somehow persuaded or reported the former manager, he couldn't bear to say anything.

It wasn't that I was speechless with fear.

It was because he was worried that he, who couldn't speak properly, would get in the way.

"… … ."

Seon Ah-hyun quietly put her hands together on her lap and stood on the chair.

siblings are fine because you're my brother

However, while the two people of the same age were persuading the former manager, it was clearly a problem that he could not do anything.

It was the same after the accident.

No matter how brilliant or brave the idea was, lack of speech meant that he needed someone's cover to deal with public opinion and the company.

'Even if I get angry with the company, it doesn't seem to work properly… .'

There was no other half.

However, it was not that he suddenly had medical knowledge and could help with the treatment of Park Moon-dae.

All he did was lead the members to the ambulance that was dispatched after being reported. Because my body was fine.

But even that was half out of his mind.

Seon Ah-hyun clenched her fists.

‘It’s pitiful.’

So he was really useless. At least that’s how it felt to me.

However, because of the worries of a bigger reality, self-loathing was pushed out of the priority.

Park Moon-dae… I have been unconscious for five days.

I heard that the operation was quite successful, but it seemed to be because the shock was so great and there was a lot of blood loss.

‘I should have sat in the back seat then… .’

That would have been a much better result. The door is less injured… .

“… … .”

Sun Ah-hyun wiped her face.

I couldn’t help but cry over this.

At that time, I had to pray.

‘healthily… Nothing happened, no aftereffects.’

I wish you come back soon

* * *

“Wow, seeing you again like this~ Nice to meet you!”

“Oh oh hello… please… .”

“… … .”

Lee Se-jin, who is artificial enough to be sad, and Seon Ah-hyun, who can’t bear to lift his head, say hello.

I shut up and watched it.

My hips were itchy.

‘… Didn’t you say something?’

I thought there was a high probability that I would have put the same gold teeth.

This means that Lee Se-jin did not feel the need to forcefully become close with Seon Ah-hyun.

‘If it’s that face, Lee Se-jin might try stabbing him once for networking.’

It also meant that there was something wrong with Sun Ah-hyun’s performance quality and broadcast editing.

Actually, I saw the broadcast, so I know what happened.

‘… I was checked too hard.’

It was thanks to the fact that in the first team match, the other guys forcibly pushed a part that didn’t suit them and treated the child like an X.

At least, the editing wasn’t very favorable to Seon Ah-hyun, who had suffered this.

-Ahyeon Sun really developed cancer;

– Just because I stutter doesn’t mean I can’t convey my opinion. I was frustrated and cursed at her. Sun Ah-hyun

‘s teammates also received all sorts of curse words, but the public opinion that it was ‘worthy of being bullied’ was also formidable.

Thanks to that, comments like “A kid like that shouldn’t be on survival show” got the most likes and came up, making me giggle.

And Seon Ah-hyun here… It was directly affected by the negative vote and was narrowly eliminated.

I pressed my temples.

“… … .”

‘I took it out once, but… .’

I already knew this guy’s house, so it wasn’t difficult to go and talk.

Fortunately, while I was cleaning out the room, I visited and persuaded my parents as a ‘LeTi trainee’ to bring this guy.

They were so worried about Sun Ah-hyun’s condition that she fell for the name of the agency that managed her image well with artist care.

Of course, persuasion was attached as a condition.

– It’s not a debut right away, so I thought it would be nice to spend time together while practicing.

– Thank you for the student’s words. But if Ahyeon says she doesn’t like it, I won’t recommend it any more.

-… Would it be okay if I tried to convince you?

That way, I proceeded to persuade Seon Ah-hyun and I in the room.

-At the agency… They say that a group debut is possible only when you are included.

-… … .

– I was wondering if you had any plans to come out for practice. i think you will do well

Seon Ah-hyun did not respond or kept her head down, but in the end she nodded.

It looked very painful, but… If you eat well and sleep well, you will be much better.

‘If I can debut properly through practice, my mentality will be fine.’

This is because Sun Ah-hyun is a person with good resilience even though her mentality looks like a broken head at times like this.

‘… I’ve seen it many times.’

well… All you have to do is read extensively. I made my judgment objectively.

and after a while

“Ahyeon, wait a minute.”

“… … .”

Sun Ah-hyun left with her parents to meet the agency officials with her head bowed.

And Lee Se-jin asked me in a coy tone.

“Is that friend also included in this group?”

“I guess so.”

“Um~ that’s right. I heard that you convinced me yourself. Is it true?”

“… … .”

“Hey, you’re good at it~”

Sejin Lee sat down next to him. I held back a snort.

‘Still, did my mentality come back?’

The moment I wonder if it’s roughly the same as when we first met in Azusa.

Lee Se-jin, who was sitting next to him, spoke in a sociable tone.

“hmm… Do you have any other friends in mind at work?”

“… why is that?”

I wondered if the other members were curious. However, Sejin Lee shook his hand and replied lightly.

“uh? No, that friend could go out~ Just in case!”

“… … !”

I’m sure you’ll get out… I felt a strange nuance.

I immediately asked

“Why do you think so?”

“uh? He came here because he was afraid of you.”

“… !!”

“I pretend, but… Oh, wasn’t that something to scare and motivate you on purpose? haha sorry~”

“… … .”

I… did it look like that?

‘It can’t be.’

I persuaded in the most moderate way possible. I have never been coerced or coerced.

‘Just saying that I need Seon Ah-hyun… ‘

At that moment, Sun Ah-hyun’s condition came to mind.

A state in which self-esteem hit the floor and mental was smashed.

and the words I used.

-At the agency… They say that a group debut is possible only when you are included.

… If you didn’t come and I couldn’t debut, it might have sounded like it was your fault… there is.

That’s why Seon Ah-hyun didn’t respond and came with me.

“Well, anyway, you don’t even know who’s coming, right? Okay~”

“… … .”

Lee Se-jin finished the conversation appropriately and walked out of the practice room while fiddling with her smartphone.

I thought about it.

Was the Seon Ah-hyun I knew like that?

Was the Lee Se-jin I knew the one who said these things?

‘… no.’

It wasn’t.

At that moment, all of a sudden, things started to crash.

Standing alone, I traced my course of action… I looked back.

‘The front and back don’t match.’

What did I say and started doing this to debut just like in reality?

Looking for a hint to wake up from a coma?

Where is the guarantee of finding it, and there is even less a definite reason why it should go the same as in reality.

‘It’s just my guess.’

Then the reason why I tried to make this guess with certainty… .

X feet. Because I just wanted to.

I want to embody the life I lived at Bakmundae as it is.

“under.”

I sighed and sat down in the practice room.

And I remembered the message in the status window.

-Enjoy your daydream :) –

‘Is this a daydream?’

Daydreaming means empty daydreaming.

… So, this was my desire.

It seems that he wanted to take the life he lived as it was. with mine.

But I already know the answer.

This is what I said to Cheongryeo with my own mouth.

-Even if you start over and build the same team, it will never be the same as now. Because the events and stories shared will be different.

That is impossible.

could never be the same… … .

Still, why did I rationalize this shit?

“… … .”

I thought with my head in the giant mirror.

And finally admitted.

‘It’s probably because the past two and a half years have been my life as Park Moon-daero.’

This is because all choices and thinking experiences are mine, even though they were experienced through the body of Park Moon-dae.

Because my mind experienced it firsthand. That couldn’t be changed.

Even if all this shit is over and I go back to my original body, Gunwoo Ryu… That’s my experience, it won’t change.

now i get it

“after.”

I lifted my head against the mirror.

The mirror was fogged up and I couldn’t see my face.

“… … .”

Even though what I should see over there is the face of ‘Ryu Gun-woo’, this dream was not my life.

‘stop.’

been here too long I wanted to go back to reality.

To ‘my reality’ in which I live.

That was the moment.

belt ring.

“… !!”

[Feature has been unlocked!]

[Function: Draw (consumable type)]

pop-up… floated

and one more.

What I left behind in reality.

[Remaining Draw: 1]

[Treasure Attribute Draw ☜ Click!]

I raised my hand and hit it repeatedly.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 233

Episode 233

Raebin Kim walked down the hallway of the hospital room fixing the box in one hand.

The other arm was still half cast and could not be moved freely, so it had to be moved more carefully.

Rabin Kim kept his mouth shut.

‘I can’t let any misfortune happen, such as missing the box!’

Still, since the number of media officials who were waiting around the hospital after the accident had decreased considerably, I was able to enter this far with ease.

This is because quite a bit of time has passed since the news of the shocking car accident.

When the title of ‘recovering from surgery in a coma’ lasted for more than ten days, they left in search of other prey.

It was like the entertainment industry where incidents happen every other day.

However, the Internet was still in a frenzy as all sorts of pessimistic speculation articles, column fans’ worries and anger swirled.

[Testa Moondae Park… Is there a risk of brain death]

[The ‘Groom in May’ accident 〈Reconstruction of the Day〉]

[Pray for Moondae Park's recovery 7 days after surgery]

And Kim Raebin only occasionally checks these things on the search engine main page, and takes a closer look at the detailed reactions. I had neither the knowledge nor the leisure.

That's why fans understood only simple facts based on the comments on the official account.

'Everyone is paying great attention to whether Moondae-hyung wakes up.'

That was basically correct.

It was then.

"Kim Raebin!"

"… ! It's a hospital, be quiet!"

Cha Yoo-jin, who jumped out of the next hospital room, chased Kim Rae-bin at a terrifying speed, using her crutches.

He was still hospitalized due to serious injuries from a bigger bone injury than Kim Rae-bin.

"Are you going to see Moondae hyung?"

"… huh."

"I want to go too."

Cha Yoo-jin answered firmly and walked along with Rae-bin Kim.

It was a composure unimaginable for someone who cried profusely at the time of the operation and prayed quickly in an incomprehensible Spanish.

'I hope Cha Yu-jin is stupid.'

Kim Rae-bin briefly envied Cha Yu-jin, then quietly moved on.

Park Moon-dae's hospital room was right next door.

"brother."

"We are here."

"Uh uh uh come on… ."

Seon Ah-hyun, who had been sitting quietly like a stone statue in the hospital room, quickly got up and gave a small answer.

"Dae-hyung Moon, are you comfortable?"

"… Yes, he said there would be no uncomfortable place."

"all right!"

Cha Yoo-jin valiantly sat down next to the bed and began to diligently explain her current situation to Moon-dae, who was unconscious, in a mixture of Korean and English.

"Are the fans a piece of paper? I'm sending a new one. [cool. I guess every country has a similar story. Anyway, I hope for a full recovery for my brother, so it's good, right?]"

His main opinion was 'Maybe he's listening', but it was true that it strangely gave hope, so the members didn't stop Cha Yu-jin.

"It seems that the other brothers have already come and gone."

"… Oh, I went to work earlier."

"okay."

Kim Rae-bin nodded and waited for Cha Yu-jin's turn to end.

It was because what he brought was very important news, so he shouldn't be bitten by Cha Yu-jin's voice.

And seeing Cha Yoo-jin talking for a long time, he resisted the desire to shout, ‘Don’t waste your visit time with repeated stories!’

‘Because I have to be quiet in the hospital room!’

Kim Rae-bin told himself that he would show a well-mannered appearance in front of the great Mundae hyung.

And in the end, I was able to quietly take over the baton without quarreling with Cha Yoo-jin.

“Hello brother… … .”

Of course, there was no answer from Moondae Park who was lying down.

Rabin Kim felt like he was about to cry. It might have been because it reminded me of my grandmother’s time, but I just endured it anyway.

“I have something I have prepared.”

Trying to stay calm, he lifted the box and opened it.

The inside of the box was full.

Several sheets of paper with all sorts of lines and notes drawn on them, iconic props, and… laptop.

Seon Ah-hyun, who had been standing quietly, widened her eyes.

“This is… .”

“… This is the concept material for the next album.”

Kim Rae-bin answered bravely.

“We are preparing hard, so don’t worry at all about your future schedule and wake up comfortably!”

This was what he did as soon as he was discharged.

“… … .”

Even Cha Yoo-jin was speechless and looked at Kim Rae-bin.

In fact, this is a very irrational behavior.

Even if Park Mun-dae woke up right away, no one knew that rehabilitation and return would be possible right away.

Moreover, it has been a longer time than expected since Moondae Park has not regained consciousness.

It is said that among the medical staff, there is even a story that a full-scale retest is needed.

Nevertheless, Kim Rae-bin has been specifically ‘preparing’ for the next activity as if it were possible right away.

To report to Park Moon-dae, who can’t even see because he’s asleep.

‘know.’

Rabin Kim thought.

It was hard to believe that I had spent such a ridiculous amount of time expecting an uncertain future unconditionally positively.

‘but… I’ve experienced it.’

Since Grandma has woken up, I’m sure Moondae hyung will wake up soon too.

“While preparing… I’ll wait!”

Recalling his illogical conviction, Kim Rae-bin took the box and sat down on the chair next to the bed.

Then a loud noise erupted from the side.

“that’s right!”

“… … !”

“Hyung wake up, let’s have another concert! I do a lot!”

“Yeah! Moondae, I’ll prepare… !”

Following Cha Yu-jin, even Seon Ah-hyun, who was downcast, clung to the knitted yarn and shouted, as if she had been stimulated.

If someone else had been here, they might have clicked their tongue or looked at it with pity, wondering what kind of blueprint this was.

Still, they persevered.

“… … .”

Of course, there was still no answer from Moondae Park.

Since reality was not a cartoon, there was no way that a person in a coma would wake up with a call from a colleague.

But they decided to wait and see.

Instead of making plans for a future without Bakmundae, I chose that way.

And the moment of choice was coming to the sleeping Park Moon-dae.

* * *

The ‘Click’ phrase in the status window that I hit repeatedly brought a new pop-up with a flash of light just like in reality.

A familiar slot machine picture.

Let’s pull the lever… Khan began to return.

Platinum-colored cells that can sometimes be seen between the golden cells.

However, those spaces were not filled with all kinds of embarrassing phrases like in reality.

All compartments were empty.

“… … .”

But I just waited for Khan to stop. A cold sweat dripped from the tip of his chin.

The moment the slow spinning slot stops.

Papang!

[Slot machine jackpot!]

: Draw legendary attributes!

I arrived at the platinum-colored blank.

[Attribute: _____ Obtained!]

The empty space in the pop-up was naked. As if anything could be filled.

‘Is it because it’s a dream?’

I couldn’t tell. But one thing was certain.

Platinum Legendary Talent.

‘It’s grade A.’

The A grade I know is… what is it

When I thought that far, a flash of foreboding passed through me, as if I had been hit in the head.

And without realizing it, I opened my mouth.

“Bacchus… to 1000.”

[Enter Bacchus 1000 (A)?]

[Yes/No]

I raised my hand and hit Yes.

The additional effect attached to Bacchus 1000, which has been upgraded to A grade… .

-All fatigue recovery speed +100%

Then what if you go up to S rank?

[Check the same attributes!]

Do you want to synthesize ‘Bacchus 1000 (A)’?

okay.

At that moment, colorful lights exploded in front of my eyes like fireworks.

And the pop-up was updated with a flash of iridescence.

[Synthesis Success!]

Acquired ‘Nectar (S)’!

The sweet taste of life

– complete recovery of vitality (single use)

“… … !”

This is it.

I sat down on the floor.

‘I did it.’

You choose the right option.

My body, which had been standing up before I knew it, sweetly sucked in the rest.

The tension was released and my limbs were shaking, but my head was shaking with unanswered questions.

But I do know one thing.

‘I can go back.’

The moment I activate it, my body fully recovers and wakes up, which fits perfectly.

The possibility of recovering the body of ‘Ryu Gun-woo’ in this dream instead of reality… no shut up No way.

‘The status window didn’t work here in the first place.’

Besides, wasn’t it synthesized with the characteristics I originally had in reality as ‘Park Moon-dae’?

This is unconditionally the object of the real body.

My brain was thrilled.

And at the same time… I was nervous.

‘I have to do it quickly before the status window becomes inactive again.’

I didn’t know what else would happen in this damn dream. I immediately tried to activate the talent ‘Nectar (S)’ in the pop-up.

And I murmured involuntarily.

“Let’s go back.”

“already?”

“… !!”

… When I turned my head, the guy who went back saying he had a schedule was sticking his face into the practice room.

it’s clean

I instinctively set myself up for a crisis. There were many excuses.

“I didn’t think it was going to be more practice, so I meant to go back.”

“lie.”

He strode into the practice room.

‘Press it right now… .’

If you feel uncomfortable in the motion of pressing the air for a moment, can this crazy bastard attack?

While I was quickly weighing the profit and loss, Cheong-Ryeo stood across from me.

and… He opens his mouth with a sullen face.

“Well, I don’t have as much guts as I thought.”

“what?”

“You said it was the third? I thought it would be a bit hasty to try to restart with just this at this time.”

Oh, was that the story?

Well, this bastard has no way of knowing that this is a dream I have in a coma.

It seems that he understood it in the way of ‘going back to the beginning’.

I responded by lowering the level even more.

“Do not restart. I was thinking about it for a while, so the word came out seriously, but it means that I am really going back to my dorm.”

“is it so. Then listen.”

I can’t even eat the seeds.

He continued talking nonchalantly, with a face that convinced me that I had made up my mind to restart.

“For now, the two juniors have gathered… It’s an awkward state to deal with. Not always cooperative. Did you see it again?”

“… … .”

“From now on, it would be better to wait a month or so before deciding to join. I think I was a little hasty this time. Was it pretty good right before?”

“that’s right.”

I laughed.

“I just picked it because I wanted to be with you.”

“… … !”

Cheong-Ri… It became a strange face.

It is the expression that the distant past has come out of nowhere.

and muttered

“… Well, it’s the beginning, so once or twice doesn’t matter.”

“… … .”

I didn’t bother answering.

Instead, after a while, he deliberately threw his words lightly.

“But if I restart, please let the kids debut. I will give you some good information.”

“Um, those two?”

“You say it’s not good. I don’t think it poses a threat to VTIC.”

Cheong-rye shrugged.

I don’t understand, but it means positive. If you do this, there is a good chance that you will do it if you feel like it.

I saw off the calm guy, almost letting him out.

And I sent him several reservation e-mails.

[August 202X.txt]

Future knowledge to arrive every two weeks.

and… Prosecutors stabbed Bae Se-jin’s father’s gambling house.

-It is an illegal gambling house that deals in large quantities of drugs. Please be sure to check.

I won’t be here anymore anyway, so it doesn’t matter if the reporter turns out to be me.

‘… It’ll get a little better with this.’

Lastly, I searched for and sent the hospital contact information of Seon Ah-hyun’s current counselor to Sun Ah-hyun’s parents in real life.

– This is a teacher I consulted with and it helped me a lot.

widely.

After I was done, I closed my phone and somehow felt refreshed.

'… Is there anything left?'

It was then.

"Oh~ Are you close with senior Cheongryeo?"

When I turned my head, the guy who had gone out looking at his smartphone was returning to the road practice room.

I looked around the pop-up for a while and replied to Lee Se-jin.

"… There is none."

"okay?"

"Uh, but I have nothing to introduce you to."

"… … !"

"That bastard is crazy. Be careful in the future."

"… … what?"

He looked like he wanted to hear something wrong. It's a human face that I haven't seen in a while.

"… … ."

Maybe the moment I leave, this damn dream will disappear.

So it's just self-satisfaction, but what is it?

I opened the closed smartphone again and quickly spoke to him.

"I'll introduce you to the composer instead of that bastard, so listen carefully. I will use it when I debut."

“what?”

I sent a text to the dajja gojja. It was the contact information of a composer who was still unknown.

Geeying!

The vibrations were loud, but Lee Se-jin had a bewildered face.

“Now, contact me here… After listening to the sample, pick number 3 or number 7. Because that will work out.”

“… what all of a sudden.”

I chuckled.

“Actually, I think you would choose that one just by listening to it. I said it once.”

“… … !”

Because you did it in real life.

Lee Se-jin’s eyes were clearly embarrassed. Then, as if choosing words, he rubbed his face with one hand before finally opening his mouth.

“Oh, thanks, but I don’t know what you’re talking about. Let’s talk about it after calming down a bit? .”

Seeing the skin peeling off, I suddenly thought of that.

‘… It might have been released if I had had a little more time.’

Somehow it was kind of fun.

I looked at him for a moment, then turned my back and headed for the door.

“Wait over there.”

“See you again.”

in reality.

There is nothing more to do here.

I waved one hand behind me and left the practice room without hesitation.

The popup is still floating in my field of vision.

[Do you want to activate ‘Nectar (S)’?

(※Warning※: Consumable attribute/single use)]

“Yes.”

And his vision burned white.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 234

Episode 234 Bae Se

-jin looked at her smartphone with wide eyes.

Most of the articles that deliberately stir up anxiety have been taken down by the company.

No, at least the company was arguing that way, but Bae Se-jin had a different idea.

‘just… Isn’t that because they’ve already risen enough?’

Since the company completely blocked the inside story of the accident, there is nothing more to worry about, so the article has withered.

Yes. The company was desperately blocking stories related to the former manager from the press.

In the end, the article reported that it was just an ‘accident caused by negligent driving by a former manager who was about to retire’.

‘This is nonsense.’

Bae Se-jin clasped his hand tightly.

As a result of some members gritting their teeth and persistently questioning the working-level staff, they also found out the route the former manager had invaded.

– I couldn’t hear the story of the manager change from the performance company… I passed the deal thinking I had come to see something else during the day.

-… … !!

So, this accident… It was also the company's fault for not properly notifying the people involved that the former manager had been fired!

Bae Se-jin intuitively knew that they were desperately cracking down on the media by requesting it even to the head office because they knew that.

Even now, the company was being criticized from all directions for negligence in management personnel.

However, if the facts become clearer, it will take a huge blow, so it is to drag the time until the incident subsides as much as possible.

'At that time… Just focus on Park Moon-dae's recovery.'

Of course, I had no expectations.

If some members hadn't strongly objected to the company, they would have secretly mentioned activities as a 6-member group.

'It's disgusting… .'

Bae Se-jin covered his mouth.

I know it can't be helped, but Bae Se-jin is completely fed up with the lowly capitalist gaze that only sees the group as a business base.

It's not their job, so they act like they're insecure about their celebrity's schedule.

I've seen it so many times since I was young that I'm tired of it.

'In this industry, accidents like this don't happen for a day or two… !'

Why does the same thing happen over and over again?

Except for the sham justification of being in the institutional realm… … It is no different from my previous agency.

Bae Se-jin gave strength so that the hand that covered his mouth became white.

‘… I need to find a more proper agency.’

There must be agencies that protect humanity run by decent people.

It had to be.

‘If you can hold on for three years… .’

Bae Se-jin almost fell into an endless stream of consciousness. But I barely managed to get out.

Because I thought of Park Moon-dae.

… still haven’t woken up

“… … .”

Bae Se-jin weakly dropped the hand holding the smartphone.

I also know that no matter what plan I make, it will work properly with Park Moon-dae.

‘what… It’s because I treat it as if I’ve lived my whole life doing that.’

Bae Se-jin had never seen such a superhuman age.

That shining talent, confidence, and boldness. That alone makes him look like a heavenly entertainer… He was even good at social life.

At the time of the idol audition program, there were times when I felt a sense of relative deprivation, but after debuting, there was no such thing.

Because I didn’t feel like comparing.

‘So… I also received a lot of help.’

There were times when I shouted that I would definitely pay it back, but it is also true that it was far away.

‘I wondered if the time would come when Moondae Park would need my help.’

In fact, he calmly evaluated himself that the work Bae Se-jin did to help was too clumsy ahead of his mind.

But this time, Bae Se-jin really had to move. Something had to be done.

Park Moon-dae couldn’t wake up, and the other members were either injured or physically and mentally exhausted, so they couldn’t show their usual skills.

‘but… I always did.’

This is because he always lived in a state of exhaustion and sensitivity in the mind and body in the past.

So, in this situation, it was Bae Se-jin who had to move more actively.

“… … .”

Bae Se-jin removed his hand from covering his mouth. eyes were shining

‘let’s do it.’

Bae Se-jin picked up his smartphone and checked the contact information somewhere.

Then, after taking a deep breath, I started writing the email.

“… … .”

My hands were shaking.

‘Still, I’m the only one who can do it!’

Bae Se-jin gritted his teeth and pressed the send button.

He didn’t know if this would be an effective option. But when you think about it, you are right.

“… … Whoa.”

Bae Se-jin sat back in his seat.

And he tried to stay calm while fiddling with a hamster-patterned case given to him by a fan.

It was then.

[♫♪♩~ ♫♫♪♪♩]

“… … !”

got a call.

Bae Se-jin hurriedly checked the smartphone screen.

-Seon Ah-hyun’s younger brother,

Bae Se-jin, answered the phone without even breathing.

“Uh what… … .”

Several excited voices rang through the phone.

“… … .”

Bae Se-jin, who had been waiting calmly, was stunned by the completed sentence.

“… … Now wait wait! soon… !”

Bae Se-jin stuttered and ran out of the meeting room without being able to finish his sentence.

My heart raced.

* * *

After activating Nectar (S).

Suddenly, the field of vision turned white, and before I knew it, my mind was floating in empty space.

No, it's not about wealth… It feels like being sucked into somewhere.

'Is it the exact opposite of when I entered the dream?'

Then everything turned black.

If I think about it roughly, I want to guess that I am waking up.

I tried to cross my arms, but realized that I couldn't really feel the shape of my body. And it's been quite a while.

'How long should I wait?'

That moment.

Color came into the pure white space.

'… … !'

No, it is a wave rather than a color.

from far away

Mysterious shocks came and hit me as if I had made abstract things like emotions or thoughts into sensations.

Piing-.

‘… … !!’

An intense experience passes by as if the whole body is vibrating.

and.

The first thing I recognized was Park Moon-dae, the homemaster, looking at his smartphone.

This is the person who took pictures of Park Moon-dae since his program days before his debut.

From the moment she heard the news about Park Mun-dae’s car accident, she kept holding on to her smartphone in an almost distraught state.

I couldn’t even cry.

and 3 am.

After checking Moondae Park’s surgery article on his smartphone, he was posting on his SNS.

-Please pray a lot. My trembling nails hit the screen.

What is this?

The next ones to appear were siblings.

My sister’s side, whose eyes were already swollen and red, was fighting fiercely with people who were arguing about Testa’s car accident on the Internet.

Instead of arguing or playing jokes as usual, the younger sister sits next to her sister and makes a fuss.

And while picking up medical knowledge from the Internet, he sneakily threw out the story that the probability that Park Moon-dae would be fine is much higher… .

The waves were hot.

A graduate student who saw the breaking news spilled coffee while drawing coffee from one side of the lab room.

And, not paying attention to the mess on the floor, she cried uncontrollably.

The lab colleagues who ran around were embarrassed, but soon understood the situation and worried together.

There were people who thought it was pitiful inside, but it was so intense that it was now comforting without even thinking about it.

The story isn't over.

A homemaster, an office worker who shoots Lee Se-jin and Park Mun-dae together, clicked his tongue on the practice of the industry, saying, 'I have not learned anything yet' at the news of Testa's car accident.

However, she couldn't hide her nervousness and, using her physical condition as an excuse, the next day, while taking annual leave from work, she heard the news of Park Moon-dae… .

Why is this pouring in… I don't know.

A person who came to see an idol concert for the first time in his life.

A person who became interested in Park Moon-dae after going through various idols A person who liked 'Groom in May'.

The person I forgot about for a while after cheering for Park Moon-dae on the audition program. A person who likes the other members of Testa and also has a crush on Park Moon-dae.

A person who doesn't like Park Moon-dae but is worried A person who bought a lot of albums and decorated all of Park Moon-dae's photo cards… … .

Piing-.

The experiences and thoughts of all people who knew Testa's Bakmundae shimmered everywhere like stars in the summer night's rural sky.

A lot of worries, sadness, thoughts, complicated hearts and simple, intense emotions filled my heart.

and gently grabbed it.

'… … .'

I didn't know how I could feel such an intense sense of connection with people I hadn't dated in person.

I thought involuntarily.

'Is it me, Moondae Park?'

No, this question is not correct.

'Testa's Moondae Park… Am I the right idol?'

How many celebrities are active by changing their real name, status and appearance.

But does that celebrity think that he is a different person when he sees himself on TV?

Is Park Moon-dae just a character I created like 'The Groom in May'?

'… no.'

It wasn't.

Park Moon-dae may not be my everything.

But it was definitely a part of me.

All these feelings and thoughts… It may not be all directly directed at me, but there was definitely something in common with me.

So, this definition is correct.

These… That's it.

– People who want me to wake up.

'… … .'

I felt overwhelmed.

All those emotions and thoughts roll over my head like a wave and leave a wet trail.

The pure white space was dyed with all kinds of colors before I knew it, and the colors dripped.

It tasted salty like tears.

I was ecstatic.

It was the sweet taste of life.

I was sucked into the color and ascended.

It seemed that light was leaking from above.

[Nectar (S)]

-Activation successful!

* * *

"Huh!"

I sighed like I was going to vomit.

His limbs were dull, as if he had fallen into mud.

But it was sweet enough to kill the air.

‘… Is it daytime?’

My vision was blurry because I hadn’t opened my eyes for so long.

But the ears seemed fine.

“Park Moondae!!”

“No word… !!”

I will listen to these voices.

These guys will receive their own treatment, but what the hell are they doing in someone else’s hospital room?

‘… But thank you.’

I screamed as if my ears would drop and endured the hands pouring down my shoulders and head.

I was very happy.

It wasn’t long before I regained my sight and the medical staff removed the devices attached to me.

Surprisingly, all six of them were in the hospital room.

‘Single rooms are nice.’

It’s amazing how there’s still plenty of room to maneuver even after all 7 grown-up guys come in.

And the reason for this situation… It seems that the people who came to visit just in time witnessed something.

“It seems like I opened my eyes for a while while I was sleeping in the middle of the day… Ho I called you just in case. Yes, contact the medical staff as well… .”

“okay… . thank you.”

“Oh no… !”

Then I thought about what I would have done if I hadn’t woken up, but I didn’t dare say

‘I have a head too.’

It is not possible to get rid of colic in the crucible of tears and congratulations.

… And it’s nice to see you after a long time.

Instead, he was expressing his gratitude to the members as mildly as possible.

The guy with the big nose shouted.

“Do you want to eat melon at Moondaemundae?? The sugar content is the best~”

“Oh yes.”

The eyes are also different. I took a quick look at the big guy.

“… Uh, are you really admiring me for having such a sincere friend?”

“Similar.”

“… … !”

Hearing that bullshit makes me realize it now.

It’s the feeling of returning to reality.

Keun Se-jin looked at me with a bewildered face, then dramatically raised one arm to cover his face and made a black sound.

“It’s so touching!”

It looks like he’s pretending to cry while he’s really crying, but I guess my condition was really serious.

‘Once I think about the scenes I saw earlier, the operation is confirmed… .’

I thought there would be an obvious scene where the medical staff said it was a miracle, but there was no such story in particular.

In fact, my physical condition isn’t even that trashy. That’s why I wondered if it was because of the activation of ‘Nectar’.

‘… Could it be that it was a wound that could be healed even if I just stayed still?’

Maybe I just overdid it.

But I’m back anyway, so I’m satisfied with that.

i like myself now

As I ate the first melon I received as a special meal for patients, I tried to figure out the situation.

It was a bit dull, probably because it hadn’t been long since he had regained consciousness.

Then I saw Cha Yoo-jin, who seems to be drooling at the sight of melons.

“… … give me?”

“are you okay! You have to eat a lot and cheer up!”

You are strong. At first, they welcomed me almost strangling me, but it seems to be the same.

And Kim Rae-bin had a lot to say on his face, but he looked busy crying, so let's leave it alone.

What to talk about now… .

"By the way, how many days is it now? What happened to the former manager who caused the accident?"

"… !"

I'm the one who can answer this.

"… Moondae Park."

"Ah yes."

Surprisingly, Bae Se-jin spoke with a firm face.

"first… Before that, listen to this story."

"yes."

Bae Se-jin took a deep breath and slowly began to explain.

"The company… The former manager's story… I was trying not to speak properly."

"ah."

I roughly expected it so far.

'It seems to have a place to use later.'

The important thing is that the bastard behind the wheel is now ready to eat beans.

However, Bae Se-jin clasped one hand and said something unimaginable.

"So I reported it anonymously to the Human Rights Commission… !"

“… ??”

“Everything so far!”

“… ?!”

what… what.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 235

If you can't debut, you'll get a fatal disease Episode 235

Human Rights… stomach?

The atmosphere in the hospital room is confused… I thought I would lose, but seeing that everyone else was calm, everything was agreed except for me.

'At least they said before and after the report.'

I tried to press down on my forehead, but when I realized I had an intravenous drip, I stopped.

"that… The National Human Rights Commission."

"… okay!"

that one… Wouldn't it be an institution without judicial coercion?

At best, it will be over with a little bullying at the company.

I don't know if they will seriously deal with reports of idol human rights violations that came in anonymously in the first place.

However, despite my explanation, Bae Se-jin does not appear to be taken aback.

"know. … They can't solve all of this."

"… … ."

“Still, it won’t come out in the media! Get city administration recommendations!”

“… … ?”

Bae Se-jin still clenched his fists and eagerly explained the principles of his actions.

So, to sum up, his judgment is as follows.

“Since the company is blocking the news coverage of the entertainment side, I tried to direct the article to the reporters on the social side… Are these words?”

“that’s right.”

In a word, it is a route change.

To Sejin Bae… Did you have such an ambition?

‘after… … .’

cigarette… Nope.

You almost bit your tongue, so let’s clean your mouth.

I quickly checked in my head what would happen.

‘If it’s anonymous, there’s a high probability that the effect Bae Se-jin is aiming for will not happen.’

Is an entertainment company trying to cover up an artist-related accident?

The odds of the Human Rights Commission voluntarily finding out where the hell this place is are very low.

‘If it’s enough to make fun of the reporters who got the source here, it might end up scratching the company’s temper.’

It’s just that the company will be nervous, so it’s ‘Do you dare to report?’ There is an aspect that becomes easier to negotiate when it is bigger than the embarrassment of such things… .

“And being anonymous… It doesn’t mean I didn’t tell you the name of the group.”

“… then?”

“Only the anonymity of the informant… kept Uh, I wrote in the name of my mother’s friend… .”

“… … .”

Bae Se-jin swallowed his saliva.

“… If that’s the case, you won’t think it’s us. Competitors or… I wondered if they would think of a person who left the company or something like that.”

It turns out that this guy seems to have sent all of the employment and labor-related issues that have occurred at the agency so far.

From non-payment of overtime pay to illegal personal information search related to industrial espionage.

‘How far did you raise the board?’

In fact, I doubt whether this is a daydream or not.

“… … .”

“I’m not saying I’m proud of this either! Still, I have to do this… .”

I held back a bitter laugh.

“no. I think you did well.”

“… … !”

Bae Se-jin’s eyes widened.

“Really??”

“yes.”

Let’s say it’s because we’ve passed the most worrying part for now.

‘The parent company, T1, took a testa, so the situation was over.’

It’s a pity that I can’t use it as a hand, but… .

I didn’t get into a car accident alone, and there’s no justification for profiting only in the direction I want.

‘Those guys must have accumulated a lot in the meantime.’

You can act on your own.

‘Some scale… It looks like it will grow a lot in the other direction.’

this is rather good The moment it emerges as a social problem, such as abuse of power in the workplace, it turns into an issue to be dealt with by the superiors and the head office, not by subordinates.

And from our point of view, no matter what hardships the upper management goes through, it is enough as long as the working staff can work.

As long as there is no problem with group movement, it doesn’t matter.

‘If I do well, I’ll see the status of the payment bot again.’

Just imagining it is comfortable.

I nodded my head feeling more comfortable.

“yes. I am looking forward to the results.”

“… okay!”

Bae Se-jin’s complexion brightened. The members also nodded, but no one was shaken.

‘It seems like he fought a lot with his agency after the accident.’

I clicked my tongue in my heart and asked the unanswered question again.

“So, what day is today?”

“… … .”

Then the guys exchange glances.

‘What.’

Liu Qingyu, who had been quiet until now, slowly opened his mouth.

“… It’s Moondae.”

“yes.”

“Today is July 6th.”

“… … !!”

the moon is different

‘Wait, I lost my mind on the debut anniversary of June 18th… .’

So that means I was in a coma for 18 days.

“… … .”

no… June just melted away.

While I was stunned for a moment, Liu Qingyu added in a small voice.

“So don’t think about anything else and just rest. Think about work or activities later.”

“… … .”

“from now on… Think of your body first.”

ah.

I looked up at Liu Chengwu.

He had an unusually dark complexion.

‘Come to think of it, I almost hit him in the chest instead of sticking a rebar in his head.’

Honestly, isn’t the exchange fee better than going after someone?

I’m not some kind of psychopath, and the guy next to me is having his head pierced, but I’m just watching.

I looked at him quite stunned, but I roughly understood his feelings.

‘Did you think he fell into a coma instead of you?’

Well, it could be a trick of the system, so you don’t have to be sorry… If you think of it as a debt, I hope you agree with me later.

I shrugged and got up.

“I will take care of it. In fact, I think my body is fine even now… Could it be that I just couldn’t wake up because I was tired?”

“This shouldn’t happen… !”

“Sit at Bakmundae!”

“I think you’d better get tested again.”

“… … .”

That’s right… They’re mischievous.

and after a while

The medics returned to the hospital room sooner than planned because of their fervent requests.

And as soon as the patient recovered from a coma of more than 15 days, he was horrified by the news that he happily forgot fruit.

“Melon?? Patient, tell me how you feel inside your stomach right now!”

“… !!”

“I am fine.”

“teacher! The patient here… .”

And all sorts of calls followed.

‘… yes.’

That guy, who had been lying down for 18 days, forgot the sweetest melon, so that’s understandable.

The face of Keun Se-jin, who recommended melon, turned blue, but fortunately, the result came out that there was nothing wrong with it.

If it was in a normal state in the first place, wouldn’t it be painful as soon as I swallowed it?

“I will eat it!”

It goes without saying that Cha Yoo-jin regretted that she had to put all the melons in her mouth.

‘This looks like a nectar medicine.’

Thanks to the characteristic of ‘complete recovery of vitality’, I wonder if my digestive system has also rapidly recovered.

‘Let’s check it out while you’re talking.’

After the fuss, I brought up the properties section of the status bar.

[Attribute: Potential Infinite Time of Indulgence (S) Nectar (S)-Activated Grasping Ears (A)] It is also marked as activated.

Apparently, he is currently recovering rapidly and will disappear once all the scars on his chest are healed.

‘… Then, is Bacchusal over?’

You will get your appetite back. It’s a waste.

Of course, there is also an expectation that Bacchus will be drawn again in the next draw. Because it is very useful for activities.

I swallowed my regret and turned off the status window.

‘by the way… It’s the 18th.’

It was a lot of waste, but it’s fortunate that there won’t be any major problems with the tour schedule.

‘I’ll be fully recovered in a month.’

It seems like I said that those who are still wearing protective gear will recover within 3 weeks.

If you start preparing for one more month… I think I’ll take care of everything except for a few Japanese episodes.

‘Enough.’

I nodded inwardly.

And after all the medical staff had left, the members sighed in relief and came to their senses.

“It’s Moondae… I’m really sorry.”

“No, it was delicious.”

“Let’s get permission from now on… .”

and after a while

It seems that at last it has entered their minds that I might as well get some rest.

“I will visit again tomorrow!”

“If you have any problems, call me anytime… Ooh, it’s near my house… !”

“I’m not leaving the hospital.”

“Eh, Cha Yu-jin, let’s go out!”

“Hing.”

“… Rest up. Moondae. really… It was a lot of trouble.”

“thank you.”

Ryu Cheng-wu seemed to smile faintly, but soon that sign disappeared as well.

‘You look weak.’

It must have been more trouble than I expected.

The moment I tried to catch it and dig it up.

“… Moondae Park.”

“… … ? yes.”

Bae Se-jin said with a serious face right before he left.

“If the Human Rights Commission investigation comes in… Based on that, I’m trying to see if I can sue T1 Stars.”

“… yes?”

“So if I succeed, I will go to a new agency… !”

“… ?!”

what a crazy sound

I feel like I got hit in the back of the head.

‘I can’t believe it’s after being floated on the social side… Was it the idea to go to trial using public power?’

Aside from whether it works or not, why are you trying to fight big corporations with broadcasting companies and studios?

Thinking of kicking one of your giant platforms?

I took a picture of the guy who couldn’t believe he agreed to this and looked at it.

Big Sejin averted his eyes.

‘hey.’

“Um~ T1 will also try to reorganize its agency if this happens, but I thought the deal would be better if the possibility of a lawsuit came out at that time~” “

… … .”

“Isn’t that enough even if it’s not a new agency?”

So I passed on this bastard… … .

“It’s not something to do right now, but we’ll discuss it later… Let’s just let Moondae rest a little longer.”

“Sure~”

“… good.”

I’ll have to think about it myself.

I shook my hand with a confused head, and the members left the room laughing or waving their hands together.

Click.

I sighed in the hospital room, which became quiet in an instant.

“Whoa.”

it’s a lawsuit

I’d say that’s what most people do, but that’s not a good decision to make in this industry for a long time.

Until now, I have rarely seen cases where a lawsuit was filed and then the career went smoothly.

Whether it wins or not, it will be stamped on the industry.

‘In order to gain popularity, it’s a realistic decision to solve it as best as possible.’

Above all, even in the best case, it takes too long to win, and until then, activities are almost completely stopped… .

‘for a moment.’

Suddenly, goose bumps run up your spine.

‘… … What about the tour?’

can not do it.

“… … .”

Hey kids… !

If I can’t tour, I might lose!

They said that the road to hell was paved with good intentions, but suddenly the threat of sudden death was approaching.

* * *

While Park Moon-dae was in chaos, breaking news that he had regained consciousness was floating around on the Internet.

[(Breaking news) Testa Park Moon-dae regains consciousness]

[Park Moon-dae consciousness returns… “The fans’ earnestness reached me”]

[Traffic accident testa recovers from coma after 18 days]

-What are the drivers just now

-Really?

-Is this for real? (Link)

-Please, please

The fans tried to calm down thinking that it might be another misinformation, but fortunately, 30 minutes after the first breaking news, the agency acknowledged it.

[T1 Stars “Testa Park Moon-dae recovers consciousness around 2:00 PM, that’s right”]

Only then did tears of congratulations and relief pour in from all kinds of social media and community comment windows.

-I’m scared that this might be a dream

-What should I do? I really can’t stop crying

-Mundae-ya, thank you for fighting the 18th and coming back. I’ll support you no matter what you do

. (Photo of Park Moon-dae on the 2nd anniversary)

-I love you, Moon-dae! I am so happy that I can continue to support the 24-year-old you, the 30-year-old you and the 40-year-old… ㅠㅠ

Because a young celebrity who almost died in an unfortunate accident came back alive, the public’s reaction was very warm right away.

-It’s a pity that he left like this, so he must have been given a new opportunity. I hope you recover well and shine Korea with great songs~~ - It’s really good, I’m not even a fan, but it’s so sad

. DDDD Awesome

At such a dramatic moment, even malicious comments couldn’t be cheered up.

-Isn’t this also a bear’s design? Actually, I woke up on the first day, but what’s the probability that I didn’t respond? Hahaha

ㄴI went out of my mind ㄴIt’s like they’re over the line with things like this -Still, I won’t be active for a while, I’ll have to be satisfied with that ㄴAmazing personality ㄴI was in a coma on the 18th Even a 23-year-old is a K-flameer

– ㅋ I don’t like him, but the Internet is all over the place

. There’s no mention of people around me. ?

ㄴㅋㅋㅋ ㅋㅋㅋ ㅋㅋㅋ ㅋㅋㅋ ㅋㅋㅋ

I didn’t know what kind of pods to catch after this atmosphere became more frequent, but now I have celebrated the singers and fans happily.

So, a few days later, Bae Se-jin’s submission to the Human Rights Commission suddenly exploded in emotion and warmth.

[The shadow of the entertainment company… Will the truth about the Testa traffic accident be revealed?

[‘Plain to the Human Rights Commission of the T1 Stars’ of ‘complaints of human rights violations in the company’]

-???? What

is this

?

Because it was a revelation that broke out after blissful news, it was treated as good news one after another.

-All X cows are robbed hahahaha

-Let’s go implement justice!

In the end, public opinion took the emotional route toward the longing for a perfect happy ending instead of anger, which is easy to get tired of.

aka Cider Meta.

It was Bae Se-jin’s first win.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 236

Episode 236 Bae

Se-jin's summons to the Human Rights Commission hit the jackpot.

'Did this work like this?'

I was almost at a loss for words when I saw the atmosphere on the Internet where I was happily hitting T1.

The best thing I ever ate… Of course, the cause of the Testa traffic accident was covered up.

[The tragedy caused by complacency… The bare face of T1, a major entertainment company]

[The agency that covered up the terrorism, "It wasn't a traffic accident."]

Just before I recovered from a coma for 18 days, 'Testa's traffic accident' became the hottest topic on the internet again. am.

But there is a story behind that incident, and even that is extremely irritating?

As if a conspiracy theory had become a reality, people clung to it with excitement.

Articles also excitedly fueled public opinion by using words such as "terrorism," "backdoor operations," and "crisis of a major disaster."

Since the embargo exploded not only in the entertainment aspect, but also in the social aspect, no matter how large a company was, it was impossible to pick up the spilled water.

-The singer under the agency is in the middle of death, but I just thought of keeping my mouth shut! Kya conglomerate class~

– Former manager Intentional terrorism? The company is scary, so you fuck with idols b*t

ㄴㄹㅇ Did you pick this bastard as the 1st-team idol manager haha

– There were a lot of parachutes hahaha It must have been a mess inside the company

. Recommended resignation due to verbal abuse' < -I didn't notice for a while and then I cut it off in a hurry, but the security is also good, so it's X's lol. - They are dirty seeds who are only good at concealment and behind-the-scenes work. The country needs to be firmly rooted out to live. It must be severely punished. Besides, Bae Se-jin gathered everything he could to stab at the Affordable Human Rights Commission and inserted it, so it was enough justification for more than just stimulation. [Serious human rights violations by T1 Stars, an affiliate of a conglomerate] A large amount of exposure] [Face the criticism of T1 "T1 Stars is not involved in management"] Isn't it a factor that evokes a lot of consensus that a popular idol who makes a lot of money is moaning about the company's power abuse? When you meet the all-around answer, 'But they earn a lot of money at a young age', their momentum is bound to fade. However, if the conclusion is that 'this large company is garbage', the story will change. This is because the fun of hunting becomes excellent when there is a common enemy cause. So, in July, when the rainy season is late and sunny, people were using the heat stress to beat T1 with excitement. Apparently, T1, the parent company, has more awareness than the newly launched agency, 'T1 Stars', so they are getting beaten up with excitement. A national petition has even appeared. [We demand an investigation into T1's human rights violations.] Of course, this is just watering down, but of course, T1 headquarters seems to be the flagship. 'Even though they aren't famous for good employee welfare.' Honestly, it's self-employed. Sorry for the people in charge, but it turned out to be really fun. Anyway, as Bae Se-jin thought, they seemed to be searching for whistleblower or competitors' work. It was because the Testa incident had become a structure that seemed to have been used to increase the board. '… That's good.' No matter how hard you dig The more time is wasted, the more the company will cripple and the group's influence will grow. I smiled and switched the screen of my smartphone. This time, the fan community. [I'm boycotting T1 (175)] [I'm really nervous about the bad guys (24)] [Can't the kids go to a different agency?? (798)] [It was because of the agency hahaha.. (13)] [I wish I could wake up and see only ♡good things♡ at Moon University. It's so great that I woke up right away... It seemed like it was because he was happy. And public opinion itself was favorable, and it didn't seem like he was under a lot of stress because he slightly missed Testa. Seeing so many people saying 'I knew it', it seems that similar speculations have already been circulating among fans. '… I'm glad.' I closed it by scrubbing the screen. I want to post at least one article soon, but in case you don't know, I plan to post it after consulting with other guys. 'A survival report would be fine.' … And I have to make a very important suggestion. 'The tour really goes somehow.' This has been planned in its own way. I decided to wait calmly for them to come with my arms crossed. and 2 p.m. Bae Se-jin, who burst into the hospital room, was red with excitement. "… Sounds like a good thing!" "yes. The response is good." "… … !" It was the moment when I was about to get to the point, leaving the man with both hands clasped and shuddering at the taste of cider. "When the result of the human rights commission complaint comes out… Let's go ahead with the lawsuit!" "… !!" "As long as there is evidence, we can win the case! I will pay all the attorney fees!" Bae Se-jin strongly insisted on stepping on the accelerator once more. 'no.' Is this guy too drunk on cider? It's worth it because the result is good, but on this floor, a lawsuit is an extreme hand that should be used only when the real hand is dry. But before I could even open my mouth, a big wave came out. 'Looks like something we haven't agreed on until now.' He seems to have finally come to his senses. "older brother. Isn't that the kind of plan to move the agency after winning the case?" "… okay." "Well, then, wouldn't it be difficult since we won't be able to come out with all the TV love programs that T1 invests in?" "… There are many other broadcasts too. And the fortress is Witube or... There are many other ways to be active." Bae Se-jin swallowed his saliva. "But if we can't come out now, we have to spend three more years with this agency… After three years, I don't know what else to do and try to renew the contract!" "… … ." "So what I'm doing now... I think it's the right thing to do now.” Big Sejin wriggled his eyes. However, he soon responded in a moderately cheerful tone. “It would be nice if the lawsuit went well~ But if we can’t be active for more than a year now, our careers will die.” “… … !” "then… Even if we win, I don’t think any agency would dare to sign with us.” Big Sejin finished his speech softly. “We have to be so good that other agencies dare to pretend to be T1 and bring us in, but that’s not possible~” “ … … .” “I just think it would be nice to make a good deal with the agency with this, recruit more staff for the dedicated team, and add clauses to the contract… How is it, everyone?” Bae Se-jin seemed to have a lot to say, but after recalling various expected answers, his complexion worsened as if he had been hit in advance. 'It turns out like this.' I shook my head and said. "first… Then look at the behemoth. Who wants to start a lawsuit right now?” Bae Se-jin slightly raised his hand. and flash Cha Yu-jin raised her hand. “… … .” “We win!” I hate hiring a lawyer in case someone isn't an American. “Hey Cha Yujin. Taking a year off?” “Even if we take a year off, we do well. are you okay! You can do it again!” It's a very positive, confident, yet unrealistic answer. thanks. “Then, who wants to stay at the agency and improve the environment?” Of course I heard the big Sejin, and unexpectedly... Rabin Kim followed. “There are a lot of great people at the company, so I think it would be nice to work together to improve… .” “… … .” In other words, it is very positive and unrealistic. thanks. Then, the only ones left are Ryu Cheong-woo and Seon Ah-hyun. “Ahyeon and you?” “I am… Either way, it's all good if everyone can feel comfortable and stay safe... !” "okay." It's like Seon Ah-hyun. “… Then, Chungwoo-hyung.” “… … similar I wish I could file a lawsuit... Since we are a group, we should respect the careers of those with different opinions.” Liu Qingyu replied slowly. “What do you think of Moondae?” me? Simple. “… Wouldn’t it be difficult to file a lawsuit right now?” Even if it's not my tour problem, the lawsuit is the opposite. 'It's gotten too big.' As soon as it becomes not a group issue, but a worker's rights violation issue, large corporations will never try to leave a case in which they lose in a lawsuit. This is because Testa's lawsuit remains as a precedent. 'After that, if the labor union filed a lawsuit, I'd go crazy.' So, the only thing we can take care of at this time when we are noticing is that it is better not to damage the friendly relationship while pulling a punch. 'The company has to go in a way where it feels sorry for Testa.' Even if you're not actually sorry, you can make the most of the moment you pretend to be like that. But Sejin Bae has credit, so it's hard to say this openly... let's turn around a bit “It’s public opinion that you don’t know how it will change tomorrow. Why don’t we observe more and collect data so that we can file a lawsuit if the circumstances are right?” “Secretly?” "yes." Bae Se-jin had a thoughtful face as he listened to the conversation, but soon nodded. “… okay. okay. just my opinion... can't claim … Because we are the tee team!” “… … .” It seems that this guy is finally starting to taste the mulberry taste of his peers like Seon Ah-hyun in < Azusa >.

‘What a good thing.’

“Team~ Testa Come on~!”

“That’s right, brother!”

I shrugged my shoulders and barely managed to get back to what I was about to say.

“And how about taking care of the schedule that has already been set after looking at the atmosphere?”

“uh?”

“Why why… ?”

“There is a cancellation penalty issue, and I thought the atmosphere would be better if we showed that the group is healthy.”

“… … .”

“you also?”

“yes. Oh, of course, after the body is fully recovered. If you get a cure.”

I mean literally, without any bluffing. Thanks to nectar, I can say this without hesitation.

“hmm… .”

“Especially, there are many people who have already booked the tour, so it’s better to go around as much as possible…” .”

“Oh, no!!”

“… !!”

what what?

… Seon Ah-hyun screamed.

I looked at him, but Seon Ah-hyun stood firm even with her face turned red.

“You need to rest for mumun!”

“So after resting… .”

“You need to rest a lot!”

no, that doesn’t make sense

“Ahyeon is right, Mundae.”

“I said something, but what about the tour… Enjoy the Moondaemundae bed more.”

“… … ??”

“We’re working hard to prepare for the next album, so don’t worry.”

“Hyung, live a long life!”

You won’t live long if you do this.

However, they were determined and insisted that there be no compromises.

It seems that the impression of being in a coma on the 18th is too strong.

‘I can’t even make the sound of nectar… .’

If you pretend to be crazy and talk about the status window, you can really see the future that will add to your schedule, including counseling and hospitalization in a mental hospital.

While I was suffering from pain in my temple, Liu Chengyu said with a faint smile.

“And Mundae, the internal payment for the cancellation of the second half of the tour has already been completed.”

“… … !”

crazy guys

These bastards patted me on the shoulder and said sweetly.

“Fans want you to look healthy without overdoing it… You’d prefer to post only texts or photos from time to time.”

“… … .”

“Let’s do that for a while.”

“Yes~ hyung is right~”

“I will support you as you focus on recovering your health!”

like that… The tour flew.

* * *

“… … .”

I lay down in the hospital room they left and reviewed this situation.

and concluded

it’s X

‘How can I fill 400,000 spectators without a tour?’

Do I have to do at least 40 guerrilla performances in Myeong-dong or Neverland?

My head is tingling.

‘… I can’t even get angry knowing that it’s a good intention.’

I sighed a few times and thought of various plans, but then I let go.

‘I’ll have to find out more about the audience’s conditions.’

And before that, let’s do something.

I turned on my smartphone and took a few pictures of myself and picked the ones that came out well.

And I connected to SNS.

_____==

Hello Lover,

I’m Moondae (dog emoji)

I’m eating well and doing well.

Thank you for waiting.

I’ll see you soon with a good look

_ _____==

And I uploaded it with a picture attached.

‘… All 21 days.’

I’m a little nervous.

As expected, SNS notifications began to be updated like crazy soon.

-It’s Moondae!!!

-Thank you very much

–

♡♡♡♡ ?

┗ Again, don’t be too self-willed hahaha

┗ I’ll sue you no matter what – You have to be healthy and happy for a long time

“… … .”

It was text, but it seemed to have a temperature, and it seemed like I could hear a voice.

‘It’s a good thing.’

I smiled and looked at the comments.

And there were also some expectations.

‘If the fans like it when I said I’ll see you soon, I’ll use this as proof… .’

-It’s okay if you don’t come soon, Moondae, your health is the most important

-Mundae, please cherish your body

“… … .”

Even if you say this, you probably want to see it in person… am.

It should be.

‘driving me crazy.’

I shook my head and tossed my phone next to the pillow.

Zing Zing Ziing!

Then the smartphone rang several times as if it had been put together.

‘I just turned off notifications on social media.’

I was a little puzzled and picked up my smartphone.

I checked… it’s text

[(Photo)]

There are about 20 pictures of familiar dogs in a row.

“… … .”

wow this is nice

‘Hey, spit something out.’

If you’re going to die anyway, grab a rotten straw.

[Vtic senior Cheong Gyeo-ryo]

I called him.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 237

Episode 237

The phone call to Cheong-Ryeo was connected after several beeps.

However, common sense greetings such as ‘hello’ did not come out.

– It’s alive.

I knew it would be like this.

“Somehow it happened.”

– Oh, I didn’t mean that I wanted you to die.

“I don’t think he particularly wanted to be alive.”

Wouldn’t it be better if I thought that if I fell behind, one of the target competitors would fall behind, so it would be a dog’s gain?

But the voice over the phone didn’t laugh.

– He said he couldn’t restart.

“… … .”

-Then you should be alive. it makes a weird sound

What is it?

It’s a strange situation to be reprimanded by this idiot for nonsense.

But I won’t deny that there were some pleasant aspects.

The madman I saw in the coma was talking about the preciousness of life. Time must be the medicine.

Of course, the reset button was taken away.

“Thank you for your concern. Anyway, I’m fine.”

-is it so. But why did you call?

“I have something to ask you.”

I said right away after finishing the calculation.

“Do you have time the day after tomorrow or the morning of the next day?”

– Why do you ask?

Simple.

“Because I can visit you in the hospital.”

I can’t go out because of the environment, so I’ll have to call this guy.

It was only then that I heard a laugh over the phone.

* * *

After some deals and coordination, Chung-Ryeo spat out the words that she would visit her on the weekend morning in three days.

It was a plan that was possible because the other guys who used to visit almost every day due to their future activities planned to return to their parents’ homes for the weekend.

Except for one guy.

“When do you eat melon?”

“If the hospital permits.”

“I want to ask!”

“Be patient.”

Even on weekends, Cha Yoo-jin takes pity on herself, who is in the dorm, and stays in the hospital room.

It is said that his parents went to Korea after hearing that he was injured, but it seems that he returned to Korea last week.

Indeed, it is difficult for an office worker to stay in a foreign country for more than two weeks. No matter how much it is in the United States, it will be more difficult to take a vacation.

Instead of melons, I threw several large, improved tangerines to him. Seon Ah-hyun bought it.

I think I bought a fruit that can be eaten right away when the permission is given because it has good storage, but… I don’t think it will stay until then.

“Eat.”

“Is the sweetness the best?”

Did you learn from Sejin?

“uh.”

“and!”

I saw Cha Yoo-jin forgetting a tangerine.

In fact, this is a kind of bribe.

“… Someone will come in about 30 minutes, so don’t bother telling the other members.”

“Are you a guest?”

“Similar.”

“who are you?”

“VTIC Chungrye.”

“Oh.”

Cha Yoo-jin gulped down the tangerine and shrugged.

“Okay~”

That’s it.

This was a neat guy, so it was comfortable. Sat and Da’s individualistic tendency shines through.

“But why are you coming?”

It’s because this is annoying

“I have something to ask about the next activity.”

“Ask me!”

“… You have to ask someone who has been active for a long time.”

“no way.”

Fortunately, the barrage of questions ended here, but it was obvious that a similar situation would repeat when Cheong-ryeo arrived.

and thirty minutes later.

“I want to listen too!”

also.

“Go and buy some snacks.”

“Boo… … .”

But thanks to you dealing with me from the front, your firm order works.

Cha Yu-jin grumbled and left. Still, I did not forget the Korean-style Confucian greeting to Cheongryeo.

“Hello senior!”

Tattang!

The man with his back bowed vigorously shuts the door to the hospital room and exits.

Cheong-rye stared at the guy leaving and smiled.

“He’s a picky type, but the team atmosphere seems to be good. You can control it.”

“… … .”

“I’ve dealt with a guy like that before… After 16 months, the schedule was punctured. Um, was that the 6th? haha.”

He’s really good at making the atmosphere cheap.

Anyway, I crossed my arms and got to the point.

“The reason I invited you today is, of course, an emergency.”

“yes.”

“The mission seems to fail.”

“… … .”

There is no need to hide Even if you borrow a cat’s hand, you can use it in the right place at the right time.

“What is this mission?”

“Mobilize 400,000 spectators.”

“… … .”

Chung-rye was silent for a moment as if she was lost in thought.

And he tilted his head to the side.

“Are you very specific?”

“… … .”

“How can you be so sure… … . It’s fun.”

also.

‘Something was pressed.’

The story of the status window should be postponed even more in case of emergency.

However, this is unavoidable because the discussion must be conducted while knowing the specific conditions.

‘I need a more precise prediction value.’

Since the tour is canceled, the probability of sudden death is skyrocketing.

You might think that the difference between him and me was unfair when he was heading straight to the ground, but we need to stop thinking further.

‘Ventilation.’

I shrugged.

“It’s not bad to know something specific. It’s a mission, it’s a nabal, and I’ve been to Hwangcheon because of a traffic accident.”

“… Originally, there are many variables in this job.”

“Yeah, thanks to that, I almost died twice already in the 2 years I was active.”

“twice?”

“Uh, you first.”

He burst out laughing, but then nodded with a slightly apologetic smile. It seems my brain is back.

It seems that the gamble paid off with 20 dog photos.

‘As expected, a little debt… A sense of camaraderie remains.’

It means that the news that I woke up is enough to send me a picture of a dog.

Still, this bastard isn’t normal, so let’s move on quickly before thinking about anything else.

“Anyway, the tour has been canceled and I am stuck in the hospital. But I have to meet 300,000 more spectators.”

“Hmm, it must be difficult to set up a new dome tour at the end of the year.”

“okay.”

The year-end and New Year holidays are the highlight. Most of the concert halls where Testa is the size of a stone have already been rented out over the weekend.

Besides, I can’t tell this guy, but if the lawsuit goes in, the tour and the entertainment industry itself this year are gone.

And Cheong-Ryeo pushed forward the most common sense and possible alternatives to consider.

“What about non-face-to-face performances?”

“… That’s the problem.”

I pressed my forehead.

“The count standard is ambiguous.”

“… … .”

The fan meeting I had right before I got into an accident.

The performance was simultaneously broadcast online, but both real-time paid and illegal visitors were not counted.

Only the on-site audience was counted as ‘audience’.

Looking at this far, it seems that non-face-to-face is useless, right?

However, there are also some performances that were planned on a non-face-to-face basis.

‘The number of live comeback shows that were conducted on real-time paid W Live was counted.’

It was a configuration in which texts or feedback from the audience were displayed on the electronic signboard.

And considering all these tendencies, one very vague criterion emerged.

“Within the performance… It seems that only when I recognize the audience is recognized as an ‘audience’.”

I have to be aware of the audience. itself, not a number.

that passion and energy.

“ah.”

Cheongryeo narrowed her eyes.

“Was it an audience in the theatrical sense?”

“theater?”

“The presence of reaction is also part of the performance. um kinda… It’s tacky, though.”

“… … .”

It seems that he has lived a life of his own. You know how to explain concepts quickly.

Cheong-rye stroked her chin.

“anyway… Then it must be a bit tricky.”

“that’s right.”

I clicked my tongue.

“I have to gather about 300,000 people at the same time who can communicate in real time, but it’s difficult.”

It is not simply a VOD purchase, but 300,000 people must be held in front of the computer at the same time.

‘… Even if you increase the number of times, there is a limit.’

Perhaps, even if the composition of the performance continues to change, the number of real-time audiences counted as soon as it goes beyond the second episode will continue to decline.

according to the law of marginal utility and scarcity.

Busy modern people only pay for it, and then postpone the city hall.

And through the self-issued indulgence of ‘I paid for one, so it’s okay to watch the rest for free’.

Seeing my anguish, Cheongryeo smiled.

“Um Jeong Then, would you like to be a guest on the VTIC tour? If you suffer for a month or two… .”

“Did it turn?”

“haha!”

You know that it’s nonsense, but you have the shamelessness to ask.

A guest appearance at a VTIC concert?

Hell is coming.

As soon as I recover from my injury, if I make a guest appearance at someone else’s concert, the Testa fandom and the VTIC fandom will heat up like hellfire in the nether.

However, Chung-rye was calm.

“I think it would be better than dying. Think about it. It might be the last.”

“… … .”

Of course, VTIC will have more excuses than Testa, so it will be worth it.

‘Still, a loss is a loss.’

This crazy proposal from a guy who is paranoidly obsessed with a flawless top tier idol?

The offer to join VTIC’s main vocalist, which he received while in a coma, comes to mind. I replied shyly.

“I don’t know why you want to lose money.”

“Um, are you sorry?”

“… … .”

I checked his face to see if he was joking with me, but he wasn’t deceiving or insane.

Instead, it was quite calm.

“Once or twice… I’ve disturbed you badly, so I’m assuming you’re paying off the debt. how is it.”

“… hmm.”

Apparently, seeing how I almost died in this accident, this guy also looked back on his past.

‘It seems that raising a dog really helps mentally.’

However, I have no intention of investing in such a thing. Review the discussion so far.

‘The resources I can use… .’

My skills, connections, time, money… … .

‘… money?’

“… … !”

I almost opened my eyes.

found.

“No, I won’t use that method.”

“then?”

“… We will perform non-face-to-face.”

I ended my speech sternly.

“Totally free.”

“… … !”

I don’t know about other limitations, but I can cover the entry barriers caused by money.

‘I’m sure I can pay for the concert.’

That’s because there’s quite a bit of money left unspent. I don’t need anyone else’s support.

“Ah, even the settlement money?”

So, this is a suggestion.

I chuckled.

“no. I want to get another one.”

The biggest stumbling block to free performances isn’t money.

This is an existing contract.

‘Testa signed an exclusive 3-year contract with W App.’

And the W app does not support free performances.

However, since Testa’s online concert had to be broadcast through the W app, I needed a detour.

“Let’s borrow your platform.”

It is an exhibition/performance platform created by LeTi in collaboration with an overseas funding company.

‘The member solo, not Testa, wasn’t specified in the contract.’

The rest of the commercial morality and public opinion issues can be solved by adjusting the performance method, and it will be much easier and faster if you do it with this guy. Because it is the company sign.

‘I think this is the most winning combination right now.’

Sure enough, Cheongryeo also smiled and nodded.

“Good idea.”

It’s better than your suggestion. I responded calmly, holding back the thought of almost clicking my tongue.

“Of course it would be better than following the VTIC tour.”

“yes? haha. Of course it is. Would you do such a nonsense?”

“… … .”

“I meant that you could do even that, but it sounds plausible.”

You fooled the X.

I’m sure the bastard I met in the coma would have sucked in sweet water and swelled up, let alone become the main vocalist of VTIC.

* * *

Park Mun-dae was furious at the moment, but soon regained his composure and quickly concluded a detailed agreement with Cheong-ryeol.

And immediately contacted the company and talked about ‘contact with the new platform’ in depth.

‘It’s easy.’

In the calculation that it could calm the turbulent atmosphere by turning its gaze, the company sent an OK sign fairly quickly even though it was in a devastated state.

It’s because the payment fell right after the weekend on Monday morning.

“Yes, thank you.”

Of course, it was a misjudgment without a choice, but Park Mun-dae happily tolerated their misjudgment.

‘I hope it goes smoothly like this.’

Park Moon-dae said that he only needed to persuade the members, and adjusted the time of the members’ visits to overlap on Monday afternoon.

‘It would be better to discuss it at once.’

so after a few days.

Park Moon-dae is forced to take time for self-reflection and self-reflection by the members while sweating in cold sweat.

“Sit down and listen.”

Somehow, all the members had already heard the news about it.

Because Cha Yu-jin could not stand it.

“I asked the company!”

‘This guy.’

Of course, it was my karma.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 238

If you can't debut, you'll get a fatal disease Episode 238

It's a bit embarrassing.

"Park Moon-dae is planning a concert by himself just because the tour has been cancelled? you are in hospital now You know why the tour was canceled."

"Sorry to have to say this, but you need to reconsider your work/leisure balance!"

"… Haven't you ever thought of discussing it before doing it alone?"

That's why you're not giving the opportunity to discuss it.

I held back a sigh and looked back at why the situation had become this way.

-… Moondaeya Yujin heard something from the company… .

The moment the people who came to me started talking like this without even sitting down, I thought I might have leaked information.

'So I was going to let these guys talk freely and start the main topic when they calm down.'

Isn't this a tyrant who listens to pure complaints? The more I listen, the more I feel like a bad guy.

'… I can be sad.'

yeah i'll admit that

Because of the guy who fell into a coma, his activities came to an all-stop, but it would be eye-watering if he said that he was planning a solo concert of his own.

furthermore… You seem to be worried too.

"It's not too late to think about it after the mother's body has fully recovered… !"

"okay!"

"… … ."

So, for the past 18 days, I calmly listened to them, considering them who must have been in a complicated mood with thoughts like 'Is this guy waking up'… … .

'It's been about 30 minutes.'

It seems that this is enough. Now, slowly, the same words are repeated over and over again. I sighed and started tidying up.

"first… I was going to meet you today and talk."

"Ah, after everything is decided?"

Big Sejin is like this again.

"No, nothing has been decided yet. What I told the company was just an idea."

I pressed my temples.

"I had no intention of doing it right away. I thought it would be nice to do it as a commemoration after Testa resumes its official activities."

"… … ."

This sounded quite realistic, but the hospital room became quiet, as if each person was lost in thought.

After thinking a bit, I added an afterword.

"… Still, it must have looked like you brought out the solo story to the company. sorry. And sorry."

"… … !"

I was then putting together words to better explain 'but it's fishing'.

However, Liu Cheng-wu spoke first.

"… Moondae. You will want to act soon."

"… … ."

yes. If you don't, you'll die… .

Liu Qingyu nodded his head politely.

"If you want to do a solo concert, it's okay. Sue the company… If you don't want to do it, it's okay to just be active."

"… … !"

"You don't have to apologize for that."

Bae Se-jin's face turned red, but surprisingly, he silently nodded his head without objecting to Ryu Cheong-wu.

"But you should take care of your health. That's what we've been talking about so far."

"… … ."

"You are overdoing it now. that… I hope you understand. I say it every time."

Liu Qingyu's complexion was not good.

It seemed that the scene where I was stabbed in the pit of my stomach left a considerable amount of trauma.

'Whoa.'

You're back to square one. I put on a pod.

I am in perfect health and a full recovery is just around the corner.

How can I convince you of this mysterious resilience… .

"I care enough about my health. I'm following all the instructions from the medical staff, and I've heard that I'm recovering at an incredibly fast pace."

"… So, do you want to return as soon as you are fully recovered?"

"If you say you're going to be an expert, that means you're considering it."

Big Sejin laughed.

"Hey, the fans will really like it."

"… !"

"I think you would get a good response then, but the fans know that you are a person too. They would send a truck to the company to use someone who was in a coma."

"… … ."

"Oh, the big picture for suing? Then what's so great~"

This bastard is really.

I gritted my teeth.

"Do I really have to say it that way?"

“… !”

“Don’t be sarcastic. I am speaking honestly.”

A person looks like a fucking sudden death, but it’s annoying to keep scratching. Anyway, you should do it in moderation.

Sejin Lee opened his mouth, then closed it again without speaking. I focused on my thoughts without speaking to calm down.

And a person with the same name took off.

“He is… ! I’m doing that because I’m worried!”

Bae Se-jin clenched his fist and jumped out.

“usually! You talk like that!”

“… … .”

Meg is… is it

“That’s right… . Sese Sejin will want to apologize too, that’s right… ?”

Seeing Seon Ah-hyeon fire support, it must have been Meg.

Big Sejin was looking at the floor with a smileless face.

“… Sorry.”

“… … .”

I nodded.

yeah i was a little overexcited

I had come up with a way to clear the status abnormality, but it took too long to discuss it, so I couldn’t afford it.

‘It probably wasn’t my intention to get into a fight.’

It seems that he thought that if this situation upset him a little, he would come to his senses if he gave some insight.

‘… I can’t help it.’

Yes, it’s not Sejin, the other members are the same.

As long as I contribute to this team and as long as a car accident has occurred, these guys have no choice but to care about my health.

Well, I’ve been living in a camp for two years, so I’m sure there are things I’ve become attached to.

So, in the end, it is the difference in the amount of information.

‘These guys don’t know that I’ll die if I don’t mobilize 400,000 people.’

So, priorities have to change.

‘… … I didn’t mean to go this far.’

I held back my sleep and finally opened my mouth.

“… Actually, I want to see some fans.”

“… … .”

“When I suddenly opened my eyes, it was next month. The Internet is crazy, I thought I would be less anxious if I did something… We even talked about concerts.”

“… okay.”

“It’s dumb… … .”

It was a bit of a shriveled remark, but the atmosphere became damp as if it were persuasive.

‘… It’s not wrong.’

Except for the fact that the reason for my anxiety is a status abnormality, that might be just my condition.

I continued talking with a feeling of giving up a little.

“I have no intention of staying up all night like before.”

I can’t do it without Bacchus anyway.

“Still, I want to resume activities as soon as possible without overdoing it… That’s my opinion.”

This time, the answer “No” doesn’t come out.

I hope this is it.

“The concert I was planning in the first place wasn’t grandiose.”

“uh?”

“I thought it was just a simple talk concert. To show that I have recovered my health. Dancing is minimal.”

“So with a solo concert… ?”

“No, because of the W App contract. They said they couldn’t broadcast free concerts under the group’s name.”

“oh… .”

I’m starting to talk a little bit now.

I finished the explanation up to the part agreed with Cheongryeol.

Then he took a break and said.

“But in the first place… Solo is a trick.”

“… … ?”

I chuckled.

“I was going to call all the testas as guests. Isn’t that fine then?”

“… !!”

Honestly, isn’t this an obvious trick?

The picture would look a little strange if someone said no, but I was confident that I could convince everyone.

However, one guy got a red face and shouted.

“Isn’t that a breach of contract then?”

“no. After all, I am the subject.”

“still… It’s a scam!”

“It was a good use of the terms of the contract.”

“… … .”

dump. Bae Se-jin sat down in a chair.

And ‘I feel like I’m going to curse… .’ It seems to be muttering something similar, but not against it.

‘I must have looked quite desperate.’

Since you’ve been bombarded with words in front of you, you seem to be trying to restrain yourself.

Or maybe Sejin Bae is trying to organize things in his own way so that the language is less aggressive.

Of course, that statement itself makes sense.

‘If you do it this way, rumors will spread in the industry.’

It’s not just an industry, W App is run by a fairly large search engine company. There will definitely be retaliation.

‘So I have to choose the shape well.’

And I have already chosen the shape of the concert.

If this is the case, it is ambiguous to retaliate… It’s just because I’m afraid I’ll be treated as a ‘different kind’ performance.

I said with a smile.

“And one more.”

“… … ?”

“I want to make a separate purpose for the concert.”

“purpose?”

I explained my idea.

“oh.”

“It seems that mumundae always has good thoughts… .”

“It really is!”

The response was very good.

Shall we explain that Bae Se-jin, who was sitting in a chair with a white burnt posture, recovered her complexion?

“… That’s fine!”

“Yes.”

‘Haven’t I eaten half of this?’

I don’t think I need to convince you anymore. We can continue to build up like this and confirm it around the time we are discharged.

I shrugged.

“Now, get some rest… !”

“No, I had enough rest… .”

“Shh rest!”

“… … .”

And only then did I hear some trivial stories from the guys who returned to the hospital atmosphere.

“The AR team made a commemorative sound source for Moon Dae-hyung’s comfortable sleeping time… It says it flew before saving due to a program error… … .”

“really?!”

“… Please tell me that you are well received.”

Quite a long time.

Time passed like that, and soon it was time for the hospital meal.

“Come over to eat.”

“okay … It’s already time for that.”

“Since I ate early, I will stay and act as a companion!”

“me too! Eat fruit!”

no okay… what happened

I shrugged.

However, Sejin Sejin, one of the guys rushing out, hesitated but did not make eye contact until the end.

It seems like he's been doing that ever since the atmosphere became bloody after talking about it earlier.

"… I'll be back~"

"Yes."

The mouth still blows me away.

… It will be fine.

and the next guy.

"brother! Eat well… ."

"You come here."

"Aww!"

Somewhere, the guy who ate the tangerines and snitched on him is going to slip away.

I put a hand on Cha Yu-jin's forehead and let him go.

"Aww!"

And in front of his eyes, he gave Kim Rae-bin a large peach.

It was a bit funny because I was feeding myself what I brought, but since I ate a little too, it should be fine.

"The taste is great!"

"I know."

Cha Yu-jin slumped.

“Hyung, you’re too much!”

“what.”

“I didn’t say anything else!”

“what.”

Cha Yujin said with a small mouth.

‘VTIC senior!’

“… … !!”

After a short silence passed.

“Eat.”

“wow!”

I put a peach in his mouth.

It’s a kind of bribe. It means to keep it closed.

* * *

After that, Park Mun-dae recovered smoothly and was discharged faster than the medical team expected.

And again a few weeks later.

After being horribly beaten up by the agency and advised to calm down by the Human Rights Commission, Testa started a small group activity.

It was to appear at TaKon, a KPOP joint concert.

Of course, it did not appear directly on the spot, but the video taken separately was organized only on the broadcast.

Still, it was the first activity after the accident, so Testa's appearance became quite a hot topic.

Amidst the Internet reactions that were plastered with phrases such as 'I love you, Testa, our magic forever', some explicit or rude evaluations came and went quickly.

-I haven't lost my form

-As expected, I have to lose weight, the coma diet is the best heh bulking up and dying

-Do you look all right? Hahahaha I learned a little by thinking about the idols. Even though someone died and woke up, they do a stage like that, and you guys can't even blink

. The parsoon got tired of logic~

┗Testa was an exception because he got into a car accident Anyway, then lol

One thing is for sure, Testa has not lost his star quality that can be digested with sympathy and good feelings.

All sorts of comments such as 'Will Testa continue with his next activities', 'When will he make a comeback', 'Will the company go on as it is', etc., raged on the internet.

Then, quite out of the blue, a notice popped up on the SNS of a performance reservation platform.

-This is a testa?? (Link)

A platform of another company that Testa has never used and is not related to T1.

However, the words on social media were enough to attract aggro.

[what? Does Kookmin stock give a ☆free☆ concert?]

Kookmin stock.

buzzword a few years ago.

A few people quickly joined in and started talking.

-National stock when modifier; It seems like it's just aggro

-Azusa isn't starting with a concert for the next season hahahahahahaha

-Isn't it a hack?

it wasn't all

A few days later. Because this was the next upload on the SNS.

[Watch Kookmin Stock's ☆Free☆ concert and give strength to sick children!]

[Host: Moondae Park Guest: Testa]

That's right.

Park Moon-dae planned a fundraising concert to help the less fortunate.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 239

Episode 239

A concert in which Park Moon-dae invites Testa as a guest.

There was a possibility that this question might be raised.

– Why is Moondae Park the host and Testa the guest?

– Park Moon-dae is very popular.

Moondae Park already knew how to avoid controversy in this format.

‘It’s just a matter of overturning the relationship of precedence.’

[All of the precious donations from the audience raised during the concert go to pediatric patients who are hospitalized for a long period of time.]

If the donation theme is long-term hospitalization, Park Moon-dae will naturally become the right person.

‘Because I was hospitalized for the longest time due to a traffic accident.’

The concept of donation was not inserted into Moondae Park’s solo concert, but ‘because Moondae Park suits the format of this concert the best’.

Naturally, people think that Moondae Park was chosen as the host to emphasize the meaning of the donation concert.

[Holding an online concert for Testa child patients]

[“I thought a lot while hospitalized”… Testa’s meaningful donation concert]

And when the press release centered on the Testa group, everything was bound to settle into this structure.

-I support the wonderful actions of top star young people^^

-Testa

is really

great.

It was a good signal to mobilize the audience.

However, as the image of a charity event rather than a concert became more powerful, it was natural to catch the pods about this format itself.

-I must have made a lot of money, but it seems like I’m trying to be condescending with the fans’ money. Am I the only one who doesn’t like it ? -The fans pay for the donation, and the donation is in the name of Testa?

-Testa Concert’s daily sales exceed 2 billion

won

.

Lol lol lol

In a capitalist society, there was no phrase that quantifies sacrifice as well as ‘giving up profits’.

Fans went around the community and social media by writing publicity articles about ‘how meaningful this concert is and how I want everyone to see it’.

Still, he was immersed in great excitement.

-It’s Moondae… Ah, I can’t do personality business, but I really want to scream that I’m an angel to the whole world

. ?

_

_

In addition, a successful comeback and stage.

Fans were completely immersed in Testa’s situation in the tide of events and upward trajectory.

Still, I couldn’t stop worrying.

-Is it okay to have a concert at Mundae already? I’ll have to put in a lot of pre-recording and adjust it well…

-I stumbled at the Mundae interlude even at Tei-Con

. Listening to what you say, it seems like everyone is obsessively taking care of their health these days.

ㄴㄹㅇ I’m worried that I’m under pressure for activities. T-One’s dogs get scolded, so it seems like they’re trying to renew their image with kids, and Testa, like a performance-type male idol group, had a lot of title songs with intense choreography represented by ‘Arrival’.

And these songs often decorate the core stages of concerts.

Naturally, fans debated whether it was okay for Park Moon-dae, who had just recovered from an injury, to perform on such stages one after another.

But soon public opinion turned to one side.

-The concert lid hasn’t even been opened yet, so don’t worry about buying it.

ㄴNo, why do you guys want to edit the setlist made by the kids

? Fanjil makes me very tired

– It’s been a long time since I’ve performed, so the kids seem to be all excited.

-The atmosphere is good, so this concert seems to be a big hit

. Fans also wanted to ride this momentum.

In addition, promotional banners with a concert format appeared on social media so that those who were worried would not be further offended.

[Talk Concert with Testa 〈As You Like It〉]

[♡Thank you for your participation♡]

In the poster, seven stool-type chairs on the stage were calibrated to be in the spotlight.

-Hul talk concert hahaha

-Could Moondae host it?? Moondae is the host??

-The feeling of the donation event suddenly changed hahaha

-A talk concert? Isn’t this just a lecture and a performance in the middle?

ㄴㄴ Maybe it will be a form of just talking a lot and doing stages in between? Solo singers often do it

ㄴAha ㅇㅋㅇㅋ

Those who were worried were relieved because it looked quite different from the previous Testa concerts, which focused on intense performances.

And the platform's strategy to attract audiences didn't end there.

The point at which people will stop reproducing stories about the Testa concert other than fans, saying, "Everything to come out has been said."

[Oh star shoots!]

[☆Testa's 〈As the Heart Goes〉 donates as much as the number of viewers!☆]

(※ based on real-time maximum simultaneous access)

Articles about corporate sponsorships popped up.

It was just a week before the concert.

-Yeah

hahahahahahaaa

Even the ambiguous amount and the vulgar warning phrase stimulated the interest of netizens.

Thanks to this, posts promoting the Testa concert circulated once again on the Internet.

[Free donation added to Testa Concert free viewing hahaha]

[Testa Concert Yakpan advertisement.jpg]

[☆★Testa Talk☆Con★☆ ☜☜100 won per person for all $$ donations when attending Testa Talk☆Con★☆ ※Free admission ※ Five stars A legitimate opportunity to rob it ©Saturday 14:00]

It was so funny that even non-Testa fans would join in.

Moreover, public opinion was soft, as the intentions were impeccable.

So the one remaining question was passed smoothly as well.

-But how do you plan to hold a non-face-to-face talk concert

?

-It looks like the testers are just playing drums and playing drums among themselves hahahaha

┗hahaha Maybe that’s cute too?

How can a talk concert be held properly when there is no audience at all?

Idols were not professional MCs or instructors. If not, it was likely to produce inconsistent results.

Of course, Park Moon-dae was not an idiot, so from the moment he made a platform deal with Cheong-rye, the answer to this question was being prepared one by one.

It’s just that he was struggling with a different kind of trouble at this moment.

* * *

“10 minute break~”

“Whoop!!”

I need to bulk up.

‘I can’t keep up with my stamina.’

I gulped down a lukewarm sports drink and took a deep breath.

‘… It’s too bad.’

Not being able to use the Bacchus meant that my available time was reduced by about four hours.

I had to monitor, practice, and sleep when I was supposed to think, so I could control my condition.

Time passed in an instant.

But if I don’t sleep, my stamina won’t keep up, so my efficiency won’t come out. After all, it is the starting point.

‘… Should I increase my exercise time?’

I did build some muscle with anaerobic, but to be honest, it’s not a level I’m happy with. About when I was in college… … .

No, let’s think about it after the concert is over.

As long as we finish this online concert properly, I think we can get over the status ailments within the period, so we will have time to think about other things.

‘The publicity worked well.’

Looking at the momentum of the internet right now, it’s okay.

If you have to put off the lawsuit and go back to Japan early next year… It seems cold.

… And when everything was going according to plan, other problems began to emerge.

“10 minutes are over~ Large again!”

“Yeah!”

I smiled and looked at the guy who slapped Cha Yu-jin on the back.

“… … .”

I stared at him, still sitting in my seat.

Keun Se-jin seemed to flinch for a moment, but soon asked with a smile on his face.

“… Oh, would you like some more rest?”

“No, I’m fine.”

“Okay~”

is a good way to say it.

But attitudes have definitely changed.

The facial expressions and gestures that were used to play pranks or express themselves in annoyed situations until just before crossing the line completely disappeared.

Instead, only some kind of reaction robot remained.

‘Even when we first met, it wasn’t like this.’

In a word, it means that there is no mate to be uncomfortable.

It seems to be catering to the taste, and it also seems to be protesting.

And since when… too sure

– Do I really have to say it that way?

-… … !

-Don’t be sarcastic. I’m speaking honestly.

I’ve been doing that ever since I got an apology from him after this conversation in the hospital room.

‘X feet.’

So, I can’t tell if I’m doing that because I’m offended or because I’m sorry.

‘I’m not the kind of guy who’s going to open up.’

It seems like he’ll just be like that until he gets better, but the problem is that we can’t communicate every time it seems like there’s going to be a disagreement.

-… So, I want to do these two regardless of the choice.

-If you think so, you can go like that~

-I’m asking what you think. You said you would do one of the two.

-… me? What am I? Is everything okay? Make yourself comfortable.

Are you lowering your tail first or euphemistically expressing that you are stressed just by dealing with someone?

Anyway, since it’s like this every time, it means that this guy’s speed is definitely not normal.

The guy who likes to lead the situation to his own will only throws away his options every time he bumps into me.

“… … after.”

After the concert… no i don’t know

Isn’t there a real conflict? Rather, I think we can fight with scratches and boils.

‘Is time just a medicine?’

“end! You worked hard~”

“Yaho!”

“It was perfect, no mistakes!”

After finishing the choreography for the last song, I did some stretching to get rid of unnecessary thoughts.

I heard a voice talking from behind.

“… Moondae~ Is your back okay?”

“Oh, I’m fine.”

… Looking at things like this, it seems that I have a desire to get along well.

Looking back, Sejin Sejin was just an ambiguous smile.

After standing there for a while, he immediately grabbed his towel and headed to the back of the practice room.

“… … .”

What are you guys saying?

Is it necessary to rejuvenate after three years of preparing for public disclosure of interpersonal concerns that I have never done even when I was a minor?

I sat on a chair in the corner of the practice room and raised my head to look at the ceiling. There's no answer.

It was then.

"It's nothing."

"… why."

"excuse me… I may be saying something useless, but… … ."

Seon Ah-hyun, who had quietly approached and talked to her, suddenly got to the point.

just a little bit off

"To Sejin… Oh, are you still mad?"

"… ? no."

If that guy was mad at me, I'd be mad.

However, Seon Ah-hyun seemed to take my words as a good sign, sat down next to him, and began defending him.

"When the school car accident occurred, Sejin worked very hard… ."

"… … ."

"Tell the company… He kept coming to the hospital and talking about surgery… I worked really hard! I can't even eat well… … ."

Seon Ah-hyun's explanation was detailed and not specific. However, the emotions at the time were a bit buried.

Desperate efforts when 'Park Moon-dae' does not happen. and sadness.

So I realized.

"When I woke up, Sejin cried a lot in the car as well… . Everyone was like that, but I think that's why I was so worried about Moon University."

More than I thought… That these guys cared about me a lot.

I was speechless.

"That's it… On the good side too… Can't you just think about it for a moment? I hope that Moon University can live comfortably… ."

"… … ."

I struggled to open my mouth.

"… okay."

"… … !"

"Let's talk."

"Ughhh!"

Seon Ah-hyeon smiled faintly, then staggered to his feet at Cha Yu-jin's call and went to look at his luggage.

"brother! I eat this!"

"huh? just sleep… !"

After sitting there for a while, I finally made up my mind.

and that evening.

“Big Sejin.”

“uh?”

I asked Bae Se-jin for his understanding and changed the room for a while.

“… Mundae?”

“okay.”

So, to put it another way, it means that Sejin’s roommate today is me.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 240

If I Can’t Debut, I’ll Get a Deathly Disease Episode 240

Keun Se-jin seemed a bit taken aback, but he immediately changed his complexion and smiled.

“Ah, what are you looking for?”

“no. I switched rooms with Bae Se-jin hyung.”

“… room?”

“Oh, just for today.”

I sat down on Bae Se-jin’s bed right across from him.

“Let’s talk.”

“… … .”

A brief moment of tension passed through Sejin’s movements.

But the words came out well.

“… Um, what are you talking about?”

‘Your attitude these days, the baby,’ came up with a breast, but endured well.

‘If you’re not fighting, you shouldn’t talk like that.’

Instead, I sat down with my pods on and calmly took out the words I should have said.

“first… thanks.”

“… … !”

“I heard you had a hard time while I couldn’t wake up. He said he dealt with both the company and the hospital.”

I spoke boldly.

“I feel like I haven’t been able to talk to you… It seems right to do it now. Thank you for caring.”

“… … .”

He looks like he’s been beaten.

“And thank you for your concern… Are you crying?”

“uh? oh no… uh.”

Big Sejin shouted shamelessly with his eyes wide open.

“I’m impressed~!”

… I think it’s closer to relief than excitement.

‘The expected reaction was… It’s not.’

After all, this guy seems to have been struggling in his own way for the past few days.

The guy laughed haha in a less formal way, as if he was embarrassed but relaxed.

“Ah, are you a little embarrassed?”

Yeah, I'm glad you've calmed down a bit. I crossed my arms.

"There is nothing to be embarrassed about. by the way… ."

Now I have something to hear.

"Are you mad at me by any chance?"

"… what?"

"It seems like it's been a while since I just said something to you and said, 'You're all right~' and moved on."

"… … ."

I tapped the edge of the bed with my finger.

Seeing the tension on this bastard's face come back, it's kind of like that, but it's better than covering it up and then exploding later.

"When we have a chance, let's rob this too and go. If, by any chance, when I was talking about the concert, it was unfair that I was unilaterally apologized and the situation ended… … ."

"Would that have been unfair?"

"… … !"

"… … no then i… I think I was thinking too short. I guess it was because I was just trying to be careful with my words~"

I don't think so.

Just got mad at this bastard and openly aggressively stabbed the horse and took care of it.

I just said what I thought.

"I don't think so."

“… … !”

“I know you just want to get over it, but I’m saying this because it won’t last long if only you don’t express your opinion and put up with it.”

I held back a sigh.

“So I apologize for planning a solo concert without saying anything even though the team situation is not good… .”

“Because it’s not like that.”

Big Sejin gritted it. And in the end, I couldn’t stand it and was straight.

“Park Moon-dae, do you know what kind of sociopath I am?”

“… … !”

“Do you think I’m pissed off about your solo concert? Trouble with the team?”

“… … .”

… … isn’t it?

Sejin took a few deep breaths as if to let go of his anger, then cleared his throat.

“I don’t think I was worried that the guy who was in a coma until now would overdo it… Haven’t you tried it?”

“… I thought there must be a reason for that.”

“I thought about it, but more than that, I thought I was annoyed because I was worried that the team would have problems. no?”

“… … .”

It’s the first time I’ve heard this guy speak so directly.

Big Sejin is talking almost as if he has gained momentum.

“You are like that every time. It’s like that whenever there’s an injury or controversy. It’s true that I risked my life for this. yes i want to do well But me too… You worry about your friends.”

“… … .”

“Aren’t we friends? you… … . I honestly don’t know. I really thought it would be nice if you just woke up because it’s okay if I can’t promote with you.”

“… … !”

“I did, but you barely woke up, and then you said nonsense again… . Right before I didn’t… .”

Big Sejin stopped his mouth as if his throat was choking. It was only after I listened to his words in silence that I realized why this guy did that.

This guy is just scared.

A close friend almost died, but I even got into a fight, so I was just trying to be careful.

‘You made a mistake… I was taking it ridiculously seriously.’

And I thought I was close to Park Moon-dae.

“… … .”

I suddenly realized

Sejin Lee is still in his early 20s. It’s the age that usually goes to college in the middle of the day.

Since I usually have a good backup, I unconsciously judged more strictly than the others. As if they were real co-workers my age.

I kept trying to analyze this guy's behavior only with his career and gains.

'This… My mistake is correct.'

Wasn't that a bit harsh?

I hesitated for a moment, then nodded.

and said seriously.

"okay. You were trying to be considerate, but I took it too crookedly because I was worried. sorry."

"… no."

"No. and… you are my friend I never thought no."

"… … !"

I recalled the status window and all the unanswered questions.

"I just… I just couldn't afford it, so I was in a hurry to get results right away."

"… … ."

"sorry. This isn't about a solo concert, it just means that I'm sorry for making you feel sad."

Big Sejin nodded his head without saying anything. However, I could see water dripping from the duvet on the bed.

Still, the air got cooler.

"… … after."

I lay down on Bae Se-jin's bed. The owner of the bed would be horrified to see it.

And I thought.

‘There are no cartoons… .’

It’s not some kind of adventure comic, but I thought I’d prove my friend while messing around with this guy. It is something to live for a very long time.

It was a strange thing. Still, it wasn’t meaningless.

“… … .”

It was a bit embarrassing, but we were silent for a while in the more comfortable room air.

and after a while As if he had finally calmed down, Keun Se-jin deliberately took his luck again with a cheerful voice.

“Ah~ I’m really embarrassed now.”

“I’m more embarrassed to do this in someone else’s room.”

“Hey, it’s okay. I cried alone!”

Big Sejin smiled. It’s a condition where there is no shortage of horns on the butt.

“But it’s Mundaemundae.”

“why.”

“… Why can’t you afford it?”

“… … .”

“It’s not something I’m going to say, but the time for us to worry about our performance is over. Wouldn’t it be okay to go a little slower? … You will still be with this group in 5 years.”

“… I want to.”

It was easy to admit now.

Still, at the same time, I thought about reality.

“But I don’t know what will happen. I don’t know if I can do what I want to do now. in the world… There are too many variables.”

“… … .”

“So I’m trying to do everything I can now so that I can do it in five years.”

… It excluded the details that were covered with unrealistic elements, but it was a neat truth.

Suddenly, a loud sigh and an empty laugh could be heard.

… Laughter?

“Is Moondaemundae really the NIS?”

“… … ??”

“No, these words are too agent-like~”

Why are you biting on rice cakes that have suddenly dried up?

When I looked at him with a ridiculous face, Sejin giggled.

“Did you know that sometimes you talk about the old days in very specific detail when you say you have amnesia?”

“… … !”

“But it’s strangely out of date?”

“… !!”

… Come to think of it, for the past two and a half years, there have been no people asking about the past of ‘Park Moon-dae’, so I forgot about it.

So this… It seems that sometimes I get caught off guard and speak in the ‘Ryu Gun-woo’ bass.

cold sweat flows

‘X feet.’

However, Sejin did not ask further. Instead, he lay down on his own bed.

“Ugh~ Well, each one has a secret and that’s it.”

“… … .”

“still… tell me if you like Sejin’s mouth is so heavy? Opportunities to make friends like this are rare~”

I looked at the guy lying on the other side of the bed.

With his personality, he wouldn’t even think of doing a status window or restart. At best, they’re faking their true age.

‘still… .’

Still, somehow it makes me feel more at ease.

I chuckled.

“okay.”

“… … !”

“I’ll do it when I can.”

After the status quo is over, maybe there will come a day when we can drink and talk for 2 nights and 3 days.

… And that might work.

I added like a joke.

“… wait until then please cooperate with us later.”

“… … .”

Keun Se-jin was silent for a moment, as if he had a complex and subtle thought.

And he answered slowly.

“NIS work?”

“hey.”

“haha! Okay~”

It was like laughing and joking around, but I can understand that I wanted to finish well without making the atmosphere awkward.

“Ah, it’s already 12 o’clock at Mundaemun University~ I have to go to bed early to practice tomorrow!”

“OK.”

Shaking my head, I got up to turn off the light.

“Oh~ Are you taking the lead by turning off the lights? Daily roommates are cool~”

“Let’s go to sleep.”

“yes.”

The lights were turned off in the roommate’s room with the same name.

And I had a quiet bedtime without saying anything else, but from the next day I knew that I would go back to feeling not awkward with this guy.

The only side effect was that Bae Se-jin returned to the living room with a very lonely face.

… I'll have to consider changing it up from time to time.

"The clothes are out~"

"Ouch."

"Would this be okay… ?"

"Considering my experience so far, I'm sure you'll like it!"

"That's right~"

Anyway, the preparations for the concert went smoothly without any problems, and soon the time of transmission on the day was right around the corner.

* * *

The day when Moondae Park host Testa guest's talk concert 〈As the Heart Goes〉 is aired.

The graduate student did not go to the lab for a long time and sat in front of the desktop at home.

It was an endorphin time that came after a long time to her, who was suffering from the sophistry that 'there are Dr. Cheok Cheok, but there is no Master Cheok Cheok' and was contemplating on her career path.

"ah… i love it."

After a long time, it felt like meeting Moondae comfortably.

Looking at Park Moon-dae, who recovered after the last 18 days of hell, life was a bit difficult because I was so emotional, but now it seemed to be okay.

I was just excited.

‘Since it’s a talk concert, I don’t think I’m overdoing it!’

Most of all, I liked the atmosphere where everyone was excited while looking forward to it!

‘Mundae must be expecting a lot, right?’

The graduate student smiled and exchanged a few heart-stopping chats with her hometown friend before logging into the platform where the concert was being played.

‘Because you have to sign up to post real-time comments!’

A little strange to her… It was a less popular platform, but the composition was user-friendly and it seemed to do a lot of good things, so there was no objection to joining.

No, even if there is reluctance, I really wanted to leave a comment on this concert.

‘I may not be able to see it, but I still want to cheer… !’

I’m really glad that Mundae has recovered, and I wanted to say thank you so much for coming back healthy.

‘Wow, I’m a fan too!’

The graduate student waited for the concert to begin, shaking his head when his homemate friend heard it, putting his hand on the keyboard.

Shortly thereafter, a rainbow line appeared on the black screen and the countdown began.

-3333

-I love you

,

Testa

.

-Ahhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhook hooked the comments in no time, and soon the screen was turned on with a somewhat exciting classic accompaniment.

A performance hall with 7 chairs.

It was the same scene as the poster.

In other words, there was no testa yet.

-Ohh

-Where is the testa

? -Before it appeared?

‘Are you appearing now? Maybe from the door? Is Moondae the host?’

It was the moment when the graduate student was excitedly kneeling and looking into the screen.

Suddenly a voice was heard.

[Welcome to the audience participation type talk concert.]

“… … !”

It was Park Moon-dae.

-From door to door.

-Is only your voice coming out?

-Where

will it appear?

It was a time when a graduate student was quickly posting ‘Mundae is the best!’ in the comments.

[Before the performance begins, your choice is required for smooth progress.]

A phrase appeared on the electronic display board at the back of the performance hall.

[Testa said]

1. Cool

2. Cute

“… ??”

The graduate student’s eyes turned into peas and looked at the screen.

‘this… what?’

The real-time comment window is also filled with question marks and laughter.

I could still hear the peaceful voice of Moondae Park.

[If you post the number as a real-time comment in combination with the # button on the keyboard, the number you selected will be counted on the display board.] [Please choose < as you like >.]

Listening to the story, some people quickly wrote the corresponding combination in the comment window. I looked.

-#1

-#2

The moment it goes up as a comment.

Numbers started to run next to the phrase on the electric signboard in the actual screen.

[Testa]

1. Cool (25)

2. Cute (31)

It was a definite reflection.

-omg!

-Hey, I used this for a concert.

That’s how the 21st century non-face-to-face talk concert began.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 241

If you can't debut, you'll get sick to death. Episode 241, the number of real-time comments has increased tremendously.

-It's a concert, so let's go

-#1

-#2#2#2 Please,

it's cute.

– Ha ha ha ha ha It's really funny haha

People who try different numbers as a test, people who sincerely push one option, and most people who choose one for fun.

Various stories were quickly updated so that the comment section exploded.

And the count on the electronic signboard went up quickly.

[Testa is]

1. Cool (2017)

2. Cute (1992)

Park Moon-dae's muttering, which hadn't even appeared yet, was heard again.

[hmm… It's very thin. Thank you for your quick support.]

[The time limit is 3 minutes. from now on… 120 seconds left.]

Perhaps he hadn't expected the count to go up so passionately, there was a hint of embarrassment in Moondae Park's calm voice.

'Ah, so cute!'

The graduate student pounded the keyboard with both hands and quickly raised the count himself.

-#1 Testa is the best!

'Didn't Mundae want to do something cool at the concert?'

The graduate students were happy with their choice. It happened that there were slightly more people who took #1!

Unfortunately for her, however, there was a bit of fiction mixed in.

This is because many of the people who tried it out chose option 1.

In addition, those who waited after signing up before the concert started and connected immediately… Quite a few were very passionate fans.

And the more deceased, the more often they made choices that were slightly separated from the general public.

– Hit

2 right

now

.

The cute stage can only be seen intermittently on concert surprise stages or SNS, so I couldn't miss this opportunity.

'Official cute stage!!'

Fans pushed number 2 like crazy and the result.

[Testa is]

1. Cool (10286)

2. Cute (15601)

Reached an overwhelming victory.

– Ha ha ha ha ha ha

– I feel sorry for those of you who don’t know how cool Testa is!

-
Aaaa

“and.”

What appeared… It was a new stage.

The stage of the concert hall that Testa rented was not one.

And this new stage… It was like a high-quality kindergarten performance stage.

‘panel?’

Trees, tile-roofed houses by the sea, and stage props depicting the sun were gathered together to decorate the stage.

On the bright stage that seems like a children’s fairy tale.

[I am… I like having fun and sleeping!]

I heard Cha Yoo-jin’s Korean narration, which is much more lively than the original.

Then, Testa poured out while sparkling helium balloons burst onto the stage.

The shouts of children were inserted.

[Wow!] All

the testas who ran out were dressed like they would be suitable for a children’s traditional fairy tale play.

Coordination such as woodcutter, scholar, tiger, magpie and goblin was slightly exaggerated theatrically and finished cutely.

Truly a children’s stage.

However, Testa didn’t care and started the performance steadfastly.

It was their intense title ‘Spring out’, which had a Joseon steampunk concept.

-Enjoy today’s permeating senses,

look at this moment,

have a premonition,

spring out

without notice .

In a different sense, it was an intense opening.

– Ha ha ha ha ha, are these guys serious?

-Testa pojjak pojjak pojjak pojjak ㅠㅠㅠ

-Really the best, cuteness, best choice

-hahahahaha In the meantime, he’s good at it

.

However, some fans got a little nostalgic.

-It reminds me of an impromptu stage at a concert…

-You’re trying to make me feel similar just because my kids’ tour was cancelled. I’m really crying. -The kids are cute

, but I’m alone .

And similar things were repeated on social media and communities, and they were enjoying the effect of advertising.

-What are you all talking about

? -Testa is playing?

-Come see the free concert, guys laugh at it. Full-blown comment participatory concert are you talking about?

. -What

In the meantime, Testa was performing well on stage.

Not pretending to be overly cute and being a little embarrassing was included in the fun.

-Hey, I really live Testa hard haha

-You're really serious about donations Guys -I'll pick number 1 ㅠㅠ (It's a joke

And after seeing such an irregular stage, people wondered what the other options would have been.

-Then cool?? What was the coolest thing on earth ㅠㅠㅠ

– Any other options?

– I think it will come out with the next stage or something like that.

With a little bit of anticipation, people waited for a 'classic' cool stage to follow.

But there was no point.

[The crossroads If you choose one side, you cannot go to the other.]

[So, the one who is not chosen is something that never happened!]

After the performance,

Lee Se-jin grinned, raised her index finger, and made an X to the camera. I brought it in.

And the members laughed as if it was ridiculous, but they couldn't laugh at the comments.

– ??

-Really? -Hey

, I heard

there's no such thing?

It goes on. The next option goes!]

The people who commented on the members' lively voices gradually realized the situation

.

Will you let it go?? Right?

Everyone tried to think rationally, saying 'there's no way I'll just throw away what I prepared', but anyway, what I saw in front of me was a testa who was clearly performing the choice and moving on. Either way, it ended! Thanks to you, I voted more

and more started overheating.

[This winter]

1. Going to the snowy winter sea

2. Drinking warm cocoa at home

The voting electronic board stage is back.

Now, the comments are actively persuading opponents.

-Oh, no matter cocoa. ㅋㅋㅋ It’s over the line

– Let’s do the winter sea, the stage seems to be crazy

– Should I watch the boring telecommuting at the concert

? Of course, go to the sea. [Oh~ Such a result!]

[That’s a great choice.]

And

the scene changes

. Beodeul sang while sitting on the floor in a silver gray stage that swayed dreamily.

It was ‘Picnic’ with more delicate notes and arranged to fit the vocal performance.

-It has nothing to do with the weather forecast.

It’s the day I want to meet you. If you walk lightly,

today is a blue sky.

It was a cool and beautiful a cappella.

Taking advantage of the advantages of a non-face-to-face concert, softly rippling silvery blue waves soaked the screen with a beautiful song.

At the climax, the stage ended lingeringly with dramatic chords led by Moondae Park.

-it was good…

-Ahhhhhhh it was a good choice

-Testa has a lot of good songs.

Each time a fun or impressive stage was built up, people praised themselves for their choice or wondered about other options, and became more immersed in the concert.

Even people who were just watching illegal transmissions on WeTube because they were bothered by unpopular platforms were interested in voting and inflowed.

-Choose the 2nd choreography video, MV cringe #2

-If you choose a puppy, it's Mundaeng. If you choose a cat, Chagoyoung is the center

.

-No jam

– Wow, this time, it was really hard lol

There were people who wanted to play buntang, but it was actually meaningless.

Comments weren't visible to Testa anyway, and had nothing to do with anything other than adding a number to one of the options.

However, the real-time reflection and selection were stimulating, so it was just very fun.

People chose various options such as ‘Dog VS Cat’, ‘Hotteok VS Yakgwa’ and ‘Magic VS Baseball’.

Some options seemed to openly push the side connected to Testa, and I wondered what other options had to do with the alternative stage.

However, no matter what they chose, their doubts were dispelled when they saw the stage, and laughter or admiration came out. -It was about choosing a cover song

, soft and sweet, cat cat hahahahaha -Baseball high-five.

=

all.

And Testa didn’t forget the interim commercials either.

[Give Somang, who has never left the hospital room, the gift of tomorrow to fulfill his dreams.]

Through cooperation with the Child Welfare Foundation, hopeful donation request talks were entered in between.

It was to remind people that this was a donation concert, and it was quite effective.

Since the timing of receiving donations is set, the donations exploded all at once.

And the firecracker effect that floats every time it explodes constantly covers the comment window and encourages participation, so even people who wouldn’t normally donate.

-It’s cool

-Hey, we’re cultured

-Saturday’s leisure life~ Big

It was when people were completely used to this system and flow.

[this time… The drill options are for special stages.]

[Thank you very much… !]

The phrase on the billboard that came to mind after Seon Ah-hyun’s soft voice was completely unexpected by the audience.

[My guess is the special stage]

1. VTIC covered by Testa

2. Testa covered by VTIC

All of a sudden, other groups in the first group appeared.

-???

-What is it

? -Hey, is it real?

-Why is Vtick here

? But soon people figured out the situation.

-ㅋㅋㅋㅋ If you choose number 2, Testa will pretend to be

V-tic. It’s funny lol

-Do you think Testa would come out and apologize to the public? Didn’t they ask me to take the number 1 instead of taking the number 2?

Since most of Testa's fans are watching it, of course, I expected it to be number 1.

The problem was that as the board grew, so did the pool of spectators.

There was no way the audience, who had already enjoyed the choice format, would miss this funny prey.

-Hey, let's go number 2

-I wonder what we're going to do hahahahaha

-I'm sure he'll be very shy? hahahaha #2

-#2 The answer is number 2~~

Besides, fans who want to make fun of Testa also joined in and the trend shifted to number 2.

Of course, some fans were restless at the fighting feeling.

'If I do this wrong, I'll be criticized for using VTIC… ?'

'Oh, this is breathtaking… .'

But only 3 minutes.

The conclusion came out without even having time to overturn public opinion.

Testada covered by VTIC (71432)

2 wins.

-Hahahahahahahahahahaha -Now

, what about Testa~~

-Wow, he really came out twice hahaha

-Look forward to it, guys,

when those mischievous expectations rise to the maximum.

[ah… This is how it turned out.]

[I see.]

The narration came out of the conversation.

But it wasn’t a voice I had heard before.

-? -Do

you regret Testa

?

‘this… .’

The voice wasn’t Testa’s.

and after a while

Instead of changing the stage illuminated by the screen, an electronic display board suddenly opened.

“… !!”

Then, from the black backstage, 4 figures walked out of the dry ice.

– Huh

– Hey wait

– No way

‘no way’ was correct.

In fact, VTIC made a cameo appearance at the Testa concert.

-The

audience reacted wildly to this crazy, unexpected dramatic development.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 242

If you can’t debut, you’ll get a fatal disease Episode 242

A few hours ago. Behind the stage set for Testa’s non-face-to-face donation concert.

“Do you need water?”

“it’s okay.”

Cheongryeo was used to backstage.

From a modest local festival at the time when ‘things didn’t go well’ to a stadium filled entirely with VTIC staff.

He repeatedly experienced all stages of the industry, and the familiarity was building up a deep layer inside him.

That’s why the members of VTIC were also used to the calmness of the leader.

He seemed to be born to do this invisible job under any circumstances.

So, after their debut, they quickly became calm as if contagious.

“Wow, this seems to be shaking secretly.”

“Iknow, right. I guess this is the burden on the guest.”

“that’s right. Originally, you should do better at someone else’s banquet!”

VTIC chatted eloquently in front of their WeTube upload camera and waited for Cheongrye to come in at the right time as usual.

It was an appropriate decision.

“It’s a meaningful project, so I hope it will be of help to Testa’s juniors.”

“That’s right~ Thank you for inviting me to a good place, Junior Testa!”

The members smiled and waved their hands at the camera, and Cheong-rye thought with a smile.

‘No, it’s a loss.’

Seriously, do you say such nonsensical things?

It was unavoidable because the members were selected only by considering the accident rate and stage quality, but no one was quick to notice.

If this is the case, it is common to end up filling other people’s stomachs.

‘If I do well, I’ll be retired if I don’t.’

All of the guests at the concert of the juniors who are pure blue, as well as the seniors in the same industry who sing songs for the juniors.

Of course, I couldn’t blame only the members.

‘I can’t help it because the trap looks so good.’

Cheong Ryeo recalled the conversation at the time of visiting Park Moon-dae in the hospital when this appearance was made.

Moondae Park’s first proposal for a donation concert.

-How about co-hosting?

-well.

At this time, VTIC's schedule was on the verge of turning murderous.

It was because they were preparing for a complete comeback.

After the great success of Chung Ryeo's solo album, VTIC's range of motion was greatly freed.

It means that the attitude of the board of directors, who were hesitant about releasing domestic albums, worried about the VTIC decline becoming visible, has disappeared.

Thanks to this, the preparation of the album gained momentum without the need for Cheongryeo to make any adjustments.

And, like all idols who were in the position of VTIC, they were scheduled to go abroad after appearing on a domestic music show for a week.

But rehearsing for the stadium tour and preparing for a new concert at the same time?

'It's impossible.'

There will be no time to sleep. Even now, Cheongryeo's sleep time has decreased just by visiting Park Moondae's hospital room.

It was like this during the preparation period, but there was nothing to say after the comeback. It was a future determined enough to be embarrassing to even call it a prediction.

Cheong-rye told the truth.

– Since you are active, you won't have time.

Park Moon-dae was not too embarrassed.

-Then, as a guest?

-hmm.

-If you see a bud that will do well anyway, you'll want to take a step on the platform.

Moondae Park's explanation was clear.

The format of this donation concert will be exclusively contracted with LeTi's platform.

Then, as a gesture of friendship and publicity, LeTi brings Cheong-ryeo, who just happens to be friends with Park Moon-dae, into the show.

-So, just do a random stage and put a spoon on it.

Chung-rye knew it at that moment.

'You already know?'

Knowing that joint planning was impossible due to VTIC's current schedule, Park Moon-dae led the discussion with this structure.

Cheong-ryeo narrowed her eyes.

'Use me as a guest… la.'

And the words that I want to do one on any stage.

At first glance, it seems that he was considerate of the senior's busy schedule, but in fact, it means that you can come without tea and bags.

While Testa performs a special stage for a concert that she trained separately, Chung-ryeo performs a general performance alone.

It was a matter of weight class.

If you do, the reputation of Cheongryeo will be damaged.

It may not be as good as Moondae Park appearing as a guest on VTIC's tour, but it was a risky act.

-how is it.

However, unilateral refusal is also a dangerous situation.

he didn't forget

'Recording.'

A recording of the conversation at the time of the abduction will be in Park Moon-dae's cloud.

The main vocal has already decorated the social side once. The moment this explodes, it is safe to say that VTIC's career is over.

However, Cheongryeo judged that there was little possibility of releasing the recording of Park Mundae.

'It's going to be a mud fight.'

Park Moon-dae will also have a big hindrance to his activities. So, it is a hand that can never be used when the mission is left.

but… Park Mun-dae's survival is at stake right now, so he can threaten Cheong-ryeo by mentioning the recording as a bluff.

And at that moment, this friendly relationship was catastrophic.

Cheongryeo didn't want that either.

So after quick judgment, I smiled.

-great. guest appearance.

-then… .

-Ah, VTIC is about to go out.

-… … !

– Are you okay? I think there will be more viewers.

It was crazy.

If Chung-ryeo appeared alone, she could end up with the least damage with the image of a ‘guest invited thanks to friendship’ even in the event of an emergency.

Perhaps Park Moon-dae also thought only that much of the worst case that would go back to Cheong-ryeo.

However, Chung-ryo did not intend to unilaterally remove her flesh.

-… … .

Park Moon-dae was silent for a moment, but then nodded calmly.

-okay.

-yes. then by doing that

So, it was kind of a win-win.

VTIC comes out, there is a risk of being hit much harder than Cheongrye alone.

But at the same time, the gains are greater. Because the two groups are directly compared.

And since Cheong-Ryeo knew VTIC’s stage quality, she clearly judged the odds.

‘More than 70%.’

And I made the plate bigger.

– I think it would be fun to change songs with each other.

Wouldn’t it be sure to fill the number of people at Bakmundae?

“… … .”

After reminiscing, Cheong-ryeo smiled.

In the end, it was the plate he put his hand on.

It would be natural for the members to go over with the thought that ‘the purpose is good and it looks fun’. Because he chose the members like that. with things that are easy to handle.

However, their strength was entirely in their main job.

Cheong-Ryeo recalls the condition of Park Moon-Dae.

‘400,000 people.’

Do you know what the daily attendance figure was for their online concert last year?

It was 610,000.

It is only a master counted for a fee on this platform.

So, as long as VTIC’s participation in the group has been decided, there is no problem with Moondae Park’s survival.

‘I’ll have to bear with the leakage of Testa’s fandom.’

Isn’t that what you did yourself?

He couldn’t take responsibility for Park Moon-dae’s regrets.

‘Well, should I let Kongi meet?’

Cheong-rye thought about how to comfort her briefly, thinking about her dog.

“let’s go.”

“Vtic wins today too! Ah, Victorious~”

The cheery cheering slogan given by the director at the time of their debut came out like a joke from the member.

Even after so many restarts, that one thing didn’t change. Maybe it’s because he didn’t bother to change.

Because he always wanted to win.

“10 seconds to end the VCR!”

Cheong-ryeo felt a strange tingle creep up her back as she watched the stage structure open in front of her eyes.

It’s been such a long time, so it was unfamiliar.

The sense of taking risks and running toward uncertain results.

It was a challenge.

[Ah.]

A short test sound heard through the in-ear.

And the stage began.

* * *

The moment when VTIC walked onto the stage and formed a leisurely formation.

Comments were filled with all sorts of question marks and exclamation marks and were replaced without reading.

It’s not just the comments here.

-Hey V-tic

-Real V

-tic me out -Tikas uhhhhhh

-Crazy

social media and other real-time appreciation, frightened people access the Testa concert one after another.

And the platform's timely pop-up notifications sent to VTIC subscribers caused hundreds of thousands of people to click in bewilderment.

[VTIC has appeared!]

In front of the pop-up notification, there was a logo of VTIC made with emoticons.

And in that moment of confusion, VTIC took the stage.

Weeing- Weeing- Weeing!

Along with sirens, low drums begin to sound like formal applause.

Rough, fast, intense percussion and brass instruments that build tension.

And the symbolic riff melody that falls.

-going

-sf coming?

It was Testa's representative song procession.

However, the elegant oriental feel of the parade has disappeared without a trace.

Instead, technical electronic sounds and an orchestra sprint over an intense trap beat.

And VTIC, wearing a black harness and gloves over a tight-fitting suit, interpreted the choreography of the parade in a faster and more modern way.

– You are going. today-.

Even if you struggle,

you will not be able to avoid it. you are going

And the raps are slower and more grooved, deftly underpinning the performance.

There is no place for choreography that embodies a huge beast. Instead, it is covered with an angular group dance with an authoritative feeling like a commando with a formation.

Like capturing a beast.

Then there's the salute-like gesture that follows and the soaring bass.

-You've just appeared. Warning and warning. Slow and thrilling approach.

Me, me, me.

-Take off

. It pours like a run and encourages aggression. and chorus.

-The day that finally came, come!

Oh Oh Oh… … .

The accompaniment was suddenly dropped at a different moment from the original song.

-Never get away from me Yeah

Lazy wave choreography full of intimidation. And again, in front of the dancers with flags moving like fast-paced jockeys, VTIC pushed the stage movement to the limit and drove like crazy.

They no longer have a main vocalist.

However, the lack of vocals was pushed back by rap and performance.

Absent and naked, so that the viewers hold their breath and be overwhelmed.

– and

the comment window suddenly slowed down. The state of extreme concentration makes you forget the act equivalent to applause.

VTIC went wild in the red and blue lasers and the lower and grander riff melody.

And the introduction of verse 2 is omitted along with the performance. The accompaniment jumped right into the part where the bridge of the parade should go.

The members pause and turn around to form a formation.

But instead of the promised melody, a familiar rap chorus comes in.

-Sangun

Their claws are hella sharp

Readily tear you apart

No

you can’t.

And an iconic choreography using hands and waist.

-??

-Sangoon-

and

one of their signature songs here. It is < Sangun >.

Melody and bass are intertwined according to the context, and the mountain group gradually grows.

With the addition of the song's most iconic traditional wind instrument reference.

-Make me a Boss

That's right,

VTIC weaved two songs with the keyword 'beast' and pulled the keyword 'traditional style' towards them.

As if to show who did it first.

As if he completely rearranged 〈Arrows〉 and made it out of its imitation.

And the attempt was very plausible.

-X I'm cool

. -Sangun! Sangun! Sangun!

-Look at the grandeur of the Daesang song

It is because the public and fans of VTIC, who were excited about the appearance of a large-scale hit, showed enthusiastic reactions to Sangun eating up the procession and dominating the second half.

The stage had all the persuasive power at the funny moment.

-Sangun

Their claws are hella sharp

Let me prove it

explosive final dance break.

And the stage ended with VTIC forming a four-man formation between huge flags.

However, the comments were endlessly sentimental.

-Ripped

-Crazy as expected

V

-tic -Why

are the kids here?

Then, the staff sat down on a chair and even talked about a few words.

[Thank you for choosing a good option, everyone!]

[It was really fun~]

Even if I picked number 1, it was going to come out anyway, but they savvyly applauded and praised the intention of planning the concert.

Of course, I didn’t forget the jokes either.

[Oh come to think of it! We are also having a concert~]

[If you are interested, please come and see it! Haha!]

People howled in the comments.

-Guys, I don't have tickets…

-This is too deceitful

. -I can see why you became close with Testa.

And some fans with votes also cried under the water.

-ㅠㅠㅠ Crazy guys, if you're going to do something like this, give me a notice 1000 years, 1000 years, Muggles ㅠㅠ

-I bought a resale ticket. Fuck me for buying something like this – Hahahahaha, but it's a bit cool, I think the cool guys are going haha Of course, Tika who missed the real-time will be pissed off, but I watched the real-time ^^ The atmosphere was completely over.

.

I couldn't find anything that disparaged VTIC right away, except for something like 'This is an evil dance to beat juniors.'

It meant that Antido could not bring this stage down without mental victory.

And Park Moon-dae was watching all of this from backstage.

* * *

If it was a real performance, there would have been a lot of screaming.

I put the water bottle in my mouth.

Scary baby.

‘It’s like calling a real tiger.’

Of course, I plan to peel off the skin well and dry it.

‘I can’t let the flow pass like this.’

Testa’s next stage was just around the corner.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 243

episode 243 of the monitoring equipment, VTIC on stage continued to speak fluently without becoming awkward.

[Actually, the longer we've been active, the less and less we have to cover fellow idols' songs.] [

That's right~ We can fill all our concerts with our songs!]

[That's really cool. Still, it was really fun while preparing for the cover stage after a long time.]

Even if you don't watch it, there will be a lot of comments like 'That's why you can wear X even if you take off your rank badge and stick together, but it must have been unfair haha'.

I tried to cross my arms, but I held back. This is to avoid interfering with the staff adjusting my mic position.

Those two guys can't use their strength in professional entertainment, but they know how to talk quite plausibly among themselves.

"Sat Talk… You are doing well."

"I've been doing it for over 8 years, but of course I should."

"Isn't it?"

To Seon Ah-hyun's admiration, Bae Se-jin answered unevenly. It seems that Cheongryeo is not very happy that she came here.

what was expected Even when I first said it, I was shocked.

-Why is that crazy guy holding an event like this… !!

-Because the platform belongs to the agency. I guess it's hard to refuse.

– Ugh… !

-so… I think it would be better to just sing the whole group, how about it?

-… okay. It's better than that.

After that, a long discussion was substituted with 'Should we do this concert on that platform in the first place', but Bae Se-jin eventually lost in a majority vote.

By the way, the other guy who knows that Cheong-Ryeo is the bastard who got into a dog fight with me while on vacation… Well, I was in the state of a reaction robot that only shouted yes.

-… okay? Okay~ I have to work hard.

At that time, Sejin's reaction ended with this.

The problem is that now he's making a pretty disrespectful gesture… Hey, don't pretend to fan yourself and behead yourself.

Looking at it this way, it seems that everyone is nervous and wary, but of course there are guys who are just excited.

For example, Rabin Kim.

"It was quite an adventurous yet sophisticated arrangement. Next time, we think it will be fun if we arrange the seniors' < Sangun > in a more modern way. How about it!"

"… … ."

That's not it.

‘If you go that far, it becomes a real fight… .’

‘Do you dare to write rows like this? I will do the same for Sangun’.

Right now, in the name of a donation concert, I think I’ll go over to a warm atmosphere on the water, but if I go that far, there really is no answer.

It’s not a contest program, but what kind of diss match is this?

Fortunately, before I could open my mouth, Chungwoo Ryu gently cut Raebin Kim’s words first.

“Let’s do it if we have a chance.”

“yes!”

It’s a face that doesn’t even guess that that opportunity won’t come forever.

“… … .”

but what… Are you happy with even one?

no, there’s one more guy.

“We use flags too!! The flag is cool!!”

Cha Yoo-jin is in the mood to make a new song. Bae Se-jin asks him with a confused face.

“… Aren’t you nervous?”

“Why?”

“that… Because the people before me did well.”

“are you okay. I’m good! Well we’re good!”

“… … !”

Bae Se-jin suddenly has a sense of tragedy on his face.

“That’s right!”

“that’s right!”

Yes, put a spirit in it.

I nodded and spoke.

“Let’s work hard.”

“Ughhh!”

“Yes, Mr. Moondae, who strongly insisted on this concert~”

“Mr. Moondae, who hired a choreographer the day after he was discharged.”

“… … .”

Until Ryu Cheng-wu?

I must do the stage right. The moment I perish, these guys will hang me upside down and pour red ginseng into my mouth.

Of course, I have no intention of ruining it.

‘Let’s just do what we prepared.’

I laughed and got up from my seat following them.

Soon it will be Testa’s turn again.

* * *

“Wow!!”

The graduate student sitting in front of the computer was admiring the VTIC stage he had just seen.

Because there was no disagreement that it was a really cool stage!

‘Umm, but the original stage is better, but… I can’t help it! Because it’s the original song of Testa!’

She once again felt proud of Testa, who performed such a masterpiece as a title, and applauded VTIC.

‘Our country’s idols are really cool~’

This was the opinion of someone who hadn’t tasted the abyss of the industry.

Unlike ordinary people who excitedly praised both of them, hardcore fans were holding their heads and talking about whether this could be good.

-The nerdy bastards can’t control their spoons, but they come to the concert of their juniors and make a living. -It would have been enough just with the kids

. Wow blood confirmation

-I need to cut off the internet

There was no big difference on the VTIC side, but there were people who enjoyed it as the embarrassment and anger in the beginning subsided.

Because the stage was so overwhelming.

-It would have been better to send entertainment during this time, but the Victory Gingers won, so it’s okay haha ㄴ

Ha ha ha ha I’ll have to work hard on a sales video

ㄴWhile I want to go to Sangun Yeokju one more time, let’s go and ask for a VTIC version Also , heh heh -Kids, it’s so fun to win 1 win every time a question only they don’t know

. Yes, it’s

tikka for this taste -If you have time to do something like this during the initial period, grab a fan sign. the time it came up.

[Let’s go in VTIC~]

[Please participate a lot!]

VTIC finished the short talk and went in after friendly greetings.

While poking at the electric signboard that came up with a new phrase.

[The next stage]

1. VTIC covered by Testa

2. VTIC covered by Testa..?

It was the same view as before.

However, the original example with “Testada covered by VTIC” disappeared, and a sentence with a mysterious code was filling the place.

-?

-Meme 2

-Why is there a question mark?

Their fans, who had logged on because of VTIC, also put their names on hold for a while after the name was mentioned again.

-Hey, this is number 2 again .

-I

wonder why

there was a

question mark.

2. VTIC covered by Testa..? (179557)

The result was two outright victories.

‘Will this be okay?’

‘I don’t care because I think the VTIC story will continue to come out.’

Testa’s fans were anxious to watch, but they couldn’t say anything wrong to the excited audience, so they quietly waited for Testa’s next stage.

And, as usual, the screen suddenly went black.

The stage change like this was the beginning of a universal stage until now… … .

This time, instead, I heard a sound in the dark.

-Sangun

Their claws are hella sharp

Readily tear you apart

“… … !”

VTIC performed just before… This is the song of the Sangun.

-Does Testa also live?

-Crazy

no way

.

pod.

Shining is… It was a table on one side of the dark stage. The camera sneaked a close-up of it.

On the table was a red retro radio with an antenna.

Circumstantially, it was as if the singing voice was heard on the radio.

But suddenly, a stout hand climbed onto the table and pressed a button on the radio.

-No you can't… … .

The song died out with a crackling noise.

And the head of the owner of the hand popped up on the table.

It was Cha Yoo-jin with a mischievous face.

[hum hum hum~]

With an excited expression, Cha Yoo-jin hummed along Sangoon's melody and even shook her shoulders in rhythm.

It was the excitement of the fans who could see it.

However, the moment even the audience was relaxed, Cha Yu-jin suddenly stopped humming, grabbed the table without warning, and then somersaulted back!

BBA-BAM!

A cheerful brass sound exploded.

In line with the brass sound, the stage lights around Cha Yoo-jin brightened as if they were going to burst, and the surroundings sparkled brightly.

And on the stage unfolding in the eyes of the audience… It was a teenage party hall full of gold, purple and red balloons and LED lights.

At each sofa and bar table, members of Testa stop with drinks or sit down.

A short silence without movement as if the tape had stopped and… .

BBABAM BAM BBA-BAAAM!

A chord full of splendid technique enters the brass.

And, as if permeating Cha Yu-jin, Ryu Cheong-woo and Lee Se-jin in jeans run and form a formation.

The moment they started choreographing around a column cluttered with stickers and banners, a fast-beat electro swing accompaniment burst out!

[Hey partner, I wonder if you’re thinking of me,

My Owner,

where our sympathy goes]

These lyrics are sung cheerfully by Cha Yoo-jin with a smile.

It was a song that everyone knew.

-Nassa

-Night sign!!!

-???? this?

Yes.

Testa's selection was "Night Sign", which will remain as VTIC's immortal hit.

The title of a monster album that sold 1.8 million copies in the first week.

And it was also a song that was judged by KO for simultaneous release as soon as Testa debuted.

This song boasted a very difficult stage intensity with an intense instrument and performance that contrasted with the sexy lyrics and languid melody.

However, Testa did not call it 'that'.

-Wow, I didn't notice

-Awesome hahaha

-It was such an exciting song

? It's because Testa raised the tone to the fullest with an accompaniment full of upbeat electric guitar and drum disco-style electronic sounds.

The lyrics sounded like childish flirting. [

It's something I remember again when my hands are intertwined

and twisted

Night after night]

Right from the sofa, from the bar to the table.

Testa moved the formation and naturally passed the center to the member of the next part.

A stage without an actual audience had no facade. So, the performance freely changed its center according to the angle of the camera.

When filming Park Moon-dae, who was lying on the sofa, the camera came down from the ceiling, and the camera entered Sun Ah-hyun, who was sitting at the bar, like a bartender.

Then, the members laughed mischievously and stood on the sofa or bar and joined the choreography with big movements as the center. [

Remember my eyes

until the end of this night.

Like a night sign

drag you into a trap]

The colorful luminous mirror balls sparkled and pollen exploded.

The members showed a choreography full of energy by applying disco movements with large hands and feet in a snappy rhythm.

It was a retro high-teen atmosphere in the early 80s.

-Ah, what a dog!

-So

cute

.

Instead, it chose a direction in which VTIC, which had a full year of service in the industry, could no longer show more effectively than Testa.

It was the heat and freshness of childhood.

[Whoo~

Whoo whoo whoo

Like a night sign]

The members ran around and sang until their cheeks turned red. They dragged the song with a sense of respect neatly and not radically.

In addition, the main vocal part performed by Park Moon-dae aroused a strange feeling.

Now VTIC won’t be able to sing that part like that.

– and treble;

– The real song is excellent

– Of course, the main vocalist is so

. It’s because the overwhelmed head has cooled.

Testa led the stage neatly and excitedly without sacrificing his overflowing energy.

And the difference between No. 2 and No. 1 was only revealed at the end.

The moment when the members dressed in colorful clothes lined up in a finishing formation on the stage that seemed to be ending with an exciting party.

Suddenly the lighting turned black and white.

Awesome profit.

And the members stopped moving with their heads down.

On a black and white stage.

The narration rang.

[Welcome welcome,

this is the sound that calls you]

It was the chorus of their song, Nightmare Concept, < Call >.

gloomy voice.

Behind the party, a huge banner suddenly unraveled and fell, revealing a huge gothic phrase behind it.

[To be continued..?]

Kwagwagwang!!

With the sound of thunder, the members bent their heads and looked at each other.

Like a trailer for a classic American teen horror movie.

and… The stage ended with the lights going out.

[—-.]

Instead, when a peaceful progression set with 7 chairs casually occupied the road screen.

-????

-Hey, if you hang up here

-Okay, I'll vote hahahaha

-Show me your calling!!!!

-You have to shoot donations to show it?? It is natural to call the standard amount

, but after a moment of embarrassment, the comments naturally began to ask for a voting window.

Digesting curiosity to compare into curiosity to look forward to the next stage.

Testa dared to use the VTIC like that and kept the audience's attention on the screen.

It was a successful plan.

* * *

Moments later. Recess time during which advertisements are scheduled.

We quickly changed our clothes without a break and started social life with VTIC.

"and!! I loved it!"

"… thank you."

"Look at the dance, we can't dance like that anymore. Everyone, hurry up and take a joint supplement. Knees are life in this job."

"Wow! There is a product I eat, can you recommend it?"

"… … It's good."

These bastards are… pretend to be friendly

I glanced back at Chung-ryeo, seeing the guys I had only seen once in variety shows giving personal advice.

"… … ."

While talking with Kim Rae-bin, he smiled at this side. Yes, I know which ones were selected.

“Oh, I sent you the product name via text message. Take a look.”

“Um yes.”

I sighed and took out my smartphone.

The two men’s eyes widened.

“Oh~ How do you save our names… .”

[VTIC Senior Shin-oh]

[VTIC Senior Chae-yul]

“Oh… … .”

“You classified it very professionally… .”

what did you expect

After casually reciting thanks for the supplement recommendation, I got out of the swamp of this conversation.

“It’s been a while, brothers~”

“Oh Sejin!”

I won’t deny that it was convenient because he backed me up.

And shortly before VTIC leaves for their schedule.

Instead of saying good-bye to Cheong-ryeo, who was still wearing her stage costume, I heard a question.

No, certainty disguised as a question.

“Did you get what you wanted?”

“… … .”

I brought up the status window.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 244

Fanfare erupted at the translucent pop-up that appeared in episode 244 of a disease that would kill if you couldn’t debut .

[Successful meeting!]

You have succeeded in meeting the audience of ‘400 000 people’!

!Time limit: Satisfied (success)

!Status Abnormality: Eliminate ‘Audience or Death’!

It removed the abnormal condition of having to reach 400,000 audiences with just one free online concert.

It was worth it.

Since the appearance of VTIC, the number of votes has reached almost 300,000.

And I personally saw the count go up on the electronic signboard. It is no different from seeing the audience reaction in real time.

‘I thought this would be recognized.’

What’s more, the platform allows you to watch videos without signing up. Those who tried to pass the time would have watched without signing up.

It is said that there are many non-platform members among VTIC’s overseas fandom, so the actual number of viewings… it would have been awesome

Among them, making 300,000 subscribers who would actively participate in real-time performances would have been breathtaking with Testa alone.

“… … .”

So, the basic plan to bring in VTIC was quite successful.

Although the result came out with a slightly different value than my prediction.

: Check ‘Truth’ ☜Click!

Coin options are gone.

‘I thought it would be the default now.’

It means that the last coin was an irregular option.

‘… Did you predict the accident?’

I have a strange thought.

To be precise, this system dared to figure out the risk that the former manager could commit nonsense and defended it.

‘I think it’s fitting here that the same ‘audience’ status ailment reappeared only because the numerical value was increased.’

Since the value of coin appears in the value that should have only ‘verify the truth’, it seems that the same status abnormality was performed one more time to return to the original place.

At that time, I remembered the abnormal phenomenon of the status window where all sorts of status abnormalities popped out and then disappeared crackling.

‘Something like an error must have occurred.’

To interpret this… The status window means that even if there is an error, it has deviated from the path to give me a coin somehow.

‘But why?’

So far, I have never found a trace of emotion and intelligence in this system.

However, starting with manipulation of the draw probability, this… What is the big trend that can be interpreted as favor?

“… … .”

After a quick thought, I came to a conclusion.

‘Do you want me to clear the abnormal status.’

I wonder if this status window was implemented to somehow survive and clear this crazy situation.

Because the guy who didn’t have a status window, how many times…

“What are you looking at?”

“… !!”

When I raised my head, Cheongryeo was carefully looking into my gaze.

I responded reflexively.

“I thought about it for a while.”

“is it so?”

He replied nonchalantly, then turned his eyes and stared in the empty space where I had briefly looked.

therefore… Where the status window is.

‘X feet.’

I inadvertently returned the popup.

However, there seems to be no way to see it, and he is laughing without much agitation.

It just read my gaze.

‘I glanced at it, did you read it?’

He was a man with an extraordinary sense of humor, as if he had not had the time he had lived many times.

‘… I asked if you got what you wanted.’

I threw away unnecessary tension and gave a standard answer.

“It seems to have worked out well. It is a performance.”

“is it so. Good for you.”

Cheong-Ryeo nodded her head to see if she understood the meaning.

And he held out his hand.

“Today was fun.”

“… … I am.”

You are confident.

I held out my hand and shook his hand. The gloves were cold.

“I hope you will do your best for the rest of the performance as well~”

“Going on.”

The VTIC guys grinned and joined the handshake. He seems to think that his friendship has deepened through this opportunity.

And it seems that some of us feel the same way.

For example, Kim Rae-bin, who discovered the Gearco arrangement program.

“I hope seniors have a comfortable way home… ! Thank you so much for the guidance!”

“Oh, we told you something~”

“I’m going abroad, but thank you. I’ll get in!”

“yes! Thank you~”

“Thank you!”

The ending ended warmly with several handshakes.

Well, it wasn’t a fight, and there’s nothing that won’t end warmly with people in the same industry who don’t know when they’ll see each other again.

If there’s a problem, it’s only between us, and the fandom is another problem.

‘The Internet… It’s going to be a mess.’

Once they both broke even, it was clear. One side cannot win unilaterally.

So, even in the worst case, I hope it ends with the two of them saying that they fought over each other at a charity event.

“I heard there are 4 minutes left to vote on Sejin-ah’s screen.”

“I’ll go!”

Bae Se-jin, who is in charge of guiding the next vote, runs through the hallway. As VTIC, which was like a thorn in the eye, disappeared, the movement became more extreme.

I roughly expected the reaction of the performance, and when I saw it, I just shrugged my shoulders.

‘Let’s do the rest of the stage well.’

The stage where they had to spurt fake blood from their mouths was next. Let’s take care of quality first.

And it soon turned out that this decision was a good one.

* * *

Testa’s donation concert ended with great success.

[Total donation amount for this concert]

[!! ₩252 096 000 !!]

[Thank you for your warm participation and warm affection.]

The real-time participation donation amount exceeded 140 million, and the highest real-time simultaneous access exceeded 1.12 million.

The platform wiped away a cold sweat, saying that the temporary server expansion investment was not in vain.

Public reaction was also very favorable.

-Awesome

-It was a lot of fun, really hahaha -I donated 10,000 won, but I feel really good. I feel like

I did a good job after watching some good performances

. I want to follow you ㅠ

First of all, everyone who saw it was happy, and they liked it even more when they heard that the stages would be uploaded one by one on YouTube.

Selling full video as VOD on the platform was also able to go smoothly without much resistance. Individual stages can be viewed for free.

-Yes, you have to do that to live

. ^^

The purchase rate was good because the fans wanted to see all the interesting points that went into the entire video.

In addition, one more news appeared on social media.

[Testa donates as much as the audience donates! (Photo)]

[All the money raised will be delivered safely under the name of 〈As You Like It〉

.

In the photo, Testa was laughing with a sweaty face as if she had just finished the performance, holding a billboard scrawled with marks in haste.

It was a clean finish that could not be blamed for comments such as “Why are you deducted from the audience’s money?”

No, in fact, the additional donation was a bit excessively ‘good’ act to the extent that it didn’t seem necessary.

But there were reasons for this decision.

It was because the community that was deeply interested in idols was already talking about VTIC and Testa.

At first, it was a compliment to the stage.

Thanks to VTIC's sudden appearance without notice and showing such an overwhelming performance, they almost monopolized popular articles and dominated the Internet.

[Idol cover level of 9th year]

[Idols who properly showed the dignity of Group 1]

[VTIC – Coming]

Nuances of direct comparisons such as 'It's better than Testa's original song' or 'Testa is still better' were reached with numerous comments.

However, after Testa came out, the atmosphere changed slightly.

-Wow, I like Testa

-I like this feeling hahaha

-Both are really good

. under… . This taste ㅠㅠ

While Testa digests VTIC's songs in a fresh way, it removes the nuance of a head-to-head confrontation and makes more use of the feeling of a 'connected set list'.

Thanks to this, the atmosphere that was about to be heated by comparison has subsided a bit, but instead, fans who have hurt feelings for each other and aggro who want to take advantage of it have popped up out of nowhere.

-It's like I'm the only one trying to turn off the V-tick song from Testa's old-fashioned radio, or something like that…

┗Singing along with that song is cheesy not mentioning it lol Anyone can see it was respectful

┗It's an 80's concept, so the clothes the kids are wearing are outdated, what are you talking about ㄴWhy are the fans silenced like this

? -Honestly

, just looking at the scale of the stage, V-tic was bigger, but a little hahahaha I felt uncomfortable because it seemed like they were trying to overcome

it I would have done it ㅠㅠ

ㄴ From now on, I will tell my juniors to refrain from showing off my skills so as not to embarrass them!

ㄴ and the slaughterhouse hahahaha

ㄴPlease stop everything was good, but why are you doing this please.

The atmosphere of wanting to fight the two big fandoms somehow and the atmosphere of trying to dispel it were tightly opposed.

The two fandoms, who were already conscious of each other, couldn't help but find the other extremely annoying while enjoying the stage.

"Oh, that's crazy!!"

Here, too, in the comments of one article, a college student who got into a fight with a VTIC fan was pissed off.

He was a fan of Kim Rae-bin who admitted to putting Park Moon-dae in his second place.

-I couldn't handle it, but only the one who invited me as a guest felt bad

. Anyone can see that the guest side did well;

“Everything is obvious, bastard.”

A fan of Kim Rae-bin gritted his teeth and commented, “Why are Tika chicks so filthy?”

ㄴThe guest is just about to stand out, so I can’t help it

.

‘This has changed the atmosphere a bit.’

In fact, Testa’s recent image was closer to ‘an unfortunate victim’. Being active was also an image that would have comments like ‘great’ rather than ‘cool’.

The story of that accident was much bigger than Testa as an idol.

And that was true of VTIC as well.

The memo from the social side and the poor remaining members or the image of a suspiciously declining group were stuck.

However, the images obtained through all those aspects of society were blown away by this topic.

Instead, both groups became hot with their main job.

Everyone interested in these groups had an opinion about ‘who did better’.

It became hot in the idol sense.

All of these conflicts were similar to those of extremely popular group 1 idols.

‘That’s kind of funny, but… .’

ㄴㅋㅋㅋㅋ Lovers show off too much~

“You bastard!!”

Rabin Kim’s fan immediately canceled his comment and put a comment under it.

‘Was it Tika? The fan mall is still there. I’m not ashamed.’

And I felt it.

‘If one thing goes wrong with this, I’ll do it right.’

Right now, the two fandoms will not be able to annoy each other.

Kim Rae-bin’s fans intuition that he must be frantic to dig up dirty rumors about the other group somewhere.

‘Oh, that must hurt!’

The moment she clicked her tongue.

Delilin!

[Hello, I am Moondae…]

“… !?”

A notification popped up on social media. This is Testa’s account.

“Hey Park Moondae!”

Rabin Kim’s fans abandoned the keyboard battle and immediately clicked the notification.

———==

Hello I’m Moondae (Emoji)

It was a fun concert. I have a lot of great photos, so I’m going to share some of the ones I took.

Thank you to the love viewers and all the audience who watched.

♡

_____==

Photos attached at the bottom of the post… It is VTIC.

“hey!!”

she screamed.

‘It’s like losing! Wait for VTIC to upload first… … .’

And immediately calmed down. This is because Park Moon-dae released the photos of Testa himself in the next post.

“Kim Raebin is handsome.”

She saved the photo of Kim Rae-bin clumsily winking while wearing bandages for the < Calling > stage.

‘Well yes. Rather, VTIC will become more insolent and naive than their juniors.’

She went through the pictures of VTIC with the utmost coolness.

‘Ah, Park Moon-dae is so annoying that they took pictures of them very well!’

In particular, Cheongryeo’s self-portrait seemed to be better than some home horses!

Of course, thanks to that, I was able to avoid giving VTIC’s fans the pod of ‘I think I uploaded a picture that didn’t come out on purpose’.

‘I’ll upload some more self-portraits.’

While grumbling for nothing, she was looking forward to saving the edited photos from the hands of various fans.

And something similar was happening with a lot of fans.

It was no longer an era where the proposition “I like it because my idol likes it” was accepted, but it had the effect of arousing the atmosphere.

This is because the opinions of people shouting ‘Look, don’t stop at a great event, a great stage!’ can be expressed with strength and emotion.

Even reluctant recognition came out from behind the scenes.

-What does

Gommer

know

?

In addition, a notice appeared on the official testa account.

It is the rice cake of this performance. About the ‘abandoned options’.

[Prepared for those of you who are curious about Testa’s other choices.]

[Channel fixed on CVN at 11:00 pm on the last Wednesday of September!]

Details were not revealed, but it was clear that they were also promoting Testa’s new program!

“… You do a good job.”

It’s because the agency was incompetent like X, but it can’t go well like this because they lie flat and let the group do it on their own.

Kim Rae-bin’s personal fan, rarely at a loss for words, alternately looked at rice cakes and pictures taken by Park Moon-dae.

However, the person who planned all of this was not busy monitoring with a comfortable mind as usual.

“Because I have to make a choice.”

“… Yes.”

“Whether it’s a lawsuit or the next activity.”

Instead, he was engaged in a full discussion with the leader about what to do next.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 245

If I can't debut, I'll get sick to death Episode 245

It's been a long time since I've had a conversation with Ryu Chung-woo.

'Is this the first time since waking up?'

no Before waking up, I was keeping my distance thanks to the damn truth-check. I might take a little longer.

'… It looks like I'll have to check the truth again.'

I briefly recalled the pop-up and then erased it from my mind. There is still time.

anyway… After waking up, this guy doesn't seem to be in good spirits, so I deliberately left him alone. In my experience, scratching at times like this makes me angry.

So, it means that I didn't know that Ryu Cheng-wu would prepare a place like this first, as soon as the concert was over.

"Would you like some non-alcohol?"

"… Um yes."

I accepted the non-alcoholic canned beer he gave me.

Click. gulp.

The sound of opening a can and the tingling sensation of swallowing it were refreshing.

“… … You drink well.”

“It’s kind of like that.”

It’s not like I want to drink like crazy, but I can’t say I don’t think about drinking from time to time.

I don’t know if Ryu Cheng-wu was trying to match or out of courtesy, but he himself opened a non-alcoholic beer.

It was not difficult to start the conversation in such a soft atmosphere and get to the point.

“Have you ever considered a lawsuit?”

That’s right, the concert that was held abruptly ended, so it’s time for this topic to come back. I answered honestly.

“I’ve been thinking… Honestly, I think it will be burdensome for more than half a year now. The momentum will collapse.”

“That makes sense too.”

Liu Chengwu quietly drank his beer.

“Now one year and… The value of one year after 10 years will be different.”

Yes.

It is a concern for occupational groups whose uncertain prime ends short when they are young.

-Is this job worth throwing away a year of prime time?

Liu Cheng-wu was originally an athlete, so this value judgment would be more familiar.

The guy smiled bitterly.

“It seems Sejin hasn’t given up yet. What were you looking for a lot? Also see a lawyer.”

“… A lawyer.”

“okay. It’s like consulting via text.”

Practicing to live and die, when did you find the time to do that?

I was stunned, but at the same time, my appetite was a bit bitter.

He must have wanted to prepare for a lawsuit rather than a concert, but he must have been frustrated because he suddenly had a donation concert because his eyes were turned over to live.

It seems that he put up with it a lot because it was the wish of the dead and awakened man.

“… … .”

Liu Chengwu and I just drank beer without saying a word. And I was the first to speak.

“first… Shall I call Sejin hyung?”

“okay.”

After all, the story will proceed only when there is an opinion actively in favor of the lawsuit.

I called Bae Se-jin via message.

[Hyung, Chungwoo hyung, would you like to come to my room? We’re talking]

1 disappeared, and without a reply, a running sound was heard from there, followed by a cautious knocking sound.

“… … .”

He’s a very easy-going guy.

“Come on in.”

“Uh uh uh!”

I opened the door for him, and the composition turned into a three-way meeting.

“We were talking about a lawsuit.”

“… ! That’s right.”

“yes. My brother still wants to sue the company.”

“… yes.”

Bae Se-jin’s face was tense, but the answer was quite calm. There will be no more yelling at me for making my face red… .

“Even though the Human Rights Commission’s recommendation came, the tail was cut and the head of the headquarters didn’t change… ! At this rate, it will be back to normal soon!”

“… … .”

“I’m just waiting for it to calm down!!”

no. I’m already pissed off enough.

what… The company is lowering its body right now and thinking about it, but Bae Se-jin was right. The general manager hasn’t changed either.

However, it is better not to change.

“Even so, I think it would be more comfortable for the general manager to stay.”

“what?? why!”

I said boldly.

“Because I would have been scared.”

“… … ??”

“Maybe nothing will happen and they will notice us. The case has grown so big that I can’t help it.”

In a word, it means that the order has changed.

A singer in the company almost died due to a company mistake, but the moment the singer has a cause to sue, that’s the end.

It must have been broken to death at the head office, but in order to preserve its position, it will have to go through hardships in the future.

I lightly crushed the beer can for recycling.

“So, even if this company feels a bit like crap, it means that we will be very comfortable going forward.”

“Until the rubbish… .”

“Well, I’ll amend it to be immoral.”

“… … .”

Bae Se-jin was silent for a moment. I don’t know if it’s speechless or stunned.

However, he soon answered in a broken voice.

“okay… If everyone thinks so.”

If this is the case, will the composition where Bae Se-jin has to give up after being pushed out of the majority vote repeats like the last time the lawsuit was suspended in the hospital room?

Bae Se-jin seemed to hesitate for a moment, but then continued.

“Actually, I thought a little like that. If I win a lawsuit over this, it will set a good precedent… .”

“… … .”

Did you think that far?

“But that’s right. When I have time to think about that, I have to do my part properly on the team.”

Bae Se-jin lowered his head.

“I will give up the lawsuit.”

“no… .”

I didn’t mean to put so much pressure on you.

Even if I just persuaded or sued, I tried to set it in a way that could end in the shortest possible time.

I pondered over the words for a while. However, Liu Qingyu spoke first.

“Not everyone thinks like that, Sejin-ah.”

“uh?”

“Am I okay with the lawsuit?”

“… !”

what?

Bae Se-jin raised his head.

“… Really??”

“huh.”

Didn’t you, bastard, agree with me when I said that lawsuits are burdensome?

… for a moment.

I remembered the sentence Ryu Cheng-wu agreed.

-That’s also true.

… It was ‘that too’.

I put up with the silence. This guy was neutral.

‘Come to think of it, it was like that in the hospital room too.’

Liu Qingyu continued with a calm tone.

“And Sejin, I think you’re doing well as the eldest member of the team.”

“… … .”

This… Can I add some more?

“I think so too. The lawsuit is just because I’m not sure, so don’t worry.”

“you guys… … .”

Bae Se-jin seemed to be moved for a moment, but soon came to his senses and cleared his throat.

“Kuhm then… Should I ask the other kids too? Maybe you haven’t changed your mind!”

“yes. I see.”

“good.”

and after a while

“A lawsuit? uh… Didn’t you decide not to? haha.”

“If I file a lawsuit, will the next album be postponed indefinitely…? ?”

“I want to do that activity! I like the activity!”

“… … .”

It was KO.

Even Cha Yoo-jin, who was Chansung, turned around, perhaps because the taste of the concert was good.

Bae Se-jin sat on the floor with a lonely face and began to ponder the defeat. A little pitiful.

Seon Ah-hyun, who remained neutral at least, was restless, but soon raised one hand and spoke cautiously.

“I… Will you take a break if you file a lawsuit… ?”

“That’s right Ahyeon.”

Liu Cheng-wu answered instead. Then, Seon Ah-hyun noticed and gave a small answer.

“Then, if it’s not too long… I like it.”

“… !!”

what is this sound.

I asked right away.

“Seonahyeon, did you want to rest?”

“eww? Yes… … .”

Sun Ah-hyun avoided her gaze. This guy… ?

“Wait, wait, Ahyeon, you want to take a break, so you want to file a lawsuit?”

“Yeah, the concert ended well, and the reaction at the bar was good. Taking a break… I thought it would be nice to take care of my body… !”

Big Sejin quickly grabbed the horse.

“Ah, then you can rest~ Before preparing for the new album, let’s take a break from our schedule for a couple of weeks and go somewhere!”

“Oh~”

“What is nursing?”

“Eat something delicious and play~”

“Good!”

The votes in favor are pouring in. I can see Bae Se-jin trying to stare at the big Se-jin and putting up with it. Even if Seon Ah-hyun agreed to the lawsuit anyway, he wouldn’t have won in a majority vote.

is the problem me

After thinking briefly, I took a sip of beer from a new can and answered.

“Care is good.”

“oh!”

“Really… ?”

“okay.”

Anyway, the big hurdle is over.

There is still a grace period until you press truth check, so you can spend a little leisurely in the meantime.

Because it was a big accident.

‘… Some of them I made too much.’

Not for me, but for these guys.

As soon as I was discharged from the hospital, I pushed ahead with the plan to have the best senior in this edition as a guest, planning a donation concert.

‘It was me who was desperate. These guys just listened to me.’

Still, the logic I made when persuading worked.

I briefly recalled the conversation at the time.

– I think it needs to be topical.

– Hot topic?

-yes. It’s not an accident or a company chaos, but in the direction that idols are originally consumed. And it will be hotter when there is conflict.

-hmm.

That said, few things work as well as rival positioning.

And this seems to have motivated the Eolchu members. That was fortunate. because the results were good.

‘After the concert, the follow-up went well.’

Public opinion will be fine for a while as I blew donations and photos as a save.

VTIC seems to have benefited a bit, so I'm hesitant, but it seems that the composition of the champion and the challenger has been settled well within the acceptable range of the public and the parties involved.

'Anyway, I drew a little bit of a composition that would naturally be caught when Testa gets bigger.'

I ate everything that could be picked and eaten through this concert, so now if I have a conscience, I should make some concessions.

Even if you can't make it to the lawsuit, you say you want to take a break, but let's stop thinking about interrupting.

'A lawsuit… I don't think I can achieve the effect Bae Se-jin wants after seeing it.'

I rolled my brain slowly. Liu Cheng-wu across from him smiled.

"I like it too. You should have some recovery time. What about Sejin?"

"… That's okay."

"Okay, everyone agrees."

The atmosphere became harmonious. Big Sejin snatched the beer in front of me and opened one. be patient

"Ah~ Chuseok is just around the corner, so shall we get together and rest well before going to the parents' house then?"

"Good Joe… !"

This time, Kim Rae-bin's hand sneaked up between the guys who were excitedly talking about where to go.

"Why, Rabin?"

"Oh, it's nothing… So, are you telling the company that you are stopping all schedules and preparing for the next activity?"

that was fine

“Anyway, our schedule is almost gone for a while. I know you only shoot a few videos to show your fans.”

“okay! Then, only the video for fans to see is canceled… … hmm.”

Yes, making it like that makes the meaning of the sentence mysterious.

Fortunately, a plausible opinion emerged.

“Then shall we show you our break? A little more comfortable~ I told you to install an unmanned camera!”

“… I don’t know if you’d like to see something like that.”

“It may be a bit nostalgic, but… How are you! Healing travel is all entertainment. Well, I think it will be okay since we set up a donation concert as well.”

That was right. Not bad for break content.

Similar opinions came from all over the place.

I just need to change the theme a bit. I emptied the can and opened my mouth.

“But don’t travel concepts overlap? We also traveled in reality before.”

“Oh yes.”

“You are a great intellectual.”

Idol working holiday. Everyone has a mysterious look at the memories of making and selling hotteok.

I crossed my arms.

‘Aside from that, is there any representative healing entertainment? The one that matches the recuperation.’

Something to eat raw instead of traveling… Oh that.

chicken feet.

“How about setting a theme for mukbang?”

“Eating show?”

Isn’t that proven content? I remembered the days of < Azusa >.

And I wasn’t the only one who thought of that. Big Sejin burst into laughter.

“As expected, chicken feet Tibet Mundae~ Oh Tibet? That’s right, let’s mix animals there too! Is there any other keyword?”

“Come on, the natural scenery… ?”

“… That’s good.”

It is said that all kinds of healing keywords were combined in such a haphazard way that an urgent entertainment program was organized.

〈Testa going to the countryside to recuperate〉

… And until this time, I didn’t know how far this impromptu entertainment would go.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 246

If you can’t debut, you’ll die from a disease

.

I was planning to install only an unmanned camera and release it in the form of an episode on Witube, but the head office immediately contacted me to see if they had heard the story.

-I heard there was a seat at CVN. How about going there?

Knowing it, it seemed that a drama had been punctured for about two weeks due to a cast problem. I would like to put it in its place.

Of course, this is not a general suggestion.

“You’re more of an author than I thought.”

“Yeah~ Look at me!”

The judgments of others were similar.

Anyone can see that it is a strategy to bend and come in to restore a smooth relationship with Testa.

However, Bae Se-jin did not like it, saying that it seemed like a lure-based appeasement plan.

“It’s like eating this and wiping your mouth. Not as a singer, but as a variety show… !”

That may be true, but I haven’t been able to forcefully assert that opinion.

“of course… I decided not to sue, so it wouldn’t matter if I accepted it.”

Because the decision was made not to sue.

“Oh bro. That’s what I mean.”

“uh?”

“I’m going to collect the data that each of us has collected for the purpose of the lawsuit and organize it a bit. Would it be okay?”

“Oh! It doesn’t matter… why?”

“There is something I want to check.”

“… ?”

Bae Se-jin looked puzzled, but he handed over the data obediently.

And I was a bit surprised.

‘… I’ve looked up all the precedents.’

From the situation with the former manager to legal advice. It was a clear evidence of the fact that it was collected more realistically than expected.

If you add the call and text records I recorded here, it could be a really plausible lawsuit.

I conceded.

‘It’s amazing.’

If Bae Se-jin had been given a chance, he might have won the case.

It will take at least a year, and even if we win, it will be a problem because there is no agency or mainstream broadcasting that will accept us due to the atmosphere in the industry.

As Bae Se-jin said, the atmosphere will change if such winning cases pile up.

“How are you?”

I gave an honest answer. Because this proof of hard work and concentration deserved it.

“Actually, I’m thinking that it could have the same effect as a lawsuit in a different direction.”

“… ! Is that possible?”

“I’m worried too, so I’m not sure… I really like the material prepared by my brother. When my thoughts are sorted out, I want to consult with you. Is that okay?”

“Of course it’s fine!”

Bae Se-jin seemed a little embarrassed after he said it, but somehow he seemed to feel a little better.

‘… I’ll have to organize more.’

I put it on my smartphone for now.

So, the story of the lawsuit was passed, and the proposal from the head office was accepted anyway. TV programming is good.

And the fact that the scale has been blown up as professional entertainment personnel rapidly joined… I don’t know if it’s a positive thing or not.

These are the words that came out of the first meeting that was made right away.

“We recruited an island!”

“… yes?”

“Ah, there are Testa fans everywhere you go in the country~ Those who are a bit extreme can come along!”

The production crew smiled and displayed the data on the screen.

“So there is an island that was used in another variety show, and I caught it entirely.”

I heard that it is a privately owned island of a certain rich man, and they have built a nice villa.

In addition, there was an escape entertainment earlier this year, so it is said that the broadcasting-related facilities are quite assorted.

I heard that thanks to this, I was able to save a lot of insufficient time.

“Is it just right? It would be suitable for a picture that testers enjoy comfortably in a natural environment.”

The members were a little taken aback by the production team, who were proud that it was possible to solve it within the production cost.

‘I wonder if this can create an atmosphere of rest.’

The scale is too big, so I think I’ll have to work with each one.

However, the production team was adamant.

“Play! Have fun!”

“Uh, is that okay?”

“Of course~ The amount of story broadcasting in healing entertainment is something like editing that takes care of itself!”

It was a very self-directed production team.

“Tell me what you want to do! yacht? massage? yoga?”

“I eat snow crab!!”

“Most crabs are good!”

And Cha Yoo-jin passed over first, and it became an arena where each and every one of them complained about what they wanted to do.

Campfire, swimming, meditation, and mountain climbing came out, and eventually the question came back to me too.

“What about Moondae?”

“I am… well. I want to try cooking.”

It’s suitable for public content, and it’s not really bad, so it’s worth watching.

However, from the production team’s point of view, it seems that cooking was of course included as a basis.

“It comes naturally~ Is there anything else you want to do in particular while taking a break?”

Cha Yoo-jin intervened.

“Moondae-hyung, take good pictures! It’s the best!”

“Oh~ Then it would be nice to go around the island to take pictures together!”

The activity level is increasing rapidly.

I gave up on planning the maximum indoor life. Because it seemed to work just fine.

And the first day of filming came after twists and turns.

“… … ?”

“Is this really the end?”

The production team radiated us into a nice villa with unmanned cameras installed all over the place.

Literally without any direction or touch.

“uh… Um, isn’t there a game or something?”

“I thought you would give me a mission… .”

There was no

Just seven people entered a large three-story villa on an island with a magnificent view of the beach and mountain trails.

“… … .”

“… … .”

Those who were quietly sitting in the living room soon understood the situation.

“You really mean we can do what we want to do.”

“Wow, is this your first time?”

And soon, excitedly as they were, they started walking around the villa.

“Wow, this room is nice!”

“Basic double occupancy… Ah, this looks like a room where three people can sleep together!”

“It’s really big!”

“… What are you doing, Moondae?”

“Check the water pressure.”

The villa building was nice. I don't know how they built and maintained it on this remote island, but it was fully equipped with gas and water pipes.

'Is there even a water tank on the roof?'

Anyway, it was a really good environment for recuperation, except for the fact that because it was a broadcast, one room per person was not guaranteed.

[Welcome food for Testa ^^]

In the kitchen, there was even a flower necklace and a snack basket with a card like this on it.

When I opened the refrigerator, the food was ready.

'It's amazing, but.'

To be honest, I didn't think the video was interesting at all. I quietly closed the refrigerator containing the large boneless chicken for samgyetang.

"I want to eat black chicken! Let's cook and eat together!"

"okay."

"Yeeeees!"

Cha Yujin was the most excited.

Anyway, after looking around the house, people who were curious about the outside of the villa started snooping outside.

"that… Could it be congratulations?"

"I guess that's right."

"Moondaemundae Look at that! That escape entertainment! It must be the set frame that was used there~"

“It’s amazing.”

I don’t know if the container hasn’t been demolished yet or if the owner told me to leave it there, but the wall with the broadcasting logo still remains.

Well, if there is nothing to do on the third day, I think it would be okay to go in and have a look. Since it’s the same broadcasting company, it’ll be publicized and they’ll like it.

‘Honestly, it would be amazing even if it lasted only three days.’

There was nothing to do here other than three meals a day. After exploring the island for a day or two, there will be nothing to do… .

“brother. that?”

“Oh, I thought it would be nice to go hiking.”

“… … .”

That… I guess I should avoid being in charge of cooking.

I took my eyes off the seven pairs of hiking boots Ryu Cheng-wu had brought with me, recalling the logic of persuasion, such as that it is dangerous to go to places where these mountain trails are not properly paved.

“There are chicks in the Chu barn… !”

“Hey, how cute are you?”

After that, it was roughly an exploration-like atmosphere.

The barn next to the first villa I went to was full of chickens and chicks. Looking at the shape, it seemed that it was built this time.

Those who screamed cute because their eyes rolled over when they saw chicks were gone, and their roles were roughly guessed.

‘Looks like they put it in for egg frosting.’

Isn’t this kind of entertainment a national rule?

Then, after looking at the beach and taking a walk on the road where wild flowers were blooming nearby, we had a simple meal.

The easiest menu is kimchi jjigae.

“The rice was prepared in advance. There are also canned hams.”

“… Stew is delicious.”

“Um, shall we get some eggs from the chicken coop?”

By this time, the feeling comes slowly.

‘It’s no different from a real country recuperation.’

To be honest, I had almost forgotten about the existence of the camera. Even when I went out for a walk, a camera followed me, not a person, but a drone.

I wanted to draw a natural picture, but I concluded that the content would be nothing special.

However, after lunch, I felt moderately starved.

Ding-dong!

Suddenly the doorbell rang.

“Oh~”

“Are you finally on a mission?”

It wasn’t.

“hello! Are you the one who signed up for the meditation class today?”

“omg!”

“yes yes… !”

The things he asked for at the meeting actually started pouring into his mouth.

From meditation classes to aromatherapy massages.

Experts and equipment arrived in front of the villa each time.

“Please lie face down on the sunbed~”

“Yes!”

“Ughhhhh.”

At this time, it would have been a little funny to hear Bae Se-jin die while getting a massage.

Anyway, the true realization of ‘do everything you want to do as a testa’.

I wonder if it would be boring to see other people doing well on TV again, but I feel relieved to some extent because I think it will be vicarious satisfaction.

Besides, we had to do the chores ourselves, at least trying to keep the line.

This deserved it. No matter how much it is, it’s not good to see if there are only pictures that go out and play.

There were 7 of us, so it was over quickly, so there was nothing to bother us. It won’t look bad because even those who don’t have the energy to live are trying hard.

“I am good at cooking!”

“No, since you can’t cook and carry luggage well, I’d rather do the laundry…” .”

“Rabin Kim can’t cook.”

“no! I was recognized in the last few cooking videos… .”

I don’t know if this will be used as content, but even if something comes out, there won’t be discord every time.

The honey-sweet three days passed in an instant.

“Huam.”

“I like you~ Papang Papang… .”

When the loose guys started to do things they would do without a camera, like sleeping in late or running around the house singing songs.

The production team was contacted.

I thought this was a picture for a broadcast, but it came via text message rather than a phone call.

“uh? Are you PD?”

“huh.”

The text message sent to Ryu Chung-woo’s smartphone read as follows.

[It is said that the weather environment is deteriorating. Please pay attention to safety, focusing on indoor activities!]

Keun Se-jin, who had read it through voice acting, shrugged.

“Oh, it could be. Because it was sunny for three days.”

“I know. Shall we reinforce the congratulatory speech?”

When I searched it, it was said that it was rain and wind accompanied by strong winds, so we spent the morning doing things to reinforce the barn.

and that night.

Kwa-kwa-gwa-gwang!!!

“Wow!”

“It sounds really loud.”

In fact, those who stuck out their tongues in the rain accompanied by thunder and lightning quietly spent their time indoors playing board games.

But the next day.

Kwagwawang!! Kwagwagwang!!

“… … .”

“… Are you still coming?”

The rain and strong winds did not stop. rather intensified.

“Look at that at Moondaemundae.”

I looked out the window and saw waves crashing like crazy on the beach.

If the villa had been built just a little further ahead, the water would have filled up to this point.

[Everyone, please wait for a moment as it is impossible to float the boat or move on foot on the island. We will come up with a countermeasure soon.]

In the PD’s text, the laughter was gone.

“Mmm.”

“Originally, today was supposed to be sunny, but the weather forecast must have been wrong. Aigoo.”

And looking at the revised weather forecast attachment, it seemed that it would be like this at least until the day after tomorrow.

‘It’s ruined.’

I can already see the future of this broadcast. It’s like I’m going to be loose trying to save a lot of photos taken when I was bright.

Of course, other worries popped up besides broadcasting.

“You should give it to all the chickens… .”

At Sun Ah-hyun’s words, Cha Yu-jin asked a question.

“Is our rice okay?”

“… !!”

“for a moment.”

I calculated right away.

Originally said to supply fresh ingredients… It was today.

In other words, it is said that the stock is running slowly.

“I have instant rice and canned food. I am not that hungry.”

“Boo.”

Cha Yoo-jin slumped.

‘No, it’s not just food.’

Because the recording capacity of the camera needs to be replaced, the occasional visit of the staff has been cut off. Overall, everything is like an all-stop.

I concluded

“… For the next two days, we should stay like this by ourselves.”

“… … .”

“oh… … .”

Raebin Kim swallowed his saliva and spoke among the people who were speechless.

“Then we… Aren’t you actually stranded on an uninhabited island?”

“… … !”

Unexpected content has arrived.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 247

If you can't debut, you'll get a fatal disease Episode 247

Day 1 of the uninhabited island.

Kwagwawang!!

Outside the villa, it is still raining like crazy.

'It's fortunate that the guy who built this has a very thorough mind for his own safety.'

Still, the villa was in good shape, so it was fortunate.

I held my breath and lay down in the living room.

Cha Yoo-jin lies down next to him in the same way.

[It's good to think like this. The outside is ruined by the zombie apocalypse! That's why we live in this comfortable shelter by ourselves.]

"Yes. It is very comforting."

"Hi-Hi!"

don't laugh man

I laughed out loud, but it was a bit complicated in my head.

'What about shooting?'

If a few days' worth flies like this, it's really ruined… … … .

[Hyung, you can’t shoot right now anyway. Relax~ and have a good time.]

“… !”

[There is no need to worry about things that people cannot do.]

… You speak very categorically.

I kept my mouth shut for a while, then looked outside and admitted it was raining.

‘What will I do with the weather?’

It was organized anyway, but it wouldn’t be a big deal if you cut off a variety show. You should do the following well.

“okay. You are right.”

“that’s right!”

I lay in the living room watching the rain and passed the time until mealtime without thinking.

and lunchtime.

All seven of us are eating the same preserved food, and it really feels like we’re in some kind of disaster movie.

“Hmm, shall we go to the barn and see if there are any eggs?”

“Sejin is being swept away.”

“yes.”

Time flies after two uninspiring meals.

In addition, the smartphone data service, which was already slow, started to stutter even more.

‘I feel so isolated… .’

Thanks, there’s really nothing to do.

I was in charge of preparing meals today and was exempted from cleaning up, so I sat in the living room with the best view of the weather and thought.

I’ve run out of board games and I can’t go outside to get food… .

Jiying. Took.

“… !!”

at that time.

Suddenly the surroundings became dark.

“Huh??”

“Is everyone okay?”

It was a blackout.

Since it is an uninhabited island, there is no other light source outside at night. Totally pitch black darkness.

I immediately raised my upper body.

At that moment, someone grabbed my shoulder.

“… !”

“brother!”

“okay.”

… This is Yoojin Cha. I was bringing laundry into the living room.

After checking the voice, I recognized the voices of the others.

“Guys, don’t move for a moment and let’s adapt to the dark.”

This is Liu Cheng-wu.

“yes yes… !”

“Wow, if it had been 5 seconds faster, it would have stopped while washing dishes.”

This is Sun Ah-hyun and big Se-jin.

Cha Yoo-jin is by her side and Kim Rae-bin is on the sofa.

All that remains… … .

‘Bae Se-jin?’

At that moment, the sound of holding back a scream was heard along with the sound of a fall from below.

ugh!

“… !”

“brother!”

Fortunately, the voice that came back was fine.

“… are you okay!”

I was just shaking a bit. I shouted in the direction of the sound.

“What’s going on?”

“I saw this strange thing… no don’t come! I’ll go.”

“no. anybody home.”

you don’t move

I turned on the flashlight function on my smartphone and got up.

“let’s go together!”

It’s okay to go together, but don’t strangle others.

I put Cha Yu-jin on and joined the others who ran after seeing the light and moved quickly.

“Is Sejin hyung there?”

Bae Se-jin was lying on the floor in an ambiguous position. It must have been because of the darkness that the flashlight of the smartphone turned on.

“Are your legs okay?”

“… are you okay. No problem.”

Bae Se-jin, as he said, grabbed Ryu’s hand and got up from his seat, but he looked a little nervous.

“excuse me… I think I pushed something as I fell.”

Bae Se-jin swallowed.

“Something like that… come out.”

I immediately moved the light on my smartphone in the direction he was pointing.

A half-push cabinet.

And after that… door?

What was revealed to the light was a dark-colored fire door.

“Huh”

“What is this?”

It seems that the reason Bae Se-jin was able to find it was because of the soft luminous light on the floor. It seems that some kind of luminous paint was used.

“Wow, what kind of secret room is this?”

“I think they use it for evacuation!”

“It’s plausible.”

Those who were whispering soon made a very common sense decision that ‘it’s private property, so it’s better not to go into it’.

‘… It seems to lead underground.’

Structurally, it seems that the area beyond that door was a wild flower path.

Big Sejin murmured eeriely from behind.

“Isn’t this just like that? Why is it isolated in a snowy mountain hut, but an incident occurs at a hidden door… 100 million!”

“no.”

Horrible… no, don’t say nonsense

I slapped Sejin on the back and returned to the living room.

The other guys also followed along, stopping in their respective rooms to find their smartphones.

“phew.”

“Shall I use this to find a flashlight?”

“I was in the pantry by the front door. I’ll bring it.”

“Ohhh~”

After securing a flashlight thanks to Ryu Cheong-woo’s performance, it became a bit livable.

The problem is that there is no means to recharge the smartphone at this time.

‘I should save it.’

The electricity is out, so there’s nothing to do. I clicked my tongue.

“Well, it could be dangerous, so shall we sleep together?”

“All in favor~”

“Tell me a scary story!”

That day, we gathered in the living room and went to bed.

Cha Yu-jin said that she would tell a scary story in English, so she consumed extra energy to pass on the translation.

and the next morning.

The situation took a more frenzied turn.

“Every chicken coop… !”

“Huh? Are you floating?”

It had rained for two days and the water had filled the front yard.

Thanks to this, the chicks that had flowed out through the open barn door in the strong wind were about to float and be swept down the yard.

The yellow lumps on the flowing muddy water are getting further and further away… .

Twisted and tight!!

The chicken crows pitifully.

“No!!”

“I have to save you… !”

In the end, out of urgency, they all rushed out to the barn together in pajamas, without umbrellas or raincoats.

‘I’ll be thrilled.’

“catch! catch!”

“Guys, be careful not to fall! Get down!”

The good thing was that they were constantly exercising, so no one got their heads stuck in the muddy water.

And the chicks were all rescued after twists and turns.

I will only say that Cha Yoo-jin and Ryu Chung-woo played an active role.

“thank god!”

“Whoa… .”

The guys with yellow lumps in both hands waddled to the barn and tried to restore it.

“Whew, I’m glad.”

“We also bring eggs with us!”

I wonder what's the use of wringing the water out of my clothes when I'm getting rain all over my body, but anyway, they were proud of themselves as they cleaned up their faces.

and… it's an egg

'hmm.'

I said, shaking my head.

"Shall we eat one?"

"yes?"

"Uh huh??"

"Since there are five hens, I thought I could catch one."

"… !!"

With 7 adults, you won't be able to catch a single chicken.

Rabin Kim nodded.

"That's a good idea. Eating too much preserved food is not good for your health. … ."

"No!! No! No!!"

"Oh my God, how could you say that about these little chicks you just rescued!!"

"I don't understand what they are saying. And aren't you raising them to eat them all?"

And when it comes to catching chickens, it's funny how the guys who would love it the most oppose it the most.

Cha Yu-jin was the most fiercely opposed.

“I am not eating!! You are raising them well!”

This guy passionately explained the parable of ‘The Little Prince and the Rose’ while mixing English.

[These chickens are special to us, just like the little prince’s rose is special?!]

Oh, ok.

“Haha yes. Let’s get some eggs.”

After Ryu Cheong-woo’s tidying up, Kim Rae-bin secretly whispered to me.

“I strongly suggest not distributing the chickens to Cha Yoo-jin when they are killed.”

“… … .”

Anyway, it means that I went through the uproar and grabbed the egg and returned to the room.

But another ambush awaits.

“… The water was cold.”

“Iknow, right.”

There was no hot water, probably because of the power outage, so I had cold water friction. Bae Se-jin, who showers with hot water even in midsummer, seems to have had quite a shocking experience.

‘I can’t go on like this.’

It was fortunate that the kitchen turned on gas, not induction, so the rice was warmed up, but this also has its limits.

So after the meal, I spoke to the guys who filled their stomachs with white rice, half-boiled fries and red pepper tuna.

“First of all, what should I do with electricity?”

“… yes.”

“You are right, but… I have no special expertise.”

okay. It’s a problem because everyone’s job group overlaps. An ambiguous silence passed between the guys who devoted their lives to arts and sports.

At that time, Bae Se-jin spoke with a worried face.

“Wouldn’t it be nice to post something like a toad house?”

“oh.”

“Oh, maybe!”

okay. There is also a possibility that the distribution panel breaker is tripped type of problem.

I’ve been supplying electricity with solar power, but the last few days, the electricity has been cut off… .’ stopped while making quite pessimistic reasoning.

‘Then it might be easier than I thought.’

Liu Chengwu crossed his arms.

“Um, where are you? I couldn’t see it under the porch or on the outer wall.”

“W Shall I ask… ?”

As he said, he tried to text the PD, but failed frequently. It seems that the signal is not being picked up well.

“Has the device been damaged by the strong wind?”

“Maybe it’s because it’s such a remote place. You haven’t been caught a few times so far.”

“Mmm.”

I thought about it for a while, but soon came to a conclusion.

“I have nothing to do anyway, so let’s look for a toad house.”

“Let’s do that~”

So the guys, roughly divided into two or three, brought a flashlight one by one and started exploring every nook and cranny of the house.

I’ll find it before it goes down.

* * *

“Hmm, no?”

“… … .”

why can’t you see

– There’s a high chance we’ll find it, right?

-okay.

I was in charge of searching the first floor with Kim Rae-bin.

And these were usually in the corner of the first floor.

But even after wandering around for quite a long time, I couldn’t see the division board.

“Is there a possibility that you are on another floor?”

“It could be, but… .”

If it’s a house, isn’t it usually on the lower floors?

At that time, Kim Rae-bin raised his hand.

“Could it be inside the secret door that Bae Se-jin discovered last time?”

“… … !”

“Oh, it could be.”

I pictured a dull-colored fire door hidden behind a cabinet.

‘surely… There is a possibility.’

It seems to lead underground, so there is a boiler room, and a distribution board may have been installed there.

“Shall we go?”

“… okay.”

Together with them, I headed to the corner of the hallway where the cabinet was.

The further we went in that direction, the darker there were no windows. Even in the daytime, I had to turn on the flashlight.

“I brought it well~ It almost scared me!”

“Visibility is also important.”

I arrived in front of the cabinet in no time. When the half-pull cabinet was pushed away, a fairly large fire door was revealed under the light of a flashlight.

‘… It’s a bit excessive to say it’s the entrance to the boiler room.’

“Should I open it?”

“… are you okay.”

The person holding the flashlight would have better open it.

I grabbed the handle of the fire door and turned it.

The door was not locked.

profit.

The door opened with a reluctant sound, as if it did not open often.

Inside, it was dark and quiet without a fire.

When I shined the inside with a flashlight, I could see the stairs going down in the dark.

“… … .”

“… … .”

“… Are you a little scared?”

no, it’s because of the mood

“let’s go.”

“for a moment!”

“How about joining the people who are all searching elsewhere and moving together?”

“Mundae, you’re scared too~ You can see it all on your face, right?”

Because the two nerds actively insisted, I waited for a while and joined the search team on the second floor.

“Oh here.”

“WOW It’s dark!”

Bae Se-jin and Cha Yoo-jin.

It’s doubtful that that combination has completed the search on the second floor, but… Anyway, since I joined, let’s go in.

At the age of five, we held the fire door open and walked down the stairs, relying on the light from our flashlights.

The temperature was low, perhaps because it was underground, and there was a rusty fishy smell somewhere.

Tboob.

“Why did you make this here?”

“It must be the owner’s taste.”

“It doesn’t.”

Tboob.

“… I was just thinking about it.”

“yes.”

Bae Se-jin stopped.

“Why did this person bother to build such a villa on an uninhabited island… ?”

“… … .”

In an instant, the atmosphere became tense.

“… Well, you must have liked something quieter~”

“But you provided it for entertainment purposes.”

Bae Se-jin said with an expression as if he was breaking out in a cold sweat.

“If you like being quiet, I don’t do that.”

“… … .”

Everyone was quiet again, but soon desperate defenses came out here and there.

“I am a person who likes entertainment!”

“You may have a very close acquaintance at the station!”

“… yes. sorry.”

Bae Se-jin quietly kept his mouth shut.

I turned my slightly stiff neck and pointed forward.

“I think everything came down.”

“Ah.”

The stairs ended before I knew it and the floor came out.

A huge cavity… It looked like wooden boxes were piled up all over the place.

“Oh, is it a warehouse?”

“It seems so.”

The voices of the others brightened as if they were a little relieved.

‘Squadron… .’

And I kept looking for the wall and turning the flashlight on until I made an unexpected discovery.

“… !”

“Huh?”

It was another door. even double doors.

There was nothing special about it. But what leaked under the door… .

Big Sejin said in a trembling voice.

“… Isn’t that blood?”

blood?

A really dark red liquid was dripping down the floor under the door.

“… … .”

After recognizing it, I realized what I had thought was rusty smell until now.

‘iron content.’

Blossom.

“… !!”

“Aaaagh!!”

“Ahhh!!”

A frightened scream filled the cavity.

I staggered back.

‘Declaration… .’

Where the hell are you reporting it? what’s this?

[My God, what the hell is this XX! It’s blood!!]

“I said it was weird!! Aww!!”

“Go up, go up right now… !”

at that time.

Click.

Suddenly the fire returned.

In an instant, my vision became clear.

“… ??”

“uh?”

It was a very dim light. In an instant, the atmosphere turned upside down.

What I thought was a gloomy warehouse… It was quite a sensuously designed seller.

“… ?!”

The wooden boxes I saw earlier also seem to have been stacked for a pure atmosphere.

A storage room with a nice interior.

And the door I saw… … .

“… Is it a freezer?”

Yes.

What I mistook for a door… It was a modern gray, glossy freezer.

“… … .”

I strode over and opened the freezer door.

My nose felt cool as if there was still a bit of cold left in it.

And as the various sausages and meat melted, I could see the blood draining out and flowing down.

It was the source of the fishy smell.

“… … .”

“… … .”

A long silence passed.

“Oh, you were right here.”

“It’s nothing. I found a toad house… !”

“… Guys?”

“There… ?”

Until the guys from the 3rd floor exploration team who found the power distribution board came down here, the rest of them stood in vain and chewed on their foolishness.

I won’t deny the fact that I was among the rest… .

* * *

“But there is a lot of meat.”

“It was a problem because I mistook it for human meat.”

Be quite.

After coming to my senses, I took out the edible meat that had not yet melted from the freezer.

I'll have to ask the owner of this villa for his understanding later, but since it's a natural disaster, I'll be able to understand him to some extent.

"Look! Good thing I didn't catch you!"

"… … I know."

I silently affirmed when I saw the frozen native chicken that Cha Yu-jin lifted up.

"The refrigerator above is running again, so let's move some food."

"Yeah~"

'But it's a relief that I don't have that idiot look… .'

I was relieved internally, but soon realized that it was in vain.

… These days, cameras last longer than expected.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 248

If you can't debut, you'll get a fatal disease Episode 248

The villa with electricity back.

After washing well in hot water and washing clothes in the dryer, they sat around and ate baeksuk. Boil a pot of porridge.

"This is big… ."

"I ate really well!"

"Hyung's cooking is always delicious!"

"Yes, thank you."

To be honest, since there are almost no vegetables, I don't think it will taste better than eating outside.

'It's fine.'

I anticipated the meal ahead.

A cellar of that size would probably have other ingredients that are good for storage as well as meat.

As the situation is, you can ask for understanding if you eat one or two more things on the line that is not excessive.

… I was embarrassed and came out quickly, so I couldn't find it properly.

'Damn it.'

– Aaaaaaa!!

-I said I was weird!! Aww!

The dizzying nonsense that passes through my brain again makes me lose my mind.

let’s forget Nothing good for the mental.

“Ummm, are you still unable to contact the production staff?”

“That’s right. Shall we go out and try it?”

Others are trying to contact you with a fully charged smartphone.

‘Well, electricity has been restored and there is a corner to eat, so there’s nothing to be in a hurry with.’

The revised weather forecast isn’t very reliable, but no matter how long it is, it will be sorted out in the next two or three days.

Now it’s broadcasting, and it’s nabal, and I’m just going to focus on staying here as comfortably as possible. I honestly crossed the line.

I put down my spoon and suggested.

“Shall we check if there are any vegetables in the basement warehouse? It’s an emergency, so I think I can use it to some extent.”

“Is that so?”

“I agree~ Oh, and I’ll clean up some blood! The production crew will come and be ashamed of us like us~”

“I’ll come back with a push rod… !”

So, as soon as the meal was finished, I went down to the basement again with the cleaning tools.

Don’t forget to bring a flashlight in case there’s another power outage.

‘Probably good preservation… There must be spices or pickled olives for side dishes.’

And, as expected, I found several additional items.

“Oh wine~”

“Is there a possibility that this cheese is too expensive or a limited item, so if we eat it, we won’t be able to give enough compensation to the owner?”

“… Let’s just eat something else.”

But that wasn’t the only thing he found in the basement.

“Hey look at this.”

“… … !”

While cleaning the freezer blood stains.

He found another door cleverly hidden in the shadow of the gigantic machine.

Even this one was quite small. At my height, I had to bend slightly and move.

Ryu Cheng-wu carefully inspected the door.

“Um, this… .”

“… Isn’t this the boiler room of this building?”

It is a possible statement.

“Open it!!”

“There was a power outage, but suddenly the gas cut off, wouldn’t it be embarrassing?

“Yeah, I’d love to.”

“oh!”

“Then let’s open it.”

It seems agreed. I turned the metal doorknob and pulled it.

drooling.

The door opens gently… It revealed an unexpected inside look.

“… Passage?”

“flashlight!”

When Bae Se-jin shined a flashlight inside, a concrete passageway with a curved road appeared in the distance.

It was not a structure worthy of being under a house.

hook.

Inside, the wind that smelled like an underground structure was sucked in and brushed my nose.

“omg.”

“Wow, what is this?”

“Ooh, is it okay if we go…” ?”

The people who were so excited about the unknown distance of exploration started whispering, as if they had completely forgotten how frightened they were because of the bloodstains.

understanding goes. Since I was stuck indoors doing nothing, this must be interesting.

Liu Chengwu slightly narrowed his eyes and pointed inward with his finger.

“It looks like an emergency evacuation route… look over there It’s like a guide light.”

“Oh oh.”

Indeed, a faint green light was leaking from the inside.

‘Did they make it in preparation for a disaster?’

Then I think I should have said something to the guys filming here, but I think it’s the owner’s mind.

Liu Qingyu shrugged.

“Seeing as we are in distress… I guess it wouldn’t hurt to check it once.”

“song! song!”

“… It will be fine.”

That is why they entered the passage with the entrance door fixed with a push rod.

Of course, those who had learned a lesson from the last incident turned on all their flashlights and walked comfortably down the aisle.

However, this aisle was considerably longer than expected.

Eventually, when I passed three or four emergency guidance lights.

“This looks like it came out of the villa quite a bit, doesn’t it?”

“… I know.”

Since I don’t know what kind of passage this is, some people started to get nervous.

I said with a sigh.

“wait here. A few people quickly checked the end of this aisle and came… .”

“NONONO!”

“What are you talking about? Let’s all go together!”

“… … .”

What a mess.

Anyway, that’s the result of moving around the corner a few more times.

“It’s like a door over there… !”

Finally, the aisle ended and the door came out.

The door had an oddly well-designed lock, but it didn’t seem to be working.

“Oh, the owner must have a good sense.”

“I know.”

I waited until the others started talking and then put my hand on the doorknob again.

“Then I will open… .”

“Uh~ Moondaemundae Wait a minute! Shouldn’t we all do this together?”

“that’s right! I do too!”

“… Is that so?”

okay. do whatever you want.

There was no camera, but thanks to the guys who were very active in proving the community, a bizarre picture of seven people hanging on one door came out.

They even shout slogans. It's like a pure school retreat… It looks fun, so there's no need to say anything.

I saw Bae Se-jin reach out a hand, and I slightly moved my hand away from the handle.

"Let's open it together."

"one two… three!"

Click.

The first thing I felt was a strange sense of resistance.

However, as the seven young men opened the door at once, the door opened wide at once without any particular hesitation.

and.

Udang-tang-tang!

"… … !"

"What is it?"

What appeared in front of my eyes was a dark indoor space, but there was no time for it to enter my eyes.

"Aaaagh!!"

"Wow!"

A scream very similar to the one I had heard in the cellar a few hours earlier rang out, making me want to leave this room.

“… ??”

“Uh huh?!”

outside the door… there were people

They are even familiar faces.

They are hesitantly holding up the camera equipment support as if they are going to hit it at any moment… is the production team.

what.

‘Why are you guys here?’

“No, why are you guys there!! Where the hell!!”

“Mom!”

Apparently, the other person thought the same thing.

The crew made a sad sound and fell forward.

“Ughhhhh!”

* * *

The two groups looked at each other in complete bewilderment and shouted, only to calm down after some time.

“therefore… You were on emergency duty.”

“yes… . Yes.”

It seems that the production crew with haggard complexion hadn’t even washed properly for several days already.

“Who would have known that the weather would suddenly turn like this and we would be locked up.”

When I heard that story, I immediately thought of it.

‘That letter.’

-Everyone, please wait for a moment as it is impossible to launch a boat or move on foot on the island. We will come up with a solution soon.

I was wondering why there was a story of ‘moving on foot from the island’, but it turned out that there were always people living on the island.

Well, come to think of it, no matter how natural a picture you want to draw, it is crazy that there is a time zone on the island where all the production staff are absent except for the cast. You know what an accident will happen.

However, it seems that such a natural disaster was unexpected.

One of the production crew was fed up.

“At most, there was only a forecast for showers… Ugh.”

That’s why the production crew was isolated here without any preparation. They seem to have suffered quite a bit from lack of food and water.

And here comes the obvious question.

“But here… ?”

“Ah, this is the entertainment set! container.”

“… … !”

I remembered what I checked out of the villa on the first day.

“A container with that logo?”

“yes yes.”

It is said that the production crew used the container for escape entertainment that was not demolished as a preparation base for filming.

“I was going to use it as tourism content for everyone when the weather gets bad… You’re screwed.”

“Ha ha ha ha ha… .”

In any case, it is said that thanks to this, the level of comfort and intensity that a person can spend for several days was maintained.

So, while the production crew was using it as a temporary residence, we suddenly broke through the wallpaper and came out and became the flagship.

“Rice wallpaper?”

“yes. No, I don’t even know where you are. How did you get here?”

And the production crew were stunned when they saw the aisle we came through.

“Hey, did something like this happen?”

“I really won’t leave PD Park alone… .”

As a secret story that I learned later, it is said that it was actually a structure that was not revealed in the moving route of the cast members while trying to use it in the last escape entertainment.

The main PD and others were aware of it, but the youngest duty officers who remained in the emergency standby team were unaware.

In any case, there was one reason why they were struggling here without contacting us.

“Ah, you don’t have much to eat, and you must be anxious… I thought it would be a burden if we were isolated here anyway.”

I brought him here saying he would let me enjoy the healing content to my heart's content, but he said he had no face because it had reached this point.

I read that context.

'I must have thought that Testa would suck… .'

In fact, from the perspective of the production team, we were still in a situation where we had nothing to say.

However, there was a small unexpected back story.

"I think the picture taken will be ruined… ."

"… ??"

"Shooting picture… What?"

I was wondering what was going on when a natural disaster struck and all the cameras died.

"Oh that… Maybe some of the fixed cams are still alive?"

"yes??"

"It is a new equipment. That infrared camera is probably alive too."

"Oh, that's right~"

"… … ."

Okay. After all, there's no way there's a camera in the basement. I won't show you that.

In any case, after that, common-sense structural proposals continued.

"There are quite a few ingredients in the villa! Don't worry, let's go together. Oh, you worked so hard… ."

“is it so. Let’s talk after washing and eating.”

“Are you all right… ?”

“it’s okay… . Sobbing.”

“thank you.”

The production crew moved to the villa, thankful that there was an indoor passage instead of the dangerous unpaved road with wind and rain.

And as soon as I came through the door, I cried out.

“Ah, it was leading here!”

“… ??”

that… What is the familiar response?

“Author Choi said that he originally intended to use today’s content to find some kind of treasure hunt here.”

“Aren’t there any installers here among us? that’s right. Anyway, that’s why everyone is here for the first time… Oh, there are a lot of ingredients here. Fortunately, the.”

The producers shouted brightly.

… And then they scattered all over the place and found hidden cameras somewhere and checked them.

“Hey, I’m glad. Can you save these cuts!”

“… … .”

Is it real?

I opened my mouth unconsciously.

“… Wouldn’t it be a bit off in terms of the story? There are no cameras in the aisles.”

“Oh, don’t worry.”

The production team gave a bright hope.

“In case you didn’t know, we also turned the camera around for recording. It would have been well filmed with all of you appearing!”

“Of course, the editing will go well, so don’t worry about that.”

“… … .”

Okay, let’s give up on this part. No, it would be nice to be content. My worries were alleviated.

‘In the event of a power outage, I only need to pass the basement.’

However, more shocking facts are revealed later.

When the production crew, walking around the villa and checking the cameras here and there, exclaimed and sighed.

“Oh Main is dead… .”

“Is this the end?”

“I… Do you need this too?”

Raebin Kim had brought out a camera out of the blue.

“… !”

that… It’s a camera I brought because it was chosen as my hobby.

I understand that they were paid for the purpose of walking around the island holding one for each person for about half a day in the latter half of the filming.

‘I thought everyone left it behind and forgot.’

Even I had almost forgotten about the situation, but it seemed that this naive fellow had recorded something.

The production team was once thankful.

“oh! thank you.”

“Okay, let’s go back.”

I shrugged.

Well, no matter how many cuts… .

[9:11 am on the first day of distress. The recorder is 21-year-old Kim Rae-bin, who is in charge of producing and rapping in the group Testa.]

[I’m going to record all these incidents just in case… .]

“… … .”

At first glance, the camera captured Kim Rae-bin’s serious face.

This guy explained the background of each person in distress and briefed every 3 hours.

There is no such thing as a first person camcorder point of view disaster movie.

[12 am. Canned food and instant rice were distributed. I hope it doesn’t fall before this storm passes.]

[6:00 am. Yesterday, everyone went to bed together in the living room. Cha Yoo-jin told a grotesque story that unnecessarily created anxiety. Surprisingly, Ryu Chung-woo was happy.]

And the record on the day of the blackout.

Kim Rae-bin, who clenched his fists, shouted into the camera.

[we are… I will save the chicks!]

“… … .”

“Euhahaha! Awesome!!”

“Mr. Rabin is the best!”

“Is that so?”

I had a hunch.

‘ruined.’

And sure enough.

This camcorder record goes straight to the trailer… .

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 249

If you can’t debut, you’ll get a fatal disease Episode 249

Turn back time a few weeks ago.

Shortly after a sneaky notice about a ‘broadcast that will reveal the stage that was not chosen at Testa’s donation concert’ came out.

Excited fans were a bit puzzled when they checked the broadcasting company.

-Is it CVN?

-It’s not because it’s not T-Net,

it’s not because suddenly a popular music channel like CN and Tnet organized the stage, it’s because it was a cable channel famous for entertainment and drama.

-Do you want to do entertainment?

-How do you plan to come out

? Do you want to do a reality show again?

It was rare that a full-fledged program was organized on such a large channel. At an ambiguous time, neither comeback season nor tour season.

-What did T

-One do? -I’m not trying to make a story out of an accident .

It was an exceptional situation that even people who doubted or worried would occasionally come out, but most of them waited for the new rice cake with only a little doubt and after a few days

.

[Let’s go to a vacation home just for Testa!]

[< Testa's Island Life > 9/30 Wed]

A preview image of cool drinks in a hammock and the beach under a blue sky.

This publicity, which was newly launched through official channels and articles, pointed to one fact.

Testa’s rest and healing!

-Ah, fortunately

-Of course, it’s best to rest without a camera… Thank you, kids

.

-You didn’t have to leave the country, but you chose a place where there were no people.

Fans were relieved and delighted with the very typical and common sense reality format.

Even after the shooting, when Testa took a surprise vacation during the Chuseok holiday, the atmosphere was slightly softer when it leaked into the article.

-Guys, let's eat a lot of delicious food and get a good rest

.

Comments such as "Testa will be able to rest well after filming" and "The damn company is finally paying attention" were general opinions on fans' social media and communities.

Of course, not everyone was like that.

'Didn't you watch a reality show on vacation?'

The office worker who runs the account where the pictures of Park Moon-dae and Lee Se-jin are uploaded is very realistically pessimistic.

'I'll give you a good rest during your holidays, so please do this. I won't let you do anything, just play… I think he said something like that.'

He guessed that it was a work to renew the image of T1.

However, Homma, an office worker, shrugged her shoulders.

'It's nothing important.'

The important thing is that if it is a program that only comes after healing, being organized on CVN is rather a handshake.

'Healing isn't fun.'

I have already seen the reaction of the general public who were attracted to Testa, which became hot due to a traffic accident and a donation concert, and who watched the first episode and then escaped.

-I’m sorry, but I’m no fun..

-The kids are cute. I’ll watch the clip later!

So, I had to think that if it was truly healing, only the fans would be counted in the ratings.

‘If the ratings are ruined like that, I’ll be damned again.’

– Shocking testa reality episode 2 viewer ratings

– Testa variety show is amazing vs not that much

– Testa with a lot of regret This reality show has already had a good lineup.

VTIC’s fan, Tika, said that she would go on a rampage with excitement, and the office worker foresaw that the annoying and tiring situation would continue for about two weeks.

Still, there was nothing special.

‘Well, I won’t give anything difficult to this situation unless T-One goes crazy.’

Right now, public opinion has barely moved on to the main job of an idol through a donation concert, but it was still at a level that slightly covered the shock caused by the car accident.

Perhaps, if it had not been for this format, a huge backlash could not have been avoided.

‘Maybe, like last time, selling hotteok to pay off the travel debt… I would have tried to kill him.’

Looking at the atmosphere right now, it wouldn’t be strange if there were articles about the company committing a mortal sin against the members.

Of course, office workers thought it was public opinion that was quite separated from the reality of the company.

‘I’m just going to work. Anyway, I’ll just go with this variety show.’

She thought about it, and this thought was further strengthened after watching the next trailer.

[Testa, do everything you want to do!]

[Testa: Wow, are we going to spend all of this by ourselves?]

Chuck Bonnie seemed like a type of healing that allowed me to do everything I really wanted to do, from food to hobbies.

And the first episode that actually aired was like that.

An island in the beautiful and gentle South Sea and a nice villa. And a simple chicken coop and wild flowers in full bloom.

[Cha Yujin: Chick! It’s really cute!]

[Lee Se-jin: Wow, I don’t know if we can enjoy all of these things.]

The members excitedly toured the islands and villas, ate health food, and enjoyed luxurious massages.

[Bae Se-jin (massage mania): Uh-huh]

[Park Moon-dae: (embarrassed)]

[Ryu Cheong-woo (hiking maniac): I packed some hiking boots.]

[Park Moon-dae: (avoid)]

Funny scenes were included like this, but where? up to a small extent.

Overall, it was a vicarious satisfaction reality that made Testa come and go.

-Cha Goyoung: Eating a few chicken legs lol Let's eat a lot and snore!

-Heart warmed

-Have you seen Ahyeon meditate? There is no such thing as a prince in the forest

.

Because it was something only fans would see.

'There are sections where it slides a little.'

The office worker smacked his lips, saying, "Since they are smart people, they will know how to prepare for the next album."

However, everything was turned upside down in the trailer that came out at the end of the first episode.

[next day… ?]

[??? : (Support position) — Day 1 at 9:11 am.]

[??? : The recorder (support position) — Kim Rae-bin, 21 years old.]

"… !?"

The newly released trailer… Suddenly, it became spectacular!

[Unexpected weather change]

[Announcer: Heavy rain accompanied by strong winds in the South Sea… .]

[Isolated crew!]

[Maknae writer: We barely have any water left?]

[Assistant director: Hahahahahahaha (silence)]

[Mental collapse]

Follow me bam bam bam bam bam bam bam bam bam bam bam bam Bam Bam Bam Bam Bam Bam Bam Bam Bam Bam Bam Bam Bam Bam Bam Bam Bam Bam Bam Bam Bam Bam Bam Bam Bam Bam Bam Bam

The turbulent island and news cuts were edited into it.

And the faceless profile and back of the production team, whose mentality went out, were cross-edited and appeared rhythmically.

The last thing that went in… This is Kim Rae-bin, who appeared again on the screen edited like a camcorder.

Kim Rae-bin clenched his fists.

[Raebin Kim (21): We will save the chicks… !]

[Testa: Aaaaaaa!]

The trailer ended with the image of Testa in pajamas running towards the chicks floating on the water.

"… … ."

Social media is already flooded with question marks and laughter.

'… Can I play it like this?'

The office worker laughed uncharacteristically, then stopped searching for a while in embarrassment.

and after a while

Reactions exploded even in communities used by non-fans.

[Testa's variety show, I'm in trouble lol]

[It's not healing, it's killing]

[Hurry up and watch this, crazy lol (trailer link)]

“Hmm.”

As expected, a person who will float is said to float no matter what, so it seems that her idol cannot tolerate stagnation.

The office worker looked at the situation satisfactorily and chose a retouching shot of Park Moon-dae and Lee Se-jin to post on the account. It was a cut where Lee Se-jin jokes with Park Moon-dae during meditation.

but foreboding at the same time.

‘Wouldn’t the kids who say it’s uncomfortable come out?’

Sure enough, by the time she uploaded the retouched GIF, new opinions were being shared.

-There was a typhoon

, so did you go ahead with filming

? I must be crazy

‘Ah, instigating again.’

In fact, it was a morally appropriate request, but the brain of an office worker who was tired of social success felt that all of them were invincible.

‘You already took the X-shot. Why should I discard the footage?’

What to do with such a sudden natural disaster?

Why don’t they know that the idols they love would have put their energy into trying to save something in the midst of a disaster?

“really.”

She subtly supported the public opinion that pushed all the backlash as ‘seriousness’. Anonymously, of course.

-Ah, please let’s just watch it ㅠㅠ It was like this at the donation contest, and it’s like this again -Testa’s variety show seems to be going well, so it seems like there were a mix of kids who were trying to get rid of it.

‘it’s okay.’

She sneered at the first homema post of Park Moon-dae, who was still worried, on her social media account for personal exchange.

-I hope the filming ended well with a smile and a healthy smile… I hope that liberal arts students don’t overdo anything

.

It is not long in its prime, but it is a job that requires rowing when the water comes in.

Office workers thought so and waited for the next airing of Testa Reality.

And the 2nd episode aired amid growing interest even more than the 1st episode.

Surprisingly, the starting point was not Testa.

was the production team.

[Stop filming for the first time in history]

[Maknae production crew who lost contact and became isolated…☆]

[Assistant director: Oh, the wind and rain are crazy;;]

[Maknae PD: Aren’t we in trouble like this?]

[Maknae writer: Already in distress seems to have been… Hahaha]

The crew lamented their situation in a dark indoor space littered with shooting tools, writing instruments, and bottled water bottles.

However, the editorial atmosphere was not so dark.

[※Sea route cut off※]

[※Helicopter not working※]

[Maknae PD: I can't do this, I can't. I can't even go to the villa. The cast cannot be contacted]

[Maknae writer: Wow… .]

[※Can't even walk (!) ※]

From a distance, even a tragedy is a comedy. With funny BGM and editing, their hardships were edited humorously like a surprise camera.

I just felt pity.

[Maknae writer: We haven't washed our hair for three days now… (I can't speak)]

It's because these lines came and went. Even the people who were focusing on Testa's situation became solemn without realizing it.

Of course, fundamental questions remain.

'But what about Testa?'

And just in time for this question to grow in people's minds.

[Chiayi !!]

[Crew: Ahhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhh

the dark walls leaned by the crew and the door opened!

And what came out of it… It was a testa.

At that moment, Testa's surprised faces were close-up and the screen stopped.

[Testa: Aaaaaaaa!!]

[????]

Even the huge red subtitles went in.

and voice input.

[Ryu Chung-woo: Are you okay?]

[Maknae writer: Huh uh uh uh]

[Testa… I'm here to save you!!]

The BGM of the chorus of angels was laid. It was an appearance production without a separate hero. He even put a halo behind Testa with CG.

"no… !"

It was such an impactful appearance that even office workers were at a loss for words.

[Assistant Director: No, you don't even know the location, but how the hell… .]

Testa looked at each other intermittently and smiled as if they were cheating.

And subtitles again.

[How did Testa get here?]

[◀◀◀]

The screen started to go backwards.

[The first day of distress]

Then, the distress story from Testa's point of view began.

[Park Moon-dae: The wind is blowing too much. I can't go out.]

[Lee Se-jin: Yes~ Did you hit the ball today too? Eh!]

[Kim Rae-bin: 12:00 am. The older brothers discussed the direction of their future lives. The ban on going out seems to be settling as a new rule.]

Kim Rae-bin's camera played a big role. The sound of Kim Rae-bin's self-camera sneaked into every important scene like a commentary.

And it made the situation even funnier.

[Bae Se-jin: No! Sweet potato is easier than sweet potato, so I go first… .]

[Cheong-Woo Ryu: I heard Se Jin-ah's beans grow faster? I'll take this card.]

[Bae Se-jin: (Shocked)]

[Cam: During a board game, something about grain came up. I checked it carefully because

I didn't know if it would be cultivated .

-
Hahahah

] Kim Rae

_

bin .

Even if it was not one element, there was less feeling of glorifying or evasive suffering.

It was thanks to the impact of the first appearance editing.

This is because Testa’s good-natured and challenging side was emphasized more than the hardships she faced.

In fact, Testa did not panic or complain about the weather, but found something to do and played hard.

[Cha Yujin: Hide and seek?? do!! Hide, hyung!]

[Park Moon-dae: (shaken)]

[Seon Ah-hyun: Okay… !Should I hide?]

-The kids are so diligent that they’re going to try something haha

-It’s so sad that the meal is poor

.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 250

If I can’t debut, I’ll get sick to death Episode 250

Kim Rae-bin, who was serious but courageous,’s voice in the camcorder recording was strangely subdued.

[Cam: Whoa Now… 9:00 PM.]

[Cam: Three hours ago]

[Cam: All the lights in the villa were turned off.]

And all the lights in the house suddenly turned off on the screen.

[!!!!]

[Kim Rae-bin: Is everyone okay?]

[Cha Yu-jin: Hyung!]

[Sudden blackout]

From that moment on, the atmosphere of the episode changed completely.

[Cheong-Woo Ryu: Let’s first adapt to the dark without moving.]

[Testers relying on the light of their smartphones to check each other]

[By the way]

[One person… No?]

[??? : Ugh!]

[Park Moon-dae: Hyung!]

Strange tension began to surround the distress episode, which was close to an adventure.

In addition, cross-interviews began to be inserted.

[Seon Ah-hyun: I suddenly heard (Bae Se-jin)'s scream… .]

[Park Moon-dae: I was embarrassed. Everyone must have been surprised.]

The format smelled like a horror movie.

-It's a thriller.

-Hey,

what's scary

?

The infrared camera hastily turned. and… .

He looked at Bae Se-jin, who was lying on his face in a strange posture that looked like he was about to roll over at any moment.

[…] ??]

[Sejin… I'm fine… .]

With that body gag, the entertainment-like atmosphere was briefly aroused, but it did not last long.

Infrared camera approaching.

[Shhhh]

[Cheongwoo Ryu: Yes. There was a strange door behind the cabinet.]

[Park Moon-dae: But at that time, I thought… There was no space behind it.]

[Park Moon-dae: … So there is no way. Except for the one that leads to the basement.]

The basement door they found was close-up on the screen with a rather eerie silence.

-Hul

-Ah, scary dog

-Who is the owner of the villa, why is something like that hidden

?

Testa flinched and fell from the door.

Interviews crossed again.

[Lee Se-jin: I thought it was a little scary? (Wry laughter)]

[Bae Se-jin: Strange feeling… .]

And the point of view shifted to Cha Yu-jin, who solved the ghost story that night.

[Cha Yujin: Moondae hyung! Please do it in Korean!]

[Park Moon-dae: (Help me)]

[Cha Yu-jin: (English) … So, in the basement of that house, a mad doctor performed a frontal lobotomy… .]

[Park Moon-dae: Once upon a time, there was a house haunted by a doctor in the United States.]

[Lee Se-jin: Mun-dae is a different length?]

[Ryu Chung-woo: Hmm.]

In reality, it was a warm and funny atmosphere at the time, but in the edited video The feeling was slightly different.

It is embodied in the feeling of a foreshadowing of the future, as if you are trying to laugh it off.

Viewers were restless.

-What's the basement door, lady ?

-Let's quickly block that door with a cabinet

.

– Healing entertainment Where did you feel that everyone was overly immersed?

And finally, I saw the appearance of Testa, who split the team and started looking for the distribution panel.

[Q: I heard (Bae) Sejin was the first to comment?]

[Bae Sejin: (Ears swollen) I was just talking about the toad house… .]

[Bae Se-jin: Yes, I felt like I had to do something. … It feels strange.]

At the same time as the interview ended, Bae Se-jin's nervous face filled the screen.

And finally, in the scene of walking into the basement in search of the power distribution board, Bae Se-jin's remarks are illuminated as if they were continuing.

[Bae Se-jin: Why did this person build such a villa on an uninhabited island… ?]

[Stairway with momentary silence]

-Ahhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhh

-The

production team is cheating

.

And arrived in the basement.

What the members found on a dark screen that relied on the light of a flashlight instead of infrared rays was-.

[Lee Se-jin: … Isn’t that blood?]

[Blood?]

[!!!!]

The frozen screen was distorted and zoomed in and out repeatedly, and a creepy sound like a child laughing was heard as BGM.

[Ahhhh !!]

Testa on the screen was horned and poured out all kinds of screams and reactions.

By the time the viewers also poured out their screams and shouts and doubts in the comments.

[Tiri-ring~]

[????]

The fire is back in the basement.

In the bright and immaculate cellar, which was deliberately loaded with filters, the five testers clung to each other shivering as one lump.

But one of the lumps, looking around and looking confused, got up and fell out.

Then I trudged out and opened the freezer.

Cute houses sound effect exploded.

[Pororong!]

[☆Meat Party☆]

[The true identity of the bloody water seen by the members↘]

The naked arrow moved viciously. The extreme rainbow CG shining above it was brilliant.

[Park Moon-dae: … … .]

A faint BGM was laid over the faces of the idols who were dumbfounded… .

And the brutal production team took close-ups of the members' past reactions one by one and even played them over and over again.

[Cha Yu-jin: (Brilliant English)]

[Kim Rae-bin: (silent screaming)]

[Bae Se-jin: I said I was weird!! Ahh!!]

[Lee Se-jin: Go up, go up right now… !]

[Park Moon-dae: (falls down)]

[~List of fishermen who caught themselves~]

The interview cuts of the five members covering their faces and feeling ashamed passed by.

[Park Moon-dae: … I was a little perplexed. It wasn't that I was scared.]

[Hahahah

[We got rid of the scary power outage, so don’t worry, members!] -Only those who aren’t cowardly are completely engrossed in it blah blah

-This… It’s the fault of the palm that tore the team like that… Dedenchi is the root of all evil

.

They eagerly searched for the frozen chicken and almost danced, and the raw reaction doubled the laughter.

-The kids are so

cute

-
Hahahah

[Thank you for your diligence… ☆ by All the production crew whose filming was ruined due to a disaster]

It was emphasized once again that it was not manipulated.

The broadcast, which had a thrifty laugh until the end, ended neatly with a good reference comment.

[※The person who rented the villa is an old couple with a dream of returning to farming※] [

※Thank you again to the villa owner and his wife for generously understanding the broadcast and remarks※]

And Testa's This episode ended in a warm and cool way.

Of course, as soon as the broadcast ended, viewers' comments exploded.

-Crazy big fun

-Funny after a long time

-Quickly look at Testa's island distress

Hahahaha

didn't forget either.

It is not yet clear how he came to rescue the production team, so he aimed for the next episode's ratings by taking this rice cake for a long time.

Besides, the trailer looked very funny.

Testa rescuing the chick, Testa carrying a flashlight, and even giving a high five while wearing hiking boots.

[Ryu Chung-woo: Wow, what the hell is this?]

[Lee Se-jin: I never imagined it would be a photoshoot like this! Hahaha!]

Survival and quest for adventure.

A bright and active trailer that seemed to pursue more genre fun adorned the end.

Because Testa looked lively and happy, this episode adequately compensated for the criticism that it was a ‘sadistic format’.

[Testa goes to rescue the production team?]

[How grandiose the production team’s gratitude healing will be!]

And in the end, highlight how much healing Testa will enjoy after this disaster drama, and emphasize that the ‘healing part’ remains. gave it

In addition, the exciting testa’s social media uploads are coming up one after another.

_____=

Crybaby King, Crybaby King Moondae (Photo)

(laughing emoticon)

_____ _____=

└Stop it, Sejin Lee

└Stop it, Mundaemun University

_____ ____=

Hello Lover. This is Seon Ah-hyun.

(Photo)

This is a scented candle I made. I was wondering if I should take it with me on an island trip, but I left it behind. Seeing today's broadcast, I feel a bit sad. Could it have been a source of strength when the members were scared?

——————————=

┗ No, hyung, I wasn't scared!

┗ Eugene, if you lie, your butt will get horny

┗ (tiger emoticon) I don't!

Thanks to this, the fans were swept away by the energy of entertainment vibes and even slightly forgot their complaints and worries. Because the members looked really happy.

And while waiting for the next episode, I guessed the contents with excitement.

-Saving chicks is unconditional. It seems that Labin jumped out first. Looking at the editing, that's exactly the case

. -Why do you need a flashlight again? Maybe something at night… Or blackout again? -The hiking boots might be a god when you go to find the crew

.

* * *

"Refreshing."

"… yes."

I perched on a rock, trying not to gasp.

The morning air is nice, but it feels like the oxygen is sweet because I just moved my body.

I turned my head. Liu Qingyu muttered a short exclamation.

“The scenery is nice.”

As the words say, the sea and land beyond the villa and the shoreline look quite nice.

It deserves it. Because it’s the top of the mountain.

‘Damn it.’

I thought I was going to do some real mountain climbing.

I recalled the contents I took after rescuing the production team.

Even after the rain stopped, the waves were so strong that the boat could not float, so I did a few activities related to the feeling of disaster.

‘Receiving vegetables by helicopter was quite fun and I liked the picture.’

At that time, when I started hiking, I didn’t know that it would lead to real mountain climbing.

I slightly regretted handing over the note to Kim Rae-bin in the last treasure hunt.

‘I didn’t know the penalty was like this.’

Of course, it doesn’t seem like a punishment for this guy.

I glanced at Ryu Cheng-wu.

“… … .”

His expression looked quite comfortable.

Perhaps thanks to the mountain climbing, the feeling of being somehow gloomy and suppressed after the accident has disappeared.

‘… Ryu Cheng-wu suffered quite a bit too.’

I feel like I should bow down a little more and go in.

Now that the part where you feel like you’re going to explode if you touch it has passed, it’s okay if you talk to me and treat me better.

“Have some water.”

“Ah thank you.”

I quietly drank warm nurungji with him.

However, this is not to say that he expected this conversation after the drone camera went away just before Hassan.

“Yes, Moondae. If it’s okay… During this Chuseok holiday, why don’t we go to the members’ houses rather than the dorm. Oh, my house is fine too.”

what?

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 251

It was a good thing that Chuseok holidays were guaranteed after the 251st episode of the Distress on This Island variety show.

Because I have a place to use it.

‘… I was going to press ‘Check the Truth’ then.’

Even if my condition wasn’t very good, it was an advantage to be able to recover during the holiday season, and since it was a holiday, it was very good that they all went back to their parents’ homes.

‘I’ll be able to tidy up by myself.’

But now, all of a sudden, what kind of suggestion is this?

‘Calling co-workers over to my house for the holidays?’

Did you decide to make each other uncomfortable?

In particular, when Ryu Cheong-woo was young, there was a chance that he would go down to his parents’ house every holiday like me… .

“… … .”

‘done.’

Until there… Let’s not speculate unnecessarily. It’s meaningless.

Turbuck.

I walked slowly along the mountain path and just asked openly.

“Wouldn’t it be a little like that for me to go on holidays?”

“are you okay.”

Liu Cheng-wu answered honestly.

“Nothing different from usual. I already talked about just staying with the family. Wouldn’t it be nice to have some holiday food?”

“… … .”

Liu Chengwu smiled bitterly as to what he interpreted my silence as.

“actually… It’s a little uncomfortable to see my relatives.”

“… !”

“I got a call from < Idol Co., Ltd. > that way.”

Ryu Cheng-wu spoke calmly.

“Because there was even an article about it… After that, even my parents said they wouldn’t go on holidays.”

“… … .”

okay. The < Azusa > writer used a relative chance.

Ryu Cheng-wu’s parents also seemed to refrain from interacting with relatives, fearing that he would fall prey to the knights.

I chose a horse

“You are wise.”

“Haha is it? Anyway, so it’s just me and my parents at home. My brother said he is going on a trip with his friends. Oh, and we have a dog too.”

“… … .”

“Think about it. Being alone in the dorm is probably going to be difficult this time.”

“yes?”

The bitter smile disappeared from Liu Cheng-wu’s face, and he showed a little mischief.

“I don’t know? The members and the company said that you shouldn’t be left alone because strange things happen every time you go on vacation.”

“… … .”

that… It deserves it.

I am at a loss for words as I recall my past from my last vacation.

‘Because I robbed them all.’

Nara too would watch if any member of the team gets sick every time they get a vacation or if they get caught up in a dog fight.

I’m going to find a hole to get out of by myself, but if it’s not possible… .

‘then… Isn’t Ryu Cheng-wu’s bad too?’

I’m not very close with this guy, so I’d rather get a room and live comfortably.

It may not be a very pleasant time to see Ryu Cheng-wu’s parents, but it will be bearable.

‘and… .’

I inhaled.

There may be pictures of your parents.

So when you go on a big family trip… Isn't there someone who always leaves a photo or video?

'If only I could look at a group photo.'

How can I put it well, even if 'Ryu Gun-woo' is not here, I can confirm that my parents are there… .

'Useless sound.'

I brushed off my thoughts.

Here… Even if there is a record that my parents were there, what I see now doesn't help at all. Needless agitation will only grow.

'Don't fall for the bullshit in your head.'

I cut off the urge and gritted my teeth. A crackling sound rang in his mouth.

The problem is that the guy next to him heard it too.

"Is it that uncomfortable?"

"… !!"

"no… Things like that happen, too. It can be uncomfortable to live with adults you don't know."

I wouldn't have meant to say that.

I understood the nuances of him the first time.

'You meant that you were uncomfortable.'

Liu Qingyu looked a bit bitter, but soon changed his complexion and spoke comfortably.

"Well, think about it."

“… … .”

It might be right to move on here.

But I opened my mouth.

“It’s not that my brother is uncomfortable. It’s nothing embarrassing.”

“… … hmm.”

Liu Cheng-wu seemed to stare in my direction as he walked down, then answered easily.

“okay.”

“No, I’m not lying… It’s real.”

“I know. thank you.”

I guess I didn’t understand anything.

I kicked a stone that got in my foot.

“It’s not like that, so I hope my brother doesn’t have a strange sense of debt.”

“… !”

Isn’t it an easy decision to invite co-workers for the holidays?

If he was a normal guy, he would probably have invited him to visit the houses of people of the same age who looked very close.

‘Instead of repeating the description of his house like this.’

But why do you do this… It means that the idea of ‘be nice to Park Moon-dae’ is stuck in this guy’s head.

And that would be one reason.

“I was not injured in the accident instead of my brother. It was just bad luck.”

In the car, instead of this guy, he was hit with a rebar.

Liu Qingyu was silent for a moment, but then answered firmly.

“no.”

“Because that’s right. In terms of seat position… .”

“Moondae, I have eyes too. I saw you pushing me … you almost died from it And I don’t know what the aftereffects will be.”

Liu Qingyu continued without hesitation.

“I quit my job because of the aftereffects of the car accident. It wasn’t like I was about to die.”

“… … .”

yeah i saw that too

I reflexively recalled the scene of the accident I saw in ‘Truth Check’.

The guy who broke his arm and cried.

‘… Maybe that affected me too.’

It’s true up to that point.

With the scene after Liu Cheng-wu’s accident in my head, I quietly listened to his words.

“And you… I’m already in a state of stamina due to the aftereffects. In the past, hiking like this would not have been so breathless.”

“… … .”

“I was seriously injured and lying down for too long must have given it to my condition.”

It’s not.

hey that… It’s because there is no Bacchus.

‘I’m going to draw again in the next draw, bastard.’

And there won’t be any other side effects because of the use of nectar. I recovered at a terrifying speed, but what?

It’s just a problem that will end if I bulk up or something.

‘I’m breaking out in a cold sweat.’

However, Ryu Cheong-wu, a civilian who did not know the setting of this web novel, kept his forehead pressed.

“It’s as if that happened instead of me. But how could I not be sorry?”

“… … .”

okay. Anyway, because Ryu Chung-woo gave up archery due to the aftereffects of a car accident and had a hard time, I must have felt a huge debt to me who was beaten instead.

“Whoa.”

Well, I don’t think it will work anymore to accidentally bring a pear to a rebar.

After thinking for a while, I opened my mouth.

“is it so. Well then, let’s say I saved your life.”

“… !”

“You can continue to be very grateful. If necessary, I will call you without hesitation, so please repay me.”

I think it would be more uncomfortable to tell him not to thank him, so let’s just use it well until he feels less sorry.

“Oh, it’s okay because I’ll cover my stamina with exercise.”

“… … .”

Liu Qingyu stopped walking with a bewildered face for a moment. I guess I didn’t know that such a change of attitude would happen in an instant.

But in the end, he burst out laughing.

“… haha!”

Don’t laugh.

I heard Ryu Cheng-wu speak coolly.

“Okay, I’ll repay you.”

“yes.”

The air got a little lighter. I shrugged.

And as he continued to descend, he added his words.

“Still, I won’t go to my brother’s house for the holidays. I’m going to the house that won’t interest me the most.”

“Okay, rest well.”

I shrugged my shoulders when I saw Liu Cheng-wu, who answered neatly.

okay. If I must go to someone else’s house, I must go to the quietest place.

Of course, the exact opposite of the quiet holiday vacation I was hoping for was happening outside of this variety show.

* * *

– Totally AWESOME!! Testa is the best!

"… thank you."

I received a phone call from the production crew making a fuss.

And I totally understand why they're making a fuss.

'The program went better than I thought.'

The ratings report for episode 3 came up to 6.1%.

'Idol entertainment on cable is out of the norm at this level.'

It was as high as CVN's standard regular variety shows.

I later picked up the PPL of the frozen chicken I ate on the island, and it was obvious how well the response was because it said that sales had skyrocketed.

The voices of the production crew, who had a great success because they couldn't revive the knight, couldn't be that bright.

-We really want to do season 2!

"Good."

Of course, the people at the top of the broadcasting station would also be laughing.

I heard that there is even talk of kicking out the pilot program that will come after us and organizing a behind-the-scenes specialization instead.

‘Well, coincidence overlapped with coincidence, so the luck of filming was a big factor.’

It must have been fun because it was exciting and unpredictable. Honestly, it will be difficult to revive that taste, so next season… I don’t know.

‘Still, should I say something good?’

The production crew kept their promise.

As soon as the distress time was over, I took all the remaining production costs and made it a luxurious vacation.

At that time, the number of snow crabs eaten would be three per person. Well, Cha Yoo-jin has five.

“We also want to appear again if the schedule is possible. I really enjoyed it.”

-Ah~ Thank you. Mr. Moondae!

That should be enough. I ended the conversation with the PD, who was excited and returned the phone to all the members.

“Are you PD?”

“yes.”

“You keep calling.”

Bae Se-jin grumbled. I shrugged.

“Looks like you’re in a good mood. Because the program went well.”

“that… yes.”

Bae Se-jin muttered darkly.

“… Even though it all went out.”

“… … .”

okay. very… There was no other comedian.

Bae Se-jin and I were silent in the car for a while, remembering that we rode the broadcast with the stupid things we did in episodes 2 and 3 emphasized one by one.

‘I’m afraid of the fan signing event… .’

The silence was broken moments later by words from the steering wheel.

“Sejin, are you right here?”

“Ah yes! This apartment.”

It was an instant when Bae Se-jin looked at the navigation screen and regained his complexion.

‘Anyone who didn’t take out a loan is the power of an apartment.’

Probably.

“It’s the top floor over there!”

Bae Se-jin said with a slightly flushed face.

“She said she was at her mother’s house.”

“yes.”

Yes.

I decided to spend this holiday at Bae Se-jin’s house.

I heard that he is not going anywhere and plans to spend a quiet time with his mother.

The cause was also good.

– Think of it as those houses and come!

-Yes, what.

-… ?!

-Thank you for the invitation.

It is a story that Bae Se-jin was robbed like that.

‘I’m sorry if these were empty words.’

Just in case I didn’t know, I bought the fruit and meat with a little expensive one.

If it’s necessary, I’m going to stay for a day or two just to show off, so it’s okay.

“Welcome~ This is Mundae!”

“hello.”

“Come in, come in~”

Bae Se-jin’s mother was a bright person with a soft impression.

“Did you just watch your entertainment again? Oh my, our babies have been through a lot… .”

okay. Bae Se-jin must be an only child, but it wasn’t very pleasant to see her only child going to the island and going through all kinds of hardships… .

“Still, it was so much fun!”

“… … Um yes.”

I’m glad it gave you some pleasure.

Anyway, as you might have guessed, Bae Se-jin seemed quite harmonious with her mother.

“Mundae is really handsome. Ever since my kid appeared on that program, we’ve been talking about Mundae a lot.”

“When is my me!”

“I heard there is a younger brother who can sing very well~”

“Ugh!”

Bae Se-jin suffered from shame and sank. Bae Se-jin’s mother smiled and hugged her son tightly.

“… … .”

What a nice looking hat.

Bae Se-jin, who recovered from the shock after a while, stood up after being patted on the back by his mother.

“… I’ll show you the room.”

“yes. thank you.”

Let’s not make fun of it.

I was politely introduced to the room I would be staying in, and in the meantime, I even inspected the house.

“I chose the wallpaper. Sky blue.”

“It looks good. Neat.”

“… It’s okay. Ah, if this cabinet is like this too!”

“oh.”

As if he was very proud of the house he had prepared, Bae Se-jin also came to life completely in the second half.

And dinner after spending some time eating the fruit I bought.

“thank you for this food.”

“I don’t have much, but I eat a lot.”

Dinner was nokdujeon and bulgogi japchae.

Bae Se-jin, who was worried that her mother would prepare it by herself, said that the restaurant had it delivered in advance.

‘It feels like a holiday.’

Anyway, I can’t deny that it was a very good time.

“I… !”

“Okay, give me the bowl.”

I emptied the rice bowl and robbed Saejin Bae to wash the dishes.

And after a while, I returned to my room.

widely.

“after.”

Sitting on the bed, I crossed my arms.

He said he would stay alone until night because there were places to contact him, so he had enough time to spare.

“Status window.”

It’s time.

The right time to hit ‘Truth Check’.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 252

Episode 252

※Caution※

This episode deals with depression and death.

In fact, there is still more time until the Maginot Line, where we must ‘confirm the truth’. Because the status ailment countdown isn’t over yet.

However, the problem is that there is no time to review this leisurely after the Chuseok holiday.

‘I’m preparing for the end of the year right after preparing the new album.’

In order to show the group’s ability to promote albums, we couldn’t spend the end of the year in vain. There is no time for ‘truth-checking’ side effects.

‘I don’t know what will happen… I can’t miss the right flag.’

I made the most reasonable judgment on the premise that I could continue this activity.

… If I go back to my original body, I might regret trying to figure it out for a few more months, but… Let’s not think about that.

Because we agreed to prioritize the future in which we can continue this.

I exhaled.

‘Goes.’

[Truth check’〈- click!]

I clicked on the word in the pop-up window.

Click.

As expected, the sight disappeared.

And consciousness sank as if sucked downward.

* * *

“Twenty years old.”

“… yes yes.”

I am sitting in a familiar restaurant.

This is my regular go-to restaurant after I started studying for the civil service exam. It was good value for money and it was convenient to come and eat alone.

But now he wasn’t alone.

Right now, across from me, a child with a bad complexion is sitting and making soup.

In front of the motel next door, he was lying on his face without a coat, so he came to eat while trying to report it.

‘Useless nonsense.’

A guy who should be busy taking care of his own life wants to do everything, but he couldn’t help but do something he had already done.

I sighed. The guy sitting in front flinched and said in a creeping voice.

“I… . I have no money.”

“… … .”

Would you have thought of asking to see your appearance?

“I bought it while I was eating, so eat it all.”

“… thank you.”

You act like a criminal by getting a meal that costs less than 10,000 won. Is it because I don’t look like someone I’m going to buy?

I briefly checked myself in the mirror next to the cash register.

He is a civil servant wearing a hat and glasses, wearing a southern shirt. The limbs look fine though.

It means that things look better than the guy in front of me.

‘hmm.’

I looked over at the guy who was picking up diced radish kimchi.

I’m 20 years old, so I won’t be running away… He’s just a guy like me, but he couldn’t have gone to college.

“Do you have someone to contact?”

“… … .”

“What about Alba?”

“… It’s cut off.”

I know roughly how it happened. I took a spoon and scooped up a spoonful of soup.

and said

“Go from the community center.”

“yes… ?”

“The Administrative Welfare Center. From there, check if the basic living conditions are met. That way you get money every month. Even if it’s not that, there will be a corner to take care of, so ask persistently about anything.”

I unilaterally recited the method to him and continued eating. The child on the other side seemed perplexed, but did not object.

‘It must be inconvenient.’

At that age, I could have done that. I quickly drank the remaining broth and stood up.

“Then I go. Eat and go.”

I’ll go if I have an idea.

“Wait a minute!”

However, while putting on the padding, a panicked call was heard.

And a trembling voice.

“excuse me… Thank you, sorry.”

“… … .”

I paused for a moment, then blurted out the words involuntarily.

“Have you ever worked part-time at a meat restaurant?”

“yes? never did it… .”

Well, it’s hard for minors to work part-time at a meat restaurant. It is usually not accepted unless it is a relative.

I crossed out the top of the candidate and pulled out the next one.

“I’ll introduce you to a part-time job at a convenience store, so contact them. Say that the former part-timer told me. I’ll give you my number.”

Although the owner of the meat restaurant was the weakest at telling stories, it would be okay since the convenience store was also a person who knew how to uphold business morals.

But the other side is more bewildered.

“I don’t have a po phone… .”

“… … .”

I sighed and looked through my smartphone and wrote down my number and the number of the convenience store owner on a piece of tissue paper.

“I get a deposit and open a free phone. I can’t work without it.”

“… … .”

“receive.”

The guy received the tissue paper with a blank face.

And muttered without raising his head.

“thank you… . thank you so much.”

“… … .”

It was probably crying.

I just turned my head. And that was the moment I was about to leave.

“That name… .”

Yes, since I did this shit, it would be right to say the whole name.

“… Ryu Gun-woo.”

okay. You're really good at it, Ryu Gun-woo.

Look at how you are wasting your time and thoughts by projecting your situation onto someone you've never seen before.

"What is your name?"

The young guy on the other side raised his head and answered quite courageously.

"It's Park Moondae."

It was an odd name.

I nodded and left the store this time. To escape from this odd situation.

Even after that, I had occasional contact with this 'Park Moon-dae'.

[I don't know if you remember, but this is Park Moon-dae, who got a meal. Thank you for introducing me to the convenience store.]

I received a text message saying that I received my first convenience store part-time job and that I would buy food.

But I haven't met much. There is no reason to meet, and it is too much to take care of my life.

This guy said he would pay it back, but I don't have any expectations. I didn't do anything other than a meal.

It was okay to just meet up and have a meal once in a while. I don't meet anyone every time, so I think I'm going to have a good time because I feel like I'm going to have a good time.

But apart from that, my report card wasn't okay.

"Are you crazy?"

I never thought I would fail the interview. I even thought I looked at it objectively.

‘It’s like blinds x cubs.’

There is no indicator that can be guessed except that it received a negative in family affairs.

‘The damn family affair was also well packaged.’

Even the interview with the professor worked well.

Normally, it would be a plus, but it seems that the interviewers weren’t so lucky this year.

“… … after.”

I lay down on the mattress. I think my brain is broken.

‘Shall we have a drink?’

Other than that, there was nothing special to do.

After failing that fucking interview for three years as a public official, I drank alone… .

the next morning.

I gave up.

“Let’s lose our hands X-foot.”

The reason was simple. All the money I earned is gone.

From the beginning, I tried to do it until here. Once in the second year and once in the third year.

If the data arm jumps up a notch, how can it be covered… At my age, it was safer to get a job.

‘It was originally prepared for employment safety, but the purpose and means must not be inverted.’

I wanted to have a job that would not starve to death in the worst case and would give me a job and a paycheck in case of some terrible accident.

“… … .”

I briefly thought about lowering the water supply, but I put it off anyway because of the new cost.

‘I’ll take the last train when I’m 29.’

That year, I got a job at a suitable mid-sized company.

And I thought I had lived quite well… I don’t know.

“You can do it by tomorrow.”

“yes.”

Have I exhausted all my mental strength after living only 29 years, or is my inclination to be a social misfit.

I often thought about it on the bus on the way home from work after overtime.

“… … .”

It just didn’t taste very good.

There was no inspiration.

Life was exhausting on one side.

Nothing particularly bad, but nothing good either.

Surviving at the company itself is not a big deal, but in-company politics were also boring. Promotion is also not very exciting.

‘I don’t think this is a typical case.’

What is the helplessness that seems to have accumulated throughout this life?

I thought about consulting a psychiatrist for a while, but it was nothing. Is there anything to cut?

I thought about changing jobs, but I wasn’t very motivated. First of all, this company didn’t give me time to prepare for a job change.

“… … .”

No matter how much I thought about it, no answer came.

Besides having a drink once in a while, is there anything else I can do that interests me?

There was something that flashed through my mind.

picture?

‘It’s too much.’

It was a very expensive hobby. I have neither the time nor the money for that.

However, making money by selling data is not a sustainable job, and it is not something to be done after leaving the company. There were numerous cases where the investment did not earn as much.

“hmm.”

I ordered a rope and painkillers online from my studio. It was interesting for a while.

Still, I thought about it for a few weeks. It’s not an easy decision to make.

However, even after going through that process, the last weekend night was in a very bad shape.

I had the thought of kicking a chair right after the implementation and briefly brushing it.

‘Was this depression?’

However, that thought did not last long.

I’m out of breath… .

* * *

“Heo Eok.”

I got up as if jumping out of bed. And he put his hand to his neck.

‘Breath… .’

It was fine.

“under.”

I put my upper body on the head of the bed. My pajamas were soaked with sweat.

just experienced… No, is this what you’ve been through?

In the meantime, if it was a form of checking other people’s memories, this… .

‘That’s me?’

It was an experience like I was ‘recalling’ a memory.

But the problem is, I have absolutely no recollection of doing anything like that!

My last memory is of falling asleep while drinking alcohol. I have no memory of the subsequent job or the frantic suicide attempt.

Besides, once… .

‘I’ve never met ‘Park Moon-dae’.’

It diverges from this first scene.

If I had to do such a foolish thing to lose money, I wouldn’t be able to forget it.

However, I first saw him after entering the body of this ‘Park Moon-dae’.

Also, the timing was odd.

“Park Moon-dae is not dead.”

Obviously, in the first ‘truth check’ I saw, Park Moon-dae made an extreme attempt at the motel with sleeping pills… .

At that moment, a strange realization came to my mind like a flash.

An attempt is just an attempt.

‘Didn’t Park Moon-dae die?’

Let’s think about it.

Park Moon-dae uses non-prescription sleeping pills… So I just bought a sleep inducer at the pharmacy.

‘Can a person die from over-the-counter medicine?’

I was certain when I started to doubt it. When I searched for it on my smartphone, I was right that no matter how much I ate it, at most I couldn’t die from side effects.

If so, combining the seasons and dates seen in this ‘Truth Verification’… .

‘You met me right after Moondae Park’s suicide attempt.’

The guy who was lost in front of the motel.

that is… back and forth were correct.

“… … .”

And if this guess is correct, it is also possible that I entered the body of Park Mun-dae, who was not dead.

“Then where did you go?”

But there was no answer. There has never been, so there is no way there will be.

I called the status window and asked.

‘Are you Park Mundae?’

However, there was no response on the status window either. Instead, only strange words appeared.

[-Payment in progress-]

I don’t know what kind of fucking bullshit it was, but there was no sign that he would tell us where Moondae Park was.

No, it is not only the whereabouts of Moondae Park that are important. What is the meaning of my sudden madness that I just checked?

did i really do that?

‘I’ve never thought of myself as such a crazy bastard.’

If I did, why the hell did the memory disappear? How can a 29-year-old become an idol’s last line?

“driving me crazy.”

Laughter is all over

Wouldn't it be better to meet Park Moon-sik? In the first place, there is no 'Ryu Gun-woo' itself, so there is no room to explore anything.

As soon as I first entered Park Moon-dae's body, I looked through my cell phone number, SNS, and even the university, but I didn't even have an account… .

'… for a moment.'

The data I took are still there.

I brushed my hair.

then… What if the proposition was changed to 'whether Ryu Gun-woo existed here in the past'?

How to find out any traces of it… there is.

-Yes, Moondae. If it's okay… During this Chuseok holiday, how about going to the members' houses rather than the dorm? Oh, my house is fine too.

Ryu Cheng-wu's house.

Whether it's a family trip album or a video, there's a chance that traces of me and my parents will remain.

"… … ."

smart.

Then a knock was heard outside the door.

"Park Moondae? Are you okay??"

It's Bae Se-jin. Did you hear me talking to myself?

“… yes. Wait a minute after the rat… … .”

“Can you give me that massager?”

“it’s okay. It’s unlocked. wait a minute.”

I got up and changed my clothes.

When I opened the door, Bae Se-jin, who was sitting at the kitchen table, was delighted and hesitated.

“Your clothes… .”

“yes.”

Dressed in street clothes, I nodded.

“I’ll be out for a while. Because I have someone to meet.”

I’ll have to check it out.

* * *

It was a particularly peaceful first day of the holiday.

“Come here.”

“king!”

Ryu Cheong-wu put the black toy poodle on the sofa. The smell of the former and the sound of holiday specials on TV lifted the mood.

However, since it wasn’t my grandfather’s house full of people, the feeling was relatively soft.

“Brother, I’m going!!”

“Okay, have a good trip.”

“You’re coming a little late!”

“Haha that’s right.”

The younger brother left the house grumbling that he hadn’t been able to get a big bite from his older brother who had come home after a long time. Liu Cheng-wu smiled and saw off his younger brother.

It was a family of four, including a dog, but it was not empty. Warm words were exchanged.

“So, how are your younger siblings?”

“They are still good kids. nice and… .”

Ryu Cheong-wu, who inadvertently thought of including Bae Se-jin as his younger brother, hurriedly put Bae Se-jin in a position of the same age.

Then, I thought of a member who was quite an adult even though he was a younger brother.

“Yes, since they are good kids, my son was going to invite them to my house for the holidays~”

“Hahaha.”

Just then, my parents brought up the story.

The most mature brother. Liu Cheng-wu said to invite Park Mun-dae to this house for the holidays.

Of course, my parents agreed with this idea, but they did not warmly welcome it.

Even for Liu Cheng-wu’s close brother, it’s not comfortable to have strangers at home during the holidays.

‘Hmm, I think it would have been better if Sejin had gone home.’

Ryu Cheong-wu reflected on himself that Park Mun-dae could have been rather uncomfortable because he was quick-witted.

‘I’m sure he’s doing well.’

Ryu Chung-woo posted a picture of a dog in Testa’s group message room and saw all kinds of holiday food that came up like a reaction.

“Everyone is doing well.”

It seemed like such a peaceful day passed by.

But that evening. The time period just before going into the night.

Ding-dong –

Someone rang the doorbell. And the In-young outside the door doesn’t leave, whether it’s a courier or not.

“I will see.”

“Okay, son~”

Ryu Cheng-wu got up from the sofa.

‘Are you a stalker?’

Liu Qingyu had a rather negative premonition and immediately checked who was standing.

“… !”

An unexpected person was standing outside the intercom.

Ryu Cheng-wu immediately opened the door.

“… Mundae?”

“Yes brother.”

As he said, Moondae Park was standing in front of the gate.

Without any warning. However, not with calm eyes like usual, but with big eyes.

“I came to play as you said, can I come in?”

Liu Chengwu felt a little creepy.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 253

If You Can't Debut, You'll Get a Deadly Disease Episode 253

On the first night of the holiday season, Park Moon-dae arrives at the front door without warning at 9:00 pm.

It was a situation that Liu Cheng-wu had never imagined.

'I posted it in a group room saying it's okay to come over, but… .'

It's just a joke saying that the food is delicious.

However, the sudden appearance of a person who had firmly rejected his proposal to spend the holiday together without contacting him in advance… It was very bizarre.

'Is that also the Bakmundae?'

Isn't he a cool-headed, good situational judgement, and a bright younger brother?

But right now, Park Moon-dae, standing outside in the dark… .

"brother."

"… … Oh sorry. okay."

Liu Cheng-wu paused for a moment, then moved his feet and moved out of the way to allow Park Mun-dae to enter the house.

In any case, I couldn't let her stand outside tonight.

However, a feeling of unexplained tension made my body tense.

‘what?’

A calm voice was heard.

“I want to wash my hands.”

“… It’s over there.”

Ryu Cheong-wu thought while pointing out the bathroom. I think we should have a calmer conversation when Park Moon-dae comes back from washing up.

‘Let’s tell the parents in advance.’

By now, you must have guessed from the voices that the visitor was your acquaintance.

And Ryu Cheng-wu tried to close the door, but… .

I faced the embarrassed face of Bae Se-jin, who was following behind Park Moon-dae.

“… ??”

why are you out there

“Uh hello.”

“That’s right. hi.”

Bae Se-jin quietly lifted the fruit.

“this… It’s an apple.”

“Ah thank you.”

Liu Chengyu hurriedly accepted the fruit. The strange tension was gone.

‘hmm.’

he then asked

“It’s nice to come to play. But the two… what brings you here?”

“… I just followed Park Moondae.”

Bae Se-jin glanced toward the bathroom where Park Moon-dae entered.

“I’m going to your house, but… What is it? curious.”

‘It felt strange, so I followed you.’

Ryu Cheong-wu asked while reading Bae Se-jin’s worries.

“Have you heard why you’re coming?”

“doesn’t exist. Um but… .”

Bae Se-jin whispered to Ryu Cheng-wu.

“I think I remembered something.”

“… !”

“You suddenly remembered that every time you fell asleep. until now.”

Liu Cheng-wu immediately remembered what had happened in the United States last summer.

– When a person faces fear and pain… I get a little angry and blame others, but that’s okay.

That’s what he said to Park Moon-dae, who finally confessed his true feelings after drinking.

Afterwards, while noticing the symptoms of alcoholism in Park Moon-dae, deep down, Ryu Cheong-woo regretted the approach at that time.

‘Couldn’t there be another way?’

Anyway, it was a shocking experience separately.

Wouldn’t anyone have felt the same if my younger brother, who was calm and smart, suddenly couldn’t control his resistance to me and experienced pain.

It was even more so if the previous memory was blurry and then the memory flashed back and I knew it was like that.

‘Similar… Is it a feeling?’

Ryu Cheong-woo felt a sense of déjà vu from the strange tension he felt from Moon-dae Park, whom he had seen earlier.

So I prepared my mind, but changed my mind when I saw Park Moon-dae coming out of the bathroom.

“Brother, I have a question for you.”

Park Mun-dae’s face showed no reluctance towards Ryu Cheong-wu.

just… The color of the eyes turned upside down seemed like the right expression.

‘this.’

Ryu Cheong-woo quickly exchanged glances with Bae Se-jin.

“Well, once… Should I say hello to my parents and talk to them?”

“yes.”

Bae Se-jin hurriedly washed his hands and came out and joined Moon-dae Park. And Ryu Cheng-wu introduced the two to his parents.

I felt like I was breaking out in a cold sweat.

“here… These are younger siblings, and they came to play with fruit for a while.”

“oh!”

“Welcome~”

My parents seemed a bit surprised, but they welcomed them nicely anyway.

“hello.”

“… hello!”

The two greeted politely, but Ryu Cheong-wu checked Moon-dae Park’s eyes just in case.

And I found Park Moon-dae, who had sad eyes.

‘why… Like that?’

It was because it was not a target.

Ryu Cheong-woo became more confused, but anyway, he sat Park Moon-dae and Bae Se-jin in the living room.

Kamgi jumped up and sat on Park Mun-dae’s lap, and Park Mun-dae skillfully scratched the black puppy’s ears and said.

“brother.”

“That’s right.”

Park Moon-dae’s eyes shone brightly again.

“I thought you would reward me for my hard work.”

“… It did.”

that… It seems that it was not a choice of words, but Ryu Cheng-wu answered honestly anyway. Beside him, Sejin Bae is shaking his pupils.

“I have a request for you to listen to.”

Park Moon-dae spoke quickly without much expression.

“Hyung, I want to see some pictures of you when you were young.”

“… ??”

Words came out that I hadn’t thought of.

“No, preferably with a video. Are there any records that contain the time of a happy extended family?”

Liu Cheng-wu asked an obvious question.

“Why?”

“Just.”

It was an invincible answer.

Bae Se-jin shouted in the form of a mouth from behind.

‘Remember when you were young!’

“… !”

okay. It may be that you catch clues related to your memories when you were young and want to be stimulated by watching similar scenes.

‘Am I closest to Sejin’s family?’

Liu Qingyu thought vaguely and smiled for a moment. It was a smile of relief that he had guessed the situation.

“Okay then, shall we bring something out?”

“yes. please.”

Ryu Cheng-wu quickly went to the living room and took out the album and video.

And what I saw on the way back was Park Moon-dae, who was mechanically stroking Kkam-i, and Bae Se-jin, who was nervous.

“… … .”

Ryu Cheng-wu pondered for a moment, but decided to take into account that although Mun-dae Park may have lost his senses, he is not as shocked as he was last time.

“Do you want to see the album first?”

“I want you to watch the video together while looking at the album. And if possible, I would like to see my older brother in the lower grades of elementary school, would that be okay?”

Seeing that the demands were specific and the age range was accurate, Ryu also thought that Bae Se-jin’s guess might be correct.

“Haha yes.”

Liu Chengwu relaxed a bit and played the video. A picture of him as a child came out on TV.

[Cheongwoo~ Wave your hand here!]

A young self with an embarrassed face filled the screen. At the same time, Liu Qingyu himself was a little embarrassed.

It was probably Chuseok at this time too, and I remembered that all my relatives rented a car and went to play together.

“… What grade are you in? He is tall.”

“Probably in the second grade.”

A weak sense of defeat appeared on Bae Se-jin's expression, but Ryu Chung-woo did not notice it.

It was because Park Mun-dae was scratching the dog's chin next to him.

"also."

"… ?"

Anyway, the three of us sat there and talked about various things while watching albums and videos.

My parents looked up and down the hallway and threw happy glances at me, but they also seemed a little burdened. "Why do you have to show me?"

Perhaps it is because after he retired due to an injury, he suffered from all sorts of media and became defensive towards others.

Ryu Cheng-wu smiled bitterly at the faint feeling of guilt.

'Still, I have to say that Mundae saved my life.'

If Park Moon-dae comes on holiday, I was originally going to say it.

Ryu Cheng-wu thought so and continued to watch the video. The atmosphere wasn't bad.

[Wow!]

The home video was replaced again.

Sejin Bae sees the puppy on his lap and is at a loss for what to do.

'It wasn't a big deal.'

Would you like to sit down like this and talk for a while before going back?

Late night snacks are not good for the body, but since it is a holiday, Ryu thought that he should eat something healthy.

It was then.

Moondae Park stood up in the seat next to him.

"… !!"

"for a moment."

Moondae Park picked up the remote control and stopped the video.

And walked towards the TV screen.

with a confident face.

* * *

'It's me.'

I knew it as soon as I saw it.

On the screen, that guy with a sad face sitting on the corner of the pension sofa holding a book… It was Ryu Gun-woo.

"… … ."

Somehow, the tension is alleviated.

It feels like blood rushing to your head. It was cool.

'It was here too.'

This video is still in its infancy. I don't know if my parents can see it if I turn it a little more… let's be patient

I picked up my smartphone and took that cut.

click.

At that point, Bae Se-jin asked with a puzzled face.

“that… Anyone know?”

“… … .”

right.

I was in a hurry right now, so I forgot my excuse.

‘Is my brain rotten?’

I clicked my tongue and replied.

“I know someone, but I’ve been indebted to him.”

“ah… .”

Excuses become more like excuses the longer they drag on. As I answered quickly, I remembered the scene where I bought food from ‘Park Moon-dae’, so this word came out naturally.

Bae Se-jin was pleased.

“Then did you remember this person?”

“yes? … yes.”

You know how to create a story. thanks.

I added some clue tracking and flesh.

“My name is Gun-Woo Ryu, so I was wondering if he was related to Hyung-Woo Chung. There aren’t many Ryu.”

“I see. … hmm. Looking at it this way, it seems that they look a little alike.”

is it?

In any case, Liu Cheng-wu nodded his head politely, as if the flimsy excuse of having similar names worked well thanks to his appearance.

and spoke kindly.

“Should I ask my parents? Are you a relative you know?”

“… Thank you.”

To be honest, I don’t think I’ll know since I’ve seen his face at least once every few years because he’s such a distant relative, but it wouldn’t be bad to try.

‘I said this, but if I said that I was already in the afterlife due to an accident in middle school… .’

I was a little dizzy at what misunderstanding I might be getting, but I decided to push on. There’s nothing special about this.

And the expected answer came from the parents.

It means ‘I don’t remember’.

“Um… … .”

It’s embarrassing for me, but these two guys are worried.

However, because amnesia has an outstanding impact.

Even such a proposal came out.

“You can ask at door. I think I can find it because I know your age and name.”

“… ! then… Thank you.”

“Thank you for this.”

Liu Cheng-wu smiled and called, and soon after a few words of conversation, he gave me quite positive news.

“He said he’d find out quickly and tell me.”

“It’s a holiday, so thank you.”

“Haha, I’ll tell you that too.”

That’s how ‘Ryu Gun-woo’s Trace’ ended quite successfully.

And the only conversation topic left was the puppy.

Bae Se-jin asked quietly.

“… Is that the end?”

“Yes.”

Bae Se-jin must be worried that her mother is at home alone.

It’s just amazing that they followed me even though I didn’t ask for it. Of course, I didn’t even pay attention to whether he came or not.

“Don’t worry, I’ll tell you over the phone.”

Ryu Cheng-wu also euphemistically expressed his intention, saying, “You can go back.”

So, after saying hello to Ryu Cheong-woo’s parents once more, we went back to Bae Se-jin’s house.

Of course, I didn’t forget to say hello.

“Thank you for the fruit.”

“I bought it because I was living there… !”

It sounds like you’re pretty proud to say that.

Anyway, since I received help so that I don't get taken as a person who has no case while being hectic, I'm thinking of making some holiday food tomorrow.

"after."

So I changed back into my pajamas and lay down on the bed.

However, I couldn't sleep well because of the sight I saw in 'Truth Check'.

"… … ."

Let's hit the X. Anyway, I don't remember anything like that, so what am I thinking about right now? There's no answer.

I brushed off my thoughts and called someone to replace me.

"Status window."

Well, it seems that there is still such a thing as 'settlement in progress', but… .

Pupper bubbung!

"… !!"

Suddenly, pollen burst in front of my eyes.

Pollen made of holograms came out of the pop-up and scattered beautifully on the bed.

And the status window ecstatically flashed with a rainbow of light.

[Great success!]

User: Park Moon-dae (Ryu Gun-woo) succeeded in removing all status abnormalities!

Reward: Permanent Status Window Title

[Create title!]

: Successful person (idol)

I hope you have a sweet life.

“… … .”

what?

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 254

If I can’t debut, I’ll get sick to death Episode 254

Glitter and pollen still fall from the pop-up in front of me.

However, no matter how surreal the scene was, the content inside the pop-up was the problem. Is this the end?

‘what’s this.’

It looks like he got hit in the back of the head.

Of course, I wanted to stop doing crazy things where I was threatened with sudden death if I failed to become an idol after a year.

But this way, this timing… Are you kidding me now?

“What the fuck are you?”

He even showed that he committed crazy things in his life after falling out of public notice, which he did not even remember in his friendship with ‘Park Moon-dae’, which he had never even remembered.

It is ending without any explanation or process, as if it were some kind of stop loss.

“Then why did you show me?”

If it wasn’t for that fucking ‘truth-checking’, wouldn’t I have somehow accepted my success and continued living?

What, ‘Ryu Gun-woo’ has already given up his life once, so don’t worry about that life?

Do you just want to live well as Park Moon-daero?

“Then where did the original guy go?”

Originally, where did Park Moon-dae go? And what is ‘Ryu Gun-woo’ in Ryu Chung-woo’s video that I checked?

It’s a ‘truth check’ and it’s nabal, and nothing has been clarified. And I didn’t understand anything.

However, there was no change in the pop-up.

“… … after.”

okay.

Don’t stupidly scream at the hologram, start by figuring out the situation.

I took a deep breath and took a closer look at the contents of the pop-up.

First of all, from the title that came up first.

[Title: Successful (Idol)]

-You have succeeded.

: Permanent removal of status abnormalities

“… … .”

It meant that I wouldn’t make people go crazy with another ‘status abnormality’ suddenly.

However, even the guy who guarantees this is not very trustworthy in that it is a system that raises the ‘status abnormality’. pass.

and… One other than the title in the Rewards tab.

[Permanent status window]

It means that I can check the status of me and the others by stating them in the future.

"… … hmm."

I crossed my arms.

After watching this, my head went cold again.

because it was weird

'Isn't I too advantageous?'

There was nothing bad about me. There is probably no such useful ability in the industry. It's a skill that won't fail even if you set up an agency.

this… Leave me a supernatural reward and finish.

Without any prior notice?

"… … ."

I was so mad that I lost my hand or something, but this… It seems to be closer to the end of the service rather than a loss.

This system was just unloaded because I finished all the status ailments I was assigned.

I have no reason to explain my curiosity or the cause of this situation.

"… Damn it."

I don't know.

I just lay down after watching the pop-up in despondency.

Yeah damn, anyway, the status ailment is graduation. How nice it is that even if you live as you please, the sudden death is gone.

No matter how much I tried to think of it, the bitter aftertaste wouldn't go away.

I was able to fall asleep after quite some time.

The damn celebration pop-up stayed up until morning.

* * *

My head was complicated, so moving my hands was at least comfortable.

"It's okay!"

"I'm fine too."

I fried seafood and green onion pancakes. And I even did seasoned ribs that I hadn't planned. Among the meat I bought, there was raw ribs.

The landlord's hat was restless, but after the tasting, the momentum subsided.

"Does it taste good?"

"… … huh."

"It's really delicious, but ahh, but to the guests… ."

be a guest

Come to think of it, unlike Bae Se-jin, I have never purchased real estate apart from lodging.

The other members originally had a house, so they wouldn't have to live there, but now I… Maybe I should take a look at the house. Because I have to live with this body.

However, even though I judged it to be a reasonable plan, I was not very reluctant.

‘driving me crazy.’

It’s even more amazing knowing that it’s a full stomach.

“Thank you, I ate well.”

“Don’t think about washing the dishes, just watch TV~”

Still, the meal was okay. It was also suitable for a holiday meal.

And around the time I was absentmindedly watching TV, my smartphone rang.

[Ryu Chung-woo hyung]

“… !”

I said that I would find out about ‘Ryu Gun-woo’ in my family.

‘It’s fast.’

I got a call right away.

“brother.”

-Ah Moondae. got it quickly

Behind Liu Chengwu’s voice, he heard the faint barking of a dog.

Of course that doesn’t matter. The important thing is the main body of the phone call.

-The person you saw called ‘Ryu Gun-woo’.

“yes.”

-Well, since college, I haven't been in contact with you in particular.

"… … ."

oh.

Ryu Cheng-wu said he was sorry that he couldn't even give him his contact information, but it was already a big enough clue.

'This means that 'Ryu Gun-woo' went to college at least.'

I crossed my arms.

This… Originally, my actions were correct.

After high school, when I was living with a few relatives, I stopped visiting this place altogether. Even if I contacted you, I only had useless thoughts.

"okay. thank you for telling me."

-Are you sorry?

"no. Still, it's refreshing because he's a real person. Thank you for noticing."

– It was just a phone call.

Liu Cheng-wu added in a slightly joking tone.

– I have to do better to repay you for saving me.

"… … ."

yeah what… . If you feel comfortable thinking like that.

I gave up on correcting him and just talked about the holidays and hung up.

And the next route was set right away.

“What are you doing?”

“I’m going to use my laptop.”

Now I’ll have to take a different approach.

As soon as I entered this body, I had already checked about myself, ‘Ryu Gun-woo’.

It means that I checked the various portal site accounts, phone numbers, and school accounts I used.

So this time it goes the other way.

‘It wasn’t alive, but there are traces of a dead account.’

It is to find out the accounts and traces that I have already deleted or returned to dormancy.

‘I deleted… The data and videos of the direct cam account remained.’

Videos of ‘gun1234’.

Things like Youngrin’s Legend fancam on a rainy day.

it was derived from there.

I immediately turned on the search engine’s advanced search function and adjusted the search date.

to the past.

“… … .”

After more than two or three hours of searching and browsing like that.

I concluded

‘there is.’

All the accounts and records that ‘Ryu Gun-woo’ wrote in the past remain.

For example, things like questions I left in photo-related cafes when I was a newbie.

It took me a while to rummage because I don’t prefer to leave comments or traces on the Internet, but I was sure it was there without knowing it was there.

The only thing missing are traces of internet accounts and phone numbers that were alive in real time.

So, ‘Ryu Gun-woo’ is… It disappeared from all places, including the Internet and the real world, starting from the moment I entered the body of ‘Park Moon-dae’.

‘It evaporated.’

Yes. It was a supernatural evaporation.

“… after.”

I covered my laptop.

And then the story was put together again.

Actually, from the first time I came into this body, I guessed this.

This is not the world I used to live in, and there is no Ryu Gun-woo.

But no.

‘The past I lived in is correct.’

I found this Ryu Kun-wu on the Internet from Ryu Cheng-wu’s video, which means I’m right.

therefore… In the process of returning to the past, I became Park Moon-dae instead of Ryu Gun-woo due to an unknown action, and Ryu Gun-woo disappeared.

‘Why did that happen… .’

I can not know. I don’t know the mechanism why people come back to the past in the first place.

Even Cheong-ryeo, who returned to the past before me, didn’t know why.

“… … .”

‘Isn’t there a way?’

Should I just live at home and prepare to settle down without knowing anything properly?

It was when I was staring at my folded laptop with a strange sense of exhaustion.

drooling-.

The smartphone rang. Without thinking, I picked it up and checked it.

Dozens of messages floated.

‘It’s accumulated quite a lot.’

I haven’t seen it for about three hours. I checked the new message on the group message room, which became active due to the holiday special.

It was Seon Ah-hyun.

[Ahyeon Seon: Moondae, how are you doing? My parents were trying to contact you, but they said you might feel burdened, so I contacted you as the representative.]

Seon Ah-hyun’s long sentence, which started like that, started with her own holiday greetings, and then went around the group’s activities.

It was the content of Seon Ah-hyun.

[I think Moondae is a really great person. Even if you do what you normally do, you will definitely make a good album… … .]

But this part took some time.

“As I usually do… .”

I knew it was just an expression attached to a virtue, but I read it again for no reason.

Like a clue to something… .

“… !!”

okay. i get it.

[Thank you for your consideration. Have a good Chuseok holiday and see you at the dorm.]

After checking the reply, I immediately turned off my smartphone screen.

Then I sat on the bed and looked at the wall and thought.

– As I usually do.

Throw away all other thoughts.

Stay calm. Let’s combine only the knowledge I gained from experiencing this damn status window.

The first is a daydream from a coma.

‘There’s a system and status window, and it didn’t work properly.’ -Enjoy your daydream :)

Because the achievements were not achieved at all.

‘Nevertheless… It was possible to draw.’

It must have been because it was a pop-up that I obtained in advance and did not delete.

And now as in that daydream there is no response from the system.

Not a single pop-up I’ve been saving for just in case has gone away.

[Legendary Attribute Draw ☜ Click!]

This.

A lottery obtained after completing an online donation concert and updating performance achievements.

There is only one.

And since I was able to draw in my daydream, I already know that I will be able to spin it now.

‘second is… .’

The point is that this status window, which only appears to me, is favorable to my success.

Cheongryeo did not have a status window. Perhaps the old man who came from the future that Cheongryeo met did the same.

It seems I’m the only one with this. I don’t know why.

‘and… In particular, this point is revealed through the draw.’

No matter what probability manipulation, he always came up with what I needed.

However, there are cases where it is not.

‘The time of indulgence and Bacchus were chosen differently.’

They are what I picked out with strong desire after I figured out this ‘need’ mechanism, and in front of the draw.

In other words, if you specifically desire it intensely, you may receive what you want.

I noticed this. The picture of the ping-rule-

roulette machine spins.

I hoped.

‘What I want… .’

One.

‘Similar effect to compensation for abnormal status!’

Fanfare erupted at the roulette.

Probably the last roulette effect I can see.

Kahn shining with rainbow light.

[Attribute: ‘Mission constitution (S)’ obtained!]

[Attribute: Mission constitution (S)]

-Equivalent exchange for you who take on challenges

: ‘Mission’ can be performed

.

I banged my head against the wall.

And in front of my eyes, a new pop-up was emerging.

[Mission occurs!]

Goal: Target

Mission Deadline: D-__

Reward: _____

Penalty: _____

I looked up and saw a hologram.

Because it was a ‘characteristic’, it had a high degree of freedom, incomparable to ‘status abnormality’.

“good.”

I once met the deadline. 500 days.

[Penalty is strengthened when D-365 is exceeded.]

Right now, there are 3 months left in the year, so are you kidding with the target open? next.

‘The important thing is the reward.’

You cannot include anything that is not specific, such as ‘truth’ or ‘reason’. Imagine getting hit in the back every time.

However, I can’t put anything specific like ‘explanation of why and how I came into this body’. I couldn’t write more than one column.

‘That’s funny.’

I smiled and crossed my arms.

If so, why not take a different approach?

A candidate who can answer questions about all these situations.

A man whose whereabouts are unknown.

“With Moondae Park… conversation.”

What are you going to do?

[Reward: Conversation with Moondae Park]

was entered normally.

And the penalty was automatically filled.

[Penalty: Status window deleted]

“Oh.”

Hang the status window?

I deleted the contents of the reward tab for a while and put something like ‘dance EX’ in it.

The penalty was a decrease in dance stat.

‘As expected, they demand the same thing.’

Then, the ‘conversation with Park Moon-dae’ means that the reward is intense enough to require ‘deleting the status window’.

“All right.”

There is no evidence.

I returned the reward to ‘conversation with Moondae Park’.

When I clicked OK, an unfamiliar pop-up appeared.

[Are you sure you accept?]

[Y / N]

“Yes.”

let’s go get it

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 255

If you can't debut, you'll die of a disease Episode 255

After accepting a crazy deal that disappears the status window if you don't hit the target within 500 days.

The rest of the holiday vacation just went by peacefully.

Actually, I went back to the dorm a few days early and tried to extensively analyze the global and domestic trends in pop music for the next album… .

When I woke up, I was producing holiday food.

"… … ?"

"Oh my gosh, you make songpyeon so beautifully~ Our Sejin doesn't have dumplings?"

"mom!"

"… thank you."

It seems that there is some influence from 'Truth Confirmation' to missions that made my head explode. I was drawn to what I could do without thinking.

So, I just wrote "Testa's Island Life" and read "Mission in Distress" and spent time monitoring the variety show.

[Cha Yoo-jin: Wow!]

[Ryu Cheong-wu: Watch your feet!]

“You edited it in a spectacular way.”

“… I know.”

The image of getting supplies by helicopter after climbing the hill after preparing the equipment was somewhat reminiscent of a passionate sports game or expedition.

And predation given like a reward.

[Yum yum yum]

[Enjoy it, enjoy it, Testa… ☆]

Rather than just blindly healing, I liked the drawing. Is it because it looks better in contrast to the hardships and hardships of supply?

‘The reaction must have been fine until the end.’

And the reaction on the internet that I sneakily checked was really like that.

-I thought it would be a dog-no-jam budung-bu-dung entertainment, but it was unexpectedly good

-I healed the kids, but I’m all healed

. It’s a format that would have been fun even if it wasn’t a testa haha

┗ If it wasn’t a testa

in the first place

. I know you’re a Testa fan, but aren’t you ignoring other idols and broadcasters too much

?;;

‘I can’t control the public opinion that it’s fun, so I’m pushing the side that it’s not because of Testa.’

It was a good thing.

However, what was unexpected was that this ripple effect did not end in Korea.

‘Selling hotteok wasn’t even this much.’

It wasn’t the entertainment show that had to reflect the opinion of the general manager, who openly said he would target the United States, and I didn’t know that a domestic pilot like this would flourish.

[TeSTAR in a deserted island and – DISASTER? (Surprised emoticon)]

The broadcast summary clip uploaded by the broadcaster quickly gained a lot of views, and within a few days English translation titles and subtitles began to be provided.

Distress and luxury vacation.

It seemed that overseas fans were actively recommending summaries to WeTube reaction channels, probably because it was originally fun and easy to understand.

[Americans overwhelmed by Testa’s distress entertainment!]

[This is the entertainment of K-pop idols! Overseas YouTubers’ reactions surprised by the explosion of fun (Korean subtitles)]

Naturally, it flowed into the translation gukppong channel, and a virtuous cycle was created in which new content was created.

… I messed around a bit, though.

[Wtuber: Oh god, are they trapped in a hurricane right now?? On an uninhabited island??]

[Wetuber: No, I thought it would be sweet and cute because I heard it was a real variety of K-pop idols… .]

[Youtuber: Oh my God! Look at them surprised hahaha]

[(They're just automatically into it as soon as they see it~ Welcome.)]

Adding subtitles like this would be one of the selling points, but I can't help but feel embarrassed by the viewers.

"hmm."

"… What are you looking at?"

"Ah, the overseas reaction to our variety shows."

"that… ! Did you see it too?"

Bae Se-jin's eyes flashed. Like a guy who was looking for a way to escape his body, he seems to have a deep knowledge of this.

"Oh, not this person… There are people who have a good selection of videos. for a moment."

Sejin Bae turned on WeTube on TV and entered one of his subscription channels. It seems that he is enjoying his WeTube life in earnest more than he thought.

And the video played by Bae Se-jin was quite good.

[Hello, this is K-Pop Manse.]

In fact, there is no distortion or exaggeration, and the back story of the YouTuber he translated is well prepared. There are no subtitles that are forced to fill in the mulberry.

"It's fun."

"… greatness! yes."

I wish I managed to find something like this among the similarly solemn titles and channel names. This isn't something you can find with keywords.

I watched the video on that channel for a long time after that. Because it looks good without thinking.

However, in the process, I discovered a strange pattern.

'There is a flow.'

For example, if there is a foreigner who is new to Testa through this variety show, usually ask for a music video recommendation, which is Testa's main job, in the comments.

[If there are any videos I need to see again, please recommend them in the comments. Don't forget to subscribe too!]

Then, KPOP fans come and leave comments, mostly < Spring Out >.

-Oh my God, you are reviewing Testa! (Laughing emoticon)

-Their true talent is not entertainment, but stage????????????Please watch this music video first! (Link)

-'Spring Out' is a must-see. I can't wait for his reaction. (Emoji wearing a birthday cone)

It's the taste of Joseon steampunk with lots of capital. It seemed to work well because it was a blockbuster movie without any special likes or dislikes.

'I was aiming for that in the first place, but I made it.'

It's rewarding to see that overseas fans are really using things that were intended for overseas reactions.

And if the response here is good, the next 'going' will be held.

-The two songs are connected in a kind of series! I bet it will definitely be your taste☺

I don't forget the meticulousness of letting people watch the main story only after watching the teaser that includes all of the members' solo songs.

'And if you ask me to recommend something similar again, I'll tell you the < 127 Section > game collaboration trailer video… .'

After going through the same worldview, 'Better me', he eventually comes to the 'Magic Boy'.

It was a magic circle where everyone volunteered to be a 'Lover' after one circle.

[Hello subscribers! As you know… I'm completely into Testa, the K-pop big star these days! They're just love viewers!]

[Today, we're going to react to their newest song, 'Nightmare'. 1 2 3 play!]

K-pop reaction is a business that gets quite a lot of views, so many YouTubers exaggerate, but it was a great thing anyway.

'Most of the 1st team has this route.'

For example, VTIC also showed such a route. It usually starts with < Sangun >.

Anyway, more than I expected, Testa was exerting a significant influence on the global WiTube trend.

And that wasn't the end.

[Testa's Overcoming and Rising]

Similar sales videos with English titles, which translate to this, were going around with an unusually large number of views.

"… … ."

Check out the one with the most views.

[One of the eldest brothers and leader, Ryu Cheong-woo, was originally a South Korean national archery representative and a gold medalist in the men's team event in the Olympics.] [However, due to fatal sequelae from a childhood car accident, he retired from the national team in the year he became an adult. .]

This video summarizes Testa's backstory, how she debuted through a brutal audition program, and how she achieved great results after that.

It was also a video about how they recovered from a recent horrific car accident and held a donation concert.

In a word, it means that it was a dramatic success story.

'Looks like American taste… .'

The taste of the self-made song and the twisting story was thick like a beef bone.

[Testa's eldest, Bae Se-jin, was a child actor who appeared in a very famous movie in Korea.] [

He played a traditional Korean child shaman and won an award at a film festival with his tremendous acting skills… .]

"Huh… … ."

Beside him, Bae Se-jin saw his young self performing gut and covered his face.

"Aren't you proud?"

"Are you kidding me?? I can't do it completely."

It seems that he has a dark history because he has grown up and his eye level has increased.

In any case, it was a bit exaggerated, but it was definitely a well-made video.

In addition, the traffic accident was cross-edited with the news to reproduce the feeling of the fandom at the time.

“hmm.”

“… Everyone was worried.”

[And finally, the moment the last member is discharged, they come up with an amazing plan.]

[It was an online donation concert for long-term hospitalized children.]

And the donation concert… Well, in fact, from these people’s point of view, since Testa is a foreigner, there will be a sense of mental distance, so it doesn’t matter much if the focus is on ‘good influence’.

For entertainers from other countries, even if something embarrassing happens, isn’t the rationalization of ‘cultural differences’ a barrier?

‘Still, I’ll have to figure out the image.’

I even checked the comments on my mobile just in case.

– A group of people who want to execute the former manager of this video without fail

– He should rot in prison for the rest of his life.

-Oh my God, you stopped your car on the road in the middle of the night and made threats? It is an evil seed that should not exist in the world.

” … .”

The comment section was a donation concert, and it was nabal, and it was a momentum to burn the former manager at any moment. Even though it’s someone else’s language, I feel a sense of ugliness.

‘As expected, anger is a universal sentiment.’

It wasn’t too bad anyway. Because violent criminals get scolded for their crimes.

He doesn’t have a particularly heartbreaking story, and he has nothing to sympathize with.

‘Of course, I think I’ve already eaten enough even if it wasn’t for this.’

Besides, he had a bleak future ahead of him.

I heard that the former manager, who faced the wrath of the public opinion, was charged with attempted murder due to intentional negligence.

And the attention was focused, and there was no background, and the criminal trial was ruined like a case that turned a large company into an enemy.

“Come to think of it, I told my manager that I was sentenced to 17 years.”

This was not commuted and was beaten intact. It will probably be the same in the second trial that appealed.

Bae Se-jin nodded bluntly.

“okay. Actually, that kind of guy should live and die there for the rest of his life, not 17 years.”

“… … .”

no… Even if I get out of prison, I won’t be able to live properly.

While working as a manager, all sorts of fans had already taken pictures of him, so his face came up just by searching the Internet.

Perhaps, like other cases, even after living in prison for about three to four years, I would have had to give up doing normal work in Korea.

Besides, now that I see it, it seems difficult to live abroad.

The testa sales video, in which the former manager's face is openly exposed, has 8 million views, but what?

'The more Testa gets, the harder it will be to live after being released from prison.'

And so it will be.

I shrugged.

"You seem to be someone you won't see face to face in the future, but you feel comfortable."

"… okay. It's a holiday."

Bae Se-jin nodded his head with difficulty.

Beside him, the boy's mother smiled happily.

yes it is a nice sight

'Take a lot of rest before work.'

As soon as the vacation ends, I plan to properly prepare for this album.

I thought for a moment.

What does the fan base who is drowning in the Algorithm Swamp of Testa want?

'It's a good song.'

okay. The deep worldview is good, and the easy listening and musicality are good, but I need to take a more primitive approach than that.

Intense and cool choreography, intense music video that kills visual beauty, and exciting and expensive sound.

Just fun things to watch and listen to without thinking about anything else.

There is no magic pill like that to solidify the global momentum that spreads like a viral.

‘In a word, money should be poured like water.’

That was the only corner that the tops of this company were good at, so there is no problem.

However, it is no longer possible to appease these guys who are trying to put a spoon on them somehow to interfere with the overall picture.

‘It’s a waste of time.’

I had to keep the words I said to Bae Se-jin, who handed over the data collected for the lawsuit.

-I’m thinking that it could have the same effect as a lawsuit in a different direction.

It’s a company that was caught trying to slip away after giving all the attention to the ex-manager and almost got fucked.

‘I have to go see him once.’

I spent the rest of the holiday planning a pleasant meeting with the general manager.

And on the first day after the holiday, I set up an interview with him.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 256

If you can’t debut, you’ll get a fatal disease Episode 256

The night after the Chuseok holiday, the evening at the dorm.

The members started to return one by one.

Actually, I thought Bae Se-jin and I would be the first to arrive, but there was someone who came first.

“uh?”

“Oh, you’re here! Welcome Welcome! Even Sejin hyung-nim~”

Keun Sejin, whose home is close to the dorm, returned early and was lying on the sofa in the living room. What you see is a specialization of < Testa's Island Life > with a commentary.

From what I’ve heard, it seems that he enjoyed the first-team idol’s holiday by throwing autographs to his excited cousins.

It won’t be long before eyewitness accounts and autographs of big-name relatives will flood social media.

“How have you been at the cold-hearted Moondaemundae? My first lady wanted to see you in real life, but she said that she was sorry!”

The guy who went to my grandparents’ house is good at talking.

“okay. I’ll have to give you a video call next time.”

“haha!”

Big Sejin chuckled.

I don’t know if it’s good to rest or if I’m relieved after checking the popularity in real life, but it’s nice to have some time anyway.

Now I can squeeze out every last drop of energy when making an album.

“Ah, many of you have already come.”

“I’ve been there… !”

Ryu Cheng-wu and Sun Ah-hyun arrived almost at the same time. Seon Ah-hyun said that she went on a family trip again, and even brought souvenirs from a small island in the South Sea.

I accepted the wild goose-shaped bread that Seon Ah-hyeon offered. Inside was green tea cream.

“Ooh, it was near the island we went to! My parents said they wanted to go… .”

‘Even after seeing the suffering… ?’

I don’t know. But let’s just say it was fun.

“Did you spend your holiday comfortably!”

And Kim Rae-bin, who packed a bundle and brought it… Something got a little chubby.

From her grandmother’s hospitalization to her own car accident, she seems to have fed her grandson a lot this year for his hardships.

“Brothers?”

“… … Well, welcome.”

“yes!”

what will be ok because it is inactive. It's not even a health problem… If you prepare an album, you will automatically have no choice but to return to the original.

Besides, it turns out at dawn that this level was good.

This is because the guy with the most unconventional image transformation appeared at the end.

"Hurray! Everybody say hello~ like Hello!"

"Cha Yoo-jin!!"

It was Cha Yoo-jin, who came by plane from Los Angeles early in the morning.

This guy… The skin was mottled.

In a good way, it looks healthy, and in a bad way, it is a sunscreen destroyer.

It must have been an amazing holiday at the beach.

'The stylist must be the flagship… .'

Wouldn't it be made to take only vitamin D orally after locking it indoors?

"hey! you! what a face!"

First of all, Kim Rae-bin is startled and slaps Cha Yu-jin on the back.

"Ouch! no! I am healthy and cool!"

"no it's not! This isn't a healthy tan, it's just a tan without rules due to mismanagement!"

"Raebin Kim didn't exercise either! A failure!"

"… ! Oh no, I soon recovered my muscle loss through exercise… ."

Anyway, after the fuss was over, I was able to get to the point.

It was 2:00 in the morning.

“tomorrow… No, I’m going to go to work around lunch today.”

“Huh?”

“Why why… ?”

“Moondae, you are too much of a workaholic. Get some rest. You came here from work at Sejin hyung’s too, right?”

“No, just listen.”

If you say anything, it will come crashing down.

I pressed my forehead and spoke out.

“I thought it was a pity that we, especially Bae Se-jin hyung, collected the lawsuit materials… .”

I put into words the plans I had leisurely laid out during the holidays.

“hmm.”

Bae Se-jin, who had already heard it before departure, nodded without any reaction, while the others went through exclamation marks and became faces filled with anguish.

“Is that possible… ?”

“… do it possible I asked the lawyer.”

Following Sejin Bae’s answer, Raebin Kim raised his hand.

“Are you doing anything illegal?”

“No, that’s not it.”

After that, a fairly productive discussion and Q&A ensued.

In the end, Big Sejin shrugged.

“Well, anyway, everything we want is agreed upon, right? It looks like it will work.”

“okay. Then, let’s all go together tomorrow and talk about it.”

I shook my head.

“No, I think it would be better for me to go alone.”

“uh?”

On the contrary, such a guy will find the secret one-on-one overbearing. I mean, if younger guys come in groups, they’ll feel like a lower class.

One representative was adequate.

I added a comment after explaining that part.

“I think Chungwoo-hyung would mistake it for an official deal if Leaderra-hyung was the representative. I guess I’d better go and catch them off guard.”

“Um… … .”

Bae Se-jin frowned and opened his mouth.

“Still, considering retaliation or threats… .”

“it’s okay. I have no intention of using such extreme measures.”

“… … ?”

Why is your face like that

I was puzzled for a moment, then burst into laughter.

“Ah, the general manager to me?”

“… … .”

“I can’t. What kind of guy is that?”

And after a while, the final decision was made on me as the presenter of the opinion.

It went smoothly.

* * *

The third general manager of T1 Stars had a decent holiday break.

This is because, although the mad fired man made a headache, he was excited about his recovery right before the holiday.

Still, my head was still pounding when I thought of the damage to the company’s image and the loss caused by the head office’s interference and cancellation of the tour.

‘It was fortunate that he recovered.’

Fortunately, the member of Testa, who was in a coma, did not die, but the next move was not very satisfactory.

‘In the meantime, a donation concert.’

That’s also on the related platforms of other agencies.

I was very suspicious.

‘Could it be that I’ll try to transfer there?’

I couldn’t stop it because of the public opinion and the atmosphere, but since it was my first time in the entertainment industry, the general manager, who thought of an idol’s agency as close to a sports club, was more embarrassed.

Because I thought I was looking at the liver.

However, there was no sign that Testa was contacting the agency again, and he dispelled his suspicions.

‘As soon as public opinion recovers, I’ll calm down and go on tour.’

At the same time, I planned to prepare the next album and launch it globally in time for the end of the tour.

In the meantime, it was already stressful to have to reflect the words of the idols who were vociferous.

‘Those who didn’t even graduate from college will do the business face madam properly.’

Didn’t the industry come to this point because of star marketing made to sell tickets in the early days of Hollywood?

Anyway, he clicked his tongue, saying that the entertainment business has no structure or dignity.

I jumped in with ambition, but my spirit fell.

‘I need to pull out my portfolio for a few years and launch another business line.’

Then, he came to an appointment with the members of Testa that he had made during lunchtime.

“hello.”

“Yes, welcome.”

Actually, this was a bit odd. Where is he in a position where he has to make an appointment at the word of a celebrity he belongs to?

Still, it could be used as a new card, so I thought I’d give it a listen.

It is true that the company was in trouble because of the car accident.

‘Let’s see.’

He guessed it by looking at Testa member Moondae Park, who came out alone.

‘Is it a request.’

He was informed that he was not the leader and that he was the one who contacted the head office last time.

However, I didn’t even think that a dedicated testa team was created because of that.

It was because he had no doubt that a tantara who hadn’t even graduated from high school would have such a head.

Still, I had an idea to use it.

‘He’s the type who can’t overcome his own greed if he’s encouraged.’

It was because he seemed like a guy who had the right to speak on the team and was greedy for success in his own way.

So, even after recovering from a coma, he came to see himself!

However, as soon as he sat down in the room of the sushi restaurant where the course meal was served, Moondae Park took out the documents.

“It’s a court document.”

“Kheop!”

The head of the headquarters was sad.

However, the idol in front of him just stared at him without moving.

It is a face that observes indifferently.

“… … .”

The head of the headquarters seemed to be widening in anger at the moment, but he took care of the truth first.

that is the document.

And I was astonished.

“… … !”

“This is evidence of the agency’s negligence regarding the former manager.”

The paperwork was meticulous in a legal sense.

In addition, there were parts where specific details were intentionally erased, so even if you checked this paper, it was difficult for the company to create refutation materials.

Anyone can see that the expert’s hand has reached.

‘Have you hired a lawyer… !’

The head of the headquarters took a deep breath and lowered the paperwork.

“So why are you showing this to me?”

“… … .”

“Looking at it, I don’t think I’m going to sue right away. Is this because I want something?”

Park Moon-dae acknowledged.

‘He’s got his own head.’

After all, Lee was neither a parachute nor a relative of an executive. He was just an ego-bloated senior.

And that made it easier to talk about.

The night before he returned to the dorm. I remembered the conversation with Bae Se-jin.

-… Moondae Park You talked about taxes when you first settled. This is the amount before tax, so it will be taken away a lot later.

-yes.

-that's right. It was. Celebrities were not workers.

Park Moon-dae also knew at the time of writing the contract based on the legal knowledge he had gained through college and civil service exams.

Celebrities do not sign an employment contract with a company.

Therefore, they are classified as individual entrepreneurs rather than workers, and in many cases, the Labor Standards Act or the Occupational Safety and Health Act are not properly applied.

'The agency's power is too great to see it that way.'

It's not something he can change right now, so let's just move on.

This is what Moondae Park thought.

'If you think the other way around, you mean you can write the contract more freely?'

Isn't this a contract between business owners?

So I make this suggestion.

"We put additional clauses in the basic contract. A penalty and guarantee clause."

“Guarantee.”

“Yes, it’s not serious, but it’s a kind of bet concept. contents is… .”

Park Moon-dae laughed.

“If Testa wins the grand prize at the annual awards ceremony during the following year, we fully support Testa’s establishment of a new independent label.”

“… … !!”

“The deadline is set at two years… Oh, of course, the form is Sanha. What if the contract is terminated? I have to stay with T1.”

The paper that Moondae Park gave out was full of details.

-‘Annual Awards Ceremony’ refers to an award ceremony held by the main body of a music source or music platform that broadcasts 70% or more of sales figures in the music market in that year.

-… During the verification period, A guarantees B’s proactive and safe activities. In that provision, ‘leading’ means… … .

In a word, it meant that we would take care of ourselves, so please don’t interfere and take care of us properly.

And Park Moon-dae knew.

‘This bastard has no connections in the entertainment industry.’

What I have is a personal connection with the board of directors at T1 Headquarters, enough to fill the position here. But you won’t be able to talk about this to your superiors because of reputation issues.

‘Then I’ll have to take it alone.’

No, it doesn’t matter if you think about it.

‘Because we have no intention of arguing with T1, and it’s just a repetition of the assertion that we want to distance ourselves from this agency where you are the general manager.’

It was a logic that was already used when requesting a dedicated team. Even if the deal was discovered, there was no reason for the headquarters to be hostile to Testa anew.

“… … .”

At that time, the head of headquarters also finished the calculation similarly.

The fact that the bomb would explode if he threatened or came out forcefully.

So I clasped my hands together and spoke more seriously.

“I understand the artist’s opinion, but… It’s not something I can ok with, right? I am a practitioner… I have to tell the CEO of the board of directors.”

It was a lie. In fact, the CEO position was only given to give business cards to T1 relatives.

In fact, the person to discuss the amendment to this contract was the head of the headquarters.

“Oh, I don’t know that well.”

Park Moon-dae did not blink an eye.

“Just convince the general manager.”

“… ! what… .”

“no… Because I don’t know. If not, I think it would be easier for us to just sue. Your lawyer will take care of that.”

Are you crazy?

The headquarters director was speechless and looked at Park Mun-dae, but his smooth face showed no signs of agitation.

So he knew too.

This guy was really going to file a lawsuit without batting an eye.

And this crazy guy can't be persuaded.

"In a little while, we will do a new season of < Azusa >, and the people who debut there will belong here, so our contract period is short, so what… Labels are fine. isn't it?"

"… … ."

"If you win the grand prize, you can make a label or something, but it doesn't seem difficult."

and at sunset that day.

Park Moon-dae returned home with all 7 sheets of contracts that had been modified and stamped and stamped.

'It's neat.'

I knew this would happen if I didn't give it time and push myself.

I would have done something useless if I had given a day or two more deadlines on this matter.

'The correct answer is to deal with it quickly.'

And the additional clause doesn't prevent you from riding the target, as Testa's grades are related to his career anyway.

That general manager is a guy who has a lot of dirty desire for honor.

In addition, a provision for compensation in case of double violation was also put in place just in case.

Park Moon-dae shrugged.

‘I couldn’t make a legal precedent the way Bae Se-jin wanted… I hope you’ll be satisfied with this.’

Anyway, until next year, and if you ride the Daesang, you won’t be able to move completely freely until after that.

What if you can’t hit the target?

‘At that time, the contract period was really short, so it didn’t matter.’

He shrugged.

Either way, there was nothing to lose.

“Shall we go prepare an album?”

He was ready to devote all his spare time to it.

‘I make it properly this time.’

… That’s how the extremely high-intensity album preparation training camp began.

For reference, the first stage of the comeback that Testa planned was the year-end awards ceremony hosted by T1.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 257

If you can’t debut, you’ll get a fatal disease Episode 257

The end of the year.

As the year ends and the New Year begins, popular culture is buzzing with various events and anniversaries.

And people who are interested in KPOP gradually prepare to watch related events.

– This year’s MBS collaboration rumors have risen

. Are you crazy about Pyo-pal

? -I see a picture of V-tic and Young-rin taking home the grand prizes for music recordings one by one.

_____

[Testa will also win the grand prize]

It’s worth it at an awards ceremony where multiple awards are given. Last year at ToneA, didn’t you get one?

It’s so hot this year that I think I’ll get it here and there ㅇㅇ There are incidents

_____

-?? After a traffic accident, he said he was sorry

??

-Don’t pretend you’re fishing. Wherever you see this, you’re a Testa fan. Aggro;

It was the aggro of ‘Testa being the object’.

First of all, ‘Spring out’, which was released at the beginning of the year, is a digital single, so it has no results other than sound sources, so it is put on hold.

‘Nightmare’, which was released after that, was a definite annual hit, but the problem was that it did not last long and a car accident broke out.

The potential of activities that could have exploded more was unfortunately stopped at the proper line due to the issue of a traffic accident.

One of the members even fell into a coma and the airing of previously filmed variety shows was postponed, so it was even more difficult to get rid of the ‘somehow regrettable’ feeling.

So even though it was evoked through a donation concert, it was true that it somehow felt insufficient to call it a perfect sense of object.

Besides, the aggro knew.

It is difficult for Testa to make a comeback in the second half of this year.

-I can’t make a comeback right away

ㄴㄹㅇ I’m afraid I

‘ll be cursed at again

if I’m buying an agency X. Old Pitchik is better Old-gwan Lee Myeong-gwan Testa’s antis rather cheered and enjoyed the news of Testa’s blitz vacation.

It was because I thought it was a judgment that ‘cannot be recovered this year’.

However, it was around that time that a rumor-like article surfaced.

[Testa year-end and New Year comeback countdown?]

It was an article saying that, according to the person in charge, Testa was preparing for a comeback with the first performance at the awards ceremony in mind.

According to the article, it was an activity that could be narrowly divided into the second half of this year or the first half of next year.

The reaction of die-hard fans behind the scenes was quite mixed.

-Ah, it’s finally a comeback ㅠㅠ After island variety shows, rice cakes were sparse, so I was really excited, but I’m really looking forward to it. -Are you serious about the first stage at the awards ceremony at this important time?

-Eh, there were a lot of idols making a comeback at the end of the year, so why are you worried about buying them?

ㄴBecause the yearly charts are cut in half

– All entertainment programs will be pushed to year-end specials, but publicity will not be able to go in properly

.

It wasn’t a very good move at an important time unless it was Carol who was aiming for Christmas vibes.

Especially when I remembered that ToneA, an awards ceremony hosted by T1, was in early December, I couldn’t help but feel a sense of pride.

-If you made a comeback at that level because you were at the T1 awards ceremony, then you really won't stop.

-Let's cheer for activities after half a year .

A new article has been published extensively.

[ToneA From the end of the year to the beginning of the new year… January announcement]

It was the news that ToneA would be held in January.

There were various reasons for Carderaro, ranging from the selection of awardees to the failure to preoccupy large overseas concert halls or the reorganization of music sites, but it was not clear.

The important thing is that the hearts of Testa fans are at peace.

-Hugh somehow

-The moment I see it -Comfortable-

-Yes, that's right -The rest of the awards ceremony in January went around, and from the end of the month, some music shows came out

.

This is because whether or not he will hit a home run next year is right in front of his eyes, not this year's recovery.

-It looks like Testa's comeback at the very beginning of January

-Wow, the annual chart is fully reflected haha

-Already fighting for the 1st group, what will happen

?

The latest comeback results of Testa, who hit a home run to the successful donation concert VTIC aggro to the traffic accident issue!

-If you pick a song well, this is unconditionally a hit. It can’t be refuted hahaha

-Honestly, Testa has chosen activities well in every important phase

. Probability of being crippled?

ㄴI saw what I hoped for haha

– Testa really works like a cow. To be honest, I thought I could rest for half a year while taking care of myself.

-Don’t overdo it

-Don’t overdo it, thank you guys for just coming out ㅠㅠ

-The audience will succeed unconditionally. How long has this been off? Really!!

In addition, on Testa’s account, photos of the members heading to the practice room after enjoying a vacation were uploaded at intervals of a day or two.

[Vacation over! Now when I practice, I feel great~ (bear emoji)]

The members looked excited and happy.

-I saw all the posts posted by the kids. All of their faces looked good, so I was relieved.

ㄴSeeing the photos in person, I feel relieved. Now I can only look forward to it . waited for the year-end stage of

The atmosphere was calmly good.

-Waiting for the stage schedule update

-How about the singing orchestra version

-My spring child will definitely bet on the remix stage with a more traditional instrument arrangement

└If I'm wrong, I'll wait in line if I can take it

└Hahahahahaha

And Testa is the fans' prediction I was planning more than that.

The first ride was revealed shortly after.

Among the promotional articles for year-end programs floating around, the most were stories about special stages or composition, and among them, there were articles that included posters.

[MBS Gayo Daejejeon collaboration stage list revealed? Gorgeous lineup from seniors to monster rookies]

A banner-type poster image made up of black silhouettes.

There were also silhouettes familiar to fans in it.

-Isn't that silhouette Seon Ah-hyun?

-I think that's right

-Hul Ahyeon's special stage ㅠㅠ

It was Testa's main dancer, Ahyeon Sun.

Testa was planning to actively spend the end of the year for advertising for the next album.

And at the time the article appeared, Testa had already started preparing for the end of the year.

* * *

“Eat a snack!”

“ruler.”

“… … .”

Cha Yoo-jin was shocked to see the carrot stick in her hand.

“This is not a snack!”

“Should I buy an apology… ?”

“yes… .”

Cha Yoo-jin, who received an apology from Sun Ah-hyun, chewed the apple sadly.

wow wow.

‘The teeth are strong once.’

I clicked my tongue.

first… With the year-end season just around the corner, this group is adjusting their diet to restore the muscles lost during Chuseok.

Even though Cha Yoo-jin had a high basal metabolic rate, he led a lax life, so he needed careful management.

Of course, there are people who don’t need it.

“Don’t apologize… There are also tomatoes… !”

A guy like Sun Ah-hyun who just inertia takes care of his body.

This guy didn’t blow even during Chuseok.

“Tomatoes are good for sugar!”

“That can’t be… .”

“Boo… … .”

Cha Yoo-jin trudged and sat in the corner of the practice room.

I’ll be like that for ten days. I am still eating enough meat.

‘Should I supply a protein bar as well?’

While organizing the suggestions to be sent to the diet expert, I saw Seon Ah-hyun holding a cherry tomato and looking sad.

“You eat.”

“Oh no! I’m okay.”

Seon Ah-hyun put the box of cherry tomatoes back into the refrigerator.

I looked at it without much thought and checked the current time on the LED on the refrigerator door.

“I think you have to leave within an hour.”

“Huh huh? … Yes.”

Yes. Sun Ah-hyun has a solo practice schedule for the past few days.

This is because they will have a special collaboration stage at the MBS year-end program on December 31st.

It’s obvious, but it’s a stage where the broadcasting company presses on the agency and somehow picks out members of popular groups one by one and puts them together.

Everyone has extremely busy schedules, so we rarely meet each other, but anyway, we’ve already received all of our individual parts as videos, so I’m done familiarizing myself with them.

‘It took three hours.’

Guys who dance well benefit from this. To be honest, it is true that learning choreography takes more energy than learning songs.

In addition, Sun Ah-hyun participated in the drafting of the choreography for the title song.

-Oh~ Is this okay?

-… ! really?

– Of course it’s true! Right, Director?

-Yes, I think it has a very impact… You’ll be able to capture large-sized ones well on camera, Mr. Ah-hyun?

This time, we received choreography drafts from more than seven places and put them together, but it was not an ordinary thing to put our own choreography in the process.

‘I have talent.’

Even the style of movement is not the style of modern dance, which is my major.

So, what about a collaboration? Looking at it, I received the part well, but there is no problem with the performance.

Since Testa has the best name value, he’ll get a good camera.

I nodded. There was no problem.

“Do well.”

“… huh!!”

Seeing that Seon Ah-hyun is also energetic, it must come out well.

Of course, it’s not just Sun Ah-hyun. Listen to Bae Se-jin muttering next to you right now.

“… I’m the award winner.”

“hmm? It’s a child actor awards ceremony. Do you fit well? It might be a bit cumbersome to move, but… .”

“I! It’s an awards ceremony!”

“… Calm down, Sejin-ah.”

From film festival awards to entertainment awards ceremonies.

While not excessive, I only took care of the schedule that had room for articles.

Everyone has agreed that instead of skipping year-end events, they should spend their free time in this way.

‘… This quarter, the settlement will be cut in half.’

Still, it was a business that remained. It was also an effective publicity method.

So I didn’t cut it after filtering it out based on name value, but I left one or two… It’s a bit shaky.

‘Does this offer come to me?’

I think there must have been a member who was more suitable than me… What if you want to write me?

‘It doesn’t matter.’

I shrugged and put on my road headset.

I was thinking of checking the third recording again. Because this title has to come out unconditionally.

‘Let’s do well.’

And the end of the year is fast approaching.

* * *

A few weeks later on a Friday night in early-mid-December.

Netizens have been waiting for the first terrestrial song program of the year-end season to return.

– Anyone watching SBC Gayo Daejeon today? Oh, it’s just me… ?

– Ha ha ha ha ha Today is it? Time flies

– When the kids come out, give me a pager ㄴGrandma

, I’ll correct how old you are .

There were a lot of people who just wanted to watch the clip, or who only wanted to take care of their idols who came out late.

Still, everyone could come out at least once in the opening, so the fans of the cast watched the beginning part out of courtesy.

-Let’s start

-Ohhhh

-Let’s see how many rookies we sold this year!

A large hall for broadcasting that shines brilliantly with lighting.

[☆Gayo Daejeon☆]

[Live broadcast at Sangam Hall]

And finally, what appeared in the relay seat… They were brightly dressed male and female MCs.

However, the face was different.

[Hello Gayo Daejeon viewers!]

There were no good men or women with a slight smile, but it wasn’t the occupational group I expected.

It was because they were three active idols.

It’s also the best.

[I am Chae Yul of VTIC!]

[Young

Rin of Saint U.] [And I am Moon Dae Park of Testa, the youngest MC.]

Moon Dae Park poking his cheek with a subtle smile.

-?????

-Look at the crazy MC

Jin

.

By the way, the people involved didn’t expect this to happen.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 258

Episode 258

“Everyone! Are you spending the end of the year warmly?”

“The musicians who warmed your hearts this year are preparing for a great stage once again.”

The two idols next to me did quite well.

‘It’s not like I ate the annual tea carelessly.’

I also took the mic.

“Then, shall we meet the first stage of Gayo Daejeon, which introduces the artists who entertained us with the brightest activities this year?”

I’m the only one with particularly long sentences, but I don’t think I’m mistaken. Could it be that the script is processed in the order of annual time?

‘And who the hell is the guy who made me stab him in the cheek?’

I can’t help it because of my position, but why are you specifying this in the script? I will not forget this deliberate act.

“SBC Gayo Daejeon starts now!”

Anyway, the camera turned and the three MCs looked at the camera and smiled capitalism.

And the moment the lights went out, he took a light breath or refined his expression.

“Whew.”

“exorcism!”

The VTIC guy on the other side dared to stretch out his hand and pat my back. It’s a senior position that you really don’t need.

“Mr. Moondae, you did a great job!”

“thank you.”

Youngrin, who was checking the script again, also smiled slightly and added her words.

“I am still working hard.”

“thank you.”

I kept bowing my head. With such a big difference in years, it was better to just be a thank you bot throughout the filming.

Right now, there are fans holding light sticks right under the podium where we are.

Of course, a few camera lenses are also visible.

‘I hid it well.’

I smiled and looked away at the camera held by some familiar people. It’s a live broadcast anyway, so it’s embarrassing to even call it a leak.

‘When this stage is over, the topic of this broadcast will be announced… .’

I read through the filthy long script once more, starting with ‘everyone’s heart enjoying the festival’. Although it appears in the prompter, it can be stuttered.

‘however… Isn’t three idols a bit unreasonable?’

Honestly, with this lineup, the topic is certain, but if you think about the progress stability, it would be nice to have an announcer who can hold the center.

It’s not an award ceremony like the acting or entertainment awards, so I know it’s a calculation that everyone will get over it. Still, I didn’t want to give it a pod.

And they all seemed to have the same thoughts.

“Wow, this is sweaty! We only worked on our own content, but I never thought we would suddenly do something like this at the end of the year! I will work really hard, everyone.”

First of all, the guy with the longest career boasts a rookie-like aspiration.

“Mr. Moondae is still a rookie, so don’t be too nervous. If you get confused while talking, just finish the sentence. I will continue.”

This is almost like a professional MC. I saw a lot of society here and there, and I am a semi-host.

“thank you.”

I looked at Youngrin.

“The goal is to make no mistakes. I will do my best.”

Youngrin smiled slightly. There is no team leader who is proud of new employees.

“is it so.”

“and! Idol fighting!”

It’s a bit funny to see the three of them join hands and fight with their hands holding the script, but let’s be content with the fact that no one wants to get over it.

“How was the special performance of the National Gugak Troupe introducing the musicians of the year?”

“It was really nice!”

“I really enjoyed watching it because the flamboyant movements seemed to show a bright new year.”

And these three did not make a single mistake throughout the first part. Including me, of course.

‘good.’

[Advertisement]

At the end of the first part, I confirmed that the intermission advertisement had entered and drank some water. And I saw familiar faces waving their hands in the singer’s seats prepared for reactions.

“Brother is cool! That’s it!”

‘I can’t hear anything, you guys.’

How loud are the sound and cheering seats, why are you talking so hard?

Anyway, thanks for the support, I waved my hand and passed the cue card again.

‘At this rate, at least I’ll hit the average.’

In the middle, the VTIC guy covered the situation where he almost felt embarrassed by the self-congratulatory script, so the image of an incompetent parachute rookie probably didn’t stick.

‘Knights are good.’

I shrugged and put the water down.

[Part 2 30 seconds ago]

And it was the point where the first stage of part 2 ended and the broadcast started.

“Mr. Moondae!”

Suddenly, something out of the blue that wasn’t even in the script came out.

VTIC Chayul held a large cupcake in front of my eyes with lit firecrackers.

“… ??”

What’s this.

“I heard that Moondae had a birthday a few days ago!”

“happy birthday. Moondae.”

And the production team raises a cone-shaped hat with puppy ears under the camera.

“… … .”

I dictated it in desperation.

No, I want you to tell me in advance, you guys at the broadcasting station. What is this on a live broadcast… … .

-smile!

You don’t need to write something like that in your sketchbook. ‘Cause I’m still laughing with the corner of my mouth torn

“Haha thank you.”

-Blow out the candles!

vary

I smiled broadly and blew out the firecrackers. And pulled the dog's ears.

Wearing a suit and watching the year-end program MC make the public tremble, really… .

"thank you."

I see guys crawling in the singer's seat. Let's go back to the house.

… for a moment.

'Come to think of it, the opening script for the second part… .'

"The next stage is a song about a beautiful birthday!"

"Is this the song that shone this summer?"

I barely kept my composure and continued with my last words.

"'birthday boy' of the 17-year-old band Gray Cable. We invite you to a special live performance."

Was it directed for this?

Is it an idol MC to lose his dignity for the sake of introducing the next song?

It was not a regular music room, but I was dizzy at the idol's duty that continued until the end of the year.

… And this keynote goes all the way to the ending.

* * *

'Park Moon-dae is so cute!!'

Park Moon-dae's homma, who was holding the camera under the relay box, almost cried with joy.

I heard a rumor from a person in charge that Mundae is seeing an MC at the end of the year, so it was worthwhile to visit this area!

‘This is it! This is it!’

It’s been a long time since I’ve seen Park Moondae in real life, so I really liked it… .

Park Moon-dae was wearing a black shirt under a neat navy blue suit, and he was dressed like an MC to match his well-swept hair.

However, he was the youngest among MCs and wore a white ribbon tie, but that was really… It was so cute!

Especially when accepting cupcakes!

Maybe it was a surprise order, but Park Moon-dae was more cute because he was clearly embarrassed.

‘I got cream on my nose… .’

As soon as it was confirmed, Park Mun-dae wiped it off and the officials even cleaned it up, but Homma had already caught that cut.

‘ha ha ha… ! ha ha ha!’

Fully excited about the online and offline shooting after a long time, Homma burst into madness and collected photos like crazy. You are the preview!

After the accident, the fatigue accumulated from experiencing the extremely gloomy time, the crazy rollercoaster-like situation, and the atmosphere of activities immediately after full of worries melted away.

It was heartbreaking and enjoyable.

‘I’m really looking forward to this activity.’

It felt really good to be back safely. Homma smiled and fixed the mask.

‘Mundae looks good too!’

Sometimes, whenever the members make eye contact with Moondae Park in the singer’s seat, they wave their hands, and when the camera isn’t on, it’s nice to see them shake each other.

In addition, it was clear that Park Moon-dae found the fans’ camera lenses in the middle of it. He even made eye contact with this camera!

‘Let’s be idols for life… .’

It was clear that Moondae Park was the settlement that came down to her K-pop life. Anyway, it was.

‘Transfer? There is no such thing.’

Homma’s bitter memory of drinking, which she vowed never to believe in idols again as she watched the former idol advance into society, was shattered through a series of crazy incidents.

And after a while part 3.

‘They’ll see one soon! The cue sheet was right.’

Moondae Park jumped up and disappeared behind the MC seat. We also confirmed that Testa was moving in the singer’s seat.

‘Because year-end programs don’t give official fancams… !’

Homma held the camera tight with a sense of mission.

It was a very proud time.

‘too… it was good.’

and on the way home. Satisfied, she comes out of SBC Sangam Hall.

Fatigue did not accumulate. No, the adrenaline rushes like crazy right now, so I can’t feel it, but I’ll be tired when I go home.

Anyway, Park Moon-dae's home horse was very happy.

"You are really good at the stage."

Testa did not diminish at all.

Not even a single choreography had the difficulty adjusted or deleted.

'No, on the contrary, it felt like I had more proficiency!'

There were no signs of a traffic accident at all.

Park Moon-dae, who briefly stumbled at a group concert immediately after being discharged, was flying around today.

Fully armed and burning with a sense of pride was felt both on the set and through the camera lens.

Of course, the composition of the stage itself was also good. The performance using shooting in 'Spring out' was splendid and magnificent for the end of the year.

It must have been a hot topic on the Internet, Homma guessed.

'ruler… Only this part!'

Excitedly, she got into a taxi and connected the camera capacity to her laptop to check some of the videos she had taken. It was because I really wanted to revisit some of the scenes that left a deep impression on me!

That was the time when the video was being rotated at double speed.

'uh?'

After finishing the stage, Park Moon-dae goes up to the MC seat.

Under the black hair of Park Moon-dae… A bright strand was visible.

A shudder passed.

“wig… !”

Black hair, whether spray or a wig, was fake anyway.

Park Moon-dae… I escaped black hair again!

‘crazy! This album is dyed hair!’

This was a separate matter from her preference for black-haired Park Mun-dae!

‘What color is it? what color is it If I correct the lighting, the color will come out, right?’

Homma couldn’t have been so excited and excited. It was because this kind of pleasure was too fleeting.

“under… .”

Homma pondered for a while whether she would be able to put up with spoilers until January, and came up with pleasant hypotheses related to her activities.

In the meantime, the captured video started playing again.

Moondae Park successfully returned to the MC seat while checking the cue sheet.

But when I looked at it again… It was a little strange.

“Ugh.”

For a moment, she felt her imagination disappear.

Homma immediately enlarged Park Moon-dae’s upper body.

“… … .”

From the angle, it seemed to see Testa returning to the singer's seat, but that expression… bloody?

His eyebrows were twitching.

'what?'

Homma turned around a few more times feeling angry, but because only Park Moon-dae was filming, it was unclear what exactly Park Moon-dae was looking at.

And the expression management came back so quickly.

"Mmm."

'It must be an illusion.'

It was also a disease to do this with an expression that only a few seconds had passed. Homma shrugged and turned over the video.

But it was not an illusion.

* * *

"You worked hard~"

"Mundae MC was really good."

"thank you."

"Hyung's dog ears birthday present… cadet!"

"stop."

The long live broadcast is over.

As soon as we joined, we moved to the car. I was going to go straight to the practice room and adjust for another hour or two before entering.

‘The MC was fine.’

As much as the stage was prepared, the quality came out, so there is nothing that bothers me.

Except for one thing I didn’t expect.

“Are you alright?”

“… I’m fine.”

“thank god… !”

that guy Seon Ah-hyun.

When I was returning from the stage earlier, I saw the singer’s seat, and apparently some of them greeted Sun Ah-hyun excessively.

‘Looks like they’re preparing for a collaboration stage.’

It’s fine until there.

The problem is that after that, Sun Ah-hyun averted her gaze and lowered her head. as if I was intimidated.

“… … .”

It’s embarrassing.

I reached the practice room and grabbed the back of one of the guys getting out of the car.

“hey.”

“Huh? Moondae Why?”

It’s a big sejin

When this guy entered earlier, I saw him subtly cut off the people who were greeting Sun Ah-hyun.

‘I think this guy noticed it too.’

I lowered my voice a little to block out the people walking in front of me.

And hit the point right away.

“You in the singer’s seat… saw it Seon Ah-hyun.”

“… hmm.”

Big Sejin seemed to understand immediately what I meant.

“that.”

“So what did you see? They looked like collaborators.”

The guy shrugged.

“It’s obvious. Ahyeon must have scratched it.”

“… !”

“Ahyeon is a good kid. Just like this~ I’m not the tactful type, so I’m trying to press it.”

Big Sejin raised his eyebrows.

“There is such a thing. ‘Hey~ Ahyeon takes a lot of cameras. I’m envious~ You don’t have to practice much, do you?’ While doing it, break it up a bit~”

“… … .”

It’s so good that you want to punch it in the snout.

However, Sejin’s tone quickly became serious.

“In addition, there must have been one or two people who tried to pretend to be friendly. Since Ah-hyun is shy, he said that he was discriminating against people by classifying him again.”

“… … after.”

“Do you understand?”

“okay.”

Do it like X once. Maybe it’s because they’re in the same age range, these cubs are no different from < Azusa >.

‘I thought it would be a long road because it’s so popular.’

I forgot about human nature that if a guy who is better than me looks easy on me, I’ll be more damned.

Besides, it seemed like they were trying to win more by gathering only those who had some name value in the group.

‘I should listen to this story.’

Before entering the practice room, I decided to check Sun Ah-hyun’s condition.

And it was the moment I was about to move my feet.

“for a moment.”

“… !”

was stopped

turn your head Big Sejin, who was holding my shoulder, was shaking his head.

“Ah-cha-cha, Park Moon-dae, you’re not going to talk about things like this to Ah-hyun, right? No~”

“Why?”

“Hey, people have pride.”

Big Sejin smiled bitterly.

“Would you be able to put up with a friend of your age finding out about this situation? Wouldn’t you hate it more because you’re close?”

“… !”

“Let Ahyeon do it on her own. That’s right.”

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 259

If I can’t debut, I’ll get sick. Episode 259

The night practice ended quickly as planned. After returning to the dorm, I washed up and reviewed the conversation with Sejin.

Isn’t that what he meant after all?

‘Seon Ah-hyun’s pride is hurt… la.’

It’s because I don’t want to show the embarrassing side of being territorial to my close peers.

“hmm.”

I won’t deny it. It is a point of view that has never been considered.

Maybe it’s because he’s the guy I’ve been following around since I first met him on < Idol Inc. >, so I don’t really feel like we’re the same age.

‘Honestly, age is only appearance.’

If you have a conscience, it’s kind of hard to say that I’m the same age as him… Isn’t it? I don’t know if I’m an office worker, but I have a clear memory of being 29 years old.

At first, it was ambiguous even if they were considered peers.

‘I don’t know if Seon Ah-hyun is the kind of person who cares about that.’

Maybe the other guys would be grateful for Seon Ah-hyun because he’s kind enough to seem innocent.

Only one admits.

‘I can’t solve it every time.’

No matter how much it is for smooth activities, whenever I had a problem with him, I ordered a lot of things.

Is it time for Seon Ah-hyun to try it herself?

“Because he has a certain guts.”

I shrugged.

Except for that brief moment at the awards ceremony, he didn’t look particularly dark, so let’s leave it at that.

I just need to do some research to confirm that I’m overdoing it.

Click.

I got out of the shower and headed to the refrigerator. I’m losing weight, so I thought I’d drink some ice water or milk tonight.

Sun Ah-hyun was not in the room.

‘It must be in the living room.’

And before I turned the corner in the hallway, I heard a voice.

“That’s it… If you feel like complimenting because you don’t like it… what do you think about it?”

“You don’t like me, do you compliment me?”

“Ugh. similar.”

It was a conversation between Cha Yoo-jin and Seon Ah-hyun.

The sound of Cha Yoo-jin answering without hesitation followed.

“Why do you compliment me when I don’t like it?”

“I don’t know… . Is it because I can’t be angry?”

“OK OK.”

The guy answered cheerfully.

“Then I say ‘I know~’! I know what I’m good at!”

“Yeah… ?”

“yes. Nice compliment!”

It was a mind-boggling mental victory method that would digest compliments with compliments no matter what the opponent was thinking.

However, I don’t think that Seon Ah-hyun will be able to use it comfortably.

‘Why did you bother to give advice to Cha Yoo-jin… .’

A rare idea.

I thought about waiting for the conversation to end for a moment, then realized that it was funnier and walked out.

When our eyes met, Seon Ah-hyun jumped up.

“It’s nothing. Do you drink water?”

“uh.”

“here… !”

The water glass was colonized.

“… thanks.”

‘Does this guy’s pride hurt that he’s getting my help?’

I still can’t get rid of the thought that this kind of thing is like a spontaneous twist… Anyway, thank you, don’t drink well.

I drank the water and waited for him to resume his conversation with Cha Yu-jin.

But the conversation did not follow. Seon Ah-hyun was flustered and asked me back.

“Why why… ?”

ah. Did I look at the two too much?

“Um no. I wonder if practice is at 7:00 tomorrow.”

“Ah yes. It’s 7 o’clock right… !”

“Yes, thank you.”

I ended my speech in a hesitant manner.

There is no particular abnormal behavior. It seems a little cheered up, but… .

“Okay~”

Then Sejin walked out of the living room, smiled and patted me on the back.

… Somehow I think that bastard is making fun of me.

‘I don’t know, X feet.’

Everyone take care of it.

There were so many dirty things to do until the comeback. let me do my job

“Seven o’clock is too early… .”

“Go to sleep.”

I went into the room, checked the stage composition once again, and immediately lay down on the bed.

Seon Ah-hyun came in quite late and went to bed. Efforts not to make noise were imaginary.

‘I’m almost crawling.’

I was going to say something about not sleeping, but I thought it would freak out, so I just let it go.

and the next day.

Around lunch time after morning practice, Sun Ah-hyun went alone to practice collaboration.

In the future, it is said that the days are driven weekly, and they come short and short at intervals of two or three days.

“Are you okay? I think it would be better to eat and go.”

“It’s okay to go and eat… ! It will be soon.”

“Well, if so.”

“wait a minute.”

I threw a glucose candy or one to Seon Ah-hyun. This is an emergency dose under the agreement with the trainer, so you can spray it.

“Thank you… .”

“Have a good trip.”

“Hanging Ahyeon~”

“I hope you have a rewarding practice time!”

Seon Ah-hyun hurriedly grabbed the candy and walked out the door nodding her head.

“… … .”

that… It’s not like you’re going to be squeamish when you come in.

“brother! Give me candy too!”

“ruler.”

“Hurray!”

I dusted off the remaining candy and crossed my arms.

‘As expected, I’d like to find out… .’

At that time, Sejin suddenly started fanning uselessly with his hands.

“Ah~ It’s hot from practicing. Shall we eat some ice cream? They were sold at the health food store down here!”

“great!!”

“Oh, that house. It’s light, so that’s fine.”

“Okay~ Then I’ll go around this one more time and buy it with Moondae!”

“… ?”

why am i here

First of all, I wanted to know what the plan was, so I followed him.

And the big Sejin burst into laughter as soon as he walked out the door.

“Hey Park Moondae! Do you care that much?”

“What are you talking about.”

“Did you know that Ahyeon is watching our schedule every time? It would be more natural to talk to you!”

“… … .”

No, I’m just going to check the collaboration before and after the collaboration practice.

However, the big Sejin laughed and laughed.

“Ah~ Mundaemundae, maybe it’s good, really huh? If you know everything in the world and knead it, you’ll get rid of it, right?”

“Be quite.”

“You just have to use that wonderful ability only in albums, the talented Mister Moondae~”

“… … .”

“That’s right, if you use it to pick out ice cream… Uh-cha-cha-cha!”

“Where?”

I sprinted to catch the fleeing guy while the others got a mysterious delivery of ice cream bullets.

And I sat on the floor of the practice room and pondered briefly.

That I was so tasted of control?

‘No, I’m trying to live.’

It’s about my survival right now, so I’ve come to pay attention to possible problems in the surrounding group. Isn’t that some kind of biological instinct?

‘And now it’s not even that much.’

It wouldn’t be like dying just because the status window flew away, so the target was just a high-risk target.

‘I don’t waste time on unnecessary things.’

I ate an ice cream and focused on my afternoon practice.

But this concentration was soon disrupted.

It was because Sun Ah-hyun, who had returned, had a lot of worries on her face.

“I’ve been there.”

“… … .”

that… I saw that it didn’t go well.

* * *

Seon Ah-hyun, who came back, quickly recovered his complexion and joined the practice, but now the others have noticed the atmosphere.

“Didn’t something happen while preparing for the collaboration?”

“The preparation seems to be more complicated than I thought.”

However, there was no sign that Sun Ah-hyun was overdoing it. I mean it’s not a big deal.

Thanks to this, Sun Ah-hyun was quickly assigned ice cream, and this topic died down.

Usually, it’s only right to ask at the timing when you’re resting.

And usually it’s up to the roommate or the leader… After all, I’m your roommate.

‘Do I have to ask on purpose.’

But there was nothing in particular for me to say.

After practicing, I was sitting in my room watching the video of my choreography practice that I had taken earlier.

There, Seon Ah-hyun spoke first.

“excuse me… It’s nothing. Can I ask just one question?”

“okay. What.”

no way?

And the guess was right.

“Ho, in case you ask… If the people you work with for a while are a bit difficult to deal with… How are you doing?”

“… … .”

It was a direct request for advice.

“It depends on what situation you are in. What does it mean to be difficult to deal with? Are you a superior?”

“Oh no, that’s not it. Uncomfortable… It feels like you’re deliberately revealing something you don’t mean.”

As expected.

“Well then, it’s okay to ignore it as long as it’s not sarcastic or disrespectful. If they perform better, they will bow down and come in.”

“That’s right.”

And at that moment I realized

‘It’s cool inside the X feet.’

I guess I need to know everything and be able to control it so that a comfortable style fits. Damn.

I continued to listen to what Seon Ah-hyun said, feeling dismayed at giving Keun Se-jin a win. To understand the situation in more detail.

But Seon Ah-hyun… It seemed a bit embarrassing.

not much.

“I’m sorry. I can’t do well alone… I think I just keep getting help.”

“… ?”

“All the other members are doing well… i guess i have something wrong Even after counseling and practicing, it doesn’t work out… .”

Why is the story like that?

“You have no problem. what’s the matter.”

“It’s like this every time I meet people my age… . It was like that from the beginning… .”

“… … .”

Seon Ah-hyun, perhaps embarrassed, forgot to ask for advice, like a third-party problem.

“When was the first time?”

“When I was in middle school… Even during that ballet.”

Seon Ah-hyun hesitated, then spoke briefly. My voice trembled.

“Ankle… I was hurt, but everyone loved it… … .”

Goosebumps kept creeping up.

“I wasn’t all mean kids, but from that time on, I must have felt uncomfortable when I went to a group of that age… .”

“… … .”

I got up.

“First of all, I haven’t seen a member who said he didn’t like it while he was with you.”

“Because everyone is nice… .”

“You are the best person in this group. And you were also in middle school.”

“huh? Yes.”

“You were the chief.”

“At least a few times… .”

When Seon Ah-hyun said that, it means that she ate well.

I crossed my arms.

Seon Ah-hyun, who seemed educated, would not have talked about it in this way at professional counseling or her parents, so I should just do it myself.

“listen. Everything you’ve been through so far was done by bastards who rolled their eyes out of envy.”

“Huh?”

“He said he did it because he was pissed because he was good at dancing too. Got it?”

“Ha but… Ah Okay.”

It seemed that Seon Ah-hyun nodded at first, being pushed by the force. Great.

“So, don’t mind the idiots who look in the mirror every day and shout ‘I’m a really good guy’ ten times and turn a blind eye to envy and jealousy. Got it?”

“That was only at the beginning of the consultation… .”

“again.”

It was clear on her face that Seon Ah-hyun was embarrassed in a different way from just now, but in the end she nodded her head with difficulty.

And I suddenly picked one up from his words.

“Wait a minute, then you’ve had a criminal record… .”

Was bullying the reason you switched from ballet to modern dance?

However, Seon Ah-hyun hurriedly shook her head.

“Oh no… ! The ballet… He said it was a waste of his body shape.”

“form?”

“Yeah, ballet is good, so… It’s good if the instep is round. I am not like that… The pelvis is also small. So he recommended me to go down a path where I can do better.”

I’ll get it roughly

Sun Ah-hyun is talented in dancing, but her body shape was more advantageous than ballet in other ways to become top-notch.

So I quickly changed it before preparing for the college entrance exam in earnest… I guess that’s it.

After all, this guy came to the idol industry, not dance, but it's good to be good because he's doing well and earning money.

"And now that I'm using what I learned in modern dance, it's okay."

"That's right… ?"

Seon Ah-hyun smiled. However, he soon lowered his head with a slightly dark face.

"Yes, actually today… The story of modern dance came out."

"In collaboration practice?"

"Yes."

Sun Ah-hyun nodded. And he said in a voice mixed with resentment.

"Uh, because of the difficult movements, none of us will come out, really only Ah-hyun. I'm envious and congratulations… ."

As befits people in capitalist society, these guys have the knack for turning horses like X.

"… So why didn't you answer?"

"Oh no. I answered… ."

Seon Ah-hyun blushed.

"I don't know. just… I said, 'Thank you for saying that, I'll do my best'… ."

"… … ."

"Yujin said it was okay to take compliments as compliments… Are you okay? Everyone didn't answer… ."

I barely answered.

“uh. Good job.”

Seon Ah-hyun is unexpectedly… It might be a style that fits well without malice.

Keun Se-jin was right once again that he didn’t have to worry.

… Still, the conversation I had earlier was worth trying at least once.

“Do it. Because you did well.”

“Yes.”

Sun Ah-hyun’s face brightened.

And I readily admitted defeat.

‘… Let’s prepare an album well.’

And two weeks later on December 31st.

The airing of MBS’ music program, which marks the last day of the year, is just around the corner.

And the stage where Testa members first appeared was a collaboration stage with Seon Ah-hyun participating.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 260

Episode 260

When Testa is busy preparing for a live broadcast on the last day of the year.

“You started early.”

Homma, an office worker filming Park Moon-dae and Lee Se-jin, clicked her tongue as she watched the second part of the MBS Gayo Daejejeon, in which they will appear, almost come to an end.

It was funny that he barely took a break in front of the TV because he worked overtime right before the New Year, but it was also funny that the program started before 9:00.

And in fact, she didn’t really need to see this from now on.

Because Testa will come out after a while.

‘I’ve already requested data for uploading because I’m working overtime.’

So I’m just watching it now for light interest.

‘I’m a bit curious about what the collaboration with Sun Ah-hyun will be like.’

Of course, it wasn’t a question of skill.

In fact, in the group message room where some of Park Moon-dae’s home horses gathered, there was a bit of talk of knowing.

On the day I saw the MC at SBC, Park Moon-dae showed me the bloody eyes that he showed for a very short time.

‘It rarely happens.’

Park Moon-dae was surprisingly the type to refine himself in front of the camera.

Of course, there were a few times when my eyes didn’t like Lee Se-jin in places like summer packages in the past, but… That was almost the only flaw.

This time too, it was so short that there was no controversy, but the hostesses did not know why, so they analyzed the angle and even found the singer’s seat at that timing.

And confirmed.

-Greetings from Collaboration Kids and Sasumi..

-Hahahahah

-It seems to be imprinted, but please don’t say anything.

So, they already speculated that ‘Ahyeonie seems to have had a hard time preparing for the collaboration stage’, which is quite similar to the truth. that had been reached.

Of course, being conscious of threats such as capture and public opinion, I didn’t specifically mention it and deleted it all, but the office worker was there anyway.

‘Isn’t Seon Ah-hyun’s mental breakdown?’

After speculating on the behind-the-scenes story, I wanted to check out this stage. I was wondering if there would be any tea.

She updated her SNS account once and watched TV indifferently.

[Coming up!]

[Gayo Daejeon special stage]

[Winter boys]

The special stage was the end of part 2.

It was a typical composition of gathering juniors to the songs of the legendary 1st generation KPOP seniors and having them put on an improvised stage.

‘It’s still tacky.’

She watched TV quite skeptically, saying that half of the first-generation seniors had been blown away by drunk driving.

A bit regretful that a member I wasn’t interested in was playing a song I wasn’t interested in.

Soon, the accompaniment mixed with mechanical sounds came out. It was music arranged for a dance performance without singing.

-Wee Oo Wee Oo

I must have spent some money, but the LED signboard and floor with water puddle-like LED effects were quite good.

‘Of course, it will cool down the moment we start dancing.’

The busy guys would have practiced individually, but she must have been able to match the choreography well.

But the moment the choreography starts.

-Oo-u Oo Oo-u Oo

I could feel the quality.

“hmm?”

And she knew the cause right away by using her many years of KPOP experience.

‘It’s because the center did well.’

And the opening center was Seon Ah-hyun.

“oh.”

At the beginning, the style of acrobatic movements using long limbs was different.

Even though the camera couldn’t catch it terribly, in Sun Ah-hyun’s movements, there was even an optical illusion effect that seemed to catch it well.

There was no need for sword dance. The performer in the center was overwhelmingly good, so it seemed like everything was doing well.

no wait

“cancellation.”

However, she gets up from the floor four seconds later, each late or almost falling into the corner, and she clicks her tongue at the mess in the corner.

‘It’s ruined.’

Originally, year-end collaborations where busy people gather and stage one-offs often end up like this, but somehow it felt more clumsy.

It was because of the stark contrast to when Sun Ah-hyun was in the center.

“Is Seon Ah-hyun the only Kung-seung?”

Is this the difference in competence? The office worker looked at the screen with interest.

It seemed that Sun Ah-hyun was the only one who benefited from the fact that the choreography was close to dance rather than a dance for general broadcasting.

He said that he majored in ballet or modern dance, so it seems that he studied for a longer time than the average in the industry.

Just in time, a close-up of Seon Ah-hyun caught on camera filled the screen.

The shining eyes on the beautiful face above the motion of touching the floor with one hand were unexpectedly intense.

I knew she had a pretty face, but this was unexpected.

‘I thought I couldn’t show all my skills because I couldn’t show my strength.’

She corrected her judgment.

Since Lee Se-jin and Park Moon-dae are in the same group, I thought they would join in as kkakdugi, but it seems that they have their own podium.

She watched Sun Ah-hyun’s dance performance until it reached the ending without taking her eyes off the TV.

And if this reaction was changed to something more extreme, it would be the reaction of the viewers.

* * *

“Ahyeon is awesome!”

“It was really cool.”

“Thank you. thank you… !”

Sunahyeon blushed and returned to the waiting room.

“I’m saying this because I don’t have a camera, but wow Ahyeon really did the best~”

“That’s right! My brother did well alone! Other people didn’t… .”

“Hey, that’s a bit.”

The words that did not pass through Cha Yu-jin’s brain were quickly suppressed. Sun Ah-hyun’s face looks like she’s about to shed a cold sweat.

In fact, other guys said they did well during practice. No matter how much their personality has exploded, they are also pros with time.

The problem arose on the spot.

“That’s because the bottom of the bar is a bit slippery… .”

Because it was a live broadcast, the water that was sprayed as an effect in the previous stage did not dry properly due to a mistake in calculating the time.

However, since only Seon Ah-hyun moves normally, that will be an excuse for a loser.

“But he didn’t slip!”

“It’s because I’ve practiced before… !”

“As expected, the experience of the past has been accumulated, so you have perfected your current skills! I respect you!”

“that that… uh thank you… .”

Like this.

‘I’m sorry.’

Originally, it would end up with public opinion criticizing the poor working space of the broadcasting station when the facts were revealed after a bit of swearing.

Now that it’s like this, it looks like Seon Ah-hyun will go up the grade alone and end it.

-Seon Ah-hyun is not a popular member of the 1st group for nothing

. Honestly, isn’t it a combination that can’t be done lol

Checking public opinion right now, it’s flowing in a similar trend as expected.

‘good.’

It was cool and everything was good. Everything is running well.

Except for the fact that this waiting room is not a private room.

“We had a good time too, Mr. Ahyeon!”

“yes yes! thank you… .”

“We used to be similar… Oh Shin-oh, didn’t you cover Battle A senior’s stage back then?”

“It’s not me, it’s Cheongrye hyung. You are our Medan.”

“Uh, that’s right! Anyway, I did something similar, but it reminds me of that time.”

“… … .”

VTIC shares this waiting room.

And you’re trying to get involved in Testa’s conversation.

‘Why did it end up like this?’

In fact, I can roughly understand why we share a room.

VTIC is actually one top in the industry now, so I can see that they made it uncomfortable by making them use it with seniors.

However, it seems that Testa, who seems friendly, was finally selected as a roommate because he would be embarrassed if a group that was so radically different was attached.

I managed to call those who could go to the American New Year's Eve program here, so of course I had to be careful.

'Damn it.'

I understand that, but these idiots seem to have not developed a sense of interpersonal relationships during their 9 years of activity, and they keep trying to interfere with the kids playing.

'stop.'

However, he is dragging the other guy into the conversation.

"Do you remember my brother? A year-end special stage!"

"huh."

Cheong-ryeo, who was getting her hair done by a stylist, raised the corners of her mouth.

"You did a lot."

"… … ."

To say I have to celebrate the New Year with this bastard. I'd rather be exiled to an outdoor stage.

"Guys, Sejin is coming."

"Oh!!"

At that time, Liu Cheng-wu, who was sitting on the sofa, called the others together.

On the screen of the smartphone Ryu Cheng-wu was looking at… There was an acting target in progress in the neighborhood next door.

[hello. This is Ahn So-hyun.]

[Hello. This is Testa's Bae Se-jin.]

Bae Se-jin entered with the only successful actor in 'Soft and Sweet'.

He looked a bit nervous, but dressed neatly, he definitely looked like an actor.

"Oh, a suit."

"I didn't have much time, but I must have had a hard time setting it up."

"Hyung, you are handsome!"

As expected, Bae Se-jin on the screen continued to proceed calmly while whispering that he would have to wear a suit for the next album.

[We, who have experience in idol activities, stand on the podium together. I think you will have a new feeling to appear at the Drama Awards today. Mr. Sejin!]

[Yes. It's been a while, so I think I need to do better. Thank you so much for inviting me.]

"Ton-hyung is really good at it… !"

"I know."

Bae Se-jin had good pronunciation and did not tremble.

[I started acting in dramas after being an idol, but Sejin is the opposite, right? How are your idol activities?]

[Yes. I am a member of a group called Testa. … It is a very enjoyable and rewarding time. I also met a lot of good people.]

“Oh… .”

“Ooh, is this our story?”

“… I guess so.”

Bae Se-jin faintly smiled on the small screen. And between the guys who were watching the screen, an embarrassing warmth circulated.

“Oh, you look so sincere.”

“Testa is cool~”

No, you guys, go to your seats.

Without saying a word, I tapped the big Sejin, who had a strange expression on his face. The boy shrugged his shoulders with an embarrassed face.

‘Is time really the answer?’

It seems that they have come to recognize each other. Seeing how these guys live these days, it seems like the relationship is the worst as a roommate.

[Although the field is different, I will try to show a picture that I am not ashamed of either way. Then, I will tell you about the categories we will award today.]

Bae Se-jin finished the rest of the awards well and gave a good closing remark to the extent of ‘I’ll see you again if there is a good opportunity.’

And after a while, when Bae Se-jin arrives through a congested highway.

“… I’m here.”

“Oh oh!”

“Your brother was really cool!”

“It was great.”

“Thank you so much. … But this is originally a short script!”

“No, it’s great! Thanks for talking to us!”

“… ! Oh no.”

“Aren’t we?”

“no… That’s right!”

There was a rain of strong welcome greetings. Bae Se-jin’s face reddened.

But that mood didn’t last long.

“Hello~ The award ceremony was great!”

“… ah yes thank you.”

Bae Se-jin greeted VTIC, who pretended to know him, but cast a suspicious gaze and quietly retreated to the testa section of the waiting room.

I must have forgotten the dogfight I had with Cheongryeol.

“brother. Change your clothes first.”

“… yes!”

I spent time with him in the corner of the waiting room.

And the time before Testa’s stage.

“Yes, everyone, are you enjoying the last and most splendid pleasure of the year, Gayo Daejejeon?”

“It will be a new year soon.”

We were called out onto a huge main stage to welcome the new year.

On the way out, it was nice to greet the poor guys who were KO'd by Sun Ah-hyun on purpose, but it seems that other things were the problem for some of them.

"cold."

"Be quiet, Cha Yujin! Many people celebrating the New Year will see it, so let's start happily!"

"You're not even laughing!"

"I will laugh now!"

"stop."

I grabbed the two guys who were about to fight and gave them a shoulder strap.

On a stage lined with all sorts of idols and singers, we took our seats in front of what seemed to be a lot of moderately familiar light sticks.

'Even if it's a direct cam, it should come out well.'

There is a place designated by the production team, but as people flock to it anyway, the boundaries are blurred.

"Wow, a year has already passed~"

"Yeah! I think it went by so fast… ."

We exchanged small words so that the people around us would not be caught by the microphone. Slowly the countdown began to enter.

"3!"

"2!"

“One!”

The pollen explodes and the lighting and sound heighten.

“Happy New Year!!”

pop.

Another strange thing happened to celebrate the new year by being caught in the crowd of people clapping and shouting.

“Testa will show something this year too~”

“I hope it will be a year of healthy and wonderful songs released without accidents!”

Shoulder straps and encouragement came and went wildly. Likewise, as we greeted the light stick that was shaking wildly, this time the light stick shakes like crazy.

‘That arm doesn’t hurt.’

yes what It would have been good.

Then an arm fell over his shoulder.

“Mundae, you worked hard! Let’s work hard and work hard from now on~”

“Please take good care of me… !”

“… okay. Happy New Year.”

I exchanged high fives and good words with the members.

I felt a bit strange.

‘Still, New Year was right.’

There was a considerable risk of falling behind in the middle, but I wondered how I managed to overcome it well and greet the new year as an idol.

At this time last year, I thought this might be the last time.

"… … hmm."

It was kind of fun.

"happy new year!"

The first stage of the new year was very cold, noisy, lively and bright.

* * *

Following the splendid New Year's countdown. The main stage was quickly being cleared for the next stage.

And Testa was scheduled to wait right below.

Because the next stage was us.

The problem is that I met this guy again when I was coming off the stage and parted ways to go to the bathroom for a while.

"I will see you soon again this year. There are awards ceremonies all the way in January."

"I guess so."

it's clean

If this bastard is going to say such an obvious thing, don't disturb the person who's just left on standby… .

"My junior released a new song on January 5th… It was a performance of a new song at the awards ceremony, right? Well, that's a brave choice."

“… … .”

I stopped.

‘A brave choice?’

This nuance… It’s like Testa is making a loss with the new song.

“Oh, I don’t know.”

“… … .”

“You don’t know. No informant. Yes? Junior, that’s… It will be the biggest problem in the future.”

The blue eyes gleamed slightly. And he spoke in a tone of advice to his juniors.

“I have no connections.”

“… … .”

“hmm… Call it a New Year’s gift and listen.”

Cheong-rye laughed.

“Do you know that Youngrin is preparing for a promotion?”

“… I did.”

While preparing for the MC last time, I recalled what I heard from Youngrin.

I thought that I would do well whenever I came out because I am the one who gets the best sound recording results among idols and idol-turned-solos.

‘… … for a moment.’

no way… .

Cheongryeo smiled bitterly.

“I didn’t know when. That’s a surprise sound source for celebrating the new year.”

“… !!”

“January 4th. therefore… It’s a day difference from your junior group.”

oh shit.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 261

As soon as the live broadcast of episode 261 ended, I called the company and talked to the management staff.

I heard that it will be released at the same time as Youngrin.

And the company is said to have turned upside down. It was worth it. Here's a summary of Youngrin's recent performance.

'Ranked 3rd on the largest music site in Korea.'

To provide comparative data, Testa's latest song 'Call' is ranked 37th in the yearly music chart.

Besides, there are only four songs by Youngrin in the TOP50 on this yearly chart. Two title songs, one OST, and one variety collaboration song.

It was a shameful number.

'Never win.'

It's not only popular, but the bone marrow fandom is quite solid, so there's no corner to dig into.

In a word, the simultaneous release of the sound source… It was like an honorable death.

Of course, it's not just the company that has turned upside down.

"With senior Youngrin?"

“yes.”

“under… … .”

Even within the group itself, the first meeting of the new year was convened.

I greeted the new year with a lot of work, but actually, that is not important compared to this situation.

I judged more calmly.

‘I just told you on purpose.’

There were four days left until the comeback, but it was impossible to move the date.

The request was to tell them to at least prepare their minds in a situation where a big deal is impossible anyway.

If it is a favor, it can be regarded as a favor, so there is no need to consume emotions. From the point of view of competition in the first place, this is a bit annoying, but the benefit is right.

… Yes, it’s okay to be upset.

“Mundae.”

“why.”

“Are you sure about that information? where did you hear that?”

“The VTIC side told me.”

Big Sejin looked this way with subtle eyes. Roughly translated, it’s like, ‘Isn’t that what you said to fuck me?’

okay. Just in case, I checked that too.

I said this as I tossed and picked up my smartphone.

“I didn’t know, so I asked senior Youngrin directly. that’s right.”

“Whoa.”

With less than four days left and the timing of the comeback overlapping, Youngrin did not bother to lie.

I was just curious.

– It’s been a while since I decided, but it’s amazing that Mr. Moondae knows about it.

I heard the staff talking, but I looked around saying that I had asked just in case.

The crews I work with will be shut down, but compared to our current situation, they don’t have time to pay attention to that.

‘driving me crazy.’

I pressed my temples. Then Cha Yu-jin raised her hand.

“hey! I have that question!”

“Yes, tell me, Eugene.”

“Why can’t I work with senior Youngrin?”

Liu Cheng-wu replied.

“… Youngrin sunbae-nim has a strong image that I trust and listen to. We will be pushed a lot on the music charts.”

“I don’t know before I do! Try it!”

Yes, the ambition is strong and good, but… It was a matter of atmosphere.

How much will morale drop if you can't even get first place in the real-time entry of music charts even though you've got all the regulars like this?

And Youngrin will have more users as time goes by, so this situation, which was released just one day after Youngrin's new song, was really the worst.

To release a new song when Youngrin's sound sources are at their peak.

'It can never be number one unless it is a site on the outskirts.'

The regular record seems to be broken.

"… … ."

And Cha Yujin shrugged her shoulders when she saw the atmosphere of the members who were still immersed in thoughts and worries.

"OK. It's okay if we don't win first place! we're good You can do it well on stage!"

"… !"

"Let's get first place on stage!"

It was a simple statement. However, the atmosphere was a bit ventilated.

"Yes, it's been a while since we've had an album, but it's important to do well and finish it safely."

"That's right. W Because I prepared hard… Wouldn't it be a fun activity if you focus on showing a good image… ?"

Yes, such positive thoughts are good.

but… Also, I like to win.

Let's think.

I tapped the living room floor with my finger.

‘How to beat Youngrin on the music charts?’

First of all, it was clear that Younglin was not promoting this song at all, and there were hardly any rumors in the industry.

Youngrin’s reaction is the same as that of the company.

‘No matter how T1 is, I know all the comeback rumors of quite a few big singers.’

Youngrin herself also said that it has been only a few days since the New Year was confirmed, so in this case, Cheongryeo is uniquely good at information, but most of them are in a state of ignorance.

‘Then, if Testa takes aim at that point and turns the public promotion to the entertainment side… .’

no this is not All the things to appear at the end of the year have already been released, and the variety shows caught at the beginning of the year are already enough. Further increase only increases image consumption.

‘hmm.’

While rubbing the back of my neck, I met Raebin Kim’s dark expression.

“… Do you care too much?”

“yes? Oh no!”

okay. you deserve more attention Because you touched half of this album.

When I found out that even when the uninhabited island was in distress, I was honestly embarrassed when I found out that it was working with the battery that was in the middle of the day.

“just… I am somewhat worried that there are many listeners who will not even try to listen to our song because Youngrin’s new song satisfies their desire to discover a new song.”

Yes, it means that it is worth worrying enough to pour out sentences like this just by stabbing it once.

And I was picking up the points properly.

“that’s right. If a person with a strong popularity takes all the attention, it is likely that the one with a relatively stronger fandom than the public will become their own league.”

It was an inevitable flow.

“… … .”

I thought about it some more and finally opened my mouth.

“So, I think we have to assume that we can’t win no matter what we do in the sound source.”

“… I guess so.”

“Umm~”

“But I think we’ll win first place on a music show.”

Bae Se-jin, who had a serious face, was a little surprised.

“… how?”

“Is that so, senior Youngrin only releases music, and we do albums? There is a record score, right?”

“Ah.”

Yes. We are regulars after a long time, and Youngrin is just a surprise single to celebrate the new year.

‘The fans will try to give it first place by raising another score somehow.’

Because trophies are important.

I am grateful and sorry, but the public reaction to this was not difficult to predict.

-Honestly, Youngrin should have won first place, but Shumbyul pushed it with her fans

– Hahahaha Solo without any publicity VS A male idol who doesn't come up with a storytelling haha Isn't it embarrassing

-Testajkkkkkk~ The fans worked hard -Wow, it's really distorted in reality, everyone I only listen to young songs;

It is the first time since the accident that the group's story needs to be raised for a long time.

Victory, which is only a scar, will cool down at the point when it is time to fill up the people watching Testa with mulberry.

So, in the end, there is a line that cannot be retreated.

'Even if the sound source is given, topicality should not be pushed aside.'

It is necessary to maintain the public ripple effect of the perception that 'it deserves to be number one'. This is the Maginot Line.

"Aiming for a rating based on the standard of losing the sound source and going all-in on topicality to somehow make the activity famous… I would like to make a suggestion."

"… !"

"The order of publicity publicity mentions… Everything."

Extreme selection and concentration were required.

I said and the members seemed to be lost in their own thoughts.

And from the big Sejin, he raised his hand.

“I agree. Is it the most reasonable? There is no other option.”

“okay. It’s a time when strategy is important.”

Kim Rae-bin also nodded.

“I believe that if our activities become famous, more people will try to listen to our songs even late.”

He’s a pretty tenacious guy.

I smiled and then nodded.

Bae Se-jin opened his mouth with a nervous face.

“So, how do you think about creating a topic?”

“We need to discuss the specifics a bit more, but… After all, wouldn’t shock be the answer?”

This was the right thing to steal the topic that Youngrin would absorb all the time with a surprise announcement.

“First, hit people in the back.”

“… ??”

reversal. It’s a word of surprise.

* * *

After some time, January 5th.

The music video for Testa’s new song was released smoothly at midnight on the same day.

The title is ‘Wheel (Day)’.

-Turn

the wheel so that it

flies away

.

An amusement park in the midday sun.

The dreamy filter and the overlapping effect of time and space gave off a mysterious atmosphere.

At one time in an old amusement park, as beautiful as in a novel captured by a fixed camera, it boasted outstanding visual beauty.

Also, the unrealistic scenery with a sense of incongruity, such as the member appearing in the foreground being in the corner of the same screen, brought out a strange feeling.

-Tok tok tok

The mixing of time and space.

A boy with arms wide open in front of a spinning golden ferris wheel and a blue sky.

Anyone can see that it was a spiritually orthodox successor to the debut song ‘Magical Boy’. It is a masterpiece that is faithful to the world view and gives a subtle impression.

but… I was a bit bored. –

The song

is really

good

.

It is because the momentum of Youngrin's new song, which will be released suddenly yesterday, was tremendous.

-Awesome younglin

hahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahaha haha

-Funny Jam (Popcorn)

-Testa sound source hahahaha I express my condolences in advance… It's a pity, they said it was regular,

but it wasn't lightning in the dry sky, and the day before the comeback, the fans were stunned and astonished, asking what kind of disaster this was.

Among the things I was aiming for, the music section was no different from being judged unattainable.

-Ah

why

?

_ Oh, I'm so pissed off

. I need to cut off the internet. It's been a while since Testa's activities, so let's have fun. We just have to work hard.

Still, I waited for the music video, but Testa brought it because it's a good sound source for everyone to hear, so I lamented.

In addition, some of the expected elements were missing, which made me even more excited.

-It

‘s Moondae’s

black hair

.

So did the other members. It was all natural. There was an atmosphere, but somehow the impact was lacking.

A comeback with a music superpower who will never be able to win no matter what they do.

I felt lost and defeated for no reason after I had been sprained several times in the most important regular match.

-Let’s work hard at swimming

-This time, it’s a new song, so please

do it properly.

[Testa failed to enter 1st place in real time]

[Comparing testa entry graph with Youngrin]

[Somewhat shocking testa sound source]

Excited testa’s aggro went rampant on all kinds of sites for the first time in a while.

As many people wanted Testa to do better, there were many people who were interested in their sluggishness.

-Testa’s song is good, but as expected, there is a limit to male idols. There is a considerable difference between users

. If I had just lined up the b-side songs, I would have been in shape, but I seemed to be out of shape even more

.

It would have been nice if they closed their eyes and ears and just enjoyed the content, but when the fans are having a bit of a hard time because of the hearts of people who can’t.

[202X ToneA / 01. 08. Fri] The day has come when the T1A Awards Ceremony, where Testa’s first comeback stage will be held, will be aired.

Fans waited for the members’ performance, recovering their anticipation and energy from being able to see the stage.

Predicting that it will be a leisurely and light stage like in ‘Picnic’.

But their expectations were shattered.

-????

-Crazy ch;n

in a good way.

After a long three-hour wait, what appeared behind the scenes was… They were seven people wearing huge doll masks that an amusement park employee would use.

However, the vague and clear feeling of the pre-release music video was nowhere to be found.

What took its place was intense luminous funk and zippers and gloss.

black gangster.

Wherever the light passed, the luminous paint that spattered randomly on the doll masks sparkled.

[Ugh.]

The guys dressed up in stage costumes like hoodlums walked out without hesitation and took their poses while wiggling their cute doll masks to create a sense of incongruity.

And the flamboyant action as if riding a human motorcycle in the beginning.

Drr Drr Drrrrrrrrrr-!

A bass like the sound of an engine exhaust sounding like a galloping sound.

The electronic sound mixed with the snare of applause and the sound of a bell on top of it heightened the atmosphere.

The lighting flashed back and forth between warm and cold colors.

The members quickly struck an exquisite balance with choreography in which they quickly grabbed each other.

Then, between the large formations that were pulled from both sides, a member of the dog mask jumped out!

he threw off his mask.

[Hi?]

It was Park Moon-dae.

Her pink hair, which was permed and swept to the side, fluttered.

– Huh,

the double title of this album that I have been waiting for without intentionally releasing it in advance.

‘Drill (Night)’ started.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 262

If you can’t debut, you’ll get sick to death Episode 262

When the music video for Testa’s new song was first released, people expected the stage style to be like this.

-A tickling dance style?

-It looks like a refreshing sweet, jeans and white shirts or school uniforms ㅠㅠ

-It feels fresh and soft during a picnic, and the stage that is unfolding right now is exactly… It was the other way around.

On the black stage, fluorescent LED lights and white spotlights flashed black costumes.

Each member who entered the center at the beginning showed a proud face by roughly throwing the doll mask he was wearing to one side of the stage.

swish

The glitter of the eyeballs on the doll’s mask glistened in the moving spotlight.

[Good luck! Come on in, step on today, run faster, hurry up,

burning giants,

night of undeath]

The seven people, wearing rider jackets and leather pants that fit their arms, slithered across the dark stage and weaved an exciting choreography.

Whenever the LED luminous paint in the background scatters between movements and bumps, the overbearing walker boots break the beat.

There was even a member who kicked off a naked doll mask with a walker like a choreography. It was Lee Se-jin's part.

It gave me a bad feeling of strength and composure.

Not only Park Moon-dae, who was the first hitter, but every time the members took off their masks, brilliant colors came out.

It was a strong color that contrasted with the black outfit.

[Bouncing stroke, engine that bursts and heats

every node]

The song was made up of extreme elements such as a low-pitched or high-pitched melody and rap, but the hook and composition were good, so it stuck well at first hearing.

[Running faster,

splitting the sky,

this is an acrobatic feat that transcends the night]

And the rushing feeling that had been heightened right before the drop of the pre-chorus changes with exclamations of exclamation.

[Yeaaaaah—]

Breaking the short silence after the fading accompaniment and voice… It is a whistle.

[Whee-whi-whee-whee-ik!]

And the iconic choreography where everyone moves like one person.

The riff melody that sticks well to the song adds to the addictiveness and sense of rhythm.

The whistle-like sound and the playful mime-like choreography, which split everything up to the beat, harmonized well.

[Jump off]

Dark-haired Cha Yoo-jin, alone in the center, grinned.

The fact that the member who was usually a dyeing agent was the only one with black hair stood out.

In addition, he had a crimson-colored contact lens inserted into his eyes.

[I don’t need a parachute,

just jump

in. Come in]

The sound of hard boots scratching the smooth floor reached the microphone.

The whistling melody was fast and cheerful, but the use of a monotonous note made it feel anxious and vicious.

[

Come in] The screaming

siren rides the melody and becomes a beat.

[Like a drill

Warning Warning Emergency]

The choreography of jumping over the arms and legs of the members as if they were on a ride, making exquisite poses, and then falling off was intense.

It was the level of performance for a survival program, with no likes or dislikes.

[That’s ma thrill Ha!]

The ending arrived as if running out of control.

The dancers, who came out with new doll masks before they knew it, put the doll masks on Seon Ah-hyun, the center of the final dance break, like a performance.

And in the meantime, the members who wear the same doll mask form the ending.

It was an intense yet comical action of bending the neck wearing a doll mask crookedly like a wooden doll.

Hey hey hey hey!

A sound like a braked bike hit the stage.

the lights go off

[Drill]

That’s how the stage ended.

However, the reaction of the audience has only just begun.

* * *

-and me

-hahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahaha

-Testa! Testa 1 Testa! Testa!

-Hahahahaha.

From the audience seats at the scene to the real-time broadcasts on the Internet, screams and exclamations of laughter overflowed from all over the place.

There was no lofty interpretation or meaning on stage.

People were excited about the crazy performances and songs that were only aimed at reaching WOW points.

Because it was an activity song made for that.

-I really like it, Testa is really good at watching the stage
hahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahaha hahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahaha

]-
hahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahaha
hahahaha]-
hahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahaha hahahahahahaha]-
hahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahaha
hahahahahahahahahahahaha]-
hahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahaha
hahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahaha]

] -what is Moondae Park’s

rap

? It was a stage equipped with three virtues of unexpectedness and popularity that fans like to digest even a little maniac element with personality.

The more serious fans were excited to peek around the stage and enjoy a taste of the new activity into the night.

The atmosphere of the fandom, which had cooled once due to the sharing with Youngrin, became hot again.

Because there has never been such a pleasant and appropriate twist!

-Spring hair color

00:26 Park Moon-dae pink / 00:38 Lee Se-jin ash blonde / 00:51 Kim Rae-bin silver hair / 01:02 Sun Ah-hyun light purple… . -Bae Sejin's blue hair is so good, he's so cool in human summer.

Does it seem like there's something more to it?

-Quickly give me the sound source. When the water comes in, ask me not to row. It's at work.

And before the fun time is over. Testa immediately released a new music video at midnight that day.

[TeSTAR's 'Drill (Night)' Official MV]

-Huh

-What's going on with this hahaha -Already??

-All the crazy sound sources have been released hahaha

-Are you finally rowing when the water comes in?

The topic that exploded on stage took over the baton with the music video. That's how Buzz Yang exploded once again.

In the music video, only the visual beauty and charm of the group dance were drawn out with extremely high purity.

In an amusement park open at night, illuminated by firecrackers and luminous lights, the members dressed in exaggerated costumes of employees continued shooting and acrobatic choreography.

Wearing a doll mask, he rode a wild motorcycle with a siren and ran through the fairgrounds of fairies. -It's a fantasy amusement

park day/night concept

. It was a bit creepy and strange, so it was fun, and most of all, it was a picture that was pleasing to the eyes.

Of course, there was nothing that directly seemed to be a worldview element, but it was not completely separated from it.

_____=

[Is the music video crazy?]

The drill, the wheel, and the music video are all connected by time

(link) here in front of the merry-go-round. In front of the mirror in front of the ferris wheel, everything has the same composition.

The more you find, the more you will come out

_____=

-Goosebumps

-Connecting them like this

-Crazy, crazy eagle I tried to watch it, but when I play the drill interlude in reverse, the wheel chorus melody comes out (file)

ㄴAwesome

ㄴSomehow the interlude was unusual… Wow ..

ㄴㅠㅠㅠ Ah, it's so fun, I have to watch my album when and quickly

.

It was quite a lot of fun to see the coolness and mystery of the day change to the radicalness and splendor of the night.

And Testa had no intention of using this pre-announced title as a throwaway card.

On the second day of ToneA, which runs two days in a row, they also performed 'Wheel (Daytime)'.

[Turn the wheel

so it can fly again]

It was a beautiful and refreshing performance that used camera work to the limit on a large stage set that looked like an amusement park.

Originally, the reaction to this stage, which would have been quite good, even drew attention due to the contrast with the previously released 'Drill (Night)' stage.

Moreover, it raised Testa's reputation to the next level.

-Testa has a really wide spectrum

, so it must be fun to be a fan .

It’s hard to do this too…chkchk

Testa’s strategy of bringing all the buzz except for the first place in the sound source was a great success.

However, the person who planned this project was tongue-in-cheek with a somewhat disappointing aftertaste.

* * *

‘The mission clear doesn’t appear.’

I still frowned at the mission window with the countdown running.

In fact, I received the grand prize once at ToneA this time. It’s the Artist of the Year award.

‘It was possible because there were three divisions in the grand prize.’

While VTIC took the album and Youngrin took the song, we also took one.

Even so, VTIC fans consider it ‘lost’ due to company issues, so maybe it’s only natural.

It is similar to when winning the Rookie of the Year award.

‘I have to admit that the public is a target.’

In a word, it had to be the current VTIC level one tower. Until now, Testa was in the position of a challenger.

till now.

‘I’m going to go as far as hitting and kicking this year.’

Maybe it was possible with this album.

The album sales were huge, as if the fans were waiting for it. It has already sold 700,000 copies by pre-order alone. It has increased even more than during ‘Calling’.

… The tactic of selling 4 albums and then selling a special edition for reservations must also have played a role.

Still, the composition was fine, so it wouldn’t go against commercial morality. It’s because I put a key ring in the shape of a doll mask in the photo book and Blu-ray bonus.

‘The music charts are also going smoothly.’

‘Wheel’, which was released in advance to see if the aggro strategy using the stage worked, was also running backwards on the music charts.

This didn’t go beyond young rin, but the important thing is awareness.

‘It’s like a trend.’

The more popular the songs on this album become, the less the backlash when they win first place.

Even if the music score is less than Youngrin’s, this is a perfect result at a time when the reputation of winning first place on ‘Because It’s Worth It’ is needed.

Something similar is already being said.

-It’s a pity that Testa released the drill first

. -If the sound source had been announced and released, it would have been ranked higher.. Unfortunately -I think the promotional strategy was a failure.

└222 This is the success of the strategy, on the contrary, the public opinion believes that Testa suffered losses due to the strategy's failure.

'good.'

We will be able to catch public opinion of opposition after winning first place on music channels smoothly. I decided to be content with this.

In fact, even if I wasn't satisfied, I didn't have time to do anything else.

"Your mask is really cute!"

"Oh you too."

"My mask is a tiger, so it's cool!"

no it's a striped cat I roughly passed Cha Yu-jin, who made unconvincing arguments, and took up formation.

Like this, even in the spare time between schedules, you have to use the intermission to shoot choreography videos, or practice or familiarize yourself with the script.

"Have you seen your smartphone?"

"okay. The response is good."

I affirmed, putting the phone away.

"Are you all satisfied with the song? I wonder how many similarities you find between the two title tracks!"

"You found it well. Analysis articles are already coming up."

"… ! Is that so!"

"Rabin would be nice~"

I watched Sejin Kim and Raebin Kim start to wear masks while arranging their dyed hair in a good mood at the good news.

To be precise, the two of them had pale hair.

‘That’s… The water will drain less.’

Everyone seems to have strong hair roots, but their hair is still in good condition, but the most important thing is that they are sweating in the color they dyed.

All seven of us are in trouble every time we do something. It seems that the inside of the doll mask will be dyed before this activity is over.

‘Everyone will have a hard time managing it.’

For a while, it seemed like the bathroom was going to be a mess. Still, it was a meaningful challenge, so everyone seems to be satisfied.

‘Because people like it.’

Isn’t that enough? All you have to do is wait a month or two.

my head… Well, I did get a little static electricity.

[Hi]

I performed the choreography neatly according to the song that came out with a shrug.

As the busy and busy days passed by quickly, a new schedule plan came out.

“Oh~ Spring Tour!”

“The concert is finally happening.”

“I look forward to it… !”

It is this year's concert tour.

I understood that far. I canceled last year too, but it's time to do it.

However, size was an issue.

"… A dome tour."

"yes!"

In Japan, a dome tour was held at a large concert hall that can accommodate more than 30,000 people.

I thought it was a joke.

'Arena would be perfect for our weight class?'

But no.

"Six episodes, starting with Tokyo and ending with Osaka… ."

"oh… ."

These bastards have a real venue.

… Looking at the financial statements for the fourth quarter of last year, it seems that the people at the top of the company were biting their nails.

The cancellation of the tour and inactivity resulted in a slimmer profit.

So, the head of the headquarters made a decision… Next year, the demand for Testa's performance was overestimated and the venue was reserved.

One of them was the Japan Dome Tour.

'Hmm, this wouldn't work.'

Aren't we in the weight class for the dome tour?

however… .

“Is it sold out??”

“… ??”

Surprisingly.

As if this album had a good response in Japan, like a lie, the general manager’s last year was also an irrational number.

And it wasn’t just Japan.

‘what’s this.’

The beginning was the publicity opinion given by Cha Yoo-jin.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 263

If you can't debut,

you'll die of a disease Episode 263 Cha Yoo-jin's opinion was actually not an outlandish publicity method.

"Let's make our challenge!"

"challenge?"

"Try to dance challenge!"

In a word, 'take a video of us dancing'.

It was a short video content that was popular a few years ago. To be honest, I haven't seen a team that makes a comeback lately and doesn't try this.

'Gold 1's group also got a lot of attention with this.'

But that's because the company did a good job, and most of them just end up with results that put meaning into the attempt. Because the song is good and the choreography is good, people don't follow me.

I don't know, but it seemed that there was a preference for pleasure there.

However, Cha Yoo-jin had a surprisingly good sense of catching it.

[I put on the sky filter like this… Here, the song is changed as well as the Halloween filter!]

"Oh."

[At the end of Wheel's pre-chorus, the feeling of piling up… .]

Cha Yu-jin adjusted the music and added a dark and intense whistling refrain from Drill to the end of the upsurge part of Wheel, which is refreshing and daunting.

[Wheeik! and another! Drop the Drill and you're done. Is it good?]

'Is it okay?'

It's a bit childish, but the atmosphere and choreography all change at the whistle, so it has a taste that draws attention in an instant.

Seon Ah-hyun, who was not interested in this, nodded.

"That's cool… !"

"I know!"

It was plausible just to look at. It means that even without prior knowledge, a similar context to popular things was seen.

'If I do well, I'll see some effect.'

"What do you all think… ."

I immediately tried to confirm the pros and cons with a raised hand, and saw the faces of several people who said, 'I'm not sure if I understood this English.'

… Is translation a priority?

"It seems that if you create a dance challenge by connecting the two title songs, you can bring out the charm of the twist."

"Ah~"

And only then did an opinion come out.

Most were in favor.

“Then both songs will be able to receive publicity.”

“Is our promotion and story similar? Taste of Reversal! Oh, Yujin Cha~”

“Hee hee.”

It wasn’t a risky gamble, and honestly, these days, it was a standard method, so it was passed quickly both inside the group and in the company.

“They say they put in arrangements through platform partnerships.”

“Yeah~”

“Then we should take a video for the announcement of the challenge. One per person.”

Bae Se-jin swallowed.

“… alone?”

“yes.”

Due to the nature of this kind of video, it was two even if you pushed it as much as possible to see it well.

Bae Se-jin’s face was filled with worry.

“Mememe! From me!”

Of course, Cha Yoo-jin took the video with excitement.

To be honest, this one was the most plausible in my opinion. It seems that he suggested it because he had a finished picture inside himself.

It was perfect to put in the catchy choreography hand movements of the drill chorus while bending your head.

‘Is it because I’m young?’

This kind of sense was instinctively good.

However, there is also a guy who is the same age as Cha Yoo-jin and has failed to film about 10 times.

“If you do this… ?”

“ha ha ha! Kim Rae-bin is completely incompetent!”

“… ! It’s my first time trying it, but if I understand the principle a few more times, I can do better than you!”

“No, stupid!”

And Kim Rae-bin barely succeeds and is mentally defeated by Cha Yoo-jin.

“It’s okay… … .”

Cha Yoo-jin enjoyed the leisure of the winner.

“Everything was good. It’s because I like Kim Rae-bin’s songs!”

You give me a bottle and give me medicine.

“… … .”

for a moment. Come to think of it, strictly speaking Raebin Kim has the youngest birthday… Well, it’s because he’s not related to this kind of latest fashion.

Anyway, the video uploaded like that went viral because it matched our PR strategy.

It even developed its own version of Cha Yu-jin’s original plan, and even created a new trend that was modified among users.

[Testa Reversal Challenge!]

Bae Se-jin looked at a collection of videos on WeTube and said with a mysterious face.

“So wearing a doll mask and running between butterflies… You’re suddenly throwing your mask away and pretending to be a villain.”

“… Yes.”

“… Isn’t it so different from what we used to do?!”

Bae Se-jin said it a little harshly, but it was the correct answer.

The Drill stage, which was first introduced at the awards ceremony, became quite famous, so it seems that it was influenced by it.

‘Rather good.’

It is a great success because it has been reproduced more excessively. Videos will continue to pour in.

‘Youngrin can never do something like this with this new song.’

It was a song that focused only on the ‘pleasure of listening’.

As planned, wins and losses were decided in content beyond music streaming.

When this happened, the company was excited and even suggested that we do a ‘filter partnership for drill’, but Cha Yu-jin was adamantly opposed.

“There are many people who hate this challenge because it is too cheesy. Our music video is so cool you can’t use it!”

“Um, yes.”

It means to lower the barrier to entry by only going viral with the song and its familiarity, and not to be directly involved in it too deeply.

It also matches what I was trying to say.

‘It’s useful.’

He was a good-looking guy. It’s a problem using your head only on what you’re interested in.

With Cha Yoo-jin’s publicity strategy playing a part, the activities proceeded as planned, as if the emergency immediately before was a lie.

[Testa’s new song with great spirit]

[Drill music video views trend.jpg]

[Drill choreography video is out]

Articles and videos about Testa’s activities this time flooded the Internet. It means that the topicality is on the right track.

And as soon as the results began to be reflected, they were immediately nominated for first place on public TV music shows.

result?

“Live music song! Number 1 this week… Congratulations Testa!”

of course won However, the score was as expected.

‘It’s about 1,000 points less than Youngrin in the sound source.’

but it was fine It was because it was a ‘deserved’ atmosphere unless you were a fierce music supporter or an anti.

It was a victory for the strategy of making justification.

I nodded my head in a rather thrilling sense of satisfaction.

won

“… thank you!”

“Long time… Thank you so much for not giving up, cheering me on, and waiting for me. Thank you very much Lover… !”

There were a lot of people who were especially moved to tears, perhaps because it was the first place on a music show after a long time.

“Is Lee Se-jin crying too?”

“Yes hyung, he’s crying a lot~”

Even the people who didn’t think that would be so thrilled that the scene was a bit funny, but it must have been much nicer to see than knowing I was going to receive it.

‘Domestic gripped tightly with this.’

I sang five encores with sniffers.

It was at this point that the words ‘It’s too bad that Testa came out with Youngrin’ turned into ‘It’s a pity that Youngrin’s song came out with Testa out of necessity’.

It was around the time I spent about two weeks doing promotions through variety shows.

‘I’ll have to check the other editions.’

Gradually, I began to look at news from abroad. It was after confirming that the scale of the tour had increased tremendously.

‘In the first place, Drill was released with the global response in mind.’

It’s fun to listen to without being complicated, the visual beauty with money is just amazing, and the choreography is amazing… It is a sentiment that is common all over the world.

‘Is that why demand increased with this album?’

However, the moment I did the search I was a bit perplexed.

“… ?”

‘What is it and why are there so many of them?’

The results were more spectacular than expected.

global. This is where Cha Yoo-jin’s PR strategy began to reveal its true value.

* * *

‘Testa’s Reversal Dance Challenge’ created by Cha Yoo-jin is said to have deeply inspired overseas fans.

‘This is what Muggles eat!’

So, KPOP fans who have a crush on Testa put in a request to watch this new song like a bombardment to all Wetubers and people around them.

The format was simple. It is to make them see ‘Wheel’ first unconditionally and then ‘Drill’ in succession.

In fact, quite a few people liked it just for ‘Drill’.

It was a blockbuster comic movie + game cinematic trailer style video aimed at nerd tastes around the world.

However, when I had them watch the opposite ‘Wheel’ in advance, the reaction was chosen better because of the gap shown by the same group in the same background.

[Oh, the same place is the background? This amusement park promoter… what? Are they the same kids?]

[My God, my God! This bike riding bastard is cool!]

[I’ll tell you now, only K-pop stars like this cool anime character can accept men with dyed hair.]

It means that they've gotten better at selling views. Regardless of this guy or that guy, even people who aren't reaction YouTubers filmed videos.

And as the number of exposures increased as the videos and songs were selected for global taste, the number of views of Testa's music videos for new songs increased accordingly.

In particular, 'Drill' is said to have even entered the U.S. real-time popular video rankings.

'… It's coming mainstream.'

It was a pleasure.

I conceded.

To Yujin Cha… I'll have to grill the meat sometime.

"Do you want a cow or a pig?"

Like a ghost, Cha Yu-jin answered from across the room.

"I like cows! Korean beef is good!"

"okay."

But it didn't end here.

And when something became very popular, gossip would naturally follow from anywhere.

I think it was Japan this time.

[I'm surprised that this fits so well (video) (´ ω`) _]

Some anime fans wrote our challenge and music video while compositing scenes, and a fight broke out out of nowhere… It seems to have become more famous.

It didn’t even explode between testa fans and animation enthusiasts, but people who dislike Korea asked.

-You can’t use Japanese singers whose portrait rights are precious, so they’re using Korean idols? It’s better to stop because the class itself is different

– Hallyu fans always go beyond the topic and hate to see it (laughs)

– Is this how they react? The so-called K-pop fans are too radical – they’re not interested in K-pop copied from America and Japan. I would like you to return to your country.

┗ Testa never entered Japan in the first place, right? (´・ω・ `) ?

-Only the net rightists were excited (Laughs)

They say that a dogfight broke out between the forces that they absolutely hate in Korea and K-pop fans.

A YouTuber who organizes Japanese reactions summarized them in a lively tone.

[Then, is Testa being boycotted in Japan as the net rightists claim?]

[This Testa’s album was #1 on the Oricon chart this week!]

“… … .”

In other words, the Japanese viral, which was not even attempted, succeeded.

Since it wasn’t a controversy caused by us, there was less resistance, so people who watched it and said, ‘What the hell is it?’

And since they are conceptual and handsome, it seems that the number of fans has rapidly increased.

‘Come to think of it, I haven’t been to Japan since the visit.’

Because of the controversy, the public exposure was suddenly created, so it seemed that the latent fan base came in at once.

-The face of the member of the deer antlers light purple is so amazing I can only describe it as a prince -Is the black hair the center? You’re really handsome. It’s dangerous. I’m already replaying the video for the 5th time.

-Pink! pink! pink! I’m a fan of pink puppies now! (Captured by Park Moon-dae)

And it is as if these people filled the concert weight class that has grown from arena to dome.

at last… The dance challenge started by Cha Yoo-jin exploded in all directions like branches.

“… … .”

this… Isn’t this album really getting the grand prize?

‘There is a possibility.’

I thought wishful thinking for a moment and tried to end monitoring.

I would have done that if it hadn’t been for a news article that popped up on a search engine before turning it off.

[VTIC (Vtic) February comeback confirmed… The top of the music industry is back.]

“… … .”

These pups… don’t you want to rest?

Even a confirmation kill came after a while.

[VTIC Chae-yul senior: Let's make a comeback next month Mr. Moondae! Please show a lot of interest~]

[VTIC Shin-oh senior: (Emoji shooting a gun with his hand)]

I don't know why these guys are inviting me to a group messenger to share news that they can each send. Are you scratching?

[Yes, congratulations.]

I gave a standard answer. Then, a personal message came to the guy who posted pictures of dogs.

[VTIC Senior Shin Cheong-ryeo: Really?]

This bastard is for real.

[sure. I hope you are doing well during your activities. It's just a pity that I won't be able to see you if I go to the army.]

It means to go to the army immediately.

After some delay, the answer came.

[hmm? Why me?]

What?

The next message arrived one after another.

[I only serve for six months because my mother is a man of national merit. Didn't you know?]

"… … ."

[Ah, you didn't make an announcement this time. I'm sorry^^ Junior.]

[Isn't it active? Have a good trip.]

You bitch.

I made a promise by turning off my smartphone.

‘From this tour… All schedules are used to raise the weight class unconditionally.’

I’ll make this bastard enlist in the lamentable army next year.

And just then, a suitable offer came from Netplus.

“It’s a documentary.”

“Yes! You do a lot these days.”

It was a documentary behind the concert tour.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 264

Episode 264

I put my hand on the table.

It was a small table placed in a hotel room to match the assortment, but in front of it was a camera as huge as the table.

said the crew behind the camera.

“please introduce yourself.”

“yes. hello. This is Testa’s Bakmundae.”

I nodded at the camera. And said it with a faint smile.

“I am now… We are participating in Testa’s second concert tour.”

And I’m also involved in making a concert documentary.

this is what i’m doing now

‘Actually, I film a lot of concert behind-the-scenes.’

It gives you a sense of familiarity with each idol, and the behind-the-scenes story of the concert you watched is interesting.

However, it is rare to produce a documentary separately. It is encouraging that it was launched in front of the general public rather than treated as a product that only fans can see.

It means that the production has left a mark on the flow of popular music to the extent that it has popular significance.

‘In other words, it’s like a symbol with a different class.’

For example, VTIC must have already released three or four documentaries of their own.

So, everyone acknowledged that this was an act of knocking on the threshold of the heavenly realm.

However, whether everyone liked it was a different matter.

-… wouldn’t it be uncomfortable? You’re going to have a camera attached to you for months.

-Well, I heard that you are coming in appropriately under consultation.

-Sometimes I worry that the related content won’t be interesting because I don’t have a very interesting daily life… .

-Ay, the experts will take care of editing for you~ You don’t have to be too thirsty for fun. It’s a documentary, not a variety show! would you do it nicely?

In the end, with the majority and appropriate persuasion, the documentary went into filming, and so far there have been no problems.

‘a little… It seems too attached.’

For example, something like this.

“Which part of the tour is the most uncomfortable?”

“Hmm, maybe it’s like adjusting to jet lag or figuring out a new venue… It is an environmental factor.”

“Ah, I think you can. Then some more… How is it in terms of heart?”

“Well, mentally… .”

I can feel the desire to film raw things from the production team.

Attempts to reduce the sense of distance from my inner world can be seen with each camera.

If you lower your tension with a simple question and then come up with a refined answer, you will slowly change your direction so that your true intentions are revealed.

It was different from the entertainment production crew that pursued stimulation.

Of course, in this case, it is enough to give a more ‘sincere-sounding’ answer.

“I think it’s because it’s hard to bear that the audience can’t fully enjoy the concert due to factors beyond my control.”

As I thought briefly, I left a blank and answered again.

“So I think that’s the most sensitive and nerve-wracking thing. The perfection of the concert.”

In this way, you will feel satisfied that you have discovered the personality of the respondent.

Sure enough, the crew nodded and moved on to the next question.

“Then what does the concert mean to Testa?”

“Anyway, the closest thing to meeting the fans is… … .”

Even after that, I think I gave a good answer worthy of a documentary. An edited version would be plausible.

* * *

“Thank you.”

The interview lasted about an hour. And it ended with the crew leaving to visit the next hitter.

“… … .”

I lay down on the bed.

On the contrary, the tour itself is more leisurely than the active period.

Now that it’s time, I’m given a hotel room during the tour. And between concerts, it’s because I have quite a long time to rest recklessly to recover my stamina.

“It is quiet.”

I closed my eyes. It was even a little awkward, probably because I had been living among such noisy people for several years.

“… … .”

Just before useless thoughts come crashing in.

Suddenly, the production team’s question I just heard rang in my head.

-What does a concert mean?

Then there is a scene that comes to mind.

The first concert of this tour.

A concert at Gocheok Dome in Seoul after a long time.

-Waaaaaaa!!

cry. flame. Heat.

and pure concentration.

If this huge psychological uplift and overwhelming feeling is the essence of a concert, the non-face-to-face donation concert could just be called a filming.

It was so ebb and flow that I felt the density as if I was in the sea.

the air is different.

Concerts are a good source of income for the company, but from the standpoint of performers, there was no transcendental space.

If you do it right, there are more rewards than burdens. And this group has been around for such a long time.

“after.”

… It’s fortunate that the documentary crew didn’t stick around from Seoul.

‘Because everyone went home crying.’

I would never have been able to do an interview like that.

-Dream as blue as day!! Big!

The guys who sang their debut song with their shoulders in the dorm were drunken themselves. It is obvious that complaints would have come in if the soundproofing was not good.

‘Ryu Cheng-wu cut the request well.’

I briefly acknowledged the leader’s credit. And while checking the schedule for the next W live, I fell asleep right away.

… Remembering that there are 34 hours left until the next concert.

‘Soon.’

Since it is in the US, the venue is smaller than in Korea, but the concert has not changed. There will be a similar density of pleasure.

And after the hotel chipper time and rehearsals, the concert started again.

[Hello LA!]

[Wooooow!]

Yeah. The concert was still a special experience and I enjoyed it.

However, I need to further revise my impression of the documentary crew.

‘These guys are too much.’

“Mr. Moondae, are you okay?”

“… it’s okay.”

I took off my oxygenator and stood up. Then, the camera hurriedly catches up and another production crew hurriedly writes something in the back.

It wasn’t very meaningful.

‘Do you make a story?’

However, it would be faster to find an idol who does not use a respirator, but if you pay attention to ‘passion’ with this, you will only come up with a boring picture.

‘VTIC has already eaten all of the beef bones.’

But after the concert, I caught up on the situation in a restarted interview.

“Mr. Moondae, have you ever felt any aftereffects after a car accident?”

“… ? Traffic Accident… . um no I am well.”

They started asking about my physical condition.

‘Ah, I see.’

It seemed like he wanted to hold on to the concept of ‘a perfectionist idol who does his best even though his body hurts’.

It’s fun to put in a narrative rather than dry facts just because it’s a documentary, so it’s good to try… .

‘It’s a scam.’

I was the one who was judged cured even by modern medical standards.

There are a lot of violent movements in this album, so I even stretched my muscles, so it’s deceiving to tell the story that way.

I am strong beyond measure.

‘It’s about the level of using a lie detector if you install it with this.’

The bottom line is to get an interview about ‘anxiety after a car accident’. I added a bit more assertiveness.

“I was greedy to show my fans a good image quickly to cause concern, but I am completely healthy now.”

Then, a subtle silence passed between the production crew.

what is this.

“Mr. Moondae. It seemed like you were moving beyond your limit during the concert.”

“… me?”

Were you at a different concert than me?

“yes. Same with the oxygen mask. Members say so too.”

“The members?”

what is this sound.

In the meantime, these bastards are holding me in a panic and having a good time. Is it that much fun?

“After the accident, I can see that Mr. Mundae is having a harder time than before, but he says it hurts because he doesn’t show it as much as he can every time.”

“… … .”

In an instant, the evidence passes through my head.

-you… I’m already in a state of stamina due to the aftereffects.

-He was seriously injured and lying down for too long must have affected his condition.

“You seem to feel a lot of pressure physically, but you want me to expect more from you.”

No, the corner I leaned on was Bacchus.

And even without it, I’m fine now, but the members were comparing me to now, remembering me in the days when I was constantly receiving ‘Bacchus’.

In fact, I forgot that I had unrealistically good stamina before that.

And contrary to my promise, I put ‘Mission Constitution’ in the vacancy of ‘Bacchus’ and put an end to the heyday of physical strength that can’t be returned… .

In addition, the system leaves and you can no longer get a draw.

‘It’s ruined.’

It’s an outsider.

I held back my drool and barely opened my mouth.

“… I didn’t expect the members to say that.”

Don’t laugh because you’re not impressed.

But I have to use that misunderstanding.

I paused for a moment, then answered slowly.

“I was hurt the most. So the members put a lot of thought into it. I think it’s probably from a similar context this time… Just thank you.”

… It’s also half sincere.

So stop talking about friendship stories between members and give up stories about overcoming injuries.

But these guys didn’t give up.

“here!”

“Are you okay?”

“… okay.”

‘under… .’

First of all, I persistently filmed myself on the backstage. In particular, it was clearly intended to prefer the appearance of being supported or breathing.

‘It must have been completely plugged in.’

I thought about giving a serious warning a few times, but gave up.

‘Do whatever you want.’

Looking at it, I thought it would be interesting to pick the documentary itself based on facts because it captures the interesting points well.

It just seemed like it would inadvertently plant a distorted fantasy about me in the public, but what… done.

‘The fighting spirit of an injury is a common behind-the-scenes story.’

Yes, it could be that this job originally started with deception and ended with deception… . Do it right for the money.

‘It looks like rumors of aftereffects from members are spreading all over the world… .’

I gave up everything and focused on the concert.

However, it seems that there are also those who did not.

“Stop! stop!”

“… !”

A slightly longer VCR playing time before the encore. Suddenly, a loud noise came from backstage.

It was the voice of one of the least sensitive of us.

“Eugene?”

“Are you Cha Yoo-jin?”

The guys who were on standby after changing their costumes ran at once, embarrassed by the unexpected situation.

It was a bit like that because the camera was chasing it, but anyway, the contract even included the disposal of the film in the clause.

‘Checking the situation comes first.’

And when I turned around the hallway, I saw the place where the sound came from.

It was a small backstage room, mainly for managing muscle cramps and joint pain.

Cha Yoo-jin had a patch attached to her shoulder to see if she was receiving emergency care, but there was something more urgent than that.

It was because Cha Yoo-jin was in a confrontation with the documentary crew.

"… Eugene?"

Cha Yu-jin looked back, but soon stared straight ahead again.

To be precise, the production team beyond the cameraman.

"Don't do that. I don't like it."

"yes yes. sorry."

"Go away. Don't come in here."

And resolutely sent the production team out.

"… … wait a minute."

I also sent the camera that followed me outside. It was a bit intrusive to film even a closed door until the end, but Cha Yoo-jin came first.

As soon as Ryu Cheng-wu confirmed that the door was closed, he turned off the microphone and spoke to Yu-jin Cha.

"Yujin. You have a camera. If I have something to say, it won't be late even if the camera is lowered after the concert."

"… … ."

"Even if there are complaints, let's talk about it after a concert. 4 minutes until our encore… No, only three minutes left."

“… OK. all right.”

Cha Yoo-jin didn’t look very happy, but she nodded. I’m not the type of guy who’s in a bad mood on stage, so the encore will be fine.

‘I heard that documentary guys are overdoing it.’

Still, I didn’t know that Cha Yu-jin would do this.

I don’t know what the hell made him react like this. Still, the production team seemed to keep the line.

I held my breath and opened the door. Immediately the camera popped in.

… This time, I was also a bit intrusive. That passion might be the cause.

‘I’ll have to talk to you as soon as it’s over.’

But before the concert was even over, I was blown away again.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 265

If I can’t debut, I’ll get a fatal disease Episode 265

As expected, the encore itself went smoothly.

[See ya!!]

Cha Yoo-jin ran across the stage looking for the camera and the audience as if she hadn’t shouted before.

And I maintained that tension until the moment I went down to the back of the stage.

‘good.’

I calmed my head, still reminiscent of the concert.

I’m going to go down like this and talk to Yujin Cha, and then use that as a base and talk to the production team again.

I know you’re trying to draw a picture, but let’s do it.

However, before we had time to do so, the guys with cameras from the backstage caught up with us as we came down the stage.

‘These bastards really don’t know how to give up.’

I had a strong hunch that if I got angry, I would actually like it because the boundary between real life and real life had collapsed.

“… … .”

Cha Yoo-jin glanced at the documentary crew, but took the water and drank it without saying anything else.

‘It seems genuine.’

I think I relaxed a little while on stage. I cleared the situation by wiping my neck with a towel.

It was then.

The crew quickly approached me. The camera followed closely.

“Eugene is very quick to find his composure… Maybe in a previous accident-”

“Stop it.”

“… !”

Cha Yoo-jin suddenly interrupted and pressed the camera with her hand.

It was a sudden action.

“Ugh!”

“I said. Why are you not listening?”

“for a moment.”

What’s this kid doing all of a sudden?

‘If we do this, we will cross the line first.’

The members, who had been taking a breather at the sudden action, were frightened and clung to it.

However, Cha Yoo-jin did not take her hand off the camera for quite some time and looked at the production crew.

“Eugene, let go of the camera.”

“What are you doing!”

“Wait a minute. Director, I’m sorry, but we’ll have a talk. wait a minute.”

Big Se-jin managed to cut off the situation and went straight to the waiting room after beating the production team well.

widely.

“Let’s sit down.”

“… … .”

Cha Yoo-jin sat on the sofa without saying a word. Liu Cheng-wu got lucky.

“Yoo Jin-ah, the production crew may feel uncomfortable, but… I’m still working, but I can’t get out of my hands. We need to talk.”

“You didn’t hear me.”

“Wait a minute bro. Listen to Cha Yoo-jin.”

Big Sejin intervened.

“During < Idol Inc. >, you just endured while crying. When we were filming our reality show at the beginning of our debut, even when cameras were all over the dorm, you didn’t say anything, right?”

Perhaps because of the urgency and seriousness of the situation, it wasn’t as easy as usual.

“But if you do this now, do you think people will think about whether you are correct or not? They just float and think that people have changed.”

“That is different.”

“It could be different. But if the viewers can’t see it, it’s of no use?”

“… … .”

“Eugene-ah, while working, everything can’t be reasonable and right in your eyes. If that’s possible, is it a god or a human? First of all, I apologize for touching the camera… .”

However, as soon as he finished his words, a backlash came in.

“… No, it’s true that those people did it wrong in the first place. You were rude.”

“… !”

It’s Bae Se-jin.

“I think you should definitely do that. I was patient when I debuted, so it’s strange that I’m being patient now.”

“Sesejin hyung.”

Seon Ah-hyun called out nervously, but Bae Se-jin did not withdraw his words.

Instead, a brief expression of annoyance passed across Sejin’s face.

“brother. When I talk about it now… . No, I’m not asking you to apologize for doing good to those people.”

“Yeah, I guess he’s trying to get over it. But is it really necessary?”

“… oh so… Whoa.”

“stop.”

I raised my hand. And pressed his temples.

“We don’t have to talk for a long time about this. You can just talk to the production team and get rid of the film.”

It is true that opinions differ, but it is not necessary to put an end to it. You just have to be careful in this moment.

I summarized the whole situation in one word.

“Something like this happens when you work.”

“… … .”

The two of them kept their mouths shut. I tried my best not to bump into you, but it didn’t hit me either.

‘It almost sold out.’

I held back a sigh. And he threw his words at Cha Yu-jin, who was still lowering his head.

“… Cool your head.”

“… … .”

There was no answer.

After confirming that Raebin Kim was left in the room after hesitating, I put water in front of them and left the room.

I was going to have a conversation with the production team wearing Ryu Chung-woo, but the camera caught up again… Fuck, I need to do a little bit of this.

I moderately helped Ryu Cheong-woo, who was worried about the condition of the camera that Yoo-jin Cha had pressed and the camera director, and brought it to the point.

“I think the members should take a break today. How about meeting tomorrow and talking again?”

“yes yes. I’m really sorry, but is it possible to have a short interview right now? I know you’re taking a break tomorrow, but hold on for a really short moment.”

“… for a moment.”

oh i don’t understand

‘Is Cha Yu-jin mad about this?’

It’s not an unmanned camera, but since you can see it sticking like this, it might be more annoying for an American guy who lived in the paparazzi’s lair.

‘And from the point of view of the production team, this opportunity cannot be missed.’

It’s easy to lead to sincere answers if you talk while you’re tired and emotionally shaken.

Seeing how we deal with Cha Yoo-jin, I guess I’m the type who won’t say, ‘Hey, this is a fucking documentary, fuck it up!’

Fortunately, the company staff who jumped like bullets immediately intervened, appeased the production crew and sent them back.

“If you do this, we really can’t do it. It’s embarrassing! We ask for your understanding.”

And asked us with an anxious face.

“Mr. Eugene, by any chance, with the documentary crew… Did you have that friction??”

“There seems to be a bit of a problem.”

Liu Qingyu looked around the room, and when our eyes met, he sighed briefly.

“I will leave it alone for today. Cool down.”

“okay. That would be right.”

Anyway, I really didn’t have a schedule for tomorrow. After the concert, the exhausted guys confined themselves to a hotel and all they did was get some documentary comments.

The staff looked nervous, but eventually agreed and decided to wait for Cha Yoo-jin to come out of the room.

“I think it would be better not to touch it too much right now.”

“yes yes. We will be sure to pay attention.”

It seemed that even the staff were quite unfamiliar and embarrassed by this situation, as they worked with people who took care of themselves within the group or passed on without hesitation.

Still, I did quite a bit of work.

“Everyone, hurry up and get some rest. We’ll wait for you two to come out.”

“… … .”

okay. I’ll see you tomorrow morning anyway, so let’s just go for now. It would be a loss if guys with different opinions stick together and it turns into a useless fight like before.

‘It’ll be okay since Rabin Kim is with me.’

In this case, it would be more comfortable to be the same age than older.

“Come in.”

“… okay.”

The members looked a bit embarrassed, but eventually agreed and moved to the car.

“Shall we send a text message… ? In English.”

“Well, wouldn’t it be nice to have a slow face-to-face conversation while eating tomorrow morning?”

“Yes… .”

Consolation is good, but you will need time to think about your actions.

I returned to my hotel room extremely tired. Then I washed up and went to bed right away.

“… after.”

Tomorrow morning, I’ll have to adjust to Cha Yoo-jin’s taste.

And I was going to hear the details of what happened with the production team.

But the next morning.

Cha Yoo-jin did not appear while the others showed up until the usual breakfast meeting time.

“… … .”

“Is it past 9:30 now?”

“huh.”

I opened my mouth.

“Rabin.”

“yes!”

“How was Cha Yoo-jin yesterday?”

“He was silent and looked a bit lethargic, but he didn’t show any more anger!”

“… okay?”

“yes. Perhaps the current situation is judged by oversleeping or some kind of protest!”

That’s right.

I fixed my hat.

“I will bring you. Let’s go too.”

“I am… ? no no All right!”

Leaving behind those waving hands with a mysterious expression, I headed for Cha Yoo-jin’s room with Kim Rae-bin.

And immediately rang the doorbell.

Ding-Dong.

“… … .”

There was no response.

“Cha Yoo-jin. Open the door.”

still no No matter how much we said we caught all the lines in this hallway, we screamed more.

I’m sure you’ve heard this much.

‘A real protest.’

goes far I sighed, took out my smartphone, and called Yujin Cha.

But the phone… didn’t take

[Your phone is off… .]

“… … .”

this… It’s cheap.

“brother?”

After making another phone call, I acknowledged the situation.

“Rabin.”

“yes?”

“Call the manager hyung.”

I looked at Cha Yu-jin’s door.

“It seems that Yujin Cha is not in the room.”

“… !!”

After a while.

“Really.”

Cha Yoo-jin’s room opened with the hotel staff… It was empty.

‘Damn it.’

It was an unimaginable situation.

‘Was it a mistake?’

Rather than letting this guy cool down until morning, should I have sat down and calmed him down right away?

‘No matter what, he’s not a ninja and he wants to escape… .’

I almost bit my tongue, but I managed to ask the manager.

“Have you ever been called last night?”

“no! I’ve never been contacted by Eugene… !?”

People at the company were in a state of panic. It was worth it. Because it was the first case of escaping I encountered after activities.

However, it did not evaporate without a trace.

-I’m leaving.

At least I left this note behind. It is also written in large Korean.

“Yu Yujin must have been very hurt… .”

“But it’s strange to go to sleep like this… … . Wait, isn’t that like kidnapping?”

“Then I think this room would have been in a worse shape than this. This idiot went out voluntarily!”

“Yes.”

That’s right.

The condition of the room was too good to be called a kidnapping, and it was not a hotel where anyone could easily break into.

I just calmly looked at it and guessed what was going on.

“… … hmm.”

I looked around the room once and nodded.

“It didn’t go far.”

“Is that so… ?”

“okay. I left all my luggage. I took my wallet and cell phone and left… Was it impulsive?”

I guess it’s highly likely that he left because he’s pissed off even after waking up…

At that moment, Kim Rae-bin raised his hand.

“Excuse me for talking over there, but would it be all right if I share my opinion?”

“… ? okay.”

The boy swallowed and spoke with some hesitation.

“just… It looks like he went out to play because he doesn’t have a schedule.”

“… … .”

“… … .”

for a moment.

“It could be… There must be.”

“yes!”

Bae Se-jin hurriedly intervened.

“but! Your smartphone is off… !”

“I think I turned it off so I wouldn’t be disturbed while playing.”

“… … .”

yes. Since it’s my day off anyway, there’s a chance that I didn’t have to ask for permission from the company… Suffice.

Members were perplexed.

“That’s right. It could have been.”

“… Can you come up with such an idea… … .”

Ryu Cheng-wu refreshed the atmosphere.

“Well, but maybe not, so let’s take a closer look at the situation and prepare.”

“okay. Okay~ Shall we turn on the CCTV then?”

“I’ll check right away, so everyone, please wait. Someone else is coming!”

The manager immediately ran with the hotel staff. It’s good to work hard, but I can understand the feeling of the bomb dropping.

However, the search itself did not seem to be too much of a concern.

“I can find it with this.”

I took out my smartphone and picked it up.

* * *

Cha Yoo-jin hit the sandy beach with his toe while feeling the sea breeze.

It was quite leisurely to go out on a bright morning on a long-awaited holiday day.

‘The weather is nice.’

But I didn’t feel very refreshed. He put his arms around the back of his neck to get rid of the sadness.

He came out to change his mood by saying ‘cool down’, but I don’t know if he did something wrong… was the conclusion.

‘Well, I won’t apologize.’

Instead, he decided, he should have a good talk with the team about why he wouldn’t apologize to camera-wielding idiots.

But I was a bit shaken up.

‘No one cares about my condition.’

He grumbled, “It doesn’t make sense to not send a single text message all night in this situation.”

There really is no one who can understand and acknowledge his thoughts…
.

“Cha Yoo-jin.”

“… !”

The familiar but unexpected voice made Cha Yu-jin almost jump from her chair.

“brother??”

“okay. grow.”

It was Park Moon-dae.

‘oh my god.’

His teammates ran across the sand and jumped at him.

It was very welcome, but it was also a surprise. What kind of magic did you do?

“How did you find me? Did you find me?”

“Is that important?”

Park Moon-dae was lightly dressed. And her pink hair fluttered in the sea breeze, as if she had been searching for herself quite diligently.

But instead of getting angry, he smiled and held out a paper bag.

Inside was ice cream from a nearby shop.

“It’s obvious where you’re going. I was looking for a place near the beach while selling sweets, so this cafe was close to the hotel.”

“… … .”

“I thought you would definitely be around here.”

It was an accurate guess. Cha Yoo-jin was a little impressed before feeling embarrassed or goosebumps.

“Brother is great.”

“uh. Nope, eat some ice cream first. Can you bring outside food here?”

[If you have enough tips. This isn’t even Disneyland, right?]

It was a very good joke, but Park Moon-dae didn’t seem to understand it very much. Cha Yoo-jin, who is used to this kind of situation, just let it go.

In the first place, in terms of culture alone, the sight of a man of his age sitting around with his brightly dyed hair was not very American in itself.

However, Park Moon-dae’s main argument started when Cha Yoo-jin ate more than half of the ice cream.

“Then tell me while eating. Why did you do that to the production team?”

[Sounds like an interrogation?]

“I’m asking because it must have been for a reason, not an accusation.”

Moondae Park crossed his arms.

“You are a smart guy.”

Cha Yoo-jin was slightly moved.

So I shrugged my shoulders and opened my mouth right away.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 266

Episode 266 Cha

Yoo-jin is used to conversing in a language other than her mother tongue.

However, that did not guarantee a completely rich expressive power. And there was always some misunderstanding.

So, the words Cha Yoo-jin chose were always straightforward.

“They only ask bad things.”

“Documentary crews?”

“that’s right!”

Cha Yoo-jin nodded and put the ice cream in her mouth.

And began to grumble in fast English.

[What traces the traffic accident left, how hard it was to prepare for the concert, and whether there were any injuries or safety issues! After all, have you ever felt skeptical about this work? What kind of jailer do you think you are interviewing?]

Park Mun-dae answered, wagging his fingers.

“You kept asking me if I was unhappy.”

“yes!”

I understood what he was saying. So it was great to talk to this person!

“Why should I? [That’s why we don’t have enough time to show our cool and best sides. And I’m happy!]”

He wants to give pleasure, not to show pain or negative energy.

Cha Yoo-jin had a philosophy about her job. He had no intention of living like some celebrities who sold their personal lives for fame.

So he crossed his arms.

Coincidentally, it was the same posture as the person opposite.

“Then I am not apologizing.”

It was a statement of conversion, but the pink hair on the other side laughed.

“… You must have been very sad about what Lee Se-jin said, right?”

It was a straight line.

[Of course!]

“Lee Se-jin said it for you. If the only thing that goes out is that you hit the camera, it will always be your loss. People will misunderstand.”

“are you okay. I don’t care.”

“Then take care of the team. Because we care.”

“… … .”

Park Moon-dae used an ambiguous expression to mean both the damage to the team and the concern for Cha Yoo-jin.

However, Cha Yoo-jin only understood the latter and nodded obediently.

‘You’re worried about me.’

It was a net function of linguistic misunderstanding.

“And the crew… They must have wanted to show that we can handle the unfortunate and difficult things. Because it’s going well and shows a lot of cool things already.”

Park Moon-dae slowly changed the path of the horse.

“Everyone has pain, and seeing it in person makes me feel more like a person. It looks genuine.”

Cha Yoo-jin respected this clever team member and listened to everything he said.

And Park Moon-dae slowly respected Cha Yu-jin.

“But I can’t force you to show pain.”

that was the correct answer

“yes.”

Cha Yu-jin growled.

[And they are all fucking liars.]

“Lies?”

[I said it very clearly in the first interview. He said he didn’t want me to ask about his personal history of injury or pain. I told you to talk to my company about that!]

“… ! hmm.”

[They nodded and said they would be careful. But you saw it too, right??]

“I saw it.”

Throughout the concert, Yujin Cha recalled the camera trying to take pictures of him in pain and confirming his ‘uncomfortable’ feeling.

And even endless accident stories!

-I won’t do that.

– Oh, I’m sorry. I’ll be careful.

The answer was pure.

But keep trying to ask similar questions whenever there is a gap.

That was no longer respectable.

“It was so many times! Over ten times!”

“… … .”

Moreover, it was despicable to change the target once he got really angry.

-Mr. Eugene is very quick to find his composure… Maybe in a previous accident.

It was clearly intended to ask Park Moon-dae when he was in a coma!

‘Without understanding the time when I was unconscious to the person at the concert?’

How dare you ask such a thing!

“That is so rude. You did it wrong. I blocked that.”

Cha Yoo-jin used Korean again to make a stronger argument.

And Park Moon-dae seemed to be lost in thought.

“… … .”

But it didn’t take long before the answer came.

It was the answer I had been waiting for.

“You’re right.”

“… !”

yes!

“good. understood.”

Park Moon-dae made it simple and clear.

“Let’s go and apologize. They are wrong.”

“great!”

Cha Yoo-jin bumped his fists and raised his hand to shake hands. Park Mun-dae thought, ‘Why?’, but he responded without showing it.

‘This is the joy of the team!’

Cha Yu-jin wiped her hands and smiled coolly.

Of course, there was work to be done ahead of time.

“I eat all of this.”

“okay. Eat a lot.”

Cha Yoo-jin spent the morning relaxing at Park Moon-dae and the beach.

It was a pretty pleasant holiday.

* * *

“Buy pizza! The pizza here is delicious!”

“okay.”

While the sun was rising, Cha Yoo-jin fully recovered. And all the way back to the hotel, I'm calling and buying pizza.

'done.'

Today, I thought I would listen to whatever group he used. I'm not a guy who needs to lose weight, so it's about pizza.

[$89.]

[Here.]

I organized the situation in my head as I paid for the pizza.

As expected, when Cha Yu-jin, who was at the nearby beach, was fed something sweet, the situation immediately popped out.

'Cha Yu-jin must have been pissed off.'

When I heard the story, it was more than what they did to me.

It seemed that the documentary crew filmed Cha Yoo-jin and scratched them more gently.

I immediately guessed why.

'It must have been because Cha Yu-jin felt the least refined.'

He seemed the most unaffected and honest among us, so it would have been better to pull out something raw.

And first of all, it was 'invited' to select a picture that could be used for a documentary.

'Terrible… .'

When I was in college, I remember what I heard from the lecturer in a liberal arts lecture on photography.

‘Did they say that it’s better to negotiate after taking a portrait than asking for permission before taking a picture?’

It means that all photo opportunities will disappear while permission is granted. After I said this, I remembered that it was because of the controversy in the school community.

Anyway, if that’s the prevailing sentiment in some parts of the industry, then Testa’s documentary must have had bad luck with the crew.

because I don’t know how much

‘It’s time to warn you once.’

Coincidentally, Cha Yoo-jin was happily walking with a pizza and asked.

“brother! I have that question. How do they talk?”

“We don’t have to talk.”

I said leisurely.

“The company will take care of it. Just accept my apology.”

There are many circumstances in what you are going to talk about that could reverse this structure.

“I go upstairs and eat. I’ll make a call.”

“Got it!”

As soon as I returned to the hotel, I contacted the company.

Since the recent deal, the management side has also been completely changed and has become a bit quicker, so there is no need to worry about our image as we directly step out and use our hands.

“hello. … yes. It is true that I met Eugene under the circumstances conveyed.”

-yes yes! We heard about the whereabouts of Mr. Mundae and Mr. Yujin.

“yes. Then there is a story I heard from Yujin… I will deliver that too now.”

I saved a proposition by weaving Cha Yoo-jin’s words I heard on the beach.

“… That’s what the production team shouldn’t do, right?”

-Ah~

The manager’s voice changed slightly.

-I see what you mean.

It was a tone that gave off a strange sense of confidence. it means i got it ‘Looks like I’ve got some company now.’

Until now, I thought that Liu Cheng-wu should also receive a salary, but it was a welcome thing.

I finished the call and went up to the hotel room.

And the moment I visited Cha Yoo-jin’s room to check the condition and get a pizza.

“Moondae hyung!”

“Welcome to Mundae~”

People with pizza here and there wave their hands.

Apparently, he was waiting in the room just in time for Cha Yu-jin’s return.

“Brother, come!”

Cha Yu-jin sits in the middle with a sad face. It was an atmosphere that had already been talked about and everything was resolved. With Seon Ah-hyun as the interpreter, it must have been possible.

“W I put the door thing aside here… !”

“Oh thank you.”

I sat down among the waving guys.

“Is the story good?”

“Of course~ Oh, was it sad that our Yujin hyung didn’t even ask what was going on and apologized?”

“yes!!”

“I did it because I was afraid that if I didn’t apologize, there would be a big problem. Of course I’m on Eugene’s side!”

“are you okay! I didn’t even discuss it. I am very sorry.”

“Yes, yes, let’s do better!”

Like quick-footed guys, he was quick to reconcile. Bae Se-jin seemed to be agonizing over, ‘Is this something to be done so quickly?’, but soon gave up and seemed to eat pizza.

And Kim Rae-bin was still serious alone.

“From now on Cha Yu-jin, make sure to leave after contacting me. No matter how much it is a holiday, we are on official schedules, so be careful.”

“Um okay!”

“… ! Uh uh.”

Kim Rae-bin was embarrassed for a moment, but soon became proud. You play well.

However, Ryu Cheng-wu seemed to be thinking about something carefully while watching this scene.

‘hmm.’

Seeing that the expression is comfortable, it’s not a big deal.

And the real special events will be pouring into the production crew in a while.

‘I’m looking forward to it.’

I expected the sight while eating pizza.

and dinner.

Before the group interview of the members, I heard the conversation between the company and the production team in the next room.

“We’ve confirmed that it’s a complete breach of contract.”

“No, that’s a misunderstanding.”

“It’s too obvious a violation to be called a misunderstanding. It was all talked about when we first talked about it.”

“If you go in that tight with post-shooting… .”

“No. I heard that the artist has already told me several times to talk to the company. They said everything was recorded, so I’ll check it out.”

“… !”

okay. This part is the problem.

Cha Yoo-jin had already brought up the ‘company’ story. multiple times too.

The party refused to comment on certain matters and asked to talk to the ‘company’, but I ignored it and continued to cling?

It is a breach of contract. Because this clause is in the contract.

[If A requests A's sensitive personal information during filming, B will agree to a new timely display of the information.] In addition, there is even a provision for compensation for damages in case of violation of the provision.

Since T1 is behind this agency, as a studio production team, not a broadcasting company, if the company takes a hard line, they will have no choice but to do it.

The guy who had been eavesdropping on the noise in the room with me tapped me on the shoulder.

"Hey, Mundae's hair is good."

"what."

I shrugged.

Now, using this as a pretext, scare people that the documentary contract may be destroyed and destroy the data.

"yes. Please do so."

And it seemed that the deal worked well.

In the end, before filming, the production team even apologized to Cha Yu-jin, which was closer to an excuse.

"I'm really sorry if you were offended."

'I didn't mean to do malicious editing, it was just a desire to create more sincere and better content.'

"… Okay~ But since it's my content, please listen to my opinion."

Cha Yoo-jin passed on coolly and the work did not get bigger, but the production crew became more cautious.

It was a benefit to all members.

‘Enough.’

I restrained Cha Yu-jin from raising his thumb in my direction.

The rest of the documentary filming was conducted with a little more focus on Testa’s expertise.

And the night after the interview.

Testa left his solitary confinement and gathered in a huge hotel room.

“Very spacious!”

“Oh, the facility is nice. Is Chung Woo-hyung shooting?”

“Um, only today.”

Liu Cheng-wu, the man who pushed for this, answered as he closed the door.

“I think the company will take care of the expenses in the future.”

“from now on… yo. this.”

do you have a future?

“huh. While on tour, I wonder if it would be like spending at least one day a week together, but what do you all think?”

Ryu Cheng-wu had a rather serious face.

“I thought about it, but since we were alone on this tour and there were almost no schedules, we rarely talked to each other.”

“that… Yes.”

Those who had been living alone for the past few weeks looked blankly at Ryu Cheng-wu.

“I think that’s why Eugene’s work this time has become more complicated. We didn’t have time to know each other’s thoughts.”

Liu Cheng-wu ended his speech with a smile.

“I wish we had time to talk and take care of each other. That is my opinion.”

I felt the sincerity. And in an instant, the inspired guys came out.

“brother… … .”

“It’s so touching!”

“I am good… !”

“Not that bad… not in one day.”

Even Bae Se-jin agreed. Even the guy who cheered in solitary confinement was like this, so it was almost unanimous in the end.

“Moondae?”

“… It’s good.”

It was a good decision. It can prevent unexpected actions.

I nodded calmly, but suddenly realized the reality.

‘I said nice for a while… After all, isn’t it a workshop once a week?’

In the end, I’ll gather these guys and check whether there’s any nonsense, and talk about album activities and concerts… .

no. It’s already spread on the floor.

“Our teamwork is absolutely the best. I was moved.”

“It would be nice to bring a beam projector for the next meeting.”

“Shall we order room service?? Do you play cards while eating?”

“… … .”

Yeah, I’ve come a long way to treat this as just a co-worker. what’s the job

‘It looks like a club room.’

I admitted lying down on the sofa. Now, it was not uncomfortable for these guys to mention the workshop.

‘… No, more than that.’

I won’t deny it. Even though I’m stuck in this crowd… It was very comfortable.

I relaxed and thought.

‘I’ll just have to pay attention to the tour for a while.’

… But I was overlooking one.

Cha Yoo-jin’s sensitive scenes were omitted due to the company’s strong measures, but my scenes went out as they were without any protest.

The ‘perfectionist idol who does his best while overcoming the aftereffects’ is… It was right in front of you.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 267

If you can’t debut, you’ll get sick to death Episode 267

Around winter passed, Testa started a dome tour in Japan, which was scheduled after the US.

And, as is always the case with concerts in Japan, the supply of direct cameras plummeted. Thanks to this, fans with dry content welcomed the documentary that appeared at the right time.

Filling the void and raising the name value at the same time.

It was as calculated up to this point.

Fans were quite excited.

-It’s time to shoot Testa too

-I think it’s going to be fun, but believe in Testa, the idol of the generation who laughs -I watched the preview, but there weren’t many contents like this as it was impressive + visual beauty, so I’m curious (emoticon resting his chin)

So… That is, until the first reveal.

Immediately after the first episode of Testa’s documentary was released, the reaction changed like this.

-Ah, X feet

– ㅠㅠㅠ ㅠㅠㅠ ㅠㅠㅠ

– Guys…

Due to the nature of the platform, several episodes were released at once, so fans watched all three episodes at once and grasped the story.

I also saw the edited version for the first time at this time… Well, I can explain it like this.

[Staff: Please sit down… .]

[Park Moon-dae: … (cough) No. It's okay.]

[Cheongwoo Ryu: I want to do my best when I can… (Edit) Yes, all of you. No one will give up.]

The documentary continued to focus on how serious Testa was throughout her concerts and activities, and how she wanted to complete the stage even in the face of pain.

-I knew it from the beginning, but I feel how much the kids love this job, and my heart is heavy.

-The more you watch, the more you build up your love for Testa and your hatred for T-One . To the point where the fans were agitated and depressed.

'… I knew from the time I asked.'

Still, I thought he would refrain from contract violation due to the Cha Yu-jin incident, but on the contrary, Cha Yu-jin's 'that way' part disappeared, and this vibe was extracted from the other members.

especially me

[Dance Trainer: Ms. Mundae's stamina isn't the same as before. It can't be helped.]

[Manager: (After the accident) We're more concerned about allowing the artist to rest sufficiently in the middle of the move.]

That was another interview when.

The dedicated team staff also appeared, but the editing was amazing, so I made it look like I was really struggling with an injury.

'Did the interview be too gentle?'

My answer was appropriate, but the synergy with the interview with the people around me made me look like I was 'pretending to be calm'.

Thanks to that, it was also seen that fans were more directly uncomfortable when they went under the water.

-What is the intention of the editing to sell with this? Why do you come out of the formula

? I don't think the kid who gritted his teeth like that didn't want to show how sick and hard he was, but he was just in a bad mood. At best, the atmosphere of when I won 1st place on < Azusa > with "unfortunate family history" has deepened and returned.

'Likes and dislikes are divided… Can you organize it to that extent?'

That means that the general public reaction has been good.

It is because this sinpa-like emotional code created a big story and emotional line that penetrates the contents so that the documentary is not boring.

_____=

[The story of Park Moon-dae's aftereffects in the Testa documentary.jpg]

(Photo) Looking at the members' interviews, the loss of physical strength is more serious than expected. (Picture

) The scene where Sun Ah-hyun is supported as she comes down from the stage

_____=

-I was surprised to see her fall down while flying on stage.(????9028 ???? 62)

-I heard that I watched the GED because I didn't want to be ashamed of the fans

. ????3173 ????42)

… Thanks to this, the image of 'Park Moon-dae who is overly serious about idols' has been strengthened.

It can be said that the production team's intention to make it was successful, but I will say that I was quite embarrassed.

"Oh~ Mr. Jin Guk Mundae~"

"Stop it."

Sejin giggled and patted his shoulder and sat down on the sofa.

He also had a smartphone in his hand. It seemed that they were monitoring mainly Inheart and Witube.

Big Sejin shrugged.

"Everyone compliments me. And how long will our 8-episode documentary story last? Don't worry about the image~"

"… yes."

That's right. Just as the image of 'Park Moon-dae who endured an unfortunate family affair' during < Azusa > was blurred as he was active after his debut, this was bound to be erased as time passed.

It's not like he appeared on a public entertainment show, but at least it's a documentary dedicated to OTT services.

'It will disappear by the next comeback at the latest.'

First of all, it also meant that it was not a big deal for this guy to react so thoughtlessly.

"Choose some funny pictures of us at Mundaemun University. Shall I upload one?"

"Sure."

I decided to use gags to neutralize the atmosphere and put the significance of the documentary in good completion.

'I hope it doesn't fail.'

But it was a hasty judgment.

Some topics do not naturally re-evaluate as time passes. Does not wither.

… That's why I've been more careful.

* * *

It happened two weeks later, while the documentary was still airing.

Most of the public other than the fans have declined, but at least many people know that 'Testa's documentary has been released'.

The timing when the rest of the documentary crew also left after organizing additional filming.

I was caught by the back of my neck in a rented studio.

“Park Moondae!! Did you see this??”

“Why do you… .”

I looked at Bae Se-jin’s hazed condition.

Smartphone.

A popular post on the bulletin board.

1st [Assault on cameraman Cha Yujin (692)]

Why is this… Here it is.

“… … .”

I immediately clicked on the article.

A short video without sound was attached to the article. And the short word ‘personality ㅠ’ was all about the content.

However, the response was hotter than ever.

It was worth it.

Because Cha Yoo-jin, frowning, was filmed in close-up, front-facing, as if hitting the screen with her hand.

-????

– What is this and where did it come from??

-I wonder if it’s someone else

ㄴThe outfit is the same, what the heck (captured)

-Hey,

in the comments, I already knew that this was a concert backstage because it matched Cha Yoo-jin's appearance that appeared in Testa's documentary early on.

And after I thought the situation was over, it was one-sided.

-Mouth shape 'Stop it' Yes wow

real

personality
hahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahaha
hahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahaha-

Jill's personality burst, but she gets cold ㄴI'm

cold
hahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahaha
-hahahahahahahahahahahahahahahaha-hahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahaha-hahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahaha-hahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahaha-
hahahahahahahahahahahahahahaha-hahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahaha-
hahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahaha

–I couldn't even imagine that Yujin Cha would be like this -I thought she was a sign-in person, but she was a loser at the unit leader. .

It was so clear that the camera used his hands, so people decided that there was nothing more controversial about this.

Because Cha Yoo-jin's previous image was so bright and friendly, the wave was even greater.

"What about the company?"

"… you know I heard the staff talking."

“for a moment.”

I immediately went out and started looking at the latest articles. You have to look at the atmosphere and adjust the clarification statement.

And now Pando… .

[Idols violently telling the truth while the same member is sincere on stage.jpg] [Somehow, only Cha Yoo-jin does n’t

have a serious look in the documentary, but I know why

. Began to do.

And that wasn’t all.

[Ryu Chung-woo said the same thing, so it seems like he only collected those who came out of X or from his hand] [Isn’t it stained by the leader?

Because there was a similar controversy.

However, Ryu Chung-woo was clear in the name of protecting safety, and it was explained in a different angle video.

So, Liu Cheng-wu’s individual fans got sick of it and took action.

[Leave Ryu Chung-woo, it’s like this every time]

[Cha Yu-jin = Hitting Ryu Cheong-wu = Blocking]

[How long do I have to avoid that side?]

He cut off Cha Yu-jin’s side.

And this… It is because of the accidents and images that Cha Yujin's fandom has built up.

This is because the individual fan's voice, which only liked 'Cha Yoo-jin', had a strong impact in the early days.

Even if this is not the case now, even if completely different individuals are the majority of the fandom, the image is inherited.

The evidence was so clear that even friendly people were silent, and all that was left was the voices of many people.

-Yes, Cha Yujin leaves and goes solo… I'm tired

– I don't treat bottle members.

It started with < Azusa >, debuted and went through various conflicts, and the old evil finally exploded at the worst timing.

Because my image was so good through the documentary… It was easy.

The atmosphere of individual fans has already been smashed.

Of course, there is no separate portrait book for group fans.

"… … ."

"… Are you okay?"

"Fine… ."

I stopped talking. because it wasn't okay

I felt like X.

"Let's start with the meeting."

The company, of course, turned upside down.

And it seemed like he was trying to get in touch with the documentary crew to find out what the hell was going on.

So the bottom line is… .

"… So, someone on the documentary crew had a broken computer and sent it in for repair, and it leaked there."

"yes. Since the owner seems to be a broadcaster, it seems that the already deleted capacity has been restored."

It was an explanation that the staff couldn't help persuading the members with an expression of 'I don't know if I can say this'.

"I have heard that personal information is leaked in this way, but honestly, it is difficult to hold accountable for negligent management because it was a crime… ."

ok i know after that

A criminal who was trying to find something related to a celebrity caught a big fish, but Cha Yoo-jin's video didn't seem to be the field he was interested in.

So, for the purpose of attracting attention and showing off, I post articles and videos on one of the bad Deep Web.

Then, one of the users of the site re-leaked this video to a general website based on interest.

It quickly spread through social media and communities.

"… … ."

But if you know the principle of the X-foot, you can't see the answer.

This was not a situation that could be explained normally.

‘Did it happen because the documentary crew made unreasonable demands?’

It doesn’t work. They respond by saying, ‘If you have any complaints, you’ll go out of your way.’

‘It’s not hitting, it’s pressing, and to protect members who receive rude requests for documentary filming… .’

who would believe Isn’t there any evidence

I’ve already destroyed all my data.

It’s just an excuse.

In the meantime, if you use the frame ‘A large corporation’s idol beats a small studio production crew’… There really is no answer.

No matter how you make an official position, the pod will be caught.

Cha Yoo-jin, who nodded quietly, raised her hand from the side.

“Am I apologizing?”

“Wait a minute. Eugene!”

“Let’s wait.”

The members started tearing each other apart.

I said without knowing.

“If you apologize, you admit it. Don’t do it right now.”

I don’t know if this sounds like an X foot. Is it better to apologize? But what did he do that he should apologize for?

I didn’t see any other answer.

Cha Yoo-jin's video is too strong.

If so, a stronger truth was needed to reverse this.

And, of course, the original truth is not that impressive. I have to process it.

'Unplay… .'

no. It won't work.

No matter how much the company downplays it, apologizes, or explains the situation in detail, it doesn't work. It sounds boring and like an excuse.

Shocking and intuitive at once, we need proof that makes sense, but… .

there is no

"I'll wait and see if the situation calms down a bit."

"yes. Everyone, don't worry too much, there's a performance next week, so take care of your condition… ."

The meeting ended so quickly. However, the company probably monitors all night and holds endless meetings.

I also stayed up all night monitoring the tide with my smartphone on.

-I'm closing my account

. I can't do it anymore. I'm not coming in anymore

. Thank you for all this time.

Because I couldn't sleep.

and the next day. It was worth seeing the faces of the other guys as well, as if they had done similar things to me.

Except for one guy.

“Don’t just browse the internet.”

Cha Yoo-jin said. Surprisingly, this guy had a better complexion.

“yes!”

Cha Yu-jin nodded. and added words.

[Hyung, don’t worry about me too much. Because the truth always works in the end.]

Blood wells up in the head.

What does this bastard believe in and is so carefree? I know what you’re swearing at “therefore! won’t work… … .”

I shut my mouth.

… Are you crazy?

Didn’t it just come out that it was useless and only lowering morale?

Not my business, but someone else’s.

‘… No, it’s because they’re on the same boat.’

I saw enough of the group’s fans falling out last night.

however… I know. In the end, this will be a problem that Cha Yu-jin will handle almost alone.

When this topic passes, the group will recover, but it will remain as a label that will not be overturned whenever someone tells Cha Yoo-jin about the incident.

Even so, Cha Yoo-jin was surprisingly calm.

“Hyung, I’m really fine. I don’t care about that. It’s not that I can’t perform.”

“… … .”

[Again, are you going to say that I’m okay, but the team members are not okay?]

“… that.”

[Stop worrying about me!]

Cha Yoo-jin laughed, but in the end, she lowered her head with a downcast face.

“[And I’m sorry. It’s true that it hurt the team. I really wanted to tell you.] I’m sorry… .”

“There is no need for that.”

I answered calmly.

“I agreed that they were right. That’s it.”

“right… That’s sweet. Thank you!”

Cha Yoo-jin seemed to be quite moved, whether or not he had suffered. I held back a sigh.

‘I’m sure I’ll have trouble in the future.’

Still, there was no answer.

Sometimes there are misunderstandings that cannot be resolved… have to admit

I sat on the sofa with my back to Cha Yoo-jin, who entered my room.

“… … .”

It’s not that guy’s fault. And since we did everything we could, it’s no one’s fault.

okay.

‘just… Things turned out the wrong way, like X.’

… Really?

I got up from the sofa. I felt out of place.

Something was artificial.

‘Is that really the answer?’

Is it all that Cha Yoo-jin’s video leaked from the computer unluckily?

… Let’s go back to the basic premise.

‘Why did that video stay on that computer in the first place?’

Didn’t we destroy all the footage of Yoojin Cha as we took action?

Even if it was restored at the repair shop, only the crucial parts were saved so neatly?

During that long shoot?

“… … ah.”

Only then did I properly grasp the situation.

“It’s cut.”

These idiots cut a part of Cha Yu-jin’s film and stored it in their personal computer, in case it would be useful for negotiations or anything else later.

If the front and back circumstances come out, only they will be at a disadvantage, so I cut out only the part where Cha Yu-jin takes action.

‘Dog X meals.’

Even if the spill was unintentional, these pups were the cause anyway.

‘Because the idiots who are making documentaries are full of thoughts instead of a sense of mission.’

“haha.”

My head suddenly spun around.

I quickly checked their studio information and list.

If Cha Yu-jin’s image cannot be fully restored, shouldn’t these bastards have something to do to prevent them from recovering?

‘Weakness.’

information was needed.

First of all, I checked all the image files of the documentary contract that I received and filmed.

Representative Producer Writer… .

and contact e-mail address.

-Moon Seok-chun

/

It’s a company email, but it doesn’t matter. The important thing is the ID before the email address.

‘I don’t change IDs often.’

After checking the history on the website of this studio, narrow down your search criteria to prior to its establishment.

After that, if you link the ID with a common search engine address and change the combination several times along with the names… .

A few years old articles pop up. It's about the launch of a certain program.

And at the bottom of the content, there is the address and name of the 'newly joined' studio crew.

coincide

'yes.'

There are likely to be one or two articles that list even these things.

"found."

-Studio Ioje Producer Moon Seok-choon () … .

And the title of this article?

[< Idol Co., Ltd. > season 2 production confirmed]

That's right.

These bastards were the producers of 〈Idol Co., Ltd. 2〉, who planned a hybrid and then failed.

After ruining the program, he came out of the entertainment department and moved to the studio on the liberal arts department.

"It's fun."

I smiled with my teeth showing.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 268

If you can’t debut, you’ll die of a disease Episode 268

Let’s make a proposition.

The production crew for this Testa documentary are the ones who left the studio after the collapse of Idol Inc. 2.

And after cutting only the vantage point of the contract violation video, they tried to steal it and even leaked it.

“… … .”

This fucking bird… Let’s calm down.

There is nothing more absurd when it comes to organizing.

‘I need someone to give me feedback.’

My head is heated and my reasoning can jump, so I need to keep the balance of my thinking.

I tried to inform the person who can think the coldest right now.

“… no wonder.”

After hearing the reasoning, the look of nervousness disappeared from Sejin’s face. It’s an expression that I finally understand.

“It was too much to try to leave out the story for a culture.”

“okay.”

It was mistaken for documentary madness mixed with real cultured personnel. It was for entertainment purposes.

Thanks to that, the Testa documentary was fun, but since the work got stuck in the mud like this, they have to handle it themselves.

‘I have to smash the rice bowl.’

I have no intention of seeing these bastards do anything again, whether it’s entertainment or entertainer culture wearing entertainment masks.

What should I do?

First of all, there is the most convenient and simple way.

“How about notifying T1?”

“Hmm, didn’t the company already know that we were the production team for Azusa 2? Now that I look at it, it seems like they entrusted our documentary because it’s their line.”

I shook my head.

“I don’t mean to say that.”

“then?”

“They are trying to cast doubt on the situation.”

If you slightly change the perspective of this case, it will become a sentence that the company will be sensitive to.

‘I think they were trying to sell or deal with a third party by deliberately making a sensitive video for their singer.’

It is a suspicion of fatal betrayal.

And that’s not a mistake, but rather a deliberate attempt to profit.

As evidenced by Gold 1's agency industrial spy, the larger the company, the more enraged it tends to be if they think they've been caught.

'Then it's enough to make me feel like I've been caught.'

I quickly explained the matter and then added an afterword.

"I think he'll get even more angry because he thinks he was stabbed in the back of the head when he raised him."

Let's gently encourage them to think that when they rescued the people who were smashed with 〈Azusa 2〉, their eyes turned upside down without knowing grace.

'Wouldn't that be wrong?'

Then the head office will take care of it and cut down so that these production crews can't set foot in the major industry again.

And if not, you'll think it doesn't matter. It's because I'm embarrassed and embarrassed just because I have doubts. It's common for a small studio to disappear.

It is a neat and powerful social despair.

"… … ."

Big Sejin seemed to rub his chin, but then smiled bitterly.

"to be honest… Do you think it will work? Moondae is so good at talking."

"however."

"yes. 'however'… Doesn't that benefit our situation? It's just revenge."

"… … ."

Big Sejin shrugged.

“Well, I think someone like Bae Se-jin will like it, but… If we do this, it falls into the company’s hands, not us, and that’s it.”

“… yes.”

I’m not sure if Bae Se-jin will like it, but the second half is right anyway.

There are side effects to using this method.

‘I have to finish with this.’

It is difficult to directly mention these people in Cha Yu-jin’s public explanation.

The pressure from T1 will of course be seen as unreasonable abuse by the public.

And that overlaps with Cha Yoo-jin’s controversy. – Take the thing that Cha Yu

-jin

did and abuse it again to the wrong documentary producers hahaha

Only by quietly handling them behind the scenes can we end their careers smoothly without any advocacy.

And that would be the wise way.

“… … .”

But damn, why do you not like this inside?

It’s as the big words say.

I hit the armrest of the sofa.

“I don’t like that.”

“Yeah, I knew you would.”

I’m annoyed to see a picture where these guys from the production team are going to win their spirits because they gave up under undue pressure.

Besides, even if I didn’t bring it out, I think T1 would already have similar thoughts.

If there was a head there, wouldn’t it have made a similar reasoning?

‘It’s just blowing some air into the board, it’s not a big idea.’

and… It is also true that there is no practical benefit to Cha Yu-jin even if he does this shit.

‘Damn it.’

I banged my head on the couch. I need to make it more X.

“Whoa, Moondae, can you bring me some ice water?”

“no.”

Let’s think.

Is there any way to benefit Cha Yoo-jin while these bastards are fully cooked?

And he said carelessly.

“… Can’t you overwrite it?”

Is there any way to throw these bastards as Internet scapegoats instead of Cha Yu-jin?

Big Sejin’s voice became subtle.

“Oh, well, that’s great, but… hmm.”

I mean unreal bullshit.

right. The degree of being from < Azusa 2 > ends with ‘what if’. I’d say he’s trying to sway public opinion.

My head gets cold.

okay. Stop making useless delusions and make realistic decisions.

You can always make it to be Crew X. I’ve verified that possibility, so I’ll keep it for now.

‘And the only way to benefit Cha Yoo-jin is… .’

… I’ve thought about it many times, but not right now.

So let’s look a little further and think.

By the time people get fed up with the story of Cha Yu-jin’s abuse of power, we need to tell a story that will make Cha Yu-jin’s fans feel at least comforted.

‘A person who will talk about Cha Yoo-jin’s usual behavior.’

All you need… I am an eyewitness.

“I’ll have to ask you to gather evidence.”

“A testimony? Ah, Eugene is a good kid~ Oh?”

“uh. I’ll eat you later.”

“… okay. For now, that seems to be the best thing.”

It’s obvious, but if you catch the timing right now and explode it quickly, it will take some time and there is a chance that it will work.

Big Sejin smiled bitterly. does that mean it’s messy?

‘It seems like I’m doing a mental victory… .’

I clicked my tongue and threw my smartphone over the sofa. Big Sejin pats me on the back.

“I had a hard time at Moondaemun University. Don’t worry too much.”

“okay.”

… beer pulled

* * *

Four days passed like that.

And, as expected, public opinion did not reverse as time passed.

Since there were no other cases, it was quieter than the first day, but even now, if I’m bored, I take out the past videos of Cha Yoo-jin and say things like ‘Now I see it, he’s fighting’.

As planned, meaningless or meaningful supportive comments about Cha Yoo-jin came up from the shop Testa often goes to or from the people she worked with.

However, most of them were pushed back due to the ridicule of ‘the company is trying hard’.

‘If Cha Yoo-jin goes to the concert like this… .’

I don’t know. Even if Cha Yoo-jin looks fine, he will be cursed at and even if he seems mentally out of place, he will be criticized.

“phew.”

I put down my smartphone. My head was itchy.

It was then.

“I’m sorry Mr. Moon, but please call me.”

“… ? yes.”

The manager, who was sitting in the corner of the studio, took out his smartphone and passed it over.

‘There’s no one I can contact like this.’

Even in the midst of fatigue, when I was puzzled, the manager spoke softly.

“that… She was a member of Mirinae.”

“… !”

Several inferences about the reason for the instant contact ran through my head.

no way.

I put my smartphone to my ear.

“I changed my phone number. hello.”

– Hello, senior!

This is the voice we spoke to last time.

‘Was it a junior who debuted in 2nd place in Azusa?’

It’s been a while, but the situation was urgent to waste time saying hello. I got straight to the point.

“I think you called because you had a business, but is that correct?”

-yes? yes!! that… Actually, I’m asking for it.

The reasoning gets closer to reality.

I couldn’t stand it and said

“Did the Mirinae concert staff ask for it?”

-… !! yes yes? no that… .

And finally got the answer I was looking for.

-yes. You are right… !

“… … .”

Mirinae’s concert staff.

Testa did not bring all of the staff they worked with in the US to Japan. Japanese performances tend to have a large proportion of local staff.

Instead, the staff joined Mirinae’s small-scale US tour promoted by the general manager.

So, the staff that my juniors are talking about… .

‘It’s highly likely that we worked with Testa when we were filming the documentary.’

The junior spoke with a slightly trembling voice.

-that… My older sister who looks after our muscles said that she worked at the concerts of our seniors. I heard that you are seeking testimony from related persons… .

okay.

-This is really a must-have! I’d like to give it to you as a condition… .

“Of course it should.”

-yes yes… !

The main topic came after the sound of a junior swallowing saliva.

-That sister… Because you said you were recording.

X feet.

I held the smartphone as hard as I could.

‘If you buy a massage… This is the staff who was next to the documentary crew when he scratched Cha Yoo-jin!’

done. done! If you put this as evidence, the support public opinion will be half… .

-Seniors?

… no calm down check first I regained my composure.

“What kind of recording is this?”

Tell them that the documentary crew was recording what they were saying.

-uh… therefore… … .

The junior replied in a voice that said it was long.

something you didn’t expect.

-I heard that senior Cha Yoo-jin protected her.

… what??

* * *

The story of the staff who reported the recording was like this.

The documentary crew tried to get interviews not only from Testa but also from various people involved in order to draw pictures.

And among them was this staff.

-But unnie seems to have refused because things like her physical condition are sensitive issues.

He asked to get permission from himself saying ‘it’s okay to do an interview’, but the documentary crew must have known that was impossible given Cha Yoo-jin’s attitude.

That’s why I insisted on asking the staff repeatedly and persistently or inadvertently spilling their words.

It must have been quite stressful, but it was not an atmosphere to ask for help, so he said he endured it for now.

-But that doesn’t work either… Some people must have been sarcastic and threatening.

Cha Yoo-jin witnessed this and immediately came to help.

– He was very adamant.

Also, due to the nature of my job, there are a lot of cubs trying to fool around, so I recorded it all the time, and it was said that it was also recorded.

– He said he was really grateful, so he thought about it a lot before saying it… do.

‘… At the same time, it’s an industry that’s sensitive to recording, so I had a lot of trouble even revealing it.’

Still, he was impressed by Cha Yu-jin’s acting ability and couldn’t see the current situation, so he ended up reporting it.

I crossed my arms.

“… You say.”

“Oh I remember!”

Cha Yu-jin replied brightly.

“I remember.”

“yes! The big camera guy scared the staff. I said no, but I didn’t listen! stop me like that! said… Ahh! Raebin Kim, are you crazy??”

“If that had happened, I should have told you about it sooner!”

No one stopped Kim Rae-bin from beating Cha Yu-jin. Then, Cha Yu-jin began to shout that he was unfair.

[Wait a minute! Does everyone believe me when I say that? This is a different topic than me blocking the camera!]

Innocent bastard.

“It’s enough if we make it the same topic.”

“What??”

“Just watch.”

I accompanied the members and called the company. The staff’s recordings were already secured.

* * *

Five days after the leak of Cha Yoo-jin’s video.

On the Internet, Cha Yoo-jin was already torn apart and crashed.

And people found additional pleasure in the controversy over the lack of sweet water due to chewing enough.

That was the source of this video.

-Peasantly leaked staff hahahaha

└I thought so as well Cha Yoo-jin It seems like he was going to expose it while grinding

-Hey, how bad it must have been, I feel sorry for leaking it despite being sued. It's a controversy. I never thought Cha Yu-jin would go like this.

Besides, since the agency still didn't respond, people saw this silence as an acknowledgment.

-I'm keeping my mouth shut because I have nothing to say hahaha

-I can't respond because I can't deny this

-I'd rather say it's a synthesis

.

The moment when Cha Yoo-jin's controversy was about to be fixed as an image without any further discussion.

-This sounds like the story of Cha Yoo-jin (Link)

Only then did the article appear.

However, the focus was not on Cha Yu-jin.

[Controversy over filming the Testa documentary… Concert staff transcript released]

[Broadcasting again? Reconstruction of testa documentary crew transcript]

It was an accusation against the testa documentary crew.

It was a media company that was known for invading the privacy of celebrities, but for that reason, the perception that the data was more factual spread implicitly.

_____=

[(Exclusive) The reason why the Testa concert staff reported the recording… “The Monster Made by the Station”]

January 202X. Testa started a world tour. And we filmed a documentary showing the behind the scenes of the tour. (Photo)

Testa members in the documentary were earnest and sincere.

But was the filming process of this documentary honest?

Not too long ago, a recording of a staff member was reported via e-mail.

… … .

_____=

The article describes how forced they came out to film the documentary, and how rude they were to the unsuspecting staff. showed plainly.

_____=

Crew: Are you having trouble understanding what I’m saying? Why can’t you answer like this?

Staff A: … … .

Crew: They don’t say a word, good or bad. Really uncooperative. If the picture doesn’t come out well, it’s also Mr. OO’s fault. you know?

_____=

And in the second half, he revealed his true colors.

It is a compilation of Cha Yoo-jin’s video and the corresponding transcript. Originally, it was not a video derived from here, but it was accompanied by a description to make it look like that.

_____=

Crew: Can’t you hear me? This is… .

Cha Yoo-jin: (Runs and presses the camera) Stop it!

_____=

It was the magic of editing.

However, even the production team could not prove that this was a patchwork.

Because there is an original copy of the recording, but there is no original copy of the recording data.

Moreover, instead of mentioning Cha Yoo-jin more, the article thoroughly maintained the tone of ‘how bad the abuse was, how could the artist have rushed to stop it’.

To be seen as an article for accusation, not advocacy.

_____=

As a result of the reporter’s own investigation, it was confirmed that the production team was originally an entertainment production team, not a documentary production team.

Exactly from 〈Idol Co., Ltd. 2〉… … .

_____=

And at the end, the message was clear by revealing that they were from 〈Idol Inc. 2〉, which was ruined due to excessive stimulation and irrational numbers.

That these guys are the ones who will harass people to draw enough pictures.

‘This production team has enough reasons to curse.’

It was like a sniping.

It was someone’s strong will to return the bomb that hit Cha Yu-jin back to the man who made it.

-Crazy Azusa 2 Producers;;;

-It’s creepy.

And that will worked.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 269

If you can’t debut, you’ll get sick to death. Episode 269

The fun of blaming the controversy was bound to get boring and boring as time went on if there was no new firewood.

In particular, those who had already been fed up with drinking honeydew from the Cha Yu-jin controversy for five days were excited about the new reversal elements and incidents.

This is because it was an act of supplying a new object, not taking away an object to be cursed at.

-The production crew must be crazy -Where on earth

do

these people come from

?

Even if this production team wasn’t a celebrity like Cha Yoo-jin, the topic was still there.

This is because 〈Idol Inc.〉 is a very famous series, and season 2 in particular failed so dramatically.

People were interested in the reveal of the production team’s background as if a secret had been exposed.

And in order to more comfortably criticize the new target, Cha Yu-jin was returned to the victim position.

Just as he did to Park Moon-dae when he cursed Cha Yu-jin. -What's wrong with Cha Yoo-jin being criticized for nothing because of these crazy

bastards

? If you're like me, you've got mental illness.

ㄴ and sex

ㄴ This is really creepy…

The production team was smoothly transforming public opinion into a person with a more terrible personality than Cha Yu-jin.

And at the public opinion showing signs of a reversal in an instant, quite a few fans and people felt a strong sense of exhaustion.

-First of all, he cursed at me. Hahaha. Love for humanity was smashed

. It's not, I'll wait a little bit.. Just a little bit

ㄴAt that time, honestly, wasn't the situation too clear? I can't blame the people who cursed at me.

It was too dangerous to pour cold water on this public opinion that Cha Yu-jin had just won.

Because there were many people who wanted to justify their swearing at Cha Yu-jin somehow.

So, these fans also shut up and accepted that people were criticizing the production team and restoring Cha Yu-jin's image.

And Cha Yoo-jin’s recovery received this reaction and spread with momentum.

This look deepened as the agency secretly issued a statement.

[“For fear of damage to a third party”… T1 Stars Testa Cha Yoo-jin’s position is bright]

-I thought there was no recording and just entered the transaction, so I didn’t want to say it right away because

I was afraid the staff would be misunderstood and avoided it. I don’t know if there are many things to do.

If only there were happy

things in the future.

Even if it is a reaction against the situation in which public opinion is recovering.

-But why did Cha Yoo-jin press the camera? The production crew had to hold the camera and say that to the staff..? Hmm ㄴIt must have been during the documentary filming

, but it probably didn’t matter since they edited it anyway .

ㄴDid you solve your part-time job

at Mangjusa Studio?

broken without mercy

Fans of Cha Yoo-jin spread the news everywhere and put all their efforts to change the frame, as if to relieve the sense of defeat over the past five days.

-Azusa 2 producers… As if he couldn't give up his habit of ruining people's lives

-Cha Yoo-jin stopped the abuse of power, but he suddenly took it over himself -Somehow, no one had an explanation. When the fandom, which originally had many members who were strong in this kind of work, actively joined in, public opinion quickly turned around.

And around the time there was a backlash against the rapid pace, articles and circumstances came out one by one.

[Azusa 2 production team issued an entrance statement]

[Anyway, the staff was mistaken.jpg (feat. Entrance statement)]

[T1 seems to have finally lost the power studio]

By the time the work is repeated three or four times, this controversy has slowly cooled down and moved to the other side. disappeared.

That's how Cha Yu-jin took off the tag.

* * *

I checked the latest article.

Comments on a new article related to the documentary controversy.

[Is "Gapjil Studio" closed… Film J website closed (21)]

The scale has been reduced to a few dozen, and most of them are short emotional expressions.

“hmm.”

I took my eyes off the screen and looked up.

“it’s over. It seems to have passed.”

“after!”

“Ahhh… .”

“It’s good, Yujin… .”

The members fell face down, making death sounds here and there.

It was because I had barely monitored the internet until now to keep myself in good condition while waiting for things to be settled safely.

It’s the mood you always had.

‘Those who aren’t the parties are more upset.’

I sat on the sofa by myself, staring at the guy who opened the beer.

widely.

Cha Yoo-jin put down the can and opened her mouth seriously.

“Your brother is a genius.”

You speak well.

Apparently, this manipulation of evidence was quite impressive.

“Thank you to the masseuse. All I did was hand it over to his recording company.”

[Of course, thank you! I'd like to give you a gift… .]

"Absolutely not. Just thank you."

If you get caught giving a present, another novelist will come out.

T1 will take care of that staff, so it's good for both of us to just send our hearts.

"Umm Okay."

Cha Yu-jin nodded.

And quite politely, he handed me a beer he had picked.

"… ?"

"No alcohol! Drink a lot bro! Thank you very much."

"… okay."

Looking at it again, it really has '0.0%' attached.

Now even this guy is taking care of my non-alcoholic drinks. I lifted a can of beer with a slight hesitation.

"Moondaemundae! From salty!"

"Wait a minute… ! I haven't opened it yet… ."

"… … ."

That's great.

After waiting for a while, I bumped my beer into the guys who were holding out cans.

Only then do they come to their senses and toast excitedly and smile.

“It’s good~ I feel comfortable, so the food is delicious. yes?”

“yes! The room service food at this hotel is really good.”

okay. Now we are all in a hotel room together.

Because today is the day when the members camp together in the same room once a week.

That’s what Liu Cheng-wu suggested.

Since the tour in Japan is over, it was a post-party and a commemoration of Cha Yoo-jin’s revival.

I shrugged my shoulders as I looked at the spread of food and drink.

‘Actually, I think the original plan was to hold more tours.’

It seems that the company planned to do another encore at Tokyo Dome, but it was canceled due to the controversy surrounding Cha Yoo-jin.

So tomorrow is homecoming.

Of course it’s not taking a break.

“Let’s finish the encore concert well in Korea.”

“It’s good~”

An encore concert will be held in Korea soon. It was a good thing for domestic fans who would have been tired for weeks.

‘If you think so… Was it bad luck that the dome tour and the controversial period overlapped?’

As for performances in Japan, almost no materials were circulated, and at most only impressionistic essays and blurry photos were distributed, so Cha Yu-jin would have performed more comfortably.

It was only fortunate that the article broke before the new performance.

I checked the performances of the last tour once.

‘Well, the tour itself was okay this time too.’

It is true that the taste of Honjin is special, but overseas has its own taste.

‘It was fresh because it was translated into the local language or sung a famous song in the area.’

For the first time in a long time, I enjoyed a beer while focusing on the performance comfortably. … Although non-alcoholic.

And I heard the other guys talking.

“Yujin must have been having a hard time, but she digested all the performances and worked hard. The audience must have enjoyed it.”

“… Good job.”

Even Bae Se-jin awkwardly patted Cha Yu-jin on the back. Is it the power of alcohol?

I watched it without thinking and heard a sudden noise from the guys who made eye contact.

“Mundae suffered a lot too.”

“… that’s right. you too… It was great.”

“… … ??”

Big Sejin from the side burst into laughter again.

“Hey, what’s wrong with your expression when you’re the most upset

?”

“okay! You were just looking at your smartphone, throwing it and hitting the sofa and being very fancy~ Do you remember?”

“… … .”

I briefly reflected on my past.

‘Right.’

And moaned.

“… That’s because it’s annoying.”

“Why would you be annoyed? uh? Isn’t it because you’re so worried about our member Yujin?”

no. This time, no matter what I do, I can’t see the answer, so it’s because I’m upset.

However, the big Se-jin, who is shoulder to shoulder with Cha Yu-jin, is laughing as if his mouth is tearing.

“Ah~ Our team has a really good atmosphere~”

“… … .”

what’s up

If you think so… Maybe that’s right.

I never expected that I would feel this sense of belonging to this group.

And emotions always have an impact.

I finally laughed and opened my mouth.

“okay. I was worried You can’t do it.”

“… !”

Then he looked at Cha Yu-jin and said.

“You held up well. Good job.”

If this guy had escaped, the work would have been twice as difficult, but since he was resolute, it was possible to deal with it.

“… … .”

Cha Yu-jin kept her mouth shut and didn’t answer.

‘Come to think of it, I don’t think there was an answer to what the other guys said earlier… .’

Even before the thought was over, Cha Yu-jin started whimpering.

“… !”

“Yoo Eugene?”

Instead of answering again, Cha Yu-jin grabbed the head of the person next to him this time.

Kim Rae-bin, who was suddenly attacked, missed the champagne and was frightened.

“Hey Cha Yujin!”

“Uhhh!!”

However, even Seon Ah-hyun did not stop him.

… It was the first time Cha Yu-jin cried over this.

“… … hmm.”

Kim Rae-bin eventually understood Cha Yu-jin’s situation.

“Huh… .”

Cha Yoo-jin cried excitedly for quite a long time while holding on to her friend's head.

It was a cool night.

* * *

On the way home the next day.

Kim Rae-bin said that he would forgive his friend generously considering the specificity of the situation.

"It was a situation where Cha Yoo-jin could not be able to participate in group activities, so I understand your anxiety and concern."

That's right.

So T1 must have completely abandoned the studio side. It's a problem that can hurt the group badly.

It means that it was better to preserve an influential idol group with astronomical profits than a studio with no results.

Of course, even if he did this, after a while, the arrow would come back to Cha Yoo-jin to some extent.

-Still, it's cheap to go out first

-Isn't it hard to say that Cha Yoo-jin did a good job

? This statement will come out. Controversy like this doesn't go away cleanly once it's happened.

It means that Cha Yu-jin should pay more attention to avoid creating similar controversies in the future.

'It's inconvenient.'

Besides, the biggest problem is… It is that the solidarity within the fandom has been destroyed.

Among the fans who like the group itself, most of the people who cursed at Cha Yu-jin are either relieved or cautious.

It means that there is enough tension to be sutured into one good piece of content.

The problem is on the individual fandom side.

'This… I think natural recovery will be difficult.'

First of all, it seems that Cha Yoo-jin's fans were greatly shocked.

It was because there were quite a few opinions from other members' personal fans that Cha Yujin should be withdrawn as soon as the incident broke out.

– Even after watching my child's personality and behavior for several years, seeing him lose money as soon as things happen, his teeth tremble. Was it that hard to wait until the entrance statement came out?

-Cha Eugene to go solo? It might be better to go solo than to be on this dirty board

– It's just too messy… I'm not asking you to take sides

. So, are you swearing right away?

To be honest, it happened as various bad things were built up, so I don't think I can blame only one side, but for the same reason, everyone's goal was deep.

'This… I'll have to work separately.'

… I think we should build up this Korean encore concert and make good use of it. In many ways.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 270

If you can't debut, you'll get a fatal disease Episode 270

The atmosphere in Testa's personal fandom has been shattered.

To be honest, a beautiful solution won't work like magic here.

Do you expect that the idea of 'the members are good, so let's get along well with each other with a sense of solidarity'? It is a vain hope.

It may be a good start to like the same object, but isn't it the direct experience that is important in the end?

In that sense, this Cha Yu-jin controversy was tantamount to experiencing first-hand the implicit trust between each other that had barely been built up after Azusa ended.

'That's why I can't openly let Cha Yoo-jin float in order to compensate.'

If this is the case, Cha Yu-jin's individual fans will feel a little better, but the side that suffered from Cha Yu-jin's malignant individual fans in the beginning will explode.

-Honestly, Cha Yoo-jin didn't do anything well, so why are you feeding Ak-dogs condescendingly?

-I'm tired.. I'm really tired, so I'm going to go crazy.

In the end, one side should not give the other side the nuance of 'victory'.

“… It’s difficult.”

Several methods have come to mind, but it is difficult to deduce them because it is difficult to establish a balanced standard.

‘Let’s collect more cases.’

I tried to open the internet and it stopped.

‘… Wouldn’t it be better to ask the parties involved?’

Even if you come up with a method anyway, you need the consent of the group to use it. It would be easier to proceed if you refer to their thoughts.

I decided to ask the members about the situation.

If you explain the situation specifically, ‘Our fans will eventually get along!’ The same distorted hope could be included, so I heard a different metaphor appropriately.

“So how do group members who hurt each other to the extreme get along?”

“okay.”

Big Sejin shrugged.

“He’s just someone I work with~ Isn’t it best to think before going? You only need to look good while working.”

It is an established theory.

It’s like X, but the answer is to just look at the purpose and go, but the problem is that fandom is not a job, but is less effective because it is weak in coercion.

The atmosphere in our fandom right now is just like that… It also means that there will be people watching the escape room soon.

‘The answer is that it will be difficult to maintain the status quo.’

“But why is Moondaemundae suddenly like this? Is there a group that you’ve fallen out with?”

“No, just.”

Anyway, if I explain it to him in detail, I think it will only stress him out, so let’s talk about it after we’ve sorted it out.

I asked the same question to another guy.

and lost

“Well, I don’t know. uh… Listening to each other and moving forward with respect… .”

Raebin Kim Pass.

“… How to get along?”

“yes.”

Bae Se-jin asked with suspicious eyes.

“… You’re asking me right?”

“… … .”

It means that you are not confident in your sociability. Let’s go over this one too.

Liu Chengwu, who happened to be sitting next to him, replied as if he had nothing to worry about.

“If we all suffer together, we become close quickly.”

“… … hmm.”

A bit of that too.

‘What are you doing to people who have already suffered enough?’

Of course, Ryu Cheng-wu answered without knowing what the subject was.

And with a slightly embarrassed face, he himself adds an explanation.

“Oh, I don’t mean to suffer unconditionally… There are rewards and when we all overcome the same obstacles, we become close. That’s what you said.”

“ah.”

It felt like it was my experience as an athlete.

‘It’s true, but.’

Rewards and obstacles.

I decided to remember this and move on.

And next came something similar to Liu Cheng-wu, but sounding better.

“I! i know! Let’s do something fun together! like Sports!”

“sports.”

“yes! run and play together And if we win together, we become close!”

A useful idea.

‘surely… Isn’t fan activity similar to a kind of sport?’

In that there are rules, there are wins and losses, and there is an emotional sense of accomplishment.

If there is a difference, it must be that it is less immersive than playing sports directly.

But it seems like a very good point of view, so I asked one more time.

“What if we run together but fight more because our hands and feet don’t match? What if you get selfish to score or your opponent doesn’t hand the ball over?”

[hmm… Those people need someone to encourage them!]

Cha Yoo-jin replied without hesitation.

[You know why, it makes you feel ashamed of what you did. After that, if you focus more on the game and win, you will have no choice but to reflect and get closer!]

“Hmm. okay.”

That’s what it means after all.

If they cannot solve it by themselves, an authoritative third party must intervene.

But Testa can’t do that.

‘We can’t teach fans.’

It will be a strange composition, as if the company is trying to teach its customers. it would be absurd It is already visible that they are being beaten by the headwind.

Then all that’s left… Is it an appeal

‘Should I feel that my heart is weak and will listen to us?’

I frowned at the culled solution.

… I’m not a bit picky. too simplistic

“Are you dumb?”

“ah.”

When I turned my head, Seon Ah-hyun was hesitant, unable to enter the kitchen. I guess it was because I was blocking the road.

It just went well.

“Is it okay if I ask you something?”

“Well then!”

I got out of the way and asked the same question to Seon Ah-hyun one more time.

“What do you think the members who have been feeling bad about each other should do to make the group good?”

“Yes??”

Seon Ah-hyun looks embarrassed.

Cha Yu-jin looked at him with curious eyes.

“Um… .”

And Seon Ah-hyun seemed to be thinking about it quite deeply, and then gave an unexpected answer.

“I think… Wouldn’t it be difficult?”

“… !”

It was just ‘impossible’.

“Because the relationship is already so bad… I think there must be a reason. So suddenly we get along… I think it will be very difficult.”

It was the most realistic and most sober answer.

“Of course, other people might come up with a good way, but… . I guess so.”

“… okay.”

I nodded.

Seon Ah-hyun smiled awkwardly and Cha Yu-jin firmly raised her hand.

“But I like my way!”

“Ah uh what a way… ?”

I let them talk and thought.

‘The one round of opinion gathering is over, and if you ask me… .’

A conclusion has been drawn.

‘With our own strength, it is impossible to completely relieve emotions immediately.’

Seon Ah-hyun was right.

This is not something that can be resolved immediately in the mind just because Testa does something.

So, let’s put aside vague words like reconciliation and restoration of relationships and go back to the norm.

What do people move with?

‘It’s a benefit.’

Achieve victory reward. Joy After all, when they are given, the process is also rationalized.

I remembered Liu Cheng-wu’s words.

-There is a reward, and when we overcome the same obstacle together, we become close.

In the end, this also makes the joy of the result positive for the ‘team members’ that exist in the process.

So, we operate on the same principle.

‘Each member has to show the benefits of being a testa.’

When these seven are together, feel at once that they are the most picturesque, popular, and like the first team.

So that we know on a visceral level that it is best for each individual to remain in this group.

The fun you get when this Testaran group is maintained is greater than the stress you get from other individual fandoms who don’t want to see you, you have to come to your skin.

‘And makes an excuse.’

The emotional part goes in only to help make this process go smoother.

‘The kids are close to each other and they all work very hard together… Because the group called Testa looks precious.’

It is to help fans cite emotional and human reasons instead of the fact that they blatantly weighed gains and losses.

To be moved by the warm and passionate atmosphere of pretending not to win, so that the fandom atmosphere seems to have calmed down.

-They need someone to encourage them!

In a sense, this is what Cha Yoo-jin said.

However, since we cannot admonish the fans, we have to go in a different direction.

‘So what to do… .’

Beyond working hard on idol activities, Testa has to show that he values the group itself very much and attaches great meaning to it.

And now that I think about it, if it's direct like a appeal, it seems to be rather cold.

'I don't mention it, but I make it deeply felt.'

Is it a painting that makes the mulberry cold with a testa after laying the base rice like that?

"hmm."

[…] After a team fight like that, it's solved coolly, right? Why are there so many sports movies?]

"I think that could be the case… !"

I left the kitchen with a smile while watching Cha Yu-jin, who was still arguing, and Seon Ah-hyun, who was being persuaded.

"Where are you going!?"

"To wash."

Let's tidy up.

There must be a lot of things to discuss to get content, but there was a priority among them.

'I should ask to contact W Live.'

First of all, we need to redefine the format of the encore concert.

* * *

Testa will hold an encore concert in Korea after a successful dome tour in Japan!

Of course, it was good news for everyone.

-Finally, I have a taste for life

-Please take my place this time

. T-One doesn’t know how to work.

And this time, I was waiting for the next good news.

The moment ticketing ended, W Live announced.

[Failed to ticket for the Testa concert? don’t worry! Real-time broadcasting OPEN on WLive♡]

It is live broadcasting of the concert online. The intention was to attract as many people as possible to the scene, but those who failed ticketing were relieved anyway. -Hul, I think it was put in because the reaction was good during the Donation Con

.

Kim Rae-bin’s fans snorted after reading the post.

‘I didn’t have to relay it, but I mean!’

There was a reason this could be. This is because she proudly succeeded in booking a standing seat for this concert!

That’s why I can come to the concert site now and leisurely browse through the old posts.

‘Hmm, the atmosphere is nice.’

She put down her smartphone and glanced around.

For a while, the atmosphere of the individual fans was like a thin ice field, but as expected, it came out offline, and everyone was happy and harmonious.

‘Is online really just the world they live in?’

Among the people who were full of anticipation, she clicked her tongue, but she nodded her head when she saw the post about the concert soon popping up on social media.

-I just gave you wolf cookies, but they were ignored? Seeing that, I’m a fan. Oh, it’s absurd.

‘He’s just not showing off.’

it was shit Rabin Kim’s fan decided to turn off social media and watch the concert. Otherwise, it seemed that he would intervene and say something himself.

‘Let’s take a good look at Kim Rae-bin and Park Moon-dae.’

What remains is to see.

She waited for the concert on the left block, which she had carefully chosen based on her previous experiences.

Anyway, my heart was pounding at the sight of my idol in real life after a long time.

and after a while

[Hello Seoul~!]

Wow!!

The stage started with explosive momentum.

The performance, which opened with the newest song ‘Drill’, overlapped with the previous concert in Seoul and absorbed the audience in an instant.

‘Come to the next song!!’

Because it was an encore concert, there was little change in composition from the last concert in Seoul, but knowing all the setlists worked as an advantage.

Because there is a taste that satisfies expectations.

Above all, Testa’s concert had a force that could only be felt on the spot, so even though it tasted the same as on the screen, the intensity was different.

[Swallow you heartily!]

Title song, sub songs, and solo performances.

“Waaaaaagh!!!”

It made me scream until my voice stopped.

The concert, which was driven by skillfully adjusting the tempo, flowed in an instant and eventually reached the ending.

[Bye bye~]

The lighting on the stage dims and returns to its default state.

“after!”

Of course, it wasn’t the real ending. Because I already know that I will do three or four more songs as an encore.

Rabin Kim’s fan wiped his forehead.

I said I was handsome so much that I thought I was about to have a Gestalt collapse!

So I calmly thought about the next song.

‘Was the first song of the encore a medley?’

During the tour, this was the part where I put in one local song, but originally, I arranged a short medley of songs from the time of < Azusa >.

‘I’ll leave as it is.’

Kim Rae-bin’s fan guessed that and looked around at the people around him who were singing the fan song.

Given the atmosphere these days, when the song < Azusa > came out, it seemed like it would remind me of the bloody fandom relationship back then, rather than new memories.

‘I don’t know. They’re just swearing at each other.’

No matter what, she grumbled and erased her thoughts, saying, “Isn’t it enough to get good grades?”

“Today I feel good, like~ good things will happen~”

In the meantime, people were singing the first fan song while waiting for the encore.

It was a national rule, but looking at the SNS earlier, she felt strange because 1/4 of them seemed to hate each other.

Everyone seemed happy because it wasn’t a lie.

‘There’s concert music.’

Even if you’re just yourself, you’re indirectly experiencing the feeling of being a group all-fan while singing along.

‘Come out guys!’

At that moment, sound and lighting returned to the stage.

AA AA AA!

The VCR for promoting the tour that came out before the encore while people cheered… .

“uh?”

It wasn’t.

It was not a grand intro that was heard from the huge electronic display board, but a thin and warm acoustic guitar sound.

The melody of the fan song ‘The Magic is You’ that people sang until just now.

And playing that melody on the screen with a guitar… This is Rabin Kim.

“Wow… ?”

However, Kim Rae-bin’s outfit was unusual.

Sleep pants and t-shirt.

Anyone can see that she is wearing very comfortable pajamas and even has her hair tied in a ponytail.

“Eh.”

And looking at it again, the video doesn’t look professional, but it looks like a phone camera with filters.

It felt like a very private video.

[Umm uhmmm~]

Next to Kim Rae-bin are Cha Yu-jin, who is lying down and humming, and Bae Se-jin, who is sitting on the sofa and choosing food with a serious expression.

Park Moon-dae, who brought drinks from behind, and Lee Se-jin, who looked for a towel after washing and came out and waved at the camera.

[Hello~ What are we filming?]

[It's just a celebration.]

I heard Ryu Cheng-wu's laughter. Then, as if recording a camera, I turned it off after turning it around once.

"uh."

And subtitles appeared at the top of the black screen.

[Testa Documentary]

[Production: Ryu Cheong-woo, Bae Se-jin, Sun Ah-hyun, Lee Se-jin, Park Moon-dae, Cha Yu-jin, Kim Rae-bin] [Sponsored by: Ryu Cheong-woo!

was

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 271

If you can’t debut, you’ll get a fatal disease Episode 271

Make your own documentary?

‘omg.’

Raebin Kim’s fan, who seemed to be upset at the mere sight of the word “documentary” because he was so damned, instantly felt a fight.

‘Hey little… .’

Isn’t it just scratching and swelling?

However, this thought did not last long and disappeared beneath the surface.

It was because Testa in the reappearing screen looked very friendly.

In the morning, the photographer who was taking pictures of the members spread out on the floor with shaky hands touches them.

[Let’s eat.]

[Wow… . I’m sleepy.]

[… I want to eat meat.]

“… ??”

So, rather than just looking close to each other… It was just that their actions were plain and real without purpose or exaggeration.

There were many videos of Testa that were well processed through the planning and editing of producers.

Even there, Testa was individual and revealed her own personality, but it was the first time she had faced such a feeling of not being conscious of the public.

Delirling-.

The slow accompaniment is… Rabin Kim's 'The Magic is You' acoustic guitar that came out just before.

The live sound of the raw, almost unmixed sound resonated on the scene.

[Hmmm.]

[Not sure?]

[Slightly.]

A group of people monitoring concert choreography during cuts.

Eating ice cream in a hotel room while blankly watching foreign broadcasts.

In a hotel in another country, they play board games and throw cards at each other.

[Ha ha!]

The laughter of the photographer echoes over the guitar. The screen shakes.

Short videos followed.

"… … ."

Rabin Kim's fan was watching the video without thinking about anything else.

And I didn’t even realize that I was like that.

After dancing, tossing and receiving objects, checking the dyeing, and coming off the stage, the screen jumps along with the members laughing and running.

And when the accompaniment passes the bridge and enters the climax.

Whoa… .

The concert preparations and after party photos I took myself passed through the video like a panorama.

Park Moon-dae grilling meat and Lee Se-jin shaking drinks at the beach party holding firecrackers together.

Yujan Cha smiles as she climbs onto the rehearsal stage… .

It was a lot of time for Testa, who doesn’t know when or how it was filmed.

In addition to activities, the fact that they share a lot of time by themselves poured down like a huge meteor shower with one screen and one connection… .

“… … .”

The audience became deafeningly silent, with the intermittent screams gone.

And only then was Kim Rae-bin’s fan able to let out an internal scream.

‘this… You despicable bastards!!’

The chairman was already soaked in melancholy.

Fans of the group, who generously cut out documentaries to save Cha Yu-jin, are probably shedding tears while watching the broadcast.

And somehow, she also felt her nose go sour.

It was strange that the chairman's atmosphere was so heated up that it wasn't.

"under… … ."

She admitted that she was unfamiliar with herself, who had become full of emotions.

'Okay, I'll get through it for now… .'

It wouldn't last long, but given the magic of the concert and this kind of seasoning, of course it had to be effective.

'The atmosphere will improve for a while after the con ends… .'

However, the preparations of the members did not end here.

[Preparation for an encore]

Under the subtitles in the video, a silent scene passed by the members ordering and eating chicken in the studio while talking.

And even entering the recording booth in comfortable clothes.

[In another country, I sang a song that was famous in that country. therefore… I thought it would be nice to do that in Korea too.]

The screen where I took a short memo written in handwriting turned black again.

The soft sound of the guitar reached its climax and subdued.

and subtitles.

[Celebrating the birth of Testa]

[200X]

[The song most people listened to the year Testa was all in Korea] The stage opens and dry ice gently pushes out, waking up the smell of the stage.

And instead of the medley of 〈Idol Inc.〉, a lyrical accompaniment rich in melody began to flow.

"… !"

A familiar and good melody.

A carol sampling song released at the end of the year when Cha Yoo-jin and Kim Rae-bin, the youngest members of Testa, were born.

[I'm getting better]

The carol, arranged as a Korean-style ballad, made the concert hall cry beautifully.

Then, on the open stage floor, the lift slowly rose from under the dry ice.

The members, dressed in neat winter casual clothes, were standing on top of it.

Bae Se-jin, wearing a coat, took up the microphone first.

-When a trivial mistake becomes a wound, when it seems like it will collapse at a small wound, the voice that is not excessive in technique is somehow truthful.

– I just sat quietly by the window and thought of myself in the next year, and

Sun Ah-hyun raised a clear bass.

And Lee Se-jin adds chords and sings the next line.

– On the same day in the same season,

when I suddenly think back, the orchestra rang. The live band, which made a strong sound throughout the concert, stopped the electronic instruments and piled up the notes with soft string and keyboard instruments.

A clear, strong voice rose above him.

-The gloomy today

became fertilization in my heart, and sharp pains

became my solid screw,

and it was Park Moon-dae's voice. A hard sound comes from within the pink head of the gray mustang.

A pleasant chord was connected up and down. Liu Cheng-wu's mid-bass took center stage.

– On that day when I would go down there and eventually become myself,

Cha Yoo-jin sang the last verse with a smile on her face.

– I won't be anything.

It was a sound that sounded relieved.

"… … ah."

A video of the lyrics and mood dictionary of the song.

Everything came together and created a crazy synergy.

'These children… I really tried.'

The strange sound of holding back tears can be heard intermittently under the acoustics from here and there in the audience seats.

Raebin Kim's fan tried to think that he was trying hard to keep his cool reason.

Self-tortured, saying that it would be the same as the Internet meme that pretends not to be moved and holds back crying.

– You'll be fine

The song was developed in a sincere and friendly manner without excessive embellishment.

Fans waving their light sticks slowly from all sides, and the twinkling lights along the texture.

The melody of the sampled carol spread through humming.

-Du- dururururudu-

As if immersed in the depths of the warm sea, the audience was immersed in the performance among the harmony of sound and light.

– Happy new year to you

I know you'I'll be okay.

The song ended with a moderate bass note.

"… … ."

'It's a scam.'

Rabin Kim's fan muttered as he watched the close-up of the members' smiles with their microphones down on the billboard.

'just… It sucks concerts to the marrow… .'

I thought that maybe because I was a personal fan, I was somehow victimized.

It felt like all the emotions were sucked out of my body.

‘Do you like Testa that much, you guys… . Labin… .’

She felt a complex sense of defeat when she saw Kim Rae-bin, wearing a cute white padding, holding hands and greeting the members… .

Unlike before, there are many fans who have won over their idols, but at least it wasn’t at this moment.

However, Kim Rae-bin’s fans once again made up their mind.

‘It’s just a moment! And then, next week, all the mulberries fall out… .’

[Thank you for listening.]

[How was the song we prepared?]

“It was great!!”

“Wow!!”

Can not help it. It was the reaction of the audience.

Somehow, the members laughed with expectant faces, came down from the lift, formed formation, and turned around.

[The next encore song goes right away.]

‘With those clothes??’

I saw the members throwing their winter coats in front of Raebin Kim’s fan, who stopped thinking and questioned.

It was a typical stage outfit, leather pants and a white linen shirt.

“Oooo!!”

It was also typical, but it worked well.

The lights went out while screams poured out at the guys who took off their gloves and hats and threw them away.

And a ringing sweet intro.

It is ‘Wheel (Day)’.

-Turn the wheel

so that it flies away,

the melody resonates, it is beautiful,

it touches my heart let it pop

‘Eh.’

That song… I did it earlier.

Well (maybe it’s because it’s a song made by someone), it was a good stage no matter how many times I watched it, but it was true that I was a bit puzzled. -Give me back the wheel

So that I can go to your dream

Stay today

It won’t end like this let me in

And the costume was a bit pungent to say that it was for a ‘Wheel’.

It was unbalanced.

‘Mmm.’

Did you reheat because you were in a hurry to prepare?

It was the moment when Rabin Kim’s fans were about to cool down a bit.

-Flying now

whee-whi-whi-whi-ik!

“… !!”

Suddenly, a familiar whistle cut into the song.

And naturally, the strong bass and beat hit the song… .

Dropped like a lie.

-Jump off

No need for a parachute,

just jump

‘It’s a drill!!’

Yes. The refrain of their double title song ‘Drill (Night)’ consumed the song in an instant.

In the meantime, the stage where the members were standing was changed to strong pinpoint lighting instead of the faint and refreshing feeling of the wheel.

In the leather pants they were wearing, the invisible luminous paint smeared in black flashed in the light.

And the point choreography of ‘Drill’ that goes in without mercy.

“what!!”

And only then did everyone understand the situation.

-Come in

(let me in)

These guys combined the two titles into one song and remixed it!!

And subtitles appeared for those who were watching this scene through relay.

Testa – ‘Daybreak’ (Wheel + Drill)

It was the title of the new song.

– Didn’t expect the challenge to be a preview of a new song

– Genius idols go crazy

– You’re not crazy, are you crazy, are you crazy?

– I like the song; Even while the people watching the broadcast were talking, the song ran like crazy.

And for the chorus, the two songs were completely mixed to create a new line.

-like a drill

Dig in and catch you

Yes, it’s beautiful

, it touches your heart, let it pop

The structure of ‘Wheel’, which was good to hear but somewhat boring, and ‘Drill’, which was intense but somewhat excessive, fit together like a puzzle.

In addition, the members maintained that delicate balance in a ridiculous way.

The stage was intense, but there was a refreshing feeling of carbonation somewhere, but at the same time, it burst with a humorous taste.

-Turn my ferris wheel around

Lights exploding like stars

It was a pleasure to filter through the ‘best ones’ to see only the scenes that received a good response from the two choreographies.

“Aaaagh!!”

Rabin Kim’s fans screamed, but they couldn’t be heard.

Because the surroundings were already full of screams.

Contrasted with the stage right before the adrenaline bursting with a pleasant sense of surprise and satisfaction, the maximized tension tightened the audience.

-Enjoy the moment

That’s my thrill ha!

In the group choreography formation that fits like a knife, Cha Yoo-jin’s satisfying choo-im-sae and tumbling were coolly inserted into the venue.

Aaaagh!

“Uhhhh… .”

Kim Rae-bin’s fan spit like he was about to die, but eventually admitted it.

It seems that it will be a very distant future for concert mulberry to fall out.

* * *

End of the first day of the Testa Seoul encore concert.

After that, an hour and a half later, the internet situation is like this.

-As expected, the main job is important no matter what hahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahaha -Testa

How ridiculous this is, usually when two songs are put together, it is a diagnosis of incongruity

. You can’t miss it < - In this official song, there are many cases where it doesn't fit due to flow problems, but how did you do it;; -You're good at performing XB It seems to have pulled out all the desired effects. Now, people who are satisfied with the quality of the stage just need to maintain a truce mood, citing the poor documentary we filmed as the reason. And it seemed like it was already coming true. -Testa... It's family . I was shot dead. Not in me - How could these seven people be able to gather? I was so moved that I shed tears. Testa Forever .. 'Originally, people become relaxed when they are satisfied.' I shrugged and put down my phone. “Did everything turn out the way you wanted?” “Uh.” “Sit down and eat meat, Park Moon-dae!” I sat down and ate a late dinner, just as Bae Se-jin, who was drunk and brave, said. And I thought of a savior hitter who would come before this concert song was over. 'We did everything we had to do.' It reduced fatigue and gave a sense of justification and satisfaction. So what's the next step? a battle with the enemy And just in time, the right ones come along. A comparison target that will make fans say things like 'We are still better than them' and 'See you again, a fairy'. And at the same time... enemy outside. I recalled an article I had just checked. [< Re-listing! Idol Inc. > Season 3 first stage release]

This is the new season of < Idol Inc. >.

The season of male idols, not female idols. Direct subordinate to Testa.

‘If the fandom can only be prevented from leaking, external enemies like this are rare.’

I shrugged.

Let’s see what happens.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 272

If you can’t debut, you’ll die of illness Episode 272

We even briefly promoted with a new remix song we announced at the concert.

It was because the response was so good that an agreement was reached to row when the water came in.

-Crazy soundtrack came out ㅠㅠ

-How the hell did Testa endure this until the concert was released? Could it be that the challenge was what he couldn’t have endured

? -Please give me more. I can’t end it here.

It came quite a bit.

-Wow, did you plan this from the beginning?

ㄴI think it would be surprising even if it was released in a hurry. Either way, I’m not kidding about the sense

– These days, idol agencies have a lot of quality. I like promoting national prestige. It seemed like a virtue.

Thanks to this, Kim Rae-bin seems excited.

_____=

My name is Raebin Kim. It was a remix for a concert, not a title, but thank you very much to all of you who showed undeserved interest in the song. The start of this work is from connecting the base… … .

_____=

… 9 short sentences related to composition that started like this were registered on Testa's public SNS.

For your information, Gong Yoo and Heart, which ran in the first post, were cut into 1/5 by the 8th. It's an implicit sign that you don't understand what he's talking about.

"Lavin, the post you just posted… ."

"Everyone seems to have a lot of questions, so I tried to summarize the arrangement process in my own way. What do you think?"

"Oh, that's really good."

He looked happy and passed without anyone else saying anything. The black history is my own.

Anyway, it's true that this guy who even made remixes while touring is great.

-… How the hell do you make something like this? no when?

-Every free time during the tour, I refined some of the arrangement music used in our challenge as a hobby.

-that is… A hobby?

-yes!

I briefly recalled the conversation between Bae Se-jin and Kim Rae-bin. And I thought again.

'I received a lot of comments… That's helpful.'

Without Cha Yoo-jin's opinion on the challenge, this idea would not have come out.

I admit that while this brainstorming method is not time efficient, the results are quite good.

Anyway, for that reason, we are currently active.

"We need to move slowly."

"Yeah~"

This short, unplanned activity wasn't even as intense as an official album.

It mainly consisted of appearing on the WeTube stage video channel or uploading its own video. Or just advertising for profit.

In other words, it means that it is close to supplying contents for fan service.

There was also a controversy over Cha Yujin, so I thought about reducing excessive exposure to the public for a while and waiting for the image to stabilize, focusing on fan activities.

'Because I'm thinking of putting this remix as a sub song on my next comeback.'

Still, after a few months, the activity was quite fun. I wasn't as crazy busy as I was during my official promotions.

"What is tomorrow… What kind of WiTube channel interview was it?"

"that's right. I heard it's a channel where kids meet and play our songs."

"Oh good? I wanted to try something like that~"

Because it wasn't a big-scale activity or an activity to prove something, it was a comfortable and fun activity.

It seems that the fans did too.

-Cheongwoo, looking at the babies with tearing eyes, is really guilty..

-Hamjji himself is doing his best to hold back his laughter when he says he is the most handsome (video) Sejin-ah, you can just laugh… (laughing and crying emoticon) -Stage studio The cut version is out I like the costume the most, the racing suit is the bestㅠㅠ

┗Lee Se-jin I promise I will wear something that sticks with me for the rest of my life

.

Thanks to that, the conflicts between individual fans couldn't rise to the mainstream of the fandom atmosphere for a while and subsided into behind-the-scenes fights.

And < Re-listing! It was around that time that news about Idol Inc. 3 came out secretly. We happened to be moving from the Tnet building when we saw an advertisement video on a huge electronic display board prepared on one side of the lobby on the 1st floor. [Shareholders! Do you remember your idol stock?] [I'll list it for you this April!] The color is dazzling. "oh… You do it again." "Iknow, right." Obviously, the word 'reasonably' was omitted in front of that word. The video showed highlights from last season, and eventually changed to the < Azusa > logo with a huge Roman numeral III.

"But isn't it Season 5? Why 3?"

"The season we appeared in is a renewal version, so if you make that first, it's the third or the fifth~" "

Oh! I understood!"

okay. Until last season, the press, which inevitably wrote down the entire season, is now setting the standard for the season that produced the testa.

‘There must be some momentum behind Tnet, which is struggling to maintain the re-listing title… .’

Maybe it was because Testa was so hot. It has become a kind of symbolism.

It was a bit bittersweet to be able to continue this sadistic audition thanks to that.

In addition, there were a lot of media plays that came out on top of our name value.

For example, something like this.

[< Re-listing! Idol Co., Ltd > shows the new generation of idols, the second testa appears?]

[“A new global male idol is coming to succeed Testa”… 〈Idol Co., Ltd. New Season]

Well, even if we don’t stop or reject things like this, Tnet won’t work, so we gave up moderately.

‘It’s been less than three years since we debuted, but it’s kind of funny to see things like this already.’

Anyone who sees them will think they are idols of the VTIC annual contract renewal season.

And the internet reaction… isn’t it obvious

– Stop injecting again –

Why

do you do another hot chicken flavor K-pop camp on Netflix

?

It did, however, become a bit sharper. Especially Testa fans.

– Ha ha ha ha Why? Testa is in good health

, but it's futile. It doesn't work. -How many times did you mention Testa in the article

? It doesn't matter

because last season's male idol, Testa, is flying high, and a junior under his direct control will appear.

It's different from the female idol 'Mirinae' last season. This is because the target layer overlaps exactly.

It's not even the time to change generations, nor is it time to organize your mind after Testa's 5-year contract is over. It's understandable that the fans are annoyed by saying it's stupid.

Besides, there are other uncomfortable points for Testa.

"… I wonder if our fans will see this a lot too."

"Well, there must be someone like that."

"… … ."

That's the similarity of positioning.

If it's the same audition narrative, there are definitely people who will be attracted to the fresh taste. And you may feel tired of the old side.

That's what makes the new season of < Azusa > more threatening than other groups.

But there was nothing to worry too much about.

“No No. Our team is doing well! I’m not at all concerned. It’s okay for fans to see this! we like it more You did a lot of great things!”

“It’s been a while since Cha Yoo-jin said the right thing. I think so too.”

It’s as the youngest two said.

‘It’s been several years since the testa was decided.’

It’s hard to blindly say that ‘the images from the audition program overlap’, but the world view and album image that Testa has already built up are solid.

Perhaps conscious of that, the members immediately smiled shyly or shrugged their shoulders.

“Yeah, that’s right. Let’s work hard.”

“Hi-Hi.”

“of course!”

FYI, I was thinking the opposite of this.

It’s not something we can overcome… .

‘I think it would be beneficial.’

The fact that the narratives overlap is rather good.

There are benefits to the fandom atmosphere enough to offset some of the leak damage.

Originally, when people have something to compare with openly, they weigh the gains and losses more coldly and rationally.

The satisfaction of objective judgment that our side is better than the other side.

And so is the fandom. Due to the nature of this program, the fandom atmosphere of the new season is… don't you know what 'It was always a piece of shit.'

It will be half a year of accidents and bloodshed throughout the airing and from the airing to the beginning of the debut.

It is a condition that can never be compared. You can have an unconditional advantage.

'good.'

I vaguely thought about it until this point, but I liked it because the new season of < Azusa > came out at the right timing than I thought.

'I can fix it in this state.'

Since the fatigue was sufficiently reduced during the concert, it would not be an atmosphere where fan activities are resting in disgust.

You can only turn your anger to the outside while enjoying yourself enough.

'Out of anger. Satisfaction is in.'

Besides, no matter what this season did, the chances of it surpassing the stronghold of the re-listing season we did were extremely slim.

It's not arrogance, it's an objective fact.

'It's just because our season was ridiculously right on time and the talent pool was good.'

It's hard to keep such luck coming in a row.

"anyway… It reminds me of the old days."

"Hyung, isn't that the line we used when we were doing that hotteok variety show?"

“Oh is that so? haha!”

Seon Ah-hyun added her words cautiously.

“Everyone is unscathed… I wish you well.”

“that’s right! Cheer up guys~”

“As expected, I have various feelings as a senior from the season several years ago.”

That’s a good thing, but it won’t happen.

I touched my chin when I saw the season 3 logo.

‘These guys… It will break in all directions.’

It’s time for the season to fall apart due to the pattern, but the ideal idol audition results are in their heyday, so they’re even compared.

‘It takes a while for our medicine to last a long time.’

If this season doesn’t perform to a level that can’t be compared, it won’t work as well as I want.

So, in my heart, I hoped that this season would be at least average.

“Everyone, let us move… .”

“Huh yep!”

“Sorry Manager~”

We took our eyes off the screen and started moving again.

It wasn’t long before I checked the news of this new season again.

Testa was filming a relay dance content on Tnet.

“I’m sorry, but if you have a moment, can we take a picture? Be brief!”

“Oh yes.”

There, I was filming a sports cheering video during my spare time, and I met an unexpected face.

“Hup! Hello, senior!”

“Yes, hello~”

It was Mirinae who had just finished her US tour and returned to Korea.

‘I saw that he was filming a variety show.’

There was nothing particularly long to say, so after we said our goodbyes, we immediately started shooting for each other’s support.

“I’ll get one minute at a time!”

“yes.”

I was the first to finish my part, sit on a chair in the corridor of the broadcasting station, and do logic on my smartphone.

It was then. A member of Mirinae lowered her head and started talking.

I saw your face… Oh, you’re from number 1.

“Hello, Senior Moondae!”

“yes. Hello… .”

And the first place sat down next to me.

“… … ?”

Why?

However, I didn't sit particularly close and didn't seem to think much of it, so I didn't react otherwise.

Instead, I looked away and saw a poster pasted in the hallway.

It was a poster for the new season of < Azusa >.

'It's all over the place.'

I'm worried, but I think it seems to be pushing it from the inside, but suddenly the side said again.

"Senior, do you watch this season?"

"yes? No, just look away."

"is it so? We went to shoot here this time!"

Right. Since we were also mobilized for Mirinae's season, it wasn't awkward. Maybe I came to give you some encouragement.

I nodded and the number one was… Is that a dissatisfied expression?

"But I think I did too much this season! Because it's serious? I wouldn't have been surprised if the contestants ran out crying."

"… … ."

"There were also bad contestants, so I thought the good contestants would really suffer. Hey, we weren't like that!"

we… Were you having a conversation like this?

'I feel like this is the first time I've had a one-on-one conversation.'

Well, it was a conversation that would end in less than a minute anyway. I nodded again.

"is it so."

“yes! Ah, I told the platinum level to pick out one contestant who didn’t deserve to go on the first stage, but I thought I was completely crazy? And I even really took it off!”

“oh.”

It was shocking. I must have been really screwed.

‘It’s sure to be a topic.’

His skill to fill his stomach by doing bad things to the kids has not gone anywhere.

I admired it and No. 1 nodded loudly.

“I knew you would think that it was too much, too!”

“… … yes. hmm.”

He was an outstanding guy in many ways.

‘The person taking care of it must be having a hard time.’

As expected, after a while, the second place finished filming, and when he saw this, his complexion changed and he rushed over.

And instead of the manager running around to take care of other members, he started doing his best to deal with this situation.

It means shutting the mouth of number 1.

“Seniors! In fact, we can’t open our in-heart… up!”

“It’s not that you have selfishness or a bad heart… yes. Originally, Yulgi unnie was friendly with everyone… yes… .”

I answered quietly.

“I know, so don’t worry. You had a hard time filming.”

“… yes!! thank you!”

As for the 2nd place, after our eyes met, he seemed to realize that he was sincere, and he became bright and disappeared with the 1st place.

1st place was flustered but greeted politely and disappeared at the end of the hallway.

Big Sejin was amazed.

“Wow~ That’s a certain personality too.”

“uh.”

It might be a characteristic of the audition group.

* * *

As I moved in the car that day, I re-watched the new season of Idol, Inc.

I originally planned to monitor it, but I planned to watch it after I had accumulated up to episode 4.

‘It seems like the success of a program is usually decided around the 1st team match.’

But since you’ve heard the story, it might be okay to check it out now.

I checked it by quickly flipping through episode 1.

[I was so surprised… .]

[The participant with the number of ranks I will push out is the (beep) participant.]

[Huh oh oh oh!]

Hmm, the obvious editing, emotion and cruelty, even the characters of the participants are the same.

It just got a little more brutal.

‘It’s fast.’

But it was fun. And there is a certain amount of buzz on the Internet. Although there was a lot of harsh criticism, that was originally a feature of < Azusa >.

The cliche can’t be helped, but I didn’t think this program was going to fail.

No, thanks to some participants who don’t care, the buzz seems to be better than last season Mirinae.

“… … hmm.”

It’s not good that it’s too high than I expected. Let’s check some more.

I checked the rankings at the end of episode 1. And put in the name and turned the search.

And we picked a few guys who were likely to debut.

‘Gold 2 is coming out again.’

Participant with extremely good pre-awareness Participant with good looks Participant with main vocal position Participant with good taste… .

And the one who misses two or three of these.

[#1 Chae Seodam]

‘This guy has the biggest reaction.’

24 years old. Since he is the same age as Park Moon-dae, he will be the oldest in the idol audition. However, it seems to be covered to some extent because it is for a while.

Above all, he was the center on the first stage. It means platinum level.

-I found a ballet video of Chae Seo-dam. I wonder if it's an angel? (Video)

And a ballet major… la.

'hmm.'

It is a condition that reminds me of Seon Ah-hyun.

Just in time, Seon Ah-hyun, who was in the seat next to me, slightly bowed her head to the side. I was watching a blurry ballet performance playing.

"It's nothing. what do you see… … ."

"… … ."

A gasp was heard.

what?

I turned my head and checked Seon Ah-hyun.

"… !"

Sun Ah-hyun was stiff.

while looking at the screen.

"Seon Ah-hyun?"

'eww… .' I hear only the faint sound of the same feeling.

I immediately looked at the screen again.

In the video, which went to automatic play before I knew it, there was a close-up of the center of the first stage of this season smiling brightly.

Seon Ah-hyun saw this and now… .

'for a moment.'

this bastard… Being of the same age as Park Moon-dae means that you are also of the same age as Seon Ah-hyun.

“… … .”

‘I can’t believe it.’

That’s how I found out.

It’s not a matter of not coming up this season, but a completely different crisis.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 273

If you can't debut,

you'll get a fatal disease. Let's wrap up episode 273.

After watching the current No. 1 video of the new season of 〈Idol Inc.〉, Sun Ah-hyun showed a very bad reaction.

Because I was sweating cold.

-Are you okay?

-It's okay… .

It was almost like repeating my words.

"… … ."

I've heard excuses like 'I'm not feeling well' afterward, but of course I can't believe it.

'How can a guy who used to be fine suddenly get worse after watching a ballet video?'

However, I didn't ask why on the spot. Because I already had a reason to guess.

And I wasn't the only one who noticed Sun Ah-hyun's abnormality.

"Park Moon-dae, what did you see earlier?"

"what?"

“In the car earlier.”

“… … .”

After finishing the schedule that day and returning to the dorm, Keun Se-jin immediately asked the circumstances.

‘Come to think of it, I sat right behind Seon Ah-hyun.’

It seems that the conversation was overheard.

I said as I sat down on Bae Se-jin’s bed, which the owner rarely uses.

“This season’s < Azusa > #1 video.”

“Oh, that contestant… .”

Keun Se-jin pretended to know if he had already monitored this season, but soon his face hardened.

He probably made the same guess as me.

“… Did you do ballet?”

“okay.”

That this season’s No. 1 and Sun Ah-hyun’s backgrounds are quite similar.

And in fact, I’ve already pretty much confirmed my guess.

-Seodam went to court while doing ballet ㅜㅜ Did you play ballerina

? There seemed to be a close relationship with ㅅㅇㅎ and there were only a few people there, but the word “knowledge” was already coming out on the Internet.

Both of them are from the same class.

And when I saw Sun Ah-hyun's reaction… It seems that this kid contributed considerably to Sun Ah-hyun's trauma.

"ah… shit."

Sejin Keun had already searched on his own, and his complexion changed.

"no… Are you crazy about this baby? How did you have the guts to come to the audition?"

"You must have a different way of thinking."

or… Did your head go well?

I put on a pod.

"Probably no evidence."

"You have the testimony."

Big Sejin set up the logic right away.

"I even came up with synthesis, but this guy doesn't exist? Even one win."

"… … ."

"It will float here and there."

no.

"Then you should have been out by now."

I spit out what I researched.

"It was from the first stage of the theme song that this bastard got a reaction. Currently in first place in the center position. Besides, I received a good portion of the broadcast."

"… If you had something to say, you would have said something already?"

“okay.”

I threw my phone on the bed.

“But no. There are no rumors going around.”

I’ve looked all over from anonymous sites to private accounts, but there are no rumors there.

It was clean.

It means that I did not make any enemies other than Seon Ah-hyun.

“under… … .”

Big Sejin let out a sigh.

And after being silent for a while, he spoke with difficulty.

“… It must be hard.”

“okay.”

If you want to do something, you should have done it at least before the first broadcast.

Now this bastard already has a pretty big fandom. It is also an aggressive fandom unique to audition programs.

What if, in this situation, school violence against Seon Ah-hyun is exposed and this guy gets off the job?

Many of the fans of this guy pour their anger on Sun Ah-hyun.

It seems the word choice is already visible.

-Because of the stuttering bastard, my popular kid became an X. It’s really deep

.

And there are definitely those who doubt or dislike it. In the current situation, in the eyes of the public, Seon Ah-hyun, a group 1 idol, is the strong one.

Something like ‘taking out your anger on your unfortunate school days’.

-Honestly, if Chae Seo-dam was really abusive, would he have come to the same audition as Seon Ah-hyun?

– All the other kids are all chae-seo-dam, but he suddenly claims to be abusive; Am I the only one who did it? Well

, and in fact, it is very difficult to cover the right and wrong in this kind of interpersonal controversy, and public opinion is shaken by one circumstance.

I ended up coming to an unpleasant conclusion.

“If it explodes now, Seon Ah-hyun must lose unconditionally.”

“… … .”

Big Sejin opened his mouth to say something, but just shut it. And he smiled bitterly.

“But don’t you think Ahyeon will have a hard time if left alone?”

“… … .”

“You’re worried about that, Park Moon-dae.”

That’s right.

If things go on like this, it seems like someone will ask Sun Ah-hyun during her schedule at least once.

“Are you two friends?”

‘… not good.’

It’s really bad. It’s not a matter of whether or not the bastard does well, it’s a matter of whether Seon Ah-hyun can endure it without blinking an eye.

On music shows, entertainment, and year-end programs, can we say hello, talk, and laugh hahahoho?

It was like a red flag of activity.

I pressed my temples.

“It is difficult.”

It was then.

Click.

“… what are you doing?”

“ah.”

Bae Se-jin packed her things and entered cautiously, then hesitated when she saw the atmosphere in the room.

“no. I have something to discuss.”

“Yes yes. It’s nothing big bro~”

“… If so.”

Bae Se-jin had suspicious eyes, but without saying anything else, he just changed the book and the blanket and left the room without hesitation.

“hmm.”

It can’t be helped that he noticed it himself, but talking to others before he says it will only break Seon Ah-hyun’s mentality even more.

Big Sejin shook his hands and stood up.

“Let’s think about this a bit more.”

“okay.”

We tacitly agreed.

But it was so secret and there was nothing to care about. It wasn’t long before I noticed everything.

“Guys, by any chance regarding this < Azusa >… Did Ahyeon ever say anything to you?”

“yes?”

“I feel like I’m shaking too much while watching TV.”

It was because T1 advertised the new season of < Azusa > on all the programs they invest in.

Starting with Ryu Cheong-woo, the two youngest children sat next to the stagnant Seon Ah-hyun, their pupils trembling, and were frightened.

“Your expression is so bad! I think it hurts!”

“This is obviously the pain of the time when you participated in the audition program revived while watching this stimulating season… . yes! Shall we report this season to the Korea Communications Commission?”

“It’s not like that, so calm down.”

“Yes you fool! It’s not a broadcast, it’s a person!”

“person?”

“Yes!”

Lastly, Sejin Bae.

“The one you guys were talking about last time was Azusa, right? that person! You said you did ballet, but it’s no wonder Sun Ah-hyun… .”

“yes. Perhaps.”

“… That’s right.”

In that way, the six people except Sun Ah-hyun came to the same reasoning and came to think about how to solve this situation.

And on the day Sun Ah-hyun went out for a personal pictorial schedule, they gathered in the living room and started a discussion.

“First, report anonymously… no you can’t Because I’m not living with the other person right now.”

Liu Cheng-wu, who spoke out, nodded. The rest of them nodded along with serious faces.

However, other opinions did not come easily. It was worth it.

‘There’s no one with a similar experience.’

Most of them have no connection to school violence, so I can’t find an answer.

At least Bae Se-jin, who is less sociable, seems to have lived a life of being an outcast in class.

“Ummm, then shall we spread rumors first?”

“On the contrary, I think their fans will unite. Isn’t it giving you a pod so that you can refute the formal accusation later?”

“Wow~ That’s convincing.”

Big Sejin said as if resentful, then tilted his head back.

In the meantime, Bae Se-jin opened his mouth with a nervous face.

“… Do you have any social media records?”

“Ah, are you referring to that person’s personal SNS?”

“okay. Because those guys really want attention, so they talk on social media.”

It was a good approach, but… I shook my head.

“I pushed all social media.”

“All of me?”

“yes.”

All accounts were closed. Even half a year ago.

‘As soon as the audition announcement for the new season of < Azusa > came out, I organized everything.’

He is a man with minimal intelligence.

“then… There’s very little we can do with this condition. No clues.”

“Yes.”

When the atmosphere subsided slightly, Cha Yu-jin raised her hand.

“Ahyeon-hyung, listen to your opinion!”

“… To Ah-hyun?”

“yes! Ask if there is anything you want to do. Your thoughts are the most important!”

“Mmm.”

I avoided it because I thought it would be burdensome, but in fact, that was the orthodoxy.

It’s unusual not to say anything when the other members have already noticed.

‘And if you want to do anything, it’s right to do it right away.’

As time passes, this bastard becomes famous.

This is because even in the midst of this, the new season of < Azusa > is growing with controversy and topicality on its back.

As expected, the talent pool was not as good as the previous seasons, but the narrative was well organized while distinguishing between the cards to be discarded and the cards to be saved.

‘Ryu Seo-rin.’

It seems that the writer definitely has the ability. After going through < K-NOW >, my sense got better.

The popularity of the program was better than the previous season of ‘Mirinae’.

‘I have to do something.’

It also had to be done quickly. If it goes until the next ranking announcement, it will be out of control.

‘… After all, is it the only way to ask yourself?’

I nodded.

“Let me ask you a little question. Because they are roommates.”

“Um, yes.”

“Also, Ahyeon might be scared if she stays at the door, so I’ll be there too~”
“

… … .”

what?

Surprisingly, however, Sejin’s words were passed without any resistance. I wonder what my image is among these guys.

Anyway I was there that night. As soon as Seon Ah-hyun came back from filming and went to bed, she started acting.

“Huh? Sejin?”

“Yeah~ Ahyeon-ah, come and sit down!”

Seon Ah-hyun had a puzzled face, but she approached me without question and sat down on her bed.

“Did you take a good pictorial?”

“Yes. I think it was fine… !”

And after an introduction to soften the atmosphere, the main topic finally began.

“Ah Hyun-ah. Are you familiar with < Azusa >’s No. 1 right now?”

“… … Can you tell me?”

“little.”

To be honest, it was obvious, but I said it moderately.

Seon Ah-hyun, who was stiff, did not seem to know what to do, but nodded slowly.

“Yeah, we went to the same middle school.”

I threw a fastball.

“He’s the one who liked you when you were hurt.”

“… !”

Seon Ah-hyun swallowed and admitted.

“That’s right.”

also.

“however… I don’t know.”

what?

“Uh maybe… Maybe it’s because I’m weak-minded. Wow, there are people who hate me in my life. But I can’t stand that kind of thing… .”

“wait for a sec.”

I cut him off.

“If you don’t like it, you don’t have to have sex, isn’t it weird that someone who bullies you?”

“Maybe it was bullying… I don’t know. It’s not like hitting or anything like that… .”

“How was it?”

“Wow, he treats me with a smile… It doesn’t seem like he’s serious, and sometimes strange things happen… .”

“… … How about an example?”

“I was in trouble because the shoes were gone… . I returned it a few days later saying thank you for lending it to me… . But I don’t remember lending it to you, but I smiled and said it.”

“okay.”

“I laughed when I failed in my technique, but when I heard it, I just laughed while talking, and I think I was sensitive… .”

oh.

In the real world, there are all star babies.

‘I only filmed Seon Ah-hyun and harassed her.’

Is there a need to hate other guys so subtly?

It would have been easier to catch him by beating and teasing him like a normal idiot.

Keun Se-jin, who was quietly listening with a mysterious face next to him, asked a sneak peek.

“Ahyeon~ By any chance, you were the top and he was the second?”

“Yes? It wasn’t always like that, but… How many times?”

“Ugh. Has that person ever been senior?”

“Oh maybe?”

Big Sejin smiled.

“Okay~ Oh, it’s true that I bullied you. Hyunah Ah. Worrying about something like that~ That guy was wrong! It’s because I’m jealous of you!”

“Yeah, I also told you that.”

Seon Ah-hyun calmly nodded her head.

“And the company counselor also said that even if it wasn’t bullying, it wasn’t strange that I was hurt… .”

He is a person who realizes the value of consulting fees.

“I’m much better now! just. I didn’t expect to see it like this, so I guess I was a bit surprised… !”

“I see! Of course you can.”

As Seon Ah-hyeon spoke, her complexion became more comfortable as if she was recovering by making a commitment to herself.

But the other two were not very happy.

“Ah, then I’ll go to bed~ Don’t worry about that bad boy Ah-hyun!”

“Yes!”

“I need some water.”

I followed the guy out into the room.

widely.

When Sejin came out to the living room, he said as if tossing it.

“There will be no proof of this.”

“… … .”

“I’m a bit embarrassed… If I hated someone madly, you think that’s what it would be like? I would have been nice to the other kids. It is unconditional.”

“Go in and sleep. I will think about it.”

“… okay. You should go to sleep too.”

I slapped Sejin’s shoulder and sat down in the living room.

“hmm.”

Calm down your emotions and think again.

Chae Seo-dam.

He's a pretty cunning guy. A kid who is good at interpersonal relationships and knows how to manipulate his peers.

At the same time, what we can tell from the fact that it was filmed for Sun Ah-hyun… .

'He's very competitive and has a desire to succeed… A style with a strong sense of inferiority.'

If that's the case, it's obvious that the ego is bloated and the ego is strong.

If you are such a person, if you are in this situation.

'SNS is pushing all the hard work and there is no testimonial from alumni.'

There will be a sense of pride that you have eliminated all the aftereffects that might hinder you in the future.

Something worth noting is here.

'If you're conceited, mistakes usually happen.'

"… … ."

It is 11 o'clock at night now. It's usually late, but idols who are active are usually awake.

I made one phone call.

The beep went short and then hung right away.

"hello."

-yes? Mr. Mundae?

This is the direct number for Mirinae's manager.

And the person I want to call… 1st place in Mirinae.

what was your name

"If it's okay, next to me… Can you change Mr. Jeong Yul-gi?"

-yes??

I was able to talk to the manager after barely convincing the shocked manager that 'this is absolutely not a useless socializing call, it's for business use'.

– Hello senior!

"hello."

-nice to meet you! But what are you doing?

"Do you remember the conversation about < Azusa > a few days ago?"

– Ah~ Yes! sure!

I tightened my grip on the phone and asked in a lower voice.

"You said you saw some bad contestants then… Are there any contestants that are popular right now?"

– Huh yes!

OK, let's start here.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 274

Episode 274 If a guy with a strong sense of inferiority and a strong competitive spirit participated in the survival audition, even if he handled it perfectly in the beginning, his true intentions would leak out.

‘Because it’s a program that deliberately encourages that kind of psychology.’

In particular, by the time the first team match is in progress, you must have already checked the public’s first reaction to the participants.

I don’t know the exact ranking, but everyone knows it by the number of views and mentions.

‘You know you’re at the top. And a player who would be a threat to the position.’

If you see the original possibility well, you become more obsessed.

The probability that Chae Seo-dam was included in Mirinae’s ‘bad contestants’ was not low.

I opened my mouth again.

“If you ask me what kind of contestant I was… .”

-Uh, but I could be prejudiced! It’s hard to say who specifically did something wrong!

“Yes.”

I answered monotonously.

“I don’t mean to use it for the purpose of slandering anyone. I just have a little concern. Because when you debut there, you will belong to the same company as us.”

-Uh~ That’s kind of like that!

“yes.”

After taking a break here, I ask.

“therefore… May I ask you the most memorable naughty thing you’ve ever seen?”

An unstoppable voice came from over the receiver.

– Oh that’s what! Will it be okay?

done.

“sure.”

-Yes! The thing that bothered me the most was pretending not to hear!

“Ah, did you ignore it?”

It’s a bit one-dimensional.

– No no! therefore… . Oh how can I explain this?

Do you know if you ask me?

It was then.

– Huh?

-sister!

The sound of running beyond the phone became loud with exclamations like screams.

"… ?"

There was no sound for a moment, as if the phone had been turned off, and then the voice changed.

– Hello, senior! This is Mirinae's Park Min-ha!

was second.

"yes… . Hello Minha."

-yes!!

I'm gasping for a quick change. Did you misunderstand this as a love affair?

"I called because I had questions about the new season of < Idol Inc. >."

-Ah, if you have any questions, I will explain! Because I went too!

I'm in a hurry.

"I see. I was wondering if only Jeong Yul-gi appeared in the picture because the picture hasn't been filmed yet."

– Ah ah!

It's a lie. It was just because I thought it would be easier for Jung Yul-gi, who was number one, to hear the answer.

-yep… What story are you curious about, senior!

I moderately shortened the conversation I had with 1st place before delivering it. Then Park Min-ha inhaled.

-ah… That's it.

“I think Min-ha saw it too.”

– Uhm yes.

The junior spoke hesitantly with a tone of disapproval.

-What my sister said… It’s a false story.

oh.

“Who are you?”

-yes. It was a way to make myself look like a victim.

Second place became more and more calm as he explained.

-therefore… Obviously, when there was no camera or microphone, I was given a new practice time, but in front of the camera, I said, ‘I’ve never heard of such a thing’, dejectedly.

“… !”

-I heard it while my sister and I were on the move to get something. You wouldn’t have known we were there.

It must have been a subjective scene where the participants knew the editing points and created them.

“If it was that way, I think the victim would have had a lot of backlash. It’s a lie.”

-yes. So just… ‘Yes, you said it, but I may not remember. I’m sorry I couldn’t hear you,’ he said in a low-key manner.

“… … .”

-That’s why it’s ambiguous to say that we saw it… .

nice head

It was an act of fooling the opponent. It is an act that fully considers the angle of editing.

then… .

“The victim wasn’t ranked high. I’m sure he wasn’t the type to have a lot of friends.”

So that you can be banned from the board right at the next ranking announcement. to prevent trouble

-… yes. hmm.

“What is the position of the victim?”

-Dance.

I didn’t pause on purpose and immediately asked the next question.

“And the person who did it must have the right to debut.”

-… ! that’s right

“Ah, if it’s sensitive, it’s okay not to answer.”

The reaction was not refined, probably because of carelessness. I’m sorry, but that response alone was nothing short of positive. Anyway, if I get on the air, it will come out unconditionally.

‘A definite debut right now in a dance position.’

There were only two or three people, including Chae Seo-dam. And considering that it is quite similar to the case I heard from Sun Ah-hyun… .

‘In fact, it’s safe to say that it’s Chae Seodam.’

He was also a guy with a lot of brains.

The same position within the team that can be a part competition with you. Because of their low ranking and limited interpersonal skills, they used easy-going participants as sacrifices.

And considering the editorial style of the production crew… It seems that the victim's plan will be dealt with with heat.

'If this is the case, it will be difficult to snip after being eliminated.'

Didn't you already defend yourself by pretending to lose on the spot, saying 'It could be something I don't remember'?

In a state where the image is fixed, it only seems to be inferior to the dropout's 1st place.

'… Too bad.'

There is no way to rescue the victim.

I clicked my tongue, but it wasn't really a bad situation for me.

Doesn't it mean that you are always showing your personality here? It seems easy to catch the tail.

Didn't you actually catch Mirinae once?

'It would be difficult for us to do it ourselves… .'

I have no choice but to use this currency now.

"… Do you have any more schedules related to < Azusa > this season?"

-yes? yes. Since we're giving away a song, I think we'll probably go there one more time! that… The 2nd team is confirmed and it is around the midterm evaluation.

"Then can you look at the atmosphere of the trainees at that time?"

Klopp.

A swallowing sound came from the other side of the phone.

– May I ask the reason for this!?

“Because I heard what you just explained… I feel so bad. If I do something worse, I will try to keep some distance even if I debut and become the same agency.”

-ah. um okay!

Second place seemed to be more relaxed.

And after adding the words ‘I’ll try, but please don’t expect too much from me’ several times, he politely greeted me and hung up.

Gradually, besides the word ‘I will work hard’, I see that I am adding self-contained words.

– Good night, senior!

“Yes, Minha too. Excuse me for being late.”

I hung up.

“hmm.”

The situation was fine.

This bastard seems to be spinning his head, but gradually I can see that he will do something reckless.

‘If it were me, I would have bought it unconditionally.’

It was at this point in time that I didn’t know that we were number one, so I can understand that I was obsessed with ‘continuing the upward trend’ rather than ‘solidifying’.

And now that we’ve won first place… I’m trying to be vigilant slowly.

“… … .”

Maybe I’ll catch something interesting, so I’ll have to make another string.

It’s time to take a break from filming before the first ranking announcement.

After thinking about it for a while, I put in a text message.

[I watched the broadcast. I hope you have good results. I’ll cheer you up]

My opponent is Gold 2 Kwon Hee-seung.

* * *

I checked the next morning and Gold 2 replied right away.

[Hyung ㅠㅠ Thank you so much for your support, I couldn’t contact you in case it would be burdensome!]

[I’ll do my best. I’ll see you on stage! (Heart blowing emoticon)]

Thanks to the occasional exchange of regards, it must have felt like a nuance of ‘I suddenly contacted you because it seems to be popping up’.

And for being back on that damn show, he looked pretty hopeful and spirited. This guy deserved it.

‘I got the platinum this time.’

Gold 2 escaped gold.

In addition, he received good editing points and is on a winning streak.

Originally, the second participation in a survival event was often a jackpot or a side hit, but it was a jackpot.

-Heeseung doesn’t have X or Jeongbyeon’s icon . -As expected, he’s an old gangster .

Even if there is an existing fan base, the possibility of a debut is considerable in that it is a good performance and has not cooled off even after the broadcast began.

‘And if I had to ask about the Gold 2 position, it would be closer to dancing.’

What does that mean… It means that there is a high probability that ‘Chae Seo-dam’ was filmed.

If anything, it’s a target that needs to be kept in check.

“What kind of text at Mundaemundae?”

“goal… I’m doing it for Kwon Hee-seung.”

“hmm.”

“I heard an interesting noise last night.”

I told the details of the call with Mirinae. And added some reasoning.

“Ah, I see. okay.”

Big Sejin smiled and nodded his head. And he turned on his smartphone.

[Big Sejin: How are you all doing well (eye-rolling emoticon)]

[Big Sejin: The Azusa 1st team match, doesn’t it just remind me of our team when I see it lol Big in me… The legendary stage of the legend!]

He briefly activated the group chat room of ‘Aktober 31’, which was the team at the time of the first team match of < Azusa >.

And after a few days of hard work, we got active responses and participation from Gold 2.

[Big Sejin: How about Mr. Heeseung? Are you showing the legendary stage once again

? (Shy emoticon)]

Bae Se-jin was taken aback by the group message room suddenly ringing.

“He has this… why?”

“< Azusa > spying this season.”

“Spying? … ah! Gnome. okay.”

Bae Se-jin suddenly became cooperative.

And it seems that I myself tried to write something.

[Big Sejin: Tonight, we are going to watch < Azusa > while eating an apple. Doesn’t the apple seem to taste

spicy

?

[Golden Age Ha Il-jun hyung: Haha Se-jin is still the same!]

“… … .”

thud.

Bae Se-jin hit his head and fell on the sofa.

Well, since everyone is doing that, it’s okay if you don’t feel ashamed.

In any case, it played a part in lowering the tension and making it more comfortable, so it's no different than doing what you're supposed to do.

And after a few weeks the time came.

[Participant Chae Seo-dam who was not notified of the changed practice time]

[Frozen team atmosphere]

[Chae Seo-dam: … no i'm sorry I wouldn't have heard I'm sorry.]

[Lee Ho-yoon: No, that's not it (editing), so I definitely said it!]

[Chae Seo-dam: Yes, you said it, but I think I remembered it wrong… .]

'That scene' was finally aired.

"Wow, that's great."

"I know."

The members are watching the episode in the living room while Sun Ah-hyun is playing the punch needle in the room.

I have already discussed all the related matters.

[Q: What's unfair?]

[Chae Seo-dam: It can't be helped. I can't ruin the team atmosphere… It's okay.]

Even the interview with Chae Seo-dam in an exquisite location is typical of Azusa's editing taste.

"The probability that you really couldn't remember because of a fatal memory problem… ."

"no. He's just a bad guy."

Bae Se-jin hardened his expression and glared at the screen. I guess I got a feeling.

Anyway, the broadcast continued as it was.

[The winning team is… ‘Changer!’]

[Whoa!!]

[You will receive a survival lottery ticket! and… With an injury, you can appear on Tnet’s global music broadcast < Music Night >!]

And the team to which Chae Seo-dam belonged won the championship.

“Now, the right to live is also given at random by lottery.”

“Iknow, right.”

They are the ones who dry people’s blood. Of course, there are things I need to do right away when I have time to think about these impressions.

‘Because it’s been confirmed that the guy I heard from Mirinae is Chae Seo-dam.’

After the program ended, I followed the guys who naturally dispersed and entered the room with Big Sejin.

It was time to implement what was discussed.

“Do I?”

“okay.”

This guy is better than me. Big Sejin shrugged his shoulders and made a phone call.

to gold 2.

“Recording?”

“Can’t you? He uses an apple phone.”

good.

Shortly after, the phone was connected cleanly.

“Oh Hee-seung. I’m calling in case you don’t know… . Actually, I’ve heard some stories.”

-yes?

Big Sejin processed and explained what she heard from Mirinae. Of course, the source was appropriately changed to another staff member.

Of course, the tone is not slander, but worry about Gold 2.

“… because But when I saw the show today, that… I really hoped that scene would come out.”

-… … .

Gold 2 was silent for a moment. But soon, a long, long sigh was heard over the phone.

-ah… . Oh, it was kind of strange.

yes.

“Did something bother you?”

-yes! In our chat… Oh anyway! After coming out of the rankings, his attitude towards me became a bit strange.

“Could you keep me in check?”

– That’s right! I get it now… . But for humanity to be like this! Oh why does this keep happening to me? It was like that last time too!

Gold 2 whines.

Come to think of it, Gold 2 suffered extraordinary checks and disregard from Choi Won-gil last season. So this seems to make more sense.

Big Sejin spoke softly.

“Once he debuts, he will be in the same group as you. So I thought it would be better to tell them to be careful just in case, so I called!”

-Ugh… . your brother! thank you really… . oh my life

Gold 2 grumbled and sighed heavily before hanging up.

Took.

Big Sejin put down his smartphone and laughed.

“The ground rice is fine.”

“good.”

At this level, Gold 2 will join as an assistant in case of emergency.

After shrugging my shoulders, I gave the guy who asked for a high five a slap in the palm of my hand and left.

Click.

And it was time to enter my room.

Seon Ah-hyun, who was sitting at her desk and tidying up the finished rug, asked quietly.

“excuse me… Oh, have you seen Azusa?”

“… !”

Did you hear it?

I nodded. Seon Ah-hyun spoke calmly.

“It’s okay. Me next time… I want to sit down and watch it with you.”

“… okay.”

Seon Ah-hyun had a slightly pale face, but smiled and finished tidying up and got up from her seat.

“Because I can’t go on like this… I want to get better.”

“okay.”

I patted him on the back.

‘I’ll just show you a short video.’

However, the opportunity for this ‘challenge’ came sooner than I thought.

A few days later.

“Hello, senior!”

Because Testa ran into the contestants of < Idol, Inc. > this season, who were carrying a lot of cameras, in the hallway of the broadcasting station.

It was a privilege of the winning team to appear on a music show.

‘X feet.’

Of course, he is among them.

“hello.”

Chae Seo-dam.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 275

If I Can't Debut, I'll Get a Deathly Disease Episode 275

In the hallway of a broadcasting station, I didn't even appear on the same program, but I dared to run into an Azusa contestant?

It was obvious.

'It's on purpose.'

The staff led them here to draw pictures for the broadcast.

If it was < Idol Inc. >, it was enough. You can make up for Testa not appearing with this trick.

And when we say hello here, he firmly refuses not to take a picture, and his appearance becomes ridiculous.

It's just that they're filming a video of 〈Music Night〉, but doesn't it seem unusual to ask for a mosaic of us who happened to run into each other?

Ultimately, the problem with this situation is this.

'camera.'

The camera was all over the place.

Seon Ah-hyeon met Chae Seo-dam on the condition of broadcasting.

'Damn it.'

I winked at the other guys. Knowingly, sociable guys come out and greet you first.

“Oh~ hello!”

“I cheer for you. go for it!”

That’s enough.

There are 7 people, and Sun Ah-hyun could just nod.

I bowed and greeted the participants, conscious of two or three cameras turning toward us.

I was thinking of ending it like this.

But I guess they didn’t think so.

“I’m a real fan of Testa senior!”

“oh my god… … . Wow.”

“Senior, I’m really really sorry, but can I get your autograph… … ?”

Perhaps because of the value of the name Testa, about half of the participants sneaked up on her.

I don’t think I’ve received a word from the production team in particular.

And the camera advances accordingly.

“… … .”

it will be long Not good.

I checked Seon Ah-hyun’s face.

Fortunately, the agitation was not revealed. It’s a smile that isn’t as big as usual, but it looks a bit stiff, but it’s not noticeable.

Perhaps it is because of the fact that no special contingency occurred.

Chae Seo-dam, who is on the other side, doesn't even bother to say anything, because he's quietly moving behind him, buried in the flow.

'… … As expected, my head is spinning.'

They seem to know that showing off their friendship by pretending to know Seon Ah-hyun here has no benefit and only increases the risk.

'I didn't say a word about Seon Ah-hyun even while appearing in < Azusa >.'

This is enough to not stimulate Seon Ah-hyun, and he must have thought that he would keep his mouth shut anyway.

However, that is the judgment of that person alone.

The producers will be different.

"Come to think of it, aren't you two from the same school?"

Now that this is the case, I thought the broadcasting station guys wouldn't miss this prey.

Friendship with famous idols is always a drawing that draws a lot of attention.

"ah."

Chae Seo-dam, like a brainy guy, jumped first and gave a calm and appropriate answer.

"yes. Sometimes a greeting… … . Long time no see, senior!"

The back is a bit shy, as if talking to a 'someone I know quite well'.

'This bastard is quite repulsive.'

Did you guess that if Seon Ah-hyun hardened her face here, she would go to the ‘People changed because she rose’ frame?

That’s why it seems like I’m trying to leave a video that proves that I’ve met Sun Ah-hyun with a smile and ‘we’ve known each other’.

Unfortunately, the industry doesn’t run that fair.

I looked at him carefully.

‘If it’s necessary, I can delete the data by making a deal with the production team.’

Because Testa is not an Azusa contestant, but an idol who has already signed a contract with the company. That too, under the umbrella of T1.

If it doesn’t work out, it’s rather possible to get rid of it even if you openly say that you can’t use this picture at all on the air.

-hey. I want you to give me back what I stole from him. It’s not just one or two.

Like this. Rumors are good, but that’s about it.

It’s better to be on this side than to see this bastard benefit and Seon Ah-hyun go through a mental breakdown.

‘Should I throw it?’

It was a moment of contemplation.

“… … yes. hello.”

“… … !”

Seon Ah-hyun calmly responded.

A feeling of victory quickly crossed Chae Seo-dam’s face.

And the production team quickly intervened and took care of the new broadcast.

“Can I ask for a word of encouragement?”

“ah … … that.”

Seon Ah-hyun seemed to be taking a deep breath. Chae Seo-dam smiled and waited for the situation.

“that… … .”

“for a moment.”

I heard the small whisper of Ryu Cheng-wu, who caught Bae Se-jin from behind.

And Seon Ah-hyeon said while looking at Chae Seo-dam slowly without any interruption.

“No matter what you do, believe in yourself more… … . I hope you do.”

Sun Ah-hyun smiled faintly.

“So far… … Because it comes, I think that’s the most important thing. Instead of caring about others, focus on yourself… … You trust me.”

“… … .”

A wave of agitation passed across Chae Seo-dam’s face.

Seon Ah-hyun took a step forward. And he met Chae Seo-dam’s eyes openly.

“we… … I wasn’t that friendly. I hope you will go through the remaining time with a good heart.”

“… … .”

“I will pray for that.”

It was a virtue.

However, depending on the interpretation, it was a word that could sound meaningful.

And it must have sounded different to the person involved.

Um, it feels like this.

– Take care of yourself and live kindly when you have time to work on others because of your inferiority complex.

‘It’s hard.’

I saw a look of bewilderment and tension in his eyes. It was quite pleasant.

Seon Ah-hyun looked around and shouted a little embarrassed.

“The others too. go for it… … !”

“yes! go for it!”

Seeing the other participants copying her words, Seon Ah-hyun raised her hand and made a fighting gesture.

It looked comfortable.

Chae Seo-dam seemed to be laughing along, but he didn’t look very comfortable.

Still, I obligely hold out my hand.

“… … Thank you for your kind words.”

“Yes.”

Seon Ah-hyun shook hands. And waved casually.

“Ah, shall we leave a message too? It was fate that we met like this~”

“We are so thankful!”

As soon as there was a gap, Sejin, who quickly intervened, turned the tide.

And with the enthusiastic support of the participants and the production team, a short cheering filming took place.

Taking advantage of that gap, Seon Ah-hyun fell back.

“are you okay?”

“… … huh.”

Seon Ah-hyun answered quietly and calmly. It was a voice that sounded relieved somewhere.

“The manager said we really had to move.”

“Nenep, thank you.”

“Ay what? Then we’ll see you on stage next time~”

The other members resumed their movement only after taking short words of support for the contestants.

And the moment they parted in the hallway, I saw Chae Seo-dam turn his head.

“… … !”

Perhaps he was trying to glare at me, but when our eyes met, he flinched.

‘The shock must have been great.’

1st place in the current season, he must have been confident that this was a weight class he could compete against.

Originally, when I participated, the program was all the same.

‘Does he have a sense of superiority because his grades in the program are better than Seon Ah-hyun?’

That’s why I thought Seon Ah-hyun would be pushed back again, but I’d go crazy thinking that she was being threatened.

I laughed at the guy.

And he said it with his mouth.

‘Lucky bastard.’

“… … !”

There’s no need to make enemies, but seeing him do it, I think it’s more emotional than I thought, so I won’t be able to go far.

It’s nice not to be burdened.

I rubbed the back of my neck and turned my head. I wondered how long that bastard could endure in front of the camera.

Not long after, Testa walked through the corridors and arrived at the waiting room.

“I’ll check on my lunch soon.”

“Okay, Manager~”

Clicked.

After the door was closed and only the members remained.

“after… … !”

Seon Ah-hyun let out a breath and sat down on the sofa.

Then, cool reactions poured in.

“Hey Ahyeon~”

“WOW!!”

“You did well to stay calm.”

Seon Ah-hyun seemed embarrassed, but she has a good face, probably proud inside.

Even Bae Se-jin said with an excited face.

“… … You did a good job with him.”

“yes? I didn’t mean to say that… … . Did that sound like that?”

Seon Ah-hyun lowered her head as her face flushed as if it were about to explode. Bae Se-jin was a little taken aback.

“What is it?”

“yes… … ! Just my honest thoughts… … . Still I… … I didn’t know you would say that yourself… … .”

Seon Ah-hyun let out a small sigh with a relaxed face.

“… … cool. I thought it would be scary.”

I asked.

“How was it?”

“Than you think… … It was fine. huh.”

Seon Ah-hyun held her hands together and murmured softly.

“When I met him in real life, I thought that it was really nothing… … Definitely listen.”

“… … .”

Contrary to my concerns, this meeting seems to have awakened Sun Ah-hyun.

I experienced firsthand that it was no longer difficult.

“I am… … It was fine.”

Seon Ah-hyun finished speaking as if he were sure.

“… … okay.”

“That’s it!”

Big Sejin tapped him on the shoulder. The other members also surround Sun Ah-hyun with happy faces.

At that time, Liu Cheng-wu spoke with a smile.

“Come to think of it, didn’t Ahyeon speak comfortably and barely stutter?”

“… … !”

“I know!”

Did the trauma go away help?

Seon Ah-hyun became a flower color.

“Is it true? It seems that… … Alas.”

… … As soon as I thought, I groped for it again.

Then, the members who were looking at each other started shouting in a hurry.

“No, how is it, Ahyeon-ah~ You can stutter while talking comfortably!”

“It’s between us, so let’s just relax.”

“You are right. Cha Yoo-jin just picks out the vocabulary roughly and lives by speaking well.”

“I speak very well!”

“Yes, yes.”

Although the point was strangely blurred in the middle, Seon Ah-hyun bowed her head, as if her intention was conveyed well.

“… … yes.”

The voice sounded a bit hoarse. But right after that, he raised his head and said with determination.

“still… … practice more! I’ll make sure you can speak better when it’s comfortable!”

“okay. I will support that.”

The atmosphere in the waiting room has improved to the point where it can’t be so warm.

‘That’s good.’

I patted Seon Ah-hyun on the back. He was definitely a special guy.

“Thank you so much… … !”

Seon Ah-hyun smiled with a more comfortable face.

* * *

The interesting thing is that after that, Sun Ah-hyun really became more comfortable speaking without stuttering in public.

It seems that the relief of pressure and tension helped.

“Mr. Seo also said that he would improve in a cascading fashion, but I feel like I’ve gone up a notch… … !”

“Yes, congratulations.”

And this week, < Azusa > was watched by everyone, including Seon Ah-hyun, who was active. It was the ranking announcement ceremony.

[No. 1 is… … Chae Seo-dam!]

“Huh.”

Surprised. I thought so.

I looked at the screen with a sad face.

If the momentum had increased thanks to the amount of ‘Chae Seo-dam suffering because of a team member’ in the last episode, it would have stuck but not fallen.

[Chae Seo-dam: Really… … thank you. I will work harder… … !]

But the atmosphere in the living room wasn’t that bad.

“Do you want something to eat?”

“okay.”

“Thank you Ah-hyun~”

Seon Ah-hyun’s face was clear as she handed out dried apple chips to the members.

It probably wouldn’t matter too much if Chae Seo-dam succeeded as an idol by winning first place.

‘Well, it’s a good thing.’

I shrugged.

I don’t feel bad for going on like this.

And it was that night that the pre-laid baits brought the fish.

– Hello senior!

I mean in advance.

I entered the room and quickly brought the story to the point.

“hello. Did you call me about something I told you about last time?”

-yep! that… … I participated in this team fight shoot today and went home now!

Since the ranking announcement is coming out right now, it seemed like a few days would be the shooting period.

And the phone call… … It must mean that there is something on your mind.

That’s something to the point of calling without hesitation on the same day.

“Have you seen anything?”

Second place over the phone… … So Park Min-ha took a breath.

-this… … after. That’s it.

“yes. Please speak.”

-That’s the one we talked about last time. I think he naturally tried to find out our number.

“… … !”

I heard the sound of a jackpot popping.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 276

If you can't debut, you'll get a fatal disease Episode 276

To be honest, in this world, dating is all about taking it easy.

However, this number is slightly different.

A bastard who hasn't even debuted at an audition yet wants to collect female idol numbers.

'The taste of winning first place twice must have been amazing.'

I can't seem to get my head around the sexual mulberry, so let's go through an accurate confirmation once.

"Did you ask for my number out of selfishness?"

-that is… … Hmm, our members gave us stage feedback and said that it's okay to ask if you have any more questions.

The voice over the phone was trembling.

-Then he asked me to follow the inheart account, saying 'Could you check the interpretation of the song one more time'.

I chuckled. I'll get it roughly

"By the way, according to company policy, we don't have individual accounts."

-yes. Since we don't have individual accounts… … As the story unfolds like that, it seems that even exchanging numbers has become a hot topic.

The workmanship is fine.

“So how about exchanging numbers?”

-no! I interrupted and gave my manager sister’s number!

There was a slight hint of pride in Park Min-ha’s voice. I thought about whether or not to compliment her, but I gave up because I thought it would be weird.

-But now that I think about it, it seems that he deliberately induced a conversation in this way after he knew that he couldn’t create an inheart account.

“hmm. okay.”

It’s a sharp decision even here.

‘That’s why he reported it to me right away because he felt embarrassed.’

It’s been a while since I’ve been on the rise, but it’s irritating to be involved with a bratty bastard who hasn’t even debuted.

But this… … I don’t think Chae Seo-dam was particularly interested in any member of Mirinae.

‘It’s not like I took a picture of someone, it’s like asking me to catch a random contact.’

This isn’t for real love, it’s for show off.

Proof that ‘I’m high enough to be involved with female idols of this level’.

This sentence smelled of strange contempt.

About the occupational group of idols.

‘Was he a guy who didn’t mean much to this job?’

Putting a romantic relationship like this in the show off option. It was an idea that people who have been working as trainees for several years would think of and give up.

But this guy seems to have thought of 'I can do this'.

'He's obviously a guy who knows how to calculate realistically.'

Chae Seo-dam pushed SNS more than half a year ago. And if you look at the angle he takes in consideration of his actions and editing, he is definitely a guy whose head is spinning.

Nevertheless, doing this… … It's the same as belittling your fans and potential idols.

'It means that even if I do this, it will work.'

And that trend seems to have intensified with recent events.

'It seemed like everything was in her hands after winning first place, but Seon Ah-hyun hit the candle there. But if you win first place there again… … .'

Nervousness and arrogance seem to have created a wonderful collaboration.

'hmm.'

I thought of a few pictures, then shrugged and opened my mouth.

"Leave it."

-yes?

I laughed.

"Just let it go. Don't worry, I think you'll be fine."

Looking on the internet, other guys are terrifyingly coming up, so I'm really looking forward to what kind of checks the guy who lost his mind after winning the first place twice will receive.

I decided to imitate Seon Ah-hyun and move on without touching this bastard.

‘Let’s see how he falls asleep alone.’

and after a few days An article was posted on an internet bulletin board.

[Private account of Chae Seo-dam Love Heart (713)]

The article was carefully organized by capturing a private account similar to the account name of Seo-dam Chae, who disappeared last fall.

_____=

(Capture)

Chae Seo-dam’s previous in-heart account. It seems that it was mainly for the purpose of organizing the recent situation, the account name is ‘ChatiD1130’

And look at this

(capture)

‘ChatiU0417’

This account was created a while ago, and the number attached to it is the opening date.

Lim

(Captured)

Love heart for dating anyone can see lol

It was written by Chae Seo-dam.

“Did you find it or did you make it?”

According to the explanation, the model’s account recently revealed that she was in a relationship with an Azusa contestant and traced it back.

-I got delusional again.

-Aren’t you just a viscount?

-ㅋㅋㅋㅋ Chae Seo-dam, look at the infidelity of reality

. Anyway, I need to know Azusa’s over-immersion.

The Internet became noisy, but not many people believed it.

Most of the fans were cracked down, and this speculation without evidence quickly lost public confidence and disappeared.

Just as the controversy was about to subside, an additional post came up as if salty.

[Chaeseodam met earlier (1415)]

The guy who hacked the private account came out.

And there was no direct face picture in the account. There were quite a few pictures of hands or shadows that could be identified as Chaeseodam.

Everyone was standing side by side or holding hands like a certain opponent.

“oh.”

To open such a private account in the middle of an audition program?

This is the expected direction of action.

“I was careless.”

And it was fun to confirm that my guess that it was ‘for show off’ was correct given that the other person was a model.

But the timing is more interesting.

‘Did you go to work?’

Looking at the speed at which they explode, it seems that they have dug everything up to this point in advance, and then framed and exploded one by one.

‘hmm… … Maybe 2 pieces of gold.’

He has emerged as a leader in the previous team fight and is already at the top level, but he is on the rise.

1st place is imminent.

It was obvious what Gold 2 fans would do if they showed signs of destroying the original No. 1 spot.

‘No matter who did it or whether it was a coincidence… … It kills timing.’

-

Hahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahaha
hahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahaha
hahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahaha
hahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahaha
hahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahaha
hahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahaha
hahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahaha
hahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahaha

. The truth is really nasty that you are selling a private account because you can’t lose

love

. It’s not that Chae

Seo-dam was deceived either

.

The word ‘wait and see’ didn’t work as well as it always did. It’s the same with things like ‘What kind of deception is dating?’

And the fans are in a confused mood. If you don’t look at it, it would have been a mess internally.

‘I’m losing my energy.’

After spending money and time to raise stocks, real-time love rumors broke out.

Rather, if it’s a case of ‘careless words and actions’, it’s okay to gather, but this is because the atmosphere cools down.

-Wow

-
hahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahaha
hahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahaha
hahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahaha
hahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahaha
hahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahaha

–

‘With just this much, this 1st place is over the water.’

There are always people who have cooled down because they don’t seem so desperate when it comes to dating.

It means that the momentum is broken.

I flicked down my smartphone screen.

It is easy to guess Chae Seo-dam’s current feelings.

‘It must feel like I was struck by lightning.’

The best thing to do is to delete the account right now and announce that the hacking is a fabrication… … .

Will the man with the wind in his head be able to reach that cold conclusion as quickly as before?

‘It must be difficult.’

As expected, Chae Seo-dam’s side only announced a statement of ‘unfounded’ after about a day.

However, no specific comments were made on the photos.

‘I must have failed to convince the other party properly.’

If we explained that it was a misunderstanding and manipulation, there were enough shots to take back, but it seems that we missed the timing because we were nervous.

“Oh, I’m sorry for that friend~”

Keun Se-jin smiled and looked at my smartphone screen and passed by. It means you ate it.

Rebounding will be difficult. I shrugged.

All I can believe is that I’m making up for it after receiving cuts that will shake people’s hearts in the second half of the broadcast… … .

‘Seeing how my head is spinning, I might try to wake up right now.’

But it didn’t end here.

A few days later the article popped up.

[(Exclusive) “We were scapegoats” The screams of the dropouts in the brutal audition program]

That is, the interviews conducted anonymously by the dropouts of this season of < Idol Inc. > broke out in the form of accusations.

It was mainly a story about the cruel treatment of the production team and the conflict between the participants, and among them, there was ‘that incident’.

_____=

B : It’s like a high-ranking contestant intentionally framing other contestants and dropping them… … (It even happened.)

B: Because their positions overlap, they use the fact that they have a lot of say and make people mean people with lies. (crying)

_____=

Originally, this post, which would have been suppressed as ‘rumors’ by the onslaught of fans, has already been It spread like flames across the devastated board.

-Isn’t this a complete resignation story

?

The moment this speculation went around an anonymous site and went out to the sun, Seodam Chae suffered a huge blow.

Still, there were quite a few people who thought rationally that Seodam was the victim after his account was stolen.

However, this was an obvious sniping of the perpetrator, and the other fandoms who kept Chae Seo-dam in check never missed this opportunity.

-Honestly, it's true that I have doubts because the circumstances are perfect

. -I think I need to calmly think about it. I thought it would be too unfair for those who were eliminated, so I blindly shielded them

-Ah, they fought for some reason… ㅅㅅㅠㅠㅠ

"Hmm."

He also dug his own grave.

Soon, Chae Seo-dam's side released an entrance statement with 'First time in a while' and 'Sue', but now the debut… … Hmm, even if I try, I wonder if it's going to be a little bit of a bit of a bit of a bit of

As long as the controversy has erupted in the fields of passion and character, the blow will be irreversible.

'It's over.'

I shrugged my shoulders and tried to turn off the smartphone screen, but hesitated for a moment.

'But wait, this… … .'

"Oops, it's too bad this time, too bad~"

I looked at my smartphone again and caught the big wave as I was about to pass by.

"hey."

"huh?"

"Isn't this too what we expected?"

“… … .”

Keun Se-jin looked at her face and changed her expression as if she realized what she meant.

“no way.”

Big Sejin sent a personal message to Gold 2.

[Heiseung, maybe?]

He checked the ground meal.

It wasn’t long before a reply came.

[Hahahahahahahahahaha? I just gave you courage]

“… … .”

I can feel the determination that I can’t debut with such a crazy person. As I warned, it seems that I felt at least a proper personality while filming this time.

“Awesome.”

Sejin and I laughed in vain. It seemed that Gold 2 secretly encouraged it as soon as an opportunity arose, such as a dropout coming to consult.

“and… … How did he end up breaking the ground rice just like he laid it out?”

“It must be because he is excited, nervous, and conceited.”

“Hmm, that’s an accurate judgment~”

I gladly gave a high-five to Sejin.

“Oh Ah-hyun is here too!”

“Hey guys?”

And Sejin opened the door and walked out and bumped into Seonahyeon, who was confused.

“Ah Hyun-ah, big news~ Is that bad guy’s 1st place over?”

“Yes?”

Seon Ah-hyun nodded with a bewildered face after checking the text on the screen I was proposing.

“That’s right. Still, I thought he was a prudent personality… … .”

“Because the original position makes a person.”

“that’s right. And looking at it, it doesn’t seem like you really had any intentions of becoming an idol?”

“Yeah… … ?”

Seon Ah-hyun seemed to be a little nervous at Keun Se-jin’s carefree addition, but she swallowed saliva as if she had made up her mind and said.

“That’s right… … .”

“ok?”

“Yes, actually I… … It was. Rather than just wanting to become an idol… … I came because I wanted to continue dancing.”

“… … ?”

The conversation suddenly jumped out due to close circumstances.

I answered once.

“Azusa?”

“Yes.”

“You’ve been dancing before.”

Sun Ah-hyun lowered her head.

“Because I can’t stay there anymore… … .”

“… … .”

“I was afraid that if I continued to dance, I would continue to meet people I was afraid of… … I can’t stand it… … I quit.”

Perhaps it’s a narrower board than I thought, but I think I’ll keep bumping into people of the same age as I build my career.

“Even so, I want to dance so much… … . I came out with the idea that I should try this one last time.”

I suddenly remembered that Sun Ah-hyun’s answer was particularly ambiguous when talking about the reason for participating in < Azusa > at the beginning of his debut.

… … Was it because he judged that his motives were impure, so he couldn’t speak properly?

“Everyone came out seriously, but I don’t think I did… … . But now… … I just wanted to tell you how precious and enjoyable it is.”

“… … .”

I looked at Seon Ah-hyun for a moment and then shook my head.

“no.”

“… … !”

“I came out just because I was casted and added it for fun. I guess I don’t have to think about it that much.”

It is a field that would not have been connected if it hadn't been for the condition of falling behind in the first place. I rubbed the back of my neck.

"You were serious enough. You worked hard."

"… … ."

Sun Ah-hyun lowered her head, closed her mouth, and nodded. Big Sejin smiled.

"Right, if a person like Ah-Hyeon who works hard is in a different job, then all the people who came to become idols have to quit?"

"… … what?"

"Ahyeon is talking~"

Bae Sejin, who was shocked to hear that he was the subject, called from the other side of the living room. Keun Se-jin passed the situation naturally.

And hit Seon Ah-hyun on the back.

"Uri, I'm just happy that we became a better group thanks to Ahyeon's courageous participation. Do you think so too?"

"okay."

"… … Yes."

Seon Ah-hyun nodded in succession.

He snorted a few times, but never cried.

"Good job."

That's how the guy was completely relieved of the burden on his heart that he didn't even need to have.

Even though we had schedules the next day, we talked about the days of < Azusa > and lightly drank beer until the night.

And after that, I decided to stop paying attention to what happened to Chae Seo-dam.

Anyway, I collected all the ground rice and saw all the ball fields.

‘It won’t matter anymore.’

Seon Ah-hyeon will no longer be affected by him.

* * *

In early May, when the weather gets quite hot after the incidents have passed.

“Whew.”

I’m jogging along the promenade in the apartment complex at dawn, avoiding people and sunlight.

It’s a bit foggy, but there’s no problem moving around. No, it’s nice that it blocks other people’s view.

‘Looking at the barking of a dog in the distance, it looks like there’s someone else out for a walk.’

Originally, I mainly did indoor exercise using equipment, but I thought I would change the pattern once in a while.

‘I should do some bulking up when I have some spare time.’

Because when the next album comes out… … .

– Wow!

“… … ?”

Suddenly, a dog barking in the distance came closer, and a dog in a harness jumped out through the fog at my feet.

“… … !”

for a moment.

I know this dog’s face

“Kong, wait a minute.”

He was raised by Cheongryeo.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 277

If I can’t debut, I’ll get sick to death Episode 277

I’m running at 4 in the morning on the promenade of my apartment building with my dog next to me.

“Phehe!”

I don’t know how I ended up jogging with someone else’s dog. That is, the dog of a bastard whom I did not welcome at all even though I met him after almost half a year.

I sighed and looked around.

“The beans run well. kind.”

The guy who praises the obvious sounds… It is a blue sky that protrudes from the fog.

‘Damn it.’

I recalled how things had come to this.

The one who appeared controlled the dog in light sportswear.

– Every time I went for a walk, I only went to places where there were no people. I’m sorry if I surprised you.

And it was overly blunt. So I asked.

– I don’t think he thought it was me.

The answer to this doubt is as follows.

-A pink-haired guy walking nearby at dawn… Doesn't the pool of candidates narrow down considerably?

-… … .

– You can see the color even in the fog.

It's an explanation that has no place to refute. I groaned at the sight of my hair, wearing only a moderately hat.

Of course, it was 4:00 in the morning, so I thought no one would be there.

As for why he was taking a walk here out of the blue, words came out easily.

– I have something to do while taking a break from the tour… I'm living in a dorm. And there are no more people this side at dawn.

It was true.

-I think juniors are here now for the same reason.

-… … .

okay.

To sum it up, it's just a coincidence that came about because the situation was similar to me or that guy's occupational group.

'after.'

I was about to admit the situation and leave quickly.

-okay. then… .

– It looks like we're going anyway, so why don't we walk a bit? I thought Kongi would bark if my junior ran away.

-… … .

-It’s a nuisance at dawn. isn’t it?

I reluctantly turned around when I saw the yellow lump watching me as I struggled with my front paw in his arm… .

“Wow!”

how… I don’t know if a dog like that came out of such a bastard.

‘It’s CCTV, but I’m not going to waste it.’

I held my breath and started running down the trail at the original tempo.

The dog and dog owner running at a similar speed next to each other didn’t say much while jogging.

After that it was a problem.

“Any drinks?”

“done.”

Near the end of the trail, I drank water from the prepared canteen. Cheong-rye fed her dog a snack.

“I’d rather wear a beanie next time. Because it covers more of the hair color.”

I just don’t plan to come back here at this time.

“… … .”

Instead of answering that, I just nodded. Cheong-rye shrugged her shoulders as she stroked the dog eating snacks.

And what was visible under the hood of the man who lowered his head… It’s not black hair.

‘for a moment.’

I inadvertently opened my mouth.

“dyeing?”

“Oh, yes.”

Cheongryeo touched her head under the hood with her hand and removed it.

Dark green hair disappeared under the cloth.

isn’t it gray? I can’t see very well because of the fog… It’s not the color that matters.

“Haven’t you dyed your hair once since your debut?”

At least I have never seen VTIC Chungrye dyed her hair while I was doing datapal.

I don’t know what it is, but there seems to be a cataclysm in terms of concept, so I need to get some hints about what VTIC is going to do in their next repackaged comeback.

I looked at the biggest stumbling block of this year’s grand prize.

‘Let’s admit it.’

These guys still have incredible staying power.

This is because VTIC’s comeback career in February was still the same.

‘I thought it was time to pass the congestion section and fall.’

In a section where it could no longer rise, VTIC was dragging its heyday longer.

-VTIC Initial Chodong deadline of 1.92 million~~~~

└Isn’t it

crazy ?

Wow

– I wonder if they will be in the 1st team until they really retire

.

In this February comeback, it is said that the fan satisfaction was very good because it interpreted the feeling of Broadway in the 50s in a very sophisticated and dark way.

I also checked. And I almost got drunk.

‘The quality continues to exceed expectations.’

This was unavoidable.

I hope this year’s comeback ends with this, but I don’t have any expectations because I think I’ll have to work hard for a year or two before anyone enlists.

‘I’ve dyed my hair, so it’s confirmed.’

I was preparing something. That too, with unconventional changes and effort.

“I wondered if I even dyed my hair because I was thinking of showing some unexpected result.”

I closed the canteen and crossed my arms while waiting for his answer.

He… She smiled.

“Hmm, I think it would be less surprising than pink.”

X feet.

“Fans love it.”

“is it so? congratulation.”

He doesn’t say a word and slowly changes the topic. I nodded inwardly.

‘I’m conscious not to speak.’

Likewise, it is to keep Testa in check.

I sometimes thought of text messages and contacts from VTIC guys.

I thought you were being monitored.

[Everyone, I watched the variety show < Dance Over Flowers >. We are also going there this time.]

Was this the text message I received at the end of Testa’s January activity?

[Isn’t it really great to combine two songs together? Mr. Rabin… Are you thinking of giving the song to another group?? (Bread bursting emoticon)]

[^^b]

This is a message from the concert.

[The documentary is so touching.]

Well, this… Cha Yoo-jin worked and called Tallulah.

Anyway, it was also the point that the other side was conscious enough to constantly check this year’s testa content.

They may think it is for support, but unconsciously, there is a desire to confirm the growth of latecomers and to understand the situation.

‘… This year must be really intense.’

I nodded inwardly.

However, the topic that Chung-rye would bring up next was unexpected.

“Yes, this time I never dyed my hair.”

The guy tilted his head to the side.

“however… I didn’t know that my juniors would know that.”

“… … .”

“Did you do a lot of research? By any chance, when you were in your original body, you weren’t soft and sweet, were you our fan? Ah, there are people who like to group things together under one agency. The man… It seems to be rare.”

Guess it’s creepy.

‘Damn it.’

I sighed and put the canteen in my backpack. And I just finished the calculation.

‘good.’

Let me tell you what the situation is.

“I wasn’t a fan of anyone.”

“then?”

I said it intentionally.

As if you were distracted by a running dog and gave a rough answer… .

like this.

“Actually, I didn’t dig idols, but I sold idol data to my homemates when I was in college. That’s why I came to know about it by watching kids who make money often.”

“ah.”

She leaks information about ‘Ryu Gun-woo’.

The fact that I was a data arm when I was in college.

It is an action with a clear purpose.

‘Track it.’

This is the information about ‘Ryu Gun-woo’.

“That’s all.”

This guy must have said it with his own mouth.

I remembered the guy who told me about Youngrin’s surprise release plan at the end of last year.

-You don’t know. No informant. Yes? Junior, that’s… This will be the biggest problem in the future.

This means that you have enough sources of information.

In fact, to the extent of finding out the news of Youngrin’s music source, which only the closest people knew, it is no different than proving it yourself.

‘I certainly wouldn’t have limited it to the entertainment industry.’

In order to control all external factors, you need to know other circumstances related to celebrities in the entertainment industry.

Then, among the cards I can use… It means that this guy is the best to be able to trace Ryu Kun-woo’s whereabouts while uselessly saying ‘Park Moon-dae is illegally inspecting civilians’.

‘As you said, since I don’t have an informant, I’ll have to use even you who have one.’

It was confirmed by video at Ryu Cheong-wu's house that Ryu Gun-woo was definitely here, so on the contrary, he didn't know if he was still alive or not by using this guy.

'It doesn't matter if I look for it.'

After all, what this bastard knows is nonsensical bullshit that presupposes that his body has changed.

And realistically, 'Ryu Gun-woo' could not be my weakness.

'You have to have something to have a weakness.'

Around the time I graduated college, all I had was money to last for three years.

But this guy doesn't know that.

Then, in order to keep the current form in check, to control the most difficult enemy, Testa, to control in case of emergency, he definitely goes behind 'Park Moon-dae's original body'.

It must have been impossible since all he had was three letters in his name.

'Because the only clues are name and age range.'

So let's see… I hope to get a reaction from him when I add 'Data Pal' to 'Ryu Gun-Woo'.

'Because it's a feature that allows for multiple inferences.'

As I expected, this guy will do the math too.

I ended my speech casually.

"Still, soft and sweet… It wasn't even a fan, but I'd like it."

"… … ."

I petted the dog and smiled. Cheongryeo, who was holding the rope connected to the dog, looked this way with a mysterious face.

“Than you think… It was right that I had a professional life in the industry.”

You are talking about professionalism to the guy who sells idol data.

“I was just making money.”

“Haha, judging from what juniors are doing, it doesn’t seem like that. Well, it seems that the experience helped me to recognize the expensive lumber. It’s fun.”

He muttered to himself and put his chin on his chin with his free hand.

It was foggy, so I couldn’t see his expression clearly… I think it’s right to think about it.

‘okay.’

take it

Soon a soft voice was heard.

“Still, if you’re a guy in his 20s with a camera… That’s pretty unique. Please explain your impression at least once. You said you also filmed VTIC, right? Then I think I will remember.”

done.

‘Inversely, they’re trying to dig up information.’

I thought as I touched the back of the dog’s ear.

‘Here… It should not intentionally give the impression of being possessed by information.’

Because this bastard’s personality will ask for a deal to the limit or try to hit the back of the head. Or you can do both.

I shook my head, as answering positively would look suspicious.

“I just went around wearing glasses and a hat. It must be common, but what?”

“hmm.”

That’s enough to make you feel good enough.

However, the actual information is sufficient.

-Men in their early 20s, glasses, hats, and cameras.

Certainly, if you watch the event videos stored by the agency according to the year, you will be able to get the faces of the ‘Ryu Gun-woo’ candidates, albeit in low quality.

Because I usually hold a camera that stands out in front of the audience.

‘If you want to pull the data arm to the level of making money, of course you would think that the university is located in Seoul.’

Main broadcasting stations and performance facilities are mainly concentrated in Seoul.

‘Then, if you search by matching the year and the name of the age group of colleges in Seoul… .’

“hmm.”

If you’re a very skillful guy, you might be able to steal the current situation of ‘Ryu Gun-woo’ in no time.

‘done.’

I shrugged and got up.

There is no need to say things like ‘I think I sounded useless’ here. that’s more awkward

It would be most natural to leave your seat in moderation.

“king!”

The dog at my feet made a strange sound of regret and stomped back and forth.

“Stop going in.”

“Um, yes. Bye.”

Cheong-rye picked up her dog and spoke casually.

“I’m going to go for a walk around here for about 15 days, so if I see you from time to time, I’ll say hello with beans.”

“… … report.”

“haha.”

Holding back my breath, I left him behind and made my way out of the fog on the promenade.

“… … after.”

I think I handled it well, but somehow I got tired whenever I met that bastard.

* * *

After a few minutes. I let go of the awkwardness as I entered the building.

‘Is there any debuff hanging on the fog?’

what are you talking about Let’s just see the results.

In order for Cheong-Ryeo to make a deal with me, the moment she finds ‘Ryu Gun-Woo’, she has no choice but to leak information about ‘Ryu Gun-Woo’s current condition’ to me.

‘good.’

That’s neat.

I shrug my shoulders and get on the elevator. My head speeds up again and rolls.

‘Is it because I went to bed early yesterday?’

I slept a little longer this afternoon because I had an active schedule for the first time in a while.

As for the schedule… .

“Let’s start assigning rooms~”

“Wow!”

Right away, the roommate assignment content to fill the ambiguous gap is back.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 278

Episode 278 Testa

‘s roommate assignment.

‘Is this the 4th time?’

When it comes to this point, fans recognize it as content with a history and tradition in their own way.

‘Until now, I’ve been mainly playing board games.’

So this time, I changed the field a bit because I thought it would be a bit boring if I proceeded with room assignment with a similar game.

“Hello~ Testa teachers.”

“hello!”

It’s just an expert call.

Now we are sitting around seven people in the offices of a research institute run by communications experts.

why that… It is a contrived daily drama table composition with only the front left blank. Because there are cameras and production crew in the front.

But maybe it’s because we’ve done this kind of composition a lot, so it’s all natural.

I saw them looking expectantly at the expert.

The expert had a gentle smile.

“I understand that you asked for a roommate assignment today. Is what I said correct?”

“yes!”

Bae Se-jin’s face is full of energy as he replies loudly.

It seems to be the most energetic voice in the last month, but it seems to be swollen with hope for solitary confinement.

‘They say living in the living room is worth it.’

No matter how hard it is, being in the living room because it is difficult to enter the room is different from being there because you like the living room.

It seemed that Se-jin Se-jin glanced at Se-jin Bae with his eyes wide open, but as if he were filming, his sign disappeared in an instant.

The warden, who stepped out from behind the expert, looked around at the smiling faces and spoke again.

“Our communication research institute is an algorithm analysis based on the personalities and tendencies of group members… .”

Skipping this PPL introductory part, this is the conclusion.

“Through behavioral analysis and interviews, we will find and match you with the most suitable roommate.”

“Wow!”

Aka ‘Roommates are science.’

‘The words are plausible.’

To be honest, it sounds like the packaging of a venture company that followed the existing business, but it was cool to hear anyway.

‘I think the fans will enjoy it.’

It would be better to highlight the character if the analysis presented here is placed together with the existing testa’s life and habit cuts.

It is the same principle as MBTI.

A sense of kinship that comes from the same characteristics.

Image enhancement from other characteristics.

Keun Se-jin makes a fuss once more to save the atmosphere.

“Wow, am I so excited?”

“… … .”

I understand, so don’t hit me on the shoulder.

“Then let’s start with group activities!”

“Oh oh!”

Soon the warden disappeared and only the expert remained for a group interview.

‘I had a personal interview before picking the opening.’

This is the main thing… hmm. Take a look at what popped up as the first problem.

[Here is a farmer raising ducks and cows. But one winter, this farmer decided to raise only one type of livestock.]

[What kind of livestock is it?]

“You can answer freely.”

“… ?”

It’s an IQ test and it looks like a quiz floating around the Internet.

No matter how good you look at it, is it not a question of creativity for corporate interviews?

‘professionalism… Where did you go?’

The personal interview was still professional, but… It seemed to me that this was for a picture for broadcasting.

‘It doesn’t matter.”

Because the content is important here.

I measured the timing to participate while watching the other guys talk.

“I think it might be a duck? Aren’t ducks easier to care for? Since it’s winter, you can bring it indoors if necessary~”

“That’s right. But wouldn’t it be difficult to grow as the number of heads increases?”

“I know! More food made by cows! It’s a cow. Go Cow!”

Everyone is active.

I raised my hand and looked at the expert.

“Is there an answer to this question?”

“no. All you have to do is freely use your imagination and thinking skills~”
“

Oh~”

As if the expert's words were a catalyst, the members chatted one more word at a time.

"Oh, because it's winter… . ah! Maybe you're trying to make something like a down duvet… ?"

"yes! Ah~ You are smart, Ahyeon-nim~"

"Ahyeon has a good idea?"

… No, if you look closely, half the guy who is really excited is half the guy who wants to save the content.

They seem to have found a loophole in this format.

composition is futile.

Is it attractive as a content that we do not give model answers, but just randomly brainstorm among ourselves?

"I am a chicken."

"ok??"

"There is no saying to choose between ducks and cows, so I chose the most economically viable livestock."

"omg."

"Hey, look at Mundae's hair."

I answered appropriately, but I didn't think the flow was very interesting.

The expert closed the question like this.

"I listened to what you said. Thank you for your kind comments and answers."

"Hi-Hi."

“Oh, thank you~”

There is no organization.

In this part anyway, if we were going to ask only fragmentary questions instead of professionalism, it would have been easier to see if the types were divided according to the approach.

Well, these days, I don’t have a lot of type tests. They compared it to everything from drama characters to trees.

[You are the ‘strong pine tree’ type!]

Something like this.

‘It’s not like there’s a time limit at all.’

I’m bored because there’s no stimulation that I can easily feel.

I glanced at the crew. I can see some of the people I worked with when I was making hotteok in a foreign country.

‘I wonder if he fell into mannerism.’

This is like a recruiting miss, guys.

“I will ask you the next question.”

Fortunately, a review came out in the middle briefing after several similar questions and answers were repeated.

“Now, I took a little look at the attitude of the teachers’ responses.”

The expert picked up a piece of paper and began to speak eloquently.

“First of all, our Seon Ah-hyun teacher! Because you are careful and thoughtful when making decisions, your response time tends to take a little longer than other group members.”

“yes… .”

“I think it’s because you’re looking for your own subjectivity while caring a lot about the people around you. Wouldn’t you be a wise leader in the future?”

“Swing… ! thank you… .”

“Ohh~”

Seon Ah-hyun’s face reddened and she lowered her head. The guys around me slapped their palms.

“And Mr. Bae Se-jin.”

“… ! yes!!”

Bae Se-jin, who smiled at Seon Ah-hyun, is startled.

“The teacher’s intention is clear and I can see the teacher’s will to do his best even in unfamiliar or uncomfortable environments.”

“that… .”

This time Bae Se-jin’s face turned red.

“Especially, he was very active in the issue of ‘who has the key’… .”

In this way, seven very positive behavioral reviews went round.

After the two youngest and the big Sejin next to me… .

“Our teacher Chungwoo Ryu is the type to step back and back up other people’s opinions, but maybe it’s because he is the leader.”

“hmm. Could it be?”

Ryu Cheng-wu smiled and reacted moderately. I knew that I wasn’t interested in this kind of thing.

And the last was me.

The expert made eye contact with me and said.

“Mr. Moondae Park is a very broad-minded person. Do people say, as a habit, to ‘see the big picture’?”

“ha ha ha! that’s right! That’s exactly it~”

“Moondae hyung is really that kind of person!”

A few of them enthusiastically respond as if they were hooked by some kind of talkative swindler.

One guy in particular seems to have really come to trust this expert.

‘Kim Raebin… If I want to do business, I’ll have to stop it.’

It’s my feelings. Anyway, the expert ended the talk again.

“The fact that he often comes up with surprising ideas seems like an essential idea bank for the group.”

“thank you.”

It puts the words together pretty well. And it was okay to speak in a gentle way without needlessly touching emotions.

Maybe he didn’t just look at this and say it, he guessed it based on the data he had already received.

‘Still, it’s bland.’

There is no point in talking because you only listen to the story without technical terms or analytical explanations.

‘It was half a joke earlier, but maybe it would have been more fun to break it down into a real internet type test.’

Isn’t that a clear sick taste?

I looked at the expert with a bit of an empty feeling.

“Then, to the next question… Oh, I’m going to rest for a while.”

“Yeah~”

The expert, who received the signal from the production team, appropriately cut the cut.

People relax all at once.

Neither do I.

“after.”

‘I’m sorry.’

weak.

I shrugged my shoulders while predicting the ups and downs of this content.

‘What happened.’

I must have already started filming, but now there is nothing to worry about. First of all, let’s work hard.

“It was an amazing experience. I think I will get to know more about myself!”

“I need an explanation for this! ‘Strong-hearted’? What does it mean?”

… There are really excited guys over there, so the fans will be warmly watching.

If fan service content is at that level, it has become a standard.

“wait a minute… .”

At that time, the production crew secretly got up during the break and moved, leaving only the cameraman and a small number of people.

“ok?”

“He said he was going to see the warden.”

Right. Ryu Chung-woo, who was sitting close to the production team, neatly organized the situation.

‘The production team must have felt that it was a bit bad while filming.’

And the expert standing in front of us also laughed and got up and headed down the aisle.

“Teachers, go to the bathroom for a moment.”

“yes yes!”

Population density suddenly drops.

“Yes then… .”

That was the moment.

“Oops!”

The expert who opened the back door and went out into the hallway… He grabbed the back of his neck and took a slow step backwards.

and fell down

thud.

… Sigh.

The expert’s white coat slipped through the door and was half-stuck.

“… ??”

“Mr. Seo??”

“what.”

cardiac arrest?

I tried to follow the guys who were about to run right away.

however… .

Suddenly, the iron door slams down right above the back door.

Tutung!

“omg?”

The road was suddenly blocked.

‘What the fuck is that.’

It wasn’t just there.

The iron door also came down from above the big door on the side where the production team came out.

bang!

Kwak Kwa Kwak!

“what.”

fire? terror?

I immediately tried to check the window, but… The iron plate has already come down there.

and the lights change

Weing-! Wheein~!

Red and green lights in every corner of the space flicker madly and sirens sound.

“Guys, this way!”

At the sound of Liu Cheng-wu’s voice, the members instantly fall off the wall and unite.

‘Emergency situation?’

Get your smartphone right now… .

“hey! excuse me!”

I heard Bae Se-jin’s voice and looked away.

The huge screen where the question popped up earlier.

that is… has changed

“crazy.”

[! AREA CLEAR !]

[Blockdown completed]

Behind the red letters, what looks like a CCTV screen appears as a split screen.

Video of people collapsing and doors closing.

and… Even people who have fallen stagger to get up.

[Leakage of the zombie virus in the laboratory]

[02:00:00 until the facility is blown up]

“… … .”

what?

Silence fell between the men who were momentarily at a loss for words.

didn't last long

[01:59:57]

… That's until the countdown begins.

"… … ."

In an instant, the pupils trembled, exchanging embarrassing glances. It sounds like you're shouting

'What is this!'

and after a few seconds.

We found a few of them deliberately hiding in corners.

… It is the production crew who is holding back laughter.

"hey."

"no way."

"Come out, camera director. What's that."

However, the two or three production crew refuse to make a statement and sit firmly in the corner.

But still, the face is full of smiles.

And those who realized the situation properly only after seeing it appeared one after another.

"Aaaaaaa!"

“also! I was tricked!”

This is a situation where everything is created.

“Ughhhhhh.”

In the meantime, the production team gritted their teeth with the determination not to put their laughter into the microphone.

Bae Se-jin vigorously points his finger at the screen.

“Zombies!!”

‘i get it.’

I grabbed my head and smiled bitterly.

here is… Let’s see if you can figure out your tendency with your ability to deal with unexpected situations.

‘Why was the research institute so grandiose?’

And by mixing nonsense and unrealistic elements like ‘zombies’ there, he cleverly avoided situations that touched risk factors such as PTSD.

It’s made for fun at the same time.

‘You’re so excited, X-foot.’

The bland group meeting right before was a build-up to explode this.

‘I really couldn’t imagine it.’

I will cancel what I said was obvious.

very… I can understand why the production team recruited them.

It feels like blood rushing to your head.

“Wait wait!! There’s a door behind here!”

“what??”

“Is it a door?”

Just in time, Yoo-jin Cha pointed to the back of the crew and exclaimed hurriedly, as if she had found something.

“Wait a minute~ Oh honestly, if you have a conscience, please step out of the way, sister!”

Keun Se-jin skillfully induces the writer to step out of the way and puts his hand in one corner.

“Uh-chaa~”

His right hand revealed a square iron plate. Then, under the glowing red back, a large vent appeared.

“It’s typical.”

“Is it the right way to move here?”

“I guess so.”

Those who were already immersed quickly began exchanging opinions.

‘hmm.’

The content seemed to be fun to choose. But looking at the current situation, it seems that the time limit was just around the corner. Because it is the ability to cope with ‘disaster situations’.

[1:56:23]

It’s been 4 minutes already.

However, how depressing it would be if Testa couldn’t escape from here in the picture.

‘It’s best to go out in a clean state without looking at it.’

Thinking this far, I suddenly recall what the expert just said.

-Sometimes people say ‘see the big picture’ as a habit, don’t they?

‘Yes, that’s right. I’m a bit obsessed with the big picture.’

I laughed and wiped my hands.

“Let’s go.”

let’s make it good

I think this roommate content will be something worth celebrating.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 279

If you can't debut, you'll get a fatal disease Episode 279

It's been 5 minutes since I went for a psychological test and escaped from the zombies.

"Watch your head."

"after."

We're crawling through the vent shaft.

Seeing that there are pre-installed cameras in the middle, I think this route is correct.

'The route is fine.'

The remaining crew deliberately covered the vents to give them a hard-to-find effect.

But in fact, finding the production team in an unexpected situation is a natural flow, so the connection between the stories is good.

'The atmosphere is fine.'

It's a cliché, but it's good to concentrate because the air vents are dark and the atmosphere is eerie.

Turn it off –

turn it off! Squeak!

I can hear this through the wall.

“omg.”

“Wow.”

“I’m sure this is a zombie!”

‘There’s no one who can’t immerse himself.’

After checking the nervous guys, I nodded inwardly and continued crawling.

and after some time

After turning the corner, the road forked on both sides. Liu Cheng-wu, who was in the front, stopped.

“Should we be torn apart… .”

“Shh.”

And it sticks to the corner of one passageway and makes the others stick behind it.

“Hup.”

At the unusual gesture, the other guys were pressed against the wall.

That moment.

“Keeeeeeeeeeeeeee!”

“Ewhyeop.”

Kim Rae-bin hurriedly covered Se-jin’s mouth.

A zombie was clinging to another vent on the other side, screaming.

The suit is quite bloody with blood and scar makeup.

‘You’re acting passionately.’

It seems that the production team invested a certain amount and hired more actors. I feel quite real… for a moment.

An ominous sound was heard.

Tuduk.

“… !”

And a vent fan with a zombie hanging from it… come off

Ting ting T Did Did Diding… .

Before the parts pop out and touch your feet.

“To the right! side! side!”

“Whoa!”

Cha Yoo-jin jumped out into the passage in the other direction like lightning. Then he pulls and pushes the members with his hands and head.

‘Do you herd sheep?’

But the effect was certain. In an instant, they sprinted through the side aisle on all fours and reached the vent on the other side.

However, at that moment, the zombies behind them smashed the obstacle and tried to jump out, shaking the aisle loudly.

Kwagwagwang!!

“Aaaagh!”

“I’ll open this right now!”

Beside Kim Rae-bin, who was screaming, Seon Ah-hyun reached out and pulled the side of the vent.

came off easily And ahead is darkness. It is connected to an unlit space.

I immediately opened my mouth.

“I can’t hear any zombies here.”

Liu Cheng-wu immediately responded.

“Let’s go in. Be careful of the person in front!”

“yes!”

One by one, they exit the vents.

I relied on the dim light from the vents to confirm that those who went down first supported the others, and then came out almost at the same time as Liu Cheng-wu.

And closed the vent.

bang!

But it gets pushed out. Big Sejin calmly exclaimed.

“This cannot be fixed! Check if there is anything to fix!”

“Wait a minute! If you push this… .”

Bae Se-jin pointed to something dark around where he was standing. Kim Rae-bin runs and shouts.

“It’s a cabinet!

“Move!”

And just in case, the personnel were immediately divided into three holding the vents and four moving the cabinets.

But there was no free time.

thud.

… Vibration is transmitted to the hand holding the vent.

“It’s open.”

Zombies had smashed the vents and entered the passage. I turned the corner and checked the zombies that appeared.

“There now.”

“Hey here!”

The atmosphere is created enough to make you sweat.

‘They must be speeding up, right?’

It’s being done in a research institute that even has PPL, but it’s unlikely that they won’t give you even the minimum amount of time to perform the answer.

However, the zombies coming from the end of the vent passage, twisting their whole body, are quite… No, X is fast.

‘Damn it’ is already right in front of you.

Just in case, I put my weight on the two hands holding the side of the vent.

I’m grateful for the enthusiastic performance during filming, but adjust a little… .

“Get out of the way!!”

I reflexively turned my body to the side. Iron furniture kicks in at the spot where Ryu Cheng-wu retreated in the same direction.

bang!

it's a cabinet Huge furniture covered more than half of the vents and pressed them.

And at that moment, the zombie slammed into the vent.

"Kyaaaagh!"

thud!

The cabinet, which was only moved by four adult men, was so full that the zombies couldn't penetrate it.

"Ah!"

However, Cha Yoo-jin, who was at the front, almost collided with a zombie in the vent due to the force of her push.

"… !"

"Kyaaak!"

Ryu Cheng-wu and I reflexively pulled Cha Yu-jin. The guy jumped up and backed away.

"are you okay?"

"No problem. Avoid!"

Cha Yoo-jin smiled with a normal face. It seems that there is no blood for special makeup.

"I'm glad after that. I thought Eugene had to tie it up~"

"Haha!"

A few of them laughed at Sejin's joke. It seems that the excessive immersion in the bloody situation has been relieved.

And, of course, as soon as I came to my senses, there was a rain of slander.

They said they would let them travel, but it was more fishing than selling hotteok in part-time jobs, so I understand.

"Wow, but really… I never thought this would happen! The producers are real!"

"I really didn't expect… ."

"… Somehow, when he came in, he signed a consent form. I thought it was because of the inspection."

"Shh!"

In the meantime, Cha Yoo-jin seriously puts a finger on her mouth.

"There's another zombie out there! Let's see here first!"

I'm excited.

It was clear that the twinkling eyes sounded funny.

"Yes, Eugene is right. Let's start by checking where this is. It's dark, so let's make a group of two… I will go alone."

"All right. Leader!"

Realizing that they were filming again, they quickly resumed their search.

'I'm going to edit it anyway, so it would have been fun to talk about it a bit more.'

I shrugged and started looking around, relying on the dim light coming from the vents and past the zombies.

“My brother is blind at night and has a narrow field of vision, but I can always move as directed, so just tell me… .”

“okay. Don’t worry, I’ll tell you if there’s a problem.”

“yes!”

‘If you see that the zombie actor doesn’t come while making this fuss, it’s a sealed room… .’

I quickly moved to the wall with Rabin Kim, who was nearby. And the moment my hand finally touched the wall.

“… … !”

It felt like a unique texture.

… wood.

I stopped my hand.

‘A dark, closed, unfamiliar wooden space… .’

I’m feeling a little down.

“brother? If there’s a suspicious liquid on the wall over there… .”

I moved my hand again.

“No, clean. I slowed down because I was careful.”

“okay! You are wise. You never know where the zombies will appear!”

okay. This was an overreaction.

‘It’s a shoot.’

It’s already entertainment enough at the point of setting like a zombie virus.

It’s obvious that they’re all dressed up anyway, so it doesn’t matter if it’s sealed or not… .

“Wait this.”

“yes?”

My hand, mechanically groping the wall, found something colder than wood.

“On the wall… It has something like a metal box, but it’s rather big.”

“… !”

It’s a suspicious box.

“What did you find at Moondae?”

“Oh wait.”

“I will check this way!”

Raebin Kim, who passed by and checked the other side of the metal box, heard a shout.

“There’s like a lock on the other side! Shall we open it?”

“uh? for a moment! wait guys!”

Not long after, Se-jin Se-jin and A-hyeon Seon approached with flashlights, not sure where they found them.

“Is this okay?”

“Excellent!”

And the moment I unlocked the metal box by relying on the flashlight.

Gying!

The box opens by itself.

And a blue laser shoots up from the box.

“What?”

“damage!”

Even Bae Se-jin and Cha Yu-jin, who were trying to lookout for something similar to a window, scream.

“Get down!”

I grabbed the guy next to me and lowered my head.

but right after.

Click.

vision becomes clearer

“… ??”

As I raised my head, I felt a light sting my eyes. A light came on in the room.

I really want

“Okay.”

“Yes yes?”

I patted the guy next to me on the back and got him up.

Then, I checked where the box in front of me was hanging.

It was a huge maroon cabinet. Beyond that was a neatly painted wall.

‘Was it furniture?’

What I touched was not the wall, but the wooden furniture.

… This isn't a wooden villa, it's just an office space.

"under."

Laughter ensues.

And the other side was bursting with laughter in a different sense.

"It must have turned on the light… ."

"We must have been so funny?"

"The vibrancy of the sphere composition is amazing."

"… What is the principle?"

Bae Se-jin touched the box. Big Sejin laughed out loud and rubbed his hands.

"Ah, the lights are connected with lasers… Wow!"

"why?"

Let's turn our gaze towards the big Sejin… In the corner lies what appears to be a human corpse.

Such a X foot!

"omg!"

"Ugh!"

"Guys, these are mannequins."

… I will correct it. It was a mannequin that looked like a corpse.

"What is this?"

The mannequin was dressed in a uniform that appeared to be that of a security officer, and in his hand was a strange object that looked like a combination of a gun and a stun gun.

And the gun is pointed at his head.

‘As a mannequin is a pinch hitter, is this a pinch hitter… .’

I immediately twisted it and carefully pulled it out. And I looked.

‘hmm.’

The muzzle is blocked with glass. This… .

“It looks like a laser gun.”

“yes?”

I remembered the metal box from which the blue laser had just come out.

“The shape of this end is similar to the one I saw on the box earlier, and the pattern is similar.”

“Oh, you’re so smart~”

“Wait a minute. I’m sorry… .”

“… Ah-hyun is brave~”

In the meantime, Ah-hyun Seon overturned the mannequin and found a box and instruction manual in the arms of the mannequin.

What was in the box was a gun identical to the one I was carrying and… Four purple cylinders that look like they might contain live ammunition.

“Ah, here’s an article that seems to have been written on this mannequin.”

Big Sejin read the user manual in an instant and drew a summary.

The zombie virus that was brought into this laboratory by mistake is leaked out, and the only thing that works on zombies is this weapon that came with the virus.

And since I'm already infected with the virus and can't escape, I use a laser gun… The contents are organized as follows.

"Hey, I heard you can catch zombies with this?"

"oh."

Big Sejin pointed at the purple cylinder with his hand.

"Hey, that's a rechargeable battery… You can use it 3 times on a single charge!"

"hmm. okay?"

Liu Chengwu picked up a laser gun and aimed it at the suit zombie hanging from the vent.

To be precise, one arm of the zombie seen next to the cabinet.

and a quick one.

Gying!

"Keyyak!"

When the laser was fired, one arm of the zombie became stiff as if paralyzed, and it did not move anymore.

"Oh oh!"

"Um fine."

Liu Chengyu shrugged and shrugged off his gun.

and said calmly.

“Excuse me, could you pull the cabinet a little bit? I’ll shoot you in the head.”

“… yes.”

From now on, it seems that the genre will be changed to a zombie shooter rather than a zombie escape.

* * *

The prediction was only half right.

Giying- Bang!

I saw a zombie sprinting down the hallway hit by a laser gun and falling over.

It is the workmanship of Ryu Cheng-wu. For reference, I saw a similar scene seven more times.

“and.”

“Brother is awesome!”

“haha.”

That admiration is the eighth. I can bet my hair color on the bundled and edited cuts.

However, Liu Chengwu looked at the cylinder and shrugged.

“Now there are only two feet left… Well, I hope to escape soon.”

“Ugh I will.”

I’ve been saving that too.

Surprisingly, he only used the laser gun for one-shot, one-kill. However, in a situation where there were only 10 rounds left in the first place, there was no room for fun.

‘Shouldn’t have shot that vent guy in the beginning.”

Still, I couldn’t help but write it. I pressed my forehead.

In the first place, the lab would have put guns as a factor of conflict between group members.

This is because the movement was mainly based on secret movement through cooperation.

On the contrary, it took more time to shoot, so there shouldn’t be a big problem with two shots left.

‘Well made.’

The root was chewy.

From the bathroom where zombies are trapped in each compartment to the private counseling room, from the BGM creepy playroom to the hallway… It was a pretty good course, but there were problems.

“phew!”

“Wow, 2 hours is hard, right?”

When I finished it, time flew by.

According to the map obtained from the desk earlier, the back door was at the end of this hallway, and I felt like that would be the end.

‘And there must be a trick there too.’

However, checking Bae Se-jin’s watch, the remaining time is less than 10 minutes.

‘The last picture will live only if you escape.’

It will be a perfect finish if it comes out close.

“Let’s go.”

“Let’s look ahead and go. If there are zombies, hit me on the shoulder.”

“yes!”

We cautiously made our way through the dark hallway with flickering lights leading to the back door… event didn’t happen.

“Oh oh.”

“I guess this is the end.”

“great! It’s our success!”

‘This is boring.’

I clicked my tongue inwardly, but I did not stop Cha Yu-jin from pulling the back door.

but… The door did not open.

Beep.

Instead, a red light flashed on the doorbell’s screen.

[Give me your pass.]

“Huh.”

A final trick has been revealed.

“A pass?”

The members looked at the back door with a bewildered expression for a moment, but a quick discussion immediately followed.

“Who are the producers?”

“No, I never received or submitted anything like that.”

“Wow”

“Should I go to the desk?”

With less than 10 minutes remaining, when a trick that is too vague comes out, the members start to think about it.

It’s worth worrying about. I shut my mouth and tilted my head.

‘… There must be a hint.’

Since this is the last escape, there will be a decisive hint from what we experienced on our way here.

That way, the composition is clean and you feel refreshed when you escape.

‘I’m sure you need an idea… .’

-The fact that you often come up with surprising ideas seems like an essential idea bank for the group.

“… !”

for a moment.

I restored my head.

‘… I get it.’

And I started running in reverse along the hallway I had been advancing so far.

“Are you dumb?”

“for a moment!”

There is no time to explain.

‘Nine minutes.’

It’s tight.

I ran once And calculated in my head.

If you think in a straight line, the path is shorter than you think.

‘There are no zombies on the route to that room, so if we go on like this… .’

You can escape!

I ran faster through the hallway.

It was then.

– Clumsy.

A strange noise came from across the corridor.

the sound of something collapsing

– Blood profit.

And dark smoke begins to rise from the cracks and corners of the walls.

The flickering lights in the hallway, which showed the smoke in succession, go out intermittently. The opposite side is now dark.

‘A state of darkness… .’

I ran and reached the end of the hallway.

Smoke hits me.

‘smell of burning… .’

Standing alone in a dark, smoky confined space.

“… … .”

I stopped.

Cold sweat ran down his neck.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 280

If you can’t debut, you’ll get a fatal disease Episode 280

Alone in a blocked vision and sense of smell… .

Random thoughts come and go in my head.

‘alone.’

Having to live alone means you have to know everything and take responsibility.

I am responsible for all the actions and mistakes that society demands, from contract reporting and payment delays.

The risk and pain of my judgments and actions are all mine.

cannot be shared with anyone. Because I don’t have options.

‘are you okay.’

But you get used to it after a few years.

Am I not the only one who lives like this? It means that even if X-like or burdensome things happen, you can manage to live.

‘It was worth doing.’

However, the situation that cannot be dealt with… Don’t you come across situations you can’t cope with?

‘I can’t guarantee that he won’t come forever.’

Just like what happened to my parents… When a sudden disaster happens… .

if there is a fire.

At that time, if I am sleeping or injured or sick… What if you are helpless and unable to do anything?

‘There are too many holes.’

If I am careless, I will die.

pop.

A cold sweat fell on my feet… No, it was strange that I could feel a drop of liquid on my shoe so heavy.

‘Is it real?’

The smell is acrid.

But when I tried to check, I couldn’t see anything… .

“Park Moondae!”

Suddenly, the silence was broken by a voice.

And something came up on my shoulder. … It seems to be a hand.

It’s someone else’s hand, not mine.

“are you okay? Just stop.”

Was I walking

“yes.”

The answer came out reflexively.

I took a deep breath and stopped.

And he said something without asking.

“I thought there was a fire… .”

“That seems to have worked because the escape time limit was approaching.”

effect.

‘yes.’

To liven up the atmosphere at the end, you can create effects like collapsing buildings. I looked up.

Light was leaking from the corner of the aisle in front of me. It is the blue light of the emergency exit.

“ah.”

I had already walked out of the darkest section of darkness.

I just didn’t know.

Only then do you hear loud sirens, distant zombies, and artificial collapses in your ears.

“I would have been surprised to go alone. You did well to follow me.”

And the owner of the hand was Ryu Cheng-wu, smiling shyly. The guy with the laser gun chased me in an instant.

I chuckled.

“yes. I feel strong.”

The useless thoughts go away.

‘What kind of stupidity is this during filming?’

Nothing to worry about happened.

And even if it happens, you can deal with it. Because I’m not the only one here.

“okay.”

Liu Qingyu seemed to check my face, then lightly patted my back and nodded.

“If you’re going to move, you better have a weapon. Come with me.”

“Yes. thank you.”

I really don’t have time anymore.

I clicked my tongue inwardly, recalling the time I had wasted fooling around with thoughts.

And started running again. Liu Cheng-wu immediately followed.

“Where are you going?”

“The room with the vent.”

“Ah, the room where I found this laser gun. Would you like to look there again?”

“no.”

I answered quickly.

“I’m going to go back to the first room with that.”

“… Why are you there?”

“Since there were no tricks in the starting room, I think it must have a different meaning.”

All I had to do was find a vent and get out.

Even that is a clumsy composition that the production team covers. It is not even the curriculum that was originally operated by this institute.

‘There must be a trick in that space to make the composition right.’

Ryu Chung-woo and I passed the actor who was passionately playing a zombie corpse and moved up the stairs through the emergency exit.

Up here is that room. I spoke quickly, conscious of the camera.

“When I first saw the word ‘pass’ on the back door, the first thing I thought of was ID.”

“ID?”

“yes. It’s easy to think of an ID card for a pass to a research institute like this. However, everyone we met was not wearing a card around their neck.”

I remembered the time of the group interview.

There was no strap on either the neck or chest of the expert conducting the interview.

“In that case, wouldn’t you have put it in your clothes pocket?”

“… !”

And we were very impressed with one piece of clothing in the process.

I opened the door, passed the mannequin, and climbed into the ventilation shaft.

Because the cabinets were removed in advance, only the actors who were actively performing the corpses had to be carefully crossed.

And I remembered.

This content is the first sign that the genre has changed from a psychological test to a zombie escape.

– Wow!

“At that time, the counselor fell into the hallway and his white coat got caught in the door.”

And, of course, we couldn’t help but watch it with great shocking attention.

“The reason I dared to show you that the gown was hanging there… Isn’t it because there is the most important correct answer there?”

I reached the end of the vent with almost certainty and put my foot down.

‘see.’

Right across from me, the first iron door that went down was the gown underneath.

I ran right over, lowered my stance, and searched for my white coat.

A square plastic touches the fabric of the front pocket.

‘yes.’

I laughed.

“The pass has always been here.”

Then, he took out an ID card with the person’s face and title from his pocket.

On the back side, it can be seen that there is even a small print that reads, “Used as a pass.”

“As expected, Mundae is smart.”

Liu Qingyu could hear the sound of admiration.

I put my ID card in my pocket and turned my head.

“Not really… .”

clap.

“… … ?”

The muzzle of a laser gun crashed in front of my eyes.

The laser gun Liu Cheng-wu was holding, no, he is still holding it.

‘what.’

I only moved my eyes and looked up at Liu Chengyu.

He said to me with a slightly embarrassed face.

“I need to give you my ID card. It’s Moondae.”

“… … .”

I paused for a moment, then organized my logic and opened my mouth.

“Whether it’s me or my brother, opening the door from the back door is probably the same anyway.”

“No, because we have different goals.”

Liu Cheng-wu kindly added an explanation.

“You escaped. I’m the one.”

“… !!”

“hmm… I mean, I’m the villain. It happened.”

no what bullshit

‘Who contributed the most to the escape so far?’

The benefits we gained from that marksmanship… for a moment.

In an instant, Ryu Cheng-wu’s actions pass through his mind.

– Excuse me, could you pull the cabinet a little bit? I’ll brush my hair.

Wasted two shots of that laser gun’s battery on a zombie in the vent.

He applied himself and shot his arm without asking for any consent.

And he always asked me if I was shooting even in areas where I didn’t need to use it.

‘So I wasted time even in the section where I didn’t need to use it… .’

In the first place, the lab’s escape route was made to be moved by covert maneuvers without the use of weapons… .

In other words, the only thing good about this bastard holding a gun is peace of mind and a waste of time.

‘and… .’

Totally hooked on this one.

I stuck out my tongue at the production team and looked at Ryu Cheng-wu.

‘Time to hear about why you were selected and what the background story is like?’

does not exist. Put that in an interview.

I got straight to the point.

“That only works for zombies.”

Liu Qingyu calmly replied.

“no. It was written in the instruction manual that it was for both use.”

“ah.”

I don’t care if that’s real or not. The gun’s power was sufficient with the possibility alone.

If it hits, it’s out, and then there’s no more chance of escape.

It’s enough for Ryu Cheng-wu to disappear with his ID card.

‘It’s tough.’

How many minutes are left?

Coincidentally, there is a time countdown on the large screen.

[00:05:19]

… It’s a great way to immerse yourself in the ending.

‘5 minutes.’

It’s breathtaking.

I sighed and raised my hand.

“… wait a minute. I will take out the card.”

“okay.”

I put my hand into the biggest pocket of my coat.

And as soon as he grabbed the object, he quickly pulled it out and aimed it at Liu Cheng-wu.

“Good for you. It works for people too.”

That’s a laser gun.

The first laser gun I found that I snatched from the hands of the security officer who died as a zombie.

Ryu Cheong-wu opened his mouth with a mixture of surprise and doubt.

“The battery… .”

“there is.”

Everyone subconsciously thought that there was no one because Ryu Cheng-wu was carrying a laser gun with 12 rounds.

no.

i checked

“There was only one step left.”

There was only enough left to shoot once.

I did social service, but I thought it would be better for someone who went to a training center, so I was taking care of it.

Now that I’ve come and held it, it’s not very similar to the real thing, so I don’t think it’s of much significance.

‘Because I didn’t need two guns during the process.’

Since Ryu Cheng-wu was enough, interest faded.

“Mmm.”

Ryu Cheng-wu smiled bitterly as if he was in trouble. It’s a dried up face.

But he nodded as if he realized something.

“It’s Moondae. But even if it’s just a confrontation like this, doesn’t it mean you can’t use an ID card anyway? You can’t take it out the back door.”

“… !”

“Then this doesn’t seem to mean much… .”

That’s right.

‘I should have shot it as soon as I took it out.’

I was worried that if that was a lie, there would be a dog fight and it wouldn’t be like the idol’s own content, but I forgot that Ryu Chung-woo’s personality is not the kind of person who would lie about such a thing.

‘Then can I shoot now?’

I don’t know if I can shoot earlier than that bastard… . And that guy has two legs left.

It was a moment to ponder.

Burst!

“Moondae hyung! Chungwoo hyung!”

“… !”

The vent on the opposite side opened hastily with a loud sound.

And cheerful voices were heard.

“I was right! Here you are!”

“Oh, really!”

“Here we came… … .”

The guys who were about to wave their hands brightly as they climbed out of the vents froze as they saw the situation.

“Uh uh uh.”

The two members aim laser guns at each other.

“What’s happening!”

I opened my mouth unconsciously.

“Why are you here… .”

I thought you’d be waiting at the door?

“No, of course you run alone, but you come after me!”

“that’s right!”

“Uh, I’m worried… .”

I looked at them somehow as if I had been beaten.

‘I don’t have time… I ran alone because I couldn’t explain.’

then… At that time, if I just told you to run without explanation, would you have followed me?

‘okay. And that would have made the picture better.’

The inner voice responds in its own way. I laughed involuntarily.

‘I’ll still need some time to fix the habit.’

However, there are also serious guys who are alone. Kim Rae-bin looked at me and Ryu Chung-wu with his pupils trembling.

“There is an internal division in our team, which has to go to the community of destiny until the escape… .”

“… … .”

I need to clear up the misunderstanding.

I opened my mouth right away.

“I just found a pass in this gown, but Chungwoo-hyung tried to steal it. He was actually a spy.”

Then I took my ID card out of my pocket and shook it.

“oh my god!”

“Huh! Brother Chungwoo!”

“also! I was in a gown… No, then you have to subdue him now!”

In an instant, the mood changes again.

And since the number of pages has increased, it is no different from winning.

‘The remaining 4 minutes are enough to escape.’

But at that moment, I felt a little cheap.

But do these guys need to believe me unconditionally? What about two people with guns pointing at each other?

Doesn’t it seem even more strange that I, who hadn’t stepped forward in the past, had a gun?

‘If Ryu Chung-woo, on the contrary, said that I tried to stab him in the back and he himself was blocking it… .’

“haha.”

… That doesn’t seem to happen. Looking at Ryu Chung-woo’s expression, it says ‘Caught’.

Well, I was a loser rather than using that method.

“Ugh. this won’t work I will surrender.”

Ryu Cheng-wu put down the laser gun and raised his hand with a slightly proud smile.

“Whoa!”

The members immediately ran and retrieved Ryu Cheng-wu’s laser gun, exclaiming and screaming. The twist at the end seemed thrilling.

“We escape!”

“No, I have to run first!”

“That’s right!”

Then, playfully threatening Ryu Cheng-wu, he started running to the back door.

And the ID card in question… .

– Tirik.

“Open!”

“Good… !”

passed successfully. I went out into the open air with a group of guys wearing shoulder straps.

The sun was setting.

The wind blew it in the face.

“Successfully escaped with 29 seconds left!”

“We are crazy!”

I was obedient to their ceremony. honestly it was cool

After talking about what happened with the behind-the-scenes for a while.

“Ah~ everyone worked hard!”

“Ugh! really!”

The production crew who met again were grinning.

Besides, the camera is still running, probably trying to take pictures of us who are pissed off. they are great guys

“Who made you betray Chungwoo hyung? Didn’t you do too much for our leader hyung~?”

“No, Chungwoo-sshi also enjoyed it, right?”

“Haha, no.”

“Cheongwoo-san, you betrayed like this!”

A few minutes of playful and funny criticism ensued, and the main point came out.

“So who is our roommate?”

“Um, I will. I wonder how it is decided?”

Yes, that was the original purpose of this uproar. We looked at the crew, waiting for an appropriate answer.

“that… .”

PD smiled broadly.

“Please check it out while watching episode 1~”

“Oh really!!”

That’s how Testa played in the hands of the production crew until the end.

… It was fun, so I’ll skip it.

* * *

A few days after Testa ended the shoot after twists and turns.

Fans checked the video for fan service that was posted on WeTube.

However, it was quite extraordinary for a roommate series.

["It's a psychological test! It's a consultation!" I'm sorry fake! < Testa Roommate > 4th episode is stained with zombies… ☆Season 4 ep.1]

The thumbnails are the screaming Kim Rae-bin and the big Se-jin.

"… ??"

A graduate student who accessed WiTube after seeing the notification was momentarily taken aback and clicked on the title with a burst of laughter.

"haha!!"

My heart swelled with anticipation!

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 281

If I can’t debut, I’ll get sick to death Episode 281 Testa’s roommate The contents were mainly short videos that ended in one or two episodes.

But the grandiose numbering of the seasons, plus zombies?

Even if you can’t analyze the specific reason, it comes intuitively.

‘This… It’ll be fun!’

Expectations for content that would be fun even if such a simple reaction were expected rose all the time.

The thumbnail and title that drew aggro properly had the magic that even people who would have forgotten about it after thinking, “I’ll have to watch it on the weekend,” clicked on the video once.

It was the same with graduate students.

After she went home, washed and tidied up, she intended to replay it with a reverent heart, but she just played the video on the subway.

‘Thanks Bluetooth earphone!’

The first thing I heard was an elegant string instrument classic.

Dandadandandarara~

[Today’s story]

[Researcher: Through scientific methods! We will find and match the most suitable roommate for you.]

[Testa: Wow! (Twinkle twinkle)]

Then, along with the bright recorder BGM somewhere, a testa came out with her eyes shining and clapping her palms.

[Testa's curiosity and pleasure… .]

[Kim Rae-bin (cute maknae): It was an amazing experience. I think I will get to know myself more deeply!]

[Ahyeon Seon (Deer): Wouldn't it be warmer this way… ?]

However, the atmosphere changes completely with black subtitles and bleak sound effects.

[Sublimated into a zombie!]

[Raebin Kim: Ughhhh!]

[Sejin Lee (deaf): Hehhh!]

Raebin Kim screaming as she got caught in an air vent. Cheongwu Ryu slipping with a laser gun. Yoojin Cha clinging to furniture in the dark. passed

Lastly, the members run through the smoky hallway with flickering lights.

[Testa: Aaah!!]

[↑ Fooled again by the crew]

"Uhhhh."

The graduate student hurriedly shut his mouth. It was so funny, but I couldn't make a sound, so I felt like my stomach would explode.

[♡Always makes filming rewarding♡]

‘Patience! Be patient!’

To avoid becoming a subway maniac, she took a deep breath as best she could.

Still, I couldn’t take my eyes off the video. Because it was already fun!

Now, the video was subtitled with a magnificent OST parodying the opening of a famous sci-fi classic movie.

[A research institute in Ilsan on May XX]

[The Testa members, who have been reassigned roommates, gather together again (in fact, they are always gathered), recalling the previous three roommate assignments. However, there is a conspiracy of the evil Kwanjong production team… … … .]

Highlights of past roommate videos pass by vaguely in the black space background.

Sae-Jin Bae, who was swindled, throws Yu-Jin Cha’s card and chases after Se-Jin Lee… .

Then, Testa, standing in a white indoor space with an excited face, appeared on the screen.

[Lee Se-jin: Everyone~ What content do we have today?]

[Ryu Chung-wu: Let’s talk together.]

[Testa: ‘Roommates are science!’]

Like idol content, the first episode faithfully contains the psychological test results. filled it up It was something fans would be curious about, so I didn’t leave it out.

[Chinchilla VS Rabbit: Who is stronger?]

[Bae Se-jin: (Earthquake in the pupil) Isn't the rabbit stronger? They have those teeth.]

[Members who don't lose their professionalism despite a series of strange problems]

The question didn't look credible anywhere, but I already knew that I was going to be destroyed as a zombie, so even that was funny.

And it was always nice to see the members arguing or collaborating with each other in response.

[Cha Yu-jin: Even chinchillas have teeth!]

[Bae Se-jin: (The effect of flying into space)]

-So

cute♡♡ -All the kids are so excited to come up with an idea. please.

-Mundae You're so smart, aren't you a genius? How did you come up with another animal there?

By the way, the last one was a chat with a college student. This is how I solved the inability to scream.

'Ah!'

She thought she was going smoothly into a deep fan life, but it was still a normal enough choice.

Like that, episode 1 showed the taste of idol content that was warm and humorous enough to make you forget zombies before you knew it… .

The foretold reversal steadily popped out in the second half without going beyond the first episode.

[Researcher: Wow!]

[Falls down… ?]

Knocked up. bang!

The blockade of the office with an iron gate is spectacularly edited and passed by.

The fast and thrilling effect made even the viewer nervous and focused on knowing all the situations that would suddenly change.

However, Testa, who quickly gathered in the center and stuck to each other as soon as something happened, was cute.

[Testa: … ?]

[Suddenly moody zombie]

The situation ended comically with Testa realizing that she had been tricked while frozen trying to figure out what the situation was.

[Lee Se-jin: Director!!]

Real-time chatting was in full swing.

-

Hahahah

ahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahah
a

]

_

_

_

_

_

And what goes into here is Testa’s personal interview data.

[Kim Rae-bin / Rapper / 20 years old / Rabbit born on November 11, 200X]

[He’s a timid rabbit in this district, but he’s a worker of the times]

[Counselor: Considering the score distribution, you’re very sincere and kind, but you’re a person with a clear ego. The synergy of meeting good feedback and advice will be very good.]

On the screen, Kim Rae-bin’s appearance in the past testa variety show passes by, comparing the performance he will show in Zombie Escape.

It is mainly an eccentricity to remove the perfect hotteok dough weight with one hand.

Fans burst out laughing at the cute explanation with a real rabbit instead of a medieval one, but the video didn’t stop.

[Cha Yoo-jin / Center / 21 years old / Born on March 06, 200X (Self-proclaimed tiger)]

[Sense of agility and wildness, this district’s alley leader]

The introduction method is somehow like a heist movie in which all-stars gather to steal jewels. It was similar to the introduction of the members, so it made the atmosphere more lively.

And finally, the graduate student's favorite came out.

'Mundae!'

[Park Moon-dae / Main Vocalist / 22 years old / Puppy born on December 15, 200X]

'It's a puppy!!!

The graduate student was moved by nothing.

[Brilliant ideas and judgment, the Tibetan fox of this district]

[Counselor: You have a strong introverted tendency, but you are a mature person who has developed many extroverted elements. So I think you use both factors appropriately when making a judgment.]

[Counselor: You're a bit of a perfectionist. (Laughter)]

On the data screen, Moondae Park's face passes by as he seriously calculates the number of hotteok and drinks he has sold so far.

'Oh, it's so cute… .'

The graduate student was happy to check the real-time chat.

-Park Mun-dae is the best dog and never gets refuted

-Mun-dae is always sincere in his work haha

-The production team knows a little about taking care of Tibetan foxes

.

‘uh? Sejin’s February 7th… If Chungwoo is October 28th, isn’t Sejin the eldest?’

The graduate student wondered at the order, recalling the screen that had just passed by, but thought it was because Ryu Cheng-wu was the leader and moved on.

[Reliable leader, remarkable viability]

[Counselor: You have a strong independent and independent disposition, but it is impressive that you are in the position of an inclusive leader.] [

Counselor: You have a very stable mind.]

On the data screen, every horror-related content shows a normal face Ryu Cheong-woo, taking care of the members and smiling, passed by.

And the main story came back.

[Cha Yujin: Wait wait!! There’s a door behind here!]

The video ended completely with the members who found the vent behind the crew and crawled into it.

[Testa Dream Team!]

[Will they succeed in escaping from the lab full of zombies!]

‘Ah, starting with episode 2, we’re going to start getting into zombies in earnest!’

In fact, there weren’t many zombie stories compared to the fact that the title was attached from the first episode, but it gave a sense of satisfaction and anticipation at the same time thanks to the well-laid situation of the incident and the preview of the role group.

Thanks to that, the reaction was one color of favor.

-Wow, the scale was decided

-The production team is amazing. Did you cover the vents?

-Ah, give me 2 episodes right away ㅠㅠ How can I wait until next week

-In some way, I have to give 2 episodes at once Anyway, yes, please ㅠㅠ

-So what the hell does this have to do with my roommate? The roommate was taken advantage of

.

‘Oh, you must have seen the performance too, right?’

Then, he calls his homma friend and chats with him again, and then he screams internally.

‘I passed the station to get off!’

For reference, Homma’s reaction was ‘I’m going crazy wondering if Mundae is afraid of zombies too’.

And just a week later, Testa’s zombie escape was revealed.

[Kyaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaa!!]

[Lee Se-jin: Uh-oh-eup (mouth choking)]

The thrilling chase and battle scene, the well-coordinated editing of the testas taking care of each other was excellent.

In particular, the part that comes out of the vent and blocks the entrance with a cabinet received favorable reviews for being like a zombie movie.

– It’s a great match beyond imagination;

-Cheung-Woo Ryu is crazy. Look at him shooting zombies as if he were the main character of a movie

.

I couldn’t handle it, so the two parts that moved carefully were well harmonized.

So the balance between coolness and fear was great.

-I almost screamed in the bathroom. The sound of zombies knocking on every door.

I

thought Rabin passed there and passed out .

Being calm and fearless was even emphasized through editing and contributed to strengthening the character.

-Testa probably didn’t know that Ahyeon was like this so much, so the kids posted on social media. (Link)

-Ahyeon still doesn’t understand why people are surprised

.

So cute . Dae’s fans were also satisfied. Homma sent this message to her friend.

[Performance: This is a valuable variety show that gave Moon-dae valuable information that zombies are only half afraid of zombies.]

Park Mun-dae was afraid of invisible zombies, but when he appeared, he had a Tibetan fox expression.

Fans rewinded the second episode, which ended with Testa sprinting toward the back door, and produced numerous GIFs.

-I think it would be fun even if it was the next concept for the kids. Students surviving the zombie apocalypse… Already in full delusion

-Would you like to see Yoojin Cha throwing a ball at the playroom to draw attention to zombies? (GIF file)

– The amazing communication skills of Lee Se-jin, who is being pushed and pushed by the zombies hahahahahahaha (captured connection)

Overall, the fans who were very satisfied were all in a carefree joy.

There were no particular questions or controversies.

-Maybe episode 3 is escape + roommate assignment I think zombies are almost over haha

-episode 2 was good, episode 3 was a bit cute I expected the existing roommate content.

This was the orthodoxy.

However, the day the long-awaited episode 3 was released.

– Huh

– Mimi crazy crazy

– Are you Chungwoo?

[Ryu Chung-woo: I need to give you an ID card. It's Moondae.]

[Park Moondae: !!!!]

As soon as the scene of Ryu Chung-woo pointing a laser gun at Park Moon-dae, who was presenting a wonderful reasoning in the first room, the reaction exploded.

And when two people are staring at each other in a frozen screen like in a movie.

The screen rewinds and returns to Ryu Cheng-wu’s personal counseling cut.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 282

of Episode 282

[◀◀◀],

the benevolent face of the counselor narrating a personal interview with Ryu Cheong-wu is replayed.

[Counselor: You have a strong independent and subjective disposition, but it is impressive that you are in the position of an inclusive leader.]

So far, these are the same phrases as before. However, a new phrase was added after that.

[Counselor: Then, how about Chungwoo Ryu, who is not a leader?]

[Counselor: How would you behave in a situation where you can show off your independent tendencies?]

And the screen changes again.

[After a personal interview]

[A mysterious letter suddenly delivered to Cheng-wu]

[Ryu Cheng-wu: Hmm? What is it?]

[Cheongwoo Ryu: … ?? Zombie?]

As soon as it was revealed that Ryu Chung-woo knew about the zombie crisis even before the group interview, the chat window was once again filled with screams.

His role was the force that brought the zombie virus to the laboratory.

The goal is to zombify or explode everyone!

[Counselor: When he is in a position where he is in confrontation with the group members, how different he will be when he is out of the role of leader.] With the counselor's voice as BGM, Ryu Chung-woo's behavior, which had not been revealed until now, began to be seen

.

The act of holding the members behind the aisle without moving to confront the zombies on purpose at the ventilation shaft.

And when you get out of the dark room, go alone and remove any hints about the spy.

[Ryu Cheng-wu: (waves his hand at the camera once)]

Fans cried when Cheng-wu Ryu first approached the mannequin for the corpse and removed the note from the hand on the other side of the gun.

The content of the note was 'there is a traitor among the guests'.

[Ryu Chung-woo: I was worried about whether I could do well, but it turned out to be surprisingly fun.] Ryu

Chung-woo, who deliberately abuses the laser gun, and induces discussion on whether or not to shoot zombies.

to waste time.

The last one is Ryu Chung-woo who says this to the members after watching Park Mun-dae, who runs out as if he noticed something.

[Ryu Chung-woo: I'll follow Moondae. There's a gun.]

[Raebin Kim: I see!]

Chungwoo Ryu ran through the corridor with the effect of collapsing the building and immediately caught up with Moondae Park.

[Ryu Chung-woo: Park Moon-dae!]

After showing all those cuts, the scene gathers again as if being sucked in and returns to the present.

Liu Cheng-wu pointed the gun at him. Solid Park Moondae.

-
Ahhhh

[Park Moon-dae: When I first looked at what was in the mannequin's hand… There was only one step left.]

[Park Moon-dae: I took care of it for now. I was thinking of giving Chungwoo hyung in case of emergency… Anyway, I think I will use it for Chungwoo hyung.]

'Crazy!'

I figured out the pass under my gown, and I thought I'd packed something like this!

'Shouldn't there be more variety shows like this at Moondae?'

And the real-time chat window was spitting out similar sounds as words by mobilizing screams.

And the conversation between the two people in the confrontation and the situation briefing of Ryu Cheng-wu.

[Ryu Chung-woo: Moondae. But even if we are just confronting like this, doesn't it mean we can't use the ID card anyway?]

"Huh!"

Despite the trump card prepared by Park Mun-dae, it seemed that Ryu Cheong-wu would win, but soon the balance of power collapsed.

This is because the members who should have been at the back door poured out of the vent.

-Wow, really

-It's spectacular

.

-Hahaha.

[Cha Yujin: I was right! I'm here!]

The members who had been left blankly at the back door were pushed back by Cha Yoo-jin's inaction and Lee Se-jin's sympathizer, Bae Se-jin's reasoning.

Only Kim Rae-bin, who alone insisted on staying at the back door just in case, looked at the situation with a lost expression.

[Raebin Kim: I didn't dare to guess that such a situation would happen… … .]

Kim Rae-bin, who made a downcast expression during the interview, was honestly funny and cute.

And the confrontation scene returns again.

When the composition changed as the number of people was pushed back, Liu Cheng-wu meekly lowered his gun and surrendered.

[Ryu Chung-woo: This can't be done. I'll surrender.]

[Cha Yu-jin: Wow!]

The production team edited the situation without a break after the situation kept turning upside down with a few exquisite timings, and eventually it worked out for the better.

So, Ryu Cheong-woo's cool surrender exploded with warm refreshment instead of regret.

-Ah, I'm finally leaving 1!!

-Guys,

they

're really great

.

Even Park Moon-dae's soft comments were warmly inserted between the members.

-It's a legend.

-No, is this the quality that will come out of Zacn

? What is it?

– Can we just do it as an official entertainment show?

– Testa's trust and trust towards each other… The only villains are the producers.

[Lee Se-jin: Uh huh! The spy walks fast!]

[Cheung-Wu Ryu: Haha, I see.]

Cheng-Wu Ryu, who was going with the members, was smiling.

And it was at the sprint right before this escape that the expert's analytical comment began.

[What type of testa was observed during the disaster escape process?

After a brief explanation of the 'role-playing taxonomy' that the research institute developed in-house, the evaluation of each member comes out.

First of all, Ryu Cheong-woo, the twist of this episode.

[Counselor: As expected, even in solo actions, he shows calm and challenging behavior without anxiety. I think this look is very natural.]

[Counselor: However, Mr. Ryu Chung-woo has very high ethical and moral standards and does not prefer tricks.]

Behind the close-up of Ryu Cheong-wu's running face, his interview and reminiscence are laid out.

This is the scene where Park Moon-dae was chased. There was another small twist here.

[Cheong-Woo Ryu: The fact that he chased Mundae there was especially… I didn't mean to stop it.]

[Cheong-Woo Ryu: I thought it would be dangerous if I went alone, so I joined. Because there was smoke coming from the wall.]

Ryu Cheng-wu's last act was just a good deed.

Of course, it was also because of seeing the abnormal reaction of Park Moon-dae, but the production team had already cleared the amount.

This is because, as soon as the filming was over, Park Moon-dae politely conveyed, "I am very uncomfortable with the fact that my five senses are not functioning properly in a fire situation."

The production team was horrified and even contacted them separately to say that they would be more careful in the edited version after an apology.

But even taking these facts apart, this truth was heartwarming enough.

[Ryu Chung-wu / Humanitarian explorer]

[Independent human-friendly type equipped with the spirit to pioneer the future]

Ryu Chung-wu's type came to mind just like a verification mark next to his face.

It was an easy-to-see type classification that Park Moon-dae wanted so much.

Subsequently, the members also gave their own evaluations.

[Kim Rae-bin / Ethical therapist]

[Cha Yu-jin / Destructive explorer]

[Bae Se-jin / Ethical fighter]

[Lee Se-jin / Rational strategist]

[Sun Ah-hyun / Humanitarian fighter]

None of them had overlapping types.

I don't know if it was a coincidence or if the lab just interpreted the data a bit more comfortably for a more dramatic feel, but it looked impressive.

'Well, there are 16 types of 4X4.'

The graduate student nodded and looked at the story quite interestingly.

I don't know if the theory is that solid, but it was quite fun to explain it according to each member's history. Among my colleagues in the lab, there must be people who get angry with crab bubbles.

And Park Moon-dae, whom she had been waiting for, was the last one, perhaps because of his performance.

[Counselor: Looking at this escape, Mr. Moondae Park has a tendency to be a perfectionist, but at the same time, he has a great desire to take risks and take on challenges.] The action of taking a gun, jumping out of the bathroom first to check if zombies are coming out, and at the end Park Moon-dae, running in reverse with all his might, passed by briefly.

[Counselor: I think it would be good to train yourself to control yourself a bit, but he is a very intelligent and confident person.] As he arrives at the back door and takes out his ID card, a type is stamped next to Park Moon-dae's smiling face.

[Park Moon-dae / Destructive strategist]

[Incarnation of efficiency and sprinting Brain type that sees forests rather than trees]

‘Cool!’

It was her favorite thing to be cute with her pink hair and still look cool like this!

‘Fatigue goes away… .’

Her eyes twinkled and she stared at the screen.

[Wow!]

The screen that stopped with the type displayed for a moment flows again, finally showing the back door opening and testa pouring out.

In the evening when the sun goes down, Testa, who has a fresh face just by looking at it, comes out and calls out ‘success’ and ‘awesome’.

[Bae Se-jin: I don’t think I’ll ever forget it.]

[Cha Yu-jin: The best! Let’s do it again!]

[Lee Se-jin: It was fun~]

‘It was fun for me too!’

The graduate student looked at it with a smile. It was a great ending!

And the moment I want the video to end.

The screen has changed.

[Testa: Ohhhh~]

Instead of outdoors, the members sitting at the table in a cozy room came out.

The members were clapping hard.

"… ??"

[Lee Se-jin: Did you enjoy the video, viewers!]

[Seon Ah-hyun: We just finished watching the first episode… !]

[Ryu Cheng-wu: And I'm sitting here to hear the main point.]

Liu Cheng-wu grinned. Cha Yoo-jin intervened.

[Cha Yoo-jin: Roommate!]

"Oh, that's right, roommate!"

I had been slowly forgetting about it. It seemed like an extra shot to explain this! The graduate student focused on the screen again.

[Park Moon-dae: They say they're announcing our room right now.]

[PD: Yes, everyone~]

The PD's voice jumped out in an instant, and the laughter of the staff and members echoed here and there.

[PD: Do you remember the type you received?]

[Testa: Yes!]

Testa showed her type and explanation to the camera once, holding the note in her hand as if she had just received it.

[PD: Perfect for that type at our Communication Research Institute! They paired roommates with people who complement each other!]

[The advertiser who gave us PPL is the magic that becomes us]

“Oh~”

The graduate students watched the video with excitement. That’s how you divided the type!

‘So who are you?’

[Lee Se-jin: Oh, I like whoever I write with! I hope you’ll let me know soon!]

[PD: Now, I’m revealing it!]

With Saejin Bae wishing for solitary confinement and Sejin Lee, carefree, the PD revealed the whiteboard.

[Bae Se-jin, Cha Yu-jin]

[Ryu Cheong-woo, Park Moon-dae]

[Seon Ah-hyun, Kim Rae-bin]

[Lee Se-jin]

It was a neat presentation.

“… ??”

And both inside and outside the screen were filled with questions.

[Raebin Kim: I don’t have any complaints about the room assignment, but weren’t they allocating similar types?] [

Sejin Bae: That’s right!]

None of the types matched!

However, PD said it naturally.

[PD: It’s not similar to Ei, it’s a ‘complementary’ personality!]

[!!!!]

[PD: Think about it, you have to have a different personality to complement it!]

[Ryu Chung-woo: Oh my God.]

And that they were caught again There was a moment of fuss among the members who realized it, but they soon accepted the reality and exchanged greetings with their new roommates.

The way he tried to hold back his laughter was like an entertainer.

Except for one person.

[Lee Se-jin: PD? What about me??]

[PD: Lee Se-jin… It is recommended to go to a solitary room in order to experience the action alone!]

[Lee Se-jin: Aaaah!]

Insider Lee Se-jin’s terrible pain gave a big laugh.

And while the graduate student laughed at the sight, he had no choice but to focus his attention elsewhere.

‘Oh good. It’s the same room as the leader!’

She is Moondae Park’s roommate.

[Cheongwoo Ryu, Moondae Park]

‘Are you okay?’

The graduate student finished his thoughts comfortably, saying that the two would get along well.

Of course, not everyone was like that.

-Ahhhhh the atmosphere must be awesome -As soon as they entered the house

, there were a few words coming out from behind the scenes because of the new roommate assignment, as if they were going to switch among themselves .

It’s because the fandom that was united against the new season of < Azusa > has not yet turned to bean powder.

The overall response was very good, as were the graduate students.

[Escape from Testa Zombie, which had a twist (including spoilers)]

Testa’s hiatus was maintaining its form without a downward trend.

And like it or not, contrary to predictions behind the scenes, they have already changed rooms.

* * *

[Big Sejin: I’m bored at Moondaemun University, I

‘m so sad in solitary confinement.]

The guy I secretly liked after being put in solitary confinement and saying that the character was chosen well has a long tongue.

[Then come out to the living room]

I quickly replied and tried to turn off the screen, but he was the first.

drooling.

[Big Sejin: Bakmundae should come to play haha The correct answer has been decided]

“… … .”

busy baby

[Sense of movement]

I shrugged and turned off the smartphone screen.

It wasn’t a lie. Because I really want to go out.

‘I need to build more body.’

During this hiatus, their own entertainment also had a good atmosphere, so they had to prepare for their comeback.

‘The part I’m worried about is… No.’

The type of lab that gave the PPL was involved in some kind of copyright controversy, but it didn’t matter because it wasn’t related to us.

‘I heard it’s similar to the personality classification method of a board game.’

This has been done, but what is more worrying is the other part.

“Are you going to exercise?”

I mean, I’m roommates with this guy.

“Um yes.”

I looked at Liu Qingyu and nodded.

I’m not as reluctant as before, but if you ask me if I’m comfortable at all… .

‘It’s kind of like that.’

In fact, there was an opinion to leave roommate entertainment as entertainment and completely change it, but I quickly withdrew it myself.

‘It’s a big risk.’

Wouldn’t it be better to be a little more careful than to be caught and rumors of a discord come out? And it’s not uncomfortable anymore, you’ll get used to it over time.

I decided to be more cooperative with my roommate.

Shall I add a meaningless explanation that I don’t usually do?

“But there are few places to go, so I’m thinking about it for a while.”

I think there are too many people to go to the promenade, and there must be too many people to go to the exercise facility.

‘Should I just go to work?’

It was the moment I was about to fall into trouble again.

“Ah, then let’s go together. I was going to go exercise just as well.”

“… ?”

Liu Qingyu smiled and got up from the desk.

“There is a place I often go to.”

… Well, I suddenly have a foreboding feeling.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 283

If you can't debut, you'll get a fatal disease Episode 283 The situation went as expected. But it was more comfortable than I thought.

A former national team member said it was a place he often went to, so I thought I would do something like riding the rock of hell.

"Are you okay here?"

"yes."

I moved my feet and looked around.

This was a hiking trail on the outskirts of Gyeonggi-do that we arrived at in less than an hour by car.

It didn't feel particularly well maintained, but the slope was not steep and it was worth walking.

'… Are you watching?'

I remember what this guy said the last time I was hiking on an uninhabited island.

-you… I'm already in a state of stamina due to the aftereffects. In the past, hiking like this would not have been so breathless.

It's a speculation with errors in many parts, but I decided to accept this situation without protesting.

'It's work-life balance rather than pride.'

But there is a curious point.

“But there really aren’t many people.”

The point is that there is no one in sight except for a few seniors.

Even on weekdays, you can see quite a few people climbing at this level.

“Ah, this side was under construction. see?”

Liu Chengyu pointed with his hand to the small river on the left.

Nets and construction materials are scattered along the road.

“So most of them seem to be going in the opposite direction. They say the roads are better paved there.”

“ah.”

“Well, in the first place, since it was a mountain in the neighborhood, there weren’t that many people coming. There are no mineral springs or rocks.”

“You know that.”

“This is where I lived when I was young.”

Liu Qingyu smiled shyly.

“The archery field I used to go to is nearby, so I’ve been coming here ever since I moved.”

“… … .”

A guy who couldn’t even shoot properly due to aftereffects had to come near his regular archery range… done.

‘He’s not even in a position to be sympathized with.’

I just nodded moderately.

“I think the facilities were good.”

“It’s more of a memory than that.”

Liu Qingyu was silent for a moment, then spoke again a beat later.

“I think it will be okay to come with the kids next time. The boss is kind.”

If you cut this out and reject it, you will be the one who threw your sociality into the fire.

“So what.”

“good.”

Liu Qingyu smiled.

“After the tour was over, we didn’t have to go out and play, but it went well. Even when you guys left a few days ago, I had a schedule.”

ah. That’s it.

I remembered that some of the members went out on time for Sun Ah-hyun’s birthday.

At that time, Ryu Chung-woo and a few others had separate schedules so couldn’t go.

“I didn’t do anything. There are too many people.”

“Haha, I heard you even left a proof shot for something like that?”

I twitched my eyebrows as I recalled the Polaroid that Sejin Keun had left after escaping from the room.

-Testa Friendship Forever☆ 5/7

Happy Birthday Ahyeon!

That's how I thought the article would be posted on the Internet… I'd be lying if I said I didn't know, but the fans liked it anyway, so that's okay.

"I left that behind and returned to the dorm right away. People are flocking to it."

"I see. I'm sure this job is rewarding, but I think that's the hard part. It makes going out difficult."

"Yes."

I jogged lightly along the road and shrugged.

"But even if I hadn't done this, I think my brother would have been the same. What about the national archery team?"

"what? haha!"

Ryu Cheng-wu stopped laughing after quite some time.

"that's right. That kind of thing doesn't suit me very well. I guess I can't help it."

Ryu Cheng-wu's tone sounded cool, not lamentation or grumbling. It's also proof of success.

'It's a worry that only a winner can do.'

Ryu Cheng-wu and I continued to run on the hiking trails outside the area we found because of the side effects of the winner.

And it was only after a while that I realized something was wrong.

"Whoa."

This is because the slope gets steeper as you go up. I took a few deep breaths and realized that my stamina bar, which had grown quite a bit, was more than half worn.

‘If it were me, I’d definitely be above the average adult male.’

Besides, looking around, it seems that there are not many people who go up here.

… Moreover, we are the only ones running up.

And then I realized

‘I was tricked.’

From a flat walk, the angle was cleverly steepened to keep climbing like a frog in boiling water… .

The flat hiking trail was a bait, not a consideration. I held back a groan.

Hey, Liu Cheng-wu is not an idiot. He saw me working out like that, so of course he would know that his stamina has increased.

‘You played well… .’

It seemed like it would take quite a while even if I didn’t see it to the top.

However, even if I complained, it would only hurt my social status and it seemed that I would not be able to descend, so I decided to just shut up and move my feet.

It’s not like I can’t.

‘Let’s exercise once.’

I silently looked up and moved.

how long has it been like that

I felt a hand tap on my shoulder.

“Moondae, over there.”

“Whoa what… … .”

It’s still a long way to get there.

I raised my head and followed the guy’s hand.

“… … .”

The midday city spread out in front of me.

Winding mountains, mountain fortresses, rivers that descend below them, and dense building complexes.

It was a colorful spring city.

swish

The wind blew. The mountain air whips your nose.

It was nice to see.

“Are you fine?”

Liu Qingyu said calmly.

“There is nothing more to go up. It looked the best so far. … I quit archery and went up every day while preparing for this job, and then I knew.”

“… … .”

I stood on the railing looking at the scenery.

‘I didn’t mean to go to the top.’

this is true

“how is it? A little bit of motivation… not good? Rather than just exercising, I did.”

“yes. It’s possible.”

I was certain Secured routes Anticipated hardships Certain rewards.

It’s not my taste, but hiking might be a good hobby.

“Well, I’m glad.”

I leaned against the railing with him and slowly looked down the mountain.

And after enough time had passed, Ryu Cheng-wu opened his mouth.

“Shall we go down?”

“I see.”

I felt very refreshed.

I tried to stretch, but eventually came up with the words that came to my mind when I saw the hiking trail.

“brother.”

“huh?”

“Everything is good, but I had to do anaerobic muscle training.”

“ah.”

As soon as I saw the hiking trail, I just didn’t say anything because I thought I wouldn’t believe it if I refused.

Ryu Cheng-wu replied with a shy face.

“Because it’s uphill… You must have used your strength.”

“… … .”

Rationalization once professional. i get it.

I did not have any particular complaints when I descended. And I agreed with Ryu Cheng-wu's words, 'Let's come for a run sometimes'.

'The intensity of the exercise is appropriate, and it would be nice to try it while being roommates.'

* * *

After 2 weeks of changing rooms like that. Not only us, but the new owners of the rooms have all adjusted to their own circumstances.

"Would you like some?"

"Oh yes."

For example, Bae Se-jin surprisingly less often confined himself to the living room. Now, he only avoids Cha Yu-jin during the day.

"A bit noisy at night, but as long as you have ear plugs, no problem!"

Bae Se-jin once said that he became a flower. Unexpectedly, Cha Yoo-jin respects her roommate's individualistic tendencies.

'Is it because he's an American?'

Of course, that also has its limits.

"Occasionally, if we just play games or watch videos together, it's quiet when we sleep… ."

I calmly told the truth.

"That won't last long."

"what?"

"If talking doesn't work, I'll shake your shoulder soon."

"… … ."

“Congratulations on becoming nocturnal.”

Bae Se-jin looked at his room with a blank face.

And the one who is alone in solitary confinement… I live a good life going from room to room.

“Hey, you’ve become best friends with Chungwoo hyung from Mundae~ Are you going to exercise tomorrow as well?”

Is this room today? I answered loudly to Se-jin, who was playing on his smartphone on Ryu Cheng-wu’s bed.

“what… Since we’re roommates, we’re both together. If you want to go, go too.”

“Ah~ I’m not that ignorant! Have a good workout~”

“… … .”

Sejin didn’t bother to add another word, but he couldn’t figure out what it meant.

‘I’m asking you to take this opportunity to completely change the atmosphere.’

It’s because there are people who still ruminate on how my attitude toward Ryu Chung-woo was X-like when he was filming his summer package.

Even with the roommate assignment this time, it seems like I’m just scratching my head, but there’s no need to leave such a spark in the fandom that has barely come together.

‘It should look comfortable just by looking at it.’

They are the ones who even motivate me in the yard where I thought I should get along anyway.

I waved to Sejin and went to wash up.

And hiking the next day.

“Do you want to climb to the top today? Just for testing.”

Liu Cheng-wu made a new proposal. He didn’t say anything while climbing, so he must have thought about that.

‘Well, it’s okay to go up at least once.’

The period of leisurely outdoor exercise was slowly coming to an end.

Now is the time to really focus on preparing for a comeback.

I nodded immediately after calculating my remaining stamina.

“I see.”

“good.”

And we are at 4pm. At an odd time, I started walking towards the top.

The slope was steeper, so I didn’t have to run, so it was worth it.

When it went up about forty more minutes like that.

looked normal.

“after.”

There was no one above it. Me and Ryu Cheng-wu picked up a little more speed and moved at one tempo to the summit.

“It’s been a while.”

Liu Qingyu stood holding onto the wooden fence next to the sign, and I stood next to it and looked down.

And I confirmed that what Ryu Cheng-wu said on the first day of the mountain climbing was right.

“It certainly looks better there.”

The view from the top was not as nice as the one seen from the middle of the hill. Of course, as high as it is, there is an overwhelming feeling…

“Yeah.”

Liu Qingyu looked at the scenery and nodded. Then he took a bottle of water from his backpack and drank it.

I also took out my own and drank, and there was a peaceful silence for a while.

Well, it’s definitely more comfortable than before.

“… … .”

“It’s Moondae.”

“yes.”

“Is it okay if I ask you something?”

“Yes what. Do it.”

I answered without much hesitation.

Liu Cheng-wu opened his mouth slowly, keeping his gaze fixed on the scenery.

“actually… I asked a few more times among the people you talked about while watching the family video during Chuseok last year.”

“… !”

“That ‘Ryu Gun-woo’.”

I almost got caught drinking water.

I quickly lowered the bucket and set up a hypothesis.

‘Did he know the location?’

“Maybe the whereabouts… ?”

“Um no. sorry but that wasn’t the case just… I just got to hear a little bit about his past.”

“… … .”

“Everyone in my family except myself got into an accident on a trip to my parents’ house, and it must have been a car accident and a fire.”

After taking a break, Ryu Cheng-wu continued speaking calmly enough to be artificial.

“And that electron… It’s like that car accident that left me with aftereffects.”

X feet.

I drank another glass of water on a topic I didn’t like very much.

‘If the family members don’t know where they are, they’ll just say they don’t know and end it.’

Why are you doing this… I will turn

However, Liu Qingyu’s words were not over.

“And you know what Moondae is?”

what.

“… It’s not your parents’ car accident. You crashed the plane.”

“… … .”

what?

“Actually, the article tried to go out last year, but the company blocked it. It might come as a shock to you, so I only discussed it with me briefly, and it was just after you were discharged.”

I looked up.

“But you… Trauma from traffic accidents and fire situations. Not an airplane.”

Liu Cheng-wu took his eyes off the scenery before he knew it and was looking at me.

“That’s the story of Ryu Gun-woo you’ve been looking for.”

“… … .”

“Mundae. Who are you looking for?”

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 284

Episode 284 Cold

sweats flowed down.

No, it was the sweat shed while hiking, but it might have felt cool because of the situation.

Because it's completely X.

'A plane accident?'

It's the first time I've heard of it.

'organize… From tidying up.'

There was no way for me to find out exactly why Park Moon-dae's parents died.

… It was because Park Moon-dae had already removed all the studios and organized his belongings.

I was able to check only the parents' names and ages, but just in case, I searched the article several times by the area of residence and first name, but no accident came out.

'Then it's a common incident that won't become a big topic… .'

Doesn't a car accident naturally remind you? So I also let someone misunderstand like that.

For example, Ryu Cheng-wu.

-I brought up the aftermath of a traffic accident… It must have sounded full.

Because I thought the probability was high and even if it wasn't, there would be no one to prove it.

However, a completely new accident emerged as the cause, breaking through the odds.

And I… I rode the X-flying plane just fine and went skydiving.

"… … ."

Damn.

I swallowed, realizing that I still had water in my mouth.

The canteen was almost empty. It sounds like an electronic watch on your wrist.

The time I'm delaying until I answer.

– Tick.

'Excuses… There is nothing reasonably useful.'

In fact, it is a quandary.

Everything from the traffic accident and the overreaction to Ryu Chung-woo's accident to the fire fit so exquisitely with the story of 'Ryu Gun-woo'.

And either way, it doesn't hurt to say that something that has already been confirmed as fact is not true.

'I'm almost certain of this guy now.'

That's a story I came up with after revisiting the cud a few times after figuring out that my words and actions, even the past of Park Moon-dae, didn't match at all.

I slowly closed the canteen and rolled my head quickly.

Kun-Woo Ryu and Moon-Dae Park.

– Tick.

“… … .”

okay. If you set up a hypothesis as realistically as possible, is there anything you can draw out?

‘All you have to do is add one more psychiatric disease to amnesia.’

The psychopathological explanation that Park Moon-dae mistook Ryu Kun-woo’s situation for his own.

It is said that he was confused in the process of recovering his memories because he was greatly helped by ‘Ryu Gun-woo’ and had a lot of emotional exchanges.

‘however… The moment I make an excuse with this, isn’t it the same as going to the hospital?’

It is a level of activity cessation. This… It would be better to talk about the status window.

‘No, let’s explain that there is a status window that is not visible to others? What bullshit.’

It would be fortunate if this was only misunderstood as a delusion.

‘Either way, only the spirit and the ending are visible.’

all dismissed.

– Tick.

In the meantime, time is running out.

Liu Chengwu is still looking this way. There is no countdown when you can feel their gaze.

‘You brought this bastard to the top on purpose.’

He had run out of stamina and had driven to a point where there were no other guys and no other factors to ease the situation.

And there is a limit to turning off the time right now, but I can’t come up with a particularly amazing countermeasure in my head.

‘There’s no way X’s will come up.’

It’s all blocked.

– Tick.

I can’t. rub it once

I don’t remember the plane crash, and there is only a vague image of a fire caused by an explosion and a moving accident, causing misunderstandings… .’ But the other guy hit first.

… is a party

“I can’t help it if it’s difficult to talk.”

“… … !”

“Tell me if you like.”

Liu Chengyu said this in a calm tone and put his canteen in his bag.

And I lightly turned my back.

“Then shall we go down?”

That was it. Ryu Cheng-wu moved slowly.

I shut my mouth and followed him down the mountain.

But the tension remained. Because I knew the answer was just delayed.

Besides, now I have to come up with a reason why I couldn't answer right away.

'driving me crazy.'

That's how the fucking uncomfortable dorm room life began.

* * *

And a few days later.

"you… What are you doing?"

2AM. Bae Se-jin, who came out to drink water, saw me sitting on the sofa in the living room and almost fell over.

"I can't sleep."

"then… You can go in and lie down."

"I don't like it very much."

Bae Se-jin looked at me with his mouth wide open, and I turned away from his gaze.

It must be ridiculous that I touched the baton with him.

However, in this situation, I wonder if there will be a person with enough nerves to enter the room and go to bed comfortably at the same time.

After being pointed out by your roommate about the contradictions in your life, you were given an answer at the end of the day.

And the ominous serenity of not even mentioning the topic for days.

‘It’s not the eye of a typhoon.’

I’d rather be the crazy guy who says he’s lying every time he opens his mouth. What are you thinking?

‘Damn it.’

I sighed and leaned back on the sofa.

Still, sleeping in the living room would be too obvious, so I thought about going in when my head cools down a bit.

‘It seems that procrastinating at the level of sleep only works if you put your head on.’

But Bae Se-jin seems to have had a different idea.

He looked at me with a mysterious expression, then changed to a face that realized something.

And asked with a slightly expectant face.

“Park Moon-dae, you and me… Would you like to change rooms?”

hey.

“No, it’s not that I don’t want to use my room, it’s because you look bad!”

I see you inside

I thought for a bit, then held my breath. And he shook his head.

“I have no intention of changing.”

“… okay?”

“yes. If anything, you’ll be fine.”

It should be fine.

If you make a comeback and shoot content after being in this state, it will be smashed again. It's just that the summer package's nightmare builds up like this.

'So I have to look for a solution.'

no method. An explanation that Ryu Cheng-wu could understand.

I put my head on the sofa. taste was bitter.

Sae-Jin Bae drank a glass of water as intended, and then quietly came to her side.

"Great Ryu Cheong-woo… He's a good kid."

"… yes. I know."

"Oh yes. you also! A good kid!"

"… … ."

I'm going to break someone, man.

Bae Se-jin lowered the volume with his ears open, and after clearing his throat a few times, he spoke in a quieter voice.

"Although there are people who don't get along well… I'm saying this because you don't seem to be like that."

"… … ."

"Just tell him honestly if you feel uncomfortable with him. Don't stay out of the living room."

I sighed a little and then laughed.

"It sounds like advice from experience."

"okay."

I thought he would be surprised, but Bae Se-jin surprisingly nodded seriously.

“It’s because I’m more comfortable in the living room, but you don’t seem to be very comfortable in the living room.”

“… … .”

“You want to get along well with Chungwoo. Then he… I’m a bit of a normal kid, so just listen when I say it.”

I’m sorry, but it’s the opposite situation. he’ll make me uncomfortable

I shook my head. Even if I say something like this, it’s like putting this guy in a situation that’s difficult to understand.

Let’s just say it well and send it back.

“I will try. Thank you for your help.”

“I’m glad if that’s the case. Good night.”

“yes. Have a good night too.”

Bae Se-jin walked into the room with his shoulders straight. I thought I had solved one thing.

Is this because he acted as an older brother?

Watching it made me feel a little lighter. I laughed and suddenly remembered what Bae Se-jin said.

‘Ryu Cheng-wu just listens to what he says… la.’

“… … .”

I lay down in the living room and reviewed my thoughts.

This time, I did not focus on finding an explanation that would not be strange even if I did it.

Instead, the focus was on ‘what Ryu Cheng-wu wanted to hear’.

Arrange the series of things he went through before asking this question in chronological order to fit the frame.

“… … .”

and a few hours later

“after.”

A conclusion has been drawn.

It’s a bit funny, but Bae Se-jin’s role as an older brother really worked.

I made a proposal to Ryu Cheng-wu in the car on the way back from the recording schedule that day.

* * *

My suggestion was simple.

– How about exercising on Thursday morning?

-In the morning?

-Yes, we only had time then.

Now that time is spent getting ready for a comeback, body care is mostly back to diet and fast, intense calorie-burning routines.

As expected, it means that I don’t have time to exercise leisurely, but this offer means that I will spend the few meals and breaks a week on exercise.

Liu Qingyu looked a bit puzzled, but soon nodded.

– Yes, it’s fine.

And now that it was time for the appointment and he came out to exercise, he seemed a little surprised.

“Are you okay here?”

“sure.”

It was because it was the same hiking trail that I had been tired of for the past few weeks.

“Let’s go.”

I didn’t have time to say more, so I immediately started running lightly.

“hook.”

It is now closer to early summer and the mountains are getting hotter.

There must have been people climbing in the morning, but thanks to the weather, there were fewer people and it was still quiet.

So it was rather good.

‘Because no one will listen.’

I stopped on the middle of the mountain where few people were.

Of course, it’s not just because people stopped.

“hmm?”

“As you said, I don’t think you need to go all the way to the top. It was best to see it here.”

“Oh yeah?”

Liu Qingyu looked a little embarrassed, but soon nodded. And I turned my gaze to the landscape.

“It has grown thicker.”

“Iknow, right.”

I tuned in for a moment, looked at the superb view, and then caught my breath.

And timed it.

‘I would have guessed it had come this far.’

It was because he gave me time to prepare my mind by coming to the exact route he asked me to ask.

No, I would have guessed from the point I suddenly suggested exercise in the first place.

‘The answer to the contradiction pointed out by you.’

Sure enough, Liu Chengyu slowly opened his mouth.

“… Um, do you have something you want to say?”

I shook my head.

I didn’t come up with what I wanted to say because I came up with an excuse that fits the situation well enough to turn the situation around.

What I thought of after hearing Bae Se-jin’s words last night was something else.

“I have nothing to say… I have something to say.”

It’s just right.

Ryu Cheng-wu had the right to receive an answer to this question.

‘This guy convinced me that I was giving a shit to him because I was reminded of my parents’ accident and moved on.’

Even after that, he said that he suddenly remembered, and cooperated without opposition to my actions to find ‘Ryu Gun-woo’. Simply because you might know that you are a relative.

However, the reasons and explanations I gave while I was there were all inconsistent.

‘It’s to the extent that I’m not angry.’

This guy didn’t dig anything. Being caught up in it, I only noticed a seemingly deceptive contradiction.

‘Honestly, even if I found an appropriate excuse here, the moment another contradiction comes out, it’s over… .’

At that point, it means that it’s a group, it’s Nabal, and there’s nothing strange about losing me.

Even after he figured out the situation, he waited with his mouth shut for quite a while until he got the timing right.

Maybe until the time when I recover my physical strength and mentality.

‘What I dared to say at the top was this, let’s just do some exercise and refresh ourselves and then talk quietly… .’

This was neither malicious nor intrusive.

So, at least, I thought I should tell you at least the sincerity that removed the unreality of the reset and the status window… that a conclusion has been drawn.

‘Whether that makes sense is another matter.’

Either way, there is no convincing explanation. So if a person has a fucking conscience, he should do this much.

I sighed and spoke slowly.

“brother.”

“huh.”

“now… I know that words and situations may not seem right.”

I reflexively put my hand in my pocket, then removed it when I realized I was no longer smoking.

and spoke slowly

“I have never lied.”

“… … .”

“what… Even if I try to explain, I’m not in a situation that I understand very much… Oh, it’s not a mental problem. It’s not like you mistook me for someone else or identified with me.”

This bastard, with the best intentions, will send me to a mental hospital if I mess with it. I held back a sigh and brushed the back of my neck.

“just… I acted the way I did.”

Liu Cheng-wu did not refute. I continued talking.

“It is true that traffic accidents and fires are inconvenient for me because of my parents’ accident. Of course, hyung might think that I gave a shit about the reasons that weren’t true during the summer package, but… .”

“for a moment.”

Liu Qingyu cut off his words with a slightly embarrassed expression.

And he smiled bitterly.

“It’s Moondae. I think there is some misunderstanding… I’m not going to distrust you or question you.”

what?

“When is the summer package? No one who sees you at that time will ever say that the pain was made up. I don’t think you lied.”

I blankly listened to what he was saying.

“and… You saved my life when you almost died. It’s a fact that will never change. yes?”

that… .

“Who is going to be angry with a lifesaver if he doesn’t speak well? Don’t worry about that.”

Liu Qingyu slowly added his words.

“What I want to ask is this. Mundae.”

“… … .”

“Do you need help right now?”

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 285

If you can't debut, you'll get a fatal disease Episode 285

The most unexpected… No, I heard the opposite of what I expected.

'Do you need help?'

So I'm not trying to argue why the facts don't match at all, but I'm worried about what's wrong with me… .

'Is it for creating an atmosphere?'

I raised my head to read Ryu Cheng-wu's expression.

And that idea was withdrawn. Liu Qingyu's face was clean.

yeah he's not that guy

That's what I said because I really wanted to help.

"… … after."

… I was bewildered.

'I didn't expect help stories to come out in this situation.'

It seems that Liu Cheng-wu had continued to think that he was indebted to me for the car accident.

'I didn't consider that part in particular.'

Come to think of it, before, I even organized it with my mouth to say ‘thank you’.

I remembered what I said to Ryu Chung-woo, who seemed to be suffering from a sense of debt at the time of the uninhabited island distress entertainment.

-is it so. Well, let’s say I saved my brother’s life.

-… !

– You can be very grateful in the future. If necessary, I will call you without hesitation, so please repay me.

Liu Cheng-wu really did what he said.

‘… I was climbing at this time too.’

It was kind of funny to get a similar comment in the same situation.

“hmm.”

I put my arms over the railing and smiled bitterly.

I sorted it out… I feel more strange. A helping hand instead of doubt.

‘It’s rare.’

I was shaking. But it wasn’t bad.

I answered slowly.

“first… thank you.”

“… … .”

“You said so. It’s an upsetting situation.”

“That’s not right.”

Liu Cheng-wu answered firmly, and himself leaned comfortably with his arms on the railing.

“You didn’t lie, and I wasn’t harmed, so why are you angry?”

It’s surprising that you believe I didn’t lie.

I was about to sink into a strange feeling, but I quickly got out.

Because there is still something left to answer.

“And my situation is actually difficult for me to understand or explain… It’s not necessarily so hard that you need help.”

I pondered over my situation.

I had success with this job, and the status ailments disappeared… The guys I live with are all good guys.

I live fine.

‘No, it’s too much.’

Taking risks is the destiny of this job. And compared to sudden death, there is a context.

“All the difficult things have passed. Now just… I’m having a hard time buying it. I’m trying to find out why the contradictions you mentioned came about.”

just… Now, I don’t know why I came into this body and do this, so I had to know the truth.

‘If we don’t know the cause, we don’t know when this situation will change again.’

Liu Qingyu nodded.

“That’s why you need the whereabouts of ‘Ryu Gun-woo’.”

I like this look again.

“Yes. So my brother is already helping.”

Ryu Cheng-wu laughed.

“okay. Don’t worry about that part, I’ll do everything I can. Anything else?”

“Fine… .”

Oh there is one

“I have to ride the target this time, so please cooperate with me.”

You can get the reward for the mission ‘Conversation with Moondae Park’ if you are the target.

“what?”

Liu Cheng-wu finally looked as if he had been beaten, and soon smiled comfortably.

“That’s what our team should originally be aiming for.”

“Iknow, right.”

Not asking the reason for all this nonsense… It’s probably because of the misunderstanding that it was meant to turn a joke-cum-conversation back into orbit.

‘Even if I misunderstand like that, I don’t have anything to explain.’

But what should I say… There was a strange sense of liberation from just saying it so openly.

The strength in my shoulders was gone.

“good. I will work harder.”

“thank you.”

I laughed with him and looked at the scenery of the road. The middle of the mountain without people was quiet.

“It’s a bit hot, but the weather is nice.”

“yes.”

The heat was greater than the comfort, but I didn’t bother pointing it out.

Even after that, Ryu Cheong-woo did not ask for more detailed circumstances and reasons.

I only checked one thing while descending.

“Ryu Gun-woo’s circumstances match yours… Isn’t that a coincidence?”

“yes.”

“okay.”

That was all. With that said, this topic is over.

‘Isn’t it stuffy?’

If it were me, I would have judged on my own whether I understood it or not, so I would have yelled at him to steal everything I knew, but it was an amazing composure.

Instead, Ryu Chung-woo ended the conversation with, “I said it’s not now, but if you need help in the future, feel free to tell me.”

Even that wasn’t the end.

“Moondae, can you speak more comfortably?”

These were the words of Ryu Cheong-wu, who was driving on the way back to his lodging after descending the mountain.

“Thinking about it, I’m not even in the athletes’ village yet, so I must have been very strict about being polite.”

“no. You can.”

It sounds like a big deal.

“It would have looked bad to people if I had said anything at all. There may be some controversy.”

If it was like that right after debut… Um, Park Gommo must have been brutally beaten for ignoring the leader for being number one.

However, Liu Cheng-wu did not give up.

“Um, yes. So how do we do this? Just use respect and don’t be too formal. I think you can just add ‘Yo’.”

Why?

However, there was a corner where I could guess why he said that.

I finally smiled and answered.

“Is that so? brother.”

“haha.”

I didn’t particularly play music in the car on the way back, but I didn’t mind the silence.

And I realized that my problem was solved.

‘… There won’t be a repeat of the summer package controversy.’

That’s how I got used to my new roommate.

But when one problem is solved, another problem arises.

* * *

After the conversation with Ryu Chung-woo, Dawn was digesting the insanely tight comeback preparation schedule again.

[VTIC Senior Senior: Do you not exercise?]

A sudden call came.

‘Why is this guy useless texting… .’

[VTIC Senior Senior: (Puppy photo)]

I checked a picture of a dog happily walking on the promenade of an apartment building that I was familiar with.

Dogs are familiar too. To be exact, I met him while jogging in the fog at dawn.

‘Come to think of it, I never went for a walk there after that.’

I couldn’t believe it even after I said it, but I forgot to go hiking.

I typed a rough reply with one unadorned hand.

[I switched to a different exercise]

[Vtic senior Chong Ryeo: That’s right. I didn’t see it, so I called. I’m done with today too]

It means that I can resume my early morning walk without worrying about meeting this bastard. It’s good news, but I’m busy preparing for a comeback, so I can’t go out anyway… .

‘Wait a minute, you’re saying this bastard can’t come over there either?’

That means… .

I threw the most nerve-wracking of several possibilities with a fastball.

[Are you ready for a comeback?]

The breaking ball is back.

[VTIC Senior Shin Cheong-ryeo: I'm always preparing for an album ^^]

'X-footed.'

These bastards are making a comeback now. It's obvious to see you talking like this.

'How will the term be?'

I quickly shook my head.

This year, we made a comeback in January and these guys in February.

It's the end of May now… Then, looking at this bastard's nuance, it means that VTIC will make a comeback around June.

'Then it's a four-month term… It's perfect for a repackage in that weight class.'

Usually when a repackage is released, sales tend to drop compared to the previous album.

It is an album that comes out with only one or two songs added to the previous regular album, so there is little purchasing merit and the term is short, so it is burdensome for consumers to spend a lot of money.

But 4 months is enough.

'There is almost no damage at this level.'

It's almost the normal activity level of a rookie, and since the quality of VTIC's album is so well-known, everyone who buys it will buy it.

And it's made like this… .

‘This is what I won’t lose in annual performance.”

Since the Maginot Line is a comeback early in the third quarter, it must have been planned since the beginning of this year.

‘It means that I have to put in half a year’s grades.’

At the same time, I am confident in this repackage.

“… … .”

It must be tough. I smiled bitterly.

“He had the same plan as us.”

Because we are aiming for a comeback this summer for exactly the same reason.

“Mr. Moondae, I’ll go in for a shot right now!”

“yes.”

I put down my smartphone and followed the staff. But my head was spinning.

“Slightly oblique to the front… Yes. That will be fine.”

And we came to a conclusion while taking album concept photos.

‘Don’t overlap the moon like this.’

We also have the Maginot Line in July. If possible, make a comeback as scheduled in June so that you can eat together for at least one month.

However, after a while, the emergency news that came through the company’s emergency contact network was the exact opposite of my hopes.

“… It’s July.”

-Yeah.

The wheezing of a planning team employee who was holding back his lust could be heard over the handed over phone of Ryu Cheng-wu. I held back a sigh.

It is said that the news of VTIC's comeback in July has been spread throughout the news, just two days after the day I texted Cheongryeo.

["King of KPOP" VTIC comeback in July… Countdown to album reservations]

It was sealed without Cardo and then opened.

"… … ."

okay. Let's think of it a little better… Still, it was also something that broke off early, roughly a month and a half later.

It must also mean that if you don't want to be eaten by those in your weight class, you should avoid them.

'It's tingling.'

Our company's sealing skills must be heinous, so our comeback schedule must have already been exhausted through T1.

'Then, whether you put it off until September or take off your rank insignia, let's stick to it?'

Do you want to do such a dangerous thing?

"You know that we are making a comeback in July, right?"

-… no. You probably know it as June. Because our first article went like that… .

"… … ."

Right.

It seems that when T1 mentioned the testa activity plan while unraveling stock-related presentations and articles, it was announced as June out of June or July, which was the scheduled month at the time.

June was the second quarter, so I felt different when I composed the PPT.'

It was a common trick.

And if VTIC's agency, LeTi, thought we were in June and caught it, maybe VTIC's comeback… It will be at the end of July.

Worse. They can really overlap.

"I understand for now."

I hung up the phone with a cold head and returned it to Liu Chengyu. Anyway, I was on the move again, so I couldn't talk any more.

"Brother here."

"okay."

And what this means is that the members are listening to the phone call next to me.

"Are you overlapping with our VTIC seniors again?"

"uh."

"after."

Big Sejin sighed and smiled bitterly. The other guys are also nervous.

And it was well worth it. Because it's a reenactment of the nightmare that was released at the same time as our debut.

At that time, I somehow managed to win first place, but when I think about the hardships I had, people usually feel helpless.

“Umm~ OK!”

Oh, except for that guy.

And Bae Se-jin intervened in a tone of frustration.

“If it’s that burdensome, can’t we postpone it a bit? August is fine too.”

“If I go to that extent, I think I will lose money in my year-end grades.”

If you exceed the beginning of the third quarter, you lose too much on the music score at the end of the year.

Then you can only focus on the album target, but that’s… Already being pushed by VTIC.

A decision was needed.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 286

If you can't debut, you'll get a fatal disease Episode 286

"Shall we start with tidying up?"

"OK."

"yes!"

Sejin Keun started writing down the topic on a whiteboard in one of the conference rooms.

It was an emergency meeting that started in a hurry after midnight.

[Testa's comeback date]

It's scheduled for a comeback that overlaps exquisitely with VTIC.

'Originally, the agency decides these things on its own, and it's normal for idols with this level of seniority to not have authority… .'

After going through various circumstances and coming to my senses, we are all involved.

It's what I intended, and it's more comfortable to do this. If someone else decides and our album fails, I'll go crazy.

"first of all… Right now, our comeback date is here."

Big Sejin drew a long line with the date and marked it at the beginning of the July scale.

Monday, July 5th. This is the day that was set as the original comeback date.

“It was a choice that allowed me to put all of the results from July, August and September into the 3rd quarter awards! Hey~ It’s good to see who picked it, right?”

It was a date unanimously agreed upon by the company and the members. I nodded.

“And I think VTIC thought the same.”

“… !”

Of course you wouldn’t. If it was July, I would have made the most efficient choice.

Sun Ah-hyun cautiously opened her mouth.

“Well then… Did you pick the same date… ?”

“Maybe the standard is Billboard, so it will be a little different.”

The days of the week that are fully reflected on the billboard… . Big Sejin is already writing on the whiteboard.

[VTIC senior comeback date]

[Billboard is Friday!]

“Friday! If so, it must be Friday, July 2nd~”

“Hmm.”

It’s only 3 days from our comeback.

July 2nd and July 5th.

The two points taken on the date line by Keun Se-jin looked filthy close. Here and there other guys stared at the whiteboard with serious faces.

Except for one guy, of course.

“Is there a problem? Don’t you want to meet our VTIC seniors?”

It’s Cha Yoo-jin.

Of course, at the very next moment, a guy who marked Cha Yu-jin one-on-one came out.

“Cha Yujin It’s not such a personal problem! You’re talking about both teams losing out on a lot of metrics calculated in relative possession!”

Kim Rae-bin triumphantly boasts of the calculation method he realized while preparing for this comeback.

You’re making good use of what you’ve known for less than a month.’

To put it in an easy-to-understand way, no matter how much you sell, it’s the same period, so if you look at it as a percentage, you’ll be sharing a pie.

‘I have to lose impact and short-term results.’

However, Cha Yu-jin was sceptical.

“no! We got first place last time! I don’t have any problem. We can do our stage!”

“last time?”

“Our debut album!”

Ah, the debut album that dragged on for weeks to reach #1 on the digital charts.

‘Actually, isn’t that the equivalent of robbing VTIC from going on tour?’

In fact, the timing worked out amazingly well. It usually didn't go that way.

There are refutations here and there as if they had similar thoughts.

"That was just luck."

"Ah, that's right. To be honest, it's a bit different since we didn't win first place as soon as we came out~"

Ryu Chung-wu gently admonishes Cha Yoo-jin.

"What Ravin means is that you don't have to take the road too hard. Both you and I are uncomfortable with each other."

I don't need to open my mouth for this.

"Boo… … ."

Cha Yu-jin reluctantly accepted the majority decision.

'Then, except for Cha Yu-jin… Does everyone want to change?'

I looked around and organized my thoughts.

possible way.

"First of all, it is difficult to hasten a comeback. There is also a music video schedule."

"That's right, we also draw our teasers separately. No matter how much I pull it, a week seems to be the limit."

And if you try to pull it, if you get a week of music broadcasting, VTIC will push in and it's over.

"okay. So the main thing to consider is to postpone it… ."

Liu Cheng-wu carefully added his words.

“The company said August or September.”

“Mmm.”

Are you losing more than one month until the end of the year?

‘It’s still difficult to beat VTIC, so I think it’s dangerous.’

Still, it is a stable choice in terms of avoiding a greater risk. At least we can get 1st place on a music show for about 2-3 weeks.

But I was in trouble.

‘I should avoid making choices that damage the route to the destination.’

Here, I want to choose a date that will benefit the Daesang more than winning first place on a music show.

But this… You can speak only when there is a clear alternative.

‘Usually, I just choose August and end it here.’

I shook my head to get my words out before the trend hardened in that direction.

It was then.

“But I don’t want to put it off that long.”

“… !”

Ryu Cheng-wu spoke first.

“Really?”

“Why why?”

“It would be nice to easily win first place on a music show right now, but in the long run, I thought it would be better if we went the way we planned.”

The guy smiled coolly.

“I have to try for the grand prize this year.”

no way.

‘that… .’

“Ohhh brother!”

“It is a wonderful aspiration.”

“I like that too!”

The response was good because it was said by a guy who doesn’t usually say things like that.

And I was convinced after eye contact with him.

‘He pushes me properly.’

He took my words that he had to ride the target seriously.

‘good.’

Then it was definitely easier for me to speak out.

“Then, if we think in the direction of preserving our existing schedule as much as possible… Let’s analyze the expected performance.”

I started organizing with a pen on paper instead of the whiteboard occupied by Sejin Keun.

“First of all, VTIC sunbae-nim’s term for the album is shorter than ours and it’s a repackage, so it won’t rise dramatically.”

Even if you didn’t add the word annual leave, you would have known.

“Then, let’s set it to 1.93 million based on the previous work.”

A terrifying number.

“yes. And we… .”

If you catch Testa’s first move well, you can expect up to 1.3 million.

In fact, this is also crazy sales.

‘It’s not even a dog’s name for a million.’

Still, there are unavoidable differences.

“… If you cut it to 1.3 million, it will be difficult to keep up with the album.”

“Um…”

But it doesn’t end here.

“However, we tend to produce better sound sources.”

“Oh right.”

Testa had an advantage over other male idols. popularity.

This is thanks to the fact that while adhering to a conceptual concept, he released an easy-listening song at least once every two times and caught a few well-known solo entertainment shows.

‘Of course, I can’t deny that the virtue of starting with ‘Azusa’ is huge.’

Anyway, that’s why the sound source is also worth looking forward to for long-term results.

“So, if no other big singers come along, when we and the VTIC seniors came out together, I missed the first start, and from the second week onwards… .”

oh wait

If you go like this… .

“… !”

“Why Moondae?”

I went through what I had written down. And I realized

‘I see.’

I saw a point that I couldn’t see because I was buried in the fact that I suffered from simultaneous releases at the time of my debut.

now we… It wasn’t a debut.

I spat out the answer almost unconsciously.

“We go in with VTIC tails.”

“Uh huh?”

“We only need to postpone it for one week. then… .”

Bae Se-jin intervened.

“Wait, then it’s the same as when we debuted.”

that’s the point

“no. The case is the same, but the circumstances are different.”

I turned the paper towards Bae Se-jin.

“After the VTIC Initial Chodong, the second week’s volume, now our Initial Chodong wins unconditionally.”

“… !”

“The sound source chart… Once entered and stabilized, the graph will fall similarly. Maybe we’re a little higher.”

I wrote the comparison down on paper.

[Record]

VTIC (Week 2) 〈 Testa (Week 1)

[Sound source]

VTIC (Week 2) ? Testa (Week 1) (existing graph expected good performance)

Just looking at it, it looks like it will win on music broadcasts.

‘This can’t be overturned even with broadcast scores.’

We’ll make a comeback on Monday and hit the radio publicity from then on!

The amount of social media mentions and music video views are not pushed back in the first week.

Now we are in the 1st team.

“The composition from the debut is reproduced as it is, but this time we will go in after eating the first week unconditionally.”

This is a huge image gain.

“And it doesn’t matter if you toss and turn from the third week. No, if you don’t get pushed at all, it’s an unconditional advantage.”

Big Sejin nodded.

“Um~ We’ve grown like this, so now we don’t get pushed back even if we stick with VTIC sunbae-nim, right?”

“yes.”

Following the simultaneous release with Youngrin in January, the weight class will be solidified.

This time, it means that it can be released at the same time as the target level in the same industry.

‘If you add a story comparison with the debut here, it’s also good in terms of narrative, so it definitely becomes a topic.’

There will be SNS and articles pouring in that it is a signal of a generational change.

aiming for that

‘It’s almost impossible to beat VTIC on this year’s album anyway. There is Young Rin in the sound source.’

If so, there is one item worth challenging for us, whose strength is balance in the first place.

[Singer of the Year Award]

Since this year was a ‘popular singer’, the award ceremony will go to the picture that takes care of the ‘Public Opinion Award’.

‘All of the music and albums have the highest grades, so I won’t be able to say anything else.’

It was a gamble, but worth a try.

“But if we do this, VTIC fans will really hate it, you know?”

“Is that so?”

“I guess so? You feel like you’re being used~”

That was the part I had to accept.

The topicality of this Yanggang composition is always accompanied by resistance and fatigue.

“Yeah, I think the fans will have a hard time too… .”

“hmm.”

In fact, it wouldn’t matter if the grades came out with VTIC as I expected. Because the taste of mulberry will be stronger than fatigue.

‘Isn’t it good for combining fandoms?’

The new season of < Azusa > was about to end. I think it would be okay to designate VTIC as an external enemy just in time for the internal division to occur again.

And when the thought reached this point, an unexpected support shot came in.

“If we do well, it’s OK! No need to worry. Bro, we’re good! Fans love it!”

It is Cha Yoo-jin.

It seems like this guy is just shouting ok at the fact that he can work quickly without delaying his schedule… .

“How are we? Brother, are we good?”

“Yes. ooh we’re good… !”

“That’s what I say!”

There was no one like him when it came to pushing. I opened my mouth while watching the scene where Cha Yu-jin nailed Seon Ah-hyun as a supporter.

‘No matter how much, it can’t be like that.’

After thinking about everything, we had to agree. After making a comeback, we can't give reasons for division.

"I just said my opinion, but I think there are people who don't agree. Why don't we raise our hands after thinking about it for a while?"

"It's fine."

I proposed a majority vote, and the members readily agreed.

and after a while

"… … ."

"Oh unanimous~"

Surprisingly, the agreement ended without a single dissenting vote.

'This will happen?'

I thought you might need some persuasion.

And those who thought it would be the opposite opinion open their mouths one by one and express their reasons.

"I don't think there is any need to be afraid in advance… For the fans, I think it's right for us to do well… !"

"Conceptually, I came to the conclusion that if it comes out at the end of the summer, I won't be able to fully show the charm of this song. Moon Dae-hyung is an excellent judge."

The last is Sejin Bae.

"… Now that I think about it, if we postpone our schedule just because another group is coming, it would be like losing without a fight."

"… … ."

I see

Bae Se-jin slightly averted his eyes. Liu Qingyu smiled and finished his speech.

“I’m doing this because I’ve never lost money by listening to you.”

“… … .”

Really, I rubbed the back of my neck and nodded.

“Then let’s go this way.”

“good!”

We tentatively agreed on a comeback date.

However, I had a question in my mind. Cheongryeo’s dyed hair and keeping secrets.

‘What the hell is VTIC bringing?’

And even if you didn’t want to know this, you would soon find out.

Because just two weeks later, VTIC released the first teaser.

* * *

[The cataclysm of the music industry in July… A super-large male idol group is aiming for the throne.]

In mid-June, when even Testa revealed the news of a comeback in July, social media turned upside down.

The office worker who runs the twin home of Park Moon-dae and Lee Se-jin was checking the activities of the biggest competitor as well as investigation.

-Kkkuyeokkkuyeok crawling in the same month hahahahaha -Since they were 5 years old, they even renewed their contracts and seemed to have gone crazy, ‘It’s obvious.’

Office workers who checked VTIC’s anonymous fan site clicked their tongues saying it would be a tiring month.

‘Why can’t I come out in July?’

It’s like this because everyone is preparing a great summer song.

‘I don’t know why the fandom is obsessed with season songs anyway.’

The office worker decided to use a calculator, saying that the only good thing was the side profit from selling VTIC data with overlapping schedules.

‘It seems that this company and that company have lost their senses. No, T-One originally had no sense.’

And that day, VTIC’s teaser was released.

[VTIC – ‘HELP’ Official M/V Teaser]

“… !!”

The mind of an office worker is filled with exclamation marks.

‘This… .’

It was definitely summer special.

However, the keywords they were aiming for were different.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 287

If you can’t debut, you’ll die of a disease. Episode 287

‘s teaser for V-tic begins with an ominous siren sound and an antique four-legged bathtub.

Weiyiing~

‘Hmm?’

For a while, the office worker who was watching the teaser was puzzled, saying that the combination did not suit them.

The sound of the siren slowly fades away and the place is filled with the sound of water dripping into the bathtub.

Talk-.

Talk-.

A screen inside a white marble tile where only a black bathtub exists.

The moment the siren disappeared and only the sound of water droplets remained.

Click.

image goes by

Red candle, index finger to mouth, sign of silence, old book, virus rescue, drop of blood, ominous sign.

Talk-.

And the last… These are the feet of a man entering a bathtub.

Incredible sense of speed and symbolism.

At the moment when the image cuts like those flashbacks are over, I wonder if the stillness and black screen will help me breathe for a short time.

Elegant and soft string instruments fill the screen.

[Uh~ woo woo woo woo woo woo]

A cappella like humming.

At the same time, the screen lights up.

It was a cut of the bathtub I just saw, but… .

"… !"

The bathtub was half-broken, rising into the air. The hard shape, which grabbed the body as if squeezing it out, was raising the bathtub.

It was the eight tentacles of a dark green cephalopod that were intensely sculpted.

The camera shows the dangerous inside of the bathtub.

There was a figure lying in it, submerged up to his neck in water.

It was a silver-haired man. Perhaps because of the light on the screen, the reflected light looked green.

'dyeing??'

Before the viewer can think further. Cheongryeo opened her eyes.

[

This moment when you need to understand that you can forget what you can’t understand]

A melody in a minor key gently wraps around the screen, and light flows down from the broken ceiling onto the bathtub.

Light pours down on Cheongryeo’s languid face.

‘Look at his face.’

Around the time when office workers felt a reflexive admiration for a cut that even touched them.

Cuts of the other three members slowly flowed and appeared on the screen.

[Uh~ woo woo woo woo woo woo] Chae-yul holding her index finger to her mouth in front of a huge stained glass window, Shin-oh holding a candle in the dark hallway, and Ju-dan wearing a black robe over her head in the forest.

And the screen of Cheong-ryeol submerged in the bathtub that came back.

The last verse ends with a graceful cut where you lie down until your head is submerged in the water and a whispering low note.

[Blow out the candle right]

Pot.

An empty bathtub falls alone from the air.

“… !”

There is no trace of the legs of the cephalopods that were constricted and supported. Right before it hits the floor and shatters into pieces.

At that moment, the screen freezes.

And ominous black letters are engraved on it.

The [He got a Permission to Explore my Land] sentence becomes a title by rearranging only capital initials.

[HELP]

And the moment the last letter is reversed.

[HELL]

The sound of the bathtub breaking echoed on the black screen.

“… … .”

That’s how the video ended.

“ah.”

The office worker tried to respond with a voice for a while, but then consciously stopped.

But the brain already knew. Looking at the updated real-time response, it was impossible not to know.

-OMG is it real?

-Mimi-Crazy guys -No

, what

-This year, they’re doing all the V-ticks That

VTIC has brought a crazy title with a concept that their fans will go crazy with.

Even with a cool horror sense perfect for summer.

“… You will earn well.”

The office worker gave an estimate, and Hyunta came.

And I wanted to ask the idol I caught.

Thinking that it would be nice if a slump album that would break the upward trend would come out now, but not.

‘Why did you guys bring a season song to this country?’

* * *

“… … .”

I browsed social media.

-I almost got shortness of breath

-It’s so good that I’m going crazy Dressed-up song concept Please let’s go on like this

-I have a firm belief that it won’t be a teaser scam I need to protect it as it’s made by V-tic -Isn’t this an annual car? There’s no sign of it ㅋah V-tic is a professional idol~

These are the reactions to the VTIC teaser.

It can be seen that the fans who are really thrilled are running excitedly, not just posting good news for the sake of public opinion.

“hmm.”

The song definitely went well.

Just looking at it, you can tell that the horror concept has been refined to the limit so that the horror concept is not crude, and has accumulated thick layers.

‘Even to the people who listened to the previous album, I thought you made it look like a grand finale.”

The advantages of the repackage were also maximized.

Thanks to this song, the concept of the previous album was completely overturned and it seemed to give room for a new interpretation.

It was said that it was a 20th century cosmic horror concept, but it seems to have worked well to the point that it was not a one-dimensional cool feature.

-The timing is perfect for the previous album, Broadway

. Didn’t this only exist in 2D?

– I can already hear the sound of overseas fans going

crazy .

rode the updraft

‘Sophisticated.’

They meet the demand that the public can expect from a popular idol in almost every respect.

Intense group dance using camera work dancers entering the right place. Costumes that are not overly experimental.

The popularity that neutralizes the first teaser, which is conceptual to the extreme, is visible.

‘I thought my vocals would be weak.’

This is also well adjusted to the level that is comfortable to listen to. It's not like I just ate it.

To summarize… It is an activity that fans will clap their hands and cheer.

'There is no luck.'

I chuckled. It was something I guessed from the moment I saw the dyed cheongryeo anyway.

Still, I was worried that I might lose my senses when I was about to go out, but on the contrary, as I became less cautious, the song became more interesting.

'hmm.'

"Let's stop, Moondae~ We're busy watching ours too~"

"Yeah."

I turned the screen of my smartphone obediently at the sound of drying.

"exorcism!"

Even if I keep looking at the same people, it's not something I can change, and it just makes my heart complicated.

But actually, I'm not very nervous.

'It doesn't overlap.'

It's because I became a latecomer and the part I was most wary of was resolved.

The concept genre these guys are aiming for is completely different from ours.

However, it seems that there were some people who thought deeply about this.

It’s because Bae Se-jin said this after the schedule that day was over.

“Hey, is this okay?”

“yes?”

“I’m talking about our teaser. I feel a bit… .”

“iced coffee.”

If you only look at the teaser… I see what you mean. I nodded.

“I think it will be fine.”

“… Are you sure?”

“yes. Rather, it will be beneficial. Any reaction is a topic after all.”

If public opinion is to be overturned anyway, it is just a build-up that raises the plate.

And a few days later, VTIC’s music video was released two days before our first teaser.

* * *

VTIC’s music video maximized the feeling of the teaser and mixed it with a slightly more pathetic and sexy feeling.

An ominous occult element pays homage to the splendid and relaxed Broadway scene of the previous album, creating goosebumps and creating a sense of tension.

Above all, it was cool without any parts that were childish or broke the atmosphere.

– This should be handed down as a cultural heritage. -It’s lamentable

that I can only express it like this. VTIC is a god

. Are you a fan of them? hahaha

ㄴhaha haha I can see it!

– It’s really amazing to be kept in check this year. How far are you planning to grow?

From the reaction videos pouring in and the satisfaction of the acclaimed fans.

At first, reactions such as ‘the song is so splendid that it makes you tired’ and ‘difficult’ have reversed over time. Because the sound quality was good.

-Muggles are also attached, what should I do through popular chanting Lee Jean

? This comment will be deleted when the tester comes out.

ㄴYes? The group that pushes easy listening into each album because they want to somehow appear popular?

ㄴ Hahahah

worried

that it will disappear after being number one for a week

A great clash between male idols of the highest weight class!

Isn’t it so much fun to compare and evaluate whoever wins?

Even some fast-paced agencies hastened the comeback of idols who lack recognition. It was definitely at this time when the ratings for music shows were the highest this year.

-Testa teaser will be out soon

-Ah, fun haha

-Isn’t it buried in Vticks? Hahaha

┗Seeing what’s going on every day, it doesn’t seem like that’s going to happen

┗hahahahahaha

And when Testa’s teaser finally came out, the usual teaser etc. even clicked on people who would otherwise have been skipped.

Because I want to compare it with VTIC!

However, at this time, in fact, people had already given VTIC a decision victory, so they clicked on the video with more perseverance.

Click!

[TeSTAR (Testa) ‘Promise’ (Promise) Official Concept Teaser]

And in fact, ambiguous reactions began to flow.

-???

-Hmm,

the video was a short first-person exploration of swimming in the deep sea and going up to the surface.

A slow bass and string accompaniment sounded without the main melody.

The video is dark and there is a calm and deep background sound… Strangely, it even looked similar to VTIC's teaser.

-It looks like an experiential VR game

. -Umm

-It's amazing.

-I am the only one who thinks of Vtic? Haha

And after a while, social media and the community were covered with harsh reviews.

It seemed like a branch similar to VTIC, but it wasn't as impressive.

It made me want to pour harsher evaluations and ridicule.

-That's the passable thing I've heard every time, it's like an otaku

-Yeah, I can feel it just by looking at the V-tic backwards compatible teaser

-They're standardized now, they just do what they used to do and go on tour. It's an unstoppable flow

. ㅠ

-Well, that's why it's no big deal to have a producing member in the group, but at this point, I feel like I'm losing my senses. It's a pity

. In the meantime, there must have been some determined VTIC fans mixed in, but the general opinion was clear anyway.

-It’s a check, so don’t worry too much about it and go

. Although the anonymous account called “Song” was also active, most of the fans silently waited for the next rice cake.

It was because of the trust that had been built up over the years.

I don’t know anything else, but Testa’s album quality has never been bad!

and a week later

Testa’s real music video has been released.

– The music video was delayed –

Horror

again?

The thumbnail of Testa’s music video was a beautiful white sandy beach with blue waves.

-???

-X is bright?? It was a teaser scam!

No, everyone thought this moment was a teaser scam.

People clicked on the video, somewhat bewildered.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 288

If you can’t debut, you’ll get a fatal disease Episode 288 Testa

‘s music video video starts with a blue sea like a thumbnail.

However, the timing was different.

Not out of the sea, but in the sea.

The blue sea close to the surface, as if continuing from the teaser coming up from the deep sea.

‘Ah, that’s why the teaser… ?’

It took a while for people to realize.

Before long, the eyesight protruding from the sparkling surface of the water appears.

[Ahyeonah!]

I heard a name called. When the screen turned, I saw a person running from the sandy beach where the waves hit.

It is Lee Se-jin in short-sleeved shorts smiling with a smile.

[Come on!]

A wet figure who had just entered the waist-deep sea reached out his hand.

[…] …]

A white hand stretched out from behind the screen and grabbed it.

[Take your STAR,

on a day when the stars are pouring,

kick the waves and run

to the sky, Run and Fly]

After the clear, high-pitched lyrics rang out alone.

The accompaniment pushes in like a dance.

The hi-hat sounds like applause and the lively drum accordion electronic sound mixed to create a cool sound.

Then, the cut changes to show Testa spending a summer day.

Cha Yoo-jin's rhythmic vocals hit and entered.

[Yes, today is good.

Even if the sunlight blushes,

the wind cools down my face

, so I'll go see you today.]

Park Moon-dae, who is sitting in the office Rae-bin Kim doing an assignment with a laptop Cha Yu-jin serving Lee Se-jin, an amusement park staff member… .

The story in the beginning was that the members who passed one by one would get together and go to the sea.

It was a classic summer song concept.

'It's typical, but there's a reason it works.'

Twin Homma, an office worker who nervously waited for the video, was relieved though she was a little lost in the cliché.

It didn’t seem like there was anything directly comparable to VTIC. In the video

[

Dip it in the Ocean], Testa, who went on a journey one after another, finally burned Mundae Park in the office as if he had been kidnapped

.

Bak Mun-dae, who seemed shy, smiled faintly and the yellow bus ran towards the sea.

[Take your STAR,

the island in the sky sailing on the day when the stars are pouring,

we fly so far]

And the guys who arrived at the beach jumped out of the car and met Sun Ah-hyun, and the chorus came in again.

The point choreography to enter barefoot on the beach wearing jeans and a white tee.

It is a cool and agile choreography that applies good-looking locking.

It’s comfortable to listen to and fun to look at.

‘It’s a real summer song.’

Everyone who saw it nodded.

The members on the screen had familiar hair colors that they had at the time of their debut.

The selections that evoke a strange nostalgia save the feeling of summer, which is both exciting and vague.

Besides, the clothes were light and the beach background seemed to satisfy the demand for sexy… .

‘Is it healthy and refreshing and sexy?’

“It looks like an advertisement for an ionic beverage,” the office worker nodded in satisfaction this time.

And on the screen, the evening has come before the sunset.

The cut of the members’ choreography and the cut of sitting on the beach and having a campfire intersect.

[Life is short and the song is long,

in the mirror reflecting each other, I promise again

, today is good for today]

The moment the rap part that is good to listen to ends on the wrong beat, the interlude disappears.

And the sound of the recorded screen, not the song, echoes through the speaker.

[…] …]

The sound of embers popping. sound of the sea. The sound of cloth rustling.

Testa, who was sitting around the campfire, smiled and exchanged glances with each other, then glanced around to confirm that no one was there.

and.

[Yaaaa~!]

[Hwiik!]

Jump into the sea.

"… ??"

A rather sudden, active intake.

with a plop.

Laughter fills the screen with the sound of spray splashing.

'what.'

Around the time when office workers were about to cool down, wondering if it was an artificially touching scene.

As Sun Ah-hyun, who was swimming with a smile, lays down as if doing a backstroke, something light purple splashes water droplets from under the water.

split in two… .

"… !!"

-???

-tail?

-What is real-time comments overflowing, the office worker looked at the screen again.

A curve of another color appears and disappears on the surface of the water… .

Mermaid?

“ah.”

The scales glisten in the darkening sea and are reflected in the sunset light.

The members went deeper and deeper into the sea. Their arms splash water on each other and their tails splash on the surface.

[Haha!]

Because of the film color and camera work, it felt more like an independent film than a Hollywood children’s film, so the scene felt like a kind of human documentary.

And the moment they suddenly dive into the sea.

[Ugh~]

In a short time, the screen changes fantastically.

Shining tail The color of the hair that changed the moment it entered the water flashed on the screen and intersected with a series of cuts. Schools of small fish and seaweed pass by in the transparent sea.

It is the ecstasy of the sea.

slam!

And out of the water again.

Returning to reality, against the backdrop of the dark beach sea, wet members smile and point to the sky.

Peeing!

Fireworks exploded.

Yellow fireworks bursting into the deep purple sky after sunset.

And the cheering members in the sea.

It was at that timing that the song returned.

[A mood that shines like a star, go with me, I promise

you, make you fly,

to the island at the end of the horizon,

today will shine] The members

, dressed more like stage costumes than before, filled the final chorus with a splendid group dance on the beach.

The robe's fabric and bracelet decorations were reflected in the string of mini-bulbs on the beach.

It was a gorgeous ending.

[…] …]

The music video ended with Sun Ah-hyun putting a group photo of them in a suitcase and leaving the beach with a smile after the summer ended.

However, the office worker remained seated.

"… … ."

The office worker first tried to anticipate various situations – VTIC and performance trend comparison, fans' reaction on stage, etc. – but instinct prevailed.

She replayed the video, feeling a little dazed.

'what… It seems there were a lot of foreshadowing.'

It was a reflex action.

In the meantime, her social media timeline was being updated terribly.

* * *

Testa's music video recoiled with reflection gain as much as the teaser reaction was ruined.

[Refreshing male idol genealogy reappears Yes, I'm talking about Testa]

[Mermaid concept Testa is crazy]

[Idol with MV views like crazy in real time]

[Light tester and dark V-tic composition established]

It's a completely different concept from what I expected, but I did that. People who watched the music video cheered for the pleasant exception that was twisted one more time.

It was because I thought that 'the quality is not inferior to VTIC at this level', and the concept of the two contrasting rather than directly comparing was fun.

It was the effect of positioning.

-Ah this summer, K-Pop is fun lol

-The best time for jabdeok

-Hey, how did you both choose the song so well

? Hahaha

And the fans were busy digesting the music video rice cake right away.

-Abs… Is

this real

?

_

_ dissatisfaction? Die

, the visual beauty and exposure visual elements were consumed like crazy, but in addition to that, the story also played a role.

It was because there were many very meaningful corners when I looked at it closely, as if it showed only one key cut of a very huge setting. -Ah ah ah

ah ah

, that’s the teaser.

It’s a mermaid

. perverts!

In addition, the concept photos of Poon Testa the day after the release of the music video alluded to the behind-the-scenes story of the music video, making fans even more excited.

-The kids in this Conpo look like they have a job on land, but Ahyeon is the only tourist. Of course, the whirlwind potato hypothesis seems to be correct (Popcorn

-A mermaid who works as a librarian on land? Isn’t it perfect for Bae Se-jin

? Did you choose it yourself? It was a really excellent choice, thank you…

-Crazy, crazy, this is a mermaid conformo, it looks like a webbing when you look at it like this with jewelry on your hand

. And I understood that Testa couldn’t possibly postpone the schedule.

– This must be done in midsummer because it’s a summer mermaid concept !

It was because they had the sensibility to become childish and maniacal even if they made a single mistake.

And no matter how perfectly the content was drawn out, the standard of ‘one inch’ was different for each person, so there was no choice but to accept some likes and dislikes. In particular, it was released at the same time as the biggest competitor, such as Testa .

In one situation. Compared to VTIC’s sophisticated horror, there was a person who deliberately played a joke every hour, saying that Testa’s felt raw. Isn’t it an update on history ?

mermaid

Hahahah

appeared

It didn’t matter.

Anyway, the general public was more likely to see a song or a stage than a music video anyway.

And Testa’s new song was armed with a lightheartedness that made anyone want to follow along without overdoing the choreography with refreshing easy listening. It was a structure completed by a thorough calculation formula to maximize the strengths of both sides somehow. ‘If you dig deep, you’ll be maniac, if you enjoy lightly, you’ll be popular.’ 500,000 copies sold out in a matter of hours ㅋㅋㅋㅋ Self-record ㅋ ㅋ ㅋ

-24 hits entered 72nd… Almost similar to VTIC, did they catch up with the domestic fandom

? It will come up and turn around right away

┗Shut up and be quiet

┗Tika has seizures haha

┗Yeah, I love you guys, don’t use my kids for your tantrums.

and Thursday. Before the first music broadcast, Testa was already chasing VTIC a few steps behind on the music charts.

– It could really turn around when the music room comes out.

-Can’t they be compared and go to hell

? The good news

for both of them is that the genres do not overlap, so it is rare for one of them to be chosen by the public as a comparative advantage.

The two did not openly steal each other’s pie, and on the outside, both of them relaxed like winners, and kept each other in check behind the scenes, fiercely building up their grades.

Of course, VTIC was ridiculously good from the first week, but Testa’s momentum was so good and the image advantage given to the challenger slightly solidified the composition.

– Testa, is TeaNet’s music coming out right away?

-Starting from this week, the two of them are overlapping their activities

-Guys, bring popcorn

-I’m both a good person♡ You have to watch the live broadcast

And, finally, the first live broadcast of a music program in which the two appear together has begun.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 289

In the waiting room before the live broadcast of MusicBOMB, Tnet's music program

.

"Would you like something to drink too?"

"Water, please."

I voluntarily took over water from Sejin, who was distributing drinks, and continued monitoring.

Because I still had some free time.

'First record.'

The album trend is as expected… No, inflation is more severe than expected.

Both VTIC and Testa.

'Is it competitive psychology?'

[TeSTAR] "The Ocean of Wonder – 1 317 215]

It has already sold 1.3 million copies.

I looked at the album sales that exceeded the expected number in four days, and then thought of VTIC's first week sales and stopped thinking for a moment.

Are there crazy guys who sell over 2 million copies in the first week of repackage albums?

‘It’s been a while.’

I had to check the numbers more carefully in order to look equal to these guys in this situation.

I checked the music charts.

[7th place VTIC HELP]

[9th place Testa – Promise]

They are chasing after the daily rankings. 24Hit is already in the middle of the day, and there is a high probability that it will be overturned after a while.

This is because the response to this song was as good as expected.

It’s easy listening and has a good sense of the season, so it seemed that people who had previously listened to Testa’s songs immediately added them to their playlist.

‘It’s nice to hear while driving.’

And the topicality to attract new listeners was good. There is also interest gained from simultaneous release with VTIC… .

“Certainly, I think Ahyeon looks the best here.”

“Yes? Ahyeon would look good even with a real mermaid tail~”

“A tail is enough! We’re not doing that!”

“Hey, Eugene’s four tails didn’t even appear in the music video~”

“Haha.”

hmm. That virtue is definitely there.

The mermaid concept aggro exploded.

‘I’m a bit shocked to hear that… .’

Existing fans are so used to how we make videos, but when you just listened to it, you could roughly guess how it would sound like ‘Come out dressed as a mermaid in a music video!’

‘It’s either a children’s animation or a B-grade movie.’

Once that… Doesn’t the angle come out roughly when you think of normal CG?

-Testa mermaid concept is coming out

ㄴMermaid? The mermaid who lives in the sea? Did I hear wrong?

That’s to the extent that the actual animatronic tails, not CG, were inserted in the middle of the cutscenes with only the tips separately to make it look like the members.

Just enough to understand that the guys in short sleeves playing in the water on the beach at sunset are mermaids.

‘If I had to ask… It’s a sensibility closer to an art film.’

Those who clicked hoping that a real naked testa would come out in full body with glitter and a CG tail on it were as good as they were hooked.

-?? What is it? It’s so much better than I thought

– It’s just a well-made gambit music video, but it’s a huge amount of capital

– Does that tail fin mean that it’s a mermaid? Ah, I understand ㅋ

-Sangtal is… It was only fair rain, yes, I get it.. You can be satisfied with the silhouette

. Thanks to that, the number of views of the music video went up.

And word of mouth spread that the song is good, and it is a big help to the sound source.

‘of course… Still, it’s hard to avoid likes and dislikes.’

– I love mermaids ㅜㅜ The best concept

ㄴ That’s not it – Take it out and give it back to me. ㄴ Then watch the stage

. Although various reactions were swirling, from those who expected it to regret it, anyway, if the majority is good, it is a success. Rather, it becomes noise marketing.

‘I took this arrangement into account.’

Looking back a few years later, the music video wasn’t so bad that it would become a dark history, so there’s nothing to regret.

Actually, I thought about giving mermaids only by hint, but… Then it seemed that aggro would be lacking.

‘I needed an impact.’

If I went only with the travel concept, I would never have been able to make a composition with VTIC and Yanggang.

The amount of mention will vary.

‘Image is a battle of momentum after all.’

To catch the VTIC composition of the popular testa fandom, it was ambiguous because our side did not have the level of popularity as young rin.

Besides, the concept that VTIC came up with this time was working even better abroad.

I just remembered the time I ran into them in the hallway.

-Hello Testa juniors!

-It’s been a while since I’ve seen you in real life~

VTIC guys are fooling around. Anyway, they smiled and asked how they were doing, and we had a moderately harmonious conversation.

‘There were a lot of staff and singers who came and went, so we had no choice but to be harmonious.’

And among the blessings from our side was this.

-Congratulations to the number 2 on the Billboard album chart. Seniors~! I respect you!

– Ahaha thank you!

These guys entered the Billboard charts while renewing their rankings.

It turns out that the bizarre cosmic horror concept is a well-known worldview with a fairly large tradition and scale in foreign countries.

Thanks to that, the fandom is hooked there as well, and it seems that the US schedule is tight. must have been aiming

‘If this is covered in the media, it may be pushed back due to the issue of enhancing national prestige… .’

It’s just fortunate that they secured at least a trendy hotness with mermaid aggro before that.

I shrugged and stopped reminiscing.

Because the conclusion was obvious.

‘In the end, I’ll have to do well on stage.’

We need to raise our current interest to the stage once more. Only then can this tight composition be maintained.

I put down my smartphone. Ryu Cheong-wu, who had been accepting Kim Rae-bin’s criticism of Cha Yu-jin, turned his head and asked.

“To stretch?”

“yes.”

Soon it was time for the live broadcast stage.

Testa’s order is third from the back.

Next to us is a group of girls who have been around for quite some time… The last is, of course, VTIC.

Wow!!

It seems that the intention of arranging them this way is to avoid direct comparison between the two sides, but since they share the venue anyway, it doesn’t mean much.

‘That’s a lot.’

I got into formation watching the nearly divided VTIC and Testa fans standing under the stage.

There are many cases where the pre-recorded part of the live broadcast stage is not performed or the assortment is appropriately matched, but in the end, it is because the audience is focused, so they work hard.

‘This is also filmed on a direct cam and goes around.’

On stage, we waved our hands and got into formation.

The first is a performance-type sub song using a chair close to Latin pop.

[Como tu dulce y amargo café

My Love]

Cha Yoo-jin takes on the Spanish language of the chorus and brilliantly removes the choreography and vocals.

‘It has increased.’

That song grew more.

The thought of checking the status window flashed briefly, but disappeared the moment I realized that I was on stage.

[Your heart blooms like charm smoke in the hot air]

I sang the melody part at the beginning of the second verse. After performing the choreography of jumping and turning steps, they slide to the side and grab a chair to change formation.

And Kim Rae-bin sat on a chair alone and sing-lapped.

After that, clear the chorus of the second verse and the final climax safely.

Adrenaline soars.

“Whoa.”

Aaaaaaaa!!

The reaction is also good.

‘Anyway, the difficulty level of the performance gave strength to this side as well.’

I looked down at my feet before the interim as I prepared for the title that was to follow.

And without knowing it, I laughed.

There are some interesting parts.

The point is that the current outfit was unbalanced even though it was a rather sticky sub-song.

It’s because I’m wearing clothes that match the titles that will be broadcast live.

[Take your STAR,

the day the stars are pouring]

Everyone is wearing jeans and a white tee.

* * *

‘Okay!’

Park Moon-dae’s first host saw Testa’s first broadcast outfit and unknowingly clenched her fist in victory.

I couldn’t help it because the outfit I liked the most in the music video was the first one.

‘If you hate that, you don’t have eyes.’

Jeans and a white T-shirt. If you have a good body, you can’t be bad!

This time, everyone decided to exercise, and even with the light fabric, the fit was clear. Almost instinctively, she prepared to pick up the clip.

At the same time, the future candidates' outfits automatically passed through my head.

Maybe the first week is going to wear music video outfits. Occupational clothes and summer clothes, beach clothes with robes… .

'… And a mermaid-like outfit at least once?'

However, it is a costume that has never appeared in a music video, and since the mermaid is only a story concept, she quickly abandoned expectations.

'Looking at the first episode's choice, I'm guessing it's going to be pretty all the time without anything experimental, but please let's go with that stance until the end.'

The stage begins!

She immediately cleared her mind and focused her attention on the stage in front of her.

A refreshing background with blue sky and white sandy beach.

And the unfolding stage… .

It was like a distillation of the fun of seeing and hearing in an extremely pure way. [

We are an island in the sky that sails, Fly so far]

There was no walking line in the choreography.

In every step, whether it is slipping, jumping, or bouncing, elements that must catch the eye and rhythm are added.

Moreover, the genre of the choreography changes depending on the part, drawing attention with the impressive movements that fit perfectly.

For example, Lee Se-jin's bridge has a tango-like kicking motion, and Cha Yu-jin's chorus has a locking sound.

In the meantime, the blank space was created only by the difference in speed. There is no time for anyone to take a break.

It means that it makes people watch without getting bored.

[Make you fly!]

"Park Moondae!!"

There was a pleasant feeling like drinking a soda with ice when it was accompanied by a refreshing live performance.

In the meantime, the point choreography of 'Take your STAR', in which gestures and eyes are used subtly, adhered to the song like a sticker.

Extremely catchy.

'I think the song sounds better thanks to the choreography?'

I thought I would have been impressed if I heard Lee Se-jin and Cha Yu-jin, who almost fought because they were only doing choreography that they wanted to follow.

However, on the screen, they are flying around the stage looking for the camera like ghosts, making use of their expressions and atmosphere.

The stage eats up time in an instant, just as the formation changes.

If you wake up, it's the ending. [

Today will shine even to the island at the end of the horizon]

A close-up of Sun Ah-hyun between the large formations that look like waves using camera work to the limit.

There, the emotional vocals and drums come and go, and the acrobatics that appear for the first time are also impressive.

[Umm~ UmmUmm]

Even the members bowing their heads to the last melody and sitting cross-legged were saved as point choreography.

The song ends with the smiling members making gestures such as putting their arms around their shoulders or resting their chins on each other.

Well-maintained handsome faces were captured on the screen one after another.

[TeSTAR – Promise]

“Huh.”

Homma took a deep breath again after the title appeared on the screen and the closing close-up of Park Mun-dae disappeared.

‘Dogs are fun.’

So, to conclude…

‘This works.’

It seemed like it would start with a choreography challenge. Word of mouth had already been written, so with this stage release, all sorts of videos were already uploaded.

I had a clue from the music video. The choreography isn’t insanely difficult, but it’s just impressive and addictive.

Just looking at real-time social media right now, similar reactions poured out.

-Is it over already?

-You're really good at it. You're a mermaid and a nabal, and you have to be good at the stage hahahahahaha – After watching the performance, the song sounds better. Is this hallucination?

-The stage restaurant is uniquely delicious

-Sabi and the waist and hands are hip

.

What VTIC fans are saying is that the trend in Korea is Testa!

She predicted the future satisfactorily. And that prediction was going to flow very much like reality.

However, Testa was not the only one who digested the attracted attention through consumption.

* * *

"The joy of exploding music! MusicBOMB~"

"This week's #1 is… Congratulations! VTIC!"

Music show MCs politely hand over bouquets and trophies to VTIC.

It was natural. Today, due to the counting period, last week's grades are included, so if VTIC is not ranked first, it's manipulation.

"First of all, to Tika who cheered me on until I won this award today… … … ."

I laughed hard and clapped my palms at the guys who were talking about their first place impressions. Everyone is doing it.

There must be no idiot here who can't manage his facial expression.

Still, I will think of various things in my heart, but in my case… Yes, I can say that it is being evaluated.

‘These bastards are definitely doing well.’

It was the first time for me to hold each of these guys on their title stage and properly watch them.

And quite… It was impressive.

‘You’re digging a well.’

They said that the music video was also a compilation of contents that their fans would like, and the stage was the same.

‘Intense and stimulating high quality.’

It wasn’t that they lost their popularity, but the intro’s performance like fighting a snake is a composition for the fan base.

‘And his stage skills are so outstanding.’

It’s not for nothing that new fans are attached to that annual car.

“MusicBOMB! See you again next week!”

I came down from the stage after bowing my head to the waving top performers.

Although these activities are different from each other, it seems that there is no way that either of them will fail on stage.

And in fact, the response came out similarly.

The following week, Testa continued to climb up the music charts through word of mouth and social platform users’ picks.

And in the end what was to happen happened.

_____

[Testa just reversed V-tick sound source]

: Climbed to 5th place Real male idol sound source It seems that the silver testa is one top (capture)

_____

-Crazy

-Hahahahahahahaha Testa ㅋㅋ

-Honestly, the song was chosen so well, I think it's a song ㄴThat was composed by Kim Rae-bin

ㄴHaha I've seen producing members take care of their names once or twice, but at this point, they just put their name on the end

ㄴIt's the first one (captured)

ㄴHahahahahahahahahahahahahaha Ha ha ha ha – It's rewarding to come in a week late. Album sales are tricked ha ha – I knew

it would go well

.

In fact, there was a mess for a while, wondering if there was a conclusion, but it quickly subsided. VTIC was so gorgeous that even global records were speechless.

Starting with ‘No. 1 in 76 countries’, interviews and award ceremony invitations, as well as the number of comments and music video views in the English-speaking world.

It was amazing.

Thanks to its sparkling status, people who listened to it continued to come out, and the VTIC title song continued to stay at the top of the domestic charts.

It’s the same not only in terms of sound sources, but also in terms of overall topicality.

‘It’s going on and on.’

As planned, we swept all the way to No. 1 this week, but it was still unknown how the perception would change when it was around August.

‘Still, what is satisfactory is that the Yanggang system has been solidified.’

Now, ‘how dare you put a testa in VTIC’ is almost unheard of.

This tension must be maintained until the end of the year.

I decided to keep that in mind and wait for the decisive end to come.

And like that, the days of the music broadcast come back again.

Music broadcast in the 3rd week of Testa’s comeback.

And VTIC’s last domestic music broadcast for this album.

Actually, they should have stopped appearing last week, but since it’s a special feature, Tnet seems to be holding on to their pants.

And I realized that this is the first critical timing.

‘I have to catch public opinion.’

I had to stir up the topic once again.

However, I did not know that I would encounter an unexpected and not very welcome situation in this special feature.

A prospective junior appeared as a guest on a special stage.

〈Azusa〉 This season’s debut group.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 290

If you can't debut, you'll get sick to death Episode 290

This week's music show special format was something we've already participated in several times.

'Group KPOP concert.'

Tnet held a global concert called 'TaKon' every half year.

Well, it's a common broadcaster's tyranny that doesn't support the infrastructure properly while being broadcast live in dozens of countries, but anyway, the outside is shiny.

This time, since they caught up to VTIC, they even organized the 1st and 2nd parts in two days, as if they were trying to be ambitious.

And then Testa… Isn't it obvious? Tnet's deficit, so both days have to appear.

However, now there is not one son of this broadcasting station, but two.

"Hello, senior!"

Day 1 car. The group we met at the rehearsal site was the debut group of < Azusa > this season. I heard that they do a cover stage for our song.

I can see the face of Gold 2 grinning between the guys who greeted them vigorously.

My mouth is tearing when I hear that they debuted at No. 1 in a narrow and dramatic way.

“Senior, please give us a lot of guidance~”

“Oh, we really appreciate you~”

Keun Sejin and Juk get along well.

Of course, this is not the one to pay attention to.

The guy who was quietly buried earlier when we were all head-butting together.

Chae Seo-dam was in the debut group.

“… … .”

The guy who fooled Sun Ah-hyun when he was in school, and then broke that habit and fooled around in Azusa.

‘The string is also tough.’

Surprisingly, this cub debuted in 10th place after being edited in the latter half of 〈Idol Inc.〉 for his ‘desperation to live and die hard’.

It was only then that they kissed the other person, and the explanation that ‘everything was a misunderstanding’ came out and fit exquisitely and captured the hearts of general viewers… .

-You sound like a misunderstanding. The deceiver who was only talking about it is in the debut group… Oh, I’m pissed off – Were dating and earnest coexistence possible for idols?

-Chae Seo-dam guys are really nasty hahaha I don’t get PD picks for the narrative

.

‘Still, debuting is an unconditional benefit.’

If you get eliminated due to controversy, the difference is in the chance to go up.

I don’t know if that has a strand of its own or if it’s a coincidence, but even so, it’s of no use.

Seon Ah-hyun doesn’t care much anymore.

“I’m fighting today… ! I will cheer you on!”

“thank you!

Other guys are cheering.

Since the person concerned did that, we just organized it to the point of treating this bastard as someone who doesn’t have it.

In addition, with Chae Seo-dam, who was in first place, defeated, the momentum of Azusa this season itself faltered, so this debut group… Hmm, I should be good at producing.

‘The general manager?’

I’m not too nervous.

“Don’t be too nervous and hope you have a good stage.”

“yes!”

So all I’m considering now is the gain we can get from this not-so-welcome encounter.

‘As long as I can use it.’

It’s a topical word.

“See you next time!”

The moment we parted ways after greeting, the big Sejin quietly said.

“Did you switch places with them?”

“uh.”

The timer for the first timing has already been set.

“Testa Up!”

When I get on the rehearsal stage, the morning air blows into my nose.

A view of the outdoor stage.

Originally, the outdoor concert hall where the < Azusa > debut group would go up was changed under the name of ‘remembering us in the past’.

‘Thank you so much.’

Thanks to you, the story will come out well.

I remembered the weather forecast I checked a few days ago.

The probability of precipitation on the day of the performance was 70%.

* * *

“You bitch!”

“Ah noisy!!”

Kim Rae-bin’s fan didn’t even respond to his brother’s words and got up from his seat. It was after I punched the keyboard I was using once.

puck!

A battle of words with Vtic fans… No, it was the result of a finger match.

‘While making a living by being preoccupied overseas, campaigns are falling apart!!’

Her fighting power, which continued from the donation concert, was on the rise without end. But now was the time to calm down.

“Hey, are you seeing this?”

“uh. Move.”

Without even changing her words to call her older sister, she pushed her brother away and sat down on the sofa.

On TV, TaKon was broadcasting live.

[NEXT STAGE]

[TeSTAR]

I don’t know how many times his next stage has already been previewed, but it must be time for it to come out soon. Airtime is almost over now!

And indeed, the VCR in the testa intro flows on the screen.

“Good… … … ??”

However, she was speechless at the sight of the venue being captured on camera from afar.

It was because it was absurd.

“… What is this?”

“why?”

Why?

‘Why are these guys standing on an outdoor stage?’

TaKon alternates between two stages for quick maintenance as it is broadcast live.

And this time, the stage was divided into outdoor and indoor due to the structure of the venue.

Then how is it usually?

They enter the room in order of seniority, and teams that are very popular are invited to the room even if their years are less than full.

So, of course, I thought Testa would be indoors too… .

These guys were standing on the outdoor stage.

Even on a rainy evening!

‘Daewoo, why are you fucking doing this!’

Even though she called the first team two days in a row as her line, she complained that there were no hostages.

By the way, there was an almost hellish silence on SNS overflowing with fans who had already witnessed that the < Azusa > debut group was indoors.

What she didn’t know while fighting VTIC’s fans was rather medicine for her.

Because I’m already angry enough!

… Still, the moment Testa was close-up, Kim Rae-bin’s fans forgot their anger.

‘Whose idol was the best.’

The Testa came out flawlessly in every corner.

‘Is Kim Rae-bin’s silver robe crazy?’

The appearance of wearing a colorful robe cardigan over a white shirt, as if it was an application of the music video costume, was wet and moist… .

“… ?”

water is… off the head?

‘Where’s the lid?’

Even if it’s an outdoor stage, it’s at least a waterproof screen.

No, the weather forecast said it would rain, so of course there was a screen prepared for the stages so far.

But suddenly no

‘Somehow, the rain caught my eyes too much… !’

‘These madmen… !’

She almost cursed, but the stage started in earnest before that, so she reflexively focused on it.

Testa flicking her feet at the start of a rhythmic and daunting song.

[Take your STAR,

the day when the stars are pouring]

Refreshing sounds are pouring.

Testa didn’t seem to care whether she got wet or not.

Or rather, when it hits the raindrops, a new flavor pops out.

‘uh?’

In the evening, as the lighting intensifies, the light reflected from the water droplets on the accessories and robes of the feet and arms shimmers.

Whiik.

Perhaps because of the choreography with a lot of bouncing and turning of the limbs, even the splashing water seems to be part of the stage.

And with every step they took, water droplets splashed like decorations.

Below that… It is barefoot.

'… !'

long legs… no more… .

'Isn't there still water??'

There was quite a lot of water on the floor, probably because the top cover had been removed from the indoor stage immediately before.

'Too dangerous… .'

However, perhaps thanks to her bare feet, Testa does not slip.

Instead, the stage unfolded as neatly and pleasingly as on dry land.

No, it seemed even better.

'what… .'

Every time I step on it barefoot, my toes are half-submerged and come out. And the ring of water splashes together.

In particular, when entering the chorus, it is excellent to go up according to the steps of the point choreography.

[We Fly so far]

Water springs between the formations. Then the lobes fluttered and splashed water droplets again.

It catches the eye.

A stage where splendor overwhelms the existing coolness.

It was already a well-planned underwater performance as they did it all with better-looking costumes and hair.

‘ah.’

And she realized it like a thunderbolt. The decoration color of the robe and the gemstone color of the limb accessories… This is the color of the caudal fin in the music video.

A performance wearing a mermaid symbol in flowing water.

‘Did you do this on purpose?’

You planned the stage running around barefoot on a rainy day for that concept? Blow the lid off too?

It’s nonsense. However, Testa’s appearance on TV was so impressive that question marks and exclamation marks flooded my mind. [

Today will shine

to the island at the end of the horizon]

Sun Ah-hyun’s acrobatics draw a neat vertical water drop parabola, and the ending approaches.

Instead of looking nervous thanks to the members supporting them, they came out with admiration. It is a choreography that catches the eye.

And the humming motion at the end… Instead, they put their arms around each other and turn around.

[Umm]

Ending by looking up at the raining sky in line with the final base.

So the stage was over.

“… … .”

The screen changed to [Trutturu~ Soup is excellent!] advertisement.

However, Rabin Kim’s fan continues to sit on the sofa.

The younger brother hit her thigh with his foot.

“Hey, are you good?”

so good i don’t know

No, I’m good at this, but it’s not going to end at the level… … .

So, how amazing is this?

“Oh really!”

Kim Rae-bin’s fans immediately grabbed SNS.

I had to figure out what the hell was going on!

* * *

“Ugh!”

“Cha Yoo-jin! Are your feet okay?”

“OK! are you okay!”

Cha Yu-jin tore off the transparent protrusion-shaped protectors attached to his feet.

Even if the staff help, it still stings, so it looks like he ripped it off with his own hands.

What is that? It is an anti-slip device made of rubber synthetic material.

‘It’s suicidal to run barefoot across the marble floor filled with water.’

It was before the comeback that I made that order. I shrugged and removed what was on my feet.

“Oh, it doesn’t hurt… ?”

“uh. I’m fine.”

The adhesive did sting a little, but there shouldn’t be any after effects.

And I just took a bigger opportunity than that.

“I know. We just did great!”

“Oh yeah? I think so too, Mr. Eugene~”

“Hee hee.”

“I hope the viewers will enjoy it and feel good in their hearts!”

“uh. It should be good.”

Bae Se-jin says firmly. Well, he has the right to say things like that because he’s the one who worked the hardest until completion due to the difference in stats.

I smiled and nodded.

“is it so.”

Then let’s check it out.

As soon as I returned to the waiting room, I put on a towel and connected to the Internet.

Related communities… A response has already arrived.

[Idol just performed in heavy rain]

[Tecon stage filmed by Legend]

[Testa’s stage was dangerous vs cool, which one?]

[Testa’s dizzying scene]

It’s crazy.

I thought it would probably be the same on social media, but it was as expected.

Articles were pouring in like crazy and ‘Heavy Rain’ and ‘Testa What’ were trending up.

– Isn’t Mimi crazy?

-How am I supposed to accept this

?

-Is it because my eyes are weird? This looks better than the normal stage

. It’s bound to look good.

‘It’s a choreography made with water in mind in the first place.”

To be precise, it was a choreography commissioned while simulating digestion on a stage set filled with water up to the level of the ankle bones.

I wanted to make use of the uniqueness of the album’s concept of summer and the sea.

“It was meant to be used at concerts.”

He hit it and hit it.

And it is natural that if one more well-considered element is added, it is bound to be more fun.

‘I knew a reaction would come.’

After staying for 2-3 weeks, I guessed that it would definitely be effective if it exploded at the right time to stabilize the buzz.

In addition, we added elements to make it more impressive.

‘This situation.’

Words will continue to come out because it is unknown whether this is a plan or an unexpected situation due to weather conditions.

It has already begun.

-Wow, good coping skills

-It’s definitely a plan

-If it’s a plan, it’s already been hit with advertisements. It seems to me that it’s an accident lol -Why did Testa come to the outdoor stage in the first place

? Predict the stage to match the shower..? Is it too irrational guess or not?

I hope the stage spreads widely by continuing to talk about it.

‘It would be appropriate around the time when Wetube’s Cyber Lecca bites.’

I checked the video, which went viral thanks to the controversy, and started talking to the company.

* * *

Testa’s stage in the heavy rain emerged as a hot trend at the end of the week amidst various speculations and admiration.

Because there were many people who knew about Testa’s activities this time, such as the confrontation with VTIC and the song that fell well, people were more interested in it and clung to it at a frightening speed.

It’s not just because you did a good job on stage, it’s because you can add a word of your opinion to this unique situation!

In the end, it spread to safety issues and caught fire in various meanings, but the official position was clearly announced in an article before the controversy officially surfaced.

[Testa’s performance in the heavy rain? “Concession, not an accident”]

[TaKon’s dizzying heavy rain stage… Impromptu natural set]

Testa changed the stage on the day of rehearsal in consideration of the first joint concert stage of his immediate junior.

And after noticing the weather situation, they changed the composition as an event, and put on the equipment while paying attention to safety.

The articles, which had undergone a thorough inspection by the agency, continued to advertise Testa’s stage by coming to the main entertainment article.

Except for the context change, it’s the clean truth.

And Testa even showed their excitement by posting the anti-slip protection they were wearing at the time on social media.

Ahyeon wears this to ballet and it’s so cool. We all follow it haha

(video)

-You said you used T-Net as a shield for a good story, but it was true

-What the hell do you show at a concert? I was going to give it to you guys, I’ll definitely go this time, I’ll get a ticket!!

-♡♡♡♡

– This is the first idol who is sincere about idols;

Because it came out quickly, Testa's sincerity will not be damaged, and the unexpected situation will not lower its status.

However, I didn't know that the video that had already spread would gain momentum and come down from the popular WeTube video.

People who praise people, people who criticize people who make an aggro video about this incident.

And even people who re-upload the dance challenge comparing with and without water.

Everyone contributed to the topicality and raised the ranking of Testa's sound sources.

Thanks to this, Cheong-Ri was able to organize easily.

"… … ."

The calculation that he would give up the domestic market to Testa.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 291

If you can’t debut, you’ll get sick to death

.

“What rank are you… ?”

“for a moment.”

I checked the daily music charts.

[3rd Place Testa – Promise]

“Awesome.”

“I climbed one step higher than yesterday!”

“Wooooow!”

Cha Yoo-jin passed by humming a strange hooligan song. To be honest, it only made me feel bad, so I understand.

I feel… It’s thrilling.

‘If the results come back as much as the investment, there is no hormone system like this.’

The sound source above us was a drama OST and a song by an indie band in power for a long time.

In fact, it means that we did the best among the easy-listening songs aimed at summer.

‘The build-up went well.’

The feeling of pleasure when the route, which was completed two months before the comeback, matches the timing of each section, is almost exhilarating.

topicality. and topicality.

I looked back at the flow of the past week.

The heavy rain stage, which turned off aggro with half controversy and half admiration, swept social platforms and, thanks to the just-in-time explanation, established itself as a ‘positive image’ with its explosive power.

-It’s just X or a work of art

-I’m the one who said in the comments of Testa’s comeback stage that it makes me feel better when I watch

it

. Summer K-pop is really fun. Looking back on it 10 years later, I think everyone will be selling memories haha

.

‘People are more enthusiastic when a restriction is lifted like this rather than just releasing their mind.’

After that, as expected, people who encountered this spray choreography were sucked into the sound source as soon as they heard the song.

Once again, the virtuous cycle structure between the sound source and the stage was completed.

[(Pre-release) Those who sail to the sky appear with a waterdrop dance! | Tiny Club Episode 102]

In the end, a parody of this week's TV variety testa appearance, which seemed to have been hurriedly synthesized, even appeared in advance.

It comes out in the most conservative media, which means it has settled down as a trend.

'Because that stage image is to the extent that TV uses it for topical aggro.'

So the result is this

-Testa songs come out everywhere. I went to Hongdae and got confused haha

-Honestly, both choreographed songs were very well choreographed, but the heavy rain dance was really sweet

. It has become a popular fad.

'It's a flow.'

At the time, it was smashed in a car accident, but it was similar to the trend that was vaguely seen during the 'Call' promotion.

It is the influence that extends beyond Testa's first-team name value.

If it's serious, it's to the point where comments are pushed back with ridicule from people who say 'I can't feel it' on the Internet.

"Rabin makes good songs, so we all do well together."

"It's too much praise! It was a collaborative effort, and it was a song that couldn't have been released without the hyungs' feedback and Moondae hyung's idea, so I'll move forward without being conceited!"

Kim Rae-bin barely breathed. Anyone who sees it will know that it is an award speech.

In the meantime, Cha Yoo-jin responds seriously.

“Me and Sejin hyung made a really cool choreo for Kim Raebin’s song. Raebin Kim didn’t do it alone!”

“That’s what I mean, you fool!”

“That’s what I mean, fool!”

You play well. I said a word to the person mentioned.

“That would be nice.”

“uh? … Of course it’s good~ because people like it.”

Surprisingly, Big Sejin seemed a little embarrassed.

“What should I say… I can’t believe it’s going so well.”

“… … .”

No, it’s like a thrill.

He is a guy who has had almost no music-related solo activities. The fact that the choreography he himself chose and arranged became popular made him feel special.

Big Sejin looked at the ceiling once, took a deep breath, and raised both arms.

“Ah~ I don’t know! nice! thanks! Thank you, our members~”

“Fighting!!”

It was fun to watch the congratulatory ceremony for music chart rankings where even Bae Se-jin’s face turned red, applauding the big Se-jin, saying that if things go well, the atmosphere improves.

“Ah, Testa showed something this time too~” Even though it’s 1:00 in the morning and there’s another schedule at 4:00, everyone seems to have forgotten about their tiredness.

Judging from the examples so far, it’s okay because they’re not the kind of people who cut their schedules loosely… .

‘It’s not to the point of being careless.’

It is difficult to say that it has surpassed VTIC in terms of name value alone. Besides, the difference in initial start is not going anywhere.

Of course, this time we… It sold well, though.

[TeSTAR “The Ocean of Wonder – 1 558 114]

1.55 million copies in the first week.

To be honest, I didn’t expect it to go this far, so I had a lot of thoughts.

Just looking at it, it’s a staggering number. Excluding VTIC, active idols who have raised this level of sales can be counted in three fingers.

‘I’m still in good spirits.’

Even after the Initial Chodong was over, I shrugged my shoulders after checking the amount of albums being released.

‘I’ll do it for a month.’

I was almost certain that this composition would continue.

Until mid-August, it didn’t seem like other No. 1 guys would enter.

‘Even I won’t come in.’

In this situation where the two first-team members share the first place like a knife, how can they benefit from it?

It will take quite some time for both of them to slow down, as long as Testa has gone beyond being forced to endure and has become a really solid Yanggang composition.

VTIC fans may have known that, but they changed their stance a bit.

-Both are doing well,

so I don't get ticked off.

-Why is it so pitiful that the idiots are so excited about hitting Testa with V-ticks and hitting V-ticks with Testa music? Neguse stones have no future

.

The moment the testa song settled down on the trend road, it seemed that the judgment was made that 'this would be difficult for public opinion'.

Instead, it means that VTIC's top tier position will be firmly established and the arrow will be turned to avoid stress.

'I'm not going anywhere for jjambab.'

Of course, he would grind his teeth and create rumors that he would catch and kill Testa under the water… That's what I expected.

The song worked so well, so the fans… Our fans will have much more fun than stress.

From the point of view of hitting and climbing, this situation is no different from a decision victory.

'done.'

I turned off my smartphone.

… The number of adventures is an exquisitely successful taste of the challenge, or the timing to enjoy it a little more.

“Park Moondae!”

“Come to Mundae! You should do this too!”

me really

I got up from my seat. It’s funny how excited guys pour in their encouragement.

Let’s do a little shoulder strap and come. It was a good moment though.

* * *

Eight hours later. It was a light interview that took place at 9:00 in the morning after the photo shoot at dawn.

The subject is also Tnet.

TaKon, which was held for two days, was so well received that it seemed like the VOD specials would be put in a little extravagantly.

It seemed like they had been filming since early morning, from the debut group of < Azusa > to Mirinae.

But to be honest, no matter how many broadcasting stations called it, I thought it would be omitted if it was VTIC-level name value… .

“hello!”

“Hello~”

He came unexpectedly. It seems that he was in Korea.

It’s not surprising that we met in overlapping time zones.

‘They took it out at the most convenient time.’

So, as long as it’s filming, meeting the two best in the same time zone is a kind of natural flow.

but… I didn’t even bother to allocate the same space to give you the widest and best-equipped waiting room.

“… … .”

“… … .”

I was silent when I saw the guy who came in after the interview as the first batter.

it’s clean

With this kid… You have to be with me alone for about 20 minutes until the next guy comes.

Well, it’s strange that I’m reluctant to come now.

“It seems that juniors also filmed for the first time.”

“yes. That’s right.”

“Are you enjoying your activities these days?”

“I am trying to do well. I enjoy it too.”

I hope this bastard won’t turn around just because the sound source was pushed by me.

However, Cheongryeo’s face looked quite comfortable.

“me too.”

“… … .”

“Isn’t that funny? It’s been a while since I tried a new song. There are so many variables here, so I’ve only written songs that I’ve verified in the past.”

It’s not just your face that’s comfortable right now, it seems like you’ve used words that are too comfortable to answer here.

“yes. You see.”

If someone comes in, why are you talking so openly?

“hmm? Be at ease.”

“I’m not sure what you mean.”

“ah.”

But the guy on the other side laughed.

“It’s not a commercial, it’s not a music show… It is rare for an outsider to come to such a rushed interior shoot. I think you can do it comfortably.”

I see

‘Are you saying that a deceased idol is risking his own safety?’

Well, our staff can come, but there was no reason or justification for them to put their ears into the room and listen.

“Then so be it.”

“haha.”

I leaned back on the sofa and picked up my phone. Cheongryeo stopped laughing and asked.

“Are you aiming for the target?”

“All singers are like that.”

“No, I’m not talking about such a universal goal… I think I have thoroughly formulated my strategy for this year.”

“From the timing of the release to the stage of this shower in the music video, the viral effect came out well.”

I looked at Cheongryeo.

“Basically, it worked because the song and stage were good.”

“… … .”

“I did it because it was worth doing.”

“is that so.”

“Don’t you think that this song worked because it worked?”

I looked down at my smartphone again.

“It is a song that has never been verified before. Then what did you believe in?”

“I don’t know.”

Cheongryeo’s voice became monotonous.

“just… I was just trying to make it good.”

“So that’s good.”

“Although my junior took more of the music.”

Yeah, I thought this story would come out eventually.

“Who sold 2 million albums? Don’t pretend to be unilaterally conceding to the outcome.”

“haha!”

Cheong-rye laughed.

“I guess so. I have no intention of pushing back.”

That answer sounded rather cool.

“Would you mind?”

I buried myself in the sofa again. The atmosphere is a bit loose.

And suddenly, behind my voice, I heard a small, dull sound… .

‘no way.’

My head stops.

“Ah beans… .”

I didn’t listen and stood up right away. Cheongryeo immediately shuts her mouth and stands up after him.

Without warning, I turned around, approached the door, grabbed the handle, and opened it.

“… … !!”

Damn there was someone.

Waking up beyond the door… .

It is Chaeseodam.

“… … .”

Beat all the surprises and surprises.

‘This bastard was trying to eavesdrop.’

Reflexively, I replayed the conversation I had with Cheong-rye so far.

‘No swearing, unrealistic words… .’

did you say something similar? No, I think I used an overly primitive expression about this activity… .

I spoke flatly to Cheongryeol.

“It’s strange. Along the way, this is… ah.”

Fucking, no one goes here.

Cheong-rye looked at Chae Seo-dam and her eyes lit up.

“Your junior has come to visit you.”

“… !”

“I guess that’s right. It’s not because I don’t know each other… There’s no reason to come to these outskirts for any other purpose. Yes?”

“… … .”

did you come looking for me?

Seeing that cold sweaty expression on his face, I think he’s right.

Chae Seo-dam seemed to have regained his composure at that moment, and his expression returned.

“I am… I just got lost and came this way. seniors.”

“The filming must have been finished.”

“He said he would wait longer and take another shot over lunchtime.”

It means that the shooting time for this kid is so high that it is still waiting time to give the first group the best time.

And after finding out my whereabouts and chasing me, did you somehow try to eavesdrop on our conversation from outside this door?

“But I do have some concerns. Seniors.”

At that time, for some reason, Chae Seo-dam’s voice suddenly feels relaxed.

“Actually, I’m afraid of many things these days… I record all the time while working. I’m afraid there will be a big misunderstanding again. Yes?”

The embarrassment slowly disappeared from Chae Seo-dam’s face, and his eyes flashed instead.

“I debuted because I was ‘lucky’… Also, if there are rumors, I think I will need an objective excuse.”

The accent goes into the strange tone.

this bastard… .

I reflexively recalled the mouth I had given him.

‘Lucky bastard.’

“But this recorder is better than I thought. It could be a nuisance… I am asking because I am concerned.”

“… … .”

“Did you say something that would be embarrassing if it was recorded?”

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 292

If you can't debut, you'll die of a disease. Episode 292

When Chae Seo-dam brought up the story of 'recording', the atmosphere quickly changed to typical.

I mean it's funny

'What is this bastard saying?'

No matter what you record, if you want to use it, isn't it standard to keep your mouth shut and then set the timing.

Why are you giving yourself time to deal with it with your own mouth?

'Hmm, you're trying to take the initiative by intimidation.'

No way, you're trying to embarrass me by yelling at me to put out the recording.

Well, I wonder what they would do if they said they had a difficult conversation when it was recorded and what they would do if they said they didn't.

I immediately opened my mouth.

"You know that third-party recording is illegal, Mr. Chae Seo-dam."

"yes? ah… I was trying to record my daily life, and I asked because I didn't want to include stories that would cause trouble for the seniors in the background sound."

Chae Seo-dam bowed his head.

“I am so sorry if this was a sensitive conversation!”

oh.

If they said they were sensitive, they were weak points, and if they said they were not sensitive, would they say they will make the grounds for prosecution disappear?

I crossed my arms and laughed.

You’re right I’m trying to make you angry.

“hmm… I think there are a lot of things like this. It’s an illegal invasion of privacy.”

and you’re illegal?

However, this cub’s subsequent behavior was different.

“yes! I am also careful not to do that. For now, I’ll delete anything that could have been recorded by my seniors.”

Chae Seo-dam took out a button-shaped tape recorder from his back pocket.

‘Is it a Bluetooth type?’

Then he took out his smartphone and played the recording file in front of my eyes.

– Well, I don’t know where this place is.

-My leg hurts… .

I can hear a faint sound behind Chae Seo-dam’s voice as if she’s sitting in front of the door, speaking loudly on purpose… .

I’m not sure, but it seems that the sound in the waiting room got in because the tape recorder was attached to the crack in the door.

-Aiming for the target… .

Oh, did you come in from there?

It’s a viral marketing story.

I confirmed the faint voice of Cheongryeo.

And Chae Seo-dam immediately pressed the recording file to completely delete it.

“Deleted.”

“Ah yes.”

Should I clap? I nodded and looked at him.

“… … .”

You look bewildered.

Why are you so calm than you think?

Did you think that if I played the recording myself, I would be nervous while reliving our past conversations? Aspirations are good.

“Anything else to say?”

“no. Then let’s go. I’m sorry for bothering you seniors.”

The guy bowed his head and turned around.

I checked the rest of the ‘seniors’ mentioned by Chae Seo-dam.

Cheongrye.

“… … .”

The guy is staring at the cub that turns around.

‘that… .’

At that time, Chae Seo-dam suddenly looked back and spoke.

“however… Senior, do you trust me?”

“… !”

what kind of bullshit is this

“I’m really sorry, but I don’t know much about machines. I wonder if there will be any problem in case of being hacked or being hacked somewhere… I did.”

“It’s a recording.”

The performance was deleted, but in fact, I have it. Are you trying to create such anxiety?

‘I can see the outline of how he lives.’

I keep trying to check the opponent’s reaction. You seem to have a talent for catching pods and making leaps.

But there is such a difference in weight class, such a stupid thing… Ah, is it a calculation that you will buy because you have more to lose?

“hmm. Then I think Mr. Seodam will be in trouble.”

“… Me?”

“yes. Idols who secretly record other people’s conversations… It is.”

I leaned against the door.

“I would be careful.”

It means that the moment the recording explodes, I will drag you in.

Chae Seo-dam raised her head defiantly at the moment, but soon bowed again.

“… Thanks for the advice.”

Then he walked quickly and disappeared across the hallway.

‘Funny bastard.’

I don’t know why they’re trying to end it on their own after barely making their debut… He wants to be ruined, but what can he do?

I shrugged and lifted my head.

It depends on how well that bastard’s recording went… Shall I add up the disadvantages I would get if I let go?

‘Is it half words and viral marketing?’

Both were negative factors. If I had to argue, I could organize the keywords into ‘attitude controversy’ and ‘public deception’.

– No matter how friendly you are, why are you like this? Is it true that you’re walking away?

-He said he was a dog, and he’s really a bitch-level nerd hahahahaha

-Honestly, he’s awake.

-Everything was planned, pretending to be a coincidence, from the performance of Vtick to the performance in heavy rain.

Is this the expected answer?

However, if you ask if it is unconditionally fatal, it is a question mark.

‘It’s not good to eat a lot of swearing.’

However, if both had enough reserve time, defense was possible. After all, it’s a frame problem.

In particular, if you match the words with the person you are talking to, it could end in a typhoon in a teacup… .

“It’s fun.”

… Even if this bastard breaks the recording, maybe it’s because I’m the only one who loses, so I’m not too calm.

No, from that bastard’s point of view, isn’t it actually a benefit if it explodes?

In this confrontational situation, the greater the minus of Testa, the more VTIC is bound to benefit.

‘Somehow he didn’t open his mouth.’

I kneaded the back of my neck and went back into the waiting room. I’m thinking of doing something to take care of until the others come.

However, a question arises behind the scenes.

“I wonder what to do.”

“Why are you curious about that, senior?”

“Since I was the one who told you to stop talking, I think you should cooperate. Um, what kind of grudge is it?”

“resentment?”

Is there even such a thing?

I honestly don’t understand. In the first place, the point of contact with me was only one swearing, but that would be so annoying that it turned off recording aggro?

‘It’s just that I’m X, so everyone should be X.’

Don’t ask me about the psychology of a terrorist.

However, the part that Cheongrye pointed out again was clear.

“That doesn’t look like I have any intention of trading… . This is also a unique case.”

“… … ”

Um.

yes it took me exactly… la.

“Then I would like you to tell me what you are going to do.”

“what… report.”

I finished the text I wrote and sent it. Since Chae Seo-dam started threatening right away, he must have thought that I would be prepared if I exploded the recording, unless it was quite a stone head.

If so, it will definitely do extra work instead of popping right away.

‘Pull out all the risks.’

It’s true that if gossip breaks out somehow, it’s a loss, so first of all, it’s observation.

Until the purpose of the careless is revealed and the weakness is revealed.

* * *

A few days later, I got off work early for the first time in a while and was lying on the sofa in the living room.

“Moondaemundae What is this?”

“what.”

Big Sejin puts his smartphone on top of my head.

This is an interview transcript.

The question is ‘close acquaintances in the entertainment industry’.

Target… This is Azusa’s debut group.

_____

Chae Seo-dam: Recently, I received advice from Senior Testa Park Moon-dae. He guided me very kindly, so I thought a lot that I should work hard.

… … .

_____

This is an interview of a common rookie who draws aggro by talking about friendship with a popular senior.

But the problem is that the senior and the newcomer are me and Chae Seo-dam.

“I asked Hee-seung right away, and he says he continues to answer like this even now.”

“… … .”

“look.”

Big Sejin changed the screen.

[Heeseung: Are you really close to Moondae? An unimaginable development ㄴㅇㄱ]

… Gold 2 This guy appeared on a survival program twice and seems to be completely soaked in Internet buzzwords.

In any case, the situation was understood.

“Are you trying to use my name value?”

Chae Seo-dam seemed to be spinning his head like this.

I am using this as a plus factor as much as possible in my own situation where public opinion is bad. Right now, my fans are accepting it as a good story even though they are embarrassed.

‘It’s just scratching to the limit.’

It seems that he intends to take advantage of it until the limit line where I think of risk and stay still.

In addition, if I contact you personally here and get angry or show a negative reaction, that would be a recording. it is so intertwined

‘A clever bastard.’

I’ve been doing something similar for a long time.

… Of course, no matter what analysis I do, the situation I am facing right now is another.

Big Sejin put down his smartphone and asked.

“So. Mr. Moondae Why did this bastard suddenly think of using three characters for Park Moon-dae?”

“… … .”

“Has something happened to you?”

this question.

And no matter how well prepared and deterred I am, this could be a risk to the team.

I decided to make it all clear.

“I want everyone to gather in the living room for a moment.”

It’s time for the sacrament of confession.

and after a while

“therefore… Are you saying you talked to senior Cheongryeo?”

“… okay.”

“… … .”

I thought they would curse at each other with their eyes, but surprisingly, the eyes of the two with the same name showed a sign of understanding. What.

“okay… The order was like that, so the two of us were together.”

“good job!”

Oh, these are the two guys I know are the cause of my holiday dog fight. You seem to think I said it because I didn’t feel the value of being respectful.

But the other guys seem to be curious. Liu Chengwu murmured.

“Good job… ?”

“Ah, that guy has bullied Park Moon-dae!”

“… !!”

“… okay? when?”

Now is not the time to talk about that.

I cut off the conversation between Ryu Chung-woo and Bae Se-jin. Kim Rae-bin's eyes will pop out.

"It was a while ago, but I had to be careful at the broadcasting station anyway, so I'm sorry. And we said that he planned the way this song came out, but he didn't deny it."

"I'm sorry about this too."

"No!! The person who recorded it is bad! There is nothing wrong with Moondae hyung!"

"you're right. How could someone do such a rude and malicious thing… ."

They look like they're being cursed at after just playing a song, but they are good at speed. I held back a bitter laugh.

"Thank you, but a mistake is a mistake anyway. It's my fault. I must have been careless."

"… How do people at Moondaemun University live with tension all the time?"

Big Sejin wrapped his arms around his shoulders and muttered quickly.

"are you okay! Recording by a guy who hasn't even debuted yet? Talk right away… ."

"Then! I… Let me tell you!"

what?

Seon Ah-hyun, who had been listening quietly, suddenly clenched her fist.

"That kid… If you tell people that you've been mean to me and that you're bullying them too… ."

“Ahyeonah??”

“Oh, that’s not it!”

Suddenly, the living room became noisy. And I agree with this response.

‘If you bring up a sensitive issue like school violence when there is no evidence… .’

If you’re too picky, wouldn’t it just be a muddy fight with no benefit for you, Seon Ah-hyun? It’s not that I didn’t explode when I was dying for no reason.

“Seon Ah-hyun, it’s better to let go of my sloppy talk and snip at Seo-dam as the recorder.”

Bae Se-jin is there.

“okay! It’s better to just say Park Moon-dae’s short words!”

hey.

“You can just ask that madman to make an excuse! Otherwise sure… .”

“sudden?”

“… … … Anyway, I just need to make it clear that it was okay to listen.”

Bae Se-jin shrank at Ryu Cheong-wu’s question, who did not know the details. Did you think you shouldn’t say more than that because you’re not the person involved?

‘Threatening to release any evidence… It must have been a story to just report it.’

Well, that was one of the ways.

And Ryu Cheng-wu began to organize the atmosphere.

“okay. Anyway, if you haven’t been able to talk about Mundae until now, don’t worry too much… .”

“Ah, I have the work done.”

“work?”

“I also recorded it.”

“… … ??”

I picked up my smartphone and showed it. It is a recording file.

“I’ve been doing it for some reason since I made it plain.”

If there’s nothing wrong with it, there’s no problem if you delete it right away. No matter what you do, the save has nothing to lose.

And the reaction of ‘I knew it’ from all sides… Did you know that?

“It’s also Mundaemundae.”

“and… .”

yes what is good

“We have already talked to the company about it.”

So the moment I was about to say that there is nothing to worry about distortion or wrong response.

Seon Ah-hyun raised her hand again.

“me too… there is.”

“… !!”

“A recording?”

“Oh no.”

Seon Ah-hyun lifted her head and spoke firmly with a trembling voice.

“There is a record of counseling at that time, so it’s Mundae… !”

“… !”

“Of course I quit right away, but… If you find it, there will definitely be materials left.”

Seon Ah-hyun finished her speech clearly.

“I want to write if it helps you.” .

… With that said, there are two directions for dealing with this matter.

How to make Chae Seo-dam quietly become president of the industry.

And the other… It’s a way to make your heart ache.

“Let’s do the latter.”

okay.

That’s how the balance calculation is right.

I called the last worker at dawn after the meeting that day.

-Have you made up your mind?

“okay.”

I received it right away because he was overseas.

“Please cooperate.”

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 293

If you can't debut, you'll get sick to death Episode 293

A group whose group name hasn't been decided yet –< Azusa > Season 5
The debut group's recent schedule has been quite tight.

This is because while preparing for his debut, he was digesting the schedule of the winner of the audition program, such as advertising and interviewing.

Although the topicality was not comparable to Testa's status in the previous male season, it was still enough to excite the hearts of the parties involved.

And there were members who felt a sense of victory for other reasons.

'Can't you even contact me? X is funny.'

Chae Seo-dam checked the contact information on his smartphone as long as there was no response.

[Mundae senior]

It was a number I found out by coaxing the manager who was in charge of Testa before. It was an easy thing to say 'brother brother' and bring a nerdy guy up.

'Even if I catch Gao at that level, my nature is like that.'

Chae Seo-dam assumed that Park Moon-dae would be of a similar category.

It was to the point of shame to see a maladjusted seed who couldn't even speak when he was in school and come out so hard that he became a popular idol.

‘What about the lucky bastard?’

Hearing that, he seemed to be taking care of him very much, but in the end, there was nothing more than pretending to be there.

Even now, Chae Seo-dam secretly mentions Park Moon-dae in every interview or filming, but doesn’t he have any reaction?

It was obviously terrifying.

‘I thought I was going to do it because I was mad, but look at how I couldn’t do it because I was scared.’

Then, in my head, it was obvious that I was beautifying myself as a cartoon character. Aren’t there one or two lesser guys in every class?

‘The really lucky thing is where I’m introducing myself.’

It’s just funny how a guy who succeeds after being good at jealousy and neck can attack a senior ranker like himself who has lived so fiercely.

Chae Seo-dam sent a direct respect to himself, who had cleverly handled the situation by all means while practicing breaking his feet.

I slipped for a while, but that’s it.

‘I don’t leave it like that anymore.’

As it is, after benefiting from its recognition and image to the limit using Park Moon-dae, more thrilling plans remained.

The moment he encounters Park Moon-dae again, he can’t stand it and induces him to explode himself. It was his specialty to elicit reactions from others.

‘It would be better if I told the company about it.’

If the company tried to cover it, that was a good situation. Then, he gathers them well and uses them again as his weakness.

‘In any case, I can use it as proof that I was bullied and get out of here.’

In this way, even the reversal of the image killed two birds with one stone.

‘An idol who continues to harass juniors under the pretext of an already deleted recording!’

“ah.”

Chae Seo-dam was satisfied because the thought of the situation being overturned was plausible.

And he thought for a while about another party involved in the recording, which he hadn’t thought of because he was excited at the time.

Of course, now he was rationalizing that it was all within his calculations.

There was no way that person would show any gesture.

‘Is that all?’

Chae Seo-dam was sure that since there was no damage to himself, Moon-dae Park would be happy to be in trouble. Haha, hoho, isn’t it a competitor?

As soon as I recognized him, he was a successful idol as soon as he debuted, so I fully expected how childish his personality would be.

‘Rather, I might contact me to make a deal.’

He himself had been polite enough in a low-key manner in that situation, so there was nothing to be offended about.

Perhaps Park Moon-dae’s weakness was waiting for it to explode.

“Um~”

Chae Seo-dam cleared away the nervousness of the past few days, thinking about the logic that naturally follows like rolling a snowball.

‘It’s bold and well-made.’

The arrogance that had constantly crippled him in life grew again.

And this optimism was shattered a few days later when I met someone in the office hallway.

His classmate Sun Ah-hyun, who has now become a senior.

“Hello, senior!”

“hello… !”

Unlike when she was in school, Seon Ah-hyun, who was walking from the other side, was looking at her with her head stiffly raised. To think that a guy like that should be treated as a senior because of his seniority.

The moment I got it, I felt bad.

‘If < Azusa > didn’t work out luckily, I wouldn’t have had a social life.’

It always made me feel the bitter taste of absurdity when such a person made a claim as if he was more successful than himself.

But what are you going to do?”

Isn’t there nothing I can do other than campaigning as a senior? If you care about the social position you barely made.

And the extent of Seon Ah-hyun’s campaign for Chae Seo-dam… To be honest, it wasn’t even ticklish.

“I have something to say to Mr. Seodam, would it be okay for a moment?”

“Oh yes! Seodam hyung!”

It was a bit embarrassing to see him not stuttering so much, but he internally snorted at Seon Ah-hyun’s behavior of calling out to him.

The tape recorder is still running.

‘There will be one more weakness.’

However, as soon as Chae Seo-dam enters the conference room in the corner, she is hit by a fastball from Seon Ah-hyun.

“I’m thinking a lot… . Should I tell the truth that you bullied me?”

“… … !”

what do you say?

At the moment of Chae Seo-dam, I looked back to see if this was real.

However, Sun Ah-hyun’s words did not end.

“Seodam-ah, I have a recording.”

“… … !”

“Because you’re so scared… In case I was weird, I recorded it to listen to it again and understand it… for a while.”

“… … .”

“And it’s still there.”

Chae Seo-dam felt a cold sensation run down her spine.

It was a survival instinct felt in the face of a crisis.

‘Oh no.’

Chae Seo-dam barely denied the reality. And it was rationalized and mistaken for being rational.

Similar to what has been going on so far, but a little stronger.

‘You’re saying that even if I say that, I won’t be able to explode?’

Wouldn’t it hurt you if you exploded it? He’s an idol who’s doing well right now.

When I was barely in school, I was in a bad mood and it’s hard to blame myself for school violence because I messed up my practical skills. At least he thought so.

‘And what did you record?’

In his opinion, no matter how he judged himself, he had never been verbally abusive or beaten to the point of being caught.

That’s just to scare you.

‘but… .’

But just in case… yes, just in case

After finishing the rationalization, Chae Seo-dam opened his mouth with a regretful tone.

“Ah Hyun-ah… Do you hate me that much?”

“… … .”

“There was some friction when we were in school, but… It’s not like this, by any chance, saying that I was pushed behind by me… going to be? It’s so embarrassing.”

It would be a mistake if you said it while expecting an embarrassing painting with excuses.

“Because I have a bad image, I wonder if it’s because I think it’s fun, so I feel embarrassed… .”

He is conscious of his tape recorder and passionate about making evidence… .

“Seo Dam.”

However, Seon Ah-hyun did not even flinch.

“It doesn’t work like that anymore.”

“… !!”

“I really want to make a public announcement. beforehand… I thought it would be my last theorem, so I came to inform you.”

“… … .”

“Then I’ll go in.”

Seon Ah-hyun lowered her head slightly and left the meeting room first with a firm expression.

And Chae Seo-dam’s head went blank.

* * *

‘There’s no way it will explode.’

Chae Seo-dam lay on the bed in the dorm and repeated.

It must have been a word that he said to try to intimidate him just because it sounded funny in his position.

‘I’ve seen that stupid bastard fucking somewhere.’

… However, on the other hand, I keep imagining what kind of impact it would have if Seon Ah-hyun released the recording.

Eventually, as time goes by, you start to think like this.

‘… Should I apologize now?’

No, an apology is an acknowledgment! He could never apologize… . Haven't you done anything wrong enough to apologize in the first place?

I was fed up with being treated as if I had become a huge victim for encouraging the weaker mentality to collapse alone.

"X feet… ."

Everything was uncertain as to what would happen. However, the moment you make a gesture, it becomes numb.

'Are you ignoring me?'

But it was embarrassing. Thoughts endlessly return to the origin… .

When those anxious, insanely long days have passed.

Finally, a change has occurred.

"Seo Dam-ah… The head of management at the company wants to see you."

"… … yes."

X feet! X feet!

Chae Seo-dam felt it. Looking at the manager's expression, it doesn't seem like a good thing, but then this bastard, Seon Ah-hyun, was doing something.

"… !"

yes!

At that moment, an amazing idea passed through Chae Seo-dam's head.

If Seon Ah-hyeon first catches the evidence that Moon-dae Park was harassing him, wouldn't he be able to make a deal with the company even if Seon Ah-hyeon exposes it?

As the manager guided him to the management office at the end of the hallway, he kept calculating in his head.

‘If you text me now and scratch it… .’

Click.

However, when the door to the meeting room for consultation in the management room was opened after checking whether or not the tape recorder was in possession.

“Here.”

Sitting there… It was a person who was completely unexpected.

Moondae Park.

“… !”

What kind of situation is this?

Park Moon-dae, who was sitting in the seat where the head of the department should be, thoughtlessly glanced at Chae Seo-dam and then chinned.

“Sit.”

“… … .”

“Ah, I am the assistant manager.”

Took.

Moondae Park muttered nonsense calmly and glanced at the door being closed by the manager.

And peek laughed.

“Let’s talk.”

… Only then did Chae Seo-dam look down on Park Moon-dae and recall the doubts he had forgotten.

Why did he try to spy on Park Moon-dae?

revenge.

– Lucky cub.

After Park Moon-dae’s remarks, he wondered if all the incidents and revelations that had happened to him were probably Park Moon-dae’s actions… doubt.

* * *

I looked up and checked the guy who had come through the door.

Chae Seo-dam has a face as if he has seen some kind of ghost.

‘That’s good.’

The more confused the mind, the easier it was to eat. The already easy guy will be easier.

I said to the guy who was still standing.

“Are you not going to sit down?”

“… … .”

“It doesn’t matter… Then we just talk.”

I spoke monotonously.

“There was a report about school violence… .”

“Is it all yours?”

“What.”

“… … .”

But instead of answering, this bastard changed his expression as if he had realized something.

And then he pulls out a chair and sits there.

‘oh.’

The guy said, rolling his eyes.

“I think you’re mistaken… I don’t care if something explodes and I stop doing this, senior. I’ve already cursed enough… It’s not like there’s only one road, right?”

“… … .”

“okay. I’m just going to quit being an idol, so I’m going to talk about everything and leave. uh? The senior group all worked together and even the company pressured people to create rumors.”

Well, that’s a typical reaction.

‘We’re cornered, so let’s all die together. I will kill myself’.

‘In case of emergency, I can go back to my major industry. This is it.’

You might have guessed this bastard also has a head, but from Testa’s point of view, it’s okay to lose either side of the case, whether it’s Seonahyeon.

‘That’s why I was always careful to avoid that.’

So, he must have thought that the threats would go away and he would enter the negotiating phase.

“I see.”

I’m sorry but it’s useless.

No negotiations with you.

“But if you quit being an idol, are you thinking of going abroad?”

“What are you saying… … .”

“I think it will be difficult to live in Korea right away.”

I leaned my chin and spoke without even looking at Seodam.

“I’m going to somehow expose the facts and make gossip to the point that you can’t have a social life in Korea anymore.”

“… … !”

“I don’t care either. Whether it explodes or not. That doesn’t mean Testa is ruined.”

I shrugged.

“Since you started talking bullshit like a recording, the conversation between the officials has ended, you idiot.”

How to put such a bastard into a state of panic where there is no corner to trust.

It’s true bluffing.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 294

If you can't debut, you'll get a fatal disease Episode 294

This is where it was important.

'They rushed in.'

I took my smartphone out of my pocket and placed it in plain sight on my desk.

And just like this bastard did to me last time, I played the recording.

-Are you aiming for the target?

-All singers are like that.

A sound source with a much clearer sound quality than what Chae Seo-dam recorded.

it was recorded by me

"You're not the only one who can record."

I stopped playing and laughed.

"You didn't think I would ask you not to reveal that I spoke casually with you while swearing."

"… … ."

"It's enough to go out on a variety show right away and solve it as evidence of close friendship with that senior."

Chae Seo-dam seemed to be trying to understand what the hell was going on.

It doesn't help much in the situation, but I reflexively look for words to refute because I want to deny reality.

'Should I wait for you?'

After a few more seconds, he hurriedly opened his mouth.

"A new song is out! They say it was all planned… ."

Oh that.

"well. did i do that I didn't want to talk too long, so I just skipped it… Isn't it all up to the circumstances?"

I operated my smartphone again without a long word.

Enter your address book and make a call.

[VTIC Cheong Ryeo senior]

The melody of the acoustic version of VTIC's new song went to the sound of a phone call for a while… cut off

Click.

-Hello junior.

"Hello, senior. Speaking of what we talked about in the waiting room last time, would it be okay if I gave it as a sauce for entertainment?"

It was a bit annoying to hear laughter over the phone, but Cheong-Ryeo answered as scheduled anyway.

-sure. I do. It was me who told you to let go.

"thank you."

-What.

I hung up.

“They say so.”

“… … .”

Now, both of your joys and sorrows as weaknesses have been blown away.

The idiot in front of me had somehow calmed down where the momentum that had been grinning and rushing at me earlier had gone.

‘Even upturned eyes don’t last long.’

The desire to see oneself is a really strong guy.

I knew it was time to take the pressure up a notch.

So the conversation quickly changed.

“So this seems to have answered your question… Next is the school violence report that I originally wanted to talk about.”

Now that I’ve covered my weakness, let’s talk about yours this time.

I said casually.

“Isn’t it neat to just have the victim interview the reporter?”

“… !!”

“Anyway, doing this officially would be a good message socially, and since there is enough evidence, I think everyone will believe it.”

evidence.

I’ll bet on recording that the conversation I had with Seon Ah-hyun is now floating in this bastard’s head.

I finished talking.

“I thought it would fall apart if we added the situation that he was still recording and trying to catch other people’s weaknesses. I’m going to try to proceed right away. end.”

I picked up my smartphone and tidied up my seat. It is a gesture that says that everything has to be said.

“… that!”

Chae Seo-dam woke up in surprise as if he had been bombed.

“Wait a minute. This… why why this?”

So why are you asking a guy like you that he’s talking about stuff like this? Thank you.

I answered with a faint smile.

“Give up.”

“… … .”

“Since it was talked about just solving everything, I thought I should notify the person concerned. Now all we have to do is wait.”

It was a notice.

“… … .”

Chae Seo-dam froze in place.

It’s a normal reaction. At this point, the average person is overwhelmed.

The opponent has no intention of negotiating, and his preparations have been destroyed, and he even warned that he will now fatally attack your weakness.

Right now, I feel like I've been cornered with no way out.

regret and distrust.

And this ego-bloated bastard produces unusual results in his head.

"Why are you doing this to me?"

It is the fault of others.

"I haven't done anything wrong to you! This is because I had a bad relationship with Sun Ah-hyun when I was in school… does this make sense? sincere… Why are you doing this?"

Chae Seo-dam started to speak gibberish.

"You can't just trust Sun Ah-hyun's words and make people like this! Trying to bury it unilaterally like this… ."

"is it."

I said nonchalantly.

"What you did to Seon Ah-hyun is something anyone would do in that environment, and being treated by someone else is cowardly and unfair?"

"… … ."

"When you did that to Sun Ah-hyun, you knew how to harm the other person. It's the same when you record me."

Chae Seo-dam's face was slapped.

These bastards say that they have to suffer like X to do something similar to self-reflection. Wouldn't it be better to accept the outcome?"

Of course, he said it knowing that he was not the one to surrender.

“No, Seon Ah-hyun too! When a story like this comes out, it hurts… .”

Yeah, if you were a person who would reflect on things like this, you wouldn’t have come this far.

I shrugged.

“You say you’re going to do it, but I have to think about that too. know what?”

“… !!”

“It’s not like I’m ruined.”

Chase Dam closed his mouth.

At this point, you won’t be able to stop thinking about it.

‘This bastard is really a crazy asshole.’

‘A real fuckin’ member is going to piss me off by releasing everything, whether it’s a group or a hit or not.’

… That will come desperately.

In addition, as for the level of self-destruction, he is probably creating hell by using his imagination as much as possible.

‘That bastard is preparing for my social death!’

hmm.

of course it’s bullshit

I’m not an idiot, and of course I don’t intend to bring this up to the surface.

‘It’s just a threat.’

“You are responsible for your work. is not it? You have proof.”

“Oh no… .”

The same goes for this.

We realized that Seon Ah-hyun had recorded the situation while discussing it among ourselves. However, it is difficult to identify Chae Seo-dam because of the sound quality of the file.

The only thing left is the counseling record that Sun Ah-hyun first mentioned, but this is highly likely to become a dogfight as all kinds of public opinion cling to it.

I mean, I have no intention of leaving behind all of that and adding personal elements other than activities to this already eventful group.

But Chae Seo-dam doesn’t know that.

“… … .”

He was completely caught up in this massive bluff and sank.

And it seems that he lost his fighting spirit and fell into a state of panic to the extent that he couldn’t even think of crying or getting angry.

‘I want to leave it like this for a week, but…

Then again, a variable may come out, so let’s give it something that looks like a rope.

I touched my smartphone once under the table.

It was time for the last helper to appear.

seconds later.

– Smart smart!

At the same time as a sudden knock, the door burst open.

“Tongue brothers.”

gold 2.

His expression was somewhere between urgent and tense.

“… Kwon Hee-seung.”

Even in the middle of being fed up, Chae Seo-dam turned his head and looked at him, as if he was writing all the different scenarios.

But the moment Gold 2’s next words came out, the atmosphere changed.

“I heard about it at a meeting and came here… . Moondae-hyung, no matter how much it is, can you bear with it until the official announcement?”

“… … hmm.”

I intentionally didn’t answer. Like a little conflict.

“… !”

Then, a flash of light returned to Chae Seo-dam’s eyes.

It is hope.

“Seodam hyung must be reflecting a lot too. Is that right, brother?”

Chae Seo-dam nodded as if he were sincere. And hurriedly opens his mouth.

“I’m sorry.”

I realized it was the right time to do something.

“yes.”

“Recorded… I was trying to use it. I was wrong. misunderstood… .”

After a moderate pause, I answered.

“I don’t think I would have apologized if things weren’t like this. Anyway, I understand.”

“Since it’s the current situation, Seodam-hyung understood it right?? tongue type. Tell me what you understand.”

I can see Chae Seo-dam rolling her head at Gold 2’s words.

In the end, he almost followed what I said earlier.

“… You shouldn’t try to be good even while causing great harm to others… That’s a misguided effort, yes.”

‘good.’

Eventually this word came out.

I don’t know if he’s sincere, but what he said in a shocking situation was important.

After time, if you want to rationalize your actions as positive, you will have to affirm that recognition as well.

And the moment the silence flows, Gold 2 instigates the situation again.

“Think of a bird, Moondae hyung! If Seo Dam-hyung resigns so badly… Things may be bigger than you think… Then this year’s schedule may be difficult… .”

“… … .”

I looked at Gold 2 in silence. Gold 2 looked at me with a face that looked like it would shed a cold sweat and swallowed.

gulp.

I shrugged my shoulders at the end of the last one.

“what… If the company is damaged, there will be a lot of work.”

“… … !”

As if holding back a sigh, I glanced at Seodam and then nodded.

“Only this time.”

* * *

After that it was simple.

Relieved, Chae Seo-dam wrote a contract in an instant and left the team voluntarily, fueled by the encouragement of Gold 2.

‘The nuance of the contract was also important.’

Instead of Chae Seo-dam keeping the conversation he had just had a secret, we made sure to keep Chae Seo-dam’s weaknesses silent.

Instead of burying Chae Seo-dam’s attempts to spread rumors and the story of school violence, it is a contract that he will leave quietly and not harm the team.

And articles and announcements quickly surfaced.

[< Azusa > 10th place in new season, Chae Seo-dam failed to debut “Health problem”]

Anyway, because of various incidents, I was hated by the debut group fandom and the reason was ‘health’, so this incident passed without any major problems or disturbances.

And at the end of the conversation, Gold 2, who came in and drank all the honey, was a smile itself.

As you may have noticed, he is the one who has been tricked into serving the role of giving carrots to Chae Seo-dam while Keun Se-jin is making a plan.

-Okay, just swing the whip~ Let's make Hee-seung give you a mouthful of carrots at the end!

I can't deny it. It was a good line.

"You're good at acting."

"Me? You were completely sincere."

On that day, as soon as Chae Seo-dam left the room, Gold 2 took a long, deep breath with an expression that she had taken a breather.

"after… No, how could that hyung make his debut again this time… Oh I don't know! Anyway, I feel relieved because I quietly sent them away before debuting!"

I have no intention of blaming him because I would have been upset if he was on the same team as a ticking time bomb. I just laughed

"Thank you for watching again. older brother!"

"There is nothing to be thankful for."

"Ei-hyung is really great to see again! I will be really good to you anytime!"

Gold 2 started sending hello messages more often after that.

And after a while, another type of text message came in through the manager of the debut group of < Azusa >.

The sender was Chae Seo-dam.

It was a long message, but interestingly, it was Sun Ah-hyun who requested it as the recipient.

[I thought everything was part of the competition and I was competitive, but I'm sorry that I hurt you more than I thought or intended. I really realized it this time. There might be something wrong with my way… … .]

To sum up these phrases, it was that he seemed to have been too much for Seon Ah-hyun during his school days.

Of course, half of it was close to self-excuse.

"… 'More than intended'? Did you call this an apple now? I still can't come to my senses… !"

"I'm fine… !"

Bae Se-jin, who was angry by proxy, was stopped by Seon Ah-hyun.

"I didn't expect to receive an apology… . I thought no, but my apologies… I guess I wanted to get one too."

"Ah Hyun-ah… ."

"Thank you."

Seon Ah-hyun nodded to the surroundings and met my eyes.

"And thank you, Mundae-ya… . I tried to help too, but I feel like I get help every time."

"… ?"

What are you talking about after you spread the rice well and sent it to the pile?

Of course, if I answered like this, there would be endless discussions, so I simply answered.

"It was a collaboration. I am also grateful."

"Yes… !"

Sun Ah-hyun smiled brightly and coolly took down the text capture of Chae Seo-dam.

“Oh oh!”

The members applaud as if they saw some kind of ceremony. Seon Ah-hyun seems a bit shy.

“hmm.”

I thought as I watched the apology-like thing disappear.

‘It looks like that bastard is going to forget about that again anyway.’

However, it is a board that has been designed with that in mind.

‘I’m sure he’ll keep his mouth shut because he’s the type of person who can’t avoid being disadvantaged.’

And when he almost became an X with such an overwhelming difference, he won the mental victory with a sense of awe rather than revenge.

‘I coped well with that situation and got out.’

It’s like this.

Therefore, this guy will never think of gnawing at related issues again. Sun Ah-hyun will forget this guy.

‘I’ll never see you again.’

That’s because it’s been cleaned out of the industry.

“… hmm.”

After thinking about it for a while, I put in a text message that night.

[Well done. Thank you]

Well, it’s a simple fact that it helped me with this, so it’s worth doing this much.

belt ring.

Soon after, a picture of a familiar dog with its front paws arrived.

hello

"… hmm."

I touched my chin.

Surprisingly, I don't scratch. This bastard is slowly coming to his senses… .

[VTIC Senior Shin Cheong-ryeo: Really? Then I'd like to get a song in return.]

"… … ."

Are you crazy

[VTIC Senior Senior: I'm joking ^^]

I didn't reply and turned off the text.

After sending Chae Seo-dam away with that, the impact was all sorted out.

And at the meeting the very next day, it is revealed that if Chae Seo-dam had not been sent away at this time, they would have almost worked together.

"There was a more specific schedule for the company's concert agenda… ."

It's because the story of the group concert schedule of artists belonging to the symbol of the successful agency came out.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 295

If you can't debut, you'll get a fatal disease Episode 295

Agency's group concert.

Usually, it is an event that can be held by a company that has at least one male and female idol group each, and even a promising newcomer.

In that sense, you might think that this agency, which has three groups from 〈Azusa〉, met the minimum requirements… It is an illusion.

I frowned as I checked the plan I had brought home.

'I don't think anyone will like it.'

Isn't there a color unique to this hastily made agency, even if you wash your eyes and look for it?

This is what is commonly referred to as the 'feeling unique to that agency'.

'For audience satisfaction, there must be a common demand between the teams.'

I don't know what kind of guts a group of winners of an audition program or an agency that has received a lot of money from, has the guts to even plan their own concert.

Of course, the purpose is roughly guessed.

"Um~ I guess you're trying to show off the newly debuted kids?"

Big Sejin shrugged and said.

“Look, I even gave them a composition to cover some of our songs~ < Azusa > our season songs are also in Xian.”

“Mmm.”

And Bae Se-jin, who was drinking water in the kitchen, speaks with a slightly nervous face.

“… Isn’t this an attempt to change generations?”

“Generation change?”

“Why is it that we don’t even have time left on our contract… There is something that induces fans to like rookie groups!”

“that… ! Are you misjudging that this group has already exhausted its potential?”

Kim Rae-bin is frightened as if it sounded plausible. Bae Se-jin nodded seriously.

“… It could be.”

me really

‘Have you seen it anywhere on YouTube?’

After watching so many KPOP related channels, it seems that he has some clumsy knowledge.

I smiled and shook my head.

“I don’t think so. It seems like they’re just trying to bring some buzz to the group.”

“Is that so?”

“yes. Maybe the previous season didn’t go as well as our season, so I think I’m trying to make some gains. Don’t worry too much.”

We've barely built up a friendly relationship, but it's too much of a waste from the company's point of view to give up on Testa here.

'He must be thinking that we will renew the contract.'

The benefits attached to the testa weight class will stop at the level of eating metallurgy metallurgy.

'There's no great merit in splitting the belly of the goose that lays the golden eggs.'

Big Sejin readily agreed.

"I agree! Still, it's good to be alert~ Hmm, I think hyung-nim's words are in a good direction."

"… okay."

"That is a great word."

Bae Se-jin and Kim Rae-bin quickly discarded the conspiracy theory. And Cha Yu-jin intervenes without hesitation.

"So when do we do that? Are you quick?"

"see… 25 days later?"

Ryu Chung-woo pointed to the 'August rental completion' part of the plan with his finger. I paid more attention to other parts.

'It's smaller than I thought'

Jamsil Indoor Gymnasium has a scale of 11,000 people.

At least 'Testa + Mirinae + Rookie? Let's go to the stadium!' It is that they did not figure out the demand with the same stupid fan count calculation.

This is an insight into the industry that you can't expect from this agency.

‘The headquarters intervened.’

It seems that T1 breath has entered.

Seeing that the concert itself was aired on Tnet in the first place, it seems that T1 pushed it forward and the agency rushed it forward.

‘TaKon’s response is so good, it seems like he wants to take another round.’

I feel like I’m going to be cursed at by the fans… Well, Testa has little to lose.

‘If part of the concert stage gets airwaves, it will have a publicity effect.’

It’s the second half of the contract, so if there are no problems later, it’s time to go without friction with T1, so I think it’s okay to accept this much without a boycott.

“I only need to prepare five songs in total.”

I chuckled and tapped the plan.

‘Bring some buzz.’

However, you have to take responsibility for knowing what kind of topic it will be.

Two male idol groups of a similar age from the same audition series… Even the same song?

It will be compared like crazy.

And we have no burden.

“Well, about three and a half weeks. It’s tight.”

“It goes similar to the theme of the last concert, so I don’t think it will be too much~”

“I need to inquire about the details to see if a separate arrangement is needed.”

I called up the status window of one of the guys who are talking hard right now.

[Name: Raebin Kim]

Rap: A+ (S+)

(Singing: C+)

Dance: B+ (A+)

Appearance: A- (A+)

Talent: A (S ) Trait:

Maestro I mean.

Even compared to < Azusa >, there are numerous guys whose stats have risen by at least 3 points.

‘In the meantime, Kim Rae-bin went up to the attribute level.’

It might be natural for each album to be voluntarily divided into short-term works.

The weakest was Bae Se-jin, but it seems like he learned a strange trick these days.

-This was just memorizing the entire movement according to the lyrics… !

-… ??

Having become accustomed to the basic dance routine, he became much more plausible by following these tricks, focusing on reproducing movements rather than dancing with a rhythm.

‘Isn’t that more difficult?’

What made me feel more comfortable?

Anyway, the important thing is that opinions criticizing Testa as a stage are now rarely seen on the Internet.

‘Cover difficulty extreme.’

Already at the Rookie of the Year award, the case of Onyx, who changed the song and performed, seemed to have an impression, and the conclusion was drawn from an image on the Internet.

Besides, this time, the other side covers us unilaterally.

The moment there is a difference in the basic stats and the amount of practice, the result is already fixed.

So it’s even more strange to worry about leaking the fandom with something like this.

‘It’s enough if you only care about the way you treat your juniors.’

Rather, what worries me is this stage, which was put in to match the assortment. Just then, Liu Cheng-wu touched it with his hand.

Joint stage (TBD) / 2 people per team

“And there is one joint stage among the five.”

“yes.”

It is a joint stage where some of our members go on stage with our juniors.

Excluding the rustic composition of singing a national song together at the ending, it is the first and last stage where Testa and his juniors go up together.

‘It looks like someone will come out with noise in the foreground.’

Then Cha Yu-jin raised her hand again.

“I will! Let’s do the joint stage!”

“haha.”

I thought so.

None of the members gave a definite answer to Cha Yoo-jin’s active support. If the atmosphere here is okay, the real Cha Yoo-jin will do it.

‘I think it would be a bit harsh to let Cha Yu-jin go.’

It doesn’t matter to us, but it’s a matter of public opinion.

It is like sending a strategic weapon to a friendly match.

I decided to put this on hold for now as there are some corners worth thinking about.

And soon after, at the first group meeting and practice schedule, it becomes clear that this worry was worthwhile.

“This is the new setlist.”

In the paper that arrived earlier than the scheduled time, the joint stage part had changed.

Joint stage (undecided) / 2 testers Mirinae 2

‘These bastards are missing.’

< Azusa > The debut group this time was left out of the joint stage roster.

The reason is ‘I have to prepare for my debut, but the new stage to prepare for is too heavy’ begging.

“If you don’t mind, I’m going to arrange a seat for these guys in the form of a story development that naturally leads to the next stage at the end of this stage.”

The director’s explanation was plausible, but it’s a very strategic decision to see it as a separate rookie group’s choice.

The excuse was plausible, but… The timing is exquisite.

“hmm.”

… It’s a pretty interesting situation.

I’ll have to get over it and deal with what’s happening right now.

I started revising the plan for this joint stage while the director was away on another call.

It wasn’t long before Mirina arrived at full speed.

bang!

“hello!”

It’s not too late, but it looks like you’re also busy preparing for a comeback. After some greetings and preparation staff moved, Liu Cheng-wu kindly explained.

“It is said that there has been some change in the preliminary plan. It sounds like we’re doing a joint stage together.”

“Ah yes.”

2nd place so… Park Min-ha said with an empty face.

“Plan… We didn’t get that, senior… .”

Due to the fate of a group with less time available, Mirinae seems to have participated after receiving a one-sided notice.

‘No, it’s not a matter of time, but is Testa a special case.’

The incidents overlapped and took the initiative, but usually it’s time to listen to the company for a long time, even if it’s the 4th year.

‘hmm.’

Big Se-jin quickly intervened to liven up the atmosphere.

“Ay, is that initial plan important? It’s important that we create a great stage right now! Please take good care of me~”

“Yep. That is very true. I will work hard unconditionally. i look forward to!”

Cha Yoo-jin cheerfully holds out her hand for a handshake.

“Yeees! Please do well on stage with me too… .”

“for a moment.”

Without changing the color of my face, I calmly pulled Cha Yu-jin’s shoulder.

“Eugene, it’s not ‘like’.”

“… ??”

“Oh right… . I don’t do that stage together.”

Cha Yoo-jin got a little sullen and put her hand back.

Yes. Cha Yoo-jin was taken out of the joint stage due to an emergency meeting just now.

-What? I’m good!

-Yes, I know you are good at it. So let’s do a bigger stage at our concert.

-What’s bigger?

-therefore… … .

… Let me just say that I used a lot of carrots. And the reason why I did this is different from what I initially considered.

‘This guy is too friendly, so I can’t.’

At the same time, there is no hesitation. I will perform a picture suitable for the stage without hesitation, so if I am rude, it will cross the line that the fans can comfortably tolerate.

‘There are so many things to consider when it comes to one-on-one male and female idol group performances, so it’s difficult.’

In a situation like this, it’s safest to only do those who know how to use their brains.

So the answer is only one.

“that… What a rush!”

“Yes, yes!”

Sejin smiled and put his arm around me.

“I think the joint stage will be like this with me at Mundae. Please take good care of me!”

It happened.

If you do this, even in the worst case, you’ll just hear that it’s out of place and funny.

“Oh, really! Is it okay if I actively express my opinion? I hope we do something cool!”

“Yulgi Yaaaak.”

“Why? Am I a little weird?”

At Mirinae's remarks, the members around her clung to her while lowering their heads while making strange noises.

2nd place nodded quietly with a face that gave up everything.

"yes. We are Yulgi and I."

1st and 2nd placed side by side.

It means that I won't lose momentum… It's probably the line made by that number two.

'Did you guess that Testa would try to win, whether it's mixed or naked?'

Is it because we are all from audition? This was also a unique situation.

If this continues, we can keep each other in check, just like the audition program team battle, but then there will always be noise in the process.

"Wow, that's reassuring~ Let's work hard!"

Besides, even the guy who would normally have said something like 'Let's make a slogan, let's break up a group room' was just doing his job, so he showed a rough idea of how things would go.

'If I had to choose a good quality guy… .'

So is this all there is?

Of the stage concept candidates I envisioned, I naturally left only one and excluded the rest.

And I ran a few simulations in my head to make the flow of the meeting flow as naturally as possible.

* * *

After the director returns and a few important announcements and discussions have all come and gone.

Additional meetings were held separately for the members to prepare for the joint stage.

Let’s start with the things that can’t be easily changed later… stage equipment.

‘also.’

In addition, as this joint stage is added to the existing stages of each group, the devices used in the front and back stages are already preoccupied.

“Didn’t the director say it’s better not to overlap like this?”

“Yes, yes.”

hmm.

Then disconnect the wire once. In addition, pollen lift is also used at the back stage, so it is excluded.

“Water can be difficult. After all, the next stage is our title, so it would be a bit like a direct comparison, right?”

“Nep.”

Big Sejin naturally erases the things Testa was trying to use on the main stage. you’re good.

However, Mirinae’s 1st place seemed a bit frustrating.

“Why don’t we start by choosing a song like we usually do? Now that I can only say things that aren’t very good, I feel more energetic!”

“Oh sister!”

“That’s right.”

well said

“What do you want to do?”

“ah! First of all, I like hip-hop too… .”

I waited for Mirinae to tell me how to sing as many songs as I wanted.

Until all kinds of candidates come to mind with excitement.

‘Looking at his personality, he’s the type to want to learn a lot.’

And if you talk about it, the songs I was considering will also come out.

“If you look at it that way, ‘Attack’ is also… .”

yes it came out

In this way, the song will feel like you chose it.

After a little more time, I gave a signal to Sejin and intervened.

“Come to think of it, you said earlier that you wanted to do something cool.”

“yes yes!”

“Then, about the song you just mentioned… How do you like this concept?”

I wrote lines and letters on the paper.

Concept Expected Effect Arrangement Direction…

Like brainstorming in moderation to make it look like you came up with it on the fly.

“It feels like this.”

Since it was small, I was interested in it, so it became more natural like impromptu.

I hit the paper once and looked up.

Mirinae's No. 1 eyes were shining.

It worked.

"I like it!"

"me too… no yes I think you gave me a really good opinion!"

good. It may have been a bit mixed with my social life, but I think it's sincere.

Then, this is the timing for the next build-up.

"Ah~ everyone's heart goes in this direction. Then, the stage element is also easy? I think it would be perfect to use this!"

After listening to the two of them, Keun Se-jin naturally pointed to one of the remaining stage sets with his finger.

-Laser

The picture was completed without wasting time due to checks like that.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 296

On the day when the notice and reservation schedule for the 296th episode of the agency's concert was announced, a joint performance practice schedule was scheduled.

Thanks to that, I saw some reactions in the second half of practice.

To summarize… As expected.

-Hey, it looks like it's going to be jam. When was the show?

-T-One really pushes people from Azusa. What happened to TV programming?

-I don't think they're so good that they misunderstand that the kids are doing well. Oh please

-Ajusa

's debut group is really good. A whirlpool of interest.

Can not help it. TV broadcasting of an agency concert is a unique case, and it has both anxiety and anticipation factors.

Moreover, since they are three teams from audition programs, their popularity is good.

As accessibility is good thanks to the Tnet channel organization, those who are interested can watch it by simply turning the channel.

It is rare to find someone who likes all three teams of this agency.

‘So there’s only one thing that’s certain.’

The point is that among the three Azusa-born teams, the team that lags behind the most can be destroyed by ridicule from all directions.

Fans don’t have pride or love-hate for their agency, so they never cover each other.

‘Then I’ll end up feeling disgusted and tired.’

There was no need to pour more oil on it, so the joint stage with Mirinae this time was the same.

There is one more factor to consider besides hybridity.

‘I had to avoid stages that were set up for direct comparison.’

And the stage was already set like that.

… I didn’t know it would be this hard.

-Here, here! If we just put this step in when we land, it would be so cool, right?

-If you don’t mind, I thought about how it would be if we saved more of the freeze at the end of our first chorus… !

-Ah~ Shall we all take a look here? Even now, we’re really good at it, but don’t we look ten times cooler if our heights are straight when entering the bridge? It’s clean~

The other side also has a lot of greed for the stage, so in the composition where they run into each other to avoid losing, the difficulty goes up.

In the end, my stamina was consumed all the way up the escalator.

‘Are you going to dance this time?’

I was conflicted with the remaining points, but I didn't take more because I was conscious of the fact that leveling up using the system was no longer possible.

The moment of natural increase is sure to come. My stats are enough for me right now.

"Shall we take another breath?"

"… !"

So in the end, people are just pretending to be moderate, so they are rolling as if they are getting some kind of spirit to make a special stage that they expect… is the conclusion.

I acknowledged it after checking the appearance of the team members.

'I think it's okay to reveal the behind-the-scenes of practice.'

There are so many male and female high schools, and there are so many dancers in this situation, it is no different from just self-control training. I wiped my sweaty temples.

'Still, the picture will come out well.'

"Oh, it fits well here."

"I'm really proud of you!"

I hope the agency won't be vain after watching the stage.

"Shall we finish it today?"

"yes!"

I shrugged my shoulders and resumed practice without saying anything.

And the rest of the free time went by in an instant.

* * *

Backstage with audience cheers and music.

‘I have to do well.’

Park Min-ha, who debuted as the second unofficial leader of Mirinae, swallowed.

The performance is enjoyable. However, the performance that was ‘if you can’t do it, it’s over’ was a problem right before the start.

This is because the enormous burden overwhelms the brain as much as the eyes are spinning.

‘Woohwangcheongsimhwan… I couldn’t have done anything without it.’

what are the other people doing? She suddenly looked to her side.

The one there was Park Moon-dae, who was entrusting his face to the staff.

Sweat dripped from his tall, white face. He pointed his finger at his waist.

“here. The mic is off.”

“yes yes!”

‘and… .’

Park Min-ha tried to admire it for a while, but immediately came to his senses.

It was definitely a handsome face, but there were too many things I had seen and heard so far to be thrilled.

It’s still playing in surround in my head.

-Have you heard of the US at work lately?

-The victim was not ranked high. I'm not the type to have many friends.

The company seemed to be talking to some kind of ghost whenever they talked about Testa or something.

'How long did you know… .'

A strategic human figure that is difficult to guess what kind of picture he is acting while looking at.

'How on earth can a person live like that when he grows up?'

Watching the re-listing season of < Azusa >, looking back at myself who thought Park Moon-dae was cute, I sometimes felt like banging my head against the wall with Park Min-ha.

It's the past me, that's not it!

Then, a pleasant voice came from right next to me.

"Let's go up~"

"… ! yes!"

At Lee Se-jin's words, Park Min-ha immediately returned to reality.

'stage!'

Meanwhile, Lee Se-jin, who was smiling, made a hand gesture and started running while talking to Park Moon-dae.

"… … ."

To be honest, that senior was also scared. Park Min-ha recalled the past practice.

'Come to think of it, I was doing as the old man said… .'

Looking back now, I even thought that elements that seemed to have been discussed and decided by everyone were actually involved.

Are all audition candidates like that? Then why is everyone in our group so naive… .

“phew.”

“Minha, let’s go!!”

“Nep.”

Park Min-ha trudged along to the tempo of Jeong Yul-gi, who moved excitedly while pushing his back. I had a lot of trouble.

But right behind the scenes.

Wow!

“… … .”

The smell of dry ice. The metal smell of the stage skeleton. The feel of the costumes and lenses.

The air on the stage had a magical power that made people awaken.

So Park Min-ha also thought.

‘Still, I’m confident on stage.’

I could do well.

‘I won’t be pushed.’

When I turned my head, I saw the faces of three people who were obviously thinking the same thing.

The countdown ended there.

“One!”

That’s how the four people’s stage began.

First of all, what filled the venue was the wide bass of the electronic sound derived from the sound of the piano.

The accompaniment melody was a song familiar to the audience.

‘It’s an attack.’

It was an intense OST of an action movie series that hit theaters in the second half of last year, sung by a mixed band.

-Woa-Woah Woa-Woah…

And it wasn’t uncommon for KPOP idols to cover famous pop songs on days when they had a special performance in mixed gender.

It may sound a little strange, but it was because I was less repulsed than when I performed on a mixed stage with an idol song.

Maybe it’s because the feeling of ‘performance’ has been strengthened thanks to the distance that comes from the difference in language and emotion.

So, the audience gave a normal reaction to the idea of ‘a possible choice’.

Until the singer appeared.

Whiik.

The first to go on stage is a group of dancers.

Dancers, dressed in bizarre achromatic clothes that cover their entire bodies, perform group dances based on repetitive movements.

‘oh.’

Magnificent at first. However, repeating a short routine throughout the interlude is getting tiresome.

Even the lighting was monotonous.

-Is it cool..?

-??

-What are you trying to do lol

The moment people got used to everything in just 15 seconds of Jeonju.

Chiwiiik –

Suddenly, with a cool tearing sound, the black group stops.

And in the middle of it, the footsteps of four people who stood out quickly and unstoppably jumped out in a row as if they were trained.

Pinpoint lighting follows.

The outfit she wore was a nice jumpsuit with a loose silver rider jacket lightly on it.

Behind them, the black crowd stares at them.

Took.

front of the stage. Throwing something black from their shoulders to the side, the four stood with their chins raised with a firm posture.

[Ooh]

And a song with a sense of space comes back like a storm.

This time, all colors and accompaniments at once.

[Sometimes it doesn’t matter]

In the middle of colorful lights and electronic sounds splendidly bouncing, Park Moon-dae's well-spoken vocals burst into the top of the song.

Black dancers like shadows follow behind the big and intense choreography.

[if the world comes to an end]

[or not.]

They formed a formation and mixed men and women according to body balance, but there was no pair choreography.

Instead, the parts that were distributed considering only the tone of voice and the line of choreography rushed in without a break.

[Wherever I go

This feeling survives

The mood is all right]

Behind Lee Se-jin, who quickly digests the complex and rich choreography that brings out the taste properly, the high notes explode again.

[Then I'm gonna jump into the fire]

Five times more splendid electronic sounds and beats than the original song, and just as splendid but rough choreography.

The moment when the white noise eats up the accompaniment and catches the hook song.

[Like a bomb]

The laser explodes along with the drop.

[Yeah-ahahahah]

The scaler comes forward, sweeping the floor and picking up a black object.

They appeared earlier and threw it away.

An ambiguous bar with no particular specificity.

However, when Lee Se-jin jumped out again and took a firing stance like a gun with a stick with nothing in it, lasers came out like fireworks from there.

-??

-Well,

it’s exactly the timing and angle to make it look like that.

Subsequently, each movement, which is like a sword, like a bazooka or a gun, pours out and the choreography is connected.

And colored lasers explode like weapon recoil.

-The

angle of the choreography is exquisitely matched, and the lasers and LEDs are decorated like a reaction to the choreography.

The black dancers were knocked down by the colored lasers, and all sorts of sci-fi effects were played on the spot.

In addition, thanks to the exquisitely matched camera work, people watching it on TV could also feel a different taste.

It was like a one-take shot in a well-made action movie, with the person moving in the center changing every move.

Due to the difference in physique, each center finds the most effective movement and adds more flavor to each center.

[Like a bomb

Light up tonight.]

The moment the composition of 1 minute and 55 seconds running like that is over.

“Huh.”

Park Min-ha knew instinctively.

Mirinae didn’t win, but this stage was a success.

[Yeah-ahahahah]

In the middle of the fallen group of black people, the song ended with the four people again putting things on their shoulders and singing the last note in a different tone.

* * *

‘Crazy.’

Park Min-ha staggered backstage and thought blankly.

The stage where they poured out everything to the point of vomiting like this was somehow pleasing. Even on stage, the quality was so good that I felt like my heart would explode.

‘Besides, using the props made the choreography so different that the lack of unity in the choreography really came to life… .’

Moondae Park’s idea was great.

She turned her head away, unable to contain the urge to say good wishes.

Jeong Yul-ki and Lee Se-jin ran away with the staff due to makeup problems.

Then, even if it's Park Moon-dae senior… !

"hmm."

However, Mundae Park was drinking water and looking at the other side with sunken eyes.

'Aren't you excited?'

Is it possible to make a stage like this on a daily basis?

Park Min-ha was a little shocked, but soon realized that it was not.

'Ah, you're watching the next stage.'

He was looking at the monitor. The stage right after this is Testa's song covered by the debut group of < Azusa >.

And the stage that is coming out right now… .

[Go on picnic~]

'Is it okay?'

I did better than expected.

Park Min-ha thought about it even during rehearsal, but nodded that the choice of arrangement played a big role.

– Dear Testa senior! I prepared the stage with a picnic!

Because they chose 'Picnic' over Testa's all kinds of conceptually impressive titles.

Excluding 'Promise' this time, it seemed like a wise choice to induce a group of people through the most popular of Testa's songs.

Because the competencies are not directly comparable.

Curious about the person's thoughts, she inadvertently turned around.

'What do you think… .'

"… !"

"hmm."

Park Mun-dae was looking at the monitor with a faint smile.

However, it was not the eyes that contained admiration or looked at the target of check.

Instead, there seemed to be a flash of triumph somewhere on his face.

or sure.

'uh… ?'

But there was no time to think long.

"I will move!"

"… ! yes! Let's go!"

Park Min-ha greeted in a somewhat confused state and ran to prepare for the next stage.

'What was it… . Oh no! Let's not mind.'

She was determined not to dig out anything more than necessary from Moondae Park.

and after a few minutes

This time, Azusa's debut group and Park Mun-dae will meet in the hallway.

Enhance your reading experience by removing ads for as low as $1!

Remove Ads From $1

Chapter 297

Episode 297

“Hyungs are bad. I cheated.”

“Ah~ What’s wrong with Eugene!”

Cha Yoo-jin seemed very shocked to see the laser chaos during rehearsal, but declared a boycott of the conversation after seeing the main stage of the joint performance.

The reason is ‘how can you do a stage like this without me’.

‘Well, at least it took 30 minutes.’

After Testa’s stage ended, he slowly opened his mouth like that, probably feeling better.

I said, pulling the towel off my head.

“I’ll give you a laser solo next time, so swing it like a double sword.”

“Oh!! … Umm, it would have been better if we did it today!”

“Today is just one day. If we do it at our solo concert, we can do it for several months. I think that would be better.”

“That’s right~ It’s better to do it several times!”

“That’s right!”

“Then it’s better to wait.”

“OK Got it! I didn’t cheat on you.”

Now this is easy.

After accepting Cha Yu-jin’s words a few times, I continued walking.

Compared to the end of a normal concert, the body is much lighter.

‘It’s not that hard for about 5 songs now.’

Compared to a solo concert, it is almost eaten raw. Perhaps other groups involved had similar thoughts.

